The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1878. NO. 1.

STARS.

BY EDGAR FAWCETT.

O darting stars, when shadows fall,
And watch your splendors glimmer o'er us,
And we order at what hour of all
You shine the loveliest from afar.

When early gazers mark
Your doubtful orbs at twilight's close,
While down the mellow sapphire dark
Steal the first fluid rays you send;

Or on languid nights that hold
The dusky earth in tranquil rest,
When all your glories wear the gold
Buttercups in a meadow's breast;

Or on chilly nights that wake
The katydid's harsh-throated band,
Or in the breezeless noon you take
Its pale, ethereal dewy hand;

Or upon wintry gales arise,
That air the june and rock the pine,
And when your flashes turn the skies
To one white arch of throbbing fire;

Still I watch your radiant host
Through every change with new delight,
And know not when to love you most,
Dear sacred mysteries of the night!

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The following was received at the War Department:

San Francisco, December 25.—To the Adjutant General, Washington: Kautz has just received the following from Capt. Bowle, Arizona, dated the twenty-fourth:

Lieuts Rucker and Toney, of the Sixth Cavalry, have returned. They struck the party that killed the mail-rider December 14, east of Stein's Peak range, and killed one. Five days later they struck them in Old Mexico, surprised rancheria 31, destroyed the camp, captured eighteen horses, fifteen saddles, and a lot of stuff which the renegades had taken from the train. Fifteen dead Indians were found on the ground and more were killed. The mail was recaptured.

—McDOWELL.

The War Department to-day received dispatches in relation to the events that have just transpired in San Elizario and El Paso counties. The only information given out at the department is that all is now quiet there, and that Col. Lewis, who commands in San Elizario, has been ordered to assist the sheriff in making arrests, to prevent violence against all persons arrested, and to protect the citizens from being pillaged or in any way interfered with by the mob. It is unofficially stated, however, that United States troops were called upon to assist in making arrests of parties connected with the killing of Judge Howard and others; that in doing so resistance was offered and two of the mob were killed, and that subsequently two of the persons arrested were taken out and lynched by the Rangers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Advices from Valparaiso to November 28 state that a rebellion was organized in Punta Arues, for the purpose of exterminating Capt. Gulzalde, chief of the garrison. The governor was at first entirely unable to quell the rebellion.

The rebels, after cruelly assassinating the captain, set fire to buildings, including the hospital, with all the patients in it. The church and house of the priest have escaped injury. The rebels stole $7,000 from the treasury and robbed all the houses of commerce. Of the houses composing the colony, only about half remain standing. The total number of killed is forty, with fourteen wounded.

Advices from Ecuador state that the Conservative revolution has been quelled, and the Columbian army has recrossed the frontier into Columbia, and the future political prospects of the country are as uncertain as ever.

The coffee crop of Guatemala is large and is being brought forward rapidly for shipment. Guatemala has refused to recognize the government of Gen. Guardia, in Costa Rica, which circumstance is ominous of trouble between the two States. As they are situated, however, with their other three neighbors between them, there will not be much danger of war, unless Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador, one or all, become involved, which does not seem probable at present.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—A dispatch from Woolwich to the Daily News says: It is fully expected that the Royal Arsenal will shortly receive an extensive order.

Returns were forwarded last week to the war office showing what number of guns and ammunition and stores each department can produce at short notice.

The Vienna correspondent of the Times reports that Gen. Skobeleff, with a division of infantry, two regiments of cavalry and half a brigade of artillery, has occupied the town of Trojan, near Trojan Pass.

The Daily News' correspondent, in a letter dated December 17, states that when the Turks made their sortie they left thousands of sick and wounded in Plevna starving and unattended. These unfortunates remained in this state three days, and hundreds of them died. Over a thousand were buried.

A thousand corpses come from the hospital daily; undoubtedly many who were not quite dead have been buried. The bodies of those killed in the battles lie unburied around Plevna.

Turkish prisoners are encamped among them and are almost starving. Plevna is one vast charnel-house, surpassing in horror anything imaginable.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 25.—An official telegram states that the sudden drifting of ice on the Danube has torn away the bridge at Ibrail. A Russian steamer is frozen in, and is unable to approach the bridges. The Grand Duke Alexis among the communications cannot be reshaped for the present.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—Philip Veit, the celebrated German fresco painter, is dead.

BOSTON, Dec. 27.—The Times' correspondent at Vienna says: Intelligence from Constantinople leaves little doubt that the rejection of the Turkish note by the powers has caused the war party to recover full sway. Above all, the rejection produced in the feelings of the Sultan by the humiliating rejection of the note is deemed incurable.

A Russian official dispatch states that the prince of Roumania, commanded by Colonel Baratinoff, who commanded the steamer Vesta in the alleged affair with the Turkish ironclad Fetzi Bonlend, has returned to Sebastopol from a cruise in the Bosphorus, bringing as a prize the Turkish transport steamer Messina, with seven hundred Turkish troops on board as prisoners.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The Times' correspondent at the headquarters of the Russian Rustchuk army says: The snow is over two feet deep, and all operations are suspended. Two soldiers and many beasts have perished. The transport service to the bridges crossing the Danube at Sistova and Petroshani is interrupted.

There are no sledges to replace the wagons rendered useless by the snow. The quartermaster's department has declared that it cannot supply food for the cavalry here. One regiment of Cossacks is about to start for Roumania to obtain provisions.

The Advertiser publishes the following in an official form: We understand that the Sultan has solicited the British government to approach the Czar with a view to bring about peace; and the British government has consented to do so.

The Times' Paris dispatch says: Negotiations are proceeding for the reception of a papal nuncio in Mexico.

ROME, Dec. 28.—The Pope had a consistory at the Vatican to-day. Monsignores Moretti and Pelligrine were nominated cardinals. Some bishops were appointed. The Pope read a short allocution, thanking the cardinals for their solicitude concerning his health, and asking them to pray to God to help the church, and preserve unimpaired the mind of its head, whose body was ailing.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The Times' Paris correspondent says it is rumored that the Spanish government is likely to take serious steps to mark its displeasure at Isabella's conduct.

The Daily News' Bucharest correspondent states that intelligence has been received there that the bridge at Petrohani, the last one which remained across the Danube, was carried away; a few boats occasionally cross, but the passage is hazardous. Several persons have already been drowned.

A special to the Daily News from Plymouth reports that the whole Channel fleet and all commissioned ships under repair have been ordered to be ready for sea January 15.

The News dispatch from Aldershot says the Ninetieth Regiment has been ordered to be in readiness for immediate embarkation for Cape Town.

A special to the Times, dated Cape Town, December 11, says: Sir Bartle Frere told a deputation that he considered the situation on the Caffre frontier extremely dangerous, and that he had written home for troops. Every available soldier and the sailors from the man-of-war Active left Cape Town for the Caffre frontier on the tenth instant.

BOGERT, Dec. 31.—After an exceedingly difficult passage over snow-covered mountains and frozen footpaths, the vanguard of a Russian division has occupied the Balkan passes between Arat Kenak and Sophia, and cavalry has already been stationed on the Sophia road. The Turks were taken by surprise, consequently the Russians lost only five wounded. Along the eastern front—namely: the River Lom—the Turks have withdrawn from all positions.

West Texas Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

San Antonio Dist.—J. C. Walker, P. E. San Antonio station, H. S. Thrall; San Antonio City mission, J. S. Woods; Floresville circuit, A. G. Nolan; Elm Creek mission, E. G. Duval; Leesville circuit, E. H. Holbrook; Medina circuit, J. B. Dibrell; Rancho circuit, E. Y. Seale; Seguin station, W. J. Joyce.

San Marcos District.—O. A. Fisher, P. E. San Marcos station, J. S. Gillett; San Marcos circuit, J. B. Denton; Mountain City circuit, J. W. Vest; Lockhart circuit, B. Harris; Thompsonville, J. W. Brown; Gonzales circuit, W. H. H. Biggs; Blanco and Pedernales circuit, J. C. C. Black, L. M. Barnes.

Victoria District.—A. A. Killough, P. E. Victoria station, F. T. Barnes; Sandies mission, J. J. Hunnicut; Clinton circuit, J. W. DeVilbiss; Baxville circuit, N. W. Keith; Texana circuit, J. F. Denton; Hallettsville circuit, W. G. Cocke; Moulton circuit, A. F. Cox; Concrete circuit, J. F. Cook; Lavaca River mission, W. H. Killough.

Corpus Christi District.—R. H. Belvin, P. E. Corpus Christi station, C. M. Rogers; Rockport circuit, M. A. Black; Lagarto circuit, J. E. Vernor; Oakville mission, L. W. Harrison; Beeville circuit, T. S. Garrett; Helena circuit, H. G. Horton; St. Mary's mission, C. R. Shapard; Gabriel circuit, P. G. Wools.

Uvalde District.—W. T. Thornberry, P. E. Kerrville circuit, L. Kingsbury; Uvalde circuit, A. J. Potter; Eric City circuit, W. Monk; Benton City circuit, T. J. Thomasson; Saldual circuit, H. T. Hill; Bandera mission, H. W. South; Manardville mission, to be supplied; Brady City mission, to be supplied.

Mexican Mission District.—A. H. Sutherland, P. E. Corpus Christi mission, J. Tafolla; San Diego and Presenas mission, T. R. Mendiuez; San Antonio mission, J. M. Casanova; C. Martinez; Lodi and Medina mission, C. Rodriguez; Laredo mission, G. Paz; Rio Grande City mission, D. Garcia; Hidalgo mission, C. Rivero; Eagle Pass mission, J. Acosta; assistant superintendent of mission, to be supplied.

Transferred.—Jos. Norwood, to Texas Conference; D. M. Stovall and G. C. Stovall, to East Texas Conference.

San Marcos was selected as the place for holding the next session of the West Texas Conference.

Delegates to the General Conference.—Clerical—H. S. Thrall, J. S. Gillett. Reserves—J. G. Walker, J. W. DeVilbiss. Lay—M. N. Shive, Col. P. C. Woods. Reserves—John M. Moore, S. R. McKie.

THE MEXICAN WORK.

There is one presiding elder's district among the Mexicans, ably administered by Rev. A. H. Sutherland. Here follow the facts and figures:

Corpus Christi Mexican Mission—Rev. E. Rodriguez. People preached to, 300; members of the church, 52; additions the past year, 12; 12 adults and 11 infants baptized; 1 Sunday school, 1 teacher and 20 pupils; 1 house of worship, valued at $1,500.

San Diego and Presenas Mission—Rev. Dornteo Garcia. People preached to, 500; members of the church, 153; 16 adults and 9 infants baptized; 1 house of worship, valued at $400; 3 Sunday schools, 4 teachers and 78 pupils.

San Antonio Meriedo Mission—Rev. J. M. Casanova. People preached to, 500; 85 members of church; 55 adults and 18 infants baptized; 2 Sunday schools, 3 teachers and, 50 pupils.

Lodi and Georgetown Mission—Rev. Guadelupe Paz. People preached to, 100; members of church, 60—all gathered in the past year; 46 adults and 20 infants baptized; 3 Sunday schools, 2 teachers and 52 pupils.

Medina Mexican Mission—Rev. J. Acosta. People preached to, 300; the missionary organized a church the past year of 21 members; 15 adults and 21 infants baptized; 1 Sunday school, 1 teacher and 40 pupils.

Laredo Mexican Mission—Rev. Jas. Tafolla. People preached to, 100; he has organized a church the past year of 9 members; baptized 3 adults and 2 infants.

Rio Grande City Mission—Rev. C. A. Vivero. People preached to, 250; members of the church, 20, of whom 12 were added the past year; 12 adults and 5 infants baptized; 1 Sunday school, 1 teacher and 12 pupils.

Hidalgo Mexican Mission—Rev. Joseph Norwood. People preached to, 300; members added the past year, 30; 19 adults and 14 infants baptized; 2 Sunday schools, 4 teachers and, 55 pupils.

The secretary of the West Texas Conference alluded to the following incident: "An intelligent lady said to me: 'I had a company of Mexicans shearing my sheep; and, would you believe it, they had prayers both night and morning. On the Sabbath they had some kind of meeting. One of their number talked, and they all prayed and sang.' Said the lady: 'These were Mr. Sutherland's men.' Nay! rather these were men of God, led by Bro. Sutherland and his co-adjutors to the living streams of salvation, and to the green pastures where they may dwell in safety."—Texas Christian Advocate.

Texas Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

Galveston District.—B. D. Dashiell, P. E. Galveston—St John's, A. E. Goodwyn; St. James, to be supplied; Bay mission, to be supplied (by P. E. Nicholson;) Houston—Shearn church, R. T. Nabors—B. T. Kavanaugh, sup.; Washington Street mission, P. P. Reese; Harrisburg and Clear Creek mission, P. H. Saffold; editor of Texas Christian Advocate, I. G. John.

Austin District.—J. W. Whipple, P. E. Austin station, W. Shapard; Swede mission, Carl Chanquist; Austin circuit, W. Wooten; Live Oak mission, J. L. Murray; Cedar Creek, J. Dimmitt; Bastrop, F. L. Allen; Winchester, A. L. P. Green; Elgin, D. Morgan—J. M. Whipple, sup.; LaGrange, F. B. Rodgers; Southwestern University, F. A. Mood.

Chappell Hill District.—R. Alexander, P. E.—Chappell Hill, T. W. Rogers—J. Matthews, sup.; Travis circuit, R. T. Beasley; Brenham, E. S. Smith; Hempstead mission, P. C. Archer; Bryan, H. V. Philpott, S. J. Graves; Bryan circuit, to be supplied (by J. Mickle;) Independence and Burton, L. S. Lemons; Caldwell, W. G. Neims; Elby mission, J. W. Kelley; Giddings, Milton, H. Porter; Lexington mission, to be supplied (by J. Sealy;) J. C. Miller, president Soule University; E. D. Pitts, president Chappell Hill Female College.

Huntsville District.—S. C. Littlepage, P. E. Huntsville, J. E. Meredith; Dodge mission, to be supplied (by E. A. A. Stocking;) Willis and Montgomery, G. S. Sandle; Cold Springs, I. Z. T. Morris; Prairie Plains, C. S. Farrington; Madisonville station, C. H. Brooks; Madisonville circuit, G. H. Pharr; Zion, S. Whitworth; Anderson, J. M. Pugh; Navasota and Millican, P. W. Archer; Courtney and Plantersville, J. M. Wesson; F. T. Mitchell, president of Andrew Female College, and agent for Andrew Female and Mitchell Colleges.

Columbus District.—R. W. Kennon, P. E. Columbus, E. A. McAshan—W. Smith, sup.; Weimar, J. T. Williams; Flatonia, to be supplied (by W. H. Cooper)—C. J. Lane, sup.; Eagle Lake mission, S. H. Williams; San Felipe, J. H. Chamblee—G. D. Parker, sup.; Richmond, O. T. Hotchkiss; San Bernard mission, S. H. Brown; Columbia and Brazoria, U. C. Spencer; Velasco, H. H. Brookes; Matagorda, W. M. Shockley.

Transferred.—T. R. Curtis, to Los Angeles Conference; Jos. Norwood, to West Texas Conference.

Superannuated Preachers.—J. G. Johnson, W. C. Lewis, A. B. F. Kerr, T. W. Blake, J. H. Davidson, A. Hinkle, J. M. Turner, O. Fisher, N. A. Cravens.

Located at their Own Request.—A. G. Beaumont, T. B. Buckingham, J. C. Huckabee, J. S. Clower.

The following are the delegates to the General Conference: Clerical—R. Alexander, H. V. Philpott, I. G. John. Reserves—F. A. Mood, J. W. Whipple. Lay—J. D. Giddings, J. D. Thomas, J. C. C. Winch. Reserves—J. H. Shapard, A. R. Kilpatrick, T. W. Folts.—Texas Christian Advocate.

Arkansas Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

Little Rock District—A. Hunter, P. E. Little Rock—Second Street, L. M. Lewis; Spring Street, Alonzo Monk; Collegeville, J. C. Rhodes—J. M. Cline, sup.; Maumelle, L. M. Keith; Little Rock circuit, D. J. Leake; Lonoke station, S. G. Colburn; Austin, E. M. Winburn; Hickory Plains, W. R. Gardner; Carlisle, J. R. Moore; White River, W. J. Rogers; DeWitt, R. H. Sanders; Little Prairie mission, to be supplied; Arkansas Female College, L. M. Lewis.

Pine Bluff Dist—W. H. Browning, P. E. Pine Bluff—Main Street, C. F. Evans; West End, A. D. Jenkins; Plum Bayou, C. D. McSwain; Swan Lake, to be supplied (by A. West;) Auburn, T. P. Minor; Star City, J. R. Cason; Lenty, J. C. Biglow; Toledo, R. W. Evans; Benton, S. N. Burns; New Edinburg, J. A. Anderson; Mount Olivet Academy, J. P. Holmes.

Arkadelphia District.—B. G. Johnson, P. E. Arkadelphia station, C. Pope; Clark, A. B. Winfield; South Fork mission, R. M. Traylor; Tulip, W. J. Davis; Princeton, R. C. Atchley; Malvern, George Hare; Hot Springs station, A. R. Winfield; Hot Springs circuit, B. E. Mitchell; Mount Ida, E. Garrett; Amity, D. T. Holmes; Murfreesboro, to be supplied (by George Logan)—W. J. Scott, sup.

Monticello District.—E. N. Watson, P. E. Monticello station, H. Jewell; Mount Pleasant, F. D. Van Valkenburg; Selma, W. H. Hagan; Lacy, John W. Haskew; Palestine, J. A. Biggs; Warren, John F. Carr; Hamburg station, W. H. Vaughn; Hamburg circuit, W. C. Dunn; Bartholomew, J. R. Sherwood; Poplar Bluff and Beech Creek, John J. Jenkins; Eudora, B. Monk; Arkansas City and Luna mission, John Pryor; Warren High School, John H. Riggin.

Camden District.—D. H. Linebaugh, P. E. Camden station, C. C. Godden; Camden circuit, E. L. Gaddy; Ouachita, T. H. Ware; Falcon, J. M. G. Douglass; Louisville mission, to be supplied; Magnolia, H. H. Watson; Eldorado, A. C. Biggs; Lapeel, W. M. Crowson; Hampton, to be supplied (by J. H. Baird.)

Washington District.—James Atkins, P. E. Washington, John McLaughlin; Prescott station, J. R. Harvey; Hope station, C. O. Steele; Mineral Springs, H. D. McKinnon; Center Point, G. W. Matthews; Saline, R. P. Wilson; Dallas, J. D. Whitesides; Ultima Thule, to be supplied (by J. W. Eads;) Lockesburg, Z. T. McCann; Richmond and Rocky Comfort, L. B. Hawley; Little River, E. M. Whitmore; Texarkana, H. Townsend; Bright Star, H. Armstrong; Prescott High School, Thomas W. Hayes.

Delegates to the General Conference—Clerical—Andrew Hunter, A. R. Winfield and E. N. Watson. Reserves—Horace Jewell and W. H. Browning. Lay—W. E. Guise, W. H. Wheeler and S. M. McGhee. Reserves—A. A. Key and W. S. Jeter.—Western Methodist.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.—The stated meeting of the board of managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, December 6.

Recent letters from Dr. Bliss reported the commencement of a tour in Asia Minor, en route for Beirut. Letters of thanks for grants of books or money were presented from correspondents at Honolulu, Christiana, Geneva, Genoa, Nanking and elsewhere.

Numerous grants were made of books for sale and distribution at home and abroad, amounting in number to about 22,000 copies, of which 23 volumes were in raised letters for the blind, and 8,814 for circulation abroad. The receipts for November were $32,737; copies of Scriptures issued, 54,194.—New York Christian Advocate.

Alabama Conference Proceedings.

Ques. 1.—Received on trial: Cicilius L. Clifton, Robert N. Ledbetter, Henry C. Holleman, James E. Powell, Isaac F. Bilbro.

Q. 2.—Who remain on trial?—John Wesley, Charles R. Pilley, J. W. Menefee, Ed. E. Cowan, Dugald H. Carmichael.

Q. 3.—Discontinued—W. H. Hasty at his own request.

Q. 4.—Admitted into full connection—Howell M. Moss, James B. Anderson, Bascom C. Glenn, Wade P. Dickinson, Orion S. Perry, John R. Peavey, Gilbert M. Roper, Joseph C. Johnson.

Q. 5.—Readmitted—None.

Q. 6.—Received by transfer—T. R. Hill, from Tennessee Conference; A. J. Coleman, from Mississippi Conference; Julian C. Brown, from North Alabama Conference.

Q. 7.—Deacons of one year—J. O. Keener, R. S. Holcombe, C. H. Kelley, James M. Crews, Francis M. Peterson, Ritchie J. Briggs, John P. Sanders, James S. Rencher, Andrew J. Lamar, W. D. Owen, Wade J. Weatherby, Preston Nash, Ransom A. Mlears.

Q. 8.—Traveling preachers elected deacons—James B. Anderson, Joseph C. Johnson, Bascom C. Glenn, Walter P. Dickinson, Orion S. Perry, John R. Peavey, Gilbert M. Roper.

Q. 9.—Traveling preachers ordained deacons—James B. Anderson, Joseph C. Johnson, Bascom C. Glenn, Walter P. Dickinson, Orion S. Perry, John R. Peavey, Gilbert M. Roper.

Q. 10.—Local preachers elected deacons—Wm. H. Jennings, Isaac F. Bilbro, Jesse P. Chapman.

Q. 11.—Local preachers ordained deacons—J. E. D. Braswell, Jackson L. Smille, Isaac F. Bilbro.

Q. 12.—Traveling preachers elected elders—Leander C. Calhoun, R. W. Briggs, William A. Rice, John A. Green, Thos. Y. Abernethy, Joshua S. Peavey.

Q. 13.—Traveling preachers ordained elders—Leander C. Calhoun, R. W. Briggs, William A. Rice, John A. Green, Thomas Y. Abernethy, Joshua S. Peavey.

Q. 14.—Local preachers elected elders—None. J. D. Platt was recognized as elder from the Methodist Protestant Church.

Q. 15.—What local preachers are ordained elders?—None.

Q. 16.—Located this year—Julian C. Brown, at his own request; W. S. Turner, at his own request.

Q. 17.—Who are supernumerary?—John H. Lockhart, R. M. Mlears.

Q. 18.—Who are superannuated?—Z. Dowling, W. B. Adams, E. W. Storey, J. W. Jordan, H. J. Hunter, Charles Strider, J. T. Roper, T. S. Abernethy, F. L. B. Shaver, J. J. Tatum, J. F. Talley, A. S. Dickinson.

Q. 19.—Died during the past year—None.

Q. 20.—Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration?—Yes.

Q. 21.—Number of local preachers and members in the several circuits, stations and missions of the Conference—Local preachers, 107. Members, white, 20,403; colored, 2.

Q. 22.—Infants baptized, 1,100.

Q. 23.—Adults baptized, 1,207.

Q. 24.—Number of Sunday schools, 357.

Q. 25.—Number of Sunday school teachers, 2,448.

Q. 26.—Number of Sunday school scholars, 14,210.

Q. 27.—Amount necessary for superannuates, widows and orphans of preachers, $6,500.

Q. 28.—What has been collected on the foregoing account, and how has it been applied?—$4,247.55.

Q. 29.—What has been contributed for missions?—Foreign, $2,370.15; domestic, $2,370.65. Sunday schools for missions, $733.85; other sources $561—total, $783.85.

Q. 30.—Next Conference to be held at Mobile.

FIRST METHODIST NEWSPAPER.—The following account of the first Methodist newspaper is taken from Tyerman's Life of the Rev. George Whitefield, vol. 1, p. 471: "J. Lewis started the first Methodist newspaper ever published, and succeeded in securing Whitefield, Cennick, Harris and Humphreys as its principal contributors. The title was: 'The Weekly History, or An Account of the Most Remarkable Particulars Relating to the Present Progress of the Gospel. London: Printed by J. Lewis. Price, one penny.'"

The newspaper was a small folio of four pages, and the first number appears to have been issued on April 11, 1741. In No. 4 the editor says: "The Rev. Mr. Whitefield intends to supply me with fresh matter every week." The periodical was continued [illegible]

What a Book Can Do

[illegible]

Burial of Dr Bledsoe

[illegible]

MARRIED.

[illegible]

Be always at leisure to do good, never make business an excuse to decline offices of humanity.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1878.

AUTUMNAL MUSINGS.

BY MRS. L. CRARY SADLER.

After the spring and the summer
April's sunshine and rain,
After the birds and the flowers
Autumn is here again.
Bronzing the leaves of the forest
Shaking the window-pane.

After the spring and the summer
In every grave yard there
Is many a new-made hillock,
At home is a vacant chair
No more shall the dearly-loved one Sit there at the evening prayer

Father and mother are weeping
As they think of the absent one
Under the sod in the grave yard
Low lies the cherished son
Under the sod is the casket,
The jewel the savior hath won

After the spring and the summer
Over and over is wet and cold.
Our dear aged mother is sheltered
Safely at last in the fold
Inside the walls of jasper,
Walking the streets of gold.

And over there in "God's acre"
Was a little grave to fill;
At home is an empty cradle,
Unrocked, in the corner still.
The dear little one that was lent us
Will greet you on Zion's hill.

And the mother's tears are falling;
Though the little one's life was long,
It was lovely as well as any
That lies under the autumn's leaf
Gathered in the reaper's sickle
With end the mother's grief.

From the storms of life and its winter
To the land of refuge we flee;
Even now, from the beautiful city,
The gleam through the portals we see;
By faith and the gates we are nearing,
That will open for you and for me.

Christ Man's Archetype

Plato was probably the first in promulgating the archetypal theory as it relates to forms. Since his day there has been much written and no small amount of controversy among scientists concerning it; and as yet it is an unsettled question. It is, however, a doctrine, when considered scientifically and theologically, well calculated to overthrow evolution.

The archetypal theory, as now understood by theologico-scientists, is that all created things, animate and inanimate, are copies of original models that existed in the mind of God from all eternity, or, as expressed by one writer: "God's thoughts before they are actualized into or represented in creation." Consequently, as God is unchangeable, every genus and species of the animal and vegetable kingdoms are now, and must continue unto the end of time, the same that they were when called into existence by the fiat of the Almighty.

The Scriptures to some extent sustain the archetypal doctrine as just stated. In Genesis ii, 4, 5 we read: "These are the generations of the heavens and the earth when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens, and every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb in the field before it grew." In Psalms cxxxix, 16, David says: "Thine eyes did see my substance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned when as yet there was none of them." In Hebrews viii, 5 St. Paul says: "Who serve unto the example and shadow* of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle; for see, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed thee in the mount." On this passage Dr. Clarke says: "The whole Levitical service was a representation and shadow of heavenly things. It appears, therefore, absurd to say that the priests served unto the example or representation of heavenly things; they served rather unto the substance of these things, with appropriate representations and shadows." Again, Hebrews ix, 23: "It was therefore necessary that the pattern of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these." On this passage Dr. Clarke says: "There is no doubt that everything in the tabernacle—its parts, divisions, ministry, etc.—as appointed by God, were representations of celestial matters; but how far, and in what way, we cannot now see."

It appears, then, that the doctrine of archetypes is sustained by the Scriptures, and Dr. Clarke in his comments favors it. If so, there is more implied in the words of the Lord God when he said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness," than a moral image alone; but also a physical image. It is, at least, inferable that Christ himself was the archetypal model after which man was constructed, both morally and physically—the word which was made flesh, foreseeing, or present seeing from the beginning (for he is represented as the "Lamb slain from before the foundation of the world"), the form he would assume in his incarnation. He made man in the image, after the likeness of that form. The doctrine that the body assumed by Christ is the archetype of man is strengthened by what St. Paul said to the Philippians (iii, 20, 21): "For our conversation is in heaven, from whence we also look for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body." I am aware that some persons may object to the archetypal doctrine from what St. Paul said to the Hebrews (ii, 16:) "For verily he took not on him the nature of angels, but he took on him the seed of Abraham." Dr. Clarke says the marginal reading of this passage is: "He doth not take hold of angels, but of the seed of Abraham;" "which," he says, "is greatly to be preferred to that of the text. Jesus Christ, not intending to redeem angels, but to redeem man, did not assume the angelic nature, but was made man, coming directly by the seed or posterity of Abraham, with whom the covenant was made that in his seed all the nations of the earth should be blessed; and it is on this account that the apostle mentioned the seed of Abraham, and not the seed of Adam." The text, however, does not say he took on him the nature of man, but the seed of Abraham. As to the human nature of Christ, he was a perfect, sinless man, liable to hunger, thirst, weariness, pain and death, and in these things, as expressed by St. Paul, he was "made like unto his brethren."

If, then, the archetypal doctrine be true, surely the dignity of man's origin is great and grand; and not only grand in his origin because he was made morally and physically in the image of Christ, but still grander in his destiny, in hereafter being made like unto the glorified body of Christ, a glimpse of which glory Peter, James and John were permitted to see on the mount of transfiguration. But before we can even hope for this great and glorious destiny we must in this world become like Christ—be transformed by the renewing of our mind, purified from the least and last remains of sin, and possess the mind that was in Christ Jesus; for without holiness of heart we can never see his face in peace.

W. SPILLMAN.

ENTERPRISE, Miss., Nov., 1877.

* Unto the example and shadow.—Translated by Macknight: With the representation and shadow. This translation is favored by Dr. Clarke.

Melchisedek.

The introduction of this wonderful character is a surprise almost startling. We were almost prepared to narrow the world's righteousness unto Abram's family—like a single luminary in a benighted sky. When Abram had rescued Lot, and was returning a victor to the plains of Mamre, his path is crossed in the valley of Shaveh by Melchisedek, king of Salem, and priest of the most high God. This priest brought out bread and wine, and blessed Abram, and received tithes from him. In the Psalms David describes the Messiah as priest forever, "after the order of Melchisedek." Once again is he mentioned by Paul, then the lamp of history is extinguished, and up to the present we are left to conjecture: Who was Melchisedek? Referring to Smith's Bible Dictionary, we find various and still unsatisfactory surmises. There is the Jewish tradition that he was the patriarch Shem, and, without citing the authorities, that it was "an angel sent of God," "the Holy Ghost," "the Messiah," "the Son of God." In a foot-note the editor emphatically says: "Melchisedek was no Canaanite." He thinks it "incredible that a priest of an excommunicated and accursed race should be superior to Abram, the father of the faithful, and heir of the world." In other words: "Can any good thing come out of Canaan?" Indeed there are many things, long ago discoverable, to remind one of Christ—the bread and wine, a priest, king of Salem (or peace). The incredulity of the author above cited brings to our mind another instance, as mentioned: "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

There is another biblical character, grandly isolated, over whom history has pondered, but hesitates where, in time's calendar, to place him. "There was a man of Uz, whose name was Job," and of whom God said: "There is none like him in the earth, a perfect, an upright man, one that feareth God and escheweth evil." He first appears in a priestly office, and at the same time manifests a tender, fatherly oversight. "It may be," said he, "that my sons have sinned and cursed God in their hearts." Thus did Job continually." When dire calamities came upon him, his substance and children swept from him, he exclaimed: "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord." The mean object he depicts himself is but too familiar to all Bible readers to need any recapitulation here. This greatest of all the men of the East had become "a by-word of the people," scorned by friends and servants, utterly forsaken. Again are we reminded of a time when the great Shepherd was smitten, and "the sheep of the flock were scattered abroad," and he was forsaken of all men.

How pathetic the passage where Job depicts the shortness of man's life: "He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not." How universal that query of the soul: "If a man die, shall he live again?" In the passage, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," and, "In my flesh I shall see God," Job's faith seems to have spanned the entire Christian dispensation. The lofty language that characterizes the entire book of Job is suggestive of Arabic origin; but none the less so is the introduction of Melchisedek, "king of Salem and priest of the most high God." Perhaps the more general term, Oriental, better designates the style of each. After Job's afflictions were ended he lived an hundred and forty years. Is it an unscriptural suggestion that Job (one who weeps) should now be changed to Melchisedek (king of justice,) and that he should dwell in Salem (perfect peace?)

MERIDIAN, Miss., December, 1877.

Methodism in Prophecy.

COVINGTON, LA., Nov. 2, 1877.

MR. EDITOR: Will you be so kind as to publish the inclosed copy of a letter from the Rev. J. H. Muse, of Amite City, La., as it may draw attention to a subject which "every Methodist ought to know?"

That the great spiritual movement indicated in the latter part of the book of Revelation is and will be fulfilled in Methodism, I see very little room to doubt. The learned Benzelius admitted that the prophecies indicated this reformation to occur between 1730 and 1740, the exact time of the rise of Methodism; and Mr. Fletcher declared that "Methodism is the fulfillment of God's ancient promise of restoring apostolic religion to the world," and added: "Though this subject will be better understood in another generation." See his letter to Mr. Wesley in 1775, volume 4, page 238.

The book also, as Dr. Ahrens notes, "is an all-sufficient compendium of the prophecies in general," while it gives a succinct history of the rise, character and design of Methodism. Yours,

G. T. VICKERS.

P. S.—I thank you for your unprejudiced notice.

AMITE CITY, LA., Oct. 8, 1877.

REV. GEORGE T. VICKERS—My Very Much-Esteemed Brother: Your excellent book, "Methodism in Prophecy," came to hand in due time; but as I was then too busy to peruse it, I handed it to Bro. Thompson, of the Mississippi Conference, who, after retaining it for some time, returned it to me with the most unqualified indorsement of it, and the highest encomiums as a great success. Since its return I have carefully read it myself, and have found it a source of unspeakable delight. To me the book of Revelation has been a sealed book; but in my judgment the seals are broken and the book opened, and what was dark and incomprehensible before is no longer enveloped in mystery.

That there may be errors of a minor character in your interpretations, which I cannot detect, is possible; but that they are in the main correct I have not the shadow of a doubt. That the wonderful events recorded in your excellent treatise should have had a place in the prophetic chart is most reasonable. That a living ministry should have sprung up of the Puritan school and character in the eighteenth century after the lapse of ages of a non-progressive and passive gospel—in whose wonderful lives it is easy to perceive the all-pervading and controlling sentiment announced by St. Paul to the world—a sentiment which wrought such wonders in his life and character, to wit: "The love of Christ constraineth us"—was an event which, in the portrait of the coming history of the church and the world, the seer of Patmos could hardly have failed to note. I rejoice that the book is written and that I have it in my possession.

There are also excellencies of authorship which the intelligent reader will not fail to perceive. It manifestly embodies in a small space the fruits of a vast amount of labor and research; while I beg leave to add that the subject of the treatise is exceptionally kept fairly and fully before the mind of the reader, while the author remains in the background, or is seldom seen. Humbly invoking the divine blessings upon the precious little book, as well as on its author,

I remain yours truly,

J. H. MUSE.

For sale by R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street, New Orleans. Price, $1.

There wants nothing but a believing prayer to turn a promise into a performance.

The Conference.

MR. EDITOR: I am so glad that I went to the Conference on Saturday. It did me good to hear you and others say so many good things about the life of our good Bishop Marvin. Then I went to the missionary meeting at night. O what a rich display of spiritual life was brought forward from the Revs. Carter, Daves and Goodwyn, and then closing up, with a handsome sum of cash, by the Rev. Mr. Mathews! Next morning at nine o'clock came the love-feast, a score or more testifying about the love of Jesus. Then at eleven o'clock the Bishop—the first time I ever saw him. I heard all that he said. I tell you it was a feast to me. I was born in Virginia, August 4, 1815. Father and mother both died in November, 1820—in the same week. In August, 1832, I was convinced that living in sin was wrong—under the preaching of Rev. John Early, our late Bishop. I have tried to be a consistent Methodist ever since, and intend to try and do my duty as long as I live. Wishing you a long and happy life, I am yours in Christ,

J. M. ROBERTS.

WASHINGTON, LA., Dec. 22, 1877.

Buddhism a Better System of Religion than Brahminism

Dr. Field says in his letters "Around the World:"

In coming from India to Farther India we have found not only a new race, but a new faith and worship. While Brahminism rules the great southern peninsula of Asia, Buddhism is the religion of Eastern Asia, numbering more adherents than any other religion on the globe. Of this new faith one may obtain some idea by a visit to the Great Pagoda. The Buddhists, like the priests of some other religions, choose lofty sites for their places of worship, which, as they overtop the earth, seem to raise them nearer to heaven. The Great Pagoda stands on a hill or rocky ledge, which overlooks the city of Rangoon and the valley of the Irrawaddy. It is approached by a long flight of steps, which is occupied, like the approaches to the ancient temple of Jerusalem, by them that buy and sell, so that it is a kind of bazar; and also by lepers and blind men, who stretch out their hands to ask alms of those who mount the sacred hill to pray. Ascending to the summit, we find a plateau, on which there is an inclosure of perhaps an acre or two of ground. The pagoda is a colossal structure with a broad base like a pyramid, though round in shape, sloping upward to a slender cone, which tapers at last to a sort of spire, over three hundred feet high; and as the whole, from base to pinnacle, is covered with gold-leaf, it presents a very dazzling appearance as it reflects in the rays of the sun. As a pagoda is always a solid mass of masonry, with no inner place of worship—not even a shrine or a chamber like that in the heart of the Great Pyramid—there was more of fervor than of fitness in the language of an English friend of missions, who prayed, "that the pagodas might resound with the praises of God!" They might resound, but it must needs be on the outside. The tall spire has for its extreme point what architects call a finial—a kind of umbrella, which the Burmese call a "htee," made of a series of iron rings gilded, from which hang many little silver and brass bells, which, swinging to and fro with every passing breeze, give forth a dripping unsical sound. The Buddhist idea of prayer is not limited to human speech; it may be expressed by an offering of flowers or the tinkling of a bell. It is at least a pretty fancy which leads them to suspend on every point and pinnacle of their pagodas these tiny bells, whose soft aerial chimes sound sweetly in the air, and, floating upward, fill the ear of heaven with a constant melody. But however puerile it may be in its forms of worship, yet as a religion Buddhism is an immeasurable advance on Hindooism. In leaving India we have left behind Hindooism, and are grateful for the change, for Buddhism is altogether a more respectable religion. It has no bloody rites like those of the goddess Kali. It does not outrage decency nor morality. It has no obscene images nor obscene worship. It has no caste, with its bondage and degradation. Indeed the scholar who makes a comparative study of religions will rank Buddhism among the best of those which are unbiblical. If he does not find in its origin and in the life of its founder much that looks like inspiration. There is no doubt that Buddha, or Gaudama, if such a man ever lived (of which there is perhaps no more reason to doubt than of any of the great characters of antiquity,) began his career of a religious teacher as a reformer of Brahminism, with the honest and noble purpose of elevating the faith and purifying the lives of mankind.

Goethe said that the thought of endless life was sometimes oppressive to him, because there must be a period when further progress was impossible. But he was reassured on this point when he looked up to the stars. The poet felt that in revealing such depths of space to him they hinted at intellectual distances which no soul could out-travel. In the same spirit Kant said: "Two things fill me with perpetual awe—the moral law and the starry heavens."

An Irish clergyman once paused in his discourse and thus addressed the congregation: "My dear brethren, let me tell you that I am just half through my sermon; but as I perceive your impatience, I will say that the remaining half is not more than a quarter as long as that you have heard."

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss,' etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

WILLIAM E. BEAIRD was born in Bibb county, Ala., August 24, 1821, and died near Orrville, Dallas county, Ala., November 2, 1877. He grew up to manhood in his native county, coming to Dallas county in 1845, in which he resided over thirty years. In this county he married Miss Sarah Boon (in September, 1851,) an accomplished lady, having been educated in the Centenary Female College at Summerfield, Ala. She and four children—two sons and two daughters—survive him. Bro. Beaird filled, as well as any man, the relations of husband and father, most tenderly and carefully meeting all the claims of these relationships. Just a little while before his death he manifested very peculiar and touching tenderness in bestowing his blessing upon his little grandson, about a year old.

While the wife and children feel keenly their great loss and heavy bereavement, yet they can rejoice that he has not only left them the means of support, but that which is better—the excellence of a good name. As a citizen he was highly respected, fulfilling promptly all obligations growing out of this relation. He was characterized for the highest order of integrity and fidelity in all his business transactions. For many years he had belonged to the Masonic fraternity, and had attained to a most eminent and honored position in the mystic brotherhood, filling for about twenty years the office of worshipful master in his lodge, and serving for some time as an officer in the grand lodge of the State. Before reaching manhood he joined the Baptist Church, but for a few years after coming to Dallas county he was not identified with the church. In 1858 he joined the Methodist Church, at Bethel, near Selma, Ala., and from that time until his death he was fully devoted to the cause of the Master, striving to live the life of the righteous.

He had for many years held an official relation to the church, filling the offices of steward and trustee. He was almost invariably elected to represent his pastoral charge in the District Conference. At the time of his death he was the senior steward on the Orrville circuit, Alabama Conference. To the ministry and the various interests of the church he gave a liberal and cheerful support. In the church's institutions of learning he felt the warmest interest, and to them he gave his fullest support and most willing patronage. For several years he had suffered with a bronchial affection, but seemed to be well, and was very active in his attention to business; but about midsummer his health began to fail, and although for some time he seemed to rally, yet he continued to decline until compelled to keep his bed; and soon disease did its work. Owing to his condition and the difficulty of conversing, he did not talk a great deal on his death-bed, yet he gave satisfactory testimony of his acceptance with God, and of his readiness to pass from the labor and suffering of earth to the rest and bliss of the better land. His end was peace. He was buried at Bethel church, where he first united with the people called Methodists.

He has passed over the Jordan of death, and has reached the bright coast of the heavenly Canaan.

J. W. SNUGGS.

MRS. ROSANNA SNYDER departed this life on the tenth of September, 1877, at the residence of her son, Caleb H. Snyder, in Franklin parish, La. She was born in Sunbury, Pa., March 16, 1805. Her maiden name was Grier. She was married to Daniel Snyder on the thirteenth of December, 1831, with whom she left her native State and moved to Natchez, Miss., in the year 1840. They afterward moved to Waterproof, La., in the year 1852. At this place she lost her husband, with yellow fever, in the year 1853. This was a heavy blow to her, and not only shut out the light from her household, but left her in a position of dependence, which is the common lot of widowhood. She was now the mother of eight children, some of them grown, but most of them dependent upon a widowed mother for support. This was truly a trying time for her, but yet it tended to develop a native decision and independence of character, of which she was possessed, and she commenced the struggle of life afresh and in earnest, with a determination to keep herself and children above want; and whatever her hand found to do, she did it with an energy characteristic of her life. But she was not left to struggle alone. One of her sons, then about fifteen years of age, stepped forward and took a father's place as far as he could fill it, left school, entered into business, and gave up his earnings to assist his mother in supporting the family, and their united efforts secured for them the comforts of life. As her health might be well said, when the cares of the family rested upon her, "that she looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness." She endeared herself to her children by her self-sacrificing devotion to their welfare and interests, and the attachment existing between mother and children was strong and abiding.

Being raised by pious parents, she was always religiously inclined, though it was late in life before she gave formal expression to her feelings by uniting with the church of God. In the meantime her entire influence over her children was of a religious character, and whenever opportunity presented she required of them a punctual attendance at Sunday school and on the public worship of God, and such solicitude is even now having its effect in shaping the character of her children. She united with the Presbyterian church at Trinity, La., in the year 1870, where she was then making her home. From Trinity she moved to Franklin parish, La., and spent the remainder of her life with her son, C. H. Snyder, who had been her support in the feebleness of old age. The end of her earthly journey was now drawing nigh—her step was growing feeble, and the light gradually fading from her eye—and when her children and friends would part from her it was always with the sad feeling: "It may be the last time." But yet, while the life-current was growing more sluggish, her Christian character was fast ripening and maturing into a resignation of mind that could say: "Not my will, but thine, be done"—willing to stay awhile longer on earth for her children's sake, but ever ready to depart. Though not altogether unlooked for, her call was sudden—no time for parting words, and seemingly without pain and without a struggle, without fear or alarm, she quietly and quickly passed from life to death, and, we trust, from death to glory.

A. M. WALLS.

DIED, at the home of her uncle, John T. Booth, in Whistler, Ala., AUGUSTA F., daughter of W. G. and Addie V. Booth, of Beech Springs, Neshoba county, Miss., aged nineteen years. The subject of this brief memoir was converted, baptized and taken into the church of her choice (Methodist Episcopal Church, South,) under our present pastor, Rev. William S. Wade. The writer of these lines was with her during the most of her illness, and I have never seen so much patience and fortitude exhibited in any sufferer. Our pastor told her, several days before she died, that recovery was hopeless, but she was calm—seemed resting in her Savior's arms, and waiting only his bidding to cross over to the other shore. When told that she had only a few hours to live, she answered: "I am willing to go." Being asked if she had any wish or request, she replied: "I would like to see my mother; but if it is not possible, tell her to meet me in heaven." On one occasion I referred to a Sabbath school lesson, as he was also requested, and asked her if she fully understood its import, she in the presence of the audience replied in a decisive and emphatic voice: "I mean that I am ready to go." I then asked her if she could say that she could trust in Jesus, she responded: "It is my Father's will for me to go, I know it will be his good pleasure to give me an abundant entrance into his kingdom." Thus has passed away, in the bloom of spring, one of those rare beings whom to know was to love; whose earthly work, completed, has made life for us more earnest, with a desire to meet in heaven one we loved so dearly. Though the friend of one fleeting year, yet what pleasant memories clasp around the brief twelve months in which our little romance of grace, in our social circle, in our order of Good Templars, in our social circle, we miss her sweet smile and her winning manners. Well and truthfully can it be said of her: "She hath done what she could." God give the mother and sisters grace to bear their unlooked-for bereavement, and grace to meet her where sorrow never comes!

A FRIEND.

ROBERT HENRY FORD, youngest son of Judge J. M. Ford, died at the residence of S. B. McCutchen, in the city of Shreveport, on the morning of November 3, 1877, in his twenty-fifth year.

I was with him often, and talked with him freely and fully during his sickness. He was willing and anxious to talk of death, heaven and life eternal. He was impressed from the beginning that he would die. He had been a member of the church some time, but had never made an open, satisfactory profession of regeneration. He was not fully assured of his acceptance with Christ. But before the end came—and that, too, when physicians and friends thought all danger had passed, and that he would recover—he was clear and pronounced in his religious life. A few hours before his death, as I left him, sitting up, he joined in, in a clear, ringing voice, and during the prayer that followed, with hands clasped and eyes closed, he seemed in the very presence of the Father—to breathe the atmosphere of heaven. He was in his twenty-sixth year. He died young, but he died in Jesus. His venerable father, the aged and revered Judge Ford, though so pained to give up his boy, inspired us all by his supreme trust in God and faith in Jesus. He was a preacher, ministering to the help and preparation of his son.

"The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away." We follow our Heaven-bound friend, father, friend, gone on the shining way.

J. T. DAVIS.

MARY ADELAIDE, daughter of Capt. W. L. and Mrs. A. Lutz, died of spinal fever, October 21, 1877, on Shell Island, Calahoula parish, La., aged about seven years, eight months and seventeen days.

She conversed with her parents freely in the solemn hour of death, expressed her confidence in the Savior, and entire resignation to death. Her father read to her the Scriptures during her sickness, from which she drew much comfort, especially from the ninety-fifth psalm, and enjoyed family worship. It was her request that the family would inform her when she was dying, as she wished to know it so she could bid them all good-by. For several hours before her death she was unconscious. Her patience in her sufferings was remarkable, not uttering a word to repel her lips. She was a quick, meek and gentle disposition—one of those sweet spirits that illuminates so much in the sacred debates of the family circle. But while we know that she is for the first time in her life, each member feels the loss. But to the parents and friends it is a comfort beyond measure to know she died in the hope of living with Jesus. And no doubt the Father of mercies will sanctify her early death to the everlasting good of her parents, brothers and sisters.

J. H. STONE.

ON Sunday evening, July 29, the death-angel came and bore away to the spirit-land a sweet cherub from the household of Charles E. and Euphrosia E. Millican, near Waxahachie, Ellis county, Texas. Their dear little Viola, only five years old, was sick just one week. God took her to himself. She was a sweet and intelligent child—a model of every virtue that could adorn the life of one so young. Bright in life, calm in death, happy in glory, little Viola is not dead, but sleepeth in the arms of him who said: "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

J. E.

Spiritual hunger cannot be satisfied by general resolutions, stereotyped speeches and formal prayers; but only by closer communion with Christ, and personal effort of one soul for the welfare of another soul.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1878.

BISHOP MARVIN'S MISSIONARY TOUR.

BY BISHOP KENNER.

Freighted with love he outward went,
Touching the continents along,
As angels once far down were sent,
Laden with light and purest song—

The Flowery Kingdom still and dark,
Where sleeping myriads lay around,
Waiting the Spirit's vital spark,
Of resurrection's trumpet-sound;

The Indian realm where Brahma reigns,
Where living pyres taint the air,
Where Kali's rage the Thug sustains,
And strangled victims track her lair.

There Ganges' superstitions wave
Blest where starving mothers die;
Whose sins its waters cannot lave,
Though thousands to its margin fly.

By Horeb, where Elijah stood,
Along the shore where Miriam sang
O'er Egypt's host, beneath the flood—
To Israel's about the echoes rang.

Where reflected the bright-eyed Pyramid
Back to the Sun his burning gold,
And in this blazing altar hid
The sons of the Sun, Pthin's son of old—

The highest labor left by man,
While searching for the "unknown God"
Near where the opulent river ran
That turned to blood by Moses' rod.

Through a causeway made of mud,
The Prophet rider with hoods of steel,
To quell th' arch Dragon in his den—
O Son of Man, bring down thy heel!

Once on to Zion's golden hights,
Her lofty bulwarks built by God,
Whose glory burned in burning lights—
Of every torn an angel's rod,

Bore David's harp and David's call,
Stirred by the air that Heaven breathed,
Rang down the ages' roll:
"Praise ye the Heaven to be praised."

The greatest Son of David's line,
Whose smile was pleased for sinful man,
Whose lifeless life—the Spirit's wine—
Ran in purple currents ran.

Now all this glory swept and gone,
For them blights that scathed and cursed,
A great and precious world alone
In chains of salvation bound.

The Golden Horn, the Moslem's hope,
Where rich steel gleam and perfumes waves,
Where Orthodox Turk, so fierce and bold,
The Prophet's faith and Islam imbibed.

Where Christ's cross on dark'ning Olivet,
Saw upholds his ancient Throne—
Of half the world there's no defense
But in the Savior's prayer alone.

A seer from Calvary's height,
The light of stroke of Easter's fire,
Soon rings was a million light,
Still streaming upward—higher, higher.

Faith sees a brighter than light,
Its God on earth's throne in glory,
And on the hills of light, eternal sight—
Glories of life, of life triune.

Far in advance the polar sands
Flecking above the blood-bathed dead,
Its glory waits o'er heathen lands—
How long, O Lord! O Christ our Head!

Full round the world—an angel's flight—
He preaches the cross his Master bore,
Then soaring upward, lost in light,
With rapture gazing His eternal shore.

DECATUR, TEXAS, Nov. 27, 1877.

Sunday School Helps for 1878.

One very great benefit of the uniform lesson system is seen in the valuable helps which it has furnished for Bible study. In addition to the works mentioned below, our readers must not forget that our own Sunday School Magazine, with its notes on the lessons, is one of the best, and that Dr. Summers' commentaries are admirably adapted to the use of teachers. Other things being equal, we should use our own publications. The New York Methodist gives a list of some excellent publications in the following article:

As we draw near to the close of each year the question arises: What helps should we select for the coming year? We propose in this article to call attention to some of the best publications that have come to our notice. As to the text-book itself,

THE BIBLE.—While there are many publishers, and Bagster has long been peerless, we believe, after careful examination, that the Teachers' Bibles published by the American Tract Society are unsurpassed by any, and in some particulars more desirable for teachers than Bagster's. The maps, tables, index, text-book and concordance are better than any other, which I believe to be true also of the binding. They are cheaper in price than the English publications of the same grade.

COMMENTARIES.—Of these, Dr. A. Clarke's, or Henry's, Lange's or Patrick's are each standard works. Henry's is particularly suggestive in exposition and practical lessons; Lange more critical.

Perhaps a more available book for general use of teachers is that of Jamieson, Fancett and Brown, which is not as full as either of the above. Of the more modern, and hence having the advantage of more recent investigation and criticism, the best are The Speaker's Commentary, vol. 3, published by Scribner, Armstrong & Co., New York, and Whedon's Commentary, vol. 4, published by the Methodist Book Concern, New York.

The Speaker's Commentary is a large book, costing at retail $5. The text is of the authorized version, A. D. 1611, with marginal references. The different renderings are given, and the notes embody amended translations. The comments are explanatory and critical. They present, in a concise form, yet in large type, the results of the investigations of the learned carried on during the last half century. Fuller discussions and elaborate treatises on difficult passages or important subjects are placed at the end of the chapters in which they occur, or at the end of the volume. This will be found a valuable assistant to every teacher and an excellent commentary for the family. Vol. 3 includes Second Kings to Esther, and covers the books of our lessons in the first six months.

Whedon's Commentary, vol. 4, from First Kings to Esther, is a much smaller and much cheaper volume than the one just referred to. It is prepared by some of the best biblical scholars of our own land, and is available for popular use. It has maps and illustrations that add largely to its value. Its notes are clear, complete, exegetical, pervaded with scriptural spirit, and loyal to truth as held by the evangelical churches. This volume is prepared by the Rev. Milton S. Terry, A. M. It is printed in the style of Barnes' Notes, and shows conscientious critical research, clear exposition, and many practical and devout reflections. Teachers may consider themselves safe in buying either of these volumes; blessed is that teacher who can own both.

Monday Club Sermons, published by Henry Hoyt, Boston. This book is larger than former volumes, and several new writers are introduced. Each lesson of the year has an entire chapter. Some are critical, all are practical, devout and instructive. It will be found especially helpful to superintendents in summing up in a clear and practical manner the lessons studied. Here are new lines of approach to the important teachings of the Scriptures under consideration, well illustrated and enforced.

Selected and Original Notes.—A deservedly popular help is that prepared by the Rev. E. N. Peloubet, of Boston, and published by Henry Hoyt, No. 9 Cornhill. The notes are critical, explanatory, illustrative and practical. Each lesson is introduced with connecting links, contemporary history, writers, prophets, etc. It has four excellent maps and a chronological chart, presenting in parallel lines the kings and prophets of Judah and Israel. Over two hundred different authors are quoted from, and it is almost as good as having many commentaries. The gist of what each one says is presented where additional light is thrown upon the word.

Notes on the International Lessons, Old Testament, by the Rev. J. E. Todd. New Testament, by the Rev. M. B. Riddle, D. D. This is a very superior help, published by the Congregational Publishing Society, Beacon street, Boston. Each lesson has a carefully prepared introduction, giving connecting history and contemporary history. The comments show careful preparation and ripe scholarship. It may be safely used as a traveler would his guide-book in passing through the lessons of the year. The scriptural references are many and appropriate; the maps and chronological tables are not equal to those of Peloubet.

The Lesson Compend, published by the Methodist Book Concern, is a much smaller book than the above, and is a compilation of brief comments, well selected and arranged, from nearly two hundred authors. It is a convenient and suggestive help, and costs only sixty cents.

The Sunday School Journal is published by the same house as above, and gives very excellent critical and exegetical notes, illustrations and practical thoughts. Monthly to clubs of six, fifty-five cents each for the year.

The Leaf Cluster, for primary classes, is unequaled. Its pictures help the minds of the little ones to grasp the truths of the lesson. They are designed by the inimitable Frank Beard, and should be displayed on the wall of every primary school.

The Berean Question-Book, by the same house, is the best for general use. An effort has been made to adapt it to all scholars. Complaint is made that it is much mixed, and some are anxious for graded question-books.

Peloubet's Graded Question-Books are three in number, and each good, though that prepared for the advanced classes does not equal the Berean.

Todd's Question-Book for older scholars is one of the very best in the market. It follows the lines of the notes referred to above by the same author. For younger scholars Mrs. William Barrows prepares the Little Pilgrim Question-Books, in the form of questions and clear and concise answers. It has numerous illustrations, and is one of the best of that grade.

The Berean Lesson Leaf we think the best published, all things considered. Each sheet of four pages contains a month's lessons. Every Sunday the same matter as above on one page or sheet for each Sunday, while the other side contains notes and explanations designed to aid the scholars in their study of the lesson; memory lessons, doctrines, etc.

The Westminster Question-Book contains excellent material, but is in too small print.

Caoutchouc-Making on the Amazon.

Narrow paths lead from the hut through the thick underbrush to the solitary trunks of the India rubber trees; and as soon as the dry season allows, the woodman goes into the seringal with a hatchet in order to cut small holes in the bark, or rather in the wood of the caoutchouc-tree, from which a milky-white sap begins to flow through an earthenware spout fastened to the wound. Below is a piece of bamboo which is cut into the shape of a bucket. In this way he goes from tree to tree until, upon his return, in order to carry the material more conveniently, he begins to empty the bamboo buckets into a large calabash. The contents of this are poured into one of those great turtle shells which on the Amazon are used for every kind of purpose. He at once sets to work on the smoking process, since, if left to stand long, the gummy particles separate, and the quality of the India rubber is hurt. This consists in subjecting the sap, when spread out thin, to the smoke from nuts of the Urucury or Uassa palm, which, strange to say, is the only thing that will turn it solid at once. An earthenware "bowl without bottom," whose neck has been drawn together like that of a bottle, forms a kind of chimney which placed over a heap of dry red-hot nuts so that the white smoke escapes from the top in thick clouds. The workman pours a small quantity of the white rich milk-like liquid over a kind of light wooden shovel which he turns with quickness, in order to separate the sap as much as possible. Then he passes it quickly through the dense smoke above the little chimney, turns it about several times, and at once perceives the milk take on a grayish yellow color and turn solid. In this way he lays on skin after skin until the India rubber on each side is two or three centimeters thick and he cushions the plancha done. It is then cut upon one side, peeled off the shovel and hung up to dry, since much water has got in between the layers, which should dry out, if possible. The color of the plancha, which is at first a bright silver gray, becomes more and more yellow, and at last turns into the brown of caoutchouc as it is known in commerce. A good workman can finish in this way five or six pounds an hour. The thicker, the more even, and the freer from bubbles the whole mass is, so much the better is its quality and higher the price.—"From the Atlantic to the Andes," in Scribner.

Hints on the Care of the Eyes.

There are, perhaps, more individuals who ascribe their weakness of sight to a use of their eyes under an insufficient artificial illumination than to any other one cause. In a great many instances this may not be strictly true, but there can be no doubt that faulty artificial light is one of the most productive causes of a certain class of injuries to which the eye can be exposed. The two sources of trouble with the ordinary artificial lights are—first, that they are not pure white; and, secondly, that they are unsteady. The first defect is found in all artificial lights except the lime, electric and magnesium lights; the second especially in candles and gas. The yellowness is, in a measure, counteracted by using, in the case of lamps and gas, chimneys of a violet or blue tint, and the flickering of the gas may be obviated largely by employing an Argand burner. All things considered, a German student lamp furnishes the most satisfactory light. The next best is gas with an Argand burner. The chimneys of both may, as above suggested, be advantageously of a light-blue tint.

The position of the light in relation to the body is of great importance. If a shade is used on the lamp or burner (it should, by preference, be of ground, or "milk" glass, never of colored glass), the light may stand directly in front of the body and the work be allowed to lie in the light under the shade, which will protect the eyes from the glare of the flame. If no shade is used the back should be turned to the source of light, which ought to fall over the left shoulder. The same rule applies in the management of daylight. In this case the light should come from behind and slightly above, and fall directly on the work, whence it is reflected to the eye. It should never fall directly in the face.

The light in the room during sleep is also not without its influence. As a rule, the room during sleeping hours should be dark; and, in particular, care should be taken to avoid sleeping opposite a window where on opening the eyes in the morning a flood of strong light will fall on them. Even the strongest eyes are, after the repose of the night, more or less sensitive to the impression of intense light. The eyes must have time to accustom themselves to the stimulus.

Attention should be called to the injurious effects that sometimes follow reading on railroad cars. On account of the unsteadiness of the page, reading under these circumstances is exceedingly trying to the eyes, and should never be persisted in for any considerable length of time.

During convalescence from severe illness the eyes are generally the last to regain their lost power. Especially is this the case with women after child-birth, and too much care cannot be taken to put as little strain upon the eyes as possible at this time.—Dr. S. M. Burnett, in Scribner.

Giving.

The American Wesleyan asks and answers four queries suggested by First Corinthians xvi. 1-2:

I. Who are to give? "Every one of you."

II. How are you to give?

1. Our contributions should be made devoutly, as an act of worship, and consequently as a part of the services of God's house.

2. We are to give according to our ability, or "as God has prospered" us.

3. This involves system in the amount of our benefactions.

We are to give "freely;" not grudgingly; but "with cheerfulness," as unto the Lord.

III. When are we to give?

1. We are to give not at some indefinite and "convenient season;" when no sacrifice or self-denial would be experienced, our offering costing us nothing, but statedly, on "the first day of the week."

2. This is a fitting time for an undue love of the world to be discovered, and "covetousness, which is idolatry," to be exposed, and the sanctuary an appropriate place for selfishness to be crucified so thoroughly that we can fill the measure of God's requirements.

3. God has united giving with the service of his house; what, therefore, "God hath joined together let none of us put asunder."

4. Here we would protest against auditing the accounts of the church, and the transaction of such business as may and ought to be attended to on the part of the society or its representatives on a week-day.

IV. Why are we thus to give?

1. Because it is the order of God, and his modes are always the best, and when faithfully and minutely observed, success is inevitable.

2. God challenges the church to test his plan of systematic giving, assuring them of abundant blessings.

3. When this shall be done, all seeming excuses for the friends of the church to adopt doubtful or sinful appliances for replenishing the treasury of the Lord will be at an end. Church fairs, church lotteries and pew-renting will be among the things that were.

Religious Intelligence.

—Fifty thousand Churchmen, it is said, have signed a petition asking for the repeal of the public worship regulation act.

—The estimated value of the property of the Methodist Church in New Jersey is $5 000,000. There are 300 churches and 200 parsonages.

—The British Wesleyan Missionary Society has now seventy-six young men under training in the Richmond Theological Institution for the foreign missionary work.

—According to the Year-Book of Trinity Church, of New York city, the total amount of property held by the corporation is $7,000,000; the annual revenue is $500,000.

—During the past summer an English mission yacht, called the Evangelist, traversed the southern coast of England and distributed Bibles and Testaments in various languages, and other religious reading, to all of the vessels it met.

—The Southern Churchman does not like the present mode of representation in the House of Deputies of the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, though it does not state what its particular objections are. It quotes from Bishop White the prediction: "It may in future be the cause of the severing of the bond of union."

—The great controversy among missionaries in China in regard to the Chinese word for God shows no signs of abatement. The Chinese Recorder is obliged to announce in its July-August number that the articles already received will be published in the next two numbers; but after this year the magazine will be closed to the discussion of the question.

—Bishop Burdon (Anglican) of China, has a large diocese to travel over. It takes him six months to make the round of the missions, and he has to travel 5,000 miles. At Fuhchan he baptized during his recent visit 150 adults and confirmed 500 persons. This mission was established in 1850, and gained its first convert in 1860. Now it has 1,443 native Christians and 259 adults were baptized last year.

—The American Missionary Association, which labors in behalf of the colored people, the Indians, and the Chinese on the Pacific coast, met at Syracuse, N. Y., recently. The income for the past year for missions, church extension, and education amounted to $200,695; expended and due, $179,297. A year ago the debt was reported at $193,232. It is now $62,816, a reduction of $30,416. It has been accomplished by the economy of the administration in the reduction of the appropriations, where it could be done without seriously injuring its efficiency, and realizing from the sale of assets, now for the first time available.

—The missionaries in India of the Basel society gives exceptional testimony on the caste question. Unlike all other missionaries, they have no trouble with it. In their report they say that "caste is no difficulty in our congregations. There may perhaps now and then be a reluctance about marrying into a caste essentially lower, and very ignorant people may have some misgivings about being too intimate with Christians from a lower caste, although even these things are almost limited to those of our places which border on the districts where caste Christians are. But we may safely say that by far the most general rule is that our Christians do not think of caste distinctions; that in the Lord's Supper not the least trace of it can be discovered; that in social intercourse nothing is discovered of caste; that in our boarding schools all castes, from the Brahman down to the Pariah and the Holeya, freely participate in the same meals; and that even intermarriages between Christians of different castes are so common and so natural that they are not even noticed as anything exceptional. And more than this, not only our Christians, but also many of the heathen who have to do with us, think it a matter of course and a very great progress, which is a recommendation of Christianity, that we have done away with caste. It would, indeed, now be the most difficult thing to introduce it again, as hundreds and hundreds of the second and third generations of our Christians are sprung from a mixture of castes."

—The United States of Colombia seems to be a hard field for Protestant missionaries. We stated recently that the Southern Presbyterian Board had withdrawn its missionaries from that country, on account of failure to make any impression on the people. The Roman Catholics have a hold on the country which will not easily be loosened. The Northern Presbyterian Board has a mission at Bogota, in charge of the Rev. W. Weaver, who describes, in the Foreign Missionary, a tour he made recently. He visited two important cities, but was unable to accomplish anything in either, so "firmly were they held by priestly rule." In the smaller places he could generally get a small audience of men and boys. At Fusagasuga he succeeded in awakening quite an interest. He called on the cura, who was friendly and liberal, and did not hesitate to attend the conference, which was appointed for discussion on the points of difference between the Protestant and Catholic religions. He approved Mr. Weaver's sermon and prayer as good Catholic doctrine, and when the conference broke up tracts were offered and eagerly taken. All this work, of course, is merely preliminary, and before the next meeting is held interest may lapse into indifference. Mr. Weaver says: "At times I meet persons who want Testaments, or who show in some other way a decided interest. But even these, as a rule, drop the matter when they learn that it is not a matter of money, politics or philosophy. I have sometimes thought that these southern countries were in sort of drainage for the northern. I have scarcely met in my reading a single phase of thought, however abstract, which has not its representatives in this country."—Independent.

Our Young People.

THE LITTLE QUESTIONER.

Say, mamma, where does Santa Claus stay?
Is his house in the sky or the ground?
Does he know, when he's on the way,
Where each little one may be found?

When he comes and looks over my bed,
And finds me asleep, all alone,
Will he know little Nell he is dead?
Will he know where his spirit has gone?

Do they hang up their stockings in heaven?
Can he visit dear Bennie up there?
I hope if he can, he'll be given
Such "pretties" as angels can wear.

A pair of wings white as the snow,
A little gold crown for his head!
Santa Claus will be sorry, I know,
When he finds out the baby is dead!

Don't cry, mother dear, for he's blest
Gentle Jesus has him in his care!
And when we lie down to our rest,
He, too, will be angels up there!

MONROE, Louisiana. JUANITA.

From Our Little Friends.

BAYOU CLEAR, LA., Nov. 15, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I have seen so many letters from little boys and girls in the children's column of the ADVOCATE, and having never seen any from Bayou Clear, I concluded to write you one from this place myself. I love your paper, because ma loves to read it, and my dear grandma, who is now in heaven, lived it dearly. She used to teach little sister and me our catechism and Sunday school hymns. One was, "I want to be an angel." Our Sabbath school is not as flourishing as it once was. Besides having a church and Sunday school, we also have a temperance club—a local affair—called "Temperance Rangers." It was organized three years ago, and has accomplished great good. Next year we expect to have a good day school, with L. L. Upton, of Farmerville, La., as teacher.

Your little friend,

STUART L. CAMPBELL.

OAKWOODS, St. Tammany Parish, La.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years of age, and a reader of the ADVOCATE. We have a Sunday school and preaching here. We came from Virginia last spring, since which time I have been going regularly to a German school. I can read, write and understand the German, but I cannot speak it well yet. I like Louisiana very much. When we arrived here I was very glad to go out of doors and look at the flowers and play on the grass. Most of the little people ask questions, so I will ask one too: Where is the word "confectioneries" found in the Bible? Your little friend,

SUSIE EVERS.

HIGH HAVEN, LINCOLN CO., MISS., October 12, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am an occasional reader of your paper. I am fourteen years of age, and am trying to learn something about the Bible. I have read the New Testament through four times with my teacher. I am also reading the Old Testament through this year with her. Our lesson now begins at the sixteenth chapter of Jeremiah. Do you think I will be faithful, and finish this year by reading two chapters a day? I want to ask the little boys and girls a question: Where is the word "lady" found in the Old Testament?

Your friend and well-wisher,

SARAH LOUISA COWART.

PEARLINGTON, Miss., Nov. 11, 1877.

DEAR EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old. We have a very good Sabbath school in this place. I attend regularly. My father is the superintendent. Rev. I. W. Cooper is our preacher this year. He is a very good man, and we think a great deal of him. Tell Pearl McCracken that "Sardis" is found in Revelation iii, 1. Which is the shortest verse in the Bible? Your little friend,

REBECCA BROWN.

WATERPROOF, LA., Nov. 5, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: The sign given to King Hezekiah was that of the shadow of the sun going back ten degrees on the dial of Ahaz. It was Manasseh who began to reign at twelve years of age, and reigned fifty-five years. What was the sin of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat?

Your friend,

JAMES B. ROONEY.

GREENVILLE, ALA., Nov. 5, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl twelve years old, and a member of a large and interesting Sabbath school, which I attend regularly, and always try to have a good lesson. Now, Mr. Editor, let me ask the little boys and girls a question: How many orators are mentioned in the Bible? Your little friend,

ESTELLE STEINER.

A Word to American Boys.

Meantime, I say, revel in the dawn. Rejoice in your young strength and life; aim high, and build your castles like brave young architects, only taking care to dig the foundations deep, and to lay them with care and patience. Whether you will ever be able to build on them such brave and lofty towers and halls as you dream of now matters comparatively little to you or your country. A thousand accidents or chances will determine in the coming years what the superstructure shall be—accidents and chances we call them for want of a better name—which you cannot control in the outset, but which will be controlled and settled for you.

What materials you will have to work with, who can say? To one may be given marble to another jewels and precious stones, will be served out in the great work-shop of the world. You cannot make your choice; it will be made for you. But this you can and must do, and should be doing now. You can so prepare the ground and the foundations that whatever material shall come to your hand hereafter shall surely be made the most of, and used in the best way; so that whether you have to build marble palaces, or log-huts, the work shall be faithful and strong, and fit to stand the stress of the wildest weather, and the wear and tear of time.

What are these foundations but the principles and habits which underlie the character of the man, and which can only be laid to good purpose by the boy? Truthfulness, self-control, simplicity, obedience—these are the great corner-stones to be welded and bound together by the cement of patience. "If I had only one word to speak to my boys," said one of the wisest and best educators of our time, "it should be patience, patience, patience, over and over again." The world is getting into such a feverish hurry, and we are going so fast, that we are all in danger of missing the best things in life—the common sights and sounds which lie by the wayside on every stage of the journey, and nowhere in greater profusion than on the first stage. This is our trouble, and likely to be more and more the trouble of our children.

But, happily for us, our boys are the least affected by the disease of any section of society. The upper school boy, unless he is a mere shiftless, no'er-do-weel (a very small section of any community), is, as a rule, more than content with his daily life—he is rejoicing and glorying in it. And his daily life repays him with interest. He stands there at seventeen or eighteen on the verge of manhood, a boy still in heart, full of enthusiasms and aspirations, but with an intellect and body patiently and carefully trained, looking hopefully to the next step in life, but unwilling to hurry it—the best poised and most equally developed human creature, take him all round, that our life can show. He has not sold his birthright, and the grand morning hours of life, when boyhood is maturing, have passed slowly over him, leaving behind them a bouquet and fragrance which will sweeten the coming years, and a reserve of strength for the labor and heat of the approaching midday.—Thomas Hughes, in St. Nicholas.

Showing the Way.

A king who had several sons promised to give each of them a kingdom. But he wished them to travel for some time. They asked the king which way they should travel, and he said he would give them a lamp, which would shed its light on the right path.

They went on for some time very happily, and when they were in difficulty they took out their lamp, and it never failed to show them the road; and, though it did not always point out the pleasantest path, yet they were enabled to overcome the difficulties they met with, and still went on peacefully.

But after a time they began to be unkind to each other, and they forgot their father, and did not like to be guided by the lamp. So they took some clay and covered up one side of the lamp, that it should only shine the way they wished; and then, at last, they covered up the lamp altogether, and they chose only the pleasantest path.

But there is often a thorn under the rose, and so they found it. They got into a great deal of trouble. A friend met them and told them that they were in the wrong road; and when he looked at their lamp he saw that it was all covered up. He took off the clay, and it shone the right way, as before.

Now what does this friendly lamp mean?

O the Bible; I knew that in a minute. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."—Psalms cxix. 105. How nicely this verse suits the parable.

Yes, it does; but will it apply to you? Are you making God's word your guide? You are young, but you have as much need to be led in the way as a grown-up person, for children are easily drawn aside. Take this lamp with you, and you will go safely and happily through life.

But how can anybody cover up the lamp?

The Jews covered it up with their traditions. "Ye have made the word of God of none effect," said our Savior, "through your traditions." And sin, and prejudice, and pride, hide the light of truth from the minds of many persons now. Pray for the Holy Spirit, that by its blessed teaching you may understand the Bible, and also your heart be inclined to obey its precepts. This will be a nice short prayer for you: "Cause me to know the way wherein I should walk."—Children's Friend.

A man may talk virtuously, but if he lives in secret an impure life his unconscious influence for evil will destroy the effect of his words. Character influences independently of its professions, and this influence of character is the heaviest weight in the scale of life.

A good inclination is but the first draught of virtue; but the finishing strokes are from the will, which, if well disposed, will by degrees perfect; if ill disposed, will by the superinduction of ill habits quickly deface it.—South.

The chief properties of wisdom are to be mindful of things past, careful of things present, and provident of things to come.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—111 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev R. J. Harp, 111 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. Linus Parker, 111 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. D. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. O. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

A New Volume.

With the beginning of another volume of the ADVOCATE we take occasion, as usual, to have a few words with our subscribers and agents. We are now half through the eighth year of our control of the columns of this paper. During these years we have made a great many friends, and we are not aware that any personal estrangements have been created. We feel under obligations to our brethren of the ministry, and especially of the patronizing Conferences, for the uniform courtesy with which they have treated us, for the contributions which many of them have made to our columns, and for their efforts to extend our circulation.

We need not remind them that our dependence on them is almost absolute for the enlargement of our subscription list. The grounds of this dependence are that the publication of the ADVOCATE is purely a benevolent religious enterprise, undertaken for the benefit of our preachers and people, and for the advancement of Methodism. We cannot, however, claim the assistance of our pastors unless a paper is furnished that merits the patronage of the church. This we have done. Our paper will bear comparison with other religious journals. It is certainly worth the money that it costs, and it can only do good wherever it goes. We send it out as the pastor's helper; to aid him in the religious instruction of his people, as a medium of religious intelligence, and as an organ for the exposition of our institutions, and the relation which members of the church sustain to them. By working for the ADVOCATE the pastor is working for the church, and most directly promoting the intelligence and spirituality of his charge. It is a work that lies in the path of pastoral labor, and can be performed in the course of pastoral visiting, and by occasional appeals from the pulpit.

As a matter of fact, there never will be a broad-minded, liberal, connectional spirit where our religious literature is not circulated. Where the habit of reading a church paper has not been formed we are sure to mark a lack of interest in the enterprises of the church, and an inadequate support of the ministry. The individual is made a connectional man, and brought into sympathy with the spirit and undertakings of the whole church by means of the weekly religious paper. We shall never reach the true standard in regard to missions, education and ministerial support until we become a reading people. It is the glory of Methodism that it carries the gospel to the poor, the illiterate, and to those who are utterly destitute of gospel privileges. It is all the more needful that our converts should have the advantages of the instruction and culture which the ADVOCATE supplies. The reading type of piety is as much superior to the unreading as sunshine is superior to moonlight.

Then the ADVOCATE has its spiritual message to the hearts and consciences of the people—a message of warning, encouragement and consolation. It goes to the sick-room, to the house of mourning, and to out-of-the-way places, where preaching is not often heard. It affords wholesome reading for the family, and becomes the fireside companion of the aged and infirm. The children become interested in its columns, and through it become more thoroughly attached to the church, and more fully imbued with the spirit and genius of Methodism. By its weekly visits our people are brought in contact with the freshest currents of living thought, and are put in vital communion with the great movements of the universal church. We have subjected our own views and convictions to the severest self-scrutiny, lest our official connection with the ADVOCATE should make us over-earnest on this subject. But we feel that our words are words of truth and soberness when we reiterate convictions long held: that the circulation of our church literature is vital to our highest success, and an essential element in the mission of Methodism. It is a reading age, and if our publications do not reach our people, some others will. The enemy, through the press, is fearfully busy sowing tares, and we must, by the same means, diligently sow the good seed of the kingdom.

No pastor should rest content until he succeeds in putting a church paper into every family in his charge. In doing this he is about his Father's business, and working in perfect accord with his mission as a preacher of the gospel. He will meet with discouragements in this as in other departments of church work. But he should aim to place a paper in every family, and continue to work to this end, just as he labors to promote Bible-reading, family prayer, and all the duties of personal religion. Persistent and hearty effort will tell, and ignorance, narrowness and stinginess will gradually give way. It is a lamentable fact that not one-half of our seven hundred thousand members read a church paper. And this fact indicates something worse than hard times. It exhibits a want of taste for reading, and an alarming indifference to the church and its affairs. The fact is a revelation of character and condition which should arrest our serious consideration. It must be the endeavor of the preachers to wake up this mass of inertness, and mental and spiritual torpor, and to stimulate a taste for religious reading. Those who take no religious paper are the ones who most need it, and hence every new subscriber's name, by so much, diminishes this pitiable destitution. By obtaining a new reader you put windows into his spiritual house, through which the light streams in, and you furnish an observatory from which he can obtain a view of the religious world—the tents of Israel and the tabernacles of Jacob. The introduction of a religious paper will be the beginning of a new spiritual and connectional life in the family and in the church, and will often lead to an awakening to duty scarcely less pronounced than the conversion of the soul.

In the performance of our editorial duties we are endeavoring to co-operate with the preachers and laymen in extending the church of our choice, and in spreading scriptural holiness through the land. We crave in this work the hearty support and the prayers of our brethren. We are not authorized to speak for the publisher, but as editor we shall do the best we can under the circumstances; and yet we can do but little without the earnest assistance of our brethren. Office work and other duties prevent us from attending many District Conferences and camp meetings. In securing subscribers, and in advancing the interests of the ADVOCATE, we are compelled to look to our friends of the ministry, and to the large-hearted laymen who love the church. We verily believe that it is an interest that is second to none except the preaching of the gospel, and one that merits ten-fold the attention that is given it. All we ask is that our friends do what they can for us in connection with their other duties. Pastors and presiding elders are in positions to do much at very little inconvenience to themselves, and without interfering with their other work. Will they charge themselves with this business of the ADVOCATE, and give it its deserved prominence in their plans for building up the church?

We hope that this new volume may be the best and most widely circulated of any during the past, and that our publisher may have deliverance from all financial embarrassments, and be able to take measures for the improvement of the publication committed to his charge.

The Sick.

There is an almost impassable gulf between the well and the sick. It is nearly impossible for a stout, hearty, cheerful person, in the full tide and flush of health, to fully sympathize with the weak and emaciated invalid. The world, as seen through the languid eyes of illness, is very different from the world as enjoyed by the robust and strong. It is not easy for the well to put themselves in the place of the sick, so as to be perfectly considerate, tender and helpful. In nothing do those who are habitually well need to be more careful and thoughtful than in ministering to those who are the victims of bodily affliction.

We can well imagine that the Savior was most perfect in his ministry to the sick, and that his sympathy for them was intenser and deeper than that which men commonly feel for sufferers not related to them by the nearest ties of kinship. "Himself took our infirmities, and bore our sicknesses." The most Christ-like natures will be as their Lord in relation to the afflicted. They will so far make their infirmities and sicknesses their own, that they will be gratified to minister to the unfortunate. The invalid can go to Christ for support and consolation, having the assurance that he enters into the depths of his sufferings, and that in his exaltation and glory "we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities." The great Physician is about the bed of pain to feel for the sufferer, to support him in his agony, and to sanctify the dispensation of suffering. Dear friends and kindred are around us to alleviate our pains as they may, but there is an unseen form that bends over us, watches every symptom, and feels for us more than all others.

Among the commendations which the King shall bestow upon the blessed of his Father is this significant sentence: "I was sick, and ye visited me." In a sense other than redemptive, Christ bears our infirmities and sicknesses. He feels them, sympathizes with us in them, and by supporting bears them for us. Beyond this, he identifies himself with the sick in such wise that in ministering to them we are accounted as ministering to him. The sick saint is to us in the place of the Lord himself, and what we do for a brother is counted as a kindness done to the Master. Christ has made himself very near to the sick in thus bearing our sicknesses, and making the sick the representatives of his own person. This affliction is picked out, as one of many, and somehow peculiarly honored and exalted above the rest.

The sick are so disposed to murmur, and to question the Providence that is over them, that it is well for us that we have these special allusions to a condition that is as trying as it is really gracious. And then in our hours of feebleness and pain we are tempted to write bitter things against ourselves, and to interpret the dispensation as a rebuke for unfaithfulness. Sometimes it may be so, but invalidism for us may have other meanings. It may be to manifest forth the glory of God, and to give the world such exhibitions of grace as can be given in no other way. The personal end is a beneficent one. If not needful for our salvation, it may be a means of bringing us nearer to God, and of preparing us for a brighter crown in heaven. Without it we might have reached heaven; but we should have come short of the far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. To us there is nothing more wonderful than the resignation, patience and spiritual sweetness which the devout invalid exhibits. While they tell us of the power and reality of religion, they rebuke our ingratitude and unbelief. This world would be the worse for it if there were no sickness in it. It is a discipline to those that suffer, and a means of grace to those who minister to the afflicted.

Perhaps we are not ordinarily as earnestly bent on ministering to the sick as we should be. Which of Christ's suffering ones have we neglected? If the stroke has fallen upon our own households, upon our immediate friends, or upon those who have wealth and everything at their command, there may be no occasion of self-condemnation. But do we seek out the sick who need religious consolation and material aid, and count it a privilege to visit them? Do we pray for them habitually, and enter into their trials, and watch for every opportunity to alleviate their condition? But beyond this passing admonition we have aimed to say a word of comfort to those of our readers who have been sorely tried by personal affliction. The pastor's visits may, from necessity, be few, religious friends may not be at hand, and it may be timely in us to strengthen the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees.

It is the lot of all to be sick some time. The fever comes to prostrate us, the vital powers are nearly exhausted, and then the tide of life begins to return. And there is a sickness at length in which there is no convalescence. However often we have gone to the margin and returned, the time comes when we go down into the flood never to return. The attack now upon us may not be critical, but God is showing us the path that leads to the other shore. This time we do not go to the end, but the next, or the next, or the next, and we shall not come back. The sickness of which we recover has this thoughtful lesson: It is well if it be laid to heart.

There are those who through life are strangers to health. For them there is no hope of physical comfort and activity in this life. They are shut out from the busy world, and from its pleasures. They can only think, suffer, pray. And yet the place is hallowed by manifestations of grace and by visions of glory. Without Christ the confirmed invalid would be most miserable; but with him the couch of pain and the chamber of suffering are invested with supernatural light. Do our afflicted ones realize the gracious help of Christ in all its fullness? Do they endure as seeing him that is invisible, and restfully and tranquilly do they lean upon the arm of Jesus? By the manner in which they submit to the mysterious providence they may preach as no other preacher can. There is no pulpit like this, and no call to preach that has a diviner stamp. Farthest from what is possible in angels, and yet nearest them in beauty, is the ministry of sanctified suffering. Sermons from the ordinary pulpit, however eloquent, are as incongruous babblings when compared with the testimony of a soul that triumphs over pain and rejoices in the furnace of affliction. We may suffer so that Christ shall be glorified, and so that what we have thought to be a poor, blighted life shall bring more stars to our crown than if we had never known the loss of health.

The Master's Joy.

The standards by which we measure all things here are gross and material. The measure of intellect accorded by the world is generally so base, in both kind and degree, that the noble mind spurns the meed of praise tendered. Byron has been berated by some as ungrateful to an admiring world because he scornfully threw away the honors conferred upon him. Poe has been called by harsh names for like reasons. I do not propose to be the apologist of either of these two in regard to their whole character; but I think I can understand why they acted thus toward those who intended to do them honor. Every one has observed how the world pays court to him who has accumulated wealth. "Shrewd man," "strong, clear-headed," etc., are epithets freely bestowed, yet how many of the richest men are the veriest blockheads except in counting interest or taking a mortgage!

The measure of virtue is equally unjust. We see that frequently, even where we ought to expect a better and clearer power of discrimination to prevail. Take, for example, two men at a revival of religion. Suppose both to have professed faith in Christ; but the one, with placid countenance and perhaps a few tears, relates clearly and calmly his experience, while the other jumps up and shouts: "Glory! hallelujah! My soul's happy!" and the like. Now, listen to the popular verdict. Everybody says of convert No. 2: "What a bright conversion! How full of religion!" etc.

Our ideas of heavenly joy partake too much of the same nature. The material, the sensual, engross our attention and draw us away from the higher joys that belong to heaven. It is not that I believe religion here lacks for visible manifestations, or is unattended with outward emotion; but he who would know the volume of the waters of the sea will never form an accurate idea by watching the spouting of the whale or the blowing of the porpoise. I believe that heaven will possess all the material joy, beauty and grandeur that really belong to this world, and immeasurably more; but that these will make up even the tithe of the celestial bliss I do not believe. I do not believe that they are the Master's joy.

Scripture to explain Scripture: St. Paul, speaking of our Redeemer, says: "Who, for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, despising the shame." Here it is very plain that there was only one joy set before him, viz: the salvation of the world from degradation and misery. It was the joy of love and mercy triumphing over vengeance and judgment. Jesus, who had from eternity enjoyed all the glory of heaven, did not, of course, leave it merely to come to earth and reach it again through suffering and shame. But he came to earth with the purpose of creating a new joy in heaven—a joy that should be so peculiarly his as to be termed, by way of distinction from all the others: The Master's joy. There was the joy of having created the sinless—a joy forever. There was the joy of having upheld the magnificent structure of the universe—a joy to last with the age of suns and the glitter of constellations, to abide with the hoary grandeur of snow-capped mountains and blossom with the perennial beauties of the lands of unfading spring-time. But the joy of restoring a lost world, of introducing among the choirs of heaven a new anthem, to which all others should be but lessons of practice on the scale, was the joy that was set before him. If there could be a past to Deity, all the other joys were in that past. If there could be a future to the Eternal, it could only be in multiplying his present glory by the future enjoyment of it by the myriads who were to be redeemed from their fallen estate.

If this explanation be correct, then it follows that the words, "Enter into the joy of thy Lord," are of peculiar significance as to what the Christian must be and do before he can enter. The mere profession of faith in God is not enough. We are to inquire what have been our feelings and actions manward, as well as Godward. Have we loved man? Not the beautiful, strong, intellectual, noble, rich, happy, successful, but the deformed, weak, ignorant, stupid, degraded, poor, miserable, unfortunate? How have we loved man? From a sense of dependence on social amenities, or of constraint under the divine injunction: Thou shalt? Or has it been free, unconstrained, spontaneous? Has it been our joy to love man—to do good to him? A few years ago a young lady in Alabama wrote to me, asking me to secure a situation for her, saying: "I want to get where I can earn an honorable living by my own exertions, and then I'll snap my fingers in the world's face." A young lady of spirit; but what a spirit to call itself Christian! High-toned, but O what discord—like the snapping of the main string of the wondrous musical instrument which angels would fain learn to play upon!

What is the joy of heaven to be to him who enters there? The joy of finding there one soul, at least, saved by our individual instrumentality. Or should this not be, at least the consciousness in ourselves, and the fact published by our Master in the presence of an assembled universe, that we sincerely desired and earnestly endeavored to save others from death. If Jesus' joy is to be in all the redeemed, our individual share must be in those whom we labored through him to save.

A question, then, for our daily self-examination, whether we be high or low in the offices of the church visible, is: "Are we trying to save others?" A bird does poor flying with one wing—a man does poor running on one leg. A Christian makes poorer speed to heaven than either if he is trying to get there by himself. Poor crown his should be ever get it, with not a star or plume upon it, and none to say: "I am glad to meet you here; for had it not been for you I should not have been here."

T. A. S. A.

Albert Taylor Bledsoe, LL. D.

As I have been intimately associated with Dr. Bledsoe during my pastorate at Alexandria, and found on a closer acquaintanceship that he possessed as noble qualities of heart as of intellect, I desire to give a slight tribute to his memory, and to present some reflections on his character as revealed to me during our intercourse. He possessed a very loving and generous nature. This may not be well known, as he has been judged to be harsh and unkind, because his polemical writings were thought to indicate such a spirit. A more confiding and loving man I never knew. He seemed to feel that he could pour out his inmost soul to the man he called his friend, and he never disguised his feelings anywhere, so that he freely spoke what other men think, and conceals, and therefore his eccentricities were just as patent as his nobler traits, and men often forgot his greatness while they remembered his faults. He would deny himself anything for those he loved; and although, with frugal habits and a selfish regard for his own good, he might have saved a competency, yet his generosity and liberality ever kept him poor. In more than one instance has he been known to give away large sums to help his friends, and even to involve himself to aid them. He never regarded possible evil consequences from the performance of duty. He could not be politic, or refrain from expressing his opinion, cost what it might. He resigned the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church, when the question of support was one of importance, because he could not conscientiously teach doctrines he did not believe. He left her membership to become a Methodist, when this step cost him the friendship of many, who thought "that the only church fit for a gentleman;" and in the Methodist Church he made some enemies because he would plainly speak his mind, regardless where the truth struck and hurt. The fear of man was, I believe, never felt by him. His whole course was marked by a supreme love for the truth. He never flinched when it led him into new regions. Where truth was, God was; and he sought God by the truth, and no man sought it more intently and humbly than he. For years he meditated on the divine government before he saw any consistent scheme, and his Theodicy cost him the thought of a score of years; while his Cosmos, left incomplete, engaged him in profound investigations for some length of time. Had he not loved truth supremely he would have hastened and given the world books they would have been glad to buy, but containing thoughts too crude to satisfy his conscientious soul. Every paragraph of his works was weighed and sifted over and over again before it left his hand for print, and he has never felt called on to alter a line or define a thought of his more important works. His patience and perseverance in laboring on occult themes could only have been produced by a conscientious devotion to truth. And he ever manifested an utter hatred for error. And this led him into the use of weapons in controversy which made him often appear very severe. But any one can readily see that this was more because of his supreme love for truth than a mere wanton desire to wound.

Calling things by their proper names, he sought to make error hideous, and its advocates ridiculous, and used unsparingly the critic's knife; only, however, as a skillful surgeon would wound—the better to heal. A good man has fallen.

Uneasy will ever be the head that dares to think for itself; but rest has come at last to our brother, and friend and foe alike may regret his departure, and even join in dropping loving tears on his grave.

W. K. BOYLE.

Baltimore Episcopal Methodist.

Mississippi Conference.

The sixty-second session of the Mississippi Conference was held in Jackson, Miss., Dec. 5-12, 1877. The weather has been perfectly delightful. The Conference was organized by the election of W. H. Watkins, D. D., president. Bishop McTyeire arrived in time to preside on the second day, and he remained with us to the close. Dr. McFerrin was with us until after Sabbath. The Committee on Public Worship did not spare him. They appointed him to make two addresses and three sermons—all which he did in the happiest style. How can Methodism get along without him? Jackson is a central place; the attendance was large, and I think the session was enjoyed by all.

The memorial service was most sadly interesting. Papers were read and addresses made upon the two of our number who had died—Calvin C. Watkins and Jesse McKay—and upon Bishop Marvin, who belonged to us all. The memorial service had been published, and the hall of the House of Representatives was filled with ladies and gentlemen. The narration of the Rev. J. L. Forsyth excited the deepest interest. Bishop Marvin acknowledged Bro. Forsyth to be his spiritual father. What a privilege to be, under God, the means of bringing such an incomparable ministry into the church! By resolution of Conference I send you herewith the resolutions adopted in reference to him, to be included as part of our official minutes.

Our figures show a growing condition. Seven were admitted on trial—I. D. Wall, D. F. Guice, R. F. Flowers, J. T. Graham, H. M. DuBose, J. S. Calhoun, J. S. Hutton. Eight remain on trial—C. A. Powell, B. F. Jones, T. C. Bradford, B. S. Rayner, W. W. Simmons, I. W. Cooper, D. M. Rush, F. Ball. Two are discontinued—C. J. Phillips, T. W. Adams. Three were admitted into full connection—M. B. Sharbrough, W. W. Dominick, G. W. Brown. Three were readmitted—G. M. Gilmore, W. W. Hopper, P. H. Napier. Two were received from other Conferences—W. B. Andrews, from the Pacific, and Hiram R. Caldwell, from the North Mississippi. Two traveling preachers were ordained deacons—M. B. Sharbrough, G. W. Brown. Five local preachers were ordained deacons—J. S. Hutton, C. A. Powell, T. J. Miller, A. D. Miller, W. B. King. Five traveling preachers were ordained elders—D. A. Little, L. R. Featherstun, D. C. Langford, L. S. Parker, D. P. Bradford. Two local preachers were ordained elders—W. T. Beall, R. C. Bethea; four were located—L. Carly, T. B. Walden, L. P. Meador, D. Merchant; two have died—J. McKay, C. C. Watkins. Whole number of white members, 21,871—a net increase of 245 over last year; local preachers, 161—decrease of 9 since last report; 1,011 infants have been baptized, 888 adults. Sunday schools, 213; teachers, 1,165; scholars, 7,552. Amount paid to Conference claimants, $1,718.75—$381.25 short of the allowance; for Bishops, $914.80—this is $14 80 over the assessment; for foreign missions, $1,657 60; for domestic missions, $1,596.75. The next Conference is to be held at Meridian. The brethren resolved to raise the remainder of their assessment to save the Publishing House.

C. G. ANDREWS.

JACKSON, MISS., Dec. 12, 1877.

Nashville Christian Advocate.

DEATH OF REV. WILLIAM WADSWORTH.—Rev. J. M. Weems, writing, Hazlehurst, Miss., December 26, 1877, says: "Bro. William Wadsworth died, at his home near Hazlehurst, on Christmas evening, at seven o'clock, of pneumonia." Rev. William Wadsworth was a member of the Mississippi Conference, and but a few weeks ago appointed to the Scotland circuit. We saw Bro. Wadsworth at the recent Conference at Jackson. He was then apparently in excellent health. A good man has been suddenly called to his reward.

A STRAW.—Last fall, when, by a construction of the law by the postmaster here, the publisher was compelled to drop his free list altogether, Bishop Marvin was among the first to remit his subscription and to order the paper to his address. At the Conferences and in his intercourse with the people the Bishop on occasion was sure to urge the circulation of religious papers. He came up from the people, and knew the value of our church literature in educating and quickening the churches.

Books and Periodicals.

VITAL MAGNETISM — ITS POWER OVER DISEASE. By Frederick T. Parson. New York: Adams, Victor & Co., publishers, 1877.

This volume, 12mo, 235 pages, purports to be a statement of facts developed by men who have employed this agent under various names, as animal magnetism, mesmerism, hypnotism, etc., from the earliest times down to the present. The therapeutical and anæsthetic effects of vital magnetism are discussed and illustrated, and the status of the practice in America and Europe is exhibited. Without yielding to all that the magnetic doctors claim, we may safely venture to believe that there is something in the system.

FLOSSY AND ROSSY STORIES. By Margaret H. Eckerson. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co.

These stories are both entertaining and instructive, and told in a style to interest little children. The volume is a 12mo of 171 pages, illustrated with taste, and beautifully bound.

THE NINETY-AND-NINE. By Elizabeth C. Clephane. Designs by Robert Lewis. Engraved by William F. Dana. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co.

This song is a popular favorite, and most widely known as sung by Mr. Sankey at the Moody revival meetings. It is published in this volume with exquisitely executed illustrations, depicting to the eye the scenes which the poem describes. The volume, in binding, typography, paper, and in the quality of the engravings, is a perfect gem.

—The Complete Preacher for December has five sermons. The preachers are C. D. Wadsworth, D. D., Pere Hyacinthe, Charles F. Deems, D. D., C. H. Spurgeon, Joseph Parker, D. D.

—Our Sunday School periodicals for January, 1878, have been received. They are up to the desired standard, and promise well for the new year.

Superannuated.

There was not a preacher in the Texas Conference whose heart was not filled with sadness, says the Texas Christian Advocate, when Dr. Alexander, with eyes suffused with tears, arose and asked for Rev. N. A. Cravens and Dr. O. Fisher a superannuated relation. Their labors have been known in all the churches for the past half century. Few men on the effective list have led more souls to the cross and received more members into the church than these faithful men of God. Their power in the pulpit has been felt in revivals, in which hundreds have been converted all over the Southwest.

These cases would not appear so sad—for man is mortal—if the church had made any adequate provision for its worn-out ministers. When we looked on the gray hairs of these war-worn veterans, and then thought of the meager pittance that will be handed them after a year's waiting, we felt, if there were no reward beyond the grave, the preacher's life afforded him a miserable recompense in his declining years.

Many of the preachers in the Conference are only a few years behind these faithful leaders of the evangelical host of other days, and with their sympathy for brethren who so reluctantly retired from the open field of battle came the thought: "In a few years the Conference will assign to us the same relation." May God's richest blessings rest on these noble soldiers of the cross, and may their declining days be as peaceful and happy as their past career has been successful in winning souls to Christ.

TO THE PREACHERS IN THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND ALABAMA CONFERENCES.—Dear Brethren: Will you please take up the collections for relief of the Publishing House during the present month? The balance due from

Louisiana Conference is	$1,284 11
Mississippi Conference	1,210 95
Alabama Conference	1,199

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.
NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 1, 1878.

The address of Rev. D. G. W. Ellis is Shuqualak, Miss.

Publisher's Department.

SHAKESPEARE IRON WORKS.—The above works are operated by gentlemen who are amply provided with every means and appliance for making anything required in their line of work. The corps of workmen are thoroughly skilled mechanics, and are able to make every class of machinery, from the heaviest to the most delicate pieces, required for steamships, sugar mills, cotton factories, etc. See advertisement.

MEN'S AND BOYS' FURNISHING GOODS.—The advertisement of Capt. Walshe will be seen in our paper. This old and popular dealer is offering the finest stock ever brought to this market, at unusually low prices. Our country friends can send for what they want, the price to be collected on delivery. There is no more honorable merchant in the city.

READ the advertisement of Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti-Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, under the head of Business Notices. This medicine has gained quite a reputation, not only among the public, but with many of the medical practitioners. Dr. Wilhoft is one of the most eminent physicians in the city.

LARD OIL AND STEARINE.—Mr. Frederick Good, manufacturer of oils of various kinds, has a card on this page. Machinists and others who must procure only pure oils would find it to their interest to give Mr. Good their orders.

ARTIST PHOTOGRAPHER.—Go to W. W. Washburn's, corner of Canal street and Exchange alley, if you want first-class work at reasonable charges. Call and see his handsome gallery.

T. W. BOTHICK'S card appears again in this issue of the ADVOCATE. To those who know Mr. Bothick it is unnecessary for us to say anything. To those who do not, we have to say that his establishment is the largest and best-ordered of any we know of in the South. All orders intrusted to him have his personal attention, or the attention of his most careful assistants. Mr. Bothick has been engaged in the undertaking business here for a number of years, and is highly esteemed by all classes. We commend him to our friends.

NEW ENGLAND ORGAN COMPANY. Our old friend, Philip Werlein, is the sole agent for the New England Cabinet Organ. The above company is one of the most responsible in Boston, and every instrument which they turn out of their immense place is fully warranted. These instruments are very highly spoken of in the Eastern papers, as will be seen by reference to the advertisement; and we can see Mr. Werlein, who will give all information about the first-class instruments.

THE air of perfection, cleanliness and home-like comfort which is so apparent at the American House, it seems, is one of the characteristic features of that well-regulated establishment. To those desiring to economize this particular item of expense will be pleased to learn that the proprietors of the house have reduced its rates to $3 and $3.50 per day.

ATTENTION is directed to the card of Fraenzel & Fulse. Those gentlemen have lately entered into partnership for the purpose of carrying on a general commission business, as heretofore, and solicit a share of the interests of the customers of the late firm of Fraenzel & Co.

EUREKA YEAST POWDER.—A superior article. See ADVT. on reading page.

SWEETNESS WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL.

By the ingenuity of Dr. Price we have now before us the most delicious confectionery. His Cocoa Bonbons surpass in flavor and grade of chocolate anything we have ever seen, which is also the opinion of all who have partaken of them.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

OLD TESTAMENT WALL MAP OF PALESTINE.—Especially designed to illustrate International Sunday School Lessons from January 1st to July 1st, 1878. Compiled from the best authorities. Showing every place in Palestine mentioned in the Old Testament, the locality of which is known. With an historical reference list, quite new and in improved method of reference by which any place can be readily found. Size 3×4 feet. Printed on cloth, handsomely colored. Price, including postage, $1.50; mounted on rollers complete, $2. Address orders to the Adv. and Publishing House of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod, St. Louis, Mo.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti-Periodic or Fever and Ague Tonic, is the most reliable chill Tonic in the world, will be the statement that Finley & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and if it fails does not charge any Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

BISHOP MARVIN'S book of travels "To the East by Way of the West" is now ready for delivery. Send $2.50 to Advocate Publishing House, Lock Box 16, Dallas, Texas, Agent St. Louis, Mo., and get a copy.

DR. WILLIAM F. STEWART, Marine Hospital, Service, Baltimore, Md., says: "I take pleasure in recommending Caldwell's Liquid Extract of Beef as a most excellent tonic and invigorator of the system. I have used it with universal success." C. L. Lyons, of the New Orleans.

IT IS no secret why the sales of DR. HARTER'S PERUVIAN SYRUP have reached such an enormous amount. It is simply this: It is the best tonic in the world. For sale by all druggists.

READER if you have the Chills and Fever, go and get a bottle of Dr. Harter's FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC. It will cure you. Fifty-five cents. We assure you it will cure you. For sale by druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY. C. W. Benson, a practical physician of Baltimore, has discovered a combination of vegetable remedies for the speedy cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility, and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has thought it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Great numbers have been changed by its use from hopeless invalids to robust health, as shown by the certificates in his possession, many of which are from the most reliable citizens of this and other countries. Thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured by it after all other remedies had failed. Any person suffering from any of the above diseases should not delay in giving this great remedy a trial, as it is certain to cure when all other remedies fail. Sufferers, do not neglect this opportunity of regaining health. Dr. Benson's Improved Compound Inhaler, with full directions for use, sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5. Address, C. W. BENSON, M. D., 211 East Baltimore street, Baltimore, Md.

CHARMING PICTURES. To introduce their goods J. L. Patte & Co., 97 and 99 Fulton street, New York, will send specimens of their beautiful Chromo Pictures, worth retail 50 cents each, to every reader of the paper who will send them 25 cents, including postage. Each picture is beautifully colored, and is mounted on a fine card, ready for framing. Any person who sends for these pictures will be highly pleased with them, and will receive by return mail the most beautiful package of goods for the money ever offered to the public.

BOZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it, to be the only preparation that will not injure the skin, remove tan, freckles, black spots, pimples, etc. Mothers can safely use it on infants, who become at once and surely of immediate relief. Beware of worthless imitations. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists. Sent to any address on receipt of price. Depot, 53 Dauphine street, New Orleans.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

STAMPING OR STITCHING. SEWING MACHINES of all kinds repaired. PIANOS tuned. Circulars containing full information sent free. Address, with stamp, Mass. Sewing Machine Institute, 1 Park Place, New York.

WANTED.

AT LINDEN GROVE, LA., A TEACHER to take charge of a school of fifteen or twenty pupils. A lady preferred, and one who could teach Music. Address DR. L. N. RENWICK, Linden Grove, La.

FREDERICK GOOD,
MANUFACTURER OF
LARD OIL AND STEARINE,
Improved Machinery Oils, also Mineral Lard Oil, and extra Purified Cotton Seed Oil constantly on hand. 110 PETERS AND 16 COMMERCE STREET, New Orleans.

A. KINSLEY,
DEALER IN PINE WOOD,
Suitable for Bakers, Confectioners & Family use $1.50 per load, delivered.
COR. MIRO AND LAFAYETTE STS.,
NEW ORLEANS.

T. W. BOTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinfecting Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Hacks for hire.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 East 2d St., Cincinnati.

FRANCIONI & FOLNE, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western Produce, solicit consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes etc. 93 DECATUR ST., (Box 2088.) New Orleans, La.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.
Dr. J. H. McLean's
Liquid Substitute for Quinine
CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.
A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Rigors, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers Internal or Externally any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism, it will quiet the feverish sun the body Taking.

After Taking.

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any feverish, poisonous, inflammatory action that may exist in the system.

When you take a teaspoonful, it is taken up by the absorbent vessels in the stomach, follows and destroys any poisonous elements in the blood and blood vessels, relieves the causes of chills and the accompanying distress.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

is subject to malaria. This New discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will make you feel your vigor and manliness returning, curing Chills, Bilious Attacks, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, price $1.00; also Pocket Case, to carry in the pocket, containing 12 doses, $1.00. Are the cheapest and best Medicine in the world. Are sold at $1.00 per package.

Address DR. J. H. McLEAN, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY! GREAT and ALL Diseases.
DR. J. H. McLean's
COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Before Taking.

Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This is a way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules.—They are Sugar Globules, containing medicine. As rapidly as the Globule dissolves in your mouth, flies (like a vapor) the medicine in the Globules (by reason of its subtle Gas, which must be inhaled) penetrates every air cell in the Lungs and is carried by the glands in the Throat, the decay of the Lungs must cease. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLEAN'S COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES. Consumption, Coughing, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Colds, and any Soreness in the Throat or Lungs yields to their wonderful Magic Influence. Trial boxes, by mail all over the world, 25 cts. per box. Postage stamps will be received for them.

After Taking.

Address, DR. J. H. McCLEAN,
314 Chestnut street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.
Is the new way that CATARRH is cured by
Dr. J. H. McLean's
Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

Before Taking.

This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, get it on the sore parts. In contact with the disease in the Nose, Throat, Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh. Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chafing, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the poison out of every vessel and nerve. Trial boxes to close by mail.

After Taking.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Positively Lower Prices than Have Been Known in New Orleans.

DANZIGER'S,
157 CANAL ST.,
Bet. Bourbon and Dauphine Sts.,

HAVE determined to SELL OUT AT A LOSS, their entire and COMPLETE STOCK of WINTER DRY GOODS, consisting of a complete assortment of Never was such an opportunity to buy Dress Goods at such low prices.

Price the Dress Goods at Danziger's.

Pretty snow flake cloth 5 and 10 cts a yard, formerly 15 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 10 cts a yard, formerly 15 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 15 cts a yard, formerly 20 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 20 cts a yard, formerly 25 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 25 cts a yard, formerly 30 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 30 cts a yard, formerly 35 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 35 cts a yard, formerly 40 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 40 cts a yard, formerly 45 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 45 cts a yard, formerly 50 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 50 cts a yard, formerly 60 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 60 cts a yard, formerly 75 cts.

All Wool Cashmeres, 75 cts a yard, formerly $1.

All Wool Cashmeres, $1 a yard, formerly $1 25.

All Wool Cashmeres, $1 25 a yard, formerly $1 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $1 50 a yard, formerly $1 75.

All Wool Cashmeres, $1 75 a yard, formerly $2.

All Wool Cashmeres, $2 a yard, formerly $2 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $2 50 a yard, formerly $3.

All Wool Cashmeres, $3 a yard, formerly $3 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $3 50 a yard, formerly $4.

All Wool Cashmeres, $4 a yard, formerly $4 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $4 50 a yard, formerly $5.

All Wool Cashmeres, $5 a yard, formerly $5 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $5 50 a yard, formerly $6.

All Wool Cashmeres, $6 a yard, formerly $6 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $6 50 a yard, formerly $7.

All Wool Cashmeres, $7 a yard, formerly $7 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $7 50 a yard, formerly $8.

All Wool Cashmeres, $8 a yard, formerly $8 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $8 50 a yard, formerly $9.

All Wool Cashmeres, $9 a yard, formerly $9 50.

All Wool Cashmeres, $9 50 a yard, formerly $10.

All Wool Cashmeres, $10 a yard, formerly $11.

All Wool Cashmeres, $11 a yard, formerly $12.

All Wool Cashmeres, $12 a yard, formerly $13.

All Wool Cashmeres, $13 a yard, formerly $14.

All Wool Cashmeres, $14 a yard, formerly

Farm, Garden and Household.

WINTER OATS.

The winter grain has been cultivated as a distinct variety in the mountains of East Tennessee, where the altitude is 2,500 feet, for more than half a century. Not till within a few years, when the spring-grown crop so frequently proved a failure, has this oat been known generally, excepting in one or two neighborhoods. At the present time it is as generally sown as winter wheat or rye. It produces more than double the quantity that the crop sown in the spring does. From the fact that it has so much longer time to grow and mature itself, the grain is well perfected, and weighs fully one-fourth more than that grown in spring. The stalk is stout, and it bears its lengthy, well-loaded head without lodging or falling down. It has no disease, neither smut nor rust. It is sown very early, so as to be used for fall and hold as winter pasture. August and September are not too soon to sow.

It was sent for the first time last year to the North, and it has done well in Indiana and other Northern States. It is supposed to have originated from an Irish oat, brought here by the early settlers over a century ago, and by being sown among the winter crops, year after year, the fittest survived, and by the law of selection it finally became a hardy winter grain—as much so as any other.—Edwin Henry, in American Cultivator.

TO DESTROY CHICKEN LICE.—An exchange gives the following recipe for getting rid of these pests:

Last summer our hen-house was so infested with this vermin that the setting hens died on their nests. One afternoon I noticed the martins carrying to their box—which was on a pole above the hennery—some green leaves. Watching them, I found they were getting the leaves of the male persimmon. I gathered some of the leaves, threw them into the nests on the hen-house floor, and in less than one hour the house was free from vermin. To boil the leaves and sprinkle with the decoction will be as effective.

SCOTCH BROTH.—Take four pounds of mutton—part of the leg is best—and add one gallon water, one teacupful of pearl barley, two carrots sliced, two turnips sliced, two onions cut small, three carrots grated, the white part of a large cabbage chopped very small, and a small quantity of parsley. Season with pepper and salt. Let this boil very gently for three hours and a half, and at the dinner table it will most likely be pronounced excellent by all who are fond of soups.

The test of our love is obedience. This is the touchstone; it sweeps away a whole mass of natural feeling, and shows what is gold, and what is brass.

They that spend their days in faith and prayer shall end their days in peace and comfort.

DYSPEPSIA EXORCISED.

The demon of Dyspepsia has been expelled in thousands of households by the use of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. There would be no dyspeptics if all articles of our food were as wholesome and easy of digestion as those made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HOLIDAY MUSIC-BOOKS!

The World of Song.
Magnificent bound volume of Songs of the most popular and musical character.

The Sunshine of Song.
Magnificent bound volume of the most recent and popular songs. (In press and nearly ready.)

Gems of the Dance.
Splendid bound volume of the most brilliant Piano Music, by Strauss and others.

The Cluster of Gems.
Splendid bound volume of the finest Piano pieces of medium difficulty. (In press and nearly ready.)

Send for 5 CHRISTMAS SELECTIONS. 1 per set.

WINTER SINGING-BOOKS.

THE SALVATION ..... 1 or first-class
ZION ..... $1 25 or $12 00 per dozen. Church
UNITY ..... 3 Music Books.
JOHNSON'S CHORUS CHOIR ..... Three of the INSTRUCTION BOOK ..... best books
PERKINS' SINGING SCHOOL ..... published.
(Boards, 75 cents; or $7 50 per dozen.)

Any book mailed, post-free, for retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., BOSTON.
C. H. DITSON & CO., 843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES ETC.
152 Camp Street 154
NEW ORLEANS.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. Our Price-list sent free. We warrant every article sold as described.

New Stock for the Holidays
AT HOGAN'S,
99 CANAL STREET. 101

NOW opening a magnificent assortment of SHOES, in all the LATEST STYLES for Ladies, Misses and Children, and BOOTS and SHOES for Men and Boys.
PRICES THE VERY LOWEST.
Call in immediately at HOGAN'S.

Meneely & Kimberly,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Dock Receipts issued on Cotton in Compress and Cotton in Yards. Liberal Cash Advances made on Consignments. Orders for Purchasing Supplies promptly executed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians. Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Fever & Ague, and Bilious Colic.
THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, and Indigestion.
THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Clear Brain and Spirits.
THEY ACT on the Blood, and Remove all Impurities.
THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Disease.
THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.
THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate and nourish the body.
THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.
THEY ARE invaluable for Female Irregularities.
THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.
THEY ARE harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

Country Orders for Millinery
AND FANCY GOODS!
EMBRACING
All the Latest Novelties and Patterns
OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE, and is sufficiently extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, enables me to purchase all goods from first hands, thus securing not only a choice, but the very lowest figures; and hence I consider that will suit the purse and gratify the taste. Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

BARGAINS

Both in Price and Quality of Goods,

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres st., New Orleans,
Second door above Customhouse.

LILIENTHAL'S
PHOTOGRAPH
ART GALLERY,
121 CANAL STREET 121
THIRD BUILDING.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

Remember the LAMBERT is the only Picture that WILL NOT FADE.

KREEGER'S
KID GLOVE DEPOT,
140 CANAL ST., New Orleans.
THE Kid Glove House of the South.
Orders solicited. Catalogue sent on application. Country orders promptly executed. Address
KREEGER'S KID GLOVE DEPOT,
140 Canal street, New Orleans.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,
EAGLE HALL,
BRYANT & STRATTON BUILDING, CORNER BIENVILLE AND BARONNE STREETS,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants and tutors by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons. The next session, whose prospectus may be found in the circular of the school, promises to be instructive. Circulars can be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

HERBERT RIOT, Principal,
P. O. Box 82, New Orleans, La.

J. DOUGLAS,
ENGRAVER AND Visiting & Wedding Card Engraver
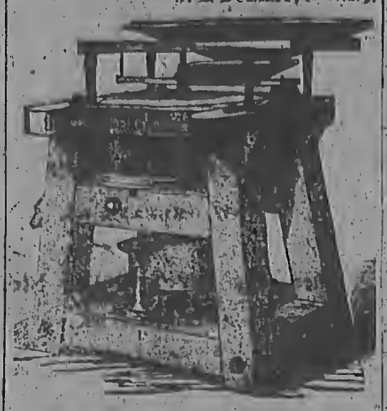
NO. 10 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Artistic work in every branch. Latest styles of Papers and Envelopes. Responsible solicited. Country orders promptly attended to.

$1200 SALARY. Reliable salesmen wanted to sell our Staple Goods to dealers. No Peddling. Expenses paid. Address, for particulars, C. GOODMAN & CO., Cincinnati, O.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

J. R. STEWART, President. W. R. DUNLAP, Secretary.



BRADFORD MILL CO.,
Successors to JAS. BRADFORD & CO.,
Improved Under-Runner Mills.
PATENTED DECEMBER 5, 1876.
FRENCH BURR MILL STONES, Portable Corn and Cob Mills, Smut Machines, Bolting Chests, and dealers in genuine Dutch Anchor Bolting Cloths, and general Mill Furnishers. Send for catalogue. Office and Factory—108 W. SECOND STREET, CINCINNATI, O.

COLEMAN'S LATEST IMPROVED

CORN MILLS.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-six years. Awarded the only gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Send for circular.
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

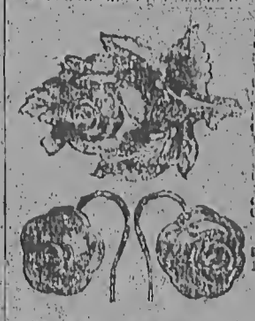
BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale of cotton.
BUYERS CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IF IN FLAT TIES.
Send for circular containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.
Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. P. BUCKLEY,
8 CAMP STREET,
AMERICAN and FOREIGN
WATCHES,
DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE,
AT LOWEST PRICES.
Special attention to Watch-Repairing.

D. MERCIER & SONS,
MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'
CLOTHING!
HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, &c.
Cor. Dauphine and Bienville Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Orders from Country Merchants promptly executed on the most favorable terms.



Choice! Charming!! Cheap!!!

THE NURSERY.

A Magazine for Youngest Readers.
Superbly Illustrated.—Published Monthly.
Subscription Price (postage included) $1 00 in advance. Send 10 cents for sample number. Now is the Time to Subscribe.
JOHN L. SHOREY,
149 Bromfield St., Boston.

WE WANT AGENTS, $50 TO $175 PER MONTH. As Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For everybody, every business man, Farmers, Mechanics, Property Owners, Tenants, Executors, Guardians, Public Officers, etc. Send for circular and terms. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 1010 Filbert Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

HEATH, PHIPPS & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Curtains, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirror Moldings, Fireproof Engravings, etc.
Frames made to order a specialty.
No. 99 Canal Street New Orleans.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SANTA CLAUS'
HEADQUARTERS!
ARE AT THE PARISIAN BAZAR!
131 CANAL ST.
The largest and handsomest assortment of TOYS!! TOYS!!
Velocipedes, Wagons, Horses, Carriages,
DOLLS! DOLLS! DOLLS!
Bohemian Glassware,
Majolica and Biscuit Ware,
Jardinieres,
Working-Tables,
Dressing Cases,
Work-Boxes, Etc.
Ex Steamship Nuremberg, just arrived,
5,000 POUNDS FRENCH CANDIES
AND CRYSTALLIZED FRUIT.
The public is respectfully and cordially invited to a visit to the BAZAR.
VICTOR NIPPERT.

MUNSON & CO.'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
311 LOCUST ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.

LARGEST STOCK of Medicines, Books, Cases and other Homeopathic goods in the West. Orders can be sent by Express C. O. D., or otherwise. Books and a few other articles can be sent by mail.
☞ Complete Price Lists and Circulars will be sent on application.
We respectfully call the attention of the public to the following list of valuable Remedies, which have been used with the greatest success for a number of years, and should be in the hands of every family:
Munson & Co.'s Croup & Cough Syrup has no equal in the treatment of Croup and general Coughs. It gives immediate relief and cures permanently. Price, per bottle, 35 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Cough Lozenges for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc. (Far superior to Brown's Troches.) Box, 25 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Whooping Cough Sirup.—This remedy is very soothing in this distressing complaint, and will shorten the attacks and disease. Bottle, 50 cents.
Anodyne Camphor, or Vienna Cholera Drops.—This preparation has been extensively used in attacks of Cholera and Diarrhea, Colic, etc. It is a sure cure. Bottle, 40 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Fever and Ague Pills. A sure cure for Intermittent Fevers, Dumb Ague, etc. Bottle, 25 cents.
Thuya Occidentalis, the Specific for Warts, Corns and all Excrescences of the Flesh. Bottle, 25 cents.
Guenther's Goiter Remedy.—The only remedy that will cure this disease. Price, 50 cents.
Humphrey's Homeopathic Specific Medicines.
Ridge's Patent Food for infants and children. In cans, 35 and 65 cents.
Alkathrepta.—Homeopathic Chocolate. Per lb., 65 cents. Dr. Herrgadet's Eye Salve.—Per box, 45 cents.

Malarial Poison.

A NEVER-FAILING ANTIDOTE!

Such is the control exercised by the

BUFFALO LITHIA WATERS

over Chronic Intermittent and Remittent Fever, and the engorgements of the Liver and Spleen often attending them, and, indeed, in all diseases of MALARIAL ORIGIN, that they are regarded by the medical men of the surrounding country AS A SPECIFIC in all such cases. There are well-attested cases of this character, in which they have given prompt and decided relief, after a failure alike of medical skill and of the most noted mineral waters of the mountains of Virginia.
These Waters are for sale in cases of one dozen half-gallon bottles, at $5 per case, at the Springs.
Springs pamphlets sent to any address. The Season commences June 1.
THOMAS F. GOODE,
Proprietor Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.
sow

PRICES REDUCED.
THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.

HAVE the pleasure of announcing that recent decrease in cost of material and labor, and increase in manufacturing facilities, have enabled them to make a reduction in their Catalogue prices of from $10 to $50 on each Organ. (See Price List dated November, 1877.)
Organs of their manufacture are acknowledged to stand at the head of instruments of this class, having merited and received Highest Honors at all World's Exhibitions for ten years.

NEW STYLES, NOW READY,

surpass previous productions in musical excellence and quality of cases. Sold for cash, or by installments, or rented until rent pays. Illustrated Catalogues and Reduced Price-Lists (November, 1877) sent free.
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont St., Boston; 25 Union Sq., New York; 250 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

$1,000 IN GOLD.

To All Whom It May Concern.

THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in addition to the above reward for the sworn statement of two reputable citizens of any city of 10,000 inhabitants or more, in which the Phosphoric Air Cures have failed to permanently cure any case of CATARRH, Asthma, Epilepsy, or any form of Nervous or Mental disease, the monthly treatment, Inhaler, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.
Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passages and lungs can be reached.
The Phosphoric Air cures by the direct application of the curative agent to the seat of disease, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.
We will be happy to give a TRIAL FREE to any who can call upon us, and if they may experience the immediate benefit claimed.
Consulting Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.,
94 Fremont Street, Boston.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing our friends and friends that the first installment of our full stock of these goods (mostly delayed at low water) has arrived and is ready for inspection. In Breech Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in stock comprises upward of 30 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably offered lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while gold, stock, lock and barrel are down to cost of the shrinkage in value from the celebrated Paid. Don't order our Wet Goods until you see for yourselves what we have to offer, and see for yourselves what is their true worth to buy now or not.
POLSON BROS.
9 Decatur and 67 Levee St., opp. Pacific Cotton Press, Freight and Transportation at wholesale and retail.

SULLIVAN & RILEY,
No. 167 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS,
DEALERS IN
Gas Fitters' and Plumbers' Materials,
Gas Fixtures, Pumps, Bath Tubs, Ranges, Iron, Lead and Tin Lined Pipes, Steel Lead, Fittings of all descriptions, Brass Steam, Water and Gas Cocks, Valves, Pipes, etc. Thirty per cent. discount on Iron Pipe, all sized Goods in proportion.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,
37 CARONDELET STREET.
EXTRACT FROM THE
ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,
NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877...$567,767 10
Losses paid within the year..... 233,575 73

Cash Dividends for the Year:

Interest (semi-annually)..... 10 per Cent.
Premiums..... 20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877..... $1,282,908 06

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium.
ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John I. Noble,	T. Lyttleton Lyon,
John Chaffe,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Richard Milliken,	Joseph McElroy,
John I. Warren,	Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner,	B. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander,	Wm. C. Black,
A. A. Yates,	Charles Chaffe,
John I. Adams,	L. C. Jurey,
Isaac Scherck,	Wm. Hartwell,
R. M. Walmsley,	C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May,	A. T. Janin,
S. H. Snowden,	Jos. Bowling,
	A. M. Bickham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,
89 ..... CAMP STREET 91
BRANCH STORE—597 MAGAZINE ST.,
WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.,
NEW ORLEANS,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE!
BUILDERS' HARDWARE,
GRATES, CUTLERY,
STOVES AND RANGES,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.
SOLE AGENTS FOR THE
CHARTER OAK STOVE.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Griswold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET, universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH made by agents selling the Buckeye Stationery Package. Buckeye Cracker, 9x11 Chromes, Magic Pen (no ink required), Lloyd Combination Pen Holder, Money Tubes, Magical Patching Plate, Fast Lamp Wick, Machine Needles, Attachments, Notions, Cheap Jewelry, etc. Catalogues free. BUCKEYE NOVELTY CO., Cincinnati, O.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles. Just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

$10 TO $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Photo and Chromo Cards, 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1849.

NEW GOODS never before introduced for sale. Mammoth Catalogue free. E. NASON & CO., 111 Nassau street, N. Y.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted. Legitimate business. Particulars free. Address WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CROWELL'S
SUNDAY SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

No. 1.—50 Vols., 18mo..... $10 00
No. 2.—15 Vols., 16mo..... 12 50
No. 3.—15 Vols., 16mo..... 12 50

The liberal reduction from former prices on these beautiful and interesting series has created a large demand for them than for any other cheap Libraries ever offered, and Sunday schools about to increase their Library will do well to examine before completing their selection. Send for our complete catalogue.
T. Y. CROWELL,
744 Broadway, New York.

A wisely chosen illustration is almost essential to fasten a truth upon the ordinary mind, and no teacher can afford to neglect this part of his preparation.
FOSTER'S
Cyclopedia of Prose Illustrations
SECOND SERIES, contains the latest and freshest illustrations, and many who use the series say that they are the most useful books in their Libraries.
Pastors, Superintendents & Teachers will find this volume almost valuable and indispensable in illustrating and enforcing a lesson or truth in Sunday moral and religious truths. Royal 8vo., 791 pages. Cloth, $5; Sheep, $6; Half Morocco, $7.
THOMAS Y. CROWELL,
744 Broadway, New York.

L. H. CHRISTESON,
SUCCESSOR TO
SAMPSON BROS.,
99, 101 and 103 Custom-house Street,
MANUFACTURER AND DEALER IN FURNITURE
OF ALL STYLES AND DESCRIPTIONS.
Now receiving New and Elegant Designs. Prices guaranteed to be at the LOWEST MARKET RATES. Country orders solicited. Write for price list.
MATTRESSES. Hair and Cotton, cheaper than ever.

THE "RED BOOT" STORE
IS THE
Cheapest Boot and Shoe Store
IN THE CITY.
All kinds of goods always on hand, and sold at the VERY LOWEST PRICES. Call, examine my stock and prices, and be convinced.
RUDOLPH J. WAGNER,
Dauphine street, corner of Dauphine.
The Jackson Railroad (City) cars pass within one square of the store.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.
J. A. LACROIX,
CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.,
LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDRENS'
BOOTS AND SHOES
OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.
Always on hand a full assortment of first class goods of all styles, which defy competition. Call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere.
MY MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits."
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—Scrim, China, Canton, Chalk and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
RUGS, Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

THE IRON WORKER
JACHIN AND BOAZ, OR SOLOMON
The Finest Masonic Engraving ever published on Steel, from the Original Painting by Prof. C. Schussele. Engraved by JOHN SARTAIN. It is of peculiar interest to Masons, as relating to the work of their ancient brethren. We want a few bright Masons to act as Agents. Splendid chance for the right men.

"It is a perfect gem of Art."—Keystone, Phila.
"Sartain's best work."—Mas. Review, Cin., O.
"I regard this Engraving as entirely worthy of the original."—Grand Mas. of G. L. of Maryland.
"As a specimen of Steel Engraving, of the finest character, equal to the best class of European work."—Boston Journal.

For terms, territory, and Circulars for this and other Fine Engravings, address BRADLEY & COMPANY, Publishers,
No. 66 NORTH FOURTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

AGENTS WANTED to sell the "Pictorial Bible Commentator for Young People," with 450 Illustrations. Introduction by Rev. Dr. Marsh. Strongly indorsed by leading men everywhere. A most excellent book for Holiday delivery. Agents are having most excellent success. Apply Terms offered. Send for full particulars. Address WM. GARRETSON & CO., N. E. Cor. Fourth and Chestnut Sts., St. Louis, Mo., or Wm. Garretson & Co., Nashville, Tenn. Excellent permanent business for the fall and winter.

JUST PUBLISHED.

The Paragon of Holiday-Books for Musical People.

"THE GREAT TONE-POETS,"
BEING SHORT MEMOIRS OF THE GREATER COMPOSERS.
By F. Crowest.

A valuable, convenient and beautiful work of musical readers. A perfect compendium of information concerning the most eminent musicians and their works. The volume contains inspiring sketches of the following composers and their works:

Bach, Handel, Gluck, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Rossini, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Schumann.

Nothing could be of greater service to the musical student than this elegant work.
Bound in Cloth, $1.50.
Sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.
Published by
JOHN CHURCH & CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO,
And 805 Broadway, New York.

National Sunday School Papers.

The Sunday School World.—A Monthly Journal, 32 pages, quarto, combining THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS, by the Rev. JOHN HALL, D. D., of New York, and other helps for teachers. Only 50 cents a year. By mail, 10 cents, in clubs, 35 cents, postage paid.*
INTERNATIONAL Lesson Papers for Scholars.—1. Advanced. 2. Intermediate. 3. The Scholars' and Teachers' Reform Paper. Each 10 copies, per year, 40 cents; per quarter, 10 cents.
The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by the Rev. RICHARD NEWTON, D. D. 100 copies per year, monthly, $2 semi-monthly, $4. By mail, monthly, $3; semi-monthly, $6. Single subscriptions, 50 cents monthly; 40 cents semi-monthly.*

Catalogues and specimen copies of periodicals furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions received at the Society's Depositories, as follows:
A. KIRKPATRICK, 1122 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
C. S. SCOFIELD & SON, 13 Bible House, New York.
J. A. J. ROWLEY, 7 Beacon Street, Boston.
W. R. POST, 78 Randolph, near State st., Chicago.
S. PAXSON, 267 N. Sixth Street, St. Louis.

* Ten copies and over at the ten rates.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KIRKWOOD'S

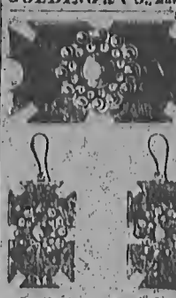
The best, safest, simplest and reliable Inhaler for the treatment of Asthma, Catarrh, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and diseases of the lungs and throat generally.
Price, $2, $3 50 and $5.
For pamphlets, etc., address
E. FOUGERA & CO.,
30 NORTH WILLIAM ST.,
NEW YORK.

INHALER

USEFUL PRESENTS

Boys and Girls

Do Your Own Printing
Outfits from $1 up
Send two 3c stamps for new Illustrated Price-List.
GOLDING & CO., Manufacturers, Fort-Hill Sq., Boston.



LADIES ELEGANT JET NET, BROACH and DROPS sent to any address on this paper for 35 cents. This ASSORTED PATTERN, 50 cents. The sets are worth twice the size of the illustration.
POSTAGE STAMPS TAKEN AS CASH.
F. STOCKMAN,
47 Bond Street, New York.
Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, reduced to $1.

OFFICE ST. BERNARD COAL CO., 19 Carondelet street, New Orleans.—SPECIAL NOTICE.—The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL, for all and winter supply, at the following rates, delivered in any portion of the city:
Families..... 35c. per bu.
Steam..... 30c. per bu.
Dealers (hauling themselves)..... 25c. per bu.
Country orders solicited.
W. H. CAMPBELL, Agent.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES. Cheapest in the known world. Sample Watch Free to Agents. Address A. COUTTEE & Co., Chicago.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

(Six miles North of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

I refer to Capt. J. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Hogan, State Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Demopolis, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Maryville, Ala.

RICHARD RHODES,

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Articles of All Kinds for Fishermen.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail.

GUNS, RIFLES and PISTOLS of every variety and of direct importation. Also Sporting materials of all kinds, Game Bags, Shot Pouches, Flasks, and every article needed by Hunters, will be sold at the lowest prices for cash. Also the celebrated "Dead Shot" Gunpowder, Shot, Eley's Shells, Cartridges, etc., of the best quality, wholesale and retail. Bogardus' Glass Balls and Traps.

R. RHODES.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,

NO. 375 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,

Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1160.

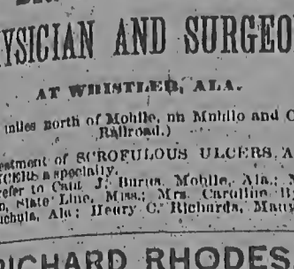
Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord $6 00
OAK WOOD, per Cord 5 00
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord: 5 50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed.

P. RADELAT, Agent.



FOR BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES

go to

Henry Timken's New Factory,

108, 1081/2, 1083/4 AND 1010 ST. CHARLES ST., Bet. Tenth and Eleventh Sts., ST. LOUIS, MO.

A full line of first-class material and workmanship. Call and see, or send for catalogue.

NATHAN CARD

CARRIAGE MANUFACTURER

S. E. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.,

Opposite Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall,

ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED

$20 FOR AMERICAN WATCHES $10

305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,

Carriage Manufacturers,

1108 AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET,

ST. LOUIS.

Manufacturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their work for durability and elegance is unsurpassed. Guaranteed.

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA-

-the most beautiful resistible and perfect - - ever made. It has the celebrated Concertophone, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and Two additional sets of bells tuned to perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect magnificent & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRONA, CONCERTO-VESPER, CENTENNIAL ORGANS, Italian Fretted Cases, are the very best of their class. PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and UPRIGHT, ARE THE BEST MADE, the Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash, monthly installments received. A liberal discount to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. Second-hand instruments of great bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14TH STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK; Box, 3502.

CARPETS!

ELKIN & CO.,

68 ..... CANAL STREET 68

ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.

Tapestry Brussels from 87½c. per yard. Three-Ply and Ingrain Carpets, Rich Curtains, etc. MATTINGS of all descriptions. All at extremely LOW PRICES.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD,

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

E. T. WALSHE

MEN'S

FURNISHING GOODS

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

CLOTHING,

No. 110 CANAL ST.

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER.

CYPRESS AND YELLOW PINE. An assortment of over 200,000 feet constantly on hand. Also a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on hand and made to order. Office Corner Delord and Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, Calliope, Howard and Perrot. P. O. Box 914.

JOHN F. POPP.

BUSINESS CARDS.

EMILE GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD.

GAMET & VIGNAUD,

Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

DEALERS IN

SUGARS AND MOLASSES.

Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 34 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

T. F. CONROY,

GENERAL GROCER,

206 ..... Magazine Street 206

Cor. of Pony Jarre, New Orleans, La.

Country orders will receive careful attention.

J. A. BOURG,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

147 DECATUR ST, near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 877.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John Bosio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining-Rooms up stairs.—Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE,

Office and Sales-Room, 27 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, bet. Roman and Prieur, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

J. H. KELLER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office—103 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.

All Kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY.

"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.

R. BLONDEAU,

Successor to J. G. Bermel,

Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,

NO. 63 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Their Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

J. H. HEBAFFEY,

General Commission Merchant,

And Dealer in Staves, Elmwood, Pine, Lumber and Coopers' Materials.

OFFICE—22 Union street. LUMBER YARD—Cor. Levee and Washington Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

A. P. DuMAY,

GENERAL GRANGE AGENT

AND COMMISSION MERCHANT,

NO. 11 UNION STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Consignments of Cotton, Hides, Wool, Corn and all Agricultural Products, as well as Staves and Timber, solicited. Liberal advances made on shipments.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.

JOHN S. McDONALD,

Proprietor and Manager.

MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED

MOSS.

Factory—Nos. 233 to 250 South Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress street.

Office—No. 248 S. Liberty Street. P. O. Box 253, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND —AND— DOOR FACTORY.

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

201, 203, 205 and 207 Gravier Street.

Country orders solicited. New Orleans

COAL ..... COAL ..... COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

Corner Camp and Common Streets,

Opposite the City Hotel.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or lesser quantities, and shipped in casks or by bulk at lowest market rates. Vessels supplied.

CARRIER CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.

To avoid the contract for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to furnish them and sell on Cash, but buyers and cheapers to come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we state such a matter of a cleaning, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills we can furnish at short notice any size lumber from a shingle to a ship spar. W. W. FARRE & CO., New Ship Yard, Algiers.

THOMAS HAVAM,

LUMBER,

CARGOES MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard corner CLARK AND DELLA-NES (New Basin).

ATTENTION!

M. A. SAUL, M. D.,

150 ..... TOULOUSA STREET 150

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

Custom-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILMANN,

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

320 ..... DELORD STREET 320

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ,

131 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as Steamers out of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Coupe built anywhere.

JOHN S. TWOMEY begs respectfully to call attention to the fact that he is prepared to sell and everything appertaining to a Grocery store, as cheap as any dealer in house in the city. He would be glad if you would give him a call and see his prices. His establishment is at the corner of MAGAZINE AND PHILIP STREETS.

GROCERIES,

JOHN TIEMANN,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally.

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

UNDERTAKERS.

CHAS. C. JONES, JOHN C. ROCHE.

(Formerly with Frank Johnson.)

JONES & ROCHE,

850 & 852 MAGAZINE ST., NEAR DELORD,

Undertakers and Embalmers.

All business intrusted to them will receive prompt and careful attention at moderate rates. Carriages to hire.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,

ARCHITECT,

31 ..... CARONDELET ST. 31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WILLIAM F. MELLEN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

140 ..... GRAVIER ST. 140

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

New Orleans, La.

R. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. G. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

THIS is no system of medication, confined in its action to narrow limits, being Oxygen Magnetized. It is the most wonderful Vitalizer of the human body ever known. Therefore it should cure a greater variety of ills and a larger proportion of patients than any other agent. Eight years of large experience fully confirm the expectation. The Scientific Men of their forced to make known and available to the sick the Wonderful Virtues of the Compound Oxygen. It is the safest, surest and quickest remedy in the world. Let all sufferers, Dyspeptics, paralytics, consumptives, and all over-tortured invalids, send for our brochure (144 pages), which contains many wonderful cures, statements and history of its triumphs. Mailed free.

DR. STARKEY & M. D. | STARKEY & PALEN, DR. PALEN, M. D. | 1112 Girard St., Phila.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 36 Pine Street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without pain or seton. Patients can attend to business. No after-cures, travel, pay, or expenses. Thirty years' successful practice. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, Cincinnati, and over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKee Sons and Eames, leading druggists of St. Louis; James Lide, M. C.; A. Wolff, Frank Stagnaro, Wholesale Hardware, Main street, Hon. Geo. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Speeks, Asst. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. U. P. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Bilon, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, Gopher Mines, Galena, and others.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated the Inhalations of Dr. Hayes, Brouillet, Hours 10 to 3, Cincinnati and Nassau, Paris, with great results.

DR. J. R. BARRENBURG,

2707 Walsh street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homœopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homœopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1818.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

We call special attention to our stock of BLACK SILKS, BLACK CRAPES, BLACK CRAPE VEILS, BLACK CRAPE SHAWLS, BLACK CRAPE COLLARS, BLACK CRAPE CUFFS, BLACK CRAPE HANDKERCHIEFS, BLACK CRAPE TRIMMINGS, BLACK CRAPE RUCHINGS, BLACK CRAPE FICHUS, BLACK CRAPE SCARFS, BLACK CRAPE BERTHAS, BLACK CRAPE DRESS TRIMMINGS, BLACK CRAPE BONNET TRIMMINGS, BLACK CRAPE HAT TRIMMINGS, BLACK CRAPE FRILLINGS, BLACK CRAPE FLOUNCINGS, BLACK CRAPE ROBES, BLACK CRAPE SUITS, BLACK CRAPE DRESSES, BLACK CRAPE SKIRTS, BLACK CRAPE OVERSKIRTS, BLACK CRAPE TUNICS, BLACK CRAPE POLONAISES, BLACK CRAPE BASQUES, BLACK CRAPE JACKETS, BLACK CRAPE SACQUES, BLACK CRAPE MANTLES, BLACK CRAPE CLOAKS, BLACK CRAPE SHAWLS, BLACK CRAPE SCARFS, BLACK CRAPE VEIL

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Monday, Dec. 31, 1877.

The outlook for business for the year we are just entering seems to be very hopeful. Many merchants from the interior towns and the country are here purchasing goods, and the commission merchants of the city are kept busy disposing of consignments.

The cotton received at this port to this date exceeds that received for the same period last year more than 500 bales, while the corn disposed of aggregates, it is thought, at least fifty per cent. more than last year. The sugar crop has been seriously curtailed, but the loss will not be as great as anticipated. Comparing the business of New Orleans for the past year with that of the Northern cities, we think that our people have little to complain of.

The demand for money is considered light and the offerings fair. Exceptional commercial paper is quoted at 9@10 per cent.; A1 12@15; loans on collaterals, 9@12; A1 mortgage, 10. State consols are stronger, and premium bonds steadier; the former are quoted 80@81, and the latter 32@33. The general impression prevails that both city and State bonds will be higher after the holidays are over.

Gold is quoted in New York at 102¾, and here 103@103½.

Below will be found the report of the condition of the cotton market:

COTTON.—This staple is in continued active demand. There were no advices from Liverpool or New York to-day; nevertheless the market was steady and firm at yesterday's quotations, and sales were reported of 8,700 bales on that basis. We note that good cottons are still scarce and in demand.

The official closing quotations of the Cotton Exchange were as follows:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary	7¾	7¾
Ordinary	8¼	8¼
Good Ordinary	9⅛	9⅛
Low Middling	10¼	10¼
Middling	10⅝	10⅝
Good Middling	11¼	11¼
Middling Fair	12	12

Sales to-day, 8,700 bales. Market firm.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard Sept. 1, 1877	21,856
Gross receipts since yesterday	19,211
Gross receipts previously	815,853—831,064
Total supply	856,220
Exported to-day	7,567
Exported previously	529,523—537,090
Total stock this day	319,130
Total stock this day last year	366,902

The exports to-day consisted of 5,132 bales to Havre and 2,435 to New York.

Net receipts since Saturday	16,028
Receipts from other ports	2,363
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	18,164
Net receipts this day last year	17,352
Net receipts since Friday	26,638
Net receipts same time last week	26,914
Net receipts same time last year	23,123
Net receipts since September 1	603,181
Net receipts same time last year	657,538

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 43,824 bales; Havre 38,650; Bremen, 11,706; Mediterranean, 2,734; North Sea, 5,109; Spain, 1,080; Mexico, ——; coastwise, 7,814; total, 110,326 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 208,804 bales.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received since Sept. 1.	Same time last year.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	26,013	26,913	24,123
Galveston	6,047	11,467	7,631
Mobile	9,852	13,044	7,393
Savannah	6,954	11,676	9,672
Charleston	13,084	8,955	5,901
Wilmington	1,492	2,113	408
Norfolk	6,262	7,085	4,126
Baltimore		864	73
New York	1,826	1,670	2,501
Boston	3,841	1,861	846
Philadelphia	241	721	300
Other ports
Total	68,211	81,805	64,118
Receipts at ports since Sept. 1			2,411,148
Receipts same time last year			2,511,442
Receipts same time year before			2,211,752

The exports from all United States ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for three days have been as follows:

	Liverpool.	Coast.	Other.	Total.
This week	10,215	10,267	6,583	27,065
Last week	31,245	4,897	10,383	46,525
This week last year	31,104	6,388	3,600	41,092

RECEIPTS AT UNITED STATES PORTS SEPTEMBER 1 TO DECEMBER 31.

	1877.	1876.	1875.
New Orleans	664,149	666,468	646,955
Galveston	206,395	350,161	274,631
Mobile	231,857	212,958	216,574
Savannah	380,444	351,662	278,983
Charleston	300,197	302,421	289,122
Wilmington	85,670	72,704	57,760
Norfolk	230,561	357,818	238,470
Baltimore	9,892	5,993	11,200
New York	41,918	34,869	84,823
Boston	53,425	41,226	26,271
Philadelphia	13,416	28,271	21,275
Various	61,662	40,145	27,360
Total	2,511,066	2,678,712	2,352,555
Balance season		1,366,812	1,785,340
Total season		4,045,524	4,137,895
Net corrections		80,629	67,779
Overland and Southern consumption		436,985	436,642
Total crops		4,471,309	4,642,316

Everybody is willing to take up the cross on a high hill where all the people see him, but crosses that nobody sees him take he does not assume so readily.

Many a minister has been afflicted with insomnia, but with his hearers too often the affliction is the other way.

Report of Dealers' Cash Prices

AT WHICH

COUNTRY ORDERS CAN BE FILLED.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton sweeps	$4 00	— —
Cotton sweeps	3 00	4 50
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	9 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	35 00
Shovels and spades	6 25	14 00
Axes	9 50	13 00
Shovel plows	3 00	5 50
Half do. with cutters	5 00	8 00
Manly's double-shovel plow	5 00	7 00
Straub's corn mills	115 00	180 00
Corn mills, Coleman's	130 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	300 00	— —
Tennard seeding and pea planter	15 00	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, &c.:
Wagon, two-horse	65 00	75 00
Wagon, four-horse	100 00	115 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim, skein	65 00	75 00
Wagon, four-horse	90 00	100 00
Cane wagon	— —	300 00
Ox wagon	80 00	125 00
Ox cart, complete	115 00	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	— —	65 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Swedes, assorted	7	7½
Hoop	4½	7½
Sheet	4½	7
Nail rods	9	10
Castings, American	4½	5½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	10 50	14 00
Country	9 00	12 00
English fire	45 00	47 00
Lime, ₩ bbl.:
Western	1 50	1 75
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	35 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	35 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	30 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 75	4 25
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 15 to 18 by 20	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	8	10
Paris Green, ₩ lb	30	— —
Pat. Dryer, ₩ lb	12	14
Whiting, ₩ lb	— —	1¾
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	— —	4¾
Linseed Oil, ₩ gall	— —	70

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights:

Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	4 00	$1 40	$1 60
10x12	55	1 75	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	2 70

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
2 feet x 7 feet	$3 40	$3 70
2 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	5 80

Panel Doors:

2 ft. 10 in. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	$2 75
2 ft. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	3 55
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	$3 30 — —

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western, good to creamery	20	25
New York dairy, good to creamy	27	33
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	20¾	21
Rio, good	21¾	22½
Rio, prime	23	24
Java, choice O. G.	— —	34
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	— —	18
Chocolate, ₩ lb.:
Cocoa	28	60
Sweet	18	33
Canned Fruits, ₩ doz.:
Peaches, strawberries and pears	2 25	3 50
Corn Meal, ₩ bbl.:
Best, K. D	2 75	3 00
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	— —	14
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	24 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	2 25	3 00
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	15½
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	— —	— —
XX	— —	— —
XXX	5 75	6 25
Choice XXX	6 50	6 75
Choice family	7 00	7 50
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	6½	7
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	9½	10
Raisins, ₩ quarter box	— —	80
Raisins, ₩ half box	— —	1 60
Raisins, ₩ whole box	— —	3 75
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	3 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	6	8
Butter	6	7
Sugar	8	9
Gingernuts	9	13½
Oil:
Coal, in cans, best	26	30
Coal, in barrels, best	20½	22
Insurance, in cases	— —	50
Lamtrano, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels best	1 10	1 12
Molasses, in barrels
Coumen	— —	36
Fair	36	40
Prime to choice	50	55
Golden and Roquet syrups	95	1 00
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	— —	5
Ordinary	5¾	6
Fair	6¾	6¾
Prime to choice	6¾	7¾
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb.:
XXX Palm	7	— —
Keller's magnolia	— —	5
Keller's olive	— —	6¾
Starch, ₩ lb	4½	5
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 20	35
Coarse	1 05	1 10
Sugar, in bbls.:
Good fair	— —	8¾
Prime	8¾	9
Choice	9¼	9¾
Yellow clarified	10	10¾
White clarified	10	11¼
Crushed	12	12¼
Powdered	12	12¼
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	— —	18
Pepper	— —	20
Cloves	— —	60
Cinnamon	— —	32
Tea, ₩ lb.:
Black Oolong	80	1 00
Green imperial	75	1 25
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.:
Chewing, common	45	50
Chewing, fair	50	55
Chewing, prime	60	65
Chewing, choice	85	1 00
Barokiug	40	1 00

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow choice	80	85
White scarce	80	85
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₩ bushel:
St. Louis	42	45
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	42	45
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	95
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime timothy	19 00	20 00
Ordinary	17 00	18 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	— —

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.:
Breakfast	10	11
Shoulders	6¾	7
Sides, clear rib	8	8¼
Sides, clear	8¾	9
Hams, sugar cured	12	14
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl.	13 50	14 00
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders	5	5¾
Lard, ₩ lb:
Choice, in tces and pails	9½	10
Choice, in tierces and barrels	8¾	9

BAGGING STUFFS.

Bagging:
Jutia	none here
Jute	12½ 1
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 lbs and buckles	— — 2 50
Twine, hemp	13½ 14

SUNDRIES.

Leather, ₩ lb.:
Sole, hemlock	27	32
Sole, oak	35	40
Harness	35	45
Calf skins, ₩ dozen	20 00	75 00
Texas, rough, ₩ lb	24	26
Fertilizers, ₩ ton:
Stearn's raw bone superphosph.	55 00	— —
Stern's fine-ground bone	45 00	— —
Cotton Seed:
In sacks	11 00	— —

DRY GOODS.

Brown Domestic, ₩ yard:
Standard brands, ¼	7	9
Standard brands, ¼	9	11
Bleached Domestic, ₩ yard:
Choice brands, ¼	8	10
Choice brands, 4-4	9	12½
Calico, ₩ yard:
Common brands	4½	5½
Sprague, Allen & Hamilton	6¼	7¼
Ticking, ₩ yard:
Common brands	10	12½
Good	15	25
Osnaburgs:
Eight ounce	11½	13½
Stripes	10	12½
Checks	14	18
Denims	13	15

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Batchelor mud boots, ₩ doz	36 00	48 00
Common mud boots, ₩ doz	— —	30 00
Common brogans, ₩ doz	12 00	15 00
Batchelor brogans, ₩ doz	15 00	18 00
Russets' brogans, ₩ doz	18 00	19 50

SEWING MACHINES.

THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

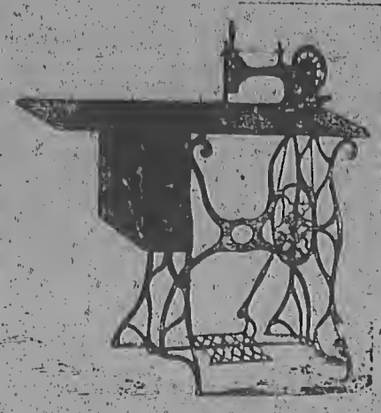
FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interests of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machine within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Worthless Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that there is a Sewing Machine which can be sold at one-half the price of the Singer is self-evident to the most casual observer, and the Singer is offered at less than one-half the price of any of the cheap Machines advertised in the newspapers with no security or guarantee whatever for the purchaser but their promises.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

Special Notices.

A Gem worth Reading!—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES.

By reading our Illustrated PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY of the EYESIGHT. Tells how to Restore Impaired Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DISFIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100 pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $5 to $10 a day guaranteed. Full particulars sent free. Write immediately, to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957.) No. 205 West 33d Street, New York City, N. Y.

IT CAN BE PROVEN

that the flavor given to cakes, puddings, creams and sauces by Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are as natural as the fruit from which they are made, and are as much unlike, in delicate flavor and strength, the cheap extracts as can possibly be imagined.

Religious Notices.

THE district stewards of Meridian district are hereby called to meet in the Methodist church at Meridian on Friday morning, January 18, 1878, at half-past ten o'clock.

27 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Franklin Street and Toulminville	Jan. 5, 6
St. Paul's	12, 13
Whistler	19, 20
Eastern Shore, at Daphne	26, 27
Stapleton, at Stockton	Feb. 2, 3
St. Frane's Street	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Citronelle, at Citronelle	Mar. 2, 3
Powelton and Pollard, at Powelton	9, 10
St. Stephen's, at Pine Grove	16, 17
Bladen's and Oktuppa, at Piney	23, 24
Grand Bay, at Grand Bay	30, 31

3 S. H. COX, P. E.

EUFAULA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Beulah, at Providence	Jan. 5, 6
Glennville, at Glennville	12, 13
Uhula, at Jernigan	19, 20
Henry, at Abbeville	26, 27
Eufaula, at Eufaula	Feb. 2, 3
Enon and Midway, at Enon	9, 10
Perote, at Perote	16, 17
Pea River, at Liberty chapel	23, 24
Clayton and Louisville, at Clayton	Mar. 2, 3
White Pond, at Bethel	9, 10
Columbia, at Pleasant Hill	16, 17
Newton, at Newton	23, 24
Ozark, at Ozark	30, 31

27 HENRY D. MOORE, P. E.

GREENSBORO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Demopolis	Jan. 5, 6
Forkland	12, 13
Livingston	19, 20
Belmont, at Wesley Chapel	26, 27
Gainesville	Feb. 2, 3
Cuba, at Chestnut Grove	9, 10
Butler, at Bright Water	16, 17
Union, at Sharon	23, 24
Greene and Eutaw	Mar. 2, 3
Havana	9, 10
Newberry	16, 17
Greensboro	23, 24

27 A. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

UNION SPRINGS DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenville circuit, at Spring Hill	Jan. 5, 6
Greenville	12, 13
Troy	19, 20
Brundidge circuit, at Williams' chapel	26, 27
Cidar Springs	Feb. 2, 3
Calhoun station, at Mount Meigs	9, 10
Tuskegee and Macon	16, 17
Pine Level circuit, at Sabina	23, 24
Rocky Mount circuit, at Rocky Mount	Mar. 2, 3
Hutchinson circuit, at Rutledge	9, 10
Oakey Streak circuit, at Oakey Streak	16, 17
Fort Deposit circuit, at Lockhart's	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Montgomery March 26, 1878.

27 G. H. BLUE, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brownsville circuit	Jan. 12, 13
Tranquil circuit	19, 20
Yazoo circuit	26, 27
Silver Creek circuit	Feb. 2, 3
Yazoo City	9, 10
Raymond circuit	16, 17
Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	23, 24
Oak Hill circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Sharon circuit	9, 10
Camden and Soule circuit	16, 17
Canton	23, 24
Madison circuit	30, 31
Jackson circuit	Apr. 6, 7
Jackson station	13, 14

The district stewards will please meet me in Canton, March 23, at three o'clock, at the Methodist church. (27) F. M. HATHORN, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Newton, at Newton	Dec. 29, 30
Morton and Forest, at Forest	29, 30
Lake, at Lake	Jan. 5, 6
Brandon	12, 13
Fannin, at Union	19, 20
Prairie mission at Mount Zion	24
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	26, 27
Carthage, at Carthage	Feb. 2, 3
Union, at White Plains	9, 10
Homewood, at West's chapel	14
Raleigh, at Sylvarena	16, 17
Trenton, at Polkville	23, 24
Rankin, at Wesleyana	Mar. 2, 3

The district stewards will meet at Forest on Saturday, December 29, 1877.

27 WILL H. LEITH, P. E. Forest, Miss.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg station	Jan. 5, 6
Cayuga, at Cayuga	12, 13
Warren, at Bovina	19, 20
Dover, at Dover	26, 27
Mount Olivet, at Wesley chapel	Feb. 2, 3
Port Gibson station	9, 10
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	16, 17
Clover Hill and Choctaw, at Meyersville	23, 24
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	Mar. 2, 3
Fayette, at Fayette	9, 10
Kingston, at Kingston	16, 17
Natchez station	23, 24

The district stewards are requested to meet me at the Methodist church in Vicksburg at eleven A. M. on Friday, January 4, 1878.

27 JAMES A. GODBEY, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian station	Dec. 29, 30
Scooba circuit, at Scooba	Jan. 5, 6
Wayne, at Scott's chapel	12, 13
Enterprise station	19, 20
Lauderdale to be left, at Pleasant H.	26, 27
Marion, at Coker's	Feb. 2, 3
Spring Hill, at Shubuta	9, 10
Philadelphia, at Pine Grove	16, 17
DeKalb, at Pleasant Ridge	23, 24
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	Mar. 2, 3
Paulding, at Paulding	9, 10
Ellisville mission, at Bethel	16, 17
McGowan, at McGowan	23, 24
Enterprise circuit, at Sukalopa	30, 31

3 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Brookhaven and Wesson, at Brookhaven	Jan. 5, 6
Beauregard, at Beauregard	12, 13
Hazlehurst station	19, 20
Georgetown, at Georgetown	26, 27
Pleasant Valley and Zion, at Zion	Feb. 2, 3
Bethel, at Bethel	9, 10
Scotland, at New Hope	16, 17
Meadville, at Meadville	23, 24
Crystal Springs station	Mar. 2, 3
Brandywine, at Sarepta	9, 10
Summit, at Summit	16, 17
Bogue Chitto mission, at Eleepzer	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Hazlehurst January 19. (3) W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wilkins	Dec. 29, 30
Jackson and Plain	Jan. 5, 6
Bayou Sara	12, 13
East Feliciana	19, 20
Wilkinson	26, 27
Woodville	Feb. 2, 3
Buffalo	9, 10
St. Helena	11
Amite	16, 17
Clinton	23, 24
Magnolia	Mar. 2, 3
Tickfaw	16, 17
East Baton Rouge	21

The district stewards will please meet me at eleven o'clock on Saturday, March 2, 1878.

27 JAMES A. GODBEY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Amite City, at Amite City	Dec. 29, 30
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	Jan. 5, 6
Moss Point, at Moss Point	12, 13
East Pascagoula	19, 20
Chickasaw, at Cross Roads	26, 27
West Pascagoula, at Woolmarket	Feb. 2, 3
Handsboro, at Coolville	9, 10
Pearlington, at Pearlington	16, 17
Carriere, at Breeding	23, 24
China Grove, at China Grove	Mar. 2, 3
Columbia, at Columbia	9, 10
Mount Carmel, at Liberty	16, 17
Westville, at Skiffer	23, 24
Enon, at Enon	30, 31

The district stewards will please meet me at Springs on January 5.

27 THOMAS PRICE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Dec. 29, 30
Caddo	Jan. 5, 6
Pleasant Hill	12, 13
Leesville	19, 20
South Rosepine	26, 27
North Rosepine	Feb. 2, 3
Shreveport A	9, 10
Shreveport B	11
Mooringsport	16, 17
Springville	23, 24
Fort Polk	Mar. 1
Logansport mission	2, 3
Natchitoches	9, 10
Natchitoches circuit	16, 17
Alexandria	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Natchitoches on Wednesday, at 10 o'clock, A. M., January 2, 1878.

27 ROBERT RANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Bastrop	Dec. 29, 30
Monroe and Floyd	Jan. 5, 6
Trenton	12, 13
Lind Grove	19, 20
Ravville	26, 27
Winnsboro	Feb. 2, 3
Oak Ridge	9, 10
Waterford	16, 17
Tensas mission, at Tensas Depot	23, 24
Madison, at Delta	Mar. 2, 3
Lake Providence	9, 10

27 JAMES L. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Patterson, Berwick and Morgan City	Jan. 5, 6
Franklin	12, 13
New Iberia	19, 20
Abbeville	26, 27
Grand Bayou	Feb. 2, 3
Vermillionville and Perkinsville	9, 10
Washington	16, 17
Opelousas and Grand Coteau	23, 24
Lake Charles and Grand Chenier	Mar. 2, 3
Grand Cheniere	9, 10
Sugartown and Calcasieu mission	16, 17

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Opelousas, February 24, 1878.

J. D. HARRIS, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER

Steam Power Printer

BLANK-BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS ORGANS Retail price $750, only $245; $660, $175; Organs, 16 stops, $120; 13, $96; 12 $68; 9 $55; 5, $45 brand new, warranted, 15 days' test trial. Other bargains. 24 page illustrated news paper, all about Piano-Organ war, free. DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

A. A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, TENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure-Bred Land and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

MISCELLANEOUS.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

VERY CHEAP HERE.

Some $25 to $100.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Leading Pianos & Organs

AT REDUCED PRICES!

Less than Manufacturers' Prices.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Odors. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Chambers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans. 8p

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD,

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat,

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SICK HEADACHE, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64-page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid to any address.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express. Ask your Druggist for it.

This is not a quack advertisement.

Circulars sent free. 8p

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only real Imitation Gold Watches that are made with all the latest improvements, at the above prices. They are really a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Circular. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS' GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY, 335 Broadway, N. Y., P. O. Box 3534.

BOYER'S

CARMELITE

Melissa Cordial!

(EAU DE MELISSE DES CARMES.)

300 Years' Reputation.

Annual Sales In Paris Alone, 1,300,000 BOTTLES

Royal Letters Patent,

Granted as recommended by the Paris School of Medicine.

Supported and sustained by the indorsement of the most eminent of French Practitioners.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA!

DISORDER OF THE STOMACH,

AND ALL NERVOUS AFFECTIONS.

Get the Genuine. Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

General Depot at BOYER'S, 59 Park Place, New York.

E. J. HART & CO., Wholesale Dealers, New Orleans. 8p

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. WATKINS, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice-President. A. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

I SAW SIDE 3 the No. 6 Diebold safe purchased of you, pass through the large conflagration and remain forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much burned out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feel greatly gratified at its contents but judge of our joy and surprise when on opening it we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1878. NO. 2.

TWILIGHT.

AFTER THE FRENCH OF VICTOR HUGO.

Child, go and pray—for see! the night is here!
Through cloudy rifts the golden lights appear;
The hill's faint outline trembles in the mist;
Scarcely is heard a distant chariot—list!
The world's at rest; the tree beside the way
Gives to the evening wind the dust of day.

Twilight unlocks the hiding-place of stars;
They gleam and glow behind night's shadowy bars.
The fringe of carmine narrows in the west,
The moonlit water lies in shining rest;
Furrow and footpath melt and disappear;
The anxious traveler doubts the far and near.

It is the hour when angels stoop to earth
To bless our babes amid our careless mirth,
The little ones with eyes upraised in prayer,
With tiny, folded hands and white feet bare,
Ask at this twilight hour a blessing dear
Of Him who loves his little ones to hear.

Then, while they sleep, a cloud of golden dreams,
Born in the calm of day's declining beams,
Waiting in shadow till the hour of night,
Fly to each couch and scatter visions bright;
As Hymen bees seek honey-laden flowers,
Dreams hover near in slumber's peaceful hours.

O cradled sleep! O prayers of childhood blest!
O baby voice, speaking a loving breast!
Thy happy prayer the darkness sinketh light,
To nerve to song the solemn sounds of night;
As 'neath his wing the birdie hides his head,
Thou shelterest by thy prayer thy cradle bed.

Appleton's Journal.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Considerable excitement and indignation were manifested at the Produce Exchange yesterday upon the announcement that Jewell Bros., proprietors of the Brooklyn City Flour Mills, had made an assignment, late on Saturday night, to George P. Sheldon. Liabilities between $200,000 and $300,000, besides debts to half a dozen or more members of the Exchange, amounting to over $100,000.

There are smaller amounts which will increase the individual debts to $150,000. It is also stated that the Equitable Life Insurance Society holds a mortgage on the mills for $60,000, and J. M. Fisk & Co. a second mortgage for $90,000. One hundred failures and assignments were reported in this city in December, with aggregate liabilities of nearly $8,000,000. Eighty-nine failures, in which the assets and liabilities have been ascertained, show liabilities $7,701,391, and assets $4,118,775.

This is the heaviest record for any month of the year, and is an increase of twenty-five per cent. in number and three hundred per cent. in amount over the record for the month of November.

The creditors of Thomas Keech, superintendent of the Bureau of Repairs and Supplies, who was formerly a builder, yesterday elected Henry Tophan assignee. Schedules showed liabilities $270,000. No assets.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—T. G. Lambert, ex president of the American Popular Life Insurance Company, convicted of swearing to a false annual report, was arraigned for sentence and spoke two hours. He claimed he was hounded down by the press, and the witnesses against him were interested. He asked for the lightest sentence possible.

Judge Brady said the prisoner deserved to be punished, and the court without sympathy or regret sentenced him to five years in the State prison.

RICHMOND, VA., Jan. 3.—Reports from points in Louisa and Hanover counties state that a shock of earthquake was felt last evening about seven o'clock. The shocks are said to have been accompanied by a roaring sound.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—A large body of unemployed workingmen marched to the mayor's office, and a committee waited upon him and demanded work or bread, suggesting that they be set to work on the streets or other public improvements.

The mayor addressed the crowd, stating his inability to take such action, and counselling application, when necessary, to the various benevolent organizations. The speech was received in sullen silence. A crowd to the number of several thousand then marched to the new City Hall lots, where they were addressed by those agitators, Kearney, Wellock, and others, the speeches being to the effect that they must help themselves by force if other means failed.

SHREVEPORT, January 4.—At the special election held yesterday, to fill the vacancy in the Legislature from Caddo parish, the Democrats elected their candidate by 380 majority. The colored voters broke away from the Republican ranks, and voted largely for the Democratic nominee.

FOREIGN.

PANAMA, December 27.—The Pacific Steam Navigation Company's steamer Atacama was lost about eight P. M., November 30, at the mouth of the Copiaho river, on the coast of Chili. Over one hundred lives are believed to have been lost, including all the officers of the steamer.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 2.—The troops under Ferid Pasha, defending the Ichtiman defile, have been reinforced. It is believed the defile is now impregnable.

A junction between Gens. Melikoff's and Terkassoff's corps, south of Erzeroum, is believed to be imminent.

The Russians are advancing toward Bathurt, where the Turks are concentrated in force. A battle is expected shortly.

Gen. Lorismelkoff has gone to Pitlis, and Gen. Heyman has succeeded him. It is thought the attack on Erzeroum will be delayed until Melikoff's return, which cannot be before the end of January.

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—A special dispatch to the Political Correspondence, dated Constantinople, December 31, says: The idea of opening direct negotiation with Russia meets with increasing favor at the Porte. The reason why this step has not yet been taken is the impossibility of ascertaining Russia's conditions of peace.

ROME, Jan. 2.—The Pope has authorized Cardinal Manning to negotiate with Great Britain for the removal of certain difficulties which delay the re-establishment of the Roman hierarchy in Scotland.

BOGOT, January 3.—Gen. Gourko fought a severe battle on the thirty-first of December, at Tasheson, before securing the Turkish intrenchments. The Russians lost 700 killed and wounded. The Turks retreated at nightfall toward Sophia, pursued by the cavalry. After a halt for rest and reorganization, Gen. Gourko resumed his advance upon Sophia.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 3.—Several Roumanian generals have arrived here from the field, indicating the suspension, for the present, at least, of active hostilities.

ST. PETERSBURG, January 4.—The semi-official Russian Agency says the reply to the British inquiry in behalf of the Porte stated that the decisions and acts of the imperial policy are guided by two considerations—putting an end to the constantly recurring disturbances, and avoiding complications by respecting the interests of third parties; assurances satisfactory to the British government and people were given concerning England's interests immediately after they were made known. These interests are no more menaced now than then, although Russia reserved the contingency of being compelled by military necessities to obtain peace under the walls of Constantinople. It depends upon England to avert this contingency by divesting the Porte of any illusion respecting English support. It is evident, if the Porte has ground to hope that the entry of the Russians into Constantinople would cause England to interfere, that it would do everything to bring about that contingency by refusing any conditions of peace.

A private dispatch announces that 40,000 Turks have retired into Roumania. The remainder of the Ottoman forces, numbering 70,000 men, remain among the fortresses of the quadrilateral.

Osman Pasha will be conveyed to the town of Reazan, 100 miles southeast of Moscow, where he will pass his captivity.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The correspondent of the New York Herald at Cairo, Egypt, telegraphs that Henry M. Stanley called upon the Khedive yesterday, and was very cordially received. The Khedive had a long conversation with Mr. Stanley, about his great Central African exploration, and evinced deep interest in the subject. He spoke to Mr. Stanley in the highest terms of praise of his courage and extraordinary perseverance in the arduous work for which he has become celebrated.

Before Mr. Stanley took his leave the Khedive presented him with the decoration of Grand Officer of the Medjidie, as a mark of the appreciation of his services. The Geographical Society of Cairo last night entertained Mr. Stanley at a sumptuous banquet, at which many eminent men were present. Mr. Stanley has every reason to be pleased with the reception he has met with at Cairo.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Many Fenian convicts have been pardoned, among them McCarthy and O'Brien, who were received in London by the Irish political prisoners' visiting committee. They are well, but look prematurely aged. No condition has been made as to their residence outside of the United Kingdom.

FLORENCE, Jan. 5.—Gen. Alfonso Ferrara La Marmora, a well-known Italian general and statesman, is dead.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 5.—The Russians have taken Sophia. The details are wanting.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A special dispatch from Rome to the Pall Mall Gazette says:

"Prof. Baccelli, of Rome, and Dr. Bruno, from Turin, have been summoned for consultation in regard to the condition of the King. The left lower lobe of his right lung is congested; the whole right pleura is affected, and there is also intense intercostal neuralgic pain, affecting the entire abdomen. This being only the second day of the malady, it is impossible to predict the issue. When the news of the King's illness reached the Pope he asked the cardinals present: 'What will happen if the Vatican and Quirinal both become vacant?' The proposal to hold the next conclave elsewhere is promoted by the Ultramontane cardinals."

The Daily News' Bucharest correspondent says: An officer from the Czarowitch's headquarters states that Gen. Radetzky has crossed the Balkans through Schilpka Pass, the Turks having abandoned their positions previously, because of severe cold.

God uses men to perform his work. How important, then, that they be ever in working order. He who goes to battle with a blunted weapon courts defeat. He who desires to be used of the Lord in his work must seek that constant preparation which shall enable him to act at once under the impulsion of a divine hand.

Fear is the white-lipped sire of subterfuge and treachery.—Mrs. Sigourney.

The Outlook.

All the Annual Conferences have held their sessions, with the exception of the Baltimore, which convenes in March. We have had the pleasure of being present at nearly one-half the entire number, and everywhere have received words of encouragement in the prosecution of our work as book agent.

A year ago we reported to the church the embarrassed condition of the Publishing House, and asked for a contribution of $60,000 to aid in its relief. We believed then that a contribution of this amount would not only enable us to pass safely through the crisis that was upon us, but that it would place the house in a condition where the remainder of the debt could be funded at a rate of interest much smaller than we have been paying, so that the business could be carried on without embarrassment, and the liabilities be gradually reduced at the same time. In this opinion we were not mistaken. Although only $29,300.07 of the $60,000 for which we asked has been given us, yet that amount has afforded great relief, while the pledges made us by the several Annual Conferences, with almost entire unanimity, to raise and remit to us the remainder of their assessment within the next sixty days, has in a great measure restored the Publishing House to confidence in commercial circles, so essential to its success.

With the acceptance, on the part of the Annual Conferences, of the balance due from each of them of the $60,000 for which we asked, a fresh impulse has been given to the business of the house, and every department is showing an activity that indicates better times, and we again assure the church that this amount will accomplish what we promised.

While orders for books are increasing from every part of the connection, showing a purpose to circulate more widely the literature of the church, the manifest improvement in the periodical department is certainly gratifying. But few persons who have taken the Christian Advocate are failing to renew, while hundreds of new subscribers have, within the past few weeks, been entered on our books. In the Sunday school department our success is still more gratifying. Almost every school has renewed its subscription for the Magazine, Visitor, Our Little People, and Lesson Papers, while many of them have increased their amount over the past year, and others that had looked elsewhere heretofore for Sunday school papers have sent their orders to us, and are now placed on our list of subscribers. If present indications do not mislead us, we will be able to report to the General Conference a manifest improvement in every department of our business.

In the meantime we do most earnestly request our brethren to take up the collections promised us for the Publishing House immediately. Obligations confront us which we must meet at once, and on these collections we rely to meet them. Indeed they can be met in no other way. Will not the preachers everywhere at once ask of the people they serve the aid they have promised, and which is essential to our existence? Let the second Sunday in January be set apart to begin this work, and let each succeeding Sabbath witness the liberality of the church, until the work is completed.

We have yet "four months" in which to work before the meeting of the General Conference. Much can be accomplished in this brief period. If the preachers will enter upon the work of supplying their people with our church literature, many thousands of our publications will be sold during this time, and the list of subscribers for our periodicals be greatly increased. Men and brethren, help!

The following exhibit will show the amount each Conference has contributed toward the relief of the house, as well as the balance expected from them:

CONFERENCE.	Pledge	Amount Collected.	Deficit.
1. Denver	$150 00	$150 00
2. Louisville	3,000 00	3,000 00
3. Tennessee	4,500 00	2,000 43	$2,500 57
4. Kentucky	3,000 00	1,270 81	1,729 19
5. North Mississippi	3,000 00	1,497 45	1,502 55
6. Virginia	4,500 00	1,459 99	3,040 01
7. North Carolina	6,000 00	3,457 55	2,542 45
8. Alabama	2,500 00	1,340 70	1,159 30
9. Holston	2,500 00	1,327 56	1,172 44
10. Mississippi	2,500 00	1,289 02	1,210 98
11. Memphis	1,000 00	1,271 91	[illegible]
12. South Carolina	2,500 00	1,145 04	1,354 96
13. North Alabama	2,500 00	1,031 85	1,468 15
14. Missouri	2,000 00	872 47	1,127 53
15. Baltimore	5,000 00	870 55	3,929 05
16. Louisiana	2,000 00	747 07	1,252 93
17. South Georgia	2,000 00	699 11	1,300 89
18. Little Rock	1,000 00	609 30	390 70
19. North Texas	1,000 00	579 99	420 01
20. North Georgia	3,000 00	573 81	2,426 19
21. Pacific	600 00	456 95	143 05
22. East Texas	600 00	416 55	183 00
23. Northwest Texas	1,000 00	391 19	608 81
24. St. Louis	1,000 00	386 59	613 41
25. S. W. Missouri	500 00	385 00	115 00
26. Western Virginia	500 00	382 75	117 25
27. Texas	1,000 00	315 65	291 35
28. Florida	500 00	296 90	203 10
29. Arkansas	500 00	274 15	225 85
30. West Texas	1,000 00	274 70	726 21
31. White River	500 00	246 61	253 39
32. Indian Mission	150 00	129 19	20 81
33. Wyoming	150 00	119 56	30 50
34. Columbia	150 00	112 15	37 85
35. Cherokee Mission	150 00	93 40	56 60
36. Illinois	150 00	76 65	73 35
37. Los Angeles	150 00	61 55	88 45
Clinton		12 50
Outside parties		171 50
Total		$29,300 07

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.

As in a town or city, immediately before sunrise, the extinction of the lamps announces the termination of darkness, so oftentimes, after the irksome night of sorrow, that probably seemed at one period as though it never would expire, the dawning of the day of relief and joy may be divined by the dying out of earthly confidences.

The Year 1877.

MR. EDITOR: At precisely twelve last night the great clock of Time struck, and the sound thereof echoed and re-echoed throughout earth's vast domains, and the year 1877 forever ended. How grand and yet how solemn the closing scene! The heavens were illumined with countless stars. The old watch-towers of Orion, Taurus and Major Canis were faithfully occupied. With blended symphonies the music of the spheres sank into soft wailings of farewell, amid the thunder-dirge of old Ocean's obsequies! The lamentation of heaven is heard far and wide in the low-moaning winds. The year is gone!

The year which has thus passed away was full of labor, conflict and sorrow, as well as of success, peace and triumph. During its slowly-rolling days millions of men toiled and struggled to keep soul and body together. Amid heat and cold, by day and night, through grief and joy, the mighty struggle went on. In home and distant lands the rage and wrath of nations is heard and seen in marching armies; the thunder and grapple of battle; the pale, bleeding, dying soldier; the shattered, flying, crying legions; the pursuing, boasting, cursing victors, while destruction and dismay mark the track of the march!

In the business and social circles perfidy, wickedness and crime have stalked abroad with bold and unblushing effrontery. Lasciviousness, giddiness and drunkenness have sent countless thousands into the vortex of ruin. "Man's inhumanity to man has made countless millions mourn."

To counteract the movements of wickedness the church of the living God girded herself with the armor of truth and light, and advanced into the camp of the foe. Among the unconquerable standard-bearers, in the march of the sacramental hosts, may be seen the tall, commanding form of the sainted Bishop Marvin! The year 1877 sees this man of God pressing his way westward to carry light to the east. The same year sees this same man of God forsaking this low abode and ascending heavenward, amid the ever-increasing splendors of eternal glory, to lead the church Godward! What an event! Aaron, the high priest, died upon Mount Hor, in the presence of Israel; Moses, the law-giver, died upon Mount Nebo, in sight of the promised land; but E. M. Marvin, one of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died upon the summit of peerless fame, in the presence of the world, and in sight of heaven! Well, therefore, may it be said that when the great clock of Time struck 1877, the sound thereof echoed and re-echoed not only throughout earth's vast domain, but even into heaven and eternity.

But the year is gone; and in the bright sunlight of January the first, 1878, we enter upon this new year—this fresh and glorious token of God's abundant goodness and faithfulness.

To you, Mr. Editor, and all the readers of the ADVOCATE I wish a happy New Year.

ANGUS DOWLING.

EUFAULA, ALA., Jan. 1, 1878.

P. S.—Day after to-morrow I will start to Clayton, Ala.—my new work. A. D.

My Old Conference.

MR. EDITOR: The privilege of communing, through the ADVOCATE, with many whose names are dear to us is highly estimated, and revives pleasant memories of by-gone years—and sad, ones, too, when there comes through the living the memory of the dead. In the minutes of the last Mississippi Conference, in reading the appointments, there are the names of Jones, Cecil, Drake—three young ministers, the children of my beloved friends, Frank Jones, Sister Cecil, and the ever-lamented Dr. Drake, the memory of all of whom is very precious to me.

Frank Jones, a man of fine sense, a practical, judicious counselor, a fast friend of all the ministers, a lover of the church, a man of God, walking with him in a holy life—how glad I am his son has consecrated himself to that work his father loved so well! May God bless him!

Sister Cecil, a woman of wonderful power in prayer and of strong faith, laying hold of the horns of the altar, and commanding the descent of the Holy Ghost upon herself and the subjects of her prayers—one of the happiest Christians I ever knew. Thank God her son has received the anointing from above in answer to a mother's prayers!

And Dr. Drake—how shall I speak of this beloved man and minister, one among a thousand, take him all in all—an able minister, adequate to the demands of any position in the church, a Christian gentleman of the highest type, beloved of all, peerless in his social relations, a friend who never deserted a friend? His memory will be forever dear to the writer as long as thought and being last.

Blessed be God that he has another son in the ministry to take the place of the promising, beloved and lamented Winans, who bore the patronymics of two of the greatest lights of the Mississippi Conference for many years. May the mantles of the ascended prophets of God fall upon Perry, and may he be a burning and shining light in his day and generation. There are other names among the fathers in the Mississippi Conference that still linger as lights of the church, that it rejoices the heart of their brother in a distant field to see on record as the connecting links between two generations of ministers—the Joneses, and Watkins and Forsyth and Thompson, and my old friend, A. Day, who entered the Conference at the same time with myself in 1838, and many others who may now be considered among the fathers in view of their long and faithful service. God bless them all! They do not know how dearly I love them, and how ardently I hope to live with them forever, and sit with them at the Master's feet, and mingle my song of triumph with theirs and the blood-washed throng who sing to "him that washed us and redeemed us with his own blood; to him be glory forever and ever!" There are others in the prime of manhood who are making their impress upon the church—some in the zenith of their fame, and others rising stars, who promise much of usefulness in their generation—Andrews and Johnson and Featherston and Jones [illegible] A. B. and Lewis W. B[illegible] and Hunnicutt and Galloway and others.

They must pardon the liberty of an absent friend whose heart is often deeply moved in thinking over the past, musing upon the present and contemplating the future, far away in a strange land, but never losing sight of his native land and mother Conference. May she, the mother of Conferences, never lack the men who shall be worthy successors of the worthies who have adorned her annals, and added luster to her record as representative men in the grand councils of the church.

H. M. BOOTH.

LONGVIEW, TEXAS, Dec. 30, 1877.

TRANSIENT NEWSPAPER POSTAGE ON ALL DEADHEAD COPIES.—A dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette, dated Washington, January 3, says: In conversation, to-day, Mr. Bissell, acting law officer of the Postoffice Department, admitted that, under his opinion of yesterday, the publishers of newspapers have no right to send deadhead copies to the President, or any other person, at pound rates of postage, and that all such copies must be prepared at transient rates, or the sending of them would, according to the letter of the law, subject publishers to prosecutions. The opinion would also apply to all papers sent free to institutions of charity or learning, or to any corporation or person. The large lists of publishers who responded to Secretary Rogers' request for free copies of newspapers will, according to Mr. Bissell, be hereafter liable to prosecution, in case the law is strictly enforced. Nothing can prevent its enforcement, unless the department should wink at the violation of the law. The rates of prepayment on the President's copies would be one cent on each two ounces or fraction for each paper sent. In short, according to the views expressed by the law officer, the opinion calls for a prepayment on all deadhead copies of newspapers at the above rates.

The Kimball movement for the payment of church debts is spreading. Mr. Kimball, since his great work in New York and Boston, has been at Dr. Tyng, Jr.'s, church, and provided for a debt of $100,000. In Chicago the First Presbyterian church, by an extraordinary effort, has cleared away an incumbrance of $50,000, and the Ada Street Methodist church has also obtained a clear title. St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, of this city, which had a debt of $145,000, has in a very quiet way raised the whole amount in the past two months, relieving itself of a very pressing burden. Among the subscribers are William H. Vanderbilt and his son Cornelius, who gave $75,000.—Independent.

Young Jenkins was bound to be accurate, and he thus described the woman's costume: "She wore a suit of something or other, cut bias and trimmed endwise."

The Rev. Dr. Talmage, as is well known, says the Independent, is in the habit of discussing all current topics at his regular Friday evening meetings. Last week he had for his theme the newspaper, and we give below his opinions about investing money in that direction. His knowledge and experience in these matters should have great weight with the public. Dr. Talmage says:

"The first thing that strikes me in the history of this past week is the mortality among newspapers. Beginning with the extinction of the Newark Morning Mercury, which breathed its last on Tuesday, we have reports of similar fatality to newspapers in Chicago, and to one in New York, whose decease is expected in a few days, and we are hearing of others which are kept alive from day to day by unnatural stimulants. Indeed, in the last few weeks a newspaper has died almost every day. The disease is epidemic. It seems as if we are destined to have comparatively few dailies and weeklies. The large ones eat up the small ones. The most successful way to sink money and keep it sunk is to start a newspaper. The fallacy is abroad that almost any one can publish a paper. The world will have to learn that a newspaper is an institution, and that it wants infinite brains and almost infinite capital to establish one. If you have agricultural, or scientific, or educational, or religious ideas to present to the public, you had better charge upon the world through columns already established. It is folly for one who can't succeed in anything else to try newspaperdom. To publish a newspaper requires the skill, precision, boldness, vigilance and strategy of a commander-in-chief, and to edit a newspaper requires that one be a statesman, essayist, geographer, statistician and encyclopedist. To govern and propel a newspaper until it shall be a fixed institution and a national fact demands more qualities than any business on earth."

These are strong statements, and yet they are as true as they are strong. Money has been lost in railroad bonds, in banks, in insurance companies, in manufacturing, in real estate, in brown-stone fronts, in oil wells, in patent rights, and in all other directions; but we affirm that, in proportion to the amount, the loss has been far greater in newspapers—and particularly in religious newspapers—than in any other [illegible]. Nearly every dollar thus invested within ten years past has been sunk out of sight forever.

President Porter, of Yale, says: "There can be no serious objection to the presence of children of both sexes in elementary schools, for the most obvious reasons. But the reasons are as obvious, in my judgment, why boys and girls from the ages of fourteen to eighteen should not recite in the same class room, nor meet in the same study-hall, nor encounter one another in the same passages of a large public school. First of all, the natural feelings of rightly-trained boys and girls are offended by social intercourse of this sort, so frequent, so free and so unceremonious. Civilization of every description, and Christian civilization pre-eminently, is grounded in, is sustained by certain restraints of modesty and reserve in the relations of the two sexes. If in any of the stages of education we expose our growing boys and girls to that familiarity which offends or weakens modesty, we tend to barbarism and immorality. I have no objection to learned women, but I would have them remain women; and if they are to be perfect women, they must be trained as women, and womanhood in girlish years requires isolation and reserve, if nothing more." President Bartlett, of Dartmouth, has lately made a similar expression concerning co-education in colleges.—Independent.

DEPARTURE FOR MEXICO.—Bishop Merrill (who has episcopal supervision of the missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Mexico,) and Rev R. L. Dashiell, D. D., one of our missionary secretaries, says the New York Christian Advocate of January 3 sailed from New York on Saturday afternoon last, by the steamship City of Marterre, for Vera Cruz, by way of Havana. The steamer will stop in the latter port a full day. The party includes also Mr. Thomas W. Price, of Philadelphia (a lay delegate to the last General Conference, and member of the board of managers of the Missionary Society,) and Mr. Robert L. Dashiell, Jr., son of the secretary. They hope to reach Vera Cruz by January 10, and proceed thence to the Mexican capital. The annual mission meeting, which was set down for the city of Mexico, January 15, will be postponed until a later date, in order to afford the Bishop and secretary time for a previous thorough inspection of all our mission stations in that country.

There is as much reason why we should keep the Sabbath holy with our tongues as with our hands. If it be unsuitable to employ our hands about common and worldly things, is it not as unsuitable to employ our tongues? The Sabbath is a thermometer of the spiritual state of the soul.—Jonathan Edwards.

We are all immortal creatures—beings born for eternity—creatures that will never go out of existence. Eternity—vast, incomprehensible eternity—is before us; but salvation has been obtained by millions, and why not be obtained by us, since it is to be had freely in Christ Jesus?—John Angel James.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1878.

FULL MEASURE.

BY ANNA SHIPTON.

"Full measure, pressed down, and running over."

Thou givest, Lord, full measure,
And that is given for me;
Thou keepest safe each treasure
That I confide to Thee
Safe in the prison of Thy heart—
Safer they cannot be.

Thou read my heart's defection—
Why am I full of fears?
I think of Thy rejection,
And stay my faithless tears:
For the very wrong I fear calls me,
Thy tender touch endears.

Then give me, Lord, full measure
Of Thy rare spirit and free;
Give, Lord, at Thy good pleasure—
I'll prove it all with Thee,
And claim in Thy promised blessing
As mine, by Thy decree.

Lifted in Christ's.

"A Word Spoken In Due Season, How Good Is It!"

MR. EDITOR: It is often the case that a single sentence, and sometimes a single word, fitly spoken in due season, and applied to the conscience by the Holy Spirit, becomes effectual in the salvation of a soul. The following instance is illustrative of this fact:

Several ministers were holding a protracted meeting in a fashionable town with rather discouraging prospects. One evening a bevy of gay, fashionable, fun-loving young people entered the church, and took seats as remote from the pulpit as possible, where they engaged in the very unbecoming and irreverent practice of whispering and tittering during the services. Near the close of the exercises one of the ministers, without apparently noticing the conduct of the young people, was expounding and enforcing the first five verses of the thirteenth chapter of Luke, and closed his remarks by quoting, with emphasis and much feeling, the sentence: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." None of this gay company seemed to notice a word uttered by the minister, except one young lady, whose ear caught the word "perish." "O what a word is that!" said she to herself as she rose up with her giggling companions to leave the church. "It seems to foretode an awful future to me." She spent some time with her gay and giddy companions before they separated for the night, but their gayety was gone. That word "perish" ominous of coming wrath, had fastened itself in her very heart, and gave alarm to all her thoughts. She was glad when the moment came to bid her associates in hilarity and mirth good-night, that she might retire to her room alone, and try to throw off the intolerable burden that had so suddenly and unexpectedly fallen upon her, and all apparently from that one word "perish!" Her first impulse was to go to bed and try to sleep off the terrible disquietude of her troubled heart; but while preparing for bed the angel of death seemed to be flapping his raven wings around her room, and uttering, in threatening tones, that alarming word: "Perish! perish! perish!" "O" said she, "what a word is that! It implies the wrath to come! It means to be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power." In her perplexity and distress she was able to recall the whole sentence: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." "Then," said she, "there is a condition of mercy connected with this awful word 'perish!' and by the help of God I will repent, and repent now, of all my sins, and pray earnestly that they may all be forgiven." So saying, she fell on her knees, and, after giving vent to her breaking heart in a flood of welcome tears, she poured out her soul in earnest, penitential prayer to God to forgive all her sins and accept of her for Christ's sake. For a few days she kept herself as much secluded from company as possible, and literally sought a pardoning God "with all her heart and all her soul." The burden of sin and conscious guilt was heavy, but the sweet moment of deliverance soon came. The surrender of the whole heart was made, the willingness to be saved on gospel terms was felt, and a voice, laden with peace and love, whispered in her heart: "Daughter, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee." One of the first promptings of her new-born soul was to make a public profession of faith in Christ by uniting with his people. She did not pause to put away her worldly ornaments and gay apparel, but, in her usual dress, immediately presented herself to the church as an applicant for membership. The pastor and church hesitated. "Her change has been so sudden and so unobserved by others—can it be real? Has she not in some way been deceived?" An account of her experience was demanded and given. It had all the elements of true "repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ," and she was received into the household of faith, and was ever thereafter a consistent, spiritual and useful member. How important it is, then, that we, as ministers and members of the church, should always let our "speech be with grace, seasoned with salt," that it may be "good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers." Not only in our religious, but also in our social and even business conversations, we may often put in a word "good to the use of edifying," which may be so applied by the ever-present Holy Ghost as to administer reproof, instruction, comfort or encouragement to some needy soul. Ministers should simply do their whole duty in preaching "the gospel of the grace of God," for they know not what sentence, or even word, the Holy Spirit may apply to the awakening and salvation of souls.

Yours affectionately,

J. G. JONES.

PORT GIBSON, Mississippi.

The Christian's Mission.

God, in his infinite wisdom and goodness, has made ample provision for the salvation of every one, and at the same time has required every one to do something in return, and has prepared the means whereby the Christian may send beams of reflected light from the Savior, in some instances, in the most dark and obscure corners of the earth. Wherever "the love of God is shed abroad in the heart," and the Christian possesses "the mind that was in Christ," the light is continually manifesting itself.

"But," some will answer, "this view is too broad, too extensive, too general. There are individuals who are positively unable to be useful in any way. They are too poor to give anything, and too ignorant and unlearned to be useful as teachers. The Lord has not prepared them for fields of usefulness; and where he has given nothing, or so little, he does not and cannot, consistently with his infinite mercy, require anything in return." But we answer that this is only a surface view of the matter. The Lord has never created any one and allowed him to reach the years of discretion without preparing him in some way to be useful or instructive; and if we take away the Christian's work we virtually take away his "part out of the book of life."

True, every one cannot be eminently useful. Every one cannot go as a missionary to China or South America; nor is it necessary that every one should. Many cannot be eminent preachers of the gospel. Every one cannot have his efforts to do good published, and his own name placed conspicuously in the newspapers. You may be poor, little and unlearned, without influence and unknown; perhaps Heaven itself may not have given you rich endowments of body or mind; but still, if your heart be right with God, and you seek his glory rather than your own, you can find some field of usefulness. If you cannot cross the ocean and instruct some Chinaman in the way of life, seek a heathen nearer your own door. Persuade your wicked neighbor to go to church, or carry your erring playmate to Sunday school. Speak some word of comfort to the distressed, or bestow some token of love upon some friendless wretch, and thus let your light so shine that the world, seeing your good works, may be constrained to glorify God.

Again: If you are not able to cast your thousands into the treasury of the Lord, you can, like the poor widow, give your two mites; and if you cannot give it in money, you can bestow it in some other way. If you can do no more than divide your scanty morsel of bread with some starving creature, or admit some one, who is suffering from the piercing cold, into your humble cottage or around your cheerful fire, do not neglect to do this; for if you do it in the fear of God, the Lord will remember it to you for good, "for whosoever giveth unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only, in the name of a disciple, shall not lose his reward."

The great obstacle, however, in the way of success is a disposition on the part of professed Christians to refuse to bear the cross, and a desire to go to heaven on flowery beds of ease—an indisposition to do small things because they are unable to do large ones, and a slavish fear that they will have to suffer persecution for the sake of Christ.

J. P. ROBERTS.

A Tribute.

MR. EDITOR: Please allow one of the least of the Master's servants a place in the ADVOCATE to give vent to his feelings in remembrance of our beloved Bishop Marvin. I shall never forget my first impression of Bishop Marvin. In December, 1875, I attended my first Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which convened at Greenville, Ala. It was a season of refreshing to me to behold those advocates for Jesus assembling at the sanctuary of God, from the east and from the west, from the north and from the south, to report their labors of the year, and to worship the Lord together. I had never seen any of our Bishops. On the seventh of December, at night, I came into the Methodist church, and, after humble thanks to my gracious Lord for his goodness to me in permitting me to enjoy this gracious privilege, I took my seat. I thought: "O how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!" I was in the spirit of worship, Mr. Editor. My soul was happy, my heart was glad, when my attention was called to a gentleman walking along the aisle of the church. On beholding him my heart leaped with joy, and I was impressed with the words of our Lord Jesus: "Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom there is no guile." I resolved to note the seat of the stranger. But on he came; he passed by me, along the aisle into the altar, and on into the pulpit, and knelt in humble prayer. The stranger proved to be Bishop Marvin. My impression of him was more confirmed when he arose in the sweet songs of praise. He seemed to praise the Lord with his body, as with his soul and spirit. How precious was the gospel from his lips! I shall never forget his lecture to the preachers. How he exhorted them to a full and perfect consecration to the Lord and the church! "Go," said he, "to the silent grove, with your Bible in hand; there read, and wrestle with God in prayer for the gift of his Spirit. From your knees go to the church, burdened with the message of God, and in fellowship with the Spirit, and you will ever prove efficient preachers in the church of Christ." In the spring of 1876 Bishop Marvin attended the District Conference at Marianna, Fla.—before he took his tour around the world. Through the goodness of Bro. H. D. Moore, P. E., I was introduced to Bishop Marvin. I enjoyed the privilege of grasping his hand, on which occasion I could not restrain the emotions of my heart. I praised the Lord for the privilege I enjoyed. Afterward I felt exceedingly abashed to think of my boldness in approaching the Bishop; but I had not forgotten how he first impressed me. I esteemed him as the most holy man I ever saw. I hope to procure his writings in remembrance of him. I submit to the will of the Lord in taking his servant home. He has ceased from his labors, but his works will follow him.

JOHN WESLEY.

GENEVA, ALA., Dec. 24, 1877.

The Old and the New Year.

In Ecclesiastes it is said: "To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under heaven." There is not a more suitable time than the waning moments of a year for a Christian to review the past; and, as the twilight of the new year appears, to pray:

"O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope for years to come,
Be thou our guard while life shall last,
And our perpetual home."

As the Christian looks back for three hundred and sixty-five days, how varied the scenes and circumstances through which he has passed! How large and free the blessings bestowed, and the manifold mercies of God! As he looks at these he is ready to exclaim:

"Minutes and mercies, multiplied,
Have made up all this day of years;
Mingles came quick, and morsels were More fleet and free than they."

But how often is it the case, when the Christian thus surveys the past and turns his eyes within, that he is filled with sorrow and deep penitence on account of duties neglected, privileges abused and precious time squandered. But, thanks be to God, the prodigal may return, and the penitent Christian, when he sees and feels his weakness, the sinfulness of his nature, and his liability to err, can then with confidence look to that "Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous," and who is "the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

How happy, then, such a Christian when the last moments of the old year die away, and the first moments of the new year are ushered in, to feel that "old things have passed away," and that he is a new man in Christ Jesus, with new resolves to be a Christian indeed, in whom there is no guile!

It is the privilege of the Christian, as day unto day is added to constitute the year 1878, to "add to faith virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness, and charity," with the full assurance, if these graces be in him and abound, that when his days are all numbered all "entrance shall be ministered unto him abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ."

W. SPILLMAN.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

REV. N. B. COOPER died at his residence in Bibb county, Ala., November 9, 1877, after a painful and protracted illness. Bro. Cooper was born in Athens, Tenn., October 25, 1826; moved to Rome, Ga., with his father, in 1843; thence to Alabama in 1849. He was married to Miss Margaret E. Litton, in St. Clair county, Ala., June 12, 1851, with whom he lived happily up to the time of his death—a period of twenty-six years.

At a Presbyterian camp meeting in Shelby county, Ala., in 1853, he professed religion, and soon after joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South under the ministry of Rev. J. T. Roper, sustaining the relation of class-leader for about two years thereafter.

He was licensed to preach October 13, 1855; filled a local preacher three years; joined the Alabama Conference in the fall of 1858; traveled, first, Centerville circuit one year, Antanga circuit two years, Perryville circuit one year, and supplied East Selma station one year.

Bro. Cooper was ordained deacon December 4, 1859, by Bishop Cavanaugh, at Eufaula, Ala.; located December 2, 1865.

From 1868, he was a great but patient sufferer from lumbar abscess. In anticipation of the change that awaited him he arranged his business and made his will. His mental faculties were unimpaired to the last. Gathering his mourning and sorrowing family around him, he bestowed upon each loved one his parting blessing and counsel. Death to him was shorn of its terrors, and he often spoke of it as of a pleasant journey. In addressing his sister, Mrs. Joseph Cox, a short time previous to his death, he remarked that he was equipped for the journey and ready to depart. His last words were: "Hallelujah! Bless the Lord!"

In order to give forcible expression to the high esteem and affection in which our beloved brother was held by his brother members of the Quarterly Conference of Randolph circuit, a committee was appointed by that body to draft suitable resolutions to that effect.

R. A. MEARS, P. C.

Whereas, Almighty God, in his providence, has seen proper to take our beloved brother, N. B. Cooper, from our midst by death; we, the members of the Quarterly Conference of Randolph circuit, feel keenly our loss, and his vacant seat forcibly impresses us with the fact that we, too, must soon pass away; therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of our much-esteemed and beloved brother the church has lost a good, faithful and devoted member, the community a noble, generous and kind man, and his family a true, loving, affectionate husband and father. Having many assurances of his perfect preparation to meet God, and his readiness to go and be with Christ, his Savior, we bow submissively to the will of him who doeth all things well, and realize that our loss is his infinite happiness.

Resolved, That we tender our warmest sympathies and hearty condolence to our elder (his beloved companion) and her family in their sad bereavement, and by our prayers will commend them to him who has promised to be a husband to the widow and a father to the orphan.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the deceased, and to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

J. W. BRAND, Chairman,
JOHN HANSBERGER,
JOSEPH L. COX, Committee.

MATTIE FRADEL, daughter of Daniel F. and Emma C. Barker, died in Lauderdale county, Miss., November 12, 1877, aged eleven years and twenty-two days. Little Mattie was kicked by a horse, on the twelfth of last month, on the right side. Her suffering was intense until death ensued. She was in great pain for four weeks. Notwithstanding her severe illness, she bore it with Christian patience and fortitude, rejoicing in a Savior's love, with many words of comfort and consolation for relatives and friends, such as: "I am going to live forever with the angels in heaven. I will soon be at rest. I will soon drink of the pure river of the water of life." At times she was very anxious to depart, and one day said to her ma: "Why don't you pray to Jesus to take me speedily? I would be so much better off. I would be a bright, shining angel, and could walk the golden streets and be forever happy." She begged her ma not to weep, and tried to cheer her with glowing descriptions of a beautiful home in the skies. When dying her pa told her he had prayed fervently for her recovery. She replied: "Pa, I'm not going to die. I'm going to live with God." It was delightful to witness the faith and love and simplicity of this childlike spirit. She asked: "Why do you weep? If you loved me as you ought you would rejoice because Jesus is coming to release me from sin and suffering." She expressed great anxiety for the salvation of every one with whom she was acquainted; and spoke to all who came near her—her medical attendant among others—and sent messages to absent ones. She asked her pa and pa to raise her brother and sisters to meet her in heaven.

Her grandparents on both sides, with many other relatives and friends, were present, and as the end approached she called them all to her bedside, one by one, to bid her good-by. When her little sisters and brother were brought she looked at them with intense affection, kissed them and pressed them to her fainting heart, and said: "Poor little things! I hope you will meet me in heaven." While some one standing by softly repeated the Savior's words, "Suffer the little children to come unto me," she shouted aloud the praises of God, and said: "Why don't you all shout? I'm so happy!" Every heart was moved to sympathy, and every eye save the dying one was suffused with tears; while her heart-stricken pa was taking his farewell, and upon his knees, in broken accents, resigned back to the Savior his precious boon that had been lent him but a few brief years; and the Savior doubtless stood ready to welcome her on high. I stood by her when the last flickering taper of life was about to be extinguished forever. I gazed upon the wasted form, and heard the last dying accents, and never did I hear a sweeter voice. It fell upon the ear like tones from the celestial city; and with her face lit up, as in the light of two worlds, I could but lift up my heart in prayer that we may all find the same soft pillow upon the bosom of our Savior for our dying heads.

AUNT MATTIE.

DIED, on the twenty-fifth of September last, at the residence of his parents, in Springville, near Coushatta, La., EUGENE A. TENRY, aged twenty-five years.

This brief announcement—to the stranger so commonplace—has lying back of it the crushed hopes and bleeding hearts of dear and loved friends. It is painful to look upon the scene. A pining wife and mother stands near, with grief beyond the telling. An affectionate father, a devoted mother, a tender, loving sister, a strong and manly brother, and heart-broken Cousin "Addie," who has known her own griefs—all, all reach out helpless hands, raise heavenward pleading, streaming eyes.

Eugene had never made a profession of religion. He had never joined the church. He was a Mason. He was kind-hearted. He was true to principle in business. He was a good son. He was a loving brother. He was a devoted husband. He loved almost to idolatry his wife and child. He was thoughtful of and kind to the poor. In his last sickness the father was his earthly priest and intercessor. He talked with the dying son of death and preparation for eternity as a father only could. He pointed him to the Lamb of God, and begged him to accept peace and pardon at the hands of Jesus. The father's letter, almost literally baptized with tears, lies before me, with assurances that Eugene did trust in Jesus and was saved. There is comfort in the thought—comfort to all. Eugene was strong physically. He gave promise of a long life. The business world seemed to meet him with a smile. Prosperity and temporal success were apparently not doubtful. The dear young wife and only child were taking a stronger hold upon his life. Father and mother, brothers and sister, friends and companions, deepened in life as life deepened in him. And yet he was taken! So young, so full of promise—he was taken. May the living lay it to heart. May the household, so grieved, be comforted. To thy hands, O blessed Master, would thy servant commit these dear friends!

MRS. ANN JANE GRACE, wife of G. B. Grace, and daughter of William and Margaret Johnson; was born July 12, 1815, in the county of Antrim, Ireland; was married to G. B. Grace, in Chambers county, Ala., September 22, 1835, and departed this life, at her home in Marion, Miss., October 25, 1877. She died in full hope of a blessed immortality. Our beloved sister professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1831. I have known her some thirty-three or thirty-four years, and always found her a good, humble Christian lady. She was a dear lover of our Methodist doctrine and institutions. She was a lady of a fine order of mind. She read, thought and acted for herself. She leaves a husband, who has been and still is a warm friend of the church, and has for many years served the church in the capacity of class-leader and steward, and is still acting in the latter capacity; also nine children, six of whom were around her bed, when she died, to receive her farewell blessing. She is greatly missed by her children, her husband, the church, and the large circle of friends of the family. She was a model matron, conducting her family affairs with the greatest prudence, kindness and firmness. In the neighborhood she was kind to the sick, charitable to the poor, affable and agreeable to all. She lived and died, so far as I know, without an enemy among her large circle of acquaintances. As a church member she was highly useful and exemplary. Sister Grace was a great sufferer. She was confined to her bed for about twelve months, but she bore all with patience. During our protracted meeting, on the second Sabbath in September, though confined to her bed, she would often get happy and shout the praises of God. She would speak of the meeting, saying: "Our meeting." She seemed to be fully engaged in the work. When the final hour came she was ready, and could say, as did the aged servant of God: "Now, Lord, let thy servant depart in peace." And so she did, and now rests from trouble and sorrow, safe at home.

THOMAS V. ARMSTRONG.

DIED, at her residence in Shreveport, on the seventh of October last, after a long, lingering sickness, Mrs. EUGENIE K. ROSE, in the forty-first year of life.

Sister Rose was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark McCutcheon, whose memory is precious until this day to all lovers of Jesus throughout this country. She was married to Bro. W. Rose in 1854. She was reared in the Methodist Church. No other thought than to live and die a Christian an active member of the Methodist Church ever entered her mind. And she was indeed a practical, every-day, earnest Christian, loving her church and her kind. In common with many others, she had passed through the fire. Like the blessed, she learned obedience by the things which she suffered. In 1873 she lost her husband, and a sweet, interesting daughter, with yellow fever. Her self a victim of a lingering disease, she suffered much physical pain also. She was always patient, murmuring, complaining. Her religion sustained her to the last. It had been her support in life. It was her stay in sickness and in death. She was assured and confident to the last. No Christian, perhaps, in all the history of the church in this section died more assuredly in sight of heaven. She rests from her labors. She sleeps in Jesus. To the care of her only brother and sister, S. H. McCutcheon, of Shreveport, and Mrs. Haygood, of Texas, she left four interesting children, three sons and one sweet little girl—baby Bettie.

Jesus speaks strongly, lovingly in the dying in such a life, in such a death. Friends will remember the prayer the bereaved brother and sister, and the fatherless and motherless children.

J. P. DAVES.

ALVIN G. TOMPKINS was born in Carroll parish, La., November 1, 1836, and died at the residence of his mother, in Minden, La., November 20, 1877.

Bro. Tompkins spent a large portion of his life in Lake Providence, La., where, doubtless, he is still remembered. When the late war opened he was among the first to go to defense of his own native South. In the army it seems that he enjoyed the confidence of his comrades as a soldier and a noble Christian gentleman. In 1867 he commenced the publication of the Minden Democrat, which paper, and was the senior proprietor at the time of his death.

About 1857 he connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and was known as a good and consistent member to the time of his end.

There is but one voice in this whole community with reference to him—that of regret and sorrow that he was so soon called away.

Doubtless he was ready; and hence we indulge a good hope that he now rests with the sweet by and by." May God our Savior bless the dear mother and the members of the family in their great loss.

At a church meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Minden, December 2, 1877, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst Bro. Alvin G. Tompkins by the agency of death; therefore,

Resolved, That our church here and the community have met with a loss by his decease.

Resolved, That we offer to his dear mother and others of his relatives our deepest sympathies.

Resolved, That these proceedings be published in the Minden Democrat and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

D. B. HAMILTON, M. D.,
WILLIAM HARRIS,
W. J. READY.

MRS. ANNIE MASSEY was born in [illegible] county, Texas, January 19, 1851, departed this life in this city, December 1, 1877, in her twenty-fifth year. In February of [illegible] year she became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and for [illegible] six years was faithful to her vows. Six years in Batesville, Ark., and thirty in this city. She was a faithful and affectionate wife, good mother, a kind neighbor and a consistent Christian. When I knew her, long years ago, she was most cheerful and happy, the light of her home; but for fifteen years or more she was, with short intervals, the suffering victim of some brain affection, producing profound melancholy, and at times distressing tears. Her end was hastened by a terrible disaster. She and her daughter, Miss Marietta, were returning from Shreveport to the city on the steamer Lunas. The steamer took fire. Sister Massey and Miss Marietta escaped through a window into the river. Rising, Miss Marietta caught hold of her mother with one hand, and with the other seized the wheel of the boat, and with the energy of love and desperation held on till they were rescued. Sister Massey was seriously shocked and injured. She never rallied, and after a week fell asleep in the arms of redeeming love. Thank God, the poor racked and nerve-tortured body can find repose in the grave, and the troubled and anxious soul find eternal rest in the home of God! Her loved ones will cherish the memory of her virtues, will feel sure that her troubles are past, and will hope to meet her in the home of the good.

J. B. WALKER.

NEW ORLEANS, La., [illegible].

THE subject of this notice, BRADLEY JOHNSON, was born in Tennessee in 1797, and joined the Methodist Church when young. He was always over fifty years an and over a colored class. He professed His longest was the law of kindness, so endless and gentle were strangers to his He was twice married. He [illegible] Mo[illegible] March 8, 1865, and died in Saint [illegible] February 15, 1875. He moved from Tennessee to [illegible] county, Miss., and raised a large family. About eight years ago he moved with his son to Calhoun county, Miss., where he died in Pontotoc county, October 1877, when he was released by death and went to his home in the skies. We all loved old grandpa, as he was always called, for he served his church well for many years. Gentle and easy of [illegible] and was also a present help in trouble. He was a [illegible] Sabbath school, and at class and prayer meetings. His daily companion, will soon find him good. The void in the family circle can never be filled upon earth, but [illegible] his last hours he was fine in spirits; [illegible] he needed not the death-bed testimony, which we sometimes perhaps attach too much importance to, to the truth of [illegible] grandpa's Master. Church has lost one of her great pillars, not to say one of the brightest lights. We wonder at the grace of God in the [illegible] of so perfect a character, and shudder upon it the foreknowledge and beauty of holiness. He leaves an unblemished name as an inheritance to his family better than riches. His loss will severely be felt by all, but we must all be submissive in the presence of death.

M. C. LOCKE.

HOUSTON, [illegible] Texas, October 3, 1877, of typho-malarial fever, MARY ALEXANDRIA, aged eleven years and six months. Taken sick on his birthday, September 11, he lingered a patient sufferer four weeks. Too young to feel the loss of his father, Rev. R. H. H. Alexander, of the Louisiana Conference, his heart knew naught of sorrow till the death of his grandfather, Dr. H. M. Calley, six months before his own left him doubly bereft of fatherly care.

In January, 1876, he gave his heart to the Lord. He was happily converted while praying in his room. Since then his life and conversation have been such as becometh one professing godliness. Firm and unflinching in the discharge of duty, he always bore testimony to God's gracious dealings with his soul in the class-room and love-feast. He led family prayers. In his last sickness, when spoken to on the subject of death, he calmly replied: "Grandpa, I am not afraid to die. God knows what is best for me, and I am satisfied to leave it all to him. He will do what is best. If I live to be grown I might be a wicked man."

MAMMA.

Happiness is neither within us nor without us—it is the union of ourselves with God.—Pascal.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1878.

ANTICIPATION.

Skirting across the fields of snow
The westering sun makes haste to go;
This day, I know, he tried and sweet—
To-morrow thro' my longing feet.

With many a pause of happy rest
I've hasten'd all the To-day, my guest;
His stronger brother cannot be,
Methinks, in goodly company.

Holding in his mysterious hand
(I feel it, at will bless or blight my land)
Sorry yet longer, fair To-Day,
That feeling step in fear delay.

What songs have told my spirit's cheer,
What sunlight scattered o'er its way!
What dear companions round me hung,
While life and love and hope were young,

These with to-morrow fade apace,
Like seen from a beloved face;
And trusting half, yet half with fear,
I question: "What shall be instead?"

The sun drops deeper, night is chill;
The oracles I seek are still;
Yet herald star which glitters low
Seems beckoning on the way I go.

To-morrow? All that dear delight
Above the path to Hope
Your book of dream must be Closed to-morrow kept for me!

—Harper's Mag.

Gen. Lee in Camp.

In his book on Gen'l R. E. Lee, Col. W. H. Taylor gives the following interesting facts:

During the time that Gen. Lee was in command of the Army of Northern Virginia, he was frequently visited by officers of high rank, who came to consult him on matters connected with the operations of their commands, and to receive his instructions. Sometimes these officers were invited to remain to dinner, and frequently they were asked to spend the night with him. Occasionally, when the General was not engaged in writing, he would, after the cloth was removed, call for a game of cards, and on such occasions he would play with any one who happened to be present. He was not a skilful player, and was apparently indifferent as to the result of the game. He was a good loser, and never showed any chagrin at his defeat, or any elation at his success. He was a fair player, and was always careful and deliberate. He was not a gambler, and never played for money. He was fond of children, and they were always welcome visitors at his tent. He would frequently have them brought to see him, and would converse with them in the most playful manner. He was very fond of dogs, and usually had a number of them about him. He was kind to his servants, and was very much attached to them. He was a good master, and was very much beloved by his servants. He was a good husband, and was very much beloved by his wife. He was a good father, and was very much beloved by his children. He was a good friend, and was very much beloved by his friends. He was a good citizen, and was very much beloved by his fellow citizens. He was a good Christian, and was very much beloved by his fellow Christians. He was a good man, and was very much beloved by his fellow men. He was a good soldier, and was very much beloved by his fellow soldiers. He was a good leader, and was very much beloved by his fellow leaders. He was a good commander, and was very much beloved by his fellow commanders. He was a good general, and was very much beloved by his fellow generals. He was a good officer, and was very much beloved by his fellow officers. He was a good man, and was very much beloved by his fellow men.

These brave men, and decide not only for yourself, but for them." "Yes," he replied, "it would be useless, and therefore cruel, to provoke the further effusion of blood, and I have arranged to meet Gen. Grant with a view to surrender, and wish you to accompany me."

Shortly after this the general, accompanied by Col. Marshall and myself, started back in the direction from which we had come to meet Gen. Grant, as had been arranged.

We continued some distance without meeting any one after passing our lines, but finally came upon a staff officer sent by Gen. Grant's order to say to Gen. Lee that he had been prevented from meeting him at that point, and to request that he would meet him on the other road. Gen. Lee then retraced his steps, and proceeding toward our front in the direction of Appomattox Court-House, dismounted at a convenient place to await Gen. Grant's communication. Very soon a Federal officer, accompanied by one of Gen. Gordon's staff, rode to where Gen. Lee was seated in a small orchard on the roadside. This proved to be Gen. Forsythe, of Gen. Sheridan's staff, who was sent by Gen. Sheridan to say that, as he had doubts as to his authority to recognize the informal truce which had been agreed upon between Gen. Gordon and himself, he desired to communicate with Gen. Meade on the subject, and wished permission to pass through our lines as the shortest route. I was assigned to the duty of escorting Gen. Forsythe through our lines and back. This was scarcely accomplished when Gen. Babcock rode up and announced to Gen. Lee that Gen. Grant was prepared to meet him at the front.

I shrank from this interview; and while I could not then, and cannot now, justify cowardice, I availed myself of the excuse of having taken my orders through the extent of our lines and those of the enemy, which I mentioned, and did not accompany my chief in this trying ordeal.

The scene witnessed upon the return of Gen. Lee was one certain to impress itself indelibly upon the memory. It can be vividly recalled now after the lapse of many years, but no description can do it justice. The men crowded around him eager to shake him by the hand; eyes that had been so often illumined with the fire of patriotism and true courage, that had so often glared with defiance in the heat and fury of battle, and so often kindled with enthusiasm and pride in the hour of success, moistened now; cheeks bronzed by exposure in many campaigns, and oftentimes begrimed with powder and dust, now blanched from deep emotion and suffered the silent tear; tongues that had so often carried assurance to the hearts of the enemy in that indescribable cheer which accompanied "the charge," or that had so often made the air to resound with the pean of victory, refused utterance now; brave hearts failed that had never quailed in the presence of an enemy; but the fervid and silent pressure of the hand told most eloquently of souls filled with admiration, love and tender sympathy for their beloved chief. He essayed to speak them but too full a heart paralyzed his speech; he soon sought a short respite from these trying scenes and retired to his private quarters, that he might, in solitude and quiet communion with his own brave heart, find be still. Thus terminated the career of the Army of Northern Virginia—an army that can never be equalled; but that, in obedience to the orders of its trusted commander, who was himself yielding obedience to the dictates of a pure and lofty sense of duty to his men and hope dependent on them, laid down its arms and furled the standards never lowered in defeat.

Pitt's Precocity.

William Pitt was born on the twenty-eighth of May, 1759. He was the second son of that William Pitt, first Earl of Chatham, who, as the great Commoner, led what the eighty-eighth Congress of the United States of America would not be, backed with the help of presidential edicts, this in fruitless contempt to the service of several campaigns, and it was only in the last years of the war, while the army was around Petersburg, that object-lesson was surreptitiously introduced into the baggage of the headquarters of the army. This disposed for a time the obsolete and obstinate plate; but on resuming "light marching order" at the time of the evacuation of Richmond and Petersburg the china which had been lowered by the spell was restored; the fires were again replenished and the service until the surrender of the army, when they passed into the hands of individuals who now preserve them as memorials of the great commander in the great war. Scarcely less to be admired than his sublime devotion to duty was his unshrinking self-control. General was naturally a passionate person and of strong passions, but it is a mistake to suppose that otherwise; but to hold these in complete subjection to his will and conscience. He was not one of those invariably amiable men whose temper is never ruffled, but when we consider the immense burden which rested upon him, and the number of causes for annoyance with which he had to contend, the wonder is that croppings out of temper which we, who were constantly near him, witnessed, were so few and of such comparatively mild character. One gallant gentleman, who had charge of the commissariat, and who served for the general a table, and when visitors were entertained, as actually occurred, the general shared his blanket with his aid, lying over close to the latter to his guest. His whole service was of the plainest character, and everything connected therewith was subordinate to the one great object of the campaign, and to the unpreparedness and disgust of the subordinates, designated for promotion, could not or would not be satisfied with the help of provisional officers, this in fruition continued to do service for

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. COX,
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Provoking Unto Love and Good Works.

In our associations with Christians this duty has been specially enjoined. Believers are to consider one another to this end. There is a way of provoking our brethren in a bad sense, and one which is in accordance with colloquial use. By harsh and indiscreet methods we may incite in them impatience, ill will, and induce in them greater indifference.

Reproof may sometimes be resorted to, provided we can use it wisely and in love. Reproof, as between brethren, must be made with calmness of spirit, and with that tenderness and respect which are due to our equals and friends. The tone of the rebuke may be more offensive than the rebuke itself, and may express bitterness and harshness, rather than a desire to help and guide the erring. A religious scold may be a good man, but he is not a useful one. We are not to suffer sin upon a brother, and often there is need of great moral courage to deliver our souls, but there is need also of peculiar grace to fit us for this very delicate duty. Timothy was directed to rebuke the Cretians sharply, "that they may be sound in the faith." Ministers and aged persons may sometimes resort to sharpness with young offenders, and with those over whom they have official oversight; but ordinarily, as fellow-disciples, our attitude toward one another must be that of equals, humbly but earnestly concerned for each other's spiritual welfare.

The spirit in which we consider one another may also be wrong. There may be a censorious disposition, a tendency to uncharitable judgment, and the occasion of administering rebuke is rather sought and enjoyed. Sometimes the admonition is given in a general way, and publicly, when it should have been given privately to the only individual to whom it could apply. There is danger of running into the temper and tone of the Pharisee unless we guard well our hearts and our words. Those who are given to habitual and indiscriminate rebuke are apt to gain this pharisaical character in the estimate of the church. If we cannot command the respect and confidence of those whom we would admonish, it will be better to depend upon other expedients. That thoughtful concern for others, which seeks only their good, and leads to self-sacrifice in their behalf, will not often be misconstrued. The reprover, however, must have a character and a manner to enforce his words, and to give them their desired effect. There are many provoking people in the churches—people who test all the grace and patience of the saints by their officious, impertinent and ill-timed efforts to administer rebukes to their brethren. They do not provoke to love and good works.

The way that is open to all is that of example. Love in word and deed will incite others to love. A life that is blameless will preach repentance and reformation to sinners, and it will touch the hearts and consciences of careless professors. The love that spends itself in generous giving, and in laborious, self-denying efforts to advance the cause of Christ, will quicken the slothful, and encourage and cheer the diligent. Here, as everywhere else, actions speak louder than words. The testimony to doctrine and experience is worth little without a life formed upon the gospel pattern. It sometimes happens that a careless soul is waked up and made the recipient of an unwonted blessing. He has the zeal of a reformer, but his witness does not have the weight he feels it ought. He must be content to live his revival for awhile. As a reclaimed backslider, he must not assume to be the teacher of those who have kept on in the right path, and who have kept themselves unspotted from the world. Fickle and unstable souls, inspired with a periodical zeal, and at intervals fired with the ardor of some new and often impracticable enterprise, are not likely to give a healthy stimulant to the life of the church. Steady work, love that never cools, and a pure and consistent conversation, are the elements of power.

Words uttered from a real and true Inspiration, and from a heart imbued with love, are timely and effective. The stirring exhortation comes with a refreshing upon the assembly when it is the overflowing of a warm heart, and when it is enforced by a well-known and holy life. If, however, we would consider one another to provoke unto love and good works, let us look mainly to a deep experience, and to a devoted example, as the means. Without these words are hollow and feeble enough, but with these the lesson needs no words for its enforcement. There is lack of liberality in the church. How shall we incite others to be more generous? Let us give more ourselves. There is negligence in attending the social religious meetings of the church, and in the Sunday school. There is not an aggressive spirit in enlarging the field of activity. What might not be done if all would put their shoulders to the wheel? It is worth considering whether our own consecration and diligence are up to the full standard. At any rate, let us act before we speak, and before we venture to condemn. It is possible to be so provokingly good, so faithful, so unselfish, and so filled with the Spirit, as that others shall be incited to the highest measure of diligence and zeal. Faithfulness has a double blessing—it enriches our own experience and heightens our own reward, while it becomes a source of strength and encouragement to others.

Special Pleading.

The New York Tribune, some time last October, came out in an article against the Louisiana Lottery Company. The article was headed, "Swindling on a Grand Scale." It seems that the company secured the services of Gen. G. T. Beauregard, of New Orleans, and Gen. J. A. Early, of Virginia, to superintend the drawings. The Tribune article has this paragraph:

"These are all well-known gamblers. They succeeded in getting a grant by bribing the Legislature of Louisiana. Since that time all investigations into the manner of obtaining the charter have been stopped by Howard and Morris, by simply buying up the investigators. Recently, it is said, Gens. Beauregard and Jubal Early have been persuaded, at an expense of $10,000 a year, to certify to the correctness of the numbers drawn from the wheel. This is advertised as a guarantee of fairness of the lottery. But persons who know anything about lotteries know that this certification amounts to nothing. The gamblers cheat simply by not putting into the wheel any numbers that draw prizes. If Gens. Beauregard and Early could say that they saw numbers which corresponded to numbers on the tickets sold placed in the wheel, it is thought that their services might be of use. It is known that the tickets sold bear certain combinations of numbers, while the numbers placed in the wheel are entirely different."

Gen. Early, in an article published in the Picayune and other city papers, replies to the charges of the Tribune, claiming that Gen. Beauregard and himself faithfully performed their duty, and that there was no possibility of cheating in the drawing. We do not believe that these gentlemen would countenance fraud knowingly; and whether it was possible for them to prevent it or not, we are willing to concede the sincerity of their convictions that it was. We object to the lottery not because there is cheating in the drawings, but because the institution, if honestly conducted, is corrupting and demoralizing to the people. The following, in Gen. Early's reply, is a remarkable attempt to vindicate what nearly all, who have the moral and industrial welfare of the country at heart, regard as utterly indefensible:

"I am perfectly aware of the fact that it has been charged that the charter of the Louisiana State Lottery Company was procured by bribery; and of the facts I know nothing. It has been charged also that every important act of the Louisiana Legislature passed since the beginning of reconstruction until the inauguration of Gov. Nicholls, including some very necessary laws, has been obtained by bribery not only of the Legislature, but also of the executive. Even the legislation of the United States Congress itself is not free from the suspicion of bribery, as is evidenced by the Credit Mobilier scandal, as well as other scandals of like kind.

"In my own State it has been charged that the funding bill was procured by bribery, and many persons believe the charge; but would the courts be authorized to go behind the act itself to ascertain the mode of its passage in order to declare it void?

"I know that by the terms of its charter the Louisiana State Lottery Company is bound to pay, and does annually pay, into the State treasury $40,000, which is appropriated to one of the noblest charities in America—the Charity Hospital, in New Orleans. I found the company operating under that charter, which has the force of a contract, and under the Constitution of the United States it cannot be interfered with in the prosecution of its business until its charter expires by its own limitation. It was therefore doing no wrong to the public interests or to public morality for Gen. Beauregard and myself to undertake to see that its drawings were conducted with entire fairness and integrity.

"If the lottery business constitutes gambling, so do most of the dealings in stocks, gold, etc., and I imagine few gambling operations can ever prove so disastrous to a people as those which gave title to the famous 'Black Friday.'

"I have had experience enough in life to learn that the propensity for 'taking chances' is so deeply ingrained into all human nature that men and women alike, including some members of the church, and occasionally a minister, will buy lottery tickets; and when they cannot get them in lotteries fairly conducted, they will take their chances in fraudulent gift enterprises and bogus lotteries, where they have no possible show for their money.

"That is to say, if the charter was procured by bribery, and if the managers were capable of resorting to such expedients, the generals are in reputable company because other bills have been passed in Louisiana and elsewhere by the same means. Because bribery has become common in securing legislation, it is a right and reputable thing to give aid and support to a company guilty of this expedient? That $40,000 to be paid annually to the Charity Hospital does not affect the principle on which lotteries are based. It is a tribute exacted of a great gambling institution for a charitable purpose; but it does not make gambling right, nor does it atone for the many evils which the lottery inflicts upon society. The lottery must go on until the charter expires, and, therefore, no wrong is done for these two distinguished Confederate generals to lend their names and indorsement to the detestable business! Because there is gambling in stocks, gold, and the like—gambling more disastrous than in lotteries—therefore the lottery is not to be condemned! If there are some methods of stealing worse than others, do these make any method good? Because there are some kinds of gambling pernicious and disastrous, which the law does not prevent, therefore a company chartered for gambling purposes is every way worthy the support of good men!

"Then 'the propensity for taking chances is so ingrained in all human nature.' As men are prone to evil, instead of trying to check it, it is best to charter institutions to promote and increase it! As people will gamble, it is right to give it legislative sanction, and that men of distinction should commend it! 'Some members of the church, and occasionally a minister, will buy a lottery ticket.' There is an argument indeed! Only some, however, and occasionally a minister. They are confessedly the exceptions. The churches condemn the lottery as a wicked and pernicious thing. Religious people defile themselves when they touch one of its tickets. If it were known that a minister bought one 'occasionally' he would be unfrocked, and his usefulness would be at an end.

"Gen. Early has probably made the best of a bad case, and his shallow sophistries only show how utterly indefensible is the cause he attempts to advocate. Surely, in his hands, the pen is not mightier than the sword. It is to be regretted that for any consideration the honored names of Beauregard and Early should be so sullied as to bring a blush to the cheek of those who have hitherto held them in honor. We would not blot out the record of their gallant and heroic services, but we sorrow over the fact that that record has been prostituted and soiled by their connection with an institution which the great majority of moral and religious men regard as subversive of the general welfare. The object of the Lottery Company in securing their services is manifest to all. Their indorsement is worth many thousands to the company. It needed the support of respectable and illustrious names, and by obtaining this recognition its influence for evil has been greatly enlarged.

"The charge which Gen. Early brings against members of the churches and ministers has, we hope, but slight foundation. The attitude, however, of the churches and ministers toward lotteries should in no case be equivocal. It is the duty of religious men to bear their testimony against all gambling institutions, and to exert their influence to the uttermost for their suppression. We are to seek to overcome the gambling propensity even as we seek to overcome all vicious propensities. The voice of the religious press and of the pulpit should be pronounced and persistent against this lottery business as one of the greatest curses that rests upon the community and the State.

Nothing New.

We see little reason in the temporary sensation which Mr. Beecher's recently-expressed views on future punishment have produced. He is evidently on the threadbare line of the restorationists. He has gone over to them, and brings them no new ideas—no additional arguments. In his sermon, published in the Christian Union, he says:

If, now, you tell me that this great mass of men, because they had not the knowledge of God, went to heaven, I say that the inroad of such a vast amount of mud swept into heaven would be destructive of its purity; and I cannot accept that view. If, on the other hand, you say that they went to hell, then you make an infidel of me; for I do swear, by the Lord Jesus Christ—by his groans, by his tears, and by the wounds in his hands and in his side—that I will never let go of the truth that the nature of God is to suffer for others rather than to make them suffer. If I lose everything else, I will stand on the sovereign idea that God so loved the world that he gave his own Son to die for it rather than it should die. Tell me that back of Christ there is a God who for unnumbered centuries has gone on creating men, and sweeping them like dead flies—nay, like living ones—into hell, is to ask me to worship a being as much worse than the conception of any medieval devil as can be imagined; but I will not worship the devil, though he should come dressed in royal robes, and sit on the throne of Jehovah. I will not worship cruelty. I will worship Love—that sacrifices itself for the good of those that err, and that is as patient with them as a mother is with a sick child. With every power of my being will I worship a God of love such as that.

The following paragraph contains the gist of the whole sermon, and the substance of its teachings:

Either God does not exist, or he has not the power, as Mill says he has not, to do what he pleases, or else infinite benevolence has a wider, larger, grander scope than we are accustomed to imagine. If we look at the phenomenon of suffering from the earthly point of view, and with the limitation of our faculties, and from our limited knowledge of moral uses and ways, darkness and doubt are not only extremely natural, but inevitable. But if it is true that all this vast multitude of human creatures are in the garden of the Lord, and that they are being treated according to their various conditions, and that they are to have some chances besides those which they have on earth, that they are to go up through other schools than those of time, then the whole aspect of the case is changed. That which makes the dealing to which the race are subjected so hard to bear is not that some men are ignorant (we are all ignorant), or that they are limited (we are all limited), but that they are seemingly neglected, and are denied such opportunities as we enjoy. It is this that makes the phenomenon of the world such as to stagger strong men, and make impossible, to many, faith in the loving, self-sacrificing nature of God. Take away the doctrine of the duality of things at death, conceive a final end to be accomplished by all this misery in the universe, and that it will be so transcendent that when you come to see the outcome of it all the foregoing suffering will be seen to have been insignificant—not worthy to be compared with the eternal weight of glory produced by it—and the trouble ceases.

One perplexing problem in Mr. Beecher's mind is the disposal of those who had not, and of those who have not the light of revelation. It is a sufficient answer that they have some light, that the Holy Spirit has ever been in the world, and striving with man, and that the use and improvement of the light given is all that God requires. The chance of the heathen for salvation may not be so good as ours, but a chance is given him nevertheless. He is only responsible for his opportunities, and for the measure of grace bestowed. By this law of equity and mercy he will be judged. Mr. Beecher thinks there are people too good for hell and not good enough for heaven. But there are degrees in glory, and also in the perdition of the ungodly. If we cannot draw the line of demarkation, the infinite Judge can and will. No mind will be swept into heaven, and no pure gold will drop into hell.

Mr. Beecher would simply take away the doctrine of the duality of things at death, and then there will be a probation of such character and extent as will vindicate the divine goodness, and, as we infer, will result in the final salvation of all. That he believes that this after-death probation will bring about the salvation of all is not very clearly expressed. But we may fairly conclude that this is his belief. He evidently thinks that God has the power to do what he pleases, and that the salvation of the human race is a work of power. God has the power, and he will use it to this end. But will he? Will he impinge upon man's freedom, and destroy it in order to save him? Can the will be forced without destroying the moral nature, and can power, exerted in the way of punishment, or otherwise, inevitably secure holiness? If under the very best conditions of gospel light there is a failure to reform and save men here, is it certain, or even probable, that a future probation would turn out any better? Is the present probation so imperfect that it must be supplemented by another? We have no warrant for such a supposition in the Bible, and if we were left to believe what we choose about it, it does not commend itself to our reason. We suspect that Mr. Beecher's present views have been reached by a recoil from the convictions of his early theological training. He is still a necessitarian, but holding to a necessity that damns none and saves all. The more reasonable and scriptural apprehension of the subject is: that man is free and accountable; that with whatever differences there may be in the light given, all may be saved if they will, and that the abuse and neglect of the present opportunity will end in the soul's irretrievable ruin. Never could language be more misleading and false than that of Christ and his apostles if there be no everlasting punishment for the finally impenitent.

Incidents of Travel.

MR. EDITOR: On the fourth of December, 1877, we left home to attend the thirty-second session of the Louisiana Annual Conference, which was to meet on the twelfth instant.

We had the choice either to go round by the way of New Orleans, or by Galveston, Texas, at a cost of $35 or $40, or to take the overland route, a distance of 175 miles, the latter of which we decided upon. Matching horses with the Rev. J. B. Cassity, a genial traveling companion, we set off in good style. This way lies mostly through a dense long-leaf pine forest. We have no means of making an estimate, but it seems to us that there is enough pine timber in Louisiana alone to fence up all the prairies in Texas, or to furnish the world with turpentine the balance of its existence. There is a great deal of land on the creeks and bayous which is productive, and on which any man of industry and energy can dig up a good living. The country generally is thinly settled. Sometimes you may travel 10 or 15 miles without seeing a house. Our route lay from 15 to 20 miles south and west of the projected railroad from Alexandria to Mansfield, which is under contract, and the State hands at work on it. But it is an amazing fact that many of these people are actually opposed to having a railroad—not only opposed to being taxed to pay for it, but opposed to it in toto. We were curious to know why. "Well," one said, "it will bring immigration into the country, and we don't want to be crowded." Just think of being crowded, and ten miles between houses! "Again, freights on railroads are so extravagant." Think of that, when, as it is, they have to haul from 20 to 60 miles, then pay any price for freights, and then wait from two weeks to months to get market returns! "Again, railroads bring diseases into the country; and again, railroads bring rats, which will be a pest to the country." But what can be expected of a people who to this day contend in your face that the sun revolves around the earth? We believe that nothing would facilitate the development of this region of country, physically and morally, more than an agent to travel through it in the interest of railroads, agriculture, immigration and education. Immigrants are passing over this inviting country every year by the thousands to go to the prairies of Texas, to perish for wood and water, while here they have abundance of both.

We got to Opelousas, the site of the Conference, on Monday, and had Monday evening and Tuesday to look round. We were there thirty-one years ago at the organization of the Louisiana Annual Conference. Of the place we could recognize the appearance of nothing save the prairie upon which the town stands. Since we were there a whole generation has passed away, which, according to common estimate, amounts to 10,000,000,000 of human beings. Of the preachers there, we recognized only two who were there at the first Conference, viz.: L. A. Reed and A. E. Goodwyn. Bro. Reed shows signs of age, but his religion is fresh and glowing. Goodwyn we remember as a stripling—a boy. We asked him if he remembered the bouquet he had in his hand in the Conference-room thirty-one years ago! He said: "Do you remember the leggins, spurs and saddlebags you let me have thirty-one years ago?" We were sent to Andrew chapel, in New Orleans, and he to a circuit, and we turned over to him our outfit—horse and all. By the by, there is no record in the minutes of Andrew chapel, or of our appointment for that year. Will the editor of books, in the next edition, fill that vacancy?

Since that day Goodwyn and I have met every year at the Conference sessions save one. Now he has developed into the full-orbed, ruddy, silver-locked, venerable minister of Christ. He transfers to Texas Conference, and we bespeak for our life-long friend a warm reception into the hearts of his adopted people. Here, at the first Conference, we met with T. O. Summers, a young-looking man with spectacles. The most we remember of him was at the missionary meeting. After several speakers, who took up a good deal of time in apologizing for not being prepared for the occasion, he was called out, and said he might "not be prepared, but if he was not he would not do as his brethren—publish his own disgrace by telling it."

Opelousas is peculiar for its Creole population and its Creole ponies. There seems to be but little change in its population, either in habits or place. The ponies are almost as numerous as Pharaoh's frogs. They look alike, are gated alike, and seem to be in the same state—neither poor nor fat—and always ready for service. Bishop Keener drove two of them all over the western division of the Confederacy during the war, kept ahead of the Federal army, and then, I believe, at the break-up sold them for a good price. Here we made the acquaintance of Dr. Foster, of Honduras memory, and so well known to the preachers of the Louisiana Conference. He reminded us, in his kindness to the preachers, of Dr. C. G. Young, of precious memory to the older members of this Conference. We were his guest during the Conference, and feel greatly endeared to the kind family. On Monday, at one P. M., the preachers received their appointments, we believe, with general satisfaction—ours a thirty-fifth appointment from Annual Conferences. On Tuesday morning we bid kind friends good-by and left for home. Four days and a half and we are at home again. Thanks to a kind Providence for health and safety!

By the constant recurring events witnessed in traveling, and the excitement incident to Conference-going, we had forgotten that we would be numbered among the aged; till one night at supper, when we asked the lady for a glass of milk, her husband said: "May be the old gentleman would like to have some cream with it?" The old gentleman!—must we bear the epithet? Only the other day, a boy—a child! However, such is the fate of all. The infirmities of age are upon us too often before we are ready for them.

J. P.

MANSFIELD, LA., Dec. 23, 1877.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.—The regular quarterly meeting of the New Orleans Methodist Sunday School Union will be held at the Carondelet Street church on Tuesday night, January 15, at seven o'clock. The public are invited to attend. Rev. Dr. Ahrens will deliver the address. The proceedings will be of interest, and we hope to see a large gathering of our Sunday school workers, and of all who are interested in the Sunday school cause.

We learn from the Western Methodist that Rev. Amos B. Jones, of the Memphis Conference, has been transferred to the Pacific Conference and appointed to St. Paul's station, San Francisco.

The same paper brings us the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. T. K. B. McSpadden, of the Indian Mission Conference. He died of pneumonia, at his residence near Park Hill, December 18.

We are glad to learn by a recent letter from Bishop Paine that he had quite recovered from the fatigue of his late trip and Conference labors, and that he was enjoying a cheerful and happy new year. May there be many such in store for him before he is called to enter his Master's joy.

We are under obligations to Rev. Dr. Ahrens for a copy of the minutes of the late session of the German Mission Conference. It is a very handsomely printed pamphlet of twenty pages. As it is all in German, we are compelled to limit our criticism to the outward appearance, which is altogether satisfactory.

To consolidate and methodize and complete what has been most successfully begun in former years—to turn theory into practice, to attack with vigor the great task of life, to cast out old evils, and by grace to exhibit a holy character—these are the duties of him who is growing old. The whole prospect is deeply serious, though it need not be alarming.—J. W. Alexander.

Ah, let a man beware when his wishes, fulfilled, rain down upon him, and so he is supremely blest!—Ebuque.

Books and Periodicals.

AROUND THE WORLD. By the Rev. E. R. Hendrix, A. M. With an introduction by the Rev. Bishop Marvin. Nashville, Tenn.: A. H. Redford. St. Louis, Mo.: L. D. Dameron, 1878.

The title describes the tour. It was literally around the world—starting from Missouri westward, and reaching the same point from the east after an absence of ten months and three days. Less than three months of this time would suffice for the mere travel, so that, as the author says, "we had over seven months for a somewhat careful though rapid survey of the field, aside from the general knowledge which comes from hurried travel through a country." A brief introduction of three pages is from the pen of Bishop Marvin, in which the reader will recognize the thought and style of the beloved and lamented writer. The volume closes with a discriminating, affectionate and beautiful tribute to the Bishop's memory. The letters of Mr. Hendrix were published in the St. Louis Christian Advocate, and had many admiring readers. They will be among the first to procure them in their present book form, and we trust that thousands who did not have access to them when originally published will secure a copy at once. The letters are well written, judgment and taste are exhibited in leaving out the commonplace incidents, and in relating only what is really entertaining and instructive. Mr. Hendrix has a good eye, he saw much that other tourists seem to have overlooked, and he tells us what he saw in simple and graphic style. Japan, China, India, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, France, England, are described as they are, and as they appear to-day. A very important and valuable feature of the work is that it gives special attention to the religious condition of these countries, and is particularly full and satisfactory in regard to Christian missions. We have read these letters with great pleasure and profit, and we would most earnestly commend the book to all. Our Sunday school libraries cannot be replenished by anything that will be more eagerly read, nor by anything more edifying. The letters of Bishop Marvin, now about to be issued, go over much of the same ground, and describe the same scenes; but the two tourists saw things and describe them independently of each other, and many things in one work will not be found in the other. Reading one will only heighten our interest in the other. We should be glad to have both volumes, to be read consecutively, and for purposes of reference and parallel reading. Around the World is a handsomely bound vol. of 508 pages. Price, $2. For sale by our Publishing House, Nashville, and by L. D. Dameron, St. Louis.

—Scribner's Monthly, volumes I. to , from November, 1876, to October, 7—Scribner & Co., New York. We have received from the publishers these two handsomely bound volumes of Scribner's Monthly. Each volume contains nearly nine hundred octavo pages, and makes a work of permanent value. These bound volumes are a rich treasury of choice literature, of art, science, discovery, oral history, and of discussions of the living questions of the day. The illustrations are very numerous, well executed, and add greatly to the attractiveness and value of the work. The editor of Scribner, Dr. J. G. Holland, is a man of genius, a spirited writer, and guided by an earnest and pure moral purpose.

—The Sunday School Times Scholars' Quarterly, first quarter, 1878, has been received. The publishers say: "The Scholars' Quarterly issued every three months from the office of the Sunday School Times has been greatly improved. Each number during the year will contain a handsome colored map, and a choice Order of Services," in addition to its other attractive features which have heretofore made it so popular. Price, 25 cents a year. John D. Wattles, publisher, 610 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

—The London Quarterly, October, 1877—republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York—has the following articles: 1. Memoirs of Odilon-Barrot. 2. History of the Mongols. 3. Casarism, Communism, Socialism—The Three Extreme Ideals. 4. Carriage Roads and Coaches. 5. Cotemporary Italian Poets. 6. The Lobster, Crab and Oyster Fisheries. 7. Alfred Austin's Poems. 8. The New Republic and Modern Philosophers. 9. Ordination and Confession. 10. The Liberal Party and Foreign Politics.

—Messrs. H. O. Houghton & Co., of Boston, publishers of the Atlantic Monthly, have just issued a fine full-size portrait of Whittier, the Quaker poet. The price of the portrait to all subscribers or purchasers of the Atlantic Monthly is but $1, and the picture, which is of unusual excellence and finish, is the work of Mr. J. E. Baker, one of the best crayon artists in the country. We are indebted to the publishers for a copy of this very superior picture.

—The National Repository for January, 1878, contains a well-executed engraving of Bishop Janes. The articles are: Christmas Tide, Illustrated; The Christmas Bells, Illustrated; Women of the Orient, Illustrated; Among the Thorns; The Pre-Christian Cross, Illustrated; German Methodism Before the Days of Wesley; A Chance Resemblance; The Story of Paradise; A Song Cluster; Editorial Miscellany. This is a very superior number of the National.

—The Galaxy for January, 1878, has: Paris Revisited; The Defeat of Justice; A Foreign Affair; The Bishop's Flagons at Monte Flascone; Hook, Thackeray and Dickens; The French Enchantress; Queen Esther; Ancient Swearing; Ariadne; A Legend of the White Horse; Duplication in Literature; Salome's Mistakes; Charlotte Cushman; Americanisms; Negro Labor in Virginia; Poetry in India; Driftwood; Scientific Miscellany; Current Literature; Nebulæ.

—St. Nicholas for January, 1878, is rich in good things. It was never more beautifully and profusely illustrated. Among a great many fine articles we note: The Ravens and the Angels; How Kitty Got Her New Hat; The Arms of Great Britain; A Letter to American Boys; The King and the Three Travelers; How to Make an Ice-Boat; Debby's Christmas; The Coolest Man in Russia.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL FOR JANUARY, 1878.—Up Among the Spiders is an article of great interest, telling how the great bridge between New York and Brooklyn is built. There are sixteen illustrations connected with this article. Among other articles of interest we note: Christmas in Wales; Lost on an Iceland Moor; Beethoven's Fifth Symphony; A Remarkable Beach.

Jesus must be Savior before he can be Friend; he must give the new nature that will be in unison with his own. Behold, he stands at the door and knocks. Admit him, and his entrance will transform your twilight life into joyous morn, and you will find that the winter is past, that the time of singing of birds is come, and all your life shall be festival.

MARRIED.

SWAYZE-TATE.—By the Rev. J. H. Shelton, at the residence of the bride's mother, on the twentieth of December, 1877, Mr. William H. Swayze to Miss Sue Tate, all of Hinds county, Miss.

SWAYZE—ROBERTS.—At the residence of Dr. Burwell, in Holmes county, Miss., by the Rev. J. H. Shelton, on the twenty-eighth of December, 1877, Mr. S. L. Swayze to Miss S. P. Roberts.

FAUNT LEROY—MURPHY.—By Rev. J. A. Parker, at Magnolia, Ark., December 24, 1877, Rev. T. K. Faunt LeRoy, of Plaquemine, Louisiana Conference, and Mrs. Eliza H. Morgan, of Magnolia, Ark.

BURNHAM—TAYLOR.—By Rev. Thomas J. Upton, at the residence of the bride's father, in Haynesville, La., December 13, 1877, Mr. D. S. Burnham to Miss Mittie Taylor, both of Claiborne parish, La.

WILLETT—WHITE.—By the same, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John M. W. White, December 23, 1877, Mr. J. K. Willett to Miss Mollie L. White, both of Claiborne parish, La.

KIRKPATRICK—CAPP.—By the same, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John M. W. Capp, December 23, 1877, Mr. J. T. Kirkpatrick to Miss Sarah E. Capp, both of Claiborne parish, La.

Publisher's Department.

SOUTHERN BANK.—This Statement, which is a condition, at our solicitation for officers some months ago, returned the former president, Thomas Layton, Esq., to the position he has so long occupied with honor to himself and credit to the bank. A semi-annual dividend of four per cent. has been declared, payable on the 10th instant.

STEAM ENGINES.—All persons wanting engines or machinery can find a full supply at R. J. Wyatt's, No. 115 Magazine street. He has secured one of Baxter's cane mills, and those of his readers who want cisterns or carpenter work done, call and see him, and you will go and tell others to.

OTTLEY.—Dr. Pope, one of the most eminent physicians of this country, and ex-professor of the University of Louisiana, having retired from his recent illness, is again at his office, where his old patients can find him ready for his regular hours.

JOHN FRANK & Co., dealers in leather and shoe findings, 12 Poydras street, have a card on this page. This firm is entirely reliable, and one of the best we know of in this city. Those interested should make a note of the above facts.

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK COMPANY.—Read the advertisement of the above reliable company, and call and see Mr. A. Roy, the resident agent, who will be glad to give any information respecting these popular safes.

GUNS, RIFLES AND PISTOLS.—There is no better place to get anything in the above line than at A. Rhodes', 55 St. Charles street. He keeps a full supply of everything in the breech-loading line. Call and see him.

THE statement of the New Orleans National Bank is published in our paper today. The statement shows a good condition of the business of the bank, which will be gratifying to the stockholders.

ANY ONE in need of good wall paper at low prices will do well to mind the card on this page of Mrs. Henry Habert. This store is well known here as a good and reliable establishment.

M. H. APPLEGATE, the plumber, at 130 Poydras street, is fully prepared to do all kinds of work in his line at reasonable prices, and guarantees satisfaction. See his advertisement.

THE advertisement of W. C. Shepard & Co., crockery dealers, will be seen on this page. This firm has been established here for a number of years, and is considered one of the best in the city. We have had occasion very frequently to purchase from this house, and have never had any reason to complain of them. Orders will receive prompt attention, and our friends can rely upon getting their money's worth in purchases from this house.

THE air of perfection, cleanliness and home-like comfort which is so apparent at the American House, Boston, is one of the characteristic features of that well regulated establishment. To those disposed to economize this popular hotel offers an opportunity seldom found at so thoroughly a first class house, having reduced its rates to $3 and $4 per day.

EUREKA YEAST POWDER.—A superior article. Try it. See Rev. P. M. Goodwyn's card.

SWEETLY SCENTED.

Experience tells us that a sweet and delicate odor renders a person of the plainest features agreeable and attractive. A delightful odor from a lady or gentleman is always admired, and Dr. Price's Alkali Bouquet, Concealed Delight or Floral Riches will make all sweetly scented.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE utmost reliance can be placed on DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC, both as to its innocent nature and its curative properties. For sale by all druggists.

AN ARTICLE of such genuine merit as DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC soon makes itself known by the work it does. For sale by all druggists.

A SUCCESSFUL PAPER.—The Youth's Companion, of Boston, is one of the most enterprising sheets in the country. It has twice the circulation of any similar publication, and unquestionably merits its success.

COLDEN'S LIEBIG'S LIQUID EXTRACT OF BEEF AND TONIC INVIGORATOR regulates the bowels, tones the stomach, strengthens the nerves, inducing bright intellect, and joyous, vigorous health. J. L. Lyons, agent, New Orleans.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wilbert's Anti-Periodic for Fever and Ague Basic, is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Finlay & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician, at 40 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. (who has paid much attention to nervous diseases), has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, either, bilious, dyspeptic, nervous or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are ordering by mail. He prepares it in pills at 50 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, or stop pores, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 617 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Girardi Hotel).

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS, Stone China TEA SETS, Decorated CHAMBER SETS, Rose French China DINNER SETS, Gold Band China TEA SETS, Table TUMBLERS, Table GOBLETS, } WHITE For PRICES

W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

SOUTHERN BANK.

NEW ORLEANS, JAN. 2, 1878.

A FINAL dividend of four per cent. on the capital stock of this Bank has been declared, payable on the 10th instant, under the following act, to wit:

THOMAS LAYTON,
WM. J. C. CLAIBORNE,
THOMAS JOHNSON,
ROBERT MOORE,
H. H. STANLEY,
WM. C. C. CLAIBORNE, JR.

And all the members of the Board of Directors, this day, THOMAS LAYTON, President, was unanimously re-elected.

C. GARR, Cashier.

SOUTHERN BANK, NEW ORLEANS, JANUARY 1, 1878.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors, the usual semi-annual dividend of FOUR PER CENT. was declared payable on the 10th instant.

J. GARR, Cashier.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO. BELLS

Church, School, Fire alarm, Tube-bond, low price, warranted. Catalogue with testimonials, prices, etc., sent free. Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O. eow

CHEAP WALL PAPER.

WIDOW HY. HABERT,

Successor to P. Deleroux, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

MARKET GARDENERS,

SEND FOR

Root's Garden Manual for 1878.

Full of instruction on Gardening topics, and price list of CHOICE SEEDS; sent for 10c., allowed on first order for Seeds. Address J. H. ROOT, Rockford, Ill.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,

IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN

LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,

TOOLS, OILS, ETC.

And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,

No. 12 Poydras St., New Orleans.

WANTED—By a lady of experience, and an old resident of this city, a position as HOUSEKEEPER or TEACHER in a private school. Is fully competent to teach English and Music. Good references furnished. Address L. M. N., care ADVOCATE office, New Orleans.

T. W. ROTHICK,

UNDERTAKER,

271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Embalming and Disinterring Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A. BALDWIN, President. JESSE K. BELL, Vice President.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF

The New Orleans National Bank,

DECEMBER 31, 1877.

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$200,000 00
Surplus fund	25,000 00
Undivided profits	7,855 81
Circulation outstanding	179,000 00
Dividends unpaid	9,700 00
Deposits	613,120 72
Due to banks and bankers	25,342 58
Total	$1,050,923 31

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$161,139 77
United States bonds	200,000 00
Premiums on United States bonds	3,000 00
Due from banks and bankers	18,810 52
Furniture and fixtures	2,000 00
Cash	311,972 05
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer	9,000 00
Total	$1,050,923 31

I certify the above statement is correct.
WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE SUNSHINE OF SONG.

A bright and sunny collection of New Songs, Ballads, and Songs with Choruses, and with Piano or Reed Organ accompaniment. A book quite American in character, with our own popular composers, and the class of Songs that are the greatest favorites.

Uniform in style, binding and price with the "World of Song," "Gems of English Song," and others of the "Library" series, and costs in Boards, $2.50; Cloth, $3; Fine Gilt, $4.

THE CLUSTER OF GEMS.

This is a valuable collection of pieces of a somewhat advanced character as to difficulty, and is suited to the tastes of advanced players. There are 288 pages, sheet-music size, and the pieces, which average about 3 pages each, are by Jaell, Spindler, Von Bulow, Lichner, Rubenstein, Ascher, Oesten, and other celebrities, Uniform in style, price and binding with the "Sunshine," described above, and with the 27 other books of the famous "Library" series.

In Boards, $2.50; Cloth, $3; Fine Gilt, $4.

For sale at all the principal music stores. Will also be mailed, post free, to any address, for the retail price. Change may be sent in postage stamps.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

French Millinery,
Berlin Zephyr Worsted,
AND
DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL.

Begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well known to this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

☞ WHOEVER ☜

Appreciates Honest Dealing!

Will do well to call at

S. EHRLICH'S

CLOTHING HOUSE

21 St. Charles St., New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to.

Winona District High School,

BLACK HAWK, MISS.

SPRING TERM opens on Monday, JANUARY 7th and closes June 11, 1878.

$88 50 will pay all necessary expenses in the Collegiate Department. Terms: One-half payable in advance, one half at the close of the term.

The loss sustained by the burning of the building will partially embarrass the Trustees in the erection of a new building, but they hope to be able to open the Spring Term in a comfortable house.

We heartily recommend this institution as worthy of your support.—Report of Trustees Conference Education.

For further information address
E. W. TARRANT, President.

LADIES' HAIR STORE
AND
FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159 ..... CANAL ST. 159

Keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair (in all shades and colors), of all sizes and qualities. Jewelry, Latest Combs and Hair Ornaments, etc., made up in all qualities of goods and at the newest styles. A choice assortment of Puffs. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented, he will refund the money immediately.

TO HAVE GOOD HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE KEPT IN ORDER.

For Pamphlet, address DR. SANFORD, New York. eow

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.,

AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 3p

J. F. BOURBACHER,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

237 ..... CAMP STREET 237

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best manufacturers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's home-made Congress Boots at $4.50.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

WANTED.

AT LIND GROVE, La., a TEACHER to take charge of a school of fifteen or twenty pupils. A lady preferred, and one who could teach Music. Address DR. L. N. RENWICK, Lind Grove, La.

50 Elegant Mixed Cards, with name, 15c. Agent's outfit, 10c. BEAVY BROS., Northford, Ct. eow

$200 a month. Agents wanted to represent Child & Pratt, Chi'g'o, Ill. eow

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPERIOR

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoulas St.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT,

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—[illegible] $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Japan, Assam, Mandarin and Paper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO	30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA	35c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on the Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 25 cents extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.
PATENTED APRIL 25 1876.
MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot, and comes from the toughest cocoon, with unbroken & properties intact, and are so prepared as to render them damp proof; and for Rheumatism and Cold Feet are a sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pairs sent to any address, by mail, on receipt of 75 cents. In ordering state size, and whether for lady or gent. enclose S. TUTTLE & SONS, 323 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Imported Embossed SCRAP PICTURES,

REPRESENTING JAPANESE MEN and WOMEN, BIRDS, BUTTERFLIES, FLOWERS, ANIMALS, CHILDREN; in fact every conceivable object for embellishing SCRAP BOOKS, CHINA and GLASSWARE ORNAMENTS, ALBUMS, and numerous other articles. These pictures are especially adapted for Pottery Work, the Japanese figures being expressly made to imitate those on the imported China and Japan goods which bring such high prices at auction in this city. These Embossed pictures are far superior to the popular decalcomanie. We will send a package containing 50 pictures of assorted sizes for 25 cents, or 100 extra large for $1. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment. (5p) J. T. ELLIOTT & CO., 306 Broadway, N. Y.

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1865.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2 00 to $—
MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.
MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a suit.
FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set (Cape and Muff) to $25.
Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $—.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and gives the prices of every article in it. Will be mailed free on application.

TOYS! THE LINE TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

Which will assist you in making select ons for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

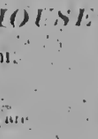
The wages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parcels, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the prices. Call or send your order for either article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.



Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Lapelace's Indian Tuenip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street, Mobile depot—Dillon & Co., 20 Water St., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 5p

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.

A. BONNET. WM. PRANTE. HENRY OPITZ.

A. BONNET & CO.,

DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,

NO. 65 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

WHEELER & FIRMSON,

Successors to Pierson & Hess

NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,

Opposite the City Hotel,

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE

Published by Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York.

The third volume of this the cheapest and most attractive magazine for Sunday reading in the world, commences with the January number. Each number contains 128 quarto pages, and contains as many engravings as pages. The leading periodicals, secular from Scripture history, travel, invention, science, and especially a variety of interesting subjects of the first consideration, by the most interesting writers of the day, written with a view to combine amusement with valuable information. Its Temperance work is unique and distinctive. It includes serial stories, incidents of travel, descriptive articles, sketches, etc., and affords an inexhaustible source of entertainment for the Sunday fireside. Now is the time to subscribe. The January number has a striking picture of Brigham Young. Terms, $4 a year or 25 cents per number. Address FRANK LESLIE'S PUBLISHING HOUSE, 7 Pearl street, New York.

Marder, Luse & Co.
TYPE FOUNDERS,
CHICAGO,

Type [illegible]

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK.

No. 592 Magazine Street,

Bet. your Esplanade and Adams.

MY Extensive Warerooms of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS have been [illegible] during the Holidays, and are now filled with the choicest and most desirable goods, to suit the comfort and economy of Ladies, Gentlemen, Misses and Children.

Goods, consisting of the latest styles of the trade, can always be found at my store. Orders by mail promptly executed. Goods sent by express to any part of the country. Having the largest assortment of this character of goods in the city, I am enabled to sell at wholesale and retail at New York prices.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools, most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK A SPECIALTY, and when for this branch of my business will be found unsurpassed in workmanship and perfection of fit, and now before the public, I am prepared to defy competition.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see his friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and low prices shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY TRADE SOLICITED.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,
Manufacturer and Dealer.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

SALESMEN WANTED $125 A Month and Expenses selling our NEW AND STAPLE FAMILY GOODS. Send 3c. STAMP for particulars. E. TOWLE & CO., Boston, Mass. GOODS

HARTE'S NEHGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by
FREDERICKSON & HARTE,
137 Canal street.
5p

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month. Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1.50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement.

Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.

Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. G. GARNER, 87 Magazine, between Sixth and Seventh sts.

Pianos for rent at $5 a month.

Farm, Garden and Household.

BEES.—SWARMING.

When a swarm issues from a hive it is generally the cause of some excitement. This is not necessary. Have your apiary located near the house, so that the home folks can see when a swarm is coming out, but don't let them call all hands, and ring bells and gongs, like the Chinese in battle. Go quietly among them watch them, and when you see them near a place you would like them to settle, or they show signs of going away, pick up a handful of fine dirt and throw among them, or throw among them the sun-rays from a looking-glass. Throwing fine dirt will generally settle them. If they settle on the end of a limb of a tree shake them down on a spread sheet, on which the hive is placed. Brush some in to start them, and they will soon all go in. Should they settle on the trunk of a tree, or a thick limb, don't cut the tree or limb off, but place your hive convenient. Get a flat oyster can, and bend one side of it to fit; push the can up among the bees till it is filled, then empty it in front of the hive. Continue to do so till all are in. My wife carried a swarm of bees three hundred yards to a hive in this manner. After the bees are hived give plenty of ventilation until night, then close up. "Why, you talk as if bees do not sting," I hear some one say. I always wear a veil to protect my face. When bees are full of honey they will not sting, unless you pinch or bruise them. If you smell of whisky or tobacco I'll not be responsible for them, or you, as they hate bad odors. Move quietly among them—no quick movements. When brushing them into the hive use a feather or bunch of broom-straw.—Vindicator.

MILKING BY MACHINERY.—The East Texas Baptist has the following on this subject:

"An intelligent inventor has recently patented a cow-milking machine. The apparatus consists essentially of a glass globe, large enough to hold an average yield of milk which is connected by means of a flexible tube with an air pipe. Rising from the top of the globe are small pipes with metal lips. The mode of operation consists in suspending the globe underneath the animal to be milked, and inserting the tips of the small tubes into the teats. A partial vacuum is then effected inside the globe by means of the air-pump, and the milk is thus drawn forth. The advantages claimed by the inventor are that it prevents any loss of milk through spilling, and prevents entrance of dirt. Finally, it can be easily manipulated by anybody.

DRIED EGGS.—One of the novelties among the useful arts is that of drying eggs. An establishment of this sort is in full operation in St. Louis. The eggs are carefully "candled" by hand—that is, examined by light to ascertain whether good or not—and are then thrown into an immense receptacle, where they are broken, and by a centrifugal operation the whites and yolk are separated from the shell, very much as liquid honey is separated from the comb. The liquid is then dried by heat, by patent process and the dried article is left resembling sugar, and it is put in barrels and ready for transportation any where. This dried article has been taken twice across the equator in ships, and then made into omelet and compared with omelet made from fresh eggs in the same manner and the best judges could not detect the difference between the two.

Two deaf mutes were married in Binghamton. They will have one advantage in married life—neither can insist upon having the last word.

HOW ARE WE TO KNOW?

Dealers say: How are we to know that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is unadulterated? Know it because it always gives satisfaction and other kinds frequently do not. Know it because it contains more strength and is of more value to the consumer. If consumers knew the character of cheap baking powders, very few would use them.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham.

NOS. 81 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 DECATUR ST., NEW ORLEANS.

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade, and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh ground daily.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN, middlings for Feed constantly on hand at lowest market rate.

Highest Cash price paid for WHEAT.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

PRYTANIA STREET, CORNER URANIA,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal Street. For further information address

DUC G. BROTT, Principal.

P. O. Box 25, New Orleans, La.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.

153 ..... Camp Street 151

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article sold. No deviation.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin mounted on the best Rotary Hangings for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Public Squares, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 & 104 E. Second St., Cincinnati, O.

MEDICAL.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic, Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Acute, Chronic, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers, Internal or External Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Summer or Bilious Complaints, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Nausea, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pain in the Back or Limbs, Female Irregularities, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Loss of Appetite, Debility, Etc.

Takes quiet the feverishness of the body. Takes away the weak and nervous feeling. Equalizes the circulation of the blood. Removes all impurities. Acts on the liver, kidneys and skin. Purifies the blood. Gives a healthy appetite. Restores the complexion to its natural color. Makes the weak strong. Gives new life and energy to the whole system. Prevents Chills, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Yellow Fever, Dengue Fever, Scarlet Fever, Typhoid Fever, Typhus Fever, Spotted Fever, Remittent Fever, Intermittent Fever, Congestive Fever, Pneumonia, Inflammation of the Lungs, Consumption, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Kidney Complaint, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Mercurial Disease, Blood Poisoning, Piles, Fistula, Ulcers, Sores, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, Irregularities, Suppressions, Prolapsus, Falling of the Womb, Hysteria, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Sterility, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Diabetes, Dropsy of the Heart, Palpitation of the Heart, Pleurisy, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Quinsy, Diphtheria, Scarlatina, Measles, Rose Cold, Hay Fever, Mumps, Chicken Pox, Small Pox, Erysipelas, Canker, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Sick Stomach, Vomiting, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Sciatica, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Kidney Complaint, Dropsy, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Inflammation of the Bladder, Urinary Diseases, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Bilious Fever, Scarlet Fever, Yellow Fever, Typhoid Fever, Typhus Fever, Spotted Fever, Remittent Fever, Intermittent Fever, Congestive Fever, Dengue

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. J. GRACE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

(2 miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

I refer to Gen'l J. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Leigh, state Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Columbia, Ala.; Henry O. Richards, Marvella, Ala.

RICHARD RHODES,
SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

53 ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Articles of All Kinds for Fishermen.

Rods Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail.

GUNS, RIFLES and PISTOLS of every variety and of direct importation. Also Sporting materials of all kinds, Game Bags, Shot Pouches, Flasks, and every article needed by Hunters, will be sold at the lowest prices for cash. Also the celebrated Dead Shot Gunpowder, Shot, Elwyn Shells, Cartridge Shot. Gunpowder, Shot, Elwyn Shells, Cartridges, etc., of the best quality, wholesale and retail. Repairing Guns Rifles and Traps.

R. RHODES.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,

Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,

220 and 225 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,

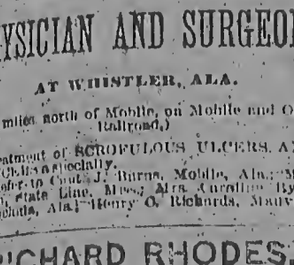
Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1503.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord $6 00
OAK WOOD, per Cord 5 50
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord 5 50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. RADELAT, Agent.



FOR BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES

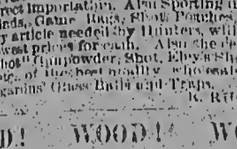
go to

Henry Timken's New Factory,

Nos. 1004, 1008 AND 1010 ST. CHARLES ST.,

Bet. Peniance and Eleventh sts., ST. LOUIS, MO.

A work of distinctive material and workmanship. Call and see, or send for catalogue.



NATHAN CARD
CARRIAGE MANUFACTURER

N.E. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.,

Opposite Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED
FOR AMERICAN WATCHES
305 N. 7TH ST.
ST. LOUIS MO.
$10

McCALL & HAASE,
Carriage Manufacturers,

1108 AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET,

ST. LOUIS.

Manufacturers of the Celebrated Velocipede Carriage, durability and elegance is unsurpassed and guaranteed.

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA-

The most beautiful and perfect Instrument ever made. Imitates celebrated Church organs, while the rich tuneful Human Voice, two and a half Octaves, full and perfect harmony with full reeds, & perfect imitation of flute & clarionet. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRINA, CONCERTO, VESPER, PENTENNIAL ORGANS, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, Upright Pianos. Also a few Second-hand first-class Pianos at very low prices. Illustrated Catalogues mailed. WATERS' PIANOS, Grand, Square and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE. For Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A liberal discount to Teachers, Churches, Schools, Lodges, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated catalogues mailed. Second-hand Instruments at great bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers & Dealers, 40 EAST 14TH STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK. Box 3567.

CARPETS!

ELKIN & CO.,

No. 125 CANAL STREET 125

ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF

Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.

Tapestry Brussels sold at 62½ to $1 25 per yard. Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc. MATTINGS in all the new patterns. Also, a complete line of CROCKERY.

GEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

B. T. WALSHE

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

CLOTHING,

No. 110 CANAL ST.

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER.

CYPRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assortment of over 2,000,000 feet constantly on hand. Also a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on hand and made to order. Office, Corner Leland and Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, Calliope, Howard and Front. P. O. Box 914.

JOHN F. POPP.

BUSINESS CARDS.

EMILE GARET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD.
Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

GARET & VIGNAUD,
DEALERS IN
SUGARS AND MOLASSES.

Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 34 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

T. P. CONROY,
GENERAL GROCER,

206 ..... Magazine Street 206

Cor. of Poeyfarre, New Orleans, La.

Country orders will receive careful attention.

J. A. BURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,

117 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 677.

Will attend to the sale of Fulton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CHASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morcant, Third District, New Orleans.

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John Bosio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining-Rooms up stairs. Also, comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE.

Office and Sales-Room, 87 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory, Carondelet Walk bet. Roman and Prieur, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1840.

J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La. All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY.
"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.
R. BLONDEAU,

Successor to J. G. Bernet,

Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,

NO. 63 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

J. H. NEHAFFEY,
General Commission Merchant,

And dealer in Staves, Firewood, Lime, Lumber and Coopers' Materials.

OFFICE—22 Union street. LUMBER YARD—Cor. Levee and Washington Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

A. P. DuMAY,
GENERAL GRAIN AGENT
AND COMMISSION MERCHANT,

NO. 11 UNION STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Consignments of Cotton, Hides, Wool, Corn and all Agricultural Products, as well as Staves and Timber, solicited. Liberal advances made on shipments.

NEW HOPE STEAM HORN FACTORY.
JOHN S. McDONALD,
Proprietor and Manager
MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED
MOSS,

Factory—Nos. 238 to 250 South Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress street.

Office—No. 248 S. Liberty street. P. O. Box 2255, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND
AND DOOR FACTORY.

ROBERTS & CO., PROPRIETORS,

804, 806, 808 and 807 Gravier Street,

Country orders solicited. New Orleans

COAL ..... COAL ..... COAL.

R. D. WOOD & BROS.,
Corner Camp and Common Streets,

(Opposite the City Hall)

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all Kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or lesser quantities, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRE'S CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added steam machinery as enabling us to turn them out work only faster, but better and cheaper, so common with you or her. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster raft to a shipload. W. W. CARRE & CO., No. 26 Bienville street.

THOMAS HASAN.

LUMBER.

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. At Sawmill, Bridge, or Mill ..... Corner CEDAR AND DELIA STS., New Basin, New Orleans.

ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU,

150 ..... POYDRAS STREET 150

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

Orders for Pants and Shoes of all kinds and styles, and of the very best material and workmanship, at reduced prices to suit the times. Repairing done at reasonable rates. Give us a call.

JOHN HILSMANN,
DEALER IN
WOOD AND COAL,

320 ..... DELORD STREET 320

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK,
Successor to A. Lanz,

134 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans.

MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cabriolet built anywhere.

JOHN S. TWOMEY begs respectfully to call attention to the fact that he is prepared to sell and everything appertaining to a Grocery store, as cheap as any first class House in the city. He would be glad if you would give him a call and see his prices. His establishment is at the corner of MAGAZINE AND PHILIP STREETS.

GROCERIES,

LOUIS TIEMANN,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally.

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

UNDERTAKERS.

CHAS. C. JONES, JOHN G. ROCHE.
(Formerly with Frank Johnson.)

JONES & ROCHE,

850 & 852 MAGAZINE ST., NEAR DELORD,

Undertakers and Embalmers.

All business intrusted to the firm will receive prompt and careful attention at moderate rates. Carriages to hire.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,
ARCHITECT,

31 ..... CARONDELET ST. 31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WILLIAM F. MELLEN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,

110 ..... GRAVIER ST. 110

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. to three P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET ST.,

Between Julia and Girod Sts.,

New Orleans, La.

C. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice La. Supreme Court. W. W. HOYE.

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELLORS
AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, New Orleans.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

THIS is an system of medication confined to Dr. Starkey & Palen, being Drugs Manufactured, Dispensed, & wonderful Vitalizer of the human body ever known. There are no similar cures a greater variety of diseases, and a larger proportion of patients than any other agent. For 4 years of large experience, fully confirm the expectation. The subscribers feel called upon to make known, and available to the sick, the wonderful Curative Power of the Compound Oxygen. It is the safest, surest and pleasant remedy in the world. Let all consumptives "inquire into" (read) and all sceptics examine, and we will send for our brochure of 140 pages, which gives many wonderful cures, and the strongest evidence of testimonials. Mailed free.

STARKEY & PALEN,
1109 & 1111 Girard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 22 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses of travel; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. R. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe as the McKellops and Edmondson drug firm of St. Louis; James Lugg, M. A. Wolff, Frank Shaprelgh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. R. Thompson, Evil'sville, Ind., Senator; J. H. Speckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Hughes, Agt. Hope & R., Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Bush, Waterloo Ferry, Ill.; Capt. Jerry Wade, Steamer Minneapolis, and others.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated by Inhalation Asthma, Bronchitis, Marasmus, Catarrh, Throat and Nasal Catarrh with good results.

DR. J. H. HAGENBUCH,
210 Walnut street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY.

CANAL STREET, near Carrollton, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

WOULD call special attention to their extensive Russia's Crash, Crashes, Linens and Cotton Goods, Handkerchiefs, Linen Cloths, Men's and Boys' Wear, Comely Ladies' Ready Made Underwear, etc.

SAMPLES SENT FREE.

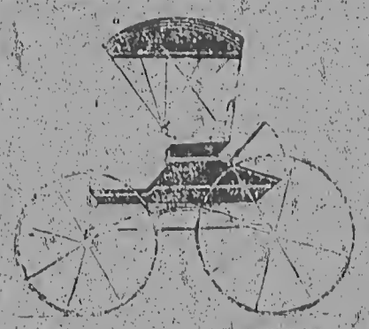
ALSO TO THEIR

Dressmaking Department.

Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order, promptly, in a superior manner, and at the latest styles, and moderate rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement, and samples of materials, with estimates of cost, sent upon application.

All orders sent by mail or express will be sent to us at our risk, as to charges, &c. Parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, don't have to wait, as goods will be sent C. O. D. subject to examination, if desired.

Please mention this paper when you write.



J. A. CLEM, Manufacturer. HERBERT HOOD, Salesman.

J. A. CLEM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.

103, Gravier and 12 Union Street.

SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES
NO. 155 CAMP STREET.

THE undersigned has a large assortment of Furniture which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere.

Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at shortest notice. All Furniture and Bedding put in perfect repair and delivered to order. Moving, Packing and Shipping done at the lowest possible prices on application to

HENRY PFEIFF,
155 Camp street.

TAKE

NOTICE, that we are the sole manufacturers of Valentine's Meat Juice, and that the genuine article can be had only from us. Assure ourselves that Chantrelle with only 500 worth on hand, on which we will pay the Duty. Please call and examine our stock.

BRIDE & CO., 12 Clinton Place, New York.

GOODWIN'S Eureka Yeast Powder
Pure, Healthful.
HIGHLY COMMENDED BY

Prominent Physicians. Experienced Housekeepers. Perfect Satisfaction. Recipes sent to all Purchasers free. Sample can sent by mail, postpaid, for 35 cents. Orders promptly filled. Address

P. M. GOODWIN & Sons, Sole Manufacturers,

No. 122 Terpsichore St., New Orleans, La.

COAL ..... COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9 ..... CARONDELET ST. 9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, from cars, to all customers, at the lowest market rates. H. & C. TYLER.

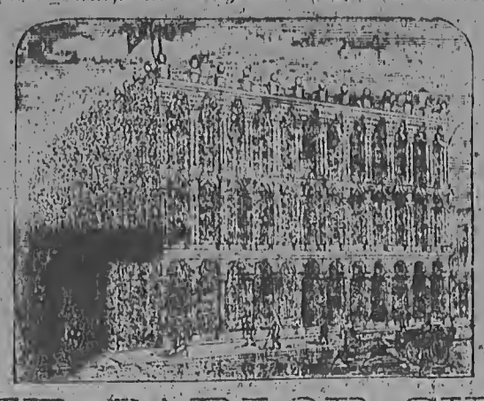
NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 37,000 students since 1867. 76 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. &c. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

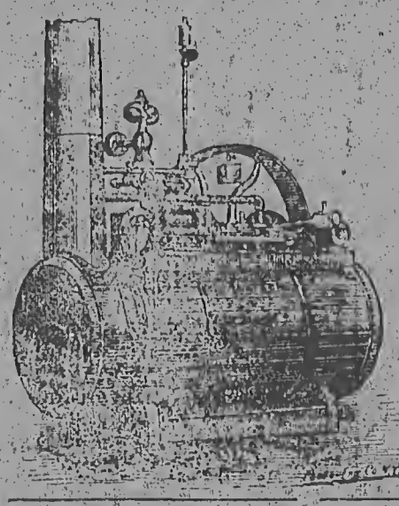


FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, PLUSH, COTTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Views.

Fine Parlor Rocks, Reclining Library Sofas, Easy Rockers, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of CORNICE POLES & MOULDINGS. A full line of Children's Furniture. A large stock of Walnut and Oak. Furniture suitable for the country packed and delivered free of charge.



PAYNE'S
PORTABLE
STEAM ENGINES.

WITH IMPROVED POWER,

Simple, Strong and Durable.

BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE

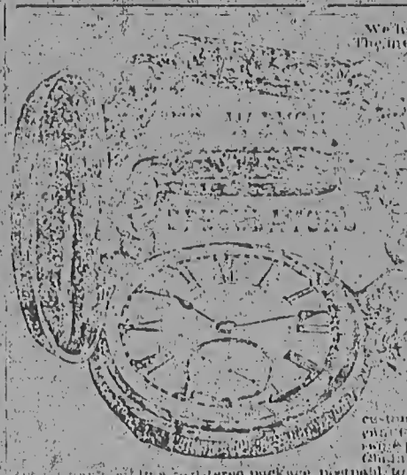
SEND FOR PRICE LIST, ETC.

B. J. WEST,
SOLE AGENT,

115 and 117 Magazine Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Iron Pumps, Pulleys, etc.



We have the best Imitation Gold Watch in the market. The interior is a complete Counterfeit of a fine watch, so closely resembling it as to fool the best judges. But it differs from the genuine in this respect, that it has the evidence upon its face that it is not gold. Under the American Exposition Balance Beautifully Enamelled Dial and Stemwind Hunting Case and, in appearance, is a GOLD WATCH THAT COSTS, Only $150 to $200.

It will wind a watch for a year, or so many days or hours as you may wish, and we are enabled to reduce the price of them to $10 each, with no clock Chain attached. They are sold on ridiculous measures and in quantities to suit purchasers where no agents are employed to introduce them. One is required, and give entire satisfaction. We send them by mail or express, on receipt of $12, to any part of the country, or it will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires and remits $1.00 on account. These elegant Watches weigh about Fifty Pennyweights, and the cases are Solid Gold, Hunting Cases, and will last a lifetime. We also have a Ladies' size, of the same quality, which we will send for $10. Any watch not satisfactory can be returned in a registered package, postpaid, to us within the United States.

WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.

J. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 12 Park St., New York.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

THIS fine preparation known for all its good qualities and recommended by the Faculty, is manufactured only by CHARLES T. HESTON, Pharmaceutist and Chemist, 1130 SOUTH SIXTH STREET, PHILADELPHIA. The pleasant, delicate and perfect manner in which it performs its work of correcting acidity of the stomach, regulating the bowels, relieving nervous headache, and preventing sick headache, has caused it to be highly appreciated by all who have used it. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that can be taken in milk without curdling it. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not injure the most delicate stomach. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the bowels costive after using it. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not settle in the form of chalk in the bottom of the bottle. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not form crystals in the bottle. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not sour on the stomach. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not color the urine. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the water alkaline. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine alkaline. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine acid. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine neutral. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine sweet. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine sour. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine bitter. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine salty. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine fresh. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine stale. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine putrid. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine fermented. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine decomposed. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine rancid. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine musty. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine moldy. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine mildewed. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine spoiled. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine tainted. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine corrupted. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine vitiated. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine impure. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine foul. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine dirty. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine unclean. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine filthy. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine nasty. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine disgusting. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine offensive. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine repulsive. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine revolting. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine sickening. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine nauseating. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine loathsome. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine abominable. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine detestable. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine execrable. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine accursed. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine damned. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine hellish. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine devilish. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine fiendish. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine diabolical. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine infernal. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine satanic. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-like. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ish. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ic. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ical. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ically. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ically. It is the only preparation of Magnesia that will not make the urine Satan-ically

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Jan. 8, 1878.

The past week has been unmarked by any special activity of business. There has been a good deal of buying and selling in a quiet way, but no noteworthy change in the state of the markets.

The generally acknowledged success of the Eads jetties is very gratifying, and will have the effect of inducing large ships to seek this port, with the certainty of being able to get away well loaded. The export trade of the city has already received considerable impetus, with every indication of a large increase in the near future. There is some talk of a line of steamships from New Orleans to Brazil, and the Cotton Exchange of this city has voted, we understand, $1,000 toward defraying the expenses of a delegate to Washington to urge upon Congress the expediency of granting a subsidy to such an enterprise.

We give below the condition of the money and cotton markets, as reported by the Democrat of yesterday:

The offerings for discounts were fair on the street. Commercial paper was freely offered and steady.

Exceptional commercial paper, 9@10 ₰ cent.; A1 do., 12@15; second-grade do., —@—; loans on collaterals, 9@12; A1 mortgage paper, 9@10; second-grade do., —@—₰ cent. per annum.

Gold is quiet and easier.

Foreign exchange lower and only moderately active.

Sight is easier.

State consols barely steady at 97@98.

Premium bonds steady at 97@98. Stocks quiet."

Gold opened in New York at 102¼ and closed at 102. Here it opened at 102¼@103 and closed at 102⅝@103. Sales: $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000 at 103, $5,000 at 102⅞, and $8,000 at 102⅛@102½.

As regards cotton, the advices from Liverpool and New York being unfavorable, buyers were naturally cautious during the early part of the day. The demand was good, and buyers and sellers "locked horns," but later business became more active but irregular, and the market closed at Saturday's prices, some transactions, however, being made at ⅛c. below. The sales of the day footed up 4,600 bales.

The official closing quotations of the Cotton Exchange were as follows:

	To-day.	Prev'ous day.
Low Ordinary
Ordinary
Good Ordinary
Low Middling	10c.	10c.
Middling	10¾	10¾
Good Middling	11	11
Middling Fair	12	12

Sales to-day, 4,600 bales. Good demand; market easy and irregular.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on ship board Sept. 1, '77	21,556
Gross receipts since yesterday	14,099
Gross receipts previously	886,503 — 900,602
Total supply,	922,018
Exported to-day	23,023
Exported previously	562,715 — 585,738
Total stock this day	336,280
Total stock this day last year	267,189

The exports to-day consisted of 16,000 bales to Liverpool, 606 to Rouen, 2,250 to Bremen, 852 to Barcelona, 2,215 to New York, and 1,000 bales to the North via Evansville, Ind.,

Net receipts since Saturday	12,840
Receipts from other ports	1,859
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday
Net receipts this day last year	4,150
Net receipts since Friday	10,958
Net receipts same time last week	26,033
Net receipts since September 1	722,178
Net receipts same time last year	692,488

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 45,816 bales; Havre 41,054; Bremen, 11,823; Mediterranean, 3,664; North Sea, 6,747; Spain, 245; Mexico, —; coastwise, 7,212; total, 117,280 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 219,171 bales.

The telegrams of the Cotton Exchange give the receipts from each Saturday up to noon to-day at 31,750 bales, against 37,323 bales last Sunday and Monday, 27,337 bales last year, and 36,707 the year before last.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received, Same time last year.	Same time year before.	Exported, Same time last year.	Same time year before.
New Orleans	21,450	26,884	9,850
Galveston	4,800	6,015	10,645
Mobile	4,724	6,858	6,251
Savannah	5,601	6,048	5,900
Charleston	3,136	961	3,674
Wilmington	409	1,469	881
Norfolk	5,850	1,800	851
Baltimore
New York	2,800	1,000	2,317
Boston	277	3,000	1,278
Philadelphia	481	281	685
Other ports
Total	51,417	56,721	44,297

Receipts at ports since September 1, 2,761,39
Receipts same time last year, 2,
Receipts same time year before, 2,

The exports from all United States ports, consolidated as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for three days have been as follows:

	G. B. France.	Cont.	Other foreign.	Coast.
This week	55,445	5,740	2,439	88,241
Last week	16,241	10,267	6,535	2,600 — 35,643
This week last year	25,616	9,885	4,360	39,774

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 50
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	30 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	9 00	12 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do. with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 50	5 25
Straub's corn mills	115 00	200 00
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	125 00
R. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	15 00	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	65 00	75 00
Wagon, four-horse	100 00	110 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	65 00	75 00
Wagon, four-horse	90 00	100 00
Cane wagon	— —	200 00
Ox wagon	80 00	125 00
Ox cart, complete	115 00	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	— —	55 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₰ lb.:
Swedes, assorted	7	7½
Hoop	4½	7½
Sheet	4½	7
Nail rods	9	10
Castings, American	4	5½
BUILDING MATERIAL.
Bricks, ₰ 1,000:
Lake	10 50	11 00
Country	9 00	10 00
English Bre	45 00	47 00
Lime, ₰ bbl.:
Western	1 80	1 75
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster, Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₰ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	30 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	15 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	— —
Shingles, ₰ 1,000	3 75	4 25
Nails, best brands	3 50	— —
Shingles, sizes proportionately
Glass, ₰ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	4 50
French, 10 by 12	5 75	6 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 18	4 75	5 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 24	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₰ lb	— —	10
Paris Green, ₰ lb	30	— —
Pat. Dryer, ₰ lb	12	14
Whiting, ₰ lb	— —	1¾
Putty, in bladders, ₰ lb	— —	4¾
Linseed Oil, ₰ gal	— —	70
SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.
Window Sash, 12 lights:
Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed. Blinds, per pair.
8x10	1 40	1 60
8x12	1 75	2 00
10x15	2 75	3 50
Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 00	$4 50
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 50
Panel Doors:
2 ft. 10 in. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	— —	2 75
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	— —	3 85
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	3 50	— —
GROCERIES.
Butter, ₰ lb.:
Western	8	17
New York, good to creamy	30	31
Coffee, ₰ lb.:
Rio, fair
Rio, good	18	19
Rio, prime	19	19½
Java, choice O. G	— —	30
Candles, ₰ lb.:
Star, best brands	14½	14
Chocolate, ₰ lb.:
Cocoa	— —	— —
Sweet	— —	— —
Canned Fruits, ₰ doz.:
Peaches, strawberries and pears	— —	— —
Corn Meal, ₰ bbl.:
Best, K. D	2 70	2 65
Cheese, ₰ lb.:
Factory	12	13
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	3 80	— —
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	2 00	— —
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	18½
Flour, ₰ bbl.:
Superfine	4 00	4 25
XX	4 75	5 00
XXX	5 00	6 00
Choice XXX	5 25	6 50
Choice family	5 50	6 50
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₰ lb	6	— —
Dried peaches, ₰ lb	10	12
Raisins, ¼ quarter box	5 50	6 00
Raisins, ₰ half box	1 10	— —
Raisins, ₰ whole box	1 85	— —
Bananas, ₰ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₰ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	8	9
Sugar	8	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oils:
Coal, in cases, best	40	45
Coal, in barrels, best	35	35
Linseed, in cases	— —	80
Linseed, in barrels	75	85
Lard, in barrels, best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	18	20
Fair	22	24
Prime to choice	30	35
Golden and Roquet syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₰ lb.:
No. 2	5¾	5¾
Ordinary	5	5¼
Fair	5¼	5½
Prime to choice	5	6¼
Soap, in boxes, ₰ lb.:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₰ lb	4	— —
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 10	1 15
Coarse	50	50
Sugar, in bbls.:
Good fair	5¾	6
Prime	6¼	6¾
Choice	7	7½
Yellow clarified	8¼	8¾
White clarified	8¼	8¾
Crushed	8¼	8¾
Powdered	8¼	8¾
Spices, ₰ lb.:
Allspice	13	— —
Pepper	13	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Teas, ₰ lb.:
Black Congou	— —	70
Green Imperial	— —	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₰ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —
GRAIN AND FEED.
Corn, ₰ bushel:
Yellow, choice	50	— —
White	56	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₰ bushel:
80 pounds	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	37	38
Bran, choice, ₰ 100 lbs	80	85
Hay, ₰ ton:
Prime	14 50	15 50
Ordinary	12 50	13 00
Corn Meal:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	1 60	1 75
PROVISIONS.
Bacon, ₰ lb.:
Breakfast	9	9½
Shoulders	8¼	8½
Sides, clear rib	8¾	9
Sides, clear	9	9¼
Hams, sugar cured	11	12
Mess Pork, ₰ bbl	12 50	13 00
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders	4	4¼
Lard, ₰ lb.:
Choice, in cans and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	8¼	— —
BAGGING STUFFS.
Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	12	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, ₰ doz and knockers	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14
DRY GOODS.
Brown, Domestic, ₰ yard:
Standard brands	7	9
Standard brands, 4-4	9	11
Bleached Domestic, ₰ yard:
Choice brands, 4-4	9	10
Choice brands, 4-4	9	12½
Calico, ₰ yard:
Common brands	7	8
Sprague, Allen & Hamilton	7½	8
Ticking, ₰ yard:
Common brands	10	12½
Good	11	14
Osnaburgs:
Eight-ounce	13	14
Stripes:	9	11
Checks	12	17
Denims	13	18
BOOTS AND SHOES.
Balbriggan misf boots, ₰ doz	36 00	42 00
Common brud goods, ₰ doz	— —	30 00
Common brogans, ₰ doz	12 00	15 00
Bachelor brogans, ₰ doz	15 00	18 00
Rimmels' brogans, ₰ doz	16 00	19 00

SEWING MACHINES.

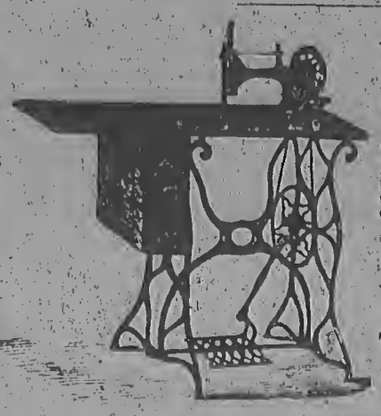
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Rogue-Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

Special Notices.

A Gem worth Reading.—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES,

By reading our Illustrated "PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY of the EYE SIGHT." Tells how to Restore Impaired Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DISFIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100 pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies, $5 to $10 a day guaranteed. Full particulars sent free. Write immediately, to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957.) No. 206 West 33d Street, New York City, N. Y.

FULL MEASURE.

While most of the so called two-ounce flavoring extract bottles hold but one and one quarter ounces, and the four-ounce less than three ounces, Dr Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are full measure, strong, pure and natural as the fruit from which they emanate."

Religious Notices.

THE district stewards of Meridian district are hereby called to meet in the Methodist church at Meridian on Friday morning, January 18, 1878, at half-past ten o'clock.

27 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Franklin Street and Toulminsville	Jan. 5, 6
St. Paul's	12, 13
Whistler	19, 20
Eastern Shore at Daphne	26, 27
Stockton at Stockton	Feb. 2, 3
St. Francis Street	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Citronelle, at Citronelle	Mar. 2, 3
Powhatan and Pollard, at Powhatan	9, 10
St. Stephen's, at Pine Grove	16, 17
Bladen and Okatuppa, at Isney	21, 24
Grand Bay, at Grand Bay	30, 31

3 S. H. COX, P. E.

EUFAULA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Reuben at Providence	Jan. 5, 6
Glennville, at Glennville	12, 13
Vibula, at Jernigan	19, 20
Henry, at Abbeville	26, 27
Eufaula, at Eufaula	Feb. 2, 3
Enon and Midway, at Enon	9, 10
Perote, at Perote	16, 17
Pea River, at Liberty chapel	23, 24
Clayton and Louisville, at Clayton	Mar. 2, 3
White Pond, at Bethel	9, 10
Columbia, at Pleasant Hill	16, 17
Newton, at Newton	23, 24
Ozark, at Ozark	30, 31

27 DENAY D. MOORE, P. E.

GREENSBORO DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Demopolis	Jan. 5, 6
Forkland	12, 13
Livingston	19, 20
Belmont, at Wesley chapel	26, 27
Gainesville	Feb. 2, 3
Cuba, at Chestnut Grove	9, 10
Bittley, at Bright Water	16, 17
Gaston, at Sharon	23, 24
Greene and Eclaw	Mar. 2, 3
Havana	9, 10
Newbern	16, 17
Greensboro	23, 24

27 A. H. MITCHELL, P. E.

UNION SPRINGS DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Greenville circuit, at Spring Hill	Jan. 5, 6
Greenville	12, 13
Troy	19, 20
Brundidge circuit, at Williams' chapel	26, 27
Chiles Springs	Feb. 2, 3
Cobbler mission, at Mount Meigs	9, 10
Tuskegee circuit, at Magnolia	16, 17
Pine Level circuit, at Salem	23, 24
Rocky Mount circuit, at Rocky Mount	Mar. 2, 3
Rutledge circuit, at Rutledge	9, 10
Dakey Streak circuit, at Dakey Streak	16, 17
Fort Deposit circuit, at Letohatchee	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Montgomery, March 26, 1878.

27 G. R. BLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rienzi and the circuit	Jan. 12, 13
Tranquil circuit	19, 20
Yazoo circuit	26, 27
Silver Creek circuit	Feb. 2, 3
Yazoo City	9, 10
Raymond circuit	16, 17
Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	23, 24
Oak Hill circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Sharon circuit	9, 10
Camden and Smile circuit	16, 17
Canton	23, 24
Madison circuit	30, 31
Jackson circuit	Apr. 6, 7
Jackson station	13, 14

The district stewards will please meet me in Canton, March 29, at three o'clock, at the Methodist church.

27 F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Newton, at Newton	Dec. 29, 30
Morton and Forest, at Forest	29, 30
Lake, at Lake	Jan. 5, 6
Brandon	12, 13
Enondin, at Union	19, 20
Prairie mission, at Mound Zion	21
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	26, 27
Carthage, at Carthage	Feb. 2, 3
Wilton, at White Plains	9, 10
Hunnewood, at West's chapel	14
Raleigh, at Sylvarena	16, 17
Pearl, at Pelahatchie	23, 24
Rankin, at Westbrooks	Mar. 2, 3

The district stewards will meet at Forest on Saturday, December 29, 1877.

27 WM. H. LAIRD, P. E., Forest; Miss.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian station	Dec. 29, 30
Scottsville circuit, at Shumuta	29, 30
Wesley, at Shell's chapel	Jan. 5, 6
Enterprise station	12, 13
Lauderdale mission, at Pleasant Hill	19, 20
Marion, at Oliver's	26, 27
Spring Hill, at Spring Hill	Feb. 2, 3
Philadelphia, at Pine Grove	16, 17
De Kalb, at Pleasant Ridge	9, 10
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	11, 24
Paulding, at Paulding	Mar. 2, 3
Jellysville mission, at Bethel	9, 10
McGowan, at McGowan	9, 10
Enterprise circuit, at Sukalma	16, 17

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

YICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vicksburg station	Jan. 6, 7
Cayuga, at Cayuga	12, 13
Warren, at Rocky	19, 20
Bovina, at Bovina	26, 27
Mount Olivet, at Wesley Chapel	Feb. 2, 3
Port Gibson station	9, 10
Rocky Springs, at Rocky Springs	16, 17
Clover Hill and Chotard, at McIverville	23, 24
Rolling Fork, at Rolling Fork	Mar. 2, 3
Fayette, at Fayette	8, 10
Kingston, at Kingston	16, 17
Natchez station	23, 24

27 W. L. C. HUNSUCKER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Brookhaven and Wesson, at Brookhaven	Jan. 5, 6
Beauregard, at Beauregard	12, 13
Hazlehurst station	19, 20
Georgetown, at Georgetown	26, 27
Pleasant Valley and Zion, at Zion	Feb. 2, 3
Beth-Eden Bethel	9, 10
Scotland, at New Hope	16, 17
Meadville, at Meadville	24, 24
Crystal Springs station	Mar. 2, 3
Brandywine, at Sarepta	9, 10
Summit, at Summit	16, 17
Bogue Chitto mission, at Ebenezer	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Hazlehurst, January 19. W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Winans	Dec. 29, 31
Jackson and Plains	Jan. 5, 6
Bayou Sara	12, 13
East Feliciana	19, 20
Wilkinson	26, 27
Woodville	Feb. 2, 3
Buffalo	9, 10
St. Helena	16, 17
Amite	23, 24
Clinton	Mar. 2, 3
Magnolia	9-11
Tickfaw	16, 17
East Baton Rouge	23, 24

The district stewards will please meet in Clinton at eleven o'clock on Saturday, March 2, 1878.

27 JAMES A. GODFREY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Amite City, at Amite City	Dec. 29, 30
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	Jan. 5, 6
Moss Point, at Moss Point	12, 13
East Pascagoula	19, 20
Chickasaba, at Cross Roads	26, 27
West Pascagoula, at Shilberry Grove	Feb. 2, 3
Handsboro, at Tonyville	9, 10
Pearlington, at Pearlington	16, 17
Covington, at Covington	23, 24
China Grove, at China Grove	Mar. 9, 10
Columbia, at Columbia	16, 17
Grand Cournel, at Venable	23, 24
Westville, at Skiffler	April 6, 7
Enon, at Enon	13, 14

27 THOMAS PRICE, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity Street	Dec. 30
Louisiana Avenue	Jan. 6
Algiers	12
Baton Rouge	13
Lafourche mission, at Thibodaux	Feb. 16
Morena Street	17
Carondelet Street	24
Plaquemine and Brosse Tete at Plaquemine	Mar. 10
St. Charles Street	17

The District Conference will be held in Baton Rouge, beginning on Friday morning, April 5, 1878, at nine o'clock, A. M.

10 LINUS PARKER, P. E.

ASSESSMENTS FOR NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT, 1878.

The district stewards met in the Carondelet Street church, New Orleans, December 27, and made the following apportionment of the district assessments.

	Conference Claimants.	Foreign Missions.	Domestic Missions.	Bishops.	Church Extension.
Carondelet Street	$375	$35	$100	$95	$
Felicity Street	30	5	25	10
Morena Street	20	5	20	10
Louisiana Avenue	15	5	20	10
St Charles Avenue	175	50	150	50
Algiers	20	5	20	10
Baton Rouge	10	5	25	10
Plaquemine and Brosse Tete			20	10
Lafourche mission		5	20	10
Total	$1,200	$120	$450	$195	$

J. W. ADAMS, Secretary.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Homer	Jan. 12, 13
Haydenville	19, 20
Vernon	26, 27
Indian Village	Feb. 2, 3
Lisbon	9, 10
Farmerville	16, 17
Coushatta	23, 24
Arcadia	Mar. 2, 3
Sparta	9, 11
Rochester	16, 17
Minden	23, 24
Ruchester	30, 31

The district stewards will please meet at Vernon quarterly meeting.

10 J. H. STONE, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Dec. 30, 31
Leesville	Jan. 6, 7
Pleasant Hill	13, 14
Hesster	19, 20
South Rocster	20, 21
North Rocster	Feb. 3, 4
Grevegort	10, 11
Mooringsport	17, 18
Springville	24, 25
East Point	Mar. 3, 4
Logansport mission	10, 11
Natchitoches	17, 18
Natchitoches circuit	24, 25
Anacoco	31, 1

The district stewards will meet me on the 1st Sabbath of January, at Rosella.

27 RODNEY RANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Rastrop	Jan. 6, 7
Monroe and Delhi	13, 14
Trenton	19, 20
Ethel Grove	20, 21
Bayville	Feb. 3, 4
Winnsboro	10, 11
Oakley	16, 17
Floyd	24, 24
Oak Ridge	Mar. 3, 4
Waterproof	9, 10
Tensas mission, at Tensas chapel	16, 17
Madison, at Delta	23, 24
Lake Providence	30, 31

27 JAMES L. WHITE, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Palmyra ville and Morganville	Jan. 5, 6
Franklin	12, 13
New Iberia	19, 20
Abbeville	26, 27
Indian Bayou	Feb. 2, 3
Vermilionville and Plaquemine Brulee	9, 10
Washington	16, 17
Buchanan and Grand Coteau	23, 24
Lake Charles and Grand Theurie	Mar. 2, 3
Grand Chenier	9, 10
Sulphur and Calcasieu mission	21, 24

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Opelousas February 24, 1878.

J. H. HARPER, P. E.

Special Notices.

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

VERY CHEAP HERE.

Some $25 to $100.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Leading Pianos & Organs

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Less than Manufacturers' prices.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all. Tetrathene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Co., Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64-page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post paid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

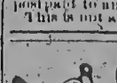
Or Tonic Extract of Wheat.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SICK HEADACHE, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.



$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES (the only true imitation Gold Watches that are made with the latest improvements at the above prices. They are the beautiful Watch. Send direct to order a Watch or Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS METAL WATCH FACTORY 185 Broadway, N. Y., P. O. Box

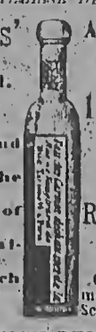
BOYER'S

CARMELITE

Melissa Cordial!

(EAU DE MELISSE DES CARMES)

300 Years' Reputation.



Annual Sales In Paris Alone, 1,300,000 BOTTLES.

Supported and sustained by the indorsement of the most eminent of French Practitioners.

Royal Letters Patent, Granted as recommended by the Paris School of Medicine.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA!

DISORDERS OF THE STOMACH, AND ALL NERVOUS AFFECTIONS.

Get the Genuine. Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

General Depot at BOYER'S, 59 Park Place, New York.

E. J. HART & CO., Wholesale Dealers, New Orleans.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President. D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration and remained forty eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the safe and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for the contents, but judge of our joy and surprise when on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 75 Canal Street.

A. ROY, Agent.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place.

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

*LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK BOOK MAKERS,

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1878. NO. 3.

RUMOR'S GROWTH.

Says Go-sip One to Gossip Two,
While shopping in the town:
"Old Mrs. Pry to me remarked,
Smith bought his goods of Brown."

Says Gossip Two to Gossip Three,
When buying her a gown:
"I've heard it said to-day, my dear,
Smith got his goods of Brown."

Says Gossip Three to Gossip Four,
With something of a frown:
"I've heard strange news—what do you think?
Smith took his goods from Brown."

Then Gossip Four to Gossip Five,
Who blazed it round the town:
"I've heard to-day such shocking news—
Smith stole his goods from Brown."

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The report of the Commissioner of Agriculture estimates the tobacco crop at four hundred and forty million pounds, an increase over last year of sixty million pounds.

The cotton crop in October promised four and a half million bales, but a bad picking season to the end may reduce the crop a half million bales.

Referring to the sugar crop, the report says: There has been a fair prospect for an increase in the product of sugar over that of last year, but in consequence of bad weather for harvesting and securing the cane it is too early to say if the yield will be equal to that of last year.

The wheat crop promises to exceed that of last year seventy millions bushels.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Great Southern Railway Company was held to-day. The report of the president shows a large amount of work done between Jesup, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla., the road being nearly ready for the rails. It states that the company is well organized, as it is composed of men of capital and experience, and that the work will be pushed energetically.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 8.—The day has been spent in organization. After a spirited contest for speaker, Hon. W. A. Percy, of Washington, was elected on the fifth ballot. Govan and Halland were elected clerk and sergeant-at-arms respectively. In the Senate, officers will be re-elected.

TROY, Jan. 8.—The thermometer here is 12 degrees below zero, at Saratoga 18, Fort Edward 24 below, Glen's Falls 20, Whitehall 18, Smith's Basin 26, Cambridge 18—all below.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Capt. Eads received his $500,000 to-day on account of the jetties. In honor of the great engineer they propose calling them "Eads' Jetties."

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—The steamer Belgic arrived, bringing advices from Hong Kong to December 4, and Shanghai to December 15. There was no abatement of the ravages of the famine in the northern provinces; vast districts being completely depopulated. There is no possible hope of relief this year, or perhaps next.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In the case of Benson vs. Beguin, from the Supreme Court of Louisiana, the Supreme Court here hold the civil rights acts of Louisiana to be void, as interfering with commerce between the States, a matter wholly in the jurisdiction of Congress. The chief justice delivered the opinion.

FOREIGN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 8.—Official dispatches are published announcing that after two days' sanguinary fighting, Hafiz Pasha, commanding the Novi Bazar division, has reoccupied Kurschumli. The Servian loss is considerable.

Eyoub Pasha, commanding the civic guard at Novi Bazar also defeated the Servians, pursuing them to the frontier, and burning six of their military stations and destroying their intrenchments.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The King of Italy died at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon.

ROME, January 9.—King Victor Emanuel received the consolations of religion before his death. In the afternoon the sacraments were administered to King Victor Emanuel, who received the priest with great serenity. The King then summoned Prince Humbert, the heir apparent, and his wife, Princess Margherita, to his bedside, with whom he conversed a few moments.

Afterward the military eruption increased. The King then summoned all those who were in the habit of approaching him. He addressed to every one present a few words, and a few moments after died. The news of his death soon spread through the city and caused great emotion among all the people. All the shops were closed.

Prince Humbert was proclaimed King of Italy. He confirmed the present ministers in their posts.

A Reuter telegram from Constantinople says: Turkish commanders in the field have been ordered to conclude an armistice with Russian commanders.

A special to the Times from Berlin says: Russia having consented to enter into negotiations for an armistice, even if the preliminaries of peace are not settled beforehand, the conclusion of a truce is probable.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—An insurrection in Crete commenced on Tuesday. Mr. Layard, British minister at Constantinople, requests that British men-of-war be sent there.

The Times' Bucharest correspondent telegraphs: A thaw has commenced, which, if it continues, will cause the movement of ice in the Danube to recommence and make communication more difficult than ever. It is utterly impossible now for horses and wagons to cross, and the Russian Intendance Department is helpless. Words cannot describe the situation on the Danube.

The Russians suppress telegrams with a view of preventing the state of affairs becoming known to Europe.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 10.—The Grand Duke Nicholas has telegraphed the following to the Emperor from Dovitcha, January 9: I am happy to congratulate your majesty upon a brilliant victory gained this day. Gen. Radetzky, after desperate fighting, captured the whole Turkish army defending the Schipka Pass, consisting of 41 battalions, 10 batteries and 1 regiment of cavalry. Prince Mirsky has occupied Kephanlik. Gen. Scobeloff holds Schipka.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The loss of Schipka is regarded in Constantinople as worse than the surrender of Osman Pasha. The Turkish force in the pass consisted of sixteen thousand, nearly all veterans, and the most valuable troops in the service.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Manchester Guardian has a special from Constantinople containing the following: Fugitives are flocking here from Philippopolis and Adrianople. Three crowded trains arrived on Wednesday evening and three on Thursday evening.

A special dispatch from Tottar Bazardjik to the Daily Telegraph says the Turks have burned the town of Schieteman, and intend to burn Topolintza and Mycopa valleys.

LONDON, Jan. 12, 3.50 P. M.—The largest fire for many years is now burning in Friday and Watling streets. The fire originated in the warehouse of Crocker, Sons & Co., calico printers. The whole block is threatened, but the fire is now believed to be under control.

The loss by the fire here to-day at the corner of Friday and Watling streets is over $1,000,000.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 11.—Server Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, and Namyk Pasha, will leave here for Kzanlik to-day to meet the Grand Duke Nicholas. They have been invested by the Ministerial Council with full powers to treat for peace.

A Marvelous Invention.

REMARKABLE EXPERIMENTS WITH MR. EDISON'S PHONOGRAPH—ASTONISHING RESULTS.

In the early part of November last the Sun printed a description of a new invention by Mr. Thomas A. Edison, called the speaking phonograph. Mr. Edison has since made an improvement, and has now succeeded in making an instrument that will record and reproduce any words or sounds produced or made within the proper distance of the mouthpiece of the apparatus. This apparatus is exceedingly simple. It consists of a cylinder four inches in diameter and ten inches long upon a shaft. A spiral groove, like the thread of a screw, is cut in the surface of the cylinder from end to end, and the same kind of a screw is cut in the shaft carrying it. Over this cylinder is secured a sheet of paper or tinfoil. Immediately opposite the cylinder, on an upright arm, is a speaking tube, one end of which is closed by a diaphragm. In the center of the diaphragm is a small point, like that of a pin, arranged so as to be exactly opposite the grooves upon the cylinder. When the cylinder is set in motion it rotates, and at the same time moves endwise. If, while rotating, a person utters a sentence in front of the tube the movement of the diaphragm causes the point upon it to indent the tinfoil, so that for every movement of the diaphragm the point indents the foil. If the movement is great a deep indenture will be made, and if small a shallow one is made, and thus every movement of the diaphragm is accurately recorded by indentations in the foil. To reproduce the sounds all that is necessary is to turn the cylinder back to its original position and start again; the point upon the diaphragm, riding in and out of the indentations, sets it in motion and thus reproduces all the original movements.

Mr. Edison had his improved machine on private exhibition in the Western Union Telegraph office on Monday, and President Orton and a number of other gentlemen connected with the company tested its extraordinary powers of repeating spoken words. On one occasion three gentlemen spoke in succession—the first in English, the second in Spanish, and the third in Hungarian—and the machine repeated the words so as to be heard distinctly by a dozen persons standing around the apparatus. "Old Uncle Ned" and a verse of a Spanish love song were next sung, and reproduced by the instrument to the satisfaction of all.

Mr. Edison says the machine is designed for practical use by business men, lawyers, etc. He is now making a new machine, which will have a plate sufficiently large to receive five hundred spoken words. Thus a man may dictate half a dozen letters before leaving his office and his clerks may write them out in his absence. If he should wish to say more he can remove the first plate and put in a second, and so on up to any number he may require.

So accurately are the words repeated by the machine that a gentleman who was present at the exhibition yesterday would not believe that the sounds were made by it. He insisted that it was a ventriloquial performance, and would not be convinced that it was not until Mr. Edison retired into another room while the instrument was worked by some one else.—New York Sun.

The Doom of the Wicked.

BY PROF. J. P. LACROIX.

The infinite fearfulness of the fruits of sin is not a doctrine of Christianity alone. It is also the teaching of nature and of conscience, and, in fact, of the whole circle of practical truth. It is not alone the Christian that stands in awe of the "death that never dies," that trembles at the thought that the "wages of sin is death," and that shrinks back at the truth that the soul that sinneth "shall die." All this would be felt and feared and trembled at were every Bible in the world burned to ashes, and every particle of its teaching erased from the memory of the race.

We do not say this rashly and at random; we say it in view of the ample verdict of all human history, of the deepest experience of past ages, and of the unquenchable voice of the universal conscience of mankind. And not only would the terror of a gaping hell be still left, though the Bible were swept away; but this terror would beset us with ten-fold greater force and terribleness; for without the Bible the terrific doom would threaten us all the same, without being relieved by the bright gospel path of escape.

We do the Bible and our own intellects a very great wrong when we regard the sacred book as a something so utterly different from the voice of conscience, and from the lessons of all high truth in general. The Bible is not a creator of truth. Things are not true because they are in the Bible; but they are in the Bible because they are true. Hell was not created by the Bible; it is in the Bible because it was a terrific fact long before the first line of the Bible was penned, and it would still be a fact had there never been a Bible. All classical literatures, all ancient tragedies, all pagan religions, are full of hell; and for the very plain and good reason that the inner sanctuary of man's moral nature, as well as the outward oracles of nature and of experience, are all reverberant of a threatening pit. There is no escaping this: it is simply an awful fact. We might foolishly wish that it were not a fact; but that would not alter the matter. Hell is not—as some childishly suppose—a dubious thing suspended upon a few controverted texts. A popular preacher may now and then win a gust of applause from the superficial by suddenly throwing himself athwart the wisdom of the ages, and by affirming that a certain biblical word does not signify what some people understand by hell. But what of that? Will his puny word reverse the universe? We repeat it, hell is not based on such a slender foundation, and cannot be jutted away by any such feeble breath.

Hell is as deep as sin. It is, in fact, but the counterpart of sin. God is not responsible for its existence. Sin made it, and so long as sin exists hell will exist. Hell is the inevitable fruit of sin. God is the greatest enemy of hell in the universe. Its torments come of sin. When we sin we thrust ourselves out of paradise. When we would retrace our steps our sins are found confronting us, and, with flashing swords, barring up our way. And the further we go in sin, the deeper and thicker is the army of drawn swords that cut off our hope of returning.

This is the terrific fact that even the pagan conscience has ever distinctly felt and proclaimed. Hence the desperate efforts of the pagan soul to reverse his doom by all sorts of painful rites, sacrifices and self-tortures. How can I escape the damnation of hell? How can I blunt the edge of those swords that joy sins have hung over my head? How can I quench the thirst of the avenger of blood whom I have justly aroused against my own peace? How can I bridge over the gulf which my guilt has digged about me on every hand? These are the questions that spring up universally among ignorant and wise, barbarous and civilized, wherever there are human hearts that feel and minds that think. These are the questions that account for the universality of religious rites. Priests did not invent these questions; but the questions invented the priests. Costly temples, revered priesthoods, bloody rites of animal and human sacrifice—all this is but the outward expression of man's universal consciousness of guilt; all this is but one phase of man's instinctive effort to escape the damnation of hell. Also, in the higher forms of ancient tragedy, the very same thought is omnipresent. The creative idea of the whole is: the dark fate that hangs upon wrong and sin. And the interest of the whole lies in the depletion of the many ways—sure, definite, inevitable—whereby the just doom of sin eventually overtakes, and, like a thunder-stroke, crushes the sinner.

It is no new thing, therefore, no special enactment of Christianity, when the Bible proclaims eternal misery as the fruit of unrepented, obstinate sin. It is simply an old truth—old as sin. And my opposition to this doctrine is simply evidence of pitiable ignorance not only of religion, but also of the clearest facts of philosophy and history. Nor can it be held that hell is simply a creation of dark ages of human infancy and ignorance. The attribute of universality is the test of truth. The fact that men have always and everywhere felt that sin entails a dreadful doom is proof that this doom is the true verdict of our primary beliefs and intuitions, than which nothing in the whole circle of knowledge is more certain. And beyond such proof nothing but a superficial and dangerous skepticism can wish to go.

To deny the dreadful doom that awaits the sinner is no less untheological than it is unhistorical and unphilosophical. It is not necessary to inquire whether hell consists of burning brimstone or burning consciences, whether it is material fire or moral wretchedness, or both. This is not the essential thing. The essential thing is the dreadful doom which is the fruit of sin—a doom that, in some degree, begins so soon as we begin to swallow the poison of sin, and which increases and intensifies with fearful significance the further we steep our souls in guilt.

This doctrine of the inevitable and inexpressible ruinousness of sin lies at the basis of all noble lives, and is the spring of all religious reformation. This doctrine was thundered forth from Sinai, proclaimed by the prophets, republished by Christ, and preached by the apostles. It constituted the watchword of the great Reformation of the sixteenth century, and, in a still more practical sense, of the great Wesleyan revival of the eighteenth century. Everywhere, always, the main spring of all high moral movements has been an awakened sense of the terribleness of the results of sin. How preeminently this was the case with Methodism from its very start need be repeated to no Methodist who has the least acquaintance with the alphabet of his own church's history. Its very inception lay in the intense, the unspeakably vivid conviction of a band of Oxford young men that the first and highest duty of man is to seek salvation from the ruin of sin. To use their own terse phraseology: "They constantly saw the danger of eternal death hanging over their heads." This conviction was not only the spring of their efforts to save their own souls—it was also the inspiration of their heroic labors to save others. Regarding themselves as brands plucked from the burning, they felt an unquenchable zeal and anxiety to save also others. And this great doctrine was the chief starting-point in their salvatory message to the masses. First, they convinced men of the reality of the doom which threatened them; then it was easy to induce them to accept redemption in Christ. And all modern, all contemporaneous experience is in harmony with this Wesleyan experience. Ignore the terribleness of sin, mystify its inherent destructiveness, and you take off all edge, all point from the gospel message. By proclaiming the plain old gospel truth, as Christ and the apostles saw best to state it, and sinners will be convicted and converted as it was in the beginning. God evidently understood himself when he gave the gospel; man will be wise to leave it as he gave it.—Western Christian Advocate.

India.

THE FAMINE IN MADRAS.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 16.—From Madras prospects are reported to be generally good. The total number on the works is now 208,567, or 20,280 less than last week, and in receipt of gratuitous relief 317,001, or 18,588 less than last week. In Mysore sowing and harvesting continue, and the standing crops are stated to be in good condition. The number on the works on the first instant was 60,271, and in receipt of charitable relief 19,480; being respectively 6,840 and 1,978 less than in the previous week. Great distress, however, is still said to prevail.

The following is an extract from the report of a special relief officer:

"When I began my system of taking circle by circle, I was quite unprepared for the misery I found. The distress in some villages is simply appalling. In some I have had to relieve nearly every soul, and I fear even then I have not done enough. To-day, in one village, there were only two people who had made any attempt at growing a crop. Formerly there were thirty families of ryotts and three of pariahs. Now seventeen houses are empty in the pariahs' quarter, and in the remainder not a human being was to be seen, save one, and he a living skeleton. In his house there had been seven brothers living together in one inclosure—twenty-seven in all, with women and children. Five of his brothers had died, with six women and six children. He had lost land, bullocks, sheep and everything he had, and had sown no seed. I gave this man twenty rupees for a pair of bullocks, five rupees for grain and five for food. One woman had lost 100 sheep and six cattle. Not a blade of grass was on her land, while everything was sold save some earthen pots, with a mother and three children to feed. I gave her ten rupees for seed and grain. In one house in another village there were three little, tiny children under charge of an intelligent child of eight years. The mother had left them. I wanted to feed the infants at once, but there was no food in the whole village. Bullocks and grain are what the poor creatures chiefly want, but they are thankful for anything."—London Times.

A man never looks so helpless and insignificant as when standing around in a dry goods store waiting for his wife to get through trading.

We can hardly learn humility and tenderness enough except by suffering.

District Stewards.

MR. EDITOR: In the ADVOCATE of the third instant, which was received by me on the fifth, my attention was attracted by two very impracticable calls for meetings of district stewards. The presiding elder of the Vicksburg district asked his stewards to meet him in Vicksburg on the fourth instant, while the presiding elder of the Brandon district summoned his stewards to Walnut Grove December 27. I don't like to speak for other people; but as for myself, I was never able to get anywhere the day before I knew I was wanted. Hence I didn't get to Vicksburg on the fourth. But under each of the calls is the number 27, which may indicate that the notices were first published December 27. If this were so, it would reduce the matter from an impossibility to an improbability. How could the presiding elder of the Brandon district expect a notice first published in New Orleans December 27 to reach all his stewards in time for them to meet him two days thereafter? Or how could the presiding elder of the Vicksburg district look for the assembling of all his stewards within one week after his notice had first seen the light in New Orleans?

Now I know it has been said that a meeting of district stewards was never held, and these brethren may have been influenced by the fact—if it be a fact—and made the calls as a matter of form, neither expecting nor desiring the stewards to meet, deeming the matter unimportant. In fact, Mr. Editor, the district steward has become, in the opinion of many, a useless official, and the office only a fit place for storing away men who must have an office, and who can't be utilized anywhere for the good of the church. Perhaps that was why they put me there. But I think the office honorable and important. It may be because I hold it, and can be made beneficial to the holder and to the church. And it is by no means impossible to have a meeting of the board of district stewards largely if not fully attended. My plan is this: Let the district stewards be made ex-officio members of the District Conferences, just as local preachers now are, and let the District Conferences be held in the early portion of the ecclesiastical year, instead of the middle or later part, as is usually done. In the Mississippi Conference the District Conferences might all be held before the first day of March. In this way, it seems to me, the district stewards could be got together and the finances of the district receive the attention they deserve, and the meeting of the district stewards be made a profitable occasion in every sense of the word. If holding the District Conference so early in the year would not be so advantageous to other interests of the church, let another be held in the fall, just as our Presbyterian brethren have semi-annual sessions of the presbytery.

J. L. FUTRELL.

NATCHEZ, Jan. 14, 1878.

Alabama Conference Assessments for 1878.

DISTRICT.	Domestic Missions.	Foreign Missions.	Church Extension.	Sunday Schools.	Publishing House.	Total.
Mobile	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Greensboro	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Selma	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Prattville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Montgomery	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Eufaula	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cahaba Spr's	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Marion	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

NOTICE.—The Southern Review will be regularly issued during the year 1878, there being enough material of Dr. Bledsoe's to fill the number of pages usually supplied by him to each issue.

During the year that portion of his latest work—The Christian Cosmos—which was complete at the time of his death, will be published, making, it is estimated, about two hundred pages. Each chapter of this work—a work complementary to the Theodicy—is a finished essay, which, after being carefully written and copied for the press, was revised by himself.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Applications are daily received for a likeness of Dr. Bledsoe. If a sufficient number of these applications are made to cover the expense, it is proposed to have a large photo-lithograph made from an excellent photograph now in existence. The lithograph will be 13x10 inches, exclusive of margin, in Hoen's best style; the price, including mounting and mailing, not to exceed, to subscribers to the Southern Review, $1.50. If orders come in in time, the lithograph will be issued in April, 1878. Please send in applications as soon as possible.

Invade not the Past, reckless child of To-day!—Owen Meredith.

Note from North Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: Let me thank you for speaking so highly of our (North Mississippi Conference) missionary anniversary. It was just the kind I have longed to see. I have often thought of a remark of the now sainted Munsey in an address while he was assistant secretary: "It is very doubtful whether the means so often used is any benefit;" and also that he doubted whether it was right. So have I; and I hope never to hear any more joking, etc., at an anniversary. It is too serious a matter to be jesting about—securing money to send the gospel to dying heathen. To run it into almost revelry seems out of place, and it leaves no impression for good. The influence of that anniversary in Holly Springs will be felt for years to come.

My people welcomed me back with a reception dinner, which was indeed pleasant both to us and to them. I wish all our people would learn to do so. It does good not alone to the preacher and family, but to them; for the precious truth, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," holds good here. The people enjoy the reception equally with the preacher and family; and then it gives him a feeling of welcome which enables him to enter right into the spirit of the work.

We have recently received quite an addition to our community in the way of immigrants from Indiana. They have already hunted up our church, and inquired the time of class-meetings, etc. I hope they will be a great help to us.

J. L. FUTRELL.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Jan. 9, 1878.

THE POWER OF THE BIBLE.—The chief duty of Protestantism is with the Scriptures. It is clearly to declare and publish them abroad. The Bible does not need any defense so much as it needs proclamation. It defends itself wherever it is known. Deep in every soul there dwells forever a witness to the truth, whose clear eye and steady voice will see and respond to it wherever it is known. We do not need to implore men to believe the truth. We only need that they shall apprehend it, and then we may defy them to deny it. And thus the Bible, as eternal truth, needs no other argument for its support than itself clearly preached.

There are defenders of the truth who think it otherwise. They treat the Bible as a weakly infant, which must be bolstered up and carefully sustained, lest it fall. And so they bring together their learning and philosophy, their human reasoning and research, which they use as proof to keep the Bible up, trembling all the while lest one of these should fail, and the truth, unsupported, sink to its hurt. But the Bible disdains all these appliances. It is no weakly infant. It has more than a giant's strength, and can not only stand unaided, but can walk forth alone, conquering and to conquer.—Prof. Seelye.

SABBATH DRINKING.—Delegates from several of the temperance organizations of this city met at the Bible House, on Camp street, last evening, at 7:30, to consider the propriety of petitioning the Legislature to pass a law prohibiting traffic, and especially the sale of liquors, on the Sabbath day. The meeting being informed that a committee of citizens had been created to act in concert with the temperance societies, the meeting appointed a committee to confer with the committee of citizens, and adopt measures to secure the introduction of a bill providing for the abolition of the present custom of stores and bar-rooms keeping open on Sundays. It is understood that a member of the House from this parish has volunteered his services to secure support for the measure.—New Orleans Picayune, Jan. 15.

Happy will you be if you learn what it is to find love no occupation. It is no use to ask what those who love God do with him. There is no difficulty in spending our time with a friend we love; our heart is always ready to open to him; we do not study what we shall say to him, but it comes forth without premeditation; we can keep nothing back. Even if we have nothing special to say, we like to be with him. Oh, how much easier it is to love than to fear! Fear constrains, fetters, perplexes one; but love persuades, comforts, inspirits, expands the soul, and makes one desire what is good for its own sake.—Fenelon.

LIVE UPWARD.—If you stand upon the mountain you may see the sun shining long after it is dark in the valley. Try to live up high! Escape, if you can, the malarious damps of the lowlands. Make an upward path for your feet. Though your spirit may be destined to live isolated, you cannot be alone, for God is there. Your best strivings of soul are there. Your standard ground should be there. Live upward! The cedar is always developing its branches toward the top, while the lower ones are dropping away. Let your soul-life be so. Upward! Upward!—Cynosure.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1878.

ANGEL OF PATIENCE.

BY J. G. WHITTIER.

Angel of patience! sent to calm
Our feverish brows with cooling balm;
To lay the storms of fear and pain,
And reconcile us unto pain;
The thirsts of wounded pride to still,
And make our own our Father's will,
O! how we need thee on the way,
With longings for the coming day.
We walk with thee, that angel kind;
And gently whispers: "Be resigned.
Bear up, bear on, the end shall tell
The dear Lord ordereth all things well."

Why Are Our Children Lost to the Church? No. 1

MR. EDITOR: The above question is one of moment of interest to every true Methodist. In collecting materials for the History of Methodism in the Mississippi Conference I have often had occasion to regret some of our primitive Methodist families through three or four generations. In many of those families two successive generations, with but few exceptions, have adhered to the church of their fathers and exemplified, in their holy and useful lives, the faith of their godly ancestors. In too many other Methodist families Methodism has become almost, and in some cases entirely, extinct. Some of the descendants of Methodist parentage have united with other churches, by which we have not only lost their numerical and financial strength, but the influence of their zeal and activity as Christians. But a large majority of those who have become estranged from our church have gone off with the world, and have ultimately died without a well-grounded hope of heaven.

I have lived long enough to see that children of Methodist parentage, and even Methodist preachers' children, can live and die without hope in Christ. I look around now and see a large number of Methodist children, from early youth to gray hairs, not only living in habitual sin, but, to all appearance, entirely alienated from the church of their fathers and mothers. Some of them seldom attend church at all; others go to other churches more frequently than to ours; while others who attend preaching in our churches associate mostly with outsiders, as though they did not wish to be considered identified with our church interests. Now why is this so? Have we no means of arresting this constant exodus of our children from us? Our people have their children baptized, and virtually promise to teach them "to believe all the articles of the Christian faith, and to obediently keep God's holy will and commandments all the days of their lives;" but in too many instances they utterly fail of success. Why is it so? I know that baptized children are free agents, and as such are capable of resisting all religious influences to their final undoing; but, as a general rule, I believe this would not be the case if from infancy they were lovingly and strictly "brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." In the daily presence of a consistent Christian example. If it is really desirable to retain our children in church-fellowship with us—and I believe it is not only desirable, but on many accounts very important to their spiritual interests and eternal well-being—we may learn something on this point from our Roman Catholic and Hebrew neighbors. How few of their children ever renounce the religious faith in which they have been brought up! Not because their teaching has been scripturally orthodox—for we believe it has been mixed with many dangerous heresies—but because their parents and other religious teachers labor persistently to impress on their young and susceptible minds what they consider the great and damning sin of renouncing the religion of their forefathers. Now, if I conscientiously believe in the doctrines and polity of our church as scripturally orthodox, and feel willing, without any misgivings, so far as doctrines and polity are concerned, to risk my eternal salvation on their truth, why should I either neglect or hesitate to teach them plainly and persistently to my children? The command of the apostle is literally to "bring them up in the doctrine and discipline of the Lord."

In my next I propose to point out some of the causes of the perversion of our children from the church of their fathers.

J. G. JONES.

PORT GIBSON, Miss., 1878.

Prayer is needed not to prepare God to bless us, but to prepare us to receive God's blessing. In carrying to him our want we carry to him an open heart; and not even Almighty grace can give help to the soul that is closed against the great Father's loving help.

"Talents are best matured in solitude; character is best formed in the stormy billows of the world.—Goethe.

FOR THE ADVOCATE.

BE OF GOOD CHEER.

BY ISAAC N. MAYNARD.

There's a way up the mountain,
There's a way through the sea,
There's a way o'er the desert,
Though all pathless they be.
Put our trust in the Lord, and a light will appear,
And you'll see the bright pathway. Then "be of good cheer."

There's a way through the brambles,
There's a way through the snares
That beset all life's rambles,
In this dark world of cares.
O, yes, an angel our guardian is near,
And will lead thee safe through them. O "be of good cheer."

In the lightning and storm,
In the tempest and hail,
He will shield us from harm,
And no foe shall assail.
Joy of your heart! from the eye wipes the tear,
O! fear not, 'tis I—Son, "be of good cheer."

Though the burden be heavy,
O too heavy to bear,
Though we sink 'neath the weight
Of afflictions, despair,
Remember "the crown" is worn "over the bier."
The "cross" opens heaven. Then "be of good cheer."

So fatal not, despair not,
Though in darkness we roam,
Seeking happiness here,
This world's not our home.
Look up, like the flowers, and smile through a tear,
And you'll hear a sweet voice singing "Be of good cheer."

There is home for the singer,
There is hope for the saint,
There is rest for the weary,
Balm for every complaint,
If we all gracious, watchstands ever near
To lighten our burdens, smiling: "Be of good cheer."

There's a way up the mountain,
There's a way through the sea,
There's a way o'er the desert,
Though all pathless they be.
I am the light of the world. O follow me here,
And I'll lead thee to heaven. Son, "be of good cheer."

Dr. Muller.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8, 1878.

MR. EDITOR: One of the most interesting matters I have met with in this city is the visit of the Rev. Dr. Muller (pronounced Miller,) of Bristol, England, the great philanthropist and man of faith. To say that the doctor is an extraordinary man would render it necessary that we agree upon a base-line of true manhood. I should rather say that he is eminently unextraordinary, and that the rest of us are extraordinary. I am comparing him with the rest of us as a minister.

Dr. Muller (why not write it Miller at once?) is by birth and education a Prussian, though since about 20 years of age has lived in England, and is the founder and proprietor of the world-renowned charitable institution of that city, which receives and disburses such vast amounts of charity-money without asking anybody for any. I will tell you more about the institution when I return from his meeting to-night, where he is to give some historic account of it.

He is 73 years of age, six feet high, straight and slender, weighing perhaps 140 pounds. His social manners are exceedingly familiar and simple. One gets well acquainted with him at once. He speaks our language with a considerable German brogue, but plain enough to be reasonably well understood. Being a university graduate, his language is unexceptionable, but he frequently hesitates a little in getting it straightened in English. He is as far from being an orator as any public speaker you will meet with. His voice lacks rotundity and force, while his gestures are anything but elegant or even graceful. His sermonic arrangement, if his sermons can be said to have any, is exceedingly natural, commonplace and simple. His earnestness is as though the very salvation of the congregations depended on the present effort. He brings the sinner to Christ quicker and by a shorter route than any man I ever heard before. The goodness of God in salvation, the greatness and the certainty of salvation, make up his theme. He brings the Christian and the Savior into more intimate and more affectionate communion than any man I ever heard before. His sermons are a simple talking to the people about religion, mingled with great comfort and encouragement.

To-day at 12 o'clock he preached to "preachers only." About a hundred were present. And it was a time of comfort and instruction. Seldom was ever a man listened to with such anxiety. His preaching is as simple as the Bible. He spoke very feelingly and at some length about the "temptation" to arrange and adapt our sermons to the ears and capacity of the educated and the better informed classes. He regards it a sore evil, instigated by the wicked one, greatly derogatory of the gospel, a temptation that must be overcome. After hearing him on this subject it seems to me a preacher would be ashamed to again go to work and fix up a fine sermon. He spoke in very high terms of the labors of Mr. Moody in Europe. But it was all easily accounted for—he trusted in God immediately and implicitly.

But this letter must suspend here until after I hear him to-night, for it is now nigh the preaching-hour.

Returned.—Notwithstanding the coldness of the night, and the sidewalks being so covered with ice as to render walking both difficult and dangerous, the church, one of the largest, was crowded to its utmost capacity, and many, no doubt, went away for want of room. The doctor put his personal religious experience and history, and particularly an outline of the history of his Orphan Institution at Bristol, into the form of a sermon—"If ye ask anything in my name," etc. He was converted while at the University of Halle, and at the age of about 22, if I remember right, found himself a Lutheran minister in Bristol, pastor of a small and poor church. He annulled the salary system, and put himself directly on the free and voluntary mode. From that day to this he has never had a stated salary. He wanted only a support, and that only when he needed it. And the immediate need has never been felt, though frequently he has been quite out of money and quite out of food, even up to the breakfast or dinner hour; but supply never failed. He never felt concern about that, for his application was to the Lord, and his trust in him. He had divine assurance in answer to prayer. The answers generally came in an unlooked-for way, but never failed to come. He was not concerned about the way.

He saw hundreds of orphan children in the city, and believed the Lord would take care of them in answer to prayer, and he proposed to be an instrument in such an enterprise, and prayed for divine guidance. He had no money, but the Lord had. He would not go to the rich. He wanted a house and $5 000. He rented a house, made known his intention, and the money came. His beginning was small—35 orphans. In a little over a year he needed three such houses; and the institution has constantly increased. He began in March, 1835. They now have 2,226 orphans, and spend more money each day than at the first they did in a year. His son-in-law has for a number of years been his principal assistant, and manager in his absence. They receive and disburse about $230,000 a year. They have a great number of schools and other means of fitting these children for life, and turn out about 250 each year.

Dr. Muller says he came to this country merely to preach the gospel and for no other special purpose. He has consecrated himself to the Lord and labors for him. His calls to preach here and there, in this city and elsewhere, are far beyond his ability to meet them. He expects to spend several months in this country, and travel about some. He tells me he expects to visit Nashville after awhile, but cannot now say when.

Now here is abundant scope for religious reflection. While it is undoubtedly true that God, in his providence, does occasionally raise up particular men for great enterprises, such as the prophets, apostles, Luther, Wesley, Muller and others, yet is it not true, or may it not be true, that he also rigs the same sort of lever-power under many or all the rest of us, to raise us up and we refuse to be raised? Are we not most of us indolently waiting for opportunities, when it is our duty to make opportunities? Are we not too easily contented with following the fashion—merely drifting on in about the average of Christian life and labor—when great and important fields of most profitable enterprise lie unseen just before us? Would not more simple faith, and confidence in God, in the ratio of a large percentage, stimulate us to far greater undertakings?

And if we can once get ourselves in the way of ministering the gospel—parents and pastors—so as to begin the implantation and incubation of it at the first—the very first—who can tell how many generations may pass before such feats as this of Dr. Muller will be commonplace? What but ourselves hinders it?

R. ABBEY.

FRESHNESS IN PREACHING.—The Bible has infinite variety. Freshness in preaching can be cultivated and maintained by the general and regular reading of the Bible; by critical study of particular passages; by theological studies, especially biblical theology, whereby things old and new are brought forth; by studying occasions, and adapting truth thereto; by studying human nature individually, as do physicians; by scrutinizing the religious and irreligious tendencies of the age, and ascertaining what fundamental truths are needful for the age; and especially by keeping in lively exercise the powers of invention, which can be done by reading books which are stimulating and suggestive, or by proper conversation. No material stimulus, whether of a liquid or of a smoky nature, should ever be used. Invention, or the analytical faculty, can be cultivated. Because, by proper methods, men do not form habits of freshness, so many ministers in middle life, when they should be at their best, are wanted by nobody.—Dr. Broadus.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly, and limited lately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All notices received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a reproach.

MRS. ANN TORBERT, relict of the late James A. Torbert, died at her residence near Spring Hill, Marengo county, Ala., on the twenty-second of November, 1877, aged seventy-seven years. She was born, raised and educated in London, and, I think, was a communicant of the Church of England in early life. Some time in the year 1818 she came to America to join her mother, who had preceded her, and then lived in Mobile. A short time after her arrival she was united in marriage to Mr. James A. Torbert, who was then a commission merchant of Mobile, where they remained for a number of years. About the year 1834 Mr. Torbert, with his family, moved to Marengo county, and set their plantation in Spring Hill, where he died the following year, leaving his widow and four children to contend with the difficulties and sorrows of life. Sister Torbert was a woman of strong intellect, well educated and pious, and raised her children in the fear of God, and lived to see them all members of the church. She was in some respects an extraordinary woman. After the death of her husband she managed to keep her property and added largely to it, and when the most of it was taken from her by the ravages of the late war she submitted calmly and quietly to her misfortune, and although she was very old and feeble, yet she managed, by the help of her children, to live comfortably.

Mrs. Torbert was a kind, affectionate mother. She was ever kind and indulgent to her slaves. She loved her neighbors, and was very considerate of the poor. After the death of her husband she united herself with the Methodist church at Spring Hill, under the ministry of Rev. E. V. Levy, and had her children baptized. For several years I was with that church when she was able to get there. Sister Torbert contributed to all the benevolent enterprises of the church as far as her means would allow. The writer conversed with her freely a few hours before she died, and she gave every assurance of her faith in Christ. A short time after this conversation her children and friends came around her. She bade them farewell, and died without a struggle.

T. S. CHERRY.

MRS. R. C. W. HAYS, daughter of Rev. John and C. W. Ross, was born in Lipscomb county, Ga., December 4, 1838; married to George J. Hays August 25, 1858, and died at her residence in Neshoba county, Miss., December 9, 1877. Sister Hays embraced religion at the age of sixteen in Talbot county, Ga., at a protracted meeting held at the Hays church, in Talbot county, by the Rev. Thomas Coleman, a Methodist preacher, and joined the Missionary Baptist Church, and lived an exemplary member of the same for three years; after which time she united with the Methodist Church, of which her husband was a member. Bro. and Sister Hays moved to Mississippi in the winter of 1857 united with the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Philadelphia, Neshoba county, Miss.; continued faithful during the remainder of her life. Her life was an exemplification of pure and undefiled religion as a devoted mother, an affectionate wife, a kind neighbor. Her absence has created a void not to be filled. Her sympathy with the pilgrim and his family was practical. The entire community where she lived felt distressed at her illness and now mourn at her absence. I became acquainted with Sister Hays in January, 1860. I was the preacher on the Philadelphia circuit. I never had better friendship all my circuit than they were to me. I have been with them in the family a great deal from that time till this. I visited Sister Hays a few days before I went to Conference, prayed with her, and when I arose and bid her farewell she told me that she was ready for heaven; that she had no doubts, but felt she was going to heaven, and that all was well. I left, saw her no more, and when I returned she was gone to glory. Her daughter asked her, a few hours before she died, "If her faith was as strong in Jesus as ever," and her answer was: "It is." She requested her husband to have me to preach her funeral, which I will attend to, by the grace of God, on the third Sabbath in March next, at Union Ridge, Neshoba county, Miss., the place of her membership.

J. A. VINCE.

DIED, at his residence in Scott county, Miss., October 12, 1876, Hr. A. D. BANKS, in the forty-eighth year of his age. The subject of this memoir was born in Georgia on the fifteenth of December, 1827; moved, at an early age, to Dadeville, Ala., where he connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, began the study of medicine, and graduated with first honors in Augusta, Ga. In 1849 he removed to Scott county, Miss., and was happily married to Miss Emma E. Eley, December 20, 1854.

Though he never connected himself with any church in Mississippi, his Christian principles were thoroughly exemplified in the practice of virtues; and while frugality was one of his strongest characteristics, he was just, beneficent and charitable. His generous mind was often in vogue and his thoughts bent upon the necessities of those below him. He gave to the poor those not sensible of the old adage, and for the public good as well as to those who would be instructed in the worship of him for whose sake he gave it.

As a physician Dr. Banks stood second to none in his community, where his professional career never be filled, being one of uncommon silence and reserve, he might have been considered a man of strong prejudices; but those who were intimately associated with him knew that he was mild, good and benevolent, full of generous regard for the public prosperity, compassionating distresses and relieving wants. As a parent and husband he was fond, faithful and forbearing. His wife and children rendered home inexpressibly dear to him. He died in peace—was rational to the last.

A FRIEND.

MRS. SALLIE A. TEER, wife of B. F. Teer, died, at her home in Red River parish, La., on Sunday, the twenty-third of December, 1877. Her maiden name was Higdon. She died in triumph of living faith, leaving many friends to mourn her loss. Sister Teer professed faith in Christ October 22, 1872, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. She has ever since been a bright and shining light in the church and community where she lived—loved and respected by all who knew her. Unbending integrity, the frankness with which she expressed her sentiments, and untiring industry were prominent traits of her excellent character. In her personal religious life she was a devoted Christian, adorning her profession by humility, unfaltering trust and fervent love to God. Not only her family, but the entire community has been bereaved by the death of our beloved sister. She leaves a husband (who is a devoted member and steward of our church) and four little children, and left with them her parting blessing—entreated her husband to bring up her children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. She exhorted all to meet her in heaven. She suffered much in body during her illness; nevertheless, her faith was steadfast. Death had lost its sting, and she longed to depart and be with Christ.

She is safe at home—gone to meet those who have gone before her—gone to live with the angels and her Savior, and wait for us. We shall meet her again in a better, brighter world than this.

D. B. CHURCH.

Nashville and Texas Advocates please copy.

MRS. MARY LOUISA SMITH died at her home in Jackson county, Miss., November 19, 1877, aged thirty-three years. Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Vaughn. She was a native of Jackson county, in which she spent most of her life. She was married to William H. Smith February 5, 1863, and by her untimely death her grief-stricken husband is left with three children to mourn the loss of a precious wife and devoted mother. In early life she professed faith in Christ as her Savior, and during a long period of years she was an earnest and faithful witness-bearer for Christ, and a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

For many months this estimable Christian woman was a great sufferer, and throughout her protracted illness, and especially during her last hours, hers was an exemplary resignation, betokening the highest order of Christian faith. Meekness, patience, humility, gentleness and kindness were singularly blended in her character. She was won to speak no unkind word of any one, but ever possessed a kind and forgiving spirit. Death was no unwelcome visitor to her. He had no terrors for her. Many years ago she had made her peace with God, and lived and died in hope of "an immortal crown." When the last hour came, and weeping friends were expecting the final struggle, suddenly, without a groan, with scarcely a shudder, she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus. Hers was truly an honored life, a peaceful death and a triumphant victory.

A. M. CYNES.

JOHN EUGENE WILSON, son of John M. and M. A. Wilson, was born in Homer, Claiborne parish, La., July 5, 1851, and died October 19, 1877. Another bud of promise plucked by the ruthless hand of death, another home made desolate, another mother's heart wrung with anguish because her boy is not, but the Father had needed him, and called the beloved one "over there."

His father joined the Confederate army early in the struggle between the States, and his mother moved to her parents', who lived in Ouachita parish, with her only son, John, an infant. He had all the advantages of that training which a religious mother and pious grandparents could afford. He was protected from evil associations, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in August 2, 1873, under the ministration of Bro. E. G. Hocut. He was apprised of his condition, and spoke calmly of his near approach to death, and gave evidence that he was ready for the summons. He quietly bade adieu to his weeping friends, and peacefully fell asleep. All who knew him could but regret that one so young and so full of promise should have fallen so early. He counseled much to home, State and Church; but the ways of God are past finding out, and we bow with humble and broken spirits to Him who knoweth all things, and doeth all things well.

C. W. HORNE.

SISTER P. ANN BARRE was born September 15, 1811, in the State of Mississippi. Her parents moved from Mississippi to Alabama, and from Alabama to Jackson parish, La. Here she received her education. When she came to years of womanhood she was married to Bro. J. M. Barre December 21, 1837. She joined the church at Jones' camp ground in 1875, was baptized by Bro. John A. Miller, and lived with the people of God until July 7, 1877, when, in the fullest assurance of the faith, she departed to mansions of rest beyond the shores of time. Her third son, JOHN ALMER, fell asleep a few hours before his mother, aged four years. They were interred in the same grave. Thus within a few hours of each other they passed into the region of the blessed, and joined Mule on Calvin, who had died June 5, 1872, aged nine months. Sister Barre has two sons yet left to meet the scenes of life. May they early experience her religion, and, like her, when the messenger comes, be ready for the summons. What peace, what comfort to meet Christians! What an eternal, blissful, rapturous gain is heaven!

C. W. HORNE.

MRS. MARY E. NASH, wife of C. Nash, was born in Henry county, Ga., December 23, 1826, and entered upon her eternal rest, November 22, 1877. Her life, like the compass to the mariner, pointed out fully and clearly the latitude and longitude of her religious experience. It was like a beautiful day in the summer-time, gradually fading away into the twilight of evening. Her afflictions for ten months kept her mostly confined to her room. While thus cut off from the blessings of the sanctuary, and to a great extent from the social relations of life, she found comfort and peace in the presence of Christ, our Savior. The good must die as well as others; but how blessed are they in that trying hour! She conquered in the name of Christ, and that conquest has brought the reward anticipated. For many hours before the struggle was finished she was insensible, and left, in consequence of it, no testimony of her hope in her last moments. But she is on high, and enjoys the rest prepared for the people of God.

J. F. SCRUGGS.

MARK E. MOORE, son of Lemuel Moore, and nephew of Rev. Mark Moore, of Methodist notoriety, died, in his eighty-fifth year, at the residence of his son, William E. D. Moore, in Coosa county, Ala., on the eleventh of November, 1877, where he had lived, surrounded by many friends, since 1836, except an interval of four years, from the fall of 1860, in Texas. He was born in South Carolina, spent his early manhood in Georgia, and from that State served in the war of 1812. He married Miss Martha Dubose, and moved to Alabama while it was yet a Territory, settling in what was then known as Coosa valley. In early life he attached himself to the Methodist Church, and all along through his protracted journey in life exhibited his confidence and trust in the God of his salvation, and in death manifested a quiet and peaceful repose in that safe and unerring trust. Many friends in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas will recognize the familiar name heading this short notice with pleasant and joyous memory of the past; and for them I write this, honoring the memory of my father.

HIS SON.

Texas Christian Advocate please copy.

THE following preamble and resolutions were adopted at the fourth Quarterly Conference of Rocky Mount circuit, Alabama Conference:

Whereas, It has pleased almighty God, in his wise providence, to remove from our midst Bro. MICHAEL M. STRUTH, who was much beloved, and served so faithfully as steward for a number of years; therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Quarterly Conference of Rocky Mount circuit, bow with resignation to this sad dispensation of his providence, knowing that he doeth all things well.

Resolved, That our tenderest sympathies are extended to his dear orphan children, and our prayer is that their bleeding hearts may be solaced by the inexpressible presence of Jesus as father, counselor and immortal friend.

Resolved, That the above preamble and resolutions be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

J. A. GIBBENS,
P. WARNER,
ALFRED BRUNT,
Committee.

JAMES KELLY was born near Columbia, S. C., January 3, 1805, and died in Rapides parish, La., October 15, 1877. For three years before his death he was wrestling with a paralytic stroke, but no permanent relief was realized either from medicine or the kind and watchful care of friends. His sufferings did not blight his prospects of heaven, but rather brightened them by view of their relation to Christ. He realized that "no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous," and that "afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby." After forty-one years of deep and varied experience he still professed his love for Christ, who redeemed him with his own blood, and declared that he was willing and ready to die and be with him. His life and death recommend to all the Savior who conquered death and hell as worthy of acceptance in this life. He rests from his labors and affections, and leaves a pure and hallowed influence in the church.

J. F. SCRUGGS.

JOSEPH CLINTON departed this life in Marion, Lauderdale county, Miss., October 23, 1877, aged seventy-three years.

In the death of Mr. Clinton the church has lost a staunch supporter, and the community an influential and useful member. Though not a member of the church, no man in the community contributed more liberally to its support than he. In making their quarterly rounds our stewards never passed him by. He was kind to the poor, and failed not to care for the afflicted. He professed conversion about nineteen years since, though from some cause he never saw proper to have his name enrolled on the class-book. The writer has known him intimately for the past nine years, and thinks he never knew a more consistent Christian. He leaves a Christian wife, who is an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. May the good Lord comfort and keep her, so that she may eventually meet her now sainted companion where they will never again be called upon to separate.

J. C. BRACIN.

MRS. MINERVA BYRNE, wife of W. P. Byrne, and daughter of W. J. and Margaret A. Williams, of Santa Rosa county, Fla., died, at her father's residence, on the twentieth of October, 1877, after a short illness of catarrhal fever.

In the death of our friend we realize the uncertainty of life and the mutability of terrestrial things, as she was called home in life's early morning, in womanhood's beauty, with a joyous future in anticipation. She was a member of the Methodist Church South, and a regular attendant. She was characterized at all times with gentleness, kindness and modesty, and had many warm friends. She had been married only one month and seven days, and leaves a heart-stricken husband and many friends with whom we deeply sympathize to mourn her loss.

R. D. B.

DIED, in New Orleans, December 18, in great peace, after a protracted illness, Mrs. SYNELLA A., consort of John H. Riley, of Madison parish, La., aged twenty-three years and eight months. Deceased was a daughter of the late W. C. and Hester Ann Currie, of Carroll parish. Her last moments were cheered by the presence of husband, mother and sister, and her last words were: "Let me go!—let me go!"

DIED, November 5, 1877, in Polk county, Texas, little JOE, youngest child of J. D. and Lizzie Carnes. Scarcely six years of sunshine and shadow had little Joe gladdened his mamma's widowed heart, when he left her and went to his papa in heaven.

M. C. WATERS.

The Christian Advocate.

THE ... JANUARY 17, 1878.

... OF THE MONTHS.

TH...

Firstl... ...h of Janus,
Hop... ...rugget clad,
Com's ... ...rheum to pain us;
Firstl... ...ts of Janus,
Cover... ...ry canus;
Nim... ...d and bad,

After t... ...rother,
Bank... ...ion cling:
Mist bl... ...another,
After t... ...rother,
Heart-s... ...ch other,
Listen... ...spring.

Hark! t... ...hers follow,
Illume... ...herald labarted';
O'er hlo flies the shifting swallow—
Hark! for March thereto doth follow.
Swift hls born, by hot an hollow,
Wakes the flowers in wlfter dead.

Thou then, April, Iris' daughter,
Born between the storm and sun;
Coy as nymph ere Pan hall caught her,
Thou then, April, Iris' daughter,
Now are light, and rustling water;
Now are mirth, and mosts begun.

May the jocund cometh after,
Month of all the loves, (and mine:)
Month of mock and cuckoo-laughter,
May the jocund cometh after,
Birks are gay on roof and rafter;
Luckless lovers pink and pine.

June the next, with roses scented,
Languid from a slumber spell;
June in shade of foliage tented—
June the next, with roses scented—
Now her lips, still lamented,
Shuns the mournful Philome).

Hot July thereafter rageth,
Dog-star smitten, wild with heat,
Fierce as pard the hunter cageth,
Hot July thereafter rageth,
Traffic now no more engageth;
Tongues are still in stall and street.

August next, with cider mellow,
Laughs from out the purpled corn,
Look at back, a lusty fellow,
August next, with cider mellow,
Now in wake the sheafage yellow
Tells the tardies slow is borne.

Laden deep with fruity cluster,
Then September, ripe and ripe,
Hes about its basks I cluster,
Laden deep with fruity cluster,
Skies have now a softer lustre,
Thrice resound to day of flail.

Then thou then, too, of woodlands lover,
Dusk October, berry-stained;
Wall'st about to part thy plover,
Then thou then, too, of woodlands lover,
Feeling now are copse and cover
Forests now are sere and wanech.

Next November, limping, halter'd,
Blinded in a whirl of leaf;
Wont of want and travel tattered,
Next November, limping, halter'd,
Now the goodly ships are shattered,
Far at sea, on rock and reef.

Last of all the shrunk December,
Cowled for age, in sere and gray,
Facing-like a holding of beer,
Last of all the shrunk December,
Hide regarding, long remember'd
Life and joy must pass away.

Alfred Wright.

Hints to Liquor-Buyers.

There lies before us as we write a little book of twenty-four pages, entitled "Hints to Liquor Merchants." We have read it with considerable interest; and it has occurred to us that it affords equally valuable hints to liquor-buyers. It is published by William Rudkin's Sons, of this city, "practical chemists," and we shall make them no charge for this editorial advertisement of their philanthropic business.

Messrs. Rudkin's Sons are as modest as they are philanthropic. When one of the attaches of the Christian Union applied to them, some time since, for a copy of this suggestive little treatise the favor was respectfully declined. Messrs. Rudkin's Sons act on the aphorism of the Scripture, and do not willingly let their right hand know what their left hand does. The Christian Union is, however, a very earnest seeker after knowledge. The application was therefore repeated to a retail liquor-seller up-town; the little book of "hints" was furnished to him; and by him it was given in turn to the Christian Union. The publishers of the pamphlet forget the other aphorism about a candle not being made to put under a bushel; and they will pardon us for removing the bushel which they have put over it, and placing their candle in a candlestick, where it will give its light to a larger circle of interested readers.

The object of Messrs. Rudkin's Sons' little book is to tell the liquor merchant how to make a quality of domestic liquor fully equal to the imported article, at an immeasurably lower cost; and being "practical chemists," it is scarcely necessary to add that they furnish the liquor merchant with the materials—"plain and simple directions on each bottle." It ought also to be added that they give the liquor merchants their positive assurance that "we have never, in our long experience, met with a sample of flavoring extract manufactured from any substance injurious to health;" and in this view our readers will be gratified to know they are "sustained by the most eminent chemists in this country and in Europe." The liquor merchants, whose sensitiveness to the health of the community is one of their most distinguishing characteristics, will be equally delighted with this confident assurance. With this preface, which is evidently due to Messrs. Rudkin's Sons, we proceed to give from their hints to liquor merchants some extracts which may serve as hints also to the liquor purchasers.

To make good brandy, first purchase pure French spirit, which we understand to be pure alcohol. We confess ourselves not very thoroughly acquainted with this peculiar form of "practical chemistry," and if we mistake any of Messrs. Rudkin's Sons' directions, our columns will be open to the correction of our unintentional error. To forty gallons of spirit, properly colored, add one quart of glycerine, and two ounces of Messrs. Rudkin's Sons' brandy oil. "To imitate any particular brand, add a small quantity of the kind imitated." About three gallons to forty will preserve the purpose." The italics are ours; for we desire to emphasize to the drinker of average brandy that, according to this recipe, in the very best brandy he gets one quart of real brandy to thirty of —— what is it? In the ordinary brandies he does not even get a drop. If the liquor merchant desires whisky, he adds whisky oil instead of brandy oil, same proportions; some very liberal dealers "use five gallons of rye whisky to thirty-five gallons of French spirit."

We might go on indefinitely with receipts for rum, gin, etc.; but advertising space in our editorial columns is limited. We pass on to the "pure foreign wines," the "real old port," the "fine old Madeira," the "mild claret" that "never hurt anybody." Here, for example, is a recipe for sherry:

"SHERRY.—Four ounces sherry oil; thirteen gallons pure spirit proof. Mix and add twenty seven gallons cider, fine quality; one gallon white sirup. Three to five gallons of good foreign sherry added will improve."

We recommend those of our readers who want sherry to make their own; and if we may be permitted to make a suggestion, on a subject on which we are not connoisseurs, it would be that they make the cider serve their purpose without the additions. The fine old port is made of the same materials; the real color is given to it by a decoction of Malva flowers. "Weigh three pounds for each barrel, and, having separated the green part, steep the red petals only in warm water. These flowers have no medicinal effect, and give a beautiful color to water, wine or cider."

Claret, Muscat, Madeira, Malaga, and American grape wines are all made by the same simple process: French spirit, cider, glycerine, flavoring oils and coloring matter, in different proportions.

The purchaser of "pure foreign and imported liquors" ought to understand what he buys—what at least he is always liable to be buying. He ought to know that it is simply impossible to purchase a pure native wine outside of the country where it is made; that in London alone there is sold every year more Madeira than the whole Island of Madeira produces; that in one season, in a single city of this country there was sold as much California wine as the whole California coast produced; that a brisk trade is driven in champagne corks and imported bottles, which are required to be served over and over again year after year; that the custom-house mark is no guarantee, for by the laws of Great Britain the adulteration of liquor is allowed in bond; that the importer's assurance is no guarantee for the wines exported to the United States are doctored with alcohol before they leave the country where they are produced. "A good portion of the wine of France and Germany" says no less an authority than the Encyclopedia Britannica, "has ceased to be the juice of the grape at all in point of fact, the processes of sweetening, plastering, etc., are carried on to such an extent that it is scarcely possible to obtain a sample of genuine wine, even at first hand." Sherry is mingled with cheap brandy and flavored with sugar-candy and bitter almonds. Pale sherries are produced by plaster of Paris. Claret are manufactured on this side of the water; cochineal gives the color. Champagne is produced from rhubarb stalk gooseberries and sugar. The best wines are adulterated. The common wines have not a drop of the genuine article in them. Published books give the plainest directions for fabrication; brewers or druggists furnish the materials, and the process of adulteration, beginning when the wine is made, continued in the process of exportation, and perfected in the cellars is so all but universal that Messrs. Rudkin's Sons' business might not any longer to hide its excellence in pamphlets surreptitiously circulated.

If the Christian Union were to assert that adulteration is the rule, and that wines of commerce are often made without a drop of true wine in them, we should be accused of writing in ignorance and making prejudice serve for knowledge. We have therefore cut these "practical chemists" into court to tell what they know about the process, in order that if one reader choose to drink the ordinary "wine" of commerce, they may at least know of what they are always likely to be composed, and may, if they so call them by their right names.—Christian Union.

The Only Hope.

Frances Power Cobbe, the distinguished English authoress, appears in a late number of the Contemporary Review, a remarkable paper concerning death phenomena which are often seen in the last moments of dying persons. We give the close of the article:

May it not be that when that hour comes for each of us which we have been wont to dread, one of parting and sorrow—

"The last long parting of the shore Of this wide world"

ere we "put off into the unknown dark"—we may do that we only leave, for a little, the friends of earth to go straight into the embrace of those who have long been waiting for us to make perfect for them the nobler life beyond the grave? May it not be that our very first dawning sense of that enfranchised existence will be the rapture of union with the beloved ones who we have mourned as lost, but who have been standing near, waiting lovingly for our recognition, as a other may watch beside the bed of a fever-stricken child till reason at length illumine the eyes, and with outstretched arms it cries: "Mother?"

There are some, alas! whom it must be very dreadful to think of thus meeting on the threshold of eternity, the wronged, the deceived, the forsaken. But for most of us, God be thanked, no dream of celestial glory has half the sweetness of the thought that in dying we are most—and meet at once—before we have had a moment to feel the awful loneliness of death—the parent, the husband, child, friend of our inmost soul, whom we consigned long ago, with breaking hearts to the grave. Their "beautiful" forms (as that dying lady beheld her brother and sister) entering our chamber, standing beside our bed of death, and come to rejoin us forever—what words can tell the happiness of such a vision? It may be awaiting us all. There is even, perhaps, a certain probability that it is actually the natural destiny of the human soul, and that the affections, which alone of earthly things can survive dissolution, will, like magnets, draw the beloved and loving spirits of the dead around the dying. I can see no reason why we should not indulge so ineffably blessed a hope. But, even if it be a dream, the faith remains built on no such evanescent and shadowy foundation, that there is one Friend—and he the best—in whose arms we shall surely fall asleep, and to whose love we may trust for the reunion, sooner or later, of the severed links of sacred human affection.

Prayer and Law.

There can be no real efficacy in prayer to God when it takes the form of a petition which must be either granted or refused; because "law" which reigns throughout the spiritual and material universe is an insurmountable obstacle to the efficacy of prayer. This objection has been triumphantly proclaimed to be "one of the most remarkable conquests of modern thought, into which no man can enter with an intelligent sympathy without abandoning the foundation that God will grant a particular favor to one of his creatures upon being asked to do so." So that while it may have been paid a noble in the superstitious and unscientific past for men to pray for rain, for health, for deliverance from pestilence, when these things were supposed to depend upon the caprice of an Omnipotent will; now that we have attained to a higher and nobler idea of the universe, and know that a shower is the result of certain atmospheric laws, and that death is the result of certain physiological laws which all society determine it, it is absurd to suppose that God will forego an interference; and so we may as well abandon the habit of prayer as a vain and useless superstition.

This is to say that nothing is impossible with the infinite God, which finite men accomplish daily by means of judicious application of the forces at their disposal—as for instance, though it is a law of nature that water shall flow downward, yet man, by the application of hydraulic pressure, can cause it to mount upward. Again, fire, when brought in contact with linen, will destroy it; yet we are able by the admixture of certain substances with the linen, to check the action of this law. Not that the law is annulled in either of these cases, as in others that might be cited but this particular law is overruled with other laws, is conditioned in its operations. Now, if God have not the same power to counteract or modify his laws if it seem good to him, than he has created a power greater than himself, and his own supremacy is disregarded. And in this case law must be understood to mean a mere customary, invisible fact of which we can give no reason, except that it is a matter of experience. Now such a self-sustained force is either self-originating, or else has escaped from the control of the being from whom it received its impetus, and so loses his liberty; and a being so fettered could not be omnipotent, could not be God. Hence such a conception of the laws of nature is in reality a denial of the existence of God. But assuming the existence of God as the first cause, that it is he who has created the universe and given it a system of laws by which all the parts shall work harmoniously together, then in our reading of law we are not dealing with a cause unintelligent, unsympathetic, free, but with the free will of an intelligent moral agent.—Standard of the Cross.

The Sure Foundation.

There are two errors which men are very apt to run into. One is the supposition that God takes little or no notice of our conduct in this world; the other, that worldly prosperity and adversity are to be considered as instances of the favor or displeasure of God, and that a man is just so much a favorite of Heaven as he is crowned with worldly prosperity. While we believe that God often interposes for the reward of virtue or the punishment of vice in this world, yet we are not to expect an exact display of the justice of God here, but must wait for that hereafter, when his ways to man shall be fully vindicated and every one receive the just recompense of his deeds.

The dispensations of God's providence are to be regarded as the means which infinite wisdom and goodness make use of to correct the evil tempers and passions of men. The great lesson which God is endeavoring to teach mankind is that of faith, trust and dependence on himself—the only sure foundation of virtue. That virtue which is built only on popular sentiment, or public good, or the fitness of things, depending on mode and fashion, the caprice and often the folly of men, cannot be permanent or entire. But the belief that God sees and regards all our actions, and the principles from which they proceed, and that he will in a future life judge us according to the law of the gospel and of that reasonable nature which he has given us, rewarding or punishing us according as our past lives have been, this belief fixes virtue on a sure foundation, carries its principles to the heart, and extends its influence through the whole life. It becomes the ground-work of that firm faith and trust in God which abides all trials, and remains unshaken by the storms and commotions of the world. Christian at Work

A man is called selfish not for pursuing his own good, but for neglecting his neighbor's.—Ab. Whatley.

Religious Intelligence.

—Sweden and Switzerland contribute the largest number of new members to the Mormon Church.

—The United Brethren in Christ report an increase this year of 4,882 members. The total is now 148,763, with 4,067 churches.

—The Universalists, according to their Year-Book for 1878, are now 35,595 strong, against 32,917 in 1876 and 31,071 in 1875. They have 691 church organizations, 765 church edifices and 722 ministers. Their parish property is estimated to be worth $6,978,110.

—As often as the marriage anniversary of the Maharajah Dhuleep Singh, of India, occurs, he joyfully commemorates it by giving $5,000 to the girls' school of the Egyptian mission of the United Presbyterian Church, which earned his gratitude by furnishing him with a wife from among its pupils. These helpful gifts have been continued several years.

—Mr. Davis has sent an account of a new inscription he has discovered north of the Pylæ Cilicis, inscribed in Hamathite characters. Unfortunately it is almost illegible; but among the few characters he was able to copy some well-known Hamathite ones. We believe that the Hamathite inscriptions copied by George Smith at Jerabbis will soon be published.

—As an indication of the great improvement made in communication with Central Africa, it may be stated that the Church Missionary Society received in the middle of November letters written on Lake Nyassa August 29. Capt. Elton and party had arrived at Livingstonia, and were about to proceed by the steamer to the northern part of the lake, to explore the country.

—The Dunkards are taking a new departure. At a general meeting held at Myerstale, Pa., recently they organized "The Brethren's Church Extension Union," the first society of the kind the denomination has ever had. The purpose of the union is to organize and extend the home mission work of the denomination, by sending out missionaries and ministers. The secretary is to be a salaried officer, which is an innovation.

—The Alliance has been investigating the subject of church debts in Chicago. It gives a total of $1,411,195 against which stands this qualifying circumstance: "In some cases mortgages have been reduced by partial payments, while still appearing on the books for the amount of the original indebtedness." The Interior thinks the Alliance's table is not fair to the churches. The total is divided as follows: Presbyterian, $256,898; Congregational, $214,115; Methodist Episcopal, $180,781; Baptist, $53,099.

—Canon Scott Robertson's annual summary of British contributions to the 69 societies in Great Britain and Ireland which collect funds for propagating missionary work in foreign lands shows that in the financial year 1876-7 these British contributions amounted to $5,242,360. The general summary is as follows: Church of England societies received $2,120,605 "collections," or [illegible] societies, $754,540; Nonconformist societies in England and Wales, $1,565,855; Scotch and Irish Presbyterian societies, $791,740; and Roman Catholic societies, $82,395. Making a total of $5,242,360.

—The Rev. C. P. Hard, of the Methodist mission in the Madras Presidency, writes a very interesting letter, under date of August 8 about the famine in India. The famine embraces a territory with fifteen or eighteen millions of inhabitants, of whom not less than 500,000 have succumbed to the pangs of hunger and to the sickness which famine always breeds. The government has done nobly in relieving the suffering. It has employed over 600,000 men and women on public works, and distributed food liberally to the starving, who are gathered into relief camps. The women who are employed by the government number many thousands. They carry "on their heads, under the sharp rays of this Eastern sun, their loads of sand and bricks and mortar and timber throughout the working hours of the day and at night sleep in the fields or the extemporized hut camps; and often, when 3,000 of a camp rise in the morning, thirty corpses have been left on the ground." The government had expended, at the end of the year, over $15,000,000 by way of relief, and considerable money must have been raised by relief committees in England; and yet much more is needed.—Independent —A writer in the Church Times reviews the progress of the Anglican missions in India, with special reference to the propagation of Ritualism in that mission field. He says both the English Church Union and the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament are represented in each of the three dioceses in India. He says: "There are belonging to the E. C. U., in the Calcutta branch, 39 members, of whom 14 are clergy. In the Madras branch there are 45 lay and 12 clerical members. In the Bombay branch there are 19 clergy and 67 lay members and associates; and at the head of the clerical members is the new Bishop of Bombay, who has, to his honor be it said, the courage to be a member of the E. C. U. With regard to the other great church society, the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, we find that out of 91 chaplains under government in the dioceses of Calcutta 5 are C. B. S. priests. In Bombay there are 30 C. B. S. priests out of 50 chaplains and clergy at work in that diocese. In Madras there are 8 C. B. S. priests out of the 38 chaplains employed there. The statistics of the Madras Ward have not come to us; but there are some 40 members, both men and women, in the Bengal and Bombay Ward. The guild of the Holy Standard, which is open to all soldiers, for advancing, as opportunity occurs, church principles and reverent ritual, is also represented in India, and is doing good work there toward improving the condition of the garrison chapels."

Our Young People.

LITTLE CHILDREN.

Little feet may find the pathway
Leading upward unto God;
Little hands must learn to scatter
Seeds of precious truth abroad.
Youthful hearts may be the temple
For the Spirit's dwelling-place,
Childhood's lips declare the richest
Of God's all-abounding grace.

Little ones, though frail and earth born,
Heirs of blessedness may be:
For the Savior whisperath gently:
"Suffer such to come to me."
And in that eternal kingdom,
'Mid the grand, triumphal throng,
Childish voices sweet may mingle
In the glorious choral song.

Apples of Gold.

From Our Little Friends.

HAZLEHURST, MISS., Nov. 25, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl just ten years old. I am fond of Sunday school, and want to go every Sunday. We have such a good superintendent, and the whole Sunday school likes him so much—both teachers and scholars. Now I will tell you his name—it is Dr. Ben Catching. I had two sweet little sisters, who died of diphtheria last month, within two weeks of each other; and we miss them so much. They wanted to go to Sunday school very much. Their names were so pretty, too—Lucy and Katie. Jezebel was the wicked queen that Elijah prophesied should be eaten by dogs, near the walls of Jezreel; it is found in First Kings xxi, 23. I will ask a question: What verse in the Bible has every letter in the alphabet in it? I love to read the children's letters in the ADVOCATE.

Your little friend,

CARRIE B. NORMAN.

DOWNSVILLE, LA., Nov. 25, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I have seen letters in the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE from little boys and girls from every part of this State, but none from Downsville. I am going to school and learning very fast. I am studying spelling, Fifth Reader, penmanship and arithmetic. Mr. Hoeutt has been our preacher for the last two years, but he is gone, and I am sorry. He left last Tuesday for Opelousas. We have a new Methodist church at Downsville. It was finished last week. I must close by asking the little folks a question: Where is "washpot" mentioned in the Bible? Your friend,

WATTIE HAMMONDS.

PINE BLUFF, ARK., Dec., 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little boy ten years old. My father takes your paper. He is a preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Pine Bluff, Ark. There was a little boy who wrote a letter for your paper, who wanted to know where the word "bonnet" was found in the Old Testament. It is found in several places. I will mention them: Exodus xxviii, 40; xxxviii, 9; Leviticus viii, 13; xxxix, 28; Isaiah lii, 20; Ezekiel xliv, 18.

Your little friend,

WILLIE EVANS.

P. S.—Papa has gone to Conference.

MOUNT HERMAN, ALA., Dec. 5, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years old. I am sorry to say we have no Sabbath school. It was at the brook Kishon where Elijah slew the prophets of Baal. It is found in First Kings xviii, 40. Rebekah rode the camel when she was journeying from her father's house to meet Isaac, whom she married. It is found in the twenty-fourth chapter of Genesis. God buried Moses; this we learn from the thirty-fourth chapter of Deuteronomy, sixth verse. Where did Aaron die?

Your little friend,

EMMA MALONA MOORE.

LOUISVILLE, ALA., Nov. 28, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: When I wrote to you before I was not going to Sabbath school. Since that time I have been going regularly. I will try to answer some of the questions in last week's ADVOCATE. Elijah slew the prophets of Baal at the brook Kishon; it is found in First Kings xviii, 40. I think it was the Lord who buried Moses. Who was the father of King David? Who did Paul cause to tremble?

Your little friend,

BELLE PAGE.

The Boy Who Kept His Word.

One day I heard the softest little tap-a-tap at the door, how as though made by a kitten's paw and, when I opened it, a beautiful little boy, with brown eyes, red lips and rich olive complexion, stood there perspiring, and holding his old battered hat in his sunburnt hands.

"Would you lend me a wheelbarrow to take some walnuts home?" I will bring it right back this evening," said he respectfully, and he appeared like a dear little gentleman.

"Be sure, my little man, I want to accommodate you," said I, laying my hand on his moist brow, and turning his sweet face fairly up to view; "but how do I know that you are an honest little stranger?" Your eyes and face look very honest, but sometimes a boy's eyes belie his truthful face. Yes, I'll lend you the wheelbarrow, and take your word for it that you'll bring it back this evening. But you look so tired and sweaty that I believe you'd like one of my nice cookies, would you not?"

"Yes, ma'am, thank you," said he; and then I put the sideboards on the wheelbarrow, and ran it out at the gate for him, and helped him fill a sack of nuts into it. In the evening, as we sat at tea, I heard the wheelbarrow coming up the dusty road with a creaking "wheek; wheek," and I felt rejoiced to know that my little stranger was a boy who could be trusted.

"I did bring it home now, didn't I?" said he, pulling along.

"Thank you," said I. "It does me good to meet a boy who regards his word as something sacred, because I think an honest boy will make an honest man," and I shook hands with the little fellow, and told him to sit down and rest.

He took off his hat and sat down, saying: "I can't stay long, because I have to get the cow for mother, and we keep her in Mr. Irving's pasture."

I learned who the child was—that he was the new blacksmith's son, and that he had a little brother and sister at home, and that "Sissy Zoa" was the darlingest baby in the world. I talked to him about keeping his word always, regarding it as something sacred—of building up a character for truthfulness; and for a few moments I talked little boy-talk as hard as I could. His big eyes watched me closely—he understood and appropriated every word I said. I gave him a cookie to eat then, and one for after he got home, and one apiece for the little brother and sister, and told him to mind what his mother had said about getting the cow, and that I believed he was rested, and had better go now; but whenever he wanted any favors hereafter I would not be afraid to trust him.

Oh, he walked off so royally! just as rich and honorable, and he took strides like a young Goliah! And I felt good to meet with a specimen of manly integrity in such a little lump of a boy. I felt a deep interest in the child, and resolved to watch him, and do him all the good I could.

The Suez Canal.

Year after year a vast climatic change is gradually more and more observable in eastern Egypt, or rather, to be more precise, in that belt of land ninety miles or so long by some thirty broad, which, extending between Suez and Port Said, is directly influenced by the water of the Suez canal. Before the canal was opened up there was scarcely a blade of grass in the region, except on the borders of the bitter lakes and round about the oasis of Ismailia. But now the whole face of the country is becoming changed. Everywhere along the line of the canal herbage of various kinds is springing up. It is, of course, known to every one that the water of the canal is salt; but, as it filtrates through the sand, it becomes capable of affording nourishment to vegetation. Then the large influx of water into the desert has affected the atmosphere. The rapid evaporation which takes place during the day gives rise in cool dews at night. Captains of Suez canal steamers declare that, even in the case of such a rarity as rain, the rain-fall is every year markedly increasing. The new verdure of portions of the desert itself attracts the clouds, according to a well-known natural phenomenon. It is also asserted that more and more each year the character of the northern portion of the Gulf of Suez is becoming assimilated to that of the Mediterranean. This is owing to that very steady, though gentle current which is known to flow through the canal in the direction of the Red Sea, where, as is natural, evaporation goes on at a greater pace than in the Mediterranean. It has been tested and found true that the water of the canal at the Suez mouth, notwithstanding that it has passed through ninety miles of burning desert, is cooler than that of the Red Sea ten miles or so south of Suez. Since the canal was opened there has been three-fold more water in the bitter lakes. This summer especially a change for the cooler has been noticed by numbers of observers in the desert which is "spanned by the bridge of water."

THE DIFFERENCE.—"Ah, mamma," said little Gertrude at dinner, "how poor the soup is! Really it is not good at all, and I want no more of it;" and she laid down her spoon as if it were a finished matter.

"I have not time now, my dear daughter, to prepare another better one, but this evening I promise to give you soup that you will call most excellent and delicate."

Gertrude was a poor woman's daughter, and after dinner she went out with her mother to pick up the potatoes that had been dug up over the field. They worked away putting up in sacks until sunset.

In the evening the mother prepared their supper, and first brought on the delicate soup. Gertrude tasted it, and cried out with delight: "Oh, what a difference between this and that which we had for dinner! This is so good, mamma; you have certainly done your best this time." As soon as she had finished it her mother laughed, saying: "This is the same soup, my dear, that you found so poor at noon, but it is good, this time, just because you have worked well this afternoon. Industry gives a good appetite, and hushes all complaints."

"God before and above all things!—such is the command, such is the law, and our very reason acknowledges it. Every interest should be sacrificed, every obligation canceled, for the furtherance of this supreme duty. You seek Jesus, you look for consolation and joy of the soul; serve God, pray to him, and you will thus come face to face with Jesus; you will find consolation of spiritual joy.

The destroyer of all successes is illusioned apprehension of danger.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

ADVERTS—All the members of the Patrolling Conference.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

The Men to be Looked Out.

The qualifications, mentioned in connection with the appointment of the seven deacons, should serve as a guide in the choice of men for official position in the church. We do not see why they should not apply to all at least as a guide. They may be more imperatively and more completely demanded in some cases than in others, but the aim should be to approximate this standard of character and attainment.

"Honest report." A steward who has not this can do only harm. A class-leader who has not the confidence of his brethren cannot be their adviser in spiritual things. The preacher who does not command general respect as a pure and good man, even if he gets the ear, cannot reach the hearts and consciences of the people. If before conversion he was noted for lack of integrity and for gross immorality, his reformation must secure general belief, and that after a sufficient trial, before it is expedient to give him official place of any kind. It is conceivable that for certain crimes before conversion, or for certain crimes by which men fall after conversion, official position may be forever inexpedient. The disability is such that however penitent they may be, the church is embarrassed and injured by their prominence, and their usefulness is destroyed. There are some moral offenses in the ministry which should bar any subsequent restoration of credentials. The penitent offender may be received back into the church, but his sin may be of such a nature as to make his forfeiture of ministerial standing irrevocable. His good report is gone, and, while the church may help him to save his soul, it cannot bear the burden of infamy which he has brought upon himself. Officials in the church must not only be good men, but they must be men of honest report. In the judgment of charity they may be the one, while in fact they are not the other. Whether this be their misfortune or their fault does not decide their fitness as ministers, or as stewards, or as officers of any kind. Men of honest report are needed. A man's reputation may be good with some, but how is it with the most?

"Full of the Holy Ghost." This means at the least that they should be converted men. And, more than this, that they be pre-eminently spiritual. The functions of the deacons, as illustrated in Stephen's case, were partly those of witnesses and preachers, but they were also set apart to serve tables—to distribute the charity fund, and to look after the finances of the Christian community. They were chosen in view of having this fullness of the Spirit, and as having it before they were consecrated by prayer and the imposition of the hands of the apostles. Hands were laid upon them not to impart to them the gifts of the Spirit, but because they were already full of the Holy Ghost. Men may be of honest report, and wise in affairs, and may yet lack spirituality. They may be these, and not be converted men. And they may be converted men, and yet come short of that fullness of the Holy Ghost which the apostles enjoined. A ministry without this fullness of the Spirit is weak and comparatively worthless. The higher the responsibility, and the more completely ministerial the position, the greater is the need of this plenary unction. But in our official boards, and in those that have the management of connectional interests, is it not desirable that all should be distinguished by this copious anointing? Our preachers, bishops, missionary officers, Sunday school superintendents, and class-leaders can scarcely be regarded as qualified for their very spiritual duties without this fullness of the Holy Ghost. They must not only be converted men of honest report, but they must be aflame with the baptism of fire, and deeply experienced in the deep things of God. If this fullness, beyond the ordinary measure, be not theirs, a vital qualification is wanting. There is a spiritual element in the table-serving of the church, and our stewards and trustees should be selected with reference, in part at least, to religious character. They should be "not slothful in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord." They should be men who love Christ and the church, men of devout and prayerful minds, and men who feel that they are called to this important work of attending to the business of the house of God. We have met official boards and Quarterly Conferences in which this decidedly spiritual atmosphere was felt, and we have met others where everything was as coldly secular as the meeting of a board of bank directors. Our stewards, hardly less than our preachers, should be men full of faith and the Holy Ghost.

"And wisdom." This comes last in the inspired mention. Without wisdom honest report and fullness of the Holy Ghost would not suffice. A man may be blameless and spiritual, and yet he may not be qualified to be a preacher, or to fill any office in the church; grace is not always accompanied by the gifts. Eloquent preachers may be poor financiers and indifferent administrators. There arose a murmuring of the Grecians against the Hebrews because their widows were neglected in the daily ministration. Wise and discreet management was needed here. The wisdom of the serpent must be united with the harmlessness of the dove. Good men are not necessarily wise in affairs. They may have spiritual fullness, and yet be wanting in judgment, in sagacity, in breadth of view. Wisdom must be under the guidance and control of the spiritual nature, and both of these qualities must be connected with honest report; but wisdom, as well as piety, there must be. The folly and mistakes of good men are manifold, and need no particular illustration. The business of our churches demands the hearty services of wise men, and wisdom is an element of character that cannot well be dispensed with in any who sustain official relations to the church. From the door-keeper in the house of God to the very highest places in its service there is need of wisdom. All we insist upon is that we have, in the qualifications of the deacons, as indicated by the apostles, the main essentials for all office-bearers in the church. In our administration of church matters, in judging of ministerial candidates, in the appointment of Sunday school superintendents, and in filling the official boards, we are to seek men who unite in themselves these elements of character and usefulness. If we cannot reach the ideal in many cases, we can approximate it, and thus increase the average effectiveness of all departments of the church and her institutions.

Neglecting Salvation.

Neglect causes countless losses and defeats; but its greatest and most disastrous achievement is the loss of the soul. This loss and disaster is intensified because it is a loss in despite of the God-like provisions of the gospel to save unto the uttermost, and to save forever. We can imagine a half-insane atheist demanding that there shall be greater exhibitions of power and wisdom to convince him that there is a God; but we cannot imagine how an impenitent man, who admits the reality of the saving provisions of the gospel, can ask or even imagine a greater salvation than that which has been revealed. In the great redemptive scheme the whole Deity is called into activity, and poured forth to "save rebellious man." God, the Father almighty, so loves us with pitcous and compassionating love that he gives, freely gives, his only and well-beloved Son as a ransom for us all. God, the eternal Son, so loves us that he becomes poor that we may be rich—makes himself of no reputation, but takes upon him the form of a servant, and, though having the brightness of the Father's glory, agonized and died upon the shameful cross. God, the eternal Spirit, so loves that he helps us, stoops to all our moral destitution, and raises us to newness of life. It does not seem possible to conceive of greater majesty, greater power, greater love or greater zeal than was displayed to "save a world of sinners lost." If we neglect this salvation, can we conceive of any greater or better-adapted method to save us? The universe affords, and can afford, no better, no greater plan.

It is a salvation that saves us and satisfies eternal justice. It is so great that it reaches up to the height of God, and all the demands of the law, holy, just and good; and so great that it reaches down to man in all the depth of his sin and woe. But great and well-adapted as are its provisions to save, we may be lost by neglecting to avail of its saving help. It is not necessary to be an atheist and deny the being of God, nor a deist and deny that he has given us any revelation of his nature and will, in order to fail of salvation, and perish forevermore. It is not necessary to violate all of the commands of either table of the law, to be given over to "lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness," to shut ourselves out from God, and bar and bolt heaven against our hopes. Not at all. We have only to "neglect." We may be moral, highly respectable, and meet the demands of worldly good citizenship. We may occasionally read the Bible, occasionally associate with pious people, sometimes present ourselves in the house of God, and even speak approvingly of Christ, his ministers and his church. Nay, we may historically believe all that the four inspired biographies say of the peerless life and atoning death of Christ. We may fully purpose in our hearts to seek God and consecrate our lives to his service, and we may listen to the gospel with so much attention, and so far yield to its power as to say: "Almost I am persuaded to be a Christian;" and yet if we "neglect" and do nothing more we shall not escape condemnation. We are like one in a boat on a stream—we have oars, and by their use we can overcome the current and move up stream. The current presses onward and downward. In the distance is heard the roar of the cataract over which the river plunges. We can pull up the stream; but we can neglect, and we need do nothing more—the current itself will bear us on, and bear us down with ever-increasing speed, and increasing nearness to the fatal plunge. Just do nothing—simply neglect—and time, like a rolling stream, will bear us away—away from Christ, from hope and from heaven. W.

Pray for Us.

Paul was not speaking lightly when he said: "Brethren, pray for us." He was not speaking at random. He was not uttering a commonplace compliment to their faith or Christian character. He was in earnest. He was never more in earnest. His soul was in the point of his pen—in the words he traced. He was speaking for all time and for all eternity. The design was not only to indorse the efficacy of prayer. It was not simply, in a careless sort of way, saying that he and others, ministers of Jesus, needed their prayers. It was also a strong assertion of the fact that they required, for their own personal salvation, a spirit of prayer for others. Praying for others is a strong feeder of personal faith. It brings out dormant sympathies. It quickens love and brotherly-kindness. It helps to do a very hard thing—"think on the things of another." It helps to empty self of self. It begins the work of abdication in favor of God and humanity. It is a self-working, self-uplifting lever.

But now, to be a little more timely and practical, Paul's doctrine is that ministers need the prayers of their people. It is fair to suppose that thousands of preachers have said, in the last month, entering upon new charges, or going back to old ones: "Brethren, pray for us." If they have uttered the Pauline prayer in the spirit of prayer, and if it has been received in the spirit of Jesus, abundant harvests will follow.

Pastors need the prayers of their charges as an expression of faith in them—of faith in their integrity and sincerity. It forms a vital connection. They pray for him as a man of like passions with others. He is only an agent, and through him the Principal is to be magnified. It will prevent them from unduly exalting the man. It stops effectually hero-worship. Praying for him, they will hear God through him—they will see Christ, and not the preacher. Praying for him, they will have faith in his message. They will not sit as critics upon his word. It will quicken attention and provoke devotion. Prayer for the pastor—not occasional and formal, but constantly and in the spirit thereof—is a strong expression of harmony with and personal sympathy for him. This is necessary as a matter of practical and real use to the members. If such active harmony with the pastor is not felt, faith will decay and the religious life will die out. The preacher, as "a man of God," will know, better than words can tell, each one who thus prays for him. His eye will beam with a strange light, and his heart feel a strange glow, when in the presence of such. He will see them in the congregation. He will be inspired to effort. He will to them preach with power. He is conscious of unfitness for the great work committed to his hands. He asks: "Who is sufficient for these things?" He needs the prayers of his people for himself as a man, as well as a pastor. He needs the strength of God and the power of Jesus. He is subject to temptations and fears and trials. He prays always for others. He needs their prayers in return. Then, as a matter of duty, as a matter of safety, as a matter of common justice, will you not pray for your preacher, this year, as you have never done? How long has your new preacher been in your midst? How long has your former pastor—loved, and returned to you—been back from Conference? How often have you prayed for him? How have you prayed for him? Have you lingered and lingered and LINGERED at a throne of grace for him? "Brethren, pray for us."

The Gospel in Spain.

Notwithstanding the violent opposition by the priests, and the general intolerance of the ruling powers of Spain, the gospel is making steady progress. A correspondent of the London Record Rev. John Roe writes from Seville, under date of October 20, that "at no time in the history of this country were the gospel prospects so bright and encouraging as they are at this present moment." He communicates the following facts:

"I have just visited the mission at Algeciras, Malaga, Puerta Santa Maria, Xerez and Seville, and I have been surprised beyond measure at what I have seen. Here in Seville there are as many as ten mission schools, having over 1,200 on the books, with an average attendance of 850. Seven of those schools are supported by the Spanish and Portuguese Church mission, two by the Presbyterians, and Miss Butcher conducts the other. I was very much pleased with the numbers, order and efficiency in the schools. The manners, answering and the singing were excellent. The education is thoroughly scriptural. There is no uncertain sound, no attempt made at compromise; all the children are taught the 100 texts, and well instructed in scriptural knowledge. Sankey's hymns, translated, are sung by the children with a native gusto. The children also answered well in general secular knowledge. But as much as I was surprised with the schools, the church surprised me much more. There are three churches here in full work, a fourth about to be opened, and a fifth in prospect. Four of these are supported by the Spanish and Portuguese Church missions, and the other by the Presbyterians. The exteriors of four of those churches are not much to look at, but their interiors are handsome, large, and, what is best, very well attended. The fifth is a large room attached to the schools at Garcia Perez. Two of these churches are very beautiful, viz.: the Presbyterian, and that which is about to be opened. All four had been Romish churches, which is very significant. The churches are all ministered to by natives, two of them being ex-priests. Such is a brief sketch of the effort that is being made to build up the Christian work here in this ancient city of Seville. But, what is also worthy of notice is the decay and decline of superstition here with the monastic system. No fewer than between thirty and forty ecclesiastical establishments have changed hands during the last few years. Of these, four are now in the hands of Protestants, five are barracks, two are prisons, one is a theater, many are public buildings, stores, private houses, etc.

"The mission at Malaga is very encouraging also. Mr. Smith went there a few months ago, and he has now a good congregation. Upward of fifty have joined the church. I have just received a letter from him, in which he says: 'Last Friday, after the prayer meeting, nine gentlemen presented themselves—one priest, one lawyer, two doctors, three professors, and two others.' Mr. Smith is about to establish two class schools in Malaga, a class of school which is very much needed. At Puerta Santa Maria the mission is in a very flourishing state. A second very large house has just been taken to provide for the increasing number of children in the schools, and the great increase at the church services. I was at the opening services in the new church, and I was very much pleased and surprised with what I saw. The Presbyterians have very successful missions at Cadiz, San Fernandez and Jerez, in South Spain. On the whole, Christians have much to thank God for the progress of the gospel in Spain. As for the present attempt at persecution, I look upon it as a great proof of the success of the missions. If no progress were being made there would be no attempt at persecution."—New York Observer.

Victor Emanuel's death removes from Europe one of the most able of its princes. By the unification of Italy he became the head of a powerful and influential State. He was a great soldier and statesman, and his achievements will stand among the most brilliant records of the history of the present century. By the addition of the Papal States to his kingdom the temporal power of the Pope ended. He was many years ago excommunicated by Pius the Ninth. There is an attempt on the part of the sympathizers with the Pope to make the impression that the King on his death-bed became reconciled to the pontiff, and repented of the policy which he had pursued. This is probably a mistake. The most we have seen bearing upon the point is found in brief dispatches like these:

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Daily News' correspondent at Rome says: The Pope, on receiving news of the death of the King, said: "I expected it. I had pardoned him. Let us now pray for the repose of his soul."

ROME, Jan. 11.—The Fanfulla reports that Victor Emanuel said, on his death-bed: "I have always felt affection and deference toward the person of the Pope. If I have personally displeased him I am sorry, but in all my acts I have always had the consciousness of having fulfilled my duties as a citizen and a prince, and of never having committed anything contrary to religion."

The advocates for the restoration of the temporal power very naturally wish it to appear that Victor Emanuel was stricken with remorse and penitence on his death-bed for his course toward the papacy, and for his treatment of the Pope; but it seems that the King declared to the last that he had conscientiously "fulfilled his duties as a citizen and a prince, never having committed anything contrary to religion." King Humbert the First will probably follow in the footsteps of his father, maintaining the same policy in reference to the temporal power and religious freedom.

Political matters are more stirring now that Congress has entered upon the regular session, and that the most of the State Legislatures have convened. The most significant news from Washington—and this is not new now—is the threat to reopen the question of Mr. Hayes' title to the presidency, and to revive the sectional animosities which prevailed during Grant's administration. The majority of the people and Congressmen of both sections will, we believe, sustain Mr. Hayes, and discountenance the attempt of a clique of disappointed demagogues to unsettle the present peaceful condition of the country, and to stir up strife and ill will. At this writing neither the silver bill nor the bill to repeal the resumption act has been disposed of. In the North and West bank and commercial failures have been alarmingly numerous of late. It is surprising that our legislators do not at once settle the financial questions, so that suspense and uncertainty may no longer agitate commerce and depress the business interests of the country.

Rev. Thomas Mullett, formerly a member of the Louisiana Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at Lake Charles, Calcasieu parish, La., January, 1878. Bro. Mullett, we suppose, was about sixty years of age, a native of England, a man of good natural gifts, and possessed of a wide and varied store of information. In early life he followed the sea, and his history was one of remarkable adventure and strange vicissitudes. For many years he followed surveying in western Louisiana. His last illness was of several months' duration. Rev. J. D. Harper, who was with him from time to time during his sickness, informs us that he was resigned, at peace with God, and supported by the Master's presence.

The tenth session of the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held at Baton Rouge, January 9-14, Bishop Harris presiding. J. C. Harrell is presiding elder of the South New Orleans district. Rev. Dr. J. H. McCarty is returned to Ames church. The Conference reports 8,[illegible] full members. Total benevolent collections, $949.45; for Bishops, $63.50. Receipts for ministerial support, $8,098. Missionary money appropriated by the Board of Missions for the support of the work, $8,000.

The Catholic press, says the Central Christian Advocate, is beginning to realize the extent of the defeat of clericalism in France, and is in the worst possible humor. MacMahon comes in for his full share of censure, and will never be forgiven that he did not accomplish a coup d'etat. Four of the new ministers are Protestant—heretics is the word which more fully expresses the Catholic indignation and disgust. The four Protestant ministers are Admiral Pothuau, Leon Say, General Borel and M. Waddington. The last, however, the minister of foreign affairs, is the bitter pill. M. Waddington is the son of an Englishman, was educated at Harrow and Oxford, is married to an American lady, and believes in republicanism of the American type. He was minister of public instruction and worship under Thiers, and has shown eminent abilities. That the Vatican should be compelled to treat with a Protestant French minister is a depth of humiliation that had never been dreamed of. Frenchmen of the best class who have been prominent in public affairs are said to express themselves freely that Protestantism is the hope of the republic.

No excellent soul is exempt from a mixture of folly.—Aristotle.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the board of managers was held in New York January 3. The manuscript of the Dakota version of the First Book of Kings was received from Dr. T. S. Williamson, of Minnesota, for publication. Information was communicated that the Rev. J. W. Sanborn, a missionary among the Seneca, proposes to translate the Book of Psalms into their language from the Hebrew. Letters with requests for Bibles and Testaments were presented from Rev. Maxwell Phillips, of Yucatan; Rev. E. P. Hastings, of Ceylon; and Rev. C. H. Doering, of Bremen.

In respect to the controverted term for "Deity" in China, the board approved of a special report from the Committee on Versions to the effect that the present state of opinion among missionaries and translators unanimity among them seems not present to be impracticable; and therefore, while Tien-chu is preferable to any other term, it is inexpedient to take any action requiring that it should be used in all translations made at the expense of the society. An appropriation of $[illegible] for Bible work in India was made to the American Baptist Missionary Union, and various grants of books were made for circulation at home and abroad to the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, the American Board, the Methodist Missionary Society, the American Tract Society, the Seamen's Friend Society, and to various auxiliary societies, district superintendents and other individuals, the total value of the grants being nearly $9,000. The receipts for December were $47,490; copies of Scriptures issued, 76,482.

Books and Periodicals.

LESSONS IN THE HISTORY OF LOUISIANA, from the Earliest Settlement to the close of the Civil War: To which are appended Lessons in the Geography and Products. By John Dimitry, A. M. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, Chicago and New Orleans, 1877.

The volume is a 12 mo of 216 pages well bound, and contains maps and illustrations. It is arranged as a text-book for young learners, and questions and answers are adapted to their capacity. The history opens with the discovery of the Mississippi river by De Soto, and closes with the end of the late war. Both the historical and the geographical parts seem to have been prepared with care, and contain a vast amount of useful information.

THE NEW VOLUME OF THE LIVING AGE.—The new year of Littell's Living Age opens with the number for the week ending January 5. Owing to the recent establishment of important periodicals abroad—notably the Nineteenth Century in England—and to the simultaneous improvement of others, a fresh impetus has been given to foreign periodical literature; the ablest living thinkers and writers being enlisted in its service to an extent heretofore probably unequaled. The Living Age presents with satisfactory completeness what is most valuable in this literature. The publishers already announce, for early numbers of the new year, articles by Louis Kossuth, ex-Governor of Hungary, (on the Turkish Question,) Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Goldwin Smith, the Duke of Argyll, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, on Courses of Religious Thought, Richard A. Proctor, Prof. Owen and others (Studies in Science,) Frances Power Cobbe, Alfred Russell Wallace, Prof. J. C. Blackie, Edward A. Freeman, Matthew Arnold, J. Leslie Stephen, John Ruskin, and other eminent writers. In the department of fiction the best foreign authors will be represented in serial and short stories. The publication of a new story by William Black is to be begun in January, from advance sheets, and other attractions will follow. The volumes of this standard weekly magazine for the new year therefore promise to surpass even the previous ones in interest and in importance to American readers.

—The January-February number of the North American Review contains the following articles: Charles Sumner, Senator Hoar; A Crumb for the Modern Symposium, Prof. John Fiske; The Art of Dramatic Composition, Dion Boucicault; General Amnesty, J. Randolph Tucker; The English Aristocracy, W. E. H. Lecky; Reminiscences of the Civil War, Gen. Richard Taylor; The Origin of the Italian Language, W. W. Story; Epheans, Cyprus and Mycenæ, Bayard Taylor; Capture of Kars and Fall of Plevna, Gen. G. B. McClellan; Currency Quacks and the Silver Bill, Manton Marble; and notices of Woolsey's Political Science, Proctor's Myths and Marvels of Astronomy, Geikie's Life and Words of Christ, Sullivan's New Ireland, Bowen's Modern Philosophy, from Decartes to Schopenhauer and Hartmann, Avery's California Pictures in Prose and Verse, Lindermun's Money and Legal Tender in the United States, Victor Hugo's Histoirle d'un Crime, Cook's House Beautiful, Trowbridge's Book of Gold and Other Poems, Rhinzinger's Upper Egypt, and Habberton's Budge and Toddle. For sale by book-sellers and news dealers generally.

—We have received from Logan D. Dameron, agent Advocate Publishing House, St. Louis, the Pas-

's Pocket Record and Form-Book. is excellent work contains that rt of our ritual relating to baptism, rriage, burials, the Lord's Sup- reception of members, and suit- e Scripture readings for the sick. e blank parts of the book are ed and headed for all purposes for ch the pastor has need of records l memoranda. It is handsomely nd in morocco, with clasp, and ry way almost complete, conven- and desirable thing for pastors.

Wide Awake for January, 1878, very fine number, full of Christ- poems and stories, and very lovely illustrated. Among the excellent articles are: A Christ- Poem; The Little Savages of le Rock; The Child Toilers of on Streets; The Jolly Christ- of Sevens; Robin Hood's Mir- ; The True Story of King Marsh- ; A Christmas Charity; Plum ta Claus; Parlor Pastimes. Wide ake is published by D. Lothrop , Boston. Ella Farman, editor. a year.

Scribner's Monthly for January, ins: Jane Sigurd's Christmas illustrated; Dr. Schliemann at eme, illustrated; Fox-Hunting New England, Illustrated; Roxy, strated; Joe Hale's Red Stock- ; A Glimpse of Youth; The Last en, Illustrated; Birds and Birds, strated; His Inheritance; Pidgin lish; Unfulfilled, Illustrated; ow-Drops, Illustrated; Under the aroft Chestnut, Illustrated; The g of the Milkmaid, Illustrated; vailed, Illustrated; A New Anvil ons; A Century of Civil Service; er Many Days—A Study of Keats; wth of Cities in the United tes; Sonnets—1. Esther, 2. Vashti; fes of the Time; The Old Catti- ; Home and Society; Culture and ress; The World's Work; Bric- ac, Illustrated.

We have received from D. Lo- p & Co., publishers, Boston, 's Lesson-Book for Boys and , containing the International ly school lessons for the first second quarters for 1878, pre- for the youngest scholars. It very beautiful little volume. m the same publishers we have ived the Happy Year, a neatly ed, tiny volume, containing ions from Scripture, spaces for oranda, and the monthly calen-

The International Review, Jan- February, 1878, has the follow- articles: Thiers—A Sonnet; ents of National Wealth; The ol Harvest at Olympia; First ressions of Athens; Sumner's n History; Money and Its ; Imperial Federalism in Ger- y; Modern Love; The Count of Electoral Vote; Art in Europe, ; Cotemporary Literature. A. nes & Co., New York, publish- Price, $5 a year.

Golden Hours for January, 1878, es out with new cover and , and is handsomely illustrated. ong many interesting articles we : The Patient Stitch; The tmas Snow; Who Comes Down Chimney; The Polar Bear; Three le Stepmothers; The Wonder of ds; Elephants; Owldom. Pub- d by Hitchcock & Walden, Cin- ti; Nelson & Phillips, New k. Price, $2.50 per year.

Hobart's Old Testament Wall- of Palestine is especially design- to illustrate the International day school lessons, from January July 1, 1878. It is 30x16 inches , printed on cloth, and hand- ly colored. Published by E. F. rt & Co., St. Louis. Price, ; mounted on rollers, complete, We are indebted to the publish- for a copy.

Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine December.—reprinted by the nard Scott Publishing Company, York—has: The Tender Recol- ions of Irene Margetlieuddy, part Glasgie Mykelbie; Mine is Thine, ; The Opium-Eater; The ow's Cloak; The Parliamentary ess; Poems, by J. R. S.—An Un- k Game; A Man's Regret; At Door; The Storm in the East, 8; Index.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine February, 1878, excels all its ecessors in the beauty and finish illustrations, and in the variety merit of its articles. We heartily mend this periodical to all who n first-class magazine for family ing and entertainment. Price, $3.

A Competitive Essay on the Salt- is the title of an excellent phlet by John W. Henderson, an introduction by Rev. James hatton, D. D. It is published by Franklin Print, No. 28 Camp t, New Orleans. For sale by R. arp.

Silhouette—First Series. Bos- Estes & Lauriat, 1878. A dozen more sketches on tinted paper, esenting scenes and adventures hild-life. It is a very beautiful unique work.

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Maga- for January is beautifully illus- trated, and filled with valuable in- formation for all who are interested in the cultivation of shrubbery, flow- ers and vegetables. Published by James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., at $1.25 a year.

—The Earnest Worker and the Children's Friend, published by the Presbyterian Committee of Publica- tion, Richmond, Va., have been re- ceived.

—The Monthly Monitor is the title of a small but neatly-printed sheet, published at Pine Bluff, Ark., and edited by Rev. C. F. Evans.

—Santa Claus Will Come To-Night is the title of a song and music, pub- lished by F. W. Helmick, Cincin- nati.

WISDOM.—Wisdom is justified of her children, and the highest type of wisdom—the Christian religion—will surely meet the warm approval of her children. We are not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation: We commend its universal offer; we rejoice in the truth it imparts; we glory in the gift of eternal life. This glorious gospel of God's blessed Son meets with the warmest reception in every Chris- tian's heart. We are compelled to say: "To whom shall we go but unto thee? Thou hast the words of eter- nal life. Thy day is the best of all days; thy words the words of eternal life; thy house the house of God and the very gate of heaven."—Days- man.

Josh Billings says: "There is no man who needs so much watching us the one who is always watching some one else."

MARRIED.

POWELL–LEE.—On the twenty-ninth of No- vember, 1877, at the residence of Col. I. James Lee, by the Rev. J. M. Patton, Mr. E. A. Powell, Jr., of Colorado, to Miss Allie Lee, of Sumter county, Ala.

LEE–PATTON.—On the twentieth of Decem- ber, 1877, at the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Brewersville, Ala., by the Rev. J. M. Pat- ton, Mr. W. R. Lee to Miss Mamie E. Patton, all of Sumter county, Ala.

The latter couple commence their married life by subscribing for the ADVOCATE, the money ac- companying the order. Fraternally.

J. M. PATTON.

CALHOUN–CHAPMAN.—December 25, 1877, near Grove Hill, Ala., by Rev. John S. Frazer, Rev. J. S. Calhoun, of the Mississippi Conference, to Miss Amelia Chapman, of Clarke county, Ala.

LAMAR–ELSWORTH.—On the eighth of Jan- uary, 1878, in the city of Mobile, by Rev. Dr. E. Wadsworth, Rev. Andrew J. Lamar, of the Ala- bama Conference, to Miss Martha Elsworth, daughter of Mr. John Elsworth.

LAWSON–MORRISON.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Jasper county, Miss., No- vember 29, 1877, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Mr. Y. J. Lawson to Miss Lucy Morrison.

FOLEY–REED.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Jasper county, Miss., December 2, 1877, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Mr. Sailers Foley to Miss Ellen Reed.

COOK–STEVENS.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Perry county, Miss., December 20, 1877, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Dr. J. H. Cook, of Pershing, Jasper county, to Miss Annie Stevens.

PARDUE–FOSTER.—At the residence of the bride's brother, Capt. W. M. Brame, in Pershing, Jasper county, Miss., December 26, 1877, by Rev. D. P. Bradford, Col. W. M. Pardue to Mrs. M. A. Foster.

KELLY–COOK.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Jasper county, Miss., January 1, 1878, by Rev. D. P. Bradford Mr. J. H. Kelly to Miss N. E. Cook.

WILLIAMS–LAMPTON.—Near Chisenhall Grove, Miss., December 27, 1877, by Rev. P. Howard, Mr. Henry P. Williams and Miss Lucy Lampton.

THOMAS–REGAN.—January 1, 1878, by Rev. P. Howard, Mr. Josiah Thomas and Miss Sallie M. Regan, all of Pike county, Miss.

WILLIAMSON–RUSSELL.—In the Methodist Episcopal Church South, Lowndesboro, Ala., on Thursday evening, December 11, 1877, by Rev. J. M. Mason, Mr. Robert M. Williamson and Miss R. Bettie Russell, both of Lowndesboro.

PFEIFFER–JONES.—In Natchez, Miss., De- cember 25, 1877, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr. Charles L. Pfeiffer to Miss Mary J. B. Jones.

BOATNER–MAYO.—By the same, January 1, 1878, at the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Mayo, in Vidalia, La., Mr. John S. Boatner to Miss Victoria J. Mayo.

BOATNER–PERRIN.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Benton, Ala., December 25, 1877, by Rev. C. H. Pilley, Mr. James H. Bowden to Miss Lula E. Perrin.

PILLEY–SHINE.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. P. Shine, in Oakey Street, Ala., December 19, 1877, by Rev. C. D. Pilley, Mr. Henry H. Pilley to Miss M. A. Shine.

TINSLEY–HAWKINS.—Near Oxford, Ala., January 3, 1878, by Rev. R. C. Roberts, Mr. W. M. Tinsley and Miss D. H. Hawkins.

WILLE–STEEN.—At the residence of the bride's father, near Brookville, Miss., January 3, 1878, by Rev. W. C. Black, Mr. J. H. Wille of Texarkana, Texas, to Miss Lucy Steen.

Publisher's Department.

THE distinguished meteorologist and weather prophet, Prof. Fox, of St. Louis, has issued his ANNUAL NATIONAL WEATHER AL- MANAC for 1878, in which he foretells the weather for every day in the year, explains the theory by which his predictions are based, gives directions by which the unscientific can foretell the weather, and other valuable matter. The whole constitutes a work of great practical value to every one, and is also indispensible in fami- ies. For sample copy and terms of sale send twenty cents to Col. THOMPSON, TIDE & Co., St. Louis, Mo.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.—Dr. Bandy, surgeon-in-chief of the Southern division, at Atlanta, is now in the city, at 161 St. Charles street. The Institution which he repre- sents is one of the most famous in the country for its wonderful cures in all seemingly hopeless sur- gical cases. Dr. Bandy has a reputation second to none, and is accompanied by a mechanic in manu- facturing any necessary appendages. Let the afflict- ed call upon him, and he will give you his candid opinion as to whether he can or cannot relieve you.

COAL AND WOOD.—Our old, cus- tomer, H. H. Hussman, has an advertisement in this paper. We can recommend him to our friends. He is a clever man and a fair dealer. All kinds of fuel sold at the lowest market rates.

DENTIST.—Dr. Walker, Delord street, near St. Charles, is one of the most eminent in the city, and will give entire satisfaction to those who may need his services.

DRY GOODS.—Read Danziger's ad- vertisement in to-day's paper and send in your or- ders. There is no better place from which to get your dry goods.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.—Go to 502 Magazine street for your boo's and shoes. This house is perfectly reliable. See advertisement.

THE SOUTHERN BELLE.—This handsome little paper, devoted to fashions and ladies' literature, is published monthly, at 183 Canal street, and costs but fifty cents per year. It is ably edited, and gives particular attention to the fashions as rapidly as they appear. Subscribers learn how to make many useful ornaments, and patronize home talent.

MILLINERY.—Mme. Fricke, who is known to many of our readers as the popular dressmaker over Brassfinn's store, has in view of her increasing business, determined to seek a more central location, and will move shortly to Canal street, near the Varieties Theater. Her old friends and customers should make a note of this fact.

LUMBER.—Any one desiring to purchase lumber of any description would do well to consult Mr. W. H. Toomer, who has been in this business for many years, and is thoroughly posted. Mr. Toomer does a commission business, and will work for the interests of his patrons. He stands deservedly well in this community, and we cordi- ally commend him to our friends.

DRY GOODS.—Pepin & Broussard, 188 Canal street, offer special inducements to buy- ers at this time. Their stock is complete in every department. Orders from the country can be sent by mail or express, and satisfaction guaranteed in quality of goods and prices. Samples, with prices attached, will be sent on application.

BOOK-SELLER AND STATIONER.—The attention of our readers is called to the card of Frank M. Norman. He has a good selection of books and papers, and with a very tastefully ar- ranged establishment. Special attention will be given to the printing of visiting cards.

WOVEN WIRE BED.—Mr. Frank H. Wilson has taken the agency for the Southern states for Farnham's Wire Bed, and is prepared to fill all orders sent him. Those interested should not fail to call, and see Mr. Wilson, or address him at 19 Commercial Place.

MARBLE WORKS.—If any of our readers want anything in the marble line they should go to George Strand's, 158 to 160 St. Charles street. This gentleman stands high in this com- munity as an honorable man. His prices are rea- sonable.

EUREKA YEAST POWDER.—A super- ior article. Try it. See Rev. P. M. Goodwyn's card.

THE GEMS OF ALL ODORS.

Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes sur- pass in durability and natural flowery freshness those made in this or any other country. Persons who think perfumes poor, unless they come from abroad, should try Dr. Price's handkerchief odors. They are really exquisite.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.—Dr. Bandy, chief surgeon with competent corps of assistants, will open a monster at New Orleans, No. 161 St. Charles street, from January 15 to Feb- ruary 15, 1878. This visit designed to accom- modate those who cannot visit the Institute at At- lanta, Ga., Philadelphia or Indianapolis. The time the surgeons remain will be sufficient to effect a cure in cases of Piles and Fistula, diseases of the Eye and Ear, and those peculiar to com- mon women, and in manufacture and adjust arti- ficial appliances for the cure of club feet, crooked knees, hip joint diseases, curvature of the spine, and all other deformities of the human body. Consultation free.

Bishop MARVIN'S "To the East by Way of the West," and Rev. Eugene R. Hen- drix's "Around the World," with introduction by Bishop Marvin, now ready. Price of each book $2. AGENTS WANTED everywhere. Send for circular and terms to LOUIS D. DARRON, agent of the Advocate Publishing House, St. Louis, and get sample copies of either, or both, with terms to agents. The books are selling rapidly.

Of all the wonderful discoveries, per- haps none surpass that of extracting the Es- sence of Beef, which has proved such a blessing in the sick chamber. Leibig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Iron invigorator has the preference for Weakness, Depression, Consumption, Dyspepsia and Fevers. L. L. Lyons, agent, New Orleans.

REV. W. S. WADE, of Whistler, Ala., says: "I have seen Dr. Grace remove several cancers without the use of the knife, and with little pain." Card in this paper.

CHARMING PICTURES.—To Introduce their goods in Paris, E. Paton & Co., 162 William street, New York, will send a package of Decalco- manie Pictures, with illustrated Catalogue, to every reader of this paper who will send eight cents (stamps taken) for mailing expenses. These pictures are highly colored, beautiful, and are easily transferred to any object, so as to imitate the most beautiful painting. 1yw

THE utmost reliance can be placed on Dr. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC, both as to its innocent nature and its curative properties. For sale by all druggists.

AN ARTICLE of such genuine merit as Dr. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC soon makes itself known by the work it does. For sale by all druggists.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. Price's Perfumes are the most reliable that can be found in the world, is, and in fact the only one that Finlay & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists of New Or- leans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any- thing deleterious, such as Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. D. W. Benson, a regular practicing physician at 56 North Eutaw Street, Baltimore, Md., who has paid much attention to nervous diseases, has discovered that extract of celery and a well-known combination in certain proportion, by a system of cures he calls other pills, decapitate the roots or seat of head- ache, neuralgia and the worst cases. This is a tri- umph in medical discovery. All sufferers all over the country are ordered to call. He prepares it in pills at 50 cents per box. The doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Episco- pal Methodist.

These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEX- ION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only prepara- tion that does not roughen the skin, coup sallee, or leave dark spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all erup- tions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by drug- gists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SOUTHERN BANK.

NEW ORLEANS, JAN. 2, 1878.

AT AN election, on the twelfth ultimo, the fol- lowing gentlemen were duly elected Directors of this institution for the ensuing year, viz:

THOMAS LAYTON,
WM. C. C. CLAIBORNE, BLAIRSH JOHNSON,
JOHN T. MOORE,
H. H. STANLEY,
WM. C. C. CLAIBORNE, JR.

And at the meeting of the Board of Directors, this day, THOMAS LAYTON, Esq., was unani- mously re-elected President.

J. GARR, Cashier.

SOUTHERN BANK.—NEW ORLEANS, JANUARY 2, 1878.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors, this day, a semi-annual dividend of FOUR PER CENT. was declared, payable on the 15th instant.

J. GARR, Cashier.

FRANK M. NORMAN,

Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,

598 MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 30 cents. Upper City Circulating Library. Frames made to order. Catalogues free.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Attention, Country Readers!

SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRESS GOODS, BLANKETS,

SHAWLS, FLANNELS, WOOLEN GOODS, HO- SIERY, COTTONS, ETC.

BLACK GOODS.

Extraordinary inducements in this department, consisting of Black Silks, Merinoes, Henri-ettes, Delaines, Etamines, Alpacas, Mohair, Empress Cloth, Crepe, etc.

Also White and Printed Linen Towels, Nap- kins, Marseilles Quilts, Nottingham Laces, French Embroidered Curtains, etc.

PEPIN & BROUSSARD,
188 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE

SOUTHERN BELLE,

AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES,

DEVOTED TO

Fashion, Instruction and Amusement,

Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 CANAL ST.

Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 50 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal Street, New Orleans. General Agent for the old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.

MADAME FRICKE

begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove, on the

FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,

from her present residence, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over to- west side of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice and in the latest styles. Respectfully,

F. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union,

NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use, filled to order.

MARSDEN'S

Pectoral Balm!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, COLDS,

AND

CONSUMPTION.

FINLAY & THOMPSON,

SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

MAKE $100

YOU CAN PER MONTH

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed; and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for par- ticulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,

275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,

Chicago, Illinois.

H. H. HUSSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,

No. 102 CALEOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

WANTED.

BY A LADY of experience, a situation as TEACHER in a School or private family. For particulars write to Miss M. P. C., Perkins, Holmes county (M. V. R. R.) Miss.

CINDERELLA

SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK

No. 502 Magazine Street,

Between Bienville and Adams.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in Northern markets, with careful attention suit- ing Southern demand for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable made, as they are exclusively for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far famed MILES of Phila- delphia, and BYRT, of New York.

Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

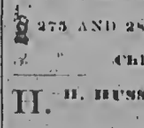
CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establish- ment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully,

W. N. TOLER,
Manufacturer and Dealer.



French Millinery,

Berlin Zephyr Worsted,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL.

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery se- lected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, TIPPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfac- tion guaranteed. 5p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any Disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.

AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 3p

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPERIOR

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoulas St.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT,

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—50c., 60c., 75c., $1. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—50c., 60c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.25. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—50c., 60c., 75c. Very Choice, $1. Extra Choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Japan, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground ..... 25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO, ... 30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA, ... 35c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA ..... 40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on the Mobile or Jackson Railroad Over 50 Weight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 25 cents extra, for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DANIELS MEDICATED STEEL FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot and come from the imported record, with the original properties intact, and are so pre- pared as to render them damp proof, and for Rheumatism and Cold Feet are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pairs sent by mail or express on receipt of 25 cents. In ordering state size and whether for lady or gent to wear.

S. TUTTLE & SONS, 323 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Imported Embossed SCRAP PICTURES,

REPRESENTING JAPANESE MEN and WOMEN, BIRDS, BUTTERFLIES, FLOWERS, ANI- MALS, CHILDREN, in fact every conceivable object for embellishing SCRAP BOOKS, CHINA and GLASSWARE ORNAMENTS, ALBUMS, and numerous other articles. These pictures are especially adapted for Pottery Work, the Japanese figures being expressly made to imitate those on the imported China and Japan goods which bring such high prices at auction in this city. These Em- bossed pictures are far superior to the popular Decalcomania. We will send a package containing 50 pictures of assorted sizes for 25 cents, or 100 extra large for $1. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment. (3p) J. T. HILLYER, 306 Broadway, N. Y.

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1866.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The Specialties for this season are

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $ 0.
MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 1 to 16 Years of age.
MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 Years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a Suit.
FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set to Capes and Muffs to $50.
Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $50.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready and contains the prices of every ar- ticle in it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LONG LOOKED-FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

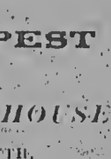
The store of boys and girls' goods, men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically ar- ranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the prices. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.



Remember that Isaiah Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Dupuce's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the safe remedy, con- taining all the virtues of the most valuable medicinal plants. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street, Mobile depot—Du Bose & Co., 20 Water St., St. Louis, depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 5p

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.

A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.

A. BONNET & CO.,

DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,

NO. 65 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

WHEELER & PEIRSON,

Successors to Peirson & Hess,

NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,

Opposite the City Hotel,

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST

DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted by every request. All sizes made, from Cribs, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots, to full size Beds, Lounges, etc.

General Agency for Southern States—19 COM- MERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE

Conducted by Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York.

The third volume of this the cheapest and most attractive magazine for Sunday reading in the world) commences, with the January number. Each number contains 128 quarto pages, and usu- ally as many engravings as pages (including por- traits, scenes from Scripture history, travel in missionary lands, and an endless variety of inter- esting subjects). The text consists wholly of the most interesting matter of a highly moral and re- ligious tone written with a view to combine amusement with valuable information and in- struction; it includes serial stories, incidents of travel, descriptions of the lands, etc., and af- fords an invaluable source of entertainment for the Sunday fireside. Now is the time to subscribe. The January number has a striking portrait of Dr. Deems. Terms: The year of 52 numbers $4 per number. Address FRANK LESLIE'S PUB- LISHING HOUSE, 53 Pearl Street, New York.

Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

Have the largest and most complete Type Foundry in the West. All Type cast of superior quality of metal. Estimates furnished on application. Goods shipped promptly. Complete outfits for new offices a specialty. Send for specimen sheet.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay Irritation which induces coughing, and gives im- mediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influ- enza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consump- tive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

SALESMEN WANTED $125 A Month and Expenses to DEALERS AND CONSUMERS. Sells on SIGHT. Every family buys. Sample FREE. GOODS Address at once, P. O. VICKERY & CO., Augusta, Maine.

HARTE'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by

FREDERICKSON & HARTE,

139 Canal street. 5p

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month; Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1.50 every alternate month, on early engagement.

Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.

Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order.

A. GARDNER, 87 Magazine, Between Sixth and Seventh Sts.

Pianos for rent at $4 a month.

25 Fashionable Cards, no 2 alike, with name, 10c. post-p'd. GEO. I. REED & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

Farm, Garden and Household.

ARTICHOKES AS FOOD.

So much attention has been excited of late in regard to artichokes as food for stock, especially hogs, that the following table, giving an analysis of their value as flesh and fat formers as against the other vegetables named, will be interesting. It will be seen that in carbonaceous matter—starch or its equivalent—the Jerusalem is only to the potato. In this connection it should be remembered that in the West no vegetables can be afforded to be raised as a sole crop for corn; but as adjuncts to keeping animals in health during winter, vegetables have a distinct value, and when fed in connection with corn assist the animal materially in the capability to assimilate and fatten on corn, but the cereal grains generally. The table is as follows:

	Parts Flesh	Parts Fat
Beets
Carrots
Parsnips	12	70
Mangolds
Sugar beets
White beets
Artichokes

Here it will be seen that potatoes contain 202 parts of nutriment and artichokes 158 parts in 1,000 parts; while the turnip that has made English agriculture all it is, proper contains only 41 parts in 1,000. What has made English agriculture progressive through the cultivation of roots is the fact that they may be fed on the land, with a gathering. In our climate the root crop must not only be fed, but they must be protected from frost. The artichoke is perfectly hardy of the easiest cultivations and swine may help themselves at will when the ground is not frozen.—Georgia Grange.

MOULTING, Miss. The following is a good method for preserving the leaves of mosses, ferns, etc. Wash them perfectly clean draining off thoroughly and drying partially, so as to remain flexible; then arrange upon the center of a slide. Over this place a pane of clean glass, and fasten the two together by clamping a "clip." Then, taking hold of the slide and glass, thus united, with a pair of forceps or tilers, hold them in the left hand, and with the right apply a little "jelly of glycerine"—which may be obtained from an optician's certainly, and perhaps from other places—along the edges of the two, allowing it to run under the glass by capillary attraction. When sufficient has passed, having a spirit lamp turned low, hold the forceps or clip (we use a spring clothes pin) firmly in the hand, and pass it backward and forward over the lamp until the glycerine boils, using care not to crack the glass by heating too rapidly. Clean the glass carefully and varnish with gold size. Mosses mounted in this way retain their beauty of color far better than when simply dried.—Horsford Progress.

Each day's work comes to us wrapped in a mystery which no human wisdom can explain or tell what in its completeness it will be when finished. There is, then, something brave and noble in the very act of hopefully accepting it, with whatever it brings of toil and pleasure, of high duties or burdens heavy to bear; in believing that according to the day so shall our strength be.

The beauty of holiness is a beauty that never fades. There is no decay from time, no deformity from over strain, and no loss of form or bloom from the sudden mutiny of the mind. And it hath not yet attained, neither is already perfect. It doth not yet appear what it shall be, but it daily gravitates toward the great white throne of God.

HEALTHFULNESS.

A distinguished physician says "After a careful examination of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, I am satisfied that it is a wholesome preparation. I have introduced it among my patients, and have yet to learn where a convalescent patient could not indulge in warm biscuits made with it, and feel the better for it."

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS,

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

ABRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh ground daily.

Flour delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN—exclusive for Feed constantly on hand at lowest cash rate.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

PRYTANIA STREET, CORNER URANIA

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

GEO. C. RIOT, Principal,
P. O. Box 12, New Orleans, La.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

153 ..... Camp Street 151

Next door St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.

CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.

FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.

MATTINGS—100 rolls White, Check and Fancy.

WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers, FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.

BURLAPS, Ta ..... Enamel OIL CLOTHS.

A. BROUSSEAU.

MEDICAL.

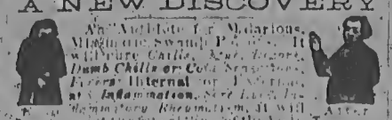
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will Cure Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Dumb Chills or Cold Symptoms, Fevers, Internal or External Inflammation, Sore Throat, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Wild Fever, Tic or Spasm of the Nerves, Pain of the Body, Tumors, Ulcers, Felons, Whitlows, Boils, Carbuncles, Scrofula, Blood Poisons, Erysipelas, Piles, Fistula, Ringworm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Barber's Itch, Sore Nipples, Ulcerated Breasts, Cancers, Chronic Sores, Ulcers in the Mouth, Throat or Stomach, Ulcerated Leg, Fever Sores, Scurvy, Mercurial Diseases, Bone Pains, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Gout, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Female Complaints, Leucorrhœa, Irregularities, Suppressions, Prolapsus Uteri, Chronic Inflammation or Ulceration of the Uterus, Falling of the Womb, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Blood Diseases, Skin Diseases, Humors, Boils, Pimples, Blotches, Tumors, Scrofula, Consumption, Coughs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Diseases of the Throat or Lungs, Colds, Sudden Attacks, Nervousness, Debility, Female Weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Hysterics, Fits, Epilepsy or Spasms, Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, Numbness, Neuralgia, Sick Stomach, Vomiting, Nausea, Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Low Spirits, Nervousness, Melancholy, Hypochondria, Blues, Delirium Tremens, Mumps, Whooping Cough, Croup, Mercurial Affections, Poisoning from Mineral Poisons, Barber's Poisons, Poisons of Decayed Animal or Vegetable Matter, Poisons of Stagnant Water, Poisons of Impure Air, Poisons of Contagious Diseases, Poisons of Every Kind, Impurities of the Blood, Malaria, Chills and Fever, Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Dumb Chills, Fever and Ague Cake, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Bilious Fevers, Typhoid Fever, Typhus Fever, Scarlet Fever, Yellow Fever, Spotted Fever, Black Fever, Brain Fever, Congestive Fever, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Scarlatina, Measles, Small Pox, Chicken Pox, Erysipelas

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. J. GRACE,
YSICIAN AND SURGEON,
AT WHISTLER, ALA.
miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)
ment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND ERS especially.
fer to Prof. J. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs.
State Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Herd, ills, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Marvilla,

ICHARD RHODES,
ORTSMEN'S DEPOT
ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS
ticles of All Kinds for Flat-arigen
, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every demand for the Angler, whetstone and robali
S, RIFLES and PISTOLS of every variety direct importation. All Sporting or kinds, Game Bags, Shot Pouches, Flasks, ery article needed by Hunters, will be lowest prices for cash. Also, Dupont's Rifle Shot, Wads, Powder, Shot, Gilley's Shells, Car
, etc., of the best quality, wholesale and re
Boardas' Glass Balls and Traps.
R. RHODES

OD! WOOD! WOOD!
AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
ey Island Wood & Coal Yard,
NO. 375 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,
Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock
Box 1990.
Delivered to all parts of the city.
PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:
WOOD, per Load..... $6 00
WOOD, per Cord..... 5 00
ASH, mixed, per Cord..... 5 50 al discount made to dealers. Satisfaction teed. D. BADEAU, Agent.

BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES
GO TO
ury Timken's New Factory, ong, 100 AND 102 ST. CHARLES ST., ts and Levee and 81 ST. LOUIS, and ers in first-class materials and workman-and sell for cash or on time.

NATHAN CARD
RIAGE MANUFACTURER
. Cor. Seventh & Cheatnut Sts.,
Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall
ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED.
FOR $10
AMERICAN WATCHES
305 N. 7TH ST.
ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,
rriage Manufacturers,
(OS AND 110 S. CHARLES STREET,
ST. LOUIS.
Carriages of all classes of Vehicles. Prices durability and elegance in finish guaranteed.

ERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA
the most beautiful stable and perfect tone ever made.
Ithose celebrated Concert-stop, which elevates the imitation
of the Human Voice,
and two and a half
Octaves of bells tuned in perfect harmony with the reeds,
& their effect mingled & electrifying.
WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRA-
CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL
ES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS Unique French Cases are the most ect. FIRST CLASS.
TERS' PIANOS, GRAND, CABINET,
and UPRIGHT,
THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, manship, & Durability Unsurpassed.
anted for SIX YEARS.
TS EXTREMELY LOW for Cash.
ly Installments received. A Liberal unt to Teachers, Churches, Schools
ENTS WANTED. Special Inducements the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Second-hand Instruments of Great ains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, facturers and Dealers.
481 EAST 14TH STREET, UNION
RE, NEW YORK, Box 3567.

CARPETS!
ELKIN & CO.,
CANAL STREET..... 108
RE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF ester, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.
ry Brussels from $1 to $1 25 per yards;
ills, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc.
TINGS of all descriptions.
extremely LOW PRICES.

CEO. PURVES'
h, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
er St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

T. WALSHE,
MPORTER AND DEALER IN MEN'S RNISHING GOODS
OYS' & CHILDREN'S LOTHING,
o. 110 CANAL ST
NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER.
HESS AND YELLOW PINE. An assort ent of over 2,000 feet constantly on hand large Stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on nd made to order. Office—Corner Delord ward Depot—Signance Gommiller, Belford
, Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 1075.
JOHN E. PIPP.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.
WIDOW HY HABERT,
Successor to P. Delcruix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST.,
between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

JOHN FRINK & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN
LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
OILS, ETC.,
And Manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,
No. 14 Poydras St., New Orleans.

SAMUEL GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD.
(Formerly Shumway & Bernard.)
GARET & VIGNAUD,
DEALERS IN
SUGARS AND MOLASSES,
Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.
No. 31 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opp. the Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

P. CONROY,
GENERAL GROCER,
210..... Magazine Street 256
Cor. of Pine Carre, New Orleans, La.
Country orders will receive careful attention.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
117 DECATUR St., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 57.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice,
Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John
Bosio, proprietor. This old and favorite house announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 141 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, with the enlarged premises and increased facilities he will give them the best the market affords, at reasonable prices. Ice cream every day. Private rooms in front and up stairs. Also commodiously furnished rooms at reasonable rates.
Liberal but discriminating patronage bestowed upon us in the past induces a continuance of the same upon the present.

P. A. BECK, COOPER,
Sells and sells from 47 NORTH PETERS ST., Manufactory Carondelet, cor. Bet. Robin and Bagatelle, New Orleans.
Have constantly on hand one of Hogsheads, Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc., also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Tar-ing.

ESTABLISHED, 1819.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office and Factory, 1 New Orleans, La.
Address, Lock Box 1, New Orleans, La.

HAIR DANEFACTORY.
"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.
R. BLONDEAU,
Successor to J. B. Bertrand,
Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,
NO. 83 ROYAL STREET,
Bet. Iberville and Conti, New Orleans.
Hair for sale by the Lock or Oz. Bondeau, Specific for Dandruff, &c., &c., to be used for parties at their residences.

J. H. MEGAFFEY,
General Commission Merchant,
And Dealer in Staves, Dressed Flooring, Lumber and Shingles Materials.
OFFICE—At Bishop's Store. LUMBER YARD—
Cor. Levee and Walnut streets, New Orleans,
La. Special attention given to sale of Cotton,
Sugar and Molasses, consignments solicited.
References—Union Bank of Louisiana, Manning and Wood Planting Co.

A. P. DuMAY,
GENERAL GRANGE AGENT
AND COMMISSION MERCHANT,
37 UNION STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Advancements on Cotton, Hides, Wool, Corn and all kinds of Produce, as well as Staves and Lumber solicited. Liberal advances made on shipments.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.
JOHN S. McDONALD,
Proprietor and Manager.
MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED
MOSS.
Factory—Nos. 248 to 252 South Liberty, and Nos. 1
to 7 Cypress Street.
Office—No. 248 South Liberty street. P. O. Box 258.
New Orleans, La.
Samples sent prompt on application. Orders attended to.

COAL..... COAL..... COAL.
E. D. WOOD & BRO.,
Corner Camp and Common Streets,
Opposite the City Hotel.
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL.
Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or lesser quantities and sifted in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CYPRESS CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—
To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out in any quantity, and better and of cypress than any other concern. Not forgetting that as we have been in the trade back a quarter of a century and are recently established here people in connection with our Pearl River Mills, are enabled to start work on any contract at shorter notice than a ship can be chartered.
W. W. CARRE & CO.,
No. 1 of Delord street.

THOMAS HASEL,
LUMBER.
CABINET MADE TO ORDER.
Every description of LUMBER always on hand.
Yard and Office—CEDAR AND DELLA
STS. (New Basin), Nos. 2 and 4.

ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU,
650..... POYDRAS STREET..... 150
Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Men's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILSMANN,
DEALER IN
WOOD AND COAL,
320..... DELORD STREET..... 320
NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LUCE,
134 Hampert Street,
Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,
MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.
All new Carriages repaired and put in good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built and when.

JOHN TIEMANN,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Crescent City Cigar Store,
Dealer in all the choice brands of Havana and the Mississippi Cigars and Smokers' Articles generally.
No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,
NEW ORLEANS.
Branch Store under Crescent Hall, country orders promptly attended to.

UNDERTAKERS.
CHAS. C. JONES. JOHN C. ROCHE.
(Formerly with Frank Johnson.)
JONES & ROCHE,
250 & 252 MAGAZINE ST., NEAR CHELORD,
Undertakers and Embalmers.
All business intrusted to the firm will receive prompt and careful attention at moderate rates.
Carriages to hire.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,
ARCHITECT,
31..... CARONDELET ST..... 31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WILLIAM F. HELLEN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
110..... GRAVIER ST..... 110
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Erckson St., bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four
P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. W. W. HACK. W. H. FOSTER.
MERRICK, HACK & FONTER,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS
AND SOLICITORS,
Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.
THIS is the system of medication, confined in its action so narrow limits, being Oxygen Magnetic. It is the most wonderful Vitalizer of the human body ever known. Therefore it should cure a greater variety of ills and a larger proportion of patients than any other agent. Eight years of large experience fully confirm the expectation. The supervening multitude of cures, and the demand for it, will give them the best the market affords, at reasonable prices. Ice cream every day. Private rooms in front and up stairs. Also commodiously furnished rooms at reasonable rates.
Liberal but discriminating patronage bestowed upon us in the past induces a continuance of the same upon the present.
Treatise sent free. Address
DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Phila.

PILES.
DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 26 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee 10 years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, Brandy, all over the United States, and 10,000 cures. Hon. McKeighan and Eames, Members of Congress; Hon. Samuel Reber, M. C.; Wolff, Frank & Co., Chicago; Alexander Harvard, Main street; Horace R. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; L. H. Sherrill, Vol. N. W. Ins. Co.; St. Louis Medical Review, A. C. Cheeseborough, M. D., Editor; Medical Journal, Fourth street; L. Bolton, Wizard Party and Carpet Jerry Wood, steamer Memphis sports and others.

ASTHMA.
FOR YEARS I have treated by Inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Weakness, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.
DR. J. H. HAHRENBERG,
911 Wash Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side,
New Orleans, La.
Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

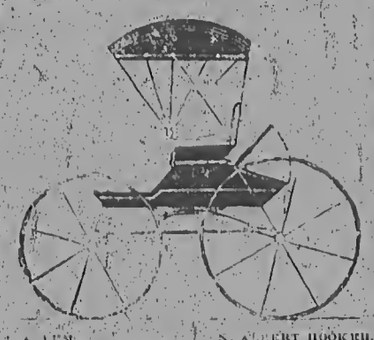
MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1810.
CHAS. SIMON & SONS,
63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,
WOULD call special attention to their extensive stock of DRESS GOODS, LINEN AND COTTON GOODS, Embroideries, Laces, Goods for Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Made Underwear, etc.
SAMPLES SENT FREE.
A SPECIALTY
Dressmaking Department.
Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order promptly in a manner unsurpassed in the finest style, at most reasonable rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement and samples of materials, with estimate of cost, sent upon application.
All orders amounting to $5 or over will be sent prepaid, freight charges by express; but parties in Baltimore will be served accompanied by the money, and pay all their goods sent C. O. D. must pay for return of goods.



J. A. LUM. S. ALBERT HOOKER.
J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
102 Gravier and 13 Fulton Street.
A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES
NO. 155 CAMP STREET.
THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give me a call and see for yourselves.
Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at lowest rates. All Furniture and Bedding put in perfect repair and delivered to order. Moving, Packing, etc., to and from at the lowest possible prices on application to
HENRY UTHOFF,
155 Camp street.

TAKE NOTICE, we have
10 Fairy Stoves, 6-ft.
10 Nation Stoves, 6-ft.
10 Fairy Stoves, 5-ft.
10 Parlor Stoves, 5-ft.
Assorted Upper Sections.
All A Splendid Watch and Chain the with every $50 worth of Goods you Buy.
BRIDE & CO., 11 Clinton Place, New York

GOOD with Eureka Coal Finder! Pure, Healthful. HIGHLY COMMENDED BY Prominent Physicians. Experienced Housekeepers delighted with it. To those about furnishing a satisfactory article of a small size and low price, 25 cents. Orders solicited from the Trade.
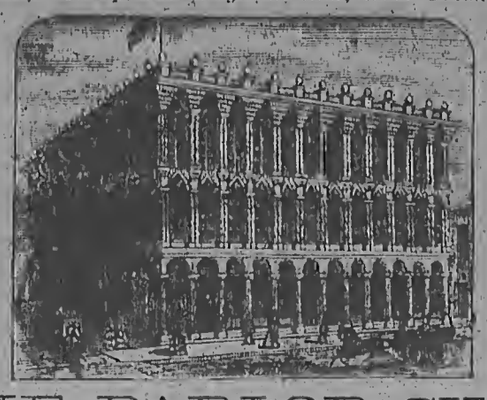
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 124 Perpshore St., New Orleans, La.

COAL..... COAL.
H. & C. TYLER,
9..... CARONDELET ST..... 9
will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates. H. & C. TYLER.

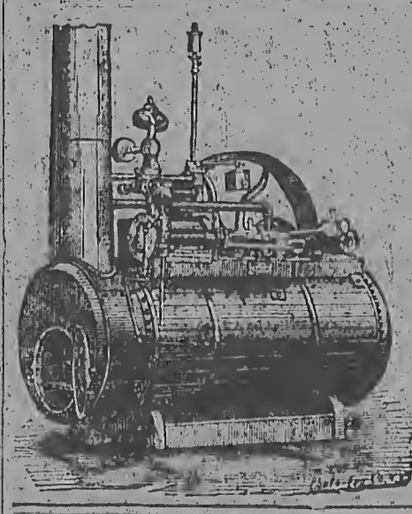
NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17 instruments since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $5. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

MISCELLANEOUS.

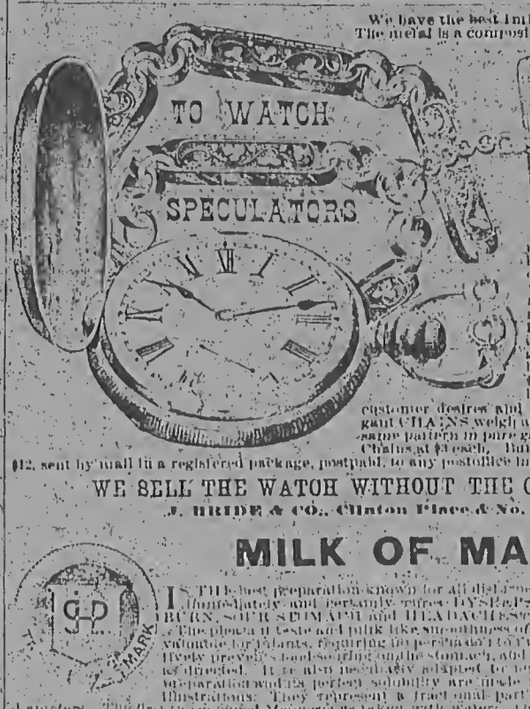
R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.
FURNITURE EMPORIUM,
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



FINE PARLOR SUITS,
IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.
FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases
Fine Dining-Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

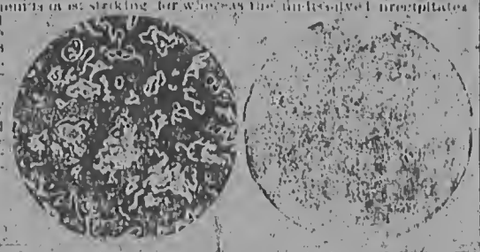


PAYNE'S
PORTABLE
STEAM ENGINES.
3 TO 15 HORSE POWER.
Strong, Simple and Durable.
BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.
SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.
B. J. WEST,
SOLE AGENT,
115 and 117 Magazine Street,
NEW ORLEANS,
Plantation, Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Glue Presses, Pumps etc.



We have the best Imitation Gold Watch in the market. The metal is a composition of other materials so closely resembling gold that the best judges find it difficult to detect the difference except by a chemical test. And it has the virtues required to make it the best substitute for gold known. Genuine American Movement, Expansion Balance, Jeweled Hardened Pivots, and equal in appearance to a $100 GOLD WATCH. TO AT COSTS Only $100 to $200. If you wish a watch for your own use, or to make money on, try this. Owing to our large sales we are enabled to reduce the price of them to $12 each, with an elegant Chain attached. They are used on railroads, steamers and in manufactories, and other places where accurate time is required, and give general satisfaction. We send them by mail or express, on receipt of $12, to any part of the country, or, if will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires and remits $3 on account. These elegant CHAINS weigh about Fifty Pennyweights, and the same pattern in pure gold would cost $60. We sell these Chains at $3 each. But we sell the Watch and Chain for $12, sent by mail in a registered package, postpaid, to any postoffice in the United States.
WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.
J. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 11 Eighth St., New York.

MILK OF MAGNESIA.
IS THE best preparation known for all disordered conditions of the stomach. It immediately and certainly relieves DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEART BURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the Stomach. The pleasant taste and pallid, like smoothness of the preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It gently but effectually prevents food souring on the stomach, and will act as a laxative when given as directed. It is also peculiarly adapted for females. The smoothness of this preparation and its perfect solubility are made fully apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fract onal part of a single drop magnified 250 diameters. The first the calcined Magnesia as taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now offered. The difference between them is at once striking for whereas the dissolved precipitates and particles in the drop of calcined Magnesia are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a cloudy vapor, entirely free from the objectionable precipitates, as last particle is dissolved.



Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it and refuse all others. It is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. Physicians and others not already acquainted with this preparation can obtain explanatory circulars by addressing
C. H. PHILLIPS,
Manuf'g Chemist,
P. O. Box 1957. NEW YORK.

MUNSON & CO.'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
111 LOCUST ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.
LARGEST STOCK of Medicines, Books and other Homeopathic goods in the West. Orders filled promptly. Over 100 choice books and a few other articles at one-half price. Complete Price Lists and Circulars will be sent on application.
We respectfully call the attention of the public to the following list of valuable Remedies, which have been used with the greatest success for a number of years, and should be in the hands of every family.
Munson & Co.'s Camp & Cough Syrup has no equal in the treatment of Croup and Several Coughs. It gives immediate relief and cures permanently. Price, per bottle, 25 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Cough Lozenges for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc. (Far superior to Brown's Troches.) Box, 25 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Whooping Cough Medicine. This remedy is very soothing in this distressing complaint, and will shorten the attacks and diseases. Bottle, 50 cents.
Anodyne Camphor, or Vienna Phalen Drops. This preparation has been extensively used in attacks of Cholera and Diarrhœa, Cholera, etc. It is a sure cure. Bottle, 50 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Fever and Ague Pills. A sure cure for Intermittent Fevers, Dumb Ague, etc. Bottle, 25 cents.
Tinya Occidentalia. The Specific for Warts, Corns and all Excrescences of the Flesh. Bottle, 25 cents.
Gunther's Goitre Remedy.—The only remedy that will cure this disease. Price, 50 cents.
Humphrey's Homeopathic Specific Medicines.
Eaton's Patent Heel for invalids and children. In sizes 1 and 4½ cents.
Ale-Darjeo.—Homeopathic Chocolate. Per lb. 50 cents. Dr. Bernardin's Eye Salve. Per box, 25 cents.

$1,000 IN GOLD.
To All Whom It May Concern.
THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in good faith, offer the above reward for the sworn statement of two respectable citizens of any city or town where it will prove that PHOSPHORIC AIR, THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, has failed to permanently cure any form of CATARRH, Asthma, Epilepsy, or any form of Nervous or Mental diseases. One month's treatment, tubular, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.
Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passages and lungs can be reached.
Phosphoric Air cures by its effects upon the circulation, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.
We will be happy to give a TRIAL PRICE to any who can call upon us so that they may experience its immediate beneficial effects.
Consulting Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.,
91 Tremont Street, Boston.

Sutter, Berry & Co.,
GLASS STAINERS.
Particular Attention Paid to Church Work.
Orders from all parts of the country promptly attended to.
412 N. SEVENTH ST., cor. Pine and Olive ST. LOUIS, MO.

30 Mixed Cards, with name, 10 cts., postpaid. Sample, 2cts. J. Miller & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

Malarial Poison.
A NEVER-FAILING ANTIDOTE!
Such is the control exercised by the
BUFFALO LITHIA WATERS
over Chronic Intermittent and Remittent Fever, and the enlargements of the Liver and Spleen often attending them, and, indeed, in all diseases of MALARIAL ORIGIN that they are regarded by the medical men of the surrounding country AS A SPECIFIC in all such cases. There are well-attested cases of this character, in which they have given prompt and decided relief after a failure alike of medical skill and of the most opted mineral waters of the mountains of Virginia.
These Waters are for sale in crates of one dozen 1 Gallon bottles at $1 per case, at the Springs. Springs pamphlets sent to any address. The season commences June 1.
THOMAS F. GOODE,
Proprietor Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va.

H. J. RIVET
DEALER IN
Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines
AND PERFUMERY, AND IMPORTER OF
FRENCH PROPRIETARY MEDICINES,
Cor. Bienville and Chartres Sts.,
NEW ORLEANS,
Proprietor of the celebrated Peychaud Bitters.

SENT FREE. Our 112 Illustrated Price List of Watches and Jewelry. We are the cheapest house in Watches. Agents wanted.
Rogers Manuf'g Co.,
21 State St., Chicago, Ill.

Meneely & Kimberly,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
Illustrated catalogue sent free.

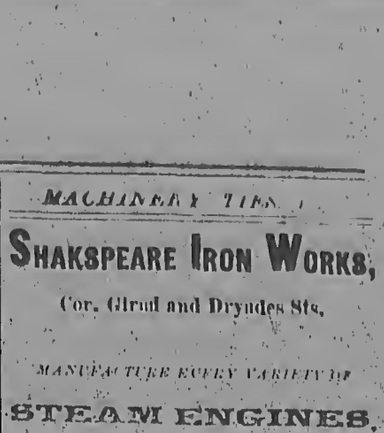
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Academies, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Depot Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

$1200 SALARY. Permanent salesman wanted to sell Staple Goods to dealers. No peddling. Expenses paid. Address S. C. GRANT & CO., 6, 8 & 10 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

MACHINERY, ETC.

SHAKSPEARE IRON WORKS,
Cor. Girod and Dryades Sts.
MANUFACTURE EVERY VARIETY OF
STEAM ENGINES,
SUGAR MILLS,
VACUUM PANS, SAW MILLS,
DRAINING AND
CENTRIFUGAL MACHINES,
MILL AND GIN GEARING,
HEATERS, ETC., ETC.,
STORE FRONTS,
COLUMNS, VENTILATORS,
RICE MILLING MACHINERY,
PULLEYS AND SHAFTING,
And work of all kinds manufactured to order by
SHAKSPEARE, SMITH & CO.,
Office—210 THIRD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Estimates for Cotton Gins furnished on application.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



Price of 10 inch Screw, 4 feet high..... $50 00
" " 12 " " 5 " " 100 00
Screw of pine, 6 inches square, and wrought iron. Platen has a heavy frame, is simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to make a better impression than any press in the market. Send for circular. Manufactured by
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

WATER WHEELS.
THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE
TURBINE WATER WHEEL.
PORTABLE AND STATIONARY
STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS,
SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,
MACHINE MOULDING AND PLANING,
SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS
Of Improved Designs A Specialty
Address, POOLE & HUNT,
Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

MENEELY & COMPANY,
Bell Founders, West Troy, New York.
FIFTY years established. CHURCH BELLS and CHIMES, ACADEMY, FACTORY BELLS, etc. Improved Patent Mountings. Catalogues free. No agencies.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.
110 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Foundry orders attended to.

E. BAKER,
SEEDSMAN,
No. 7 Camp St., New Orleans.
A FULL STOCK OF GARDEN SEEDS & FLOWER SEEDS,
Fresh, Pure and Reliable.
Seeds sent by mail. Also Fruit, Shade and Ornamental TREES, ROSES, etc.

PIERRE LANNES, Butcher,
Stalls, Nos. 38 and 39 Magazine Market,

Supplies Ships, Families, Hotels, etc., with BEEF, MUTTON, PORK Sausages, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,
183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.
Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

First-Class Visiting Cards,
25 all different..... 10c | 25 Autumn Leaf..... 10c
50 White..... 10c | 20 Snow flake..... 10c
20 Tinted..... 10c | 25 Rainbow..... 10c
25 Bristol..... 10c | 25 Damask..... 10c
25 Floral..... 10c | 48 Scroll, with name, 10c
Send 3 2-cent stamps extra for each name when the order amounts to less than $1. When more I pay the postage and thus you save 6 cents on $1 worth. No other work in the world at any price. Money refunded if they don't suit. A. W. CANNON, 712 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.
DUFUR & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also, Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

Coal, Wholesale and Retail,
COAL by boat or barge load, delivered to planters on Upper or Lower coast. Steamers coaled at New Orleans and Baton Rouge.
Coal by cooks for shipment to country customers by rail or steamboat.
W. G. WILMOT & CO.,
65 Poydras street, New Orleans.

JEWELRY STORE.
A. Boitel, Watchmaker,
58..... COD STREET.....
Best in the world. The mighty ransom was such contemptible things as silver and gold could procure. Only by one price could the church of God be redeemed from hell, and that the precious blood of the Lamb—the Lamb without blemish or spot, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Jan. 15, 1878.

We have very little to report in the way of change in the markets for the past week. Business seems to be moving along smoothly, and considerable doing in filling orders from the country by jobbers. There is a considerable stock of coffee now in first hands in the city, and several shipments reported on the way; which facts serve to depress the market somewhat for that article.

The money market is dull, and rates for loans consequently easier. It is to be hoped that the Bland silver bill, now pending in Congress, will be passed shortly. While its defeat would undoubtedly benefit the bond holders and bankers of the country, it would be at the expense of the merchants, planters, manufacturers and the industrial classes generally.

The New Orleans Price Current, to which we are largely indebted for figures in our report of prices, has an able article in Saturday's paper relative to taxation, which we would be glad to copy entire did our space permit. We have only space, however, for the following:

We have now before us official statements of the State and the city debt. The former presents a total of consolidated interest-bearing, including a part not yet funded, of $11,785,293.21, and the latter, including the floating, of $22,638,779.21, giving a grand total of only $34,424,072.42. This, it will be observed, is after the composition with the public creditors. The balance due on this settlement we hold to be binding upon the people, both legally and honorably.

To meet the interest on this debt, and pay the other obligations of the State and the city, it is indispensible that tax-payers should be prompt in meeting the requisitions upon them. There is no longer any just pretext, if there ever was any, to evade or resist payment.

We hold that both the State and the city governments should receive the cordial and patriotic support of the people, which can in no way be more effectually evinced than by prompt payment of taxes.

The support of the government is incumbent not only on every citizen, but on every resident and every absentee. The citizen whose liberty of action is assured by authority, the resident who is equally protected in person and in his vocation, and the absentee, whose revenues are dependent on the preservation of law and order by the public authorities, are all under honorable as well as legal obligations to support those authorities.

Below will be found the report of the cotton market, as taken from the Democrat:

The supply of cotton in the offerings to-day was fair, and the market opened and ruled easy throughout the day in consequence of the generally unfavorable advices from New York and Liverpool. At the latter place the market was weaker than last Saturday, and at New York spots declined ⅛c., although futures, at the close, were one point higher. The demand here was fair, and the sales reached 7,000 bales, at easy but not quotably lower prices.

The official closing quotations of the Cotton Exchange were as follows:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary
Ordinary
Good Ordinary
Low Middling
Middling
Good Middling
Middling Fair

Sales to-day, 7,000 bales. Market easy.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard Sept. 1, 1877		21,356
Gross receipts since Saturday	20,989
Gross receipts previously	948,150 –	969,137
Total supply		990,493
Exported to-day	14,744
Exported previously	622,241 –	636,985
Total stock this day		353,510
Total stock this day last year		255,187

The exports to-day consisted of 7,635 bales to Liverpool, 5,927 to Havre and 1,182 to Genoa.

Net receipts since Saturday		15,797
Receipts from other ports		2,188
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday		12,819
Net receipts this day last year		8,204
Net receipts since Friday		32,028
Net receipts same time last week		29,429
Net receipts same time last year		14,678
Net receipts since September 1		814,221
Net receipts same time last year		724,411

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 57,657 bales; Havre, 35,802; Bremen, 11,080; Mediterranean, 2,761; North Sea, 10,275; Spain, 556; Mexico, 619; coastwise, 4,592; total, 123,279 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 230,231 bales.

The receipts at all ports from twelve M. on Saturday to twelve M. to-day, as per Cotton Exchange telegrams, are 33,758 bales, against 31,762 bales last Sunday and Monday, 23,821 bales last year, and 31,966 year before last.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	32,685	2,428	11,975
Galveston	3,482	4,350	5,338
Mobile	5,869	4,774	6,322
Savannah	5,173	5,761	6,021
Charleston	3,129	3,136	4,784
Wilmington	160	419	972
Norfolk	5,922	7,930	4,651
Baltimore		451
New York	2,727	2,309	2,259
Boston	1,183	775	275
Philadelphia	428	483	149
Other ports
Total	60,831	62,217	45,751

Receipts at ports since September 1	2,872,100
Receipts same time last year	707,906
Receipts same time year before	2,811,621

CARPETINGS—Ingrains, Extra Supers, Medium, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc. Telegrams
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—200 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BUBLAPS, Ta... Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	From	To
Cotton scrapers	$1 00	4 00
Cotton sweeps	1 00	— —
Cultivators, Diamond shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	9 00	12 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 00
Half do. with cutters	6 00	8 00
Doubleshinned plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
R. L. Weal's corn mill	300 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —

Wagons, Carts, Etc.

Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	50 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	80 00	0 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	80 00	125 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Harness cart	65 00	70 00

Iron, ₩ lb:
Swedes, assorted	7	7½
Hoop	4½	7½
Sheet	4½	7
Nail rods	9	10
Castings, American	4½	5½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	35 00	35 00
Lime, ₩ bbl:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 75	4 25
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 10
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	— —	8
Paris Green, ₩ lb	— —	25
Put. Dryer, ₩ lb	12	15
Whiting, ₩ lb	1½	3
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	— —	3
Linseed Oil, ₩ gal	— —	70

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights:

Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	60	$1 10	$1 60
10x12	75	1 75	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	3 00

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 60	$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 50

Panel Doors:
2 ft. 10 in. x 7 ft. 1½ in. thick	— —	$2 75
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1½ in. thick	— —	3 85
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1½ in. thick	3 50	— —

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb:
Western	8	18
New York, good to creamy	30	31
Coffee, ₩ lb:
Rio, fair	15	15½
Rio, good	18	18½
Rio, prime	19½	19½
Java, choice, O. G.	— —	31
Candles, ₩ lb:
Star, best brands	13½	14
Chocolate, ₩ lb:
Cocoa	— —	— —
Sweet	— —	— —
Canned Fruits, ₩ doz:
Peaches, strawberries and pears	— —	— —
Corn Meal, ₩ bbl:
Best, K. D.	2 55	2 65
Cheese, ₩ lb:
Factory	11	12½
N. Y. cream and English dairy	14	15
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	23 00	— —
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	2 00	— —
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	15½
Flour, ₩ bbl:
Superfine	4 00	4 25
XX	4 75	5 00
XXX	5 50	6 00
Choice XXX	6 25	6 50
Choice family	7 00	7 50
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	5	6
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	11	12
Raisins, quarter box	— —	90
Raisins, half box	1 75	— —
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 35	— —
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	8	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	40	45
Coal, in barrels, best	35	35
Insurance, in cases	— —	50
Insurance, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	15	20
Fair	22	24
Prime to choice	34	31
Golden and Roquet syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb:
No. 2	3½	3½
Ordinary	5	5½
Fair	5	5½
Prime to choice	6	6½
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₩ lb	4	— —
Nuts, in sacks:
Fine	1 05	1 10
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in bbls:
Good fair	5½	6½
Prime	— —	— —
Choice	8½	8½
Yellow clarified	7½	8½
White clarified	8½	9½
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb:
Allspice	15	— —
Pepper	10	11
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₩ lb:
Black Oolong	27	1 10
Green imperial	30	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow, choice	— —	— —
White	— —	55
Mixed	— —	54
Oats, ₩ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	35
Galena	37	38
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	85	87½
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	11 50	15 50
Ordinary	10 00	10 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	1 60	1 75

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb:
Breakfast	9	9½
Shoulders	5½	5¾
Sides, clear rib	6¾	7
Sides, clear	7¼	7½
Hams, sugar-cured	10	11
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl	12 50	13 00
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	4¼	4½
Lard, ₩ lb:
Choice, in kegs and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	8¼	8½

BAGGING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	11	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 30 ties and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

DRY GOODS.

Brown Domestic, ₩ yard:
Standard brands, 7/8	7	9
Standard brands, 4-4	7	11
Bleached Domestic, ₩ yard:
Choice brands, 7/8	8	10
Choice brands, 4-4	9	12½
Calico, ₩ yard:
Common brands	5½	— —
Sprague, Allen & Hamilton	6½	9
Ticking, ₩ yard:
Common brands	10	13½
Good	8	11
Osnaburgs:
Eight ounce	11	— —
Stripes	9	11
Checks	12	13
Denims	13	15

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₩ dozen:
Old chickens	4 00	4 50
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 00	4 00
Geese	6 00	7 00
Turkeys	12 00	15 00
Eggs, ₩ dozen:
Western	10	18
Louisiana	— —	— —

SEWING MACHINES.

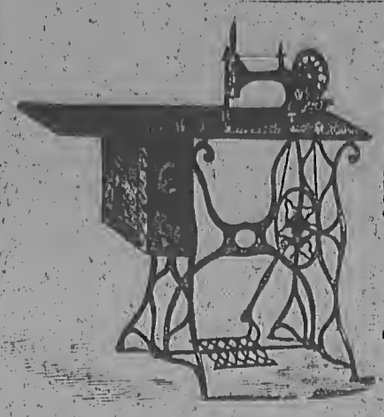
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Bogus Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

Special Notices.

A Gem worth Reading!—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES,

By reading our Illustrated PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY of the EYESIGHT. Tells how to Restore Impaired Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes.

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DISFIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100 pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $5 to $10 a day guaranteed. Full particulars sent free. Write immediately, to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957.)

No. 205 West 33d Street, New York City, N. Y.

PATRONIZED BY THE LADIES.

Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are used by the most intelligent ladies in this country. A few cents additional cost does not deter ladies who are mindful of the health of their family from procuring that which is known to be pure and wholesome.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MONTGOMERY DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tuskegee	Jan. 5, 6
Opelika	12, 13
Auburn	19, 20
Tallassee, at Tabitha chapel	26, 27
Tuskegee circuit, at Cotton Valley	Feb. 2, 3
Salem circuit, at Shady Grove	9, 10
Hurtsville circuit, at Seal	16, 17
Crawford circuit, at Soule chapel	23, 24
Loachapoka circuit, at Loachapoka	Mar. 2, 3
Montgomery	9, 10
Elmore circuit, at Ellis chapel	16, 17
Wetumpka	23, 24
Sougahatchie mission, at Rocky Springs	30, 31

M. S. ANDREWS, P. E.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Franklin Street and Toulminaville	Jan. 5, 6
St. Paul's	12, 13
Wheeler	19, 20
Eastern Shore at Daphne	26, 27
Stockton, at Stockton	Feb. 2, 3
St. Ernie's Street	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Chrisnelle, at Chrisnelle	Mar. 2, 3
Powelton and Pollard, at Powelton	9, 10
St. Stephen's, at Pine Grove	16, 17
Bladen and Okatipico, at Isney	23, 24
Grand Bay, at Grand Bay	30, 31

3 S. H. COX, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Meridian station	Dec. 22, 23
Shubuta circuit, at Shubuta	29, 30
Wayne, at Scott's chapel	Jan. 5, 6
Enterprise station	12, 13
Gaulerdale mission, at Pleasant Hill	19, 20
Marion, at Coker's	26, 27
Spring Hill, at Sou'ob	Feb. 2, 3
Philadelphia, at Pine Grove	9, 10
DeKalb, at Pleasant Ridge	16, 17
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	23, 24
Paulding, at Paulding	Mar. 2, 3
Ellisville mission, at Bethel	9, 10
McGowan, at McGowan	9, 10
Enterprise circuit, at Sukalona	16, 17

3 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Brookhaven and Wesson, at Brookhaven	Jan. 5, 6
Beauregard, at Beauregard	12, 13
Hazlehurst station	19, 20
Georgetown, at Georgetown	26, 27
Pleasant Valley and Zion, at Zion	Feb. 2, 3
Bethel, at Bethel	9, 10
Scotland, at New Hope	16, 17
Meadville, at Meadville	23, 24
Crystal Springs station	Mar. 2, 3
Brandywine, at Sarepta	9, 10
Summit, at Summit	16, 17
Bogue Chitto mission, at Ebenezer	23, 24

The district stewards will meet at Hazlehurst, January 19. (3) W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity Street	Dec. 30
Louisiana Avenue	Jan. 5
Algiers	12
Carrollton	27
Lafourche mission, at Thibodaux	Feb. 4
Morgan Street	9
Carondelet Street	24
Plaquemine and Grosse Tete at Plaquemine	Mar. 10
St. Charles Street	17

The District Conference will be held in Baton Rouge, beginning on Friday morning, April 5, 1878, at nine o'clock A. M.

10 LEWIS PARKER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Homer	Jan. 12, 13
Harrisonville	19, 20
Vernon	26, 27
Indian Village	Feb. 2, 3
Lisbon	9, 10
Farmerville	16, 17
Downsville	23, 24
Arcadia	Mar. 2, 3
Sparta	9, 10
Rochester	16, 17
Minden	23, 24
Rochester	30, 31

The district stewards will please meet at Vernon quarterly meeting.

10 J. H. STONE, P. E.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159.....CANAL ST.....159

Keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, of all sizes and lengths. Jewelry, Ladies' Combs, and Hair Ornaments, etc., made up in all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Fans. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

WANTED—By a lady of experience, and an old resident of this city, a position as GOVERNESS or TEACHER in a private school. Is fully competent to teach English and Music. Good references furnished. Address L. M. N., care ADVOCATE office, New Orleans.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Important Closing-Out Sale

OF

DRESS GOODS

AT DANZIGER'S.

EVERYTHING in the DRESS GOODS line has been marked down since the first of January. During the next fifteen days all our DRESS GOODS must be closed out. An immense assortment yet left to select from, and prices lower than have ever been known before.

SNOWFLAKES, NEIGEUSES, etc., in double width, real French goods, formerly sold for $1.50, reduced to 75c. a yard.

Double width ALPACAS, all the dark shades, at 25c.; former price, 50c.

EMPRESS CLOTHS at 25c., fully worth 50c. a yard, etc.

Important Closing-Out Sale

OF

CLOAKS AND FURS

AT DANZIGER'S.

All our Superb CLOAKS for Ladies and Misses, which have elicited so much admiration this season, marked down so as to sell them out.

Positive bargains will be offered in Ladies' and Misses' CLOAKS. Every Cloak guaranteed to fit.

FURS at still greater reductions. Our immense stock, consisting of nearly 1000 FUR CAPES, obliges us to reduce the price.

CAPES in every length at reduced prices.

Important Closing-Out Sale

OF

Flannels and Blankets

AT DANZIGER'S.

We will offer the balance of FLANNELS and QUILTS so much below their value and regardless of what we have heretofore been selling them for, as we are determined to close them out.

FELT SKIRTS at reduced prices.

Ladies' KNIT JACKETS at reduced prices.

Children's KNIT JACKETS at reduced prices.

WOOLEN SHAWLS at reduced prices.

Buy your FLANNELS from us as we have a large assortment and get them direct from the Eastern manufacturers and are selling them today at less than New York retail prices.

Important Closing-Out Sale

OF

SEASONABLE SILKS

AT DANZIGER'S.

DARK SILKS, in all the new colorings, at 75c. a yard.

DARK GROS GRAIN SILKS at 90c. and $1.

Elegant Colored GROS GRAIN SILKS, in 20 different shades, fully worth $2, reduced to $1.40 a yard.

Colored SILK VELVETS at $1 and $1.25 a yard.

Black SILKS at our famous low prices.

All our SILKS guaranteed to be real French goods.

Gros Grain Black SILKS at 90c., $1 and $1.50 a yard.

Extra Sublime Black SILKS at $2, $2.50 and $3 per yard.

Genuine "Pensen" Black SILK at $1.50 per yard; will compare with anything sold in this city for $1 and $6.

Black SILK FRINGES in large variety.

We would also call your attention to

Our Hosiery Department, which is daily replenished with all the novelties in Ladies', Children's and Gent's HOSIERY, and you will surely find what you want both in goods and prices at our HOSIERY counter.

Ladies' Fancy HOSIERY at all prices, from 15c. up to $1.50 a pair.

Children's Fancy HOSIERY at all prices, from 10c. up to $1 a pair.

Important Closing-Out Sale

OF

Ladies' Underwear

AT DANZIGER'S.

Our immense assortment of Ladies' and Children's CHEMISES, NIGHTGOWNS, SKIRTS, DRAWERS, etc., has been marked down so as to close them out before our Spring importations arrives, and economical parties would do well to examine this stock, as the goods are sold for less than the material is worth.

If you want to find just what you seek, and at the lowest possible prices,

GO TO

DANZIGER'S,

157 CANAL STREET,

Between Bourbon and Dauphine.

A. BALDWIN, President. JESSE K. BELL, Vice President.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION

OF

The New Orleans National Bank,

DECEMBER 31, 1877.

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$300,000 00
Surplus fund	25,000 00
Undivided profits	5,655 84
Circulation outstanding	179,000 00
Dividends unpaid	9,700 00
Deposits	603,120 72
Due to banks and bankers	23,902 58
Total	$1,050,923 34

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$161,189 77
United States bonds	200,000 00
Premiums on United States bonds	3,000 00
Due from banks and bankers	28,831 52
Furniture and fixtures	2,500 00
Cash	313,672 05
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer	9,000 00
Total	$1,050,923 34

I certify the above statement is correct:

WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Foundry Sts.

WANTED:

AT LINK GROVE, LA., a TEACHER to take charge of a school of fifteen or twenty pupils. A lady preferred, and one who could teach Music. Address DR. E. N. HENWICK, Link Grove, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WERLEIN'S PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC HOUSE

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

WERLEIN'S PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC HOUSE

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

VERY CHEAP HERE.

Some $25 to $100.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

WERLEIN'S PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC HOUSE

Leading Pianos & Organs

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Less than Manufacturers' prices.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of Collection. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati.

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Bers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64-page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post-paid to any address.

This is only a quack advertisement.

THE BLANCHARD BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, EPILEPTISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES

the only real Imitation Gold Watches that are manufactured, the above prices. They are beautiful Watches. Send direct to us for a Watch. Claim from $110 to $6. Jewelry of the same. Gold Metal Watch Factory 349 Broadway N. Y.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS	WRITE FOR PRICES
Stone China TEA SETS
Decorated CHAMBER SETS
Real French China DINNER SETS
Gold Band China TEA SETS
Table TUMBLERS
Table GOBLETS

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.

D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents, but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 27 Canal Street.

8p A. ROY, Agent.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, to Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place. 8p

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK-BOOK MAKERS,

27.....COMMERCIAL PLACE.....27

NEW ORLEANS.

Rollos, Bindings, Engraving, etc., executed with neatness and dispatch, and at Northern prices. Sole agents for Pictorial Business and Visiting Cards of all kinds. 8p

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

J. H. HENRICHS,

MANUFACTURER OF

SHOW CASES,

WHITE METAL SASH FOR SHOW WINDOWS.

63.....Charles Street.....63

Near Bienville, New Orleans.

Orders promptly attended to.

☞ THE BEST OFFER EVER MADE.

We will sell during these hard times

$500 Pianos for $250

and all other styles in the same proportion, including tinned, Square and Upright—all warranted first-class—sold direct to the people at factory prices. No agents, no commissions; all discounts. Pianos made one of the finest displays at the Centennial Exhibition, and were unanimously recommended for the Highest Honors. Reputation of the well-known and long-established Incorporated Manufacturing Company. New factory, one of the largest and finest in the country. The Squares contain Mathushek's new patent complex Overstrung Scale, the greatest improvement in the history of Piano-making. The Upright is the finest in America. Pianos sent on trial. Don't fail to write for illustrated and descriptive catalogue, mailed free.

MENDELSSOHN PIANO CO.,

NO. 56 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

BLACK GOODS

AT THE

MOURNING STORE,

17 BOURBON STREET.

ANYBODY wishing to purchase a Black Dress will do well to call at the Mourning Store, where the prices are absolutely lower than have been for twenty years. To any mail customers bring with them samples for comparison, to satisfy themselves. 8p A. LA...

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Worker,

Nos. 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles St.,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner.

PIANOS ORGANS

Retail price, $750, only $175. Organs, 18 stops, $125; 13, $65; 9, $45; 5, $25—all warranted, 15 days' test trial, bargains. 24 pp Illustrated paper all about Piano-Organ wars; free. DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

A. A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, S. C., Breeder and Shipper of Pure Bred and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching from Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications are respectfully solicited.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with 10c. postpaid. J. B. HUSTED, Nassau

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1878. NO. 4.

BOYS AND GIRLS.

When we are young our boys are sweet,
They climb our knees and lie at our feet;
When we are old they are hard to please,
Cold as the rock and wild as the breeze;
They kiss us kindly and speak us fair,
But we know their hearts are otherwhere.
If my son's my son till he gets him a wife,
But my daughter's my daughter all my life.

When we are young our days are bright,
And full of hope from morn till night;
When we are old we all alone,
And think of pleasant days long gone,
When the house was full of the children's noise,
The wilful girls and naughty boys,
If my son's my son till he gets him a wife,
But my daughter's my daughter all my life.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 15.—Senate.—Hon. T. Pendleton was declared the choice for United States senator—25 Democrats to 8 Republicans for Bank.

The House.—Pendleton received 66 votes, Johnson 3, blank 36.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A special from Norfolk says: The whole Roanoke river country was laid waste by the recent flood, and presents a startling scene of devastation. Those who have been up and down the river say the farms along its course, for one or two miles back, are nearly destroyed, farm houses, barns and stables swept away, fences destroyed, and all things portraying general ruin, caused by the waters. The complaints of farmers are heart-rending and real. The floods have ruined them, and left them destitute of means to recommence life on their barren and wasted land. The picture is a piteous one, and must be seen to be realized.

HARTFORD, Jan. 16.—The railroad accident at Tariffville occurred at the draw bridge crossing Farmington river, just west of the village. The train was bound for Millerton, and carried passengers for all stations between this city and that place, who came in to attend the Moody and Sankey meeting.

Two engines, a baggage car and three passenger coaches went down the western end of the bridge, the engines reaching the shore, three cars sinking through the ice in three feet of water and one car resting on a pier.

Seven bodies had been recovered up to two o'clock A. M., and it is almost certain that more are in the wreck. The wounded may be numbered at forty, among them several seriously.

LINTON, LA., Jan. 16.—About six o'clock this evening a fire occurred here which destroyed Carow's store, and the offices of lawyers Kernan & Wedge & Lyons. The fire originated in Carow's store, it is said, by a lighted match having been thrown on the floor in the vicinity of a coal oil barrel from which oil was being drawn.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 17.—Gen. John Williams was elected United States senator from Kentucky, to succeed McCreery, by a vote of 125, to 11 for Boyd.

SALT LAKE, January 17.—The heaviest snow for years has fallen. The snow shed fell with the telegraph poles. There is four feet of snow at the summit, and still falling.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19.—Com. Geo. Hollins died last night of paralysis, aged seventy-nine years. It was he who, in command of the sloop-of-war Cyane, bombarded Greytown, Nicaragua, in 1854. At the commencement of the late civil war he entered the Confederate service. For the past few years he has been clerk of the city court of this city.

GALVESTON, Jan. 19.—The revenue cutter McLean has returned from her second cruise in search of the missing dredgeboat McAllister, and reports finding portions of the bridge, establishing almost beyond doubt her loss. The schooner Vernon, reported missing in yesterday morning's dispatches, is safe at Saluria Pass.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Reuter's Constantinople dispatch announces that a great battle was fought on Monday between Tatar Bazardjik and Philippopolis. Fighting was resumed next day. Suleiman Pasha afterward took up position near Philippopolis, and ordered the inhabitants to leave the town.

The Russians have reached Tchirmen, south of Yeni Sagra, and are marching on Yeni Mahaigre.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 15.—Server Pasha and Namyk Pasha, appointed envoys to negotiate with the Russian Grand Duke Nicholas, left today for Kezanlik, where they are expected on Thursday.

The Grand Duke Nicholas has informed the Porte that he is invested with full powers on the question of the conditions of peace.

ALEXANDRIA, Jan. 16.—The average daily mortality from cholera at Mecca to the thirty-first of December was sixty; at Jeddah the average daily mortality was thirty-eight.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Mr. Stanley, the African explorer, is here. He was met at the railway station by the members of the Geographical Society.

M. Gambetta presided at the banquet given to commemorate the last meeting of the Committee of Eighty-four, selected to watch over the interests of the Republicans during the late crisis. M. Gambetta delivered an address in which he spoke in favor of the utmost prudence on the part of the Republicans.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The Standard's Constantinople dispatch reports Philippopolis evacuated and ordered burned. Ajudes and Kornabad have been burned.

ROME, Jan. 17.—At the funeral of Victor Emanuel the Crown Prince of Germany, with representatives of Austria, Portugal and Baden, walked abreast. Seventy tattered banners heightened the display. The Pantheon, which was splendidly decorated as a chapelle ardiette, was reached about four o'clock in the evening. The car on which his late majesty's remains were borne to their last resting-place was the same that was used at the funeral of King Charles Albert. It was surmounted by the iron crown. The entire procession was on foot. The ecclesiastical service was confined to a simple absolution and benediction pronounced by Monsignor Gori, archpriest of the chapter of the church.

LONDON, January 18.—A Russian official dispatch, dated Kezanlik, January 16, says: A reconnoitering party of dragoons has brought information that Suleiman Pasha is at Philippopolis, and has given orders to burn everything. Tatar Bazardjik and Philippopolis are reported to have been burned.

Intelligence from the Danube says the flow of ice continues and communication is most difficult.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Pera states that the Turkish delegates met the Grand Duke Nicholas at Tirnova Semenli, and preliminary notes were exchanged. The Grand Duke then announced that he had decided to treat only at Adrianople, which should be immediately evacuated. The delegates having assented, orders were telegraphed to Djmil Pasha to evacuate Adrianople. Upon the decision being communicated to the foreign consuls at Adrianople, they telegraphed to their embassadors for instructions, and were ordered to remain and protect their countrymen. Djmil Pasha then prepared to retire upon the fortified lines before Adrianople, where reinforcements are now concentrating. The Russians will probably arrive at Adrianople in two days, Tirnovo Semenli being thirty-five kilometers distant therefrom. Negotiations will then begin. It is generally thought here that the wisest policy is for Turkey to make peace at once.

CONSTANTINOPLE, January 20.—Moukhtar Pasha has been appointed to command the army to be formed along the line of defense before Constantinople.

The exodus of refugees from Roumelia is assuming colossal proportions.

Before leaving Adrianople, the Turks burned their provisions and blew up their ammunition.

The British consul at Adrianople telegraphed this Sunday's morning that a deputation of inhabitants had gone to meet the Russians. No news of the Russian entry has, however, yet been received.

A Reuter's telegram from Athens reports the insurrection in Thessaly spreading. Insurgents who fight under the Greek flag, and who have been joined by many Thessalians residing in Greece, were enthusiastically received in several districts.

An insurrection has also broken out in several parts of Macedonia.

A Reuter's Belgrade dispatch says the Servian government is summoning every available man to join the army for the purpose of occupying Prischtina and Novi Bazar. The Servian forces are now converging on Novi Bazar.

No news of Suleiman Pasha. An ukase has been issued ordering the enrollment of all free males.

The Bulgarians have massacred inhabitants of the villages of Guenick and Tehrkli, near Kezanlik.

GRAVESEND, Jan. 21.—Cleopatra's needle arrived here to-day.

BELGRADE, Jan. 21.—The Servian troops captured Prestina; and also reoccupied Kirshomli after an engagement in which the Turks lost 400 killed and wounded; and 450 Turks were captured.

LONDON, January 21.—The Times' Athens correspondent says: The troops at Chalcis have been ordered to march to the frontier immediately.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Pera says: Negotiations have commenced. It is stated the Turkish plenipotentiaries have been instructed that they may offer to make Batoum a free port, cede territory on the Asiatic frontier nearly as far as Kars, and dismantle the fortifications of Kars and Erzeroum. They may also propose the following programme for the discussion by a European conference:

The Balkans to be considered the southern limit of Bulgaria; Roumania to be independent; the Dardanelles to be open to men-of-war of all nations, and the settlement of the Montenegrin and Servian questions to be temporarily deferred. Difficulties have already arisen.

It is reported that Russia has demanded that Adrianople be included in Bulgaria; also the cession of Batoum and the opening of the Dardanelles to Russian and Turkish men-of-war only.

An American girl wrote to Prince Bismarck to the effect that she was anxious "to carry back to America the autograph of the greatest living statesman." He replied: "I am sorry to state that I cannot do, even for a young lady, what I have often refused to those of older years.—Bismarck." And to this, even more than his tears, he showed a womanly quality, for he "would when he would not."

I hold him to be dead in whom shame is dead.

A Word to District Stewards.

The Annual Conferences in which the Advocate chiefly circulates have now been held, and the preachers have all reached their appointments. The various boards of stewards for the respective charges, it is hoped, have met according to the Discipline, and made provision for the support of their preachers. But in most cases the district stewards are yet to meet. They are charged with the duty of apportioning the amounts ordered by the Annual Conference to be raised in the district among the several charges; but chiefly with the responsibility of sustaining the presiding eldership. Upon the district stewards, more than upon any other body in the machinery of Methodism, depends the efficiency and general appreciation of the presiding eldership.

If they give to the incumbents of the office the moral and literal support to which the responsibility and importance of the office entitle them, there will be no trouble in retaining the right men in the position—men who will magnify the office and demonstrate its value. But if they pursue a different policy they may so cripple the officers as to make the office worthless.

If a sentiment should spring up in the church opposed to episcopacy, and the General Conference Committee on Episcopacy should participate in that sentiment, they could soon virtually destroy our itinerant superintendency by making the allowance of the Bishops for salaries and traveling expenses so meager as to be shamefully disproportionate to the dignity of the office and the demands upon its incumbents. Just so the district stewards have power over the presiding eldership. This fact is fraught with peculiar significance at this time, for the reason that a sentiment opposed to the presiding eldership does prevail to some extent in some sections of the church, and presiding elders are made to feel that district stewards sometimes sympathize with it. The trouble in this case is that the presiding eldership, like the episcopacy, can only be appreciated when we consider its important relation to the whole economy of the church. A local and limited view of its functions naturally leads to superficial doubts as to its utility.

But this very thing—a disposition on the part of individual churches and charges to localize and congregationalize their interests and sympathies—is the one great danger which threatens the autonomy of Methodism. Its prevalence will be fatal not only to the presiding eldership, but to connectional Methodism. These stand or fall together. Methodism is essentially a connectional system, and owes its success in the past to this feature. If the time ever comes when our grand and peculiar connectionalism shall be lost in petty localisms, then the glory of Methodism will have departed. Destroy the presiding eldership and connectionalism vanishes. The episcopacy, after our form, could not possibly proceed without it. Itineracy would soon come to an end if it were abandoned; and if the attempt is ever made to work our system without this feature, the confusion and disintegration resulting from the experiment will soon convince the least thoughtful of its transcendent importance. Hence the greater the tendency among individual churches to become congregationalized in their spirit, and grow indifferent to the great connectional obligations and interests of the whole church, the greater the necessity of magnifying the presiding eldership—that is, if Methodism, in the peculiar features which gave it success in the past, and which adapt it to a place of honor and usefulness in the Christian world for the future, is worth preserving.

The presiding eldership represents and maintains the unity of our work. It furnishes in the person and work of the presiding elder the only effective link of relationship between the several parts which make up the whole, and the only practicable means of keeping alive a sense of common interest and sympathy among them.

If this were all—if the presiding eldership served no other important purpose—its indispensable value to the integrity and efficiency of the whole system, independent of the amount of personal service to any particular charge, should command for the presiding elder adequate support, both moral and pecuniary. When we add to this general claim which a presiding elder has, in common and upon like principle with a bishop, a consideration of the special official duties of the presiding elder—the obligation which rests upon him to preach throughout the district; to take official oversight of all the preachers and exhorters connected with it, many of whom may be inexperienced, and need counsel and aid; to see that every part of the discipline is enforced; to supervise the financial, educational and missionary interests in each Quarterly Conference; in a word, to do more work, and harder work, than any other man in the great Methodist system—it must follow that if the office is not worth what it costs to maintain him creditably, it is the fault of the officer and not the office. In this case the remedy is with the district stewards. The officers change—the office is perpetual. Let district stewards show a suitable appreciation of the office, and the strain on episcopal prerogative, to furnish suitable men to fill it will be greatly relieved. This they do only when they estimate its value in the light in which it is here presented, and measure the weight of their own responsibilities by the worth of the whole church; and not, as there is sometimes strong temptation to do, by the conflicting claims of the individual societies from which they happen to be chosen.

We respectfully commend these reflections to the attention of the district stewards who are just now holding their annual meetings in the several districts.—Southern Christian Advocate.

Build Parsonages.—One More.

This is the want of itinerant Methodism. Whatever this plan of preaching the gospel is worth, so much are parsonages worth.

On his way to the Mississippi Conference, December 5, Bishop McTyeire fell in company with a Memphis Conference preacher on his way to his appointment. In the car was a family group—the preacher's wife and four little ones. "But for them," said this true-hearted itinerant, "I should not mind this move." And he cast a glance at the interesting group. The oldest, a boy, was eating an apple, and the babe nestled in its mother's lap.

"Any parsonage where you are going?"

"None; and, poor as I am, I would give $50 if we were all safely housed now."

"That is bad. Your predecessors have not done their duty in this matter. See to it that your successor be not in your fix. Have a parsonage this year."

At the end of this and other colloquy the Bishop and homeless preacher separated.

The following extract of a letter explains itself. To two hundred preachers and appointments we say: "Go and do likewise."

R——, TENN., Dec. 28, 1877.

MY DEAR BISHOP: I know you cannot possibly remember all the good advice you give your boys; but I am going to recall the very pleasant conversation with you between McKenzie and Milan, as you went to Jackson recently. Among other counsels you charged me to leave a parsonage at R. I came, met my stewards, and they talked of where to get a house for the preacher. I remarked: "Bishop McTyeire says: Buy one." Bro. B. said: "I'll give $100." We raised $250 that evening. Now the house is bought, paid for, and the deed recorded. The lot cost originally $500, the house $1,300 other improvements $450. We got a deed for ——. It is a neat brick cottage, centrally located, only about five hundred yards from the church. I moved in this evening with my little stock of household goods—enough for one room. The ladies are to furnish it completely.

Many thanks, dear Bishop, for your good advice; and now, if you would just come to see me, and let myself and wife entertain you in the new parsonage, it would be a pleasure indeed.

Yours in the Beloved,

Western Methodist. W. M.

It has been said that to conquer is to advance. If, then, I loiter for one moment on the road to perfection, the world and the flesh get the better of me, and I turn back. God, besides, gives his grace in proportion to the efforts that I make. If I bury the talent that God confides to my care, he will take it away altogether; if I increase its value, God will double it. Therefore I advance in wisdom, and I shall advance in wisdom in proportion as I advance in grace. These two things correspond, and form a circle.

Many have yielded to go a mile with satan, who never intended to go with him twain; but, when once on the way with him, have been inveigled further and further, until they know not how to leave him. Thus he leads poor creatures down into the depths of sin, by winding stairs, so that they see not the bottom and end of that to which they are going.—Worthington.

A boy came along to one of our neighbors' houses holding a very dirty dog, and asked the gentleman of the house: "Don't you want to buy a dog, mister?" "What kind of a dog is it?" asked the gentleman. The boy looked puzzled. "Well," said he, "it is part terrier." "And what is the rest?" asked the gentleman. "The rest," answered the boy, "why, the rest is—is—just dog."

Dr. Somerville continues to draw large crowds to his revival meetings in Australia. In Sydney his Sunday and evening audiences ran from 4,000 to 6,000, and the noon prayer meetings had an average attendance of 1,000. The number of inquirers after the evening meetings varied from 70 to 200. He had a liberal support from the ministers of the various denominations.

The average number of drinking saloons throughout the United States is said to be one for every 280 inhabitants, counting men, women and children. New York State furnishes 23,854 of these saloons, which is nearly twice the number of any other State. Temperance in this country surely has a plenty of work yet on hand.

When will talkers refrain from evil-speaking? When listeners refrain from evil-hearing.—Augustus Thire.

Departure of Missionaries to Mexico.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Missions, January 9, the Rev. W. M. Patterson, the newly-appointed superintendent of the Mexican mission, was present, as will be seen by a communication in our Missionary Department. As the Rev. F. D. Villegas, late a theological student at the Vanderbilt, has been notified by Bishop Keener to accompany Bro. Patterson to Mexico, the board appointed a farewell meeting to be held at the Vanderbilt, on Sunday afternoon, January 13. Bishop McTyeire presided at the meeting. Bro. Villegas gave an account of his conversion, and of his preparation for the mission among his countrymen (being a native of the city of Mexico,) and took an affecting leave of his preceptors, fellow students and others with whom he had been associated for two or three years in Nashville. Drs. Granbery, Shipp, Young, McFerrin, Kelley, and the dean of the Biblical Department took part in the exercises, which were very impressive. The university choir enlivened the service with some beautiful and appropriate pieces. The Bishop's charge, though brief (as time was short,) was excellent, and will not be forgotten by the young missionary. Presents of books were made to him, which we hope will be added to by others. He has been a good student, and an exemplary Christian—a favorite among all. We wish he could have remained to the close of the session, as his acquisition of our language has enabled him to pursue his studies with more advantage than when he first came to the university. He bears with him the kind regards of every one, and many prayers will be offered for his welfare and success. He expects to attend a farewell meeting for Bro Patterson, in Memphis, on Sunday, January 20, and then both will proceed to New Orleans to join Bishop Keener, who is to embark with them for Mexico, January 20. Heaven bless the enterprise!—Nashville Christian Advocate.

An Old Dialogue Reprinted.

Returning from a council the other day, I overheard a discussion between my delegate, Deacon Grumbole, and Deacon Webfut, of the Baptist church at Riverside. Of course the topic was immersion, and it was introduced by Deacon Webfut, remarking that his pastor, Dr. Jordan, had baptized five persons the previous Sunday. Deacon Grumbole, who will never be outdone if he can help it, quietly replied that pastor Cyril baptized on that day nine persons.

"Well, I hope he did it in scriptural method."

"Certainly; our pastor always does according to Scripture."

"Well, now, Bro. Grumbole, what is your idea of the scriptural method?"

"O I got my notion of it from the first case of baptism on record."

"What is that? Not Philip and the eunuch?"

"O no; it was centuries before that. I mean the Israelites, when they were baptized in the Red Sea."

"Well, brother, that was a clear case of immersion. They were, as Paul says, all baptized in the cloud and in the sea."

"You are satisfied, Bro. Webfut, that they were really baptized?"

"Certainly; the apostle says they were, and tells how it was done."

"Well, then, I have just one question to ask: Did they get their feet wet?"

"They were immersed, that is plain enough. As Paul says, they were under the cloud and passed through the sea, and were all baptized in the cloud and in the sea. If that wasn't immersion, what was it?"

"Well, Bro. Webfut, did they get their feet wet?"

"Why, that's nothing to do with it; they had water on all sides of them, and water above them; they were completely surrounded by water."

"Well, Bro. Webfut, as I understand, they went 'on dry ground through the midst of the sea;' and if you can immerse me on dry ground, I am very willing to be immersed. I believe in dry-ground baptism, where you won't get your feet wet."—Congregationalist.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—The secretary of the Board of Missions in each of the following-named Conferences will please forward to me immediately a copy of his last report. We must have all the reports to make our annual report to the church at large complete. Brethren, don't delay! Virginia, Western Virginia, North Georgia, South Georgia, Florida, North Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Memphis, Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisville, St. Louis, Arkansas, White River, North Texas, Texas, East Texas, Northwest Texas, German Mission, Los Angeles, Illinois.

J. B. McFERRIN, Sec.

MISSION ROOMS, Nashville, Jan 15, 1878.

Christ looked upon the town of Galilee as upon a mighty harvest, field after field ready for the sickle. He and his apostles seemed like a small band of reapers; but what are they to such a harvest? There is a striking resemblance between this day and Christ's day—our cities and villages are crowded like those of Galilee, and the faithful ministers are indeed nothing to such a harvest; and in most places the people are willing and eager to hear the words of eternal life, which shows the harvest to be indeed ripe.—D. M. McCheyne.

Collection for Expenses of Delegates to the General Conference.

The Louisiana Conference, by resolution, has directed that a collection be taken in the month of March to meet the expenses of the delegates to the General Conference, which meets at Atlanta, Ga., on the first Wednesday in May, 1878. The expenses of eight delegates have to be provided for. It will take not less than $500—probably more—to meet the demand. By the report, submitted below, of collections in 1874 it will be seen that the expenses of four delegates were not fully met, and that only $215.10 was raised. It will be necessary this year to make a greater effort, and to make collections in every charge. Conference directed that the collections be forwarded to the editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Where more convenient, we suppose they can be paid over to the other members of the delegation. The collections should be taken promptly, and certainly not later than early in March.

COLLECTION FOR DELEGATES TO THE GENERAL CONFERENCE.

The collections for delegates from the Louisiana Conference in 1874 were as follows:

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.
Carondelet Street	$25 00
Felicity Street	37 50
Dryades Street (German)	12 75
Crap's Street (German)	1 00
Soraparu Street (German)	2 00
Baton Rouge	10 50—$103 75
DELHI DISTRICT.
Delhi	13 50
Monroe	9 00
Bastrop	6 00—11 50
SUMMER DISTRICT.
Minden	$13 10—13 10
SHREVEPORT DISTRICT.
Shreveport	$20 70
Mansfield and Hosston circuit	41 31
North Bossier	7 00
South Bossier	7 50—76 51
ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.
OPELOUSAS DISTRICT.
Franklin	17 25—17 25
Cash sent (unknown through B. J. Harp)	1 00
Total	$215 10
Paid over to delegates in attendance
John Pipes	$43 77
A. E. Goodwyn	43 77
A. H. Brigham	43 77
Lints Parker	43 77—$215 10

If I recollect rightly, the above amount paid about seventy per cent. of the actual expenses of the four delegates. LINTS PARKER.

Don't Give Up the Christian Advocate.

Years ago we wrote, says the New York Christian Advocate, the subjoined incident. As it illustrates several cases which have more recently been brought to our attention, we reproduce it by request:

"One year ago a devoted Christian layman, who, by careful industry and successful investments, amassed a large property, suddenly found himself without a dollar in the world—one of the results of the recent great financial panic. The members of the family were called together, and the new and unwelcome situation sadly talked over. 'We must begin the world again,' said the husband and father. 'I will help you,' said the faithful wife, while trying to hide her tears. 'And we'll help too,' quickly and lovingly added the children. Then the question of economy was discussed. All items of luxury or of mere convenience were to be at once cut off. The expenses were to be reduced to the smallest possible sum. The plans were settled with heroic purpose on the part of parents and children. Indeed each emulated the others in self-sacrificing plans for 'beginning the world again.'

"Among the current expenses to be saved was that for the daily paper. It was hard to do it, but the necessary economy seemed to demand it. Then came the question: 'What of the Christian Advocate? Can we do without it?' Silence followed, to be broken by the touching exclamation of one of the children: 'If you keep the Advocate we'll do without Christmas this year.' 'Yes, I, too,' said another. 'My dear,' said the wife to her husband, as she wiped away the fresh tears rapidly flowing, 'I guess we can stand it. Let us keep the Advocate.'

"It was done. And all through the last year our paper has continued its weekly visits to that noble family, where it is still a most welcome guest. It will go there also for the next year. 'The year has been a hard one,' says our friend, 'but in some respects the happiest of my life. We have made many unusual sacrifices, but our home was never so full of real joy before. God has kept us all the year. The Advocate was never prized so much.'"

The universe of God has never witnessed aught to be reckoned in comparison with the redemption of a guilty world. That mighty ransom, no such contemptible things as silver and gold could procure. Only by one price could the church of God be redeemed from hell, and that the precious blood of the Lamb—the Lamb without blemish or spot, the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1878.

THE TWO MYSTERIES.

BY MARY MAPES DODGE.

In the middle of the room in its white coffin lay the dead child, a nephew of the poet. Near it, in a great chair, sat Walt Whitman, surrounded by little ones, as I hold in a beautiful little girl on his lap. There I looked curiously at the spectacle of death, and then inquiringly into the old man's face. "You don't know what it is, I can see, my dear," said he, adding: "We don't, do we?"

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep
And still;
We know the hands, the gentle calm that clasps a pulseless chill;
The lids that will not lift again, though we may call and cry;
The strangeness of it all, the awe that settles over all;
We know not by what means, dear, this desolate heart has learned
The truth that it must live its daily way, and walk up hill again;
We know not to what part of space the loved who leave us go;
Nor by what force we feel the clinging of their spirit hands so,
But we know, dear, how loved and dear if they should come and ask us, "What is life?" not one of us could say.
Then, much as they have vanished eyes—and lessened is the shadow
Of each sweet face as down the years we journey on—
We may not (even if we would) choose to have them back again.
We may not, dear, in the dusk, this mystery of death
Ye ask of me, for I, too, want the mystery of life.

The child who enters life comes not with knowledge or intent
So those who go depart not so as grown children sent.
Nothing is known. But I believe that God is everywhere
And as the dead, the living, so death is to the dead.

Why Are Our Children Lost to the Church?—No. 2.

1. Because of a very imperfect, and too often erratic example set before them at home by their parents and other professors of religion in the family. Little children want no higher authority to do anything, or leave anything undone, or to indulge any ill temper or speak any unbecoming word, than the example of their parents and others in authority over them. When they think of being religious it is to be religious like their parents. They know of nothing higher or better in religion, and they aim at nothing more or better; and after attempting, for a time, to copy after such an imperfect and spiritless example, what wonder if they give up a religious course which brings them no comfort of love, and ultimately drift away from the church?

2. Another prolific cause of the irreligion of Methodist children and their ultimate loss to the church is the neglect of their parents to institute and keep up regular, systematic and well-ordered family worship, consisting of reading the Holy Scriptures (evening and morning, accompanied with prayer. It is not my purpose to elaborate or argue any of these points at this time, but simply to speak of known results. And I must say, from long observation, that I have seldom if ever known a truly pious family of children, adhering lovingly and loyally to the church, whose parents neglected to establish and keep up regular family worship. These children know that their parents belong to the church, attend public worship, and receive the elements on communion day; but this is all they know about their religion. They never hear or even see them do anything like praying in their families, and, of course, are not very strongly or favorably impressed with their example as Christians. They naturally look upon religion, as exemplified by their parents, as a sort of private affair, which a man may keep to himself; and hence all the good and soul-stirring influences of well-ordered family worship on their young hearts is lost to them. And when they know that the best Christian men and women in and from them keep the fire burning regularly, evening and morning, on the family altar, what wonder if they feel a secret want of confidence in the piety of their parents, and an indisposition to unite with them in church fellowship?

3. Another fruitful cause of the defection of our baptized children from the church is the neglect of their parents to give them specific instruction on the fundamental doctrines, experience and practical duties of Christianity. They seem to think that if they take their children to church, and send them to the Sabbath school, they have nothing more to do in the way of giving them religious instruction. But in this they are mistaken. There is a personal responsibility on them, which they cannot transfer to others. Every parent among God's ancient people—the Israelites—was not only required to receive the precepts of the divine law in his own heart, but to teach them diligently to his children; and to talk of them when he sat in his house, when he walked by the way, when he lay down and when he rose up; and in the New Testament parents are expressly commanded to "bring up their children in the nurture and admonition"—that is, in the doctrine and discipline—"of the Lord," and no parent who neglects this duty is guiltless before God. Where these Heaven-enjoined restraints are not thrown around children, what wonder if, through ignorance, and without resistance, they yield to their natural depravity, and not only drift away from the church, but from all moral restraints! What, under the blessing of God, made Timothy a good, great and useful minister of Christ was that from a child he had "known" the Holy Scriptures, which made him wise unto salvation in Christ Jesus."

It will take one more article to complete the suggestions I wish to make on this subject.

J. G. JONES.

Port Gibson, Missis ppi.

Christmas Thoughts.

"Thought on thought, a countless throng, Rush, chasing countless thoughts along."

Thus it is with my mind to-day. Thoughts tangled with mingled power and pleasure crowd my poor brain too full for utterance. Many Christmases of childhood's, girlhood's and even womanhood's years are bright pictures on memory's wall to-day; but I will away with these dear, remembered, never-to-be-forgotten Christmases of yore, and write something, perhaps, that will cheer some weary pilgrim, who, mayhap, is more foot-sore or has a heavier cross than mine.

God, in much mercy, has permitted me to hail Christmas 1877—the anniversary of the world's Redeemer. Thanks be to God, a Savior born! Our thoughts are with the beautiful babe cradled in the manger in Bethlehem, of Judea. Only a babe, and yet the wise men come from the East to worship it, and bring offerings of gold, frankincense and myrrh! The shepherds too, whom the angel of the Lord told where they would find our "Savior, which is Christ the Lord!" Methinks we can hear the angel and the heavenly host saying: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men!" The glories of the transfiguration fill our heart, and, Peter-like, we would ever be with the Lord. Can we forget Gethsemane—the dark hour of gloom and deep sorrow, the hour sorrowful even unto death? But hark! the voice of earnest prayer: "Father, if thou be willing, remove this cross from me; nevertheless, not my will, but thine, be done. And in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground." Was ever prayer like this? In all our deep heart-sorrows, if we could only keep this prayer of our blessed Redeemer in our hearts, although the cross could not be removed, still we would have grace sufficient to bear any affliction that we might have to suffer. Again on the cross we behold our Redeemer, methinks, his voice low and musical now. List! These are the words that fall on the ear of the throng around Calvary: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do." Was ever love like this? Well might the sun refuse to shine, all nature cease to move, and the world tremble on its foundation. The humble babe in the manger, the meek sufferer on the cross, reigns to-day over all worlds. Mystery of mysteries! and yet we bow in humble prayer, and thank the Giver of this free salvation to all men.

Doubtless many of our fellow-creatures are rejoicing in the love of Jesus to-day. Myriads are being ushered into the presence of the world's Redeemer this Christmas. Methinks their voices, mingled with angels' and archangels', and those of our loved ones gone before, fill the vast expanse of heaven with the beautiful words:

"All hail the power of Jesus' name! let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth the royal diadem, and crown him Lord of all;
O, that, with yonder sacred throng, we at his feet may fall!
We'll join the everlasting song, and crown him Lord of all."

Since last Christmas God has called one of our loved ones.

"Suddenly was the stroke,
And all unlooked for his solemn coming;
Like a flash, fast followed by the rumbler's boom-ing.
That scathes the sky with oak,
While pale with fear we hold our baby breath,
In awe of the swift messenger of death."

Had it not been for the mercy and goodness of God, the precious pleading of Jesus, he would have been hurled into the presence of the Almighty without one word of warning. But, blessed be God, although he thought he was alone in the midst of enemies, who would destroy him, soul and body, One was near, though unseen by our dear boy, to save. He was kept in the hollow of his hand, and overshadowed with the wing of his love. His dying was glorious. We felt the presence of our blessed Lord. He would tell us that "Jesus, my precious Savior, is with me. I am on the rock Christ Jesus. A few more steps and I will be over the river. I will soon be with God, and live with Jesus forever and ever." We think of him as one gone before, and entered into the joys of our Lord, with songs of praise to God and the Lamb forever and ever. Doubtless a few of the readers of the ADVOCATE may read my "Christmas Thoughts." Perhaps before another Christmas some of us will hear the summons. The important thing is to be ready. "Watch, therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of man cometh."

M. P. C.

He Was There Alone.

MATTHEW XIV, 23.

It was night. The silence of evening, the beauty of repose, lay upon the fields and groves of golden Palestine. The towering peaks of Lebanon to the west were no longer decked with the painted clouds of sunset; but through the dim moonlight their rough crests were somber and forbidding. A new moon just peeped from behind their gray bulwarks, and lighted the air with silvery beams. At the base of Lebanon the waters of Galilee were plashing their wavelets in confusion, the wind blowing them away. On the troubled surface were sailing vessels, with their snowy sails braced to the evening wind.

On one of these vessels the fishers were pursuing their occupation; while alone, in a mount in the distance, the Master was praying. It was the sacred time of prayer. Jesus, in an attitude of devotion, was viewing the scene. What were his thoughts? O for some seraphic pen to indite those divine meditations! As he gazes on the lonely mount he realizes that he is alone—alone in the flesh, and certainly alone in his great work. Among all the heavenly throng there had been none willing to offer themselves as a sacrifice to the moloch of sin, and so he offers himself as sacrifice for man.

The great plan of man's redemption was passing through his mind. In the panorama of thought he saw the form of One upon a cross; felt the awful throes of pain passing through a tortured form; heard the words coming with divine intuition from dying lips: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do;" and after this horrible review of pain came this last circumstance of triumph—Jesus was comforted. He knelt and prayed; and now, with the consciousness of peace, he rose and pursued his solitary way along the steep descent to the weary watchers on the tempestuous sea.

How grand to think that human nature can triumph over ills, physical and mental! There is an hour of despondency and one of triumph. The concord of mind is composed of differences. Its pain may be at one time almost a requiem; and a requiem at another is a glad pean.

Children of God, reflect that Jesus passed through strange vicissitudes of loneliness and sorrow and pain to save you, and remember that to him alone you owe your deliverance.

PHOEBE OGDEN.

The Tower of London.

They use the famous White Tower now as a storehouse for arms. It contains 102,000 guns, all in perfect order, besides a vast collection of old armor and weapons. The arrangement of the latter was made by Planche, the dramatic author, who is famous as an antiquarian and herald. Under his intelligent and faithful direction the effigies and gear of chivalry are displayed in such a way that the observer may trace the changes that war fashions have undergone through the reigns of successive sovereigns of England from the earliest period until now. A suit of armor worn by the detested Henry the Eighth is shown, and also a particularly rich suit worn by Charles the First. The suggestiveness of both figures cannot be missed. Nature has written brute upon one, and dissembler upon the other in characters that admit of no doubt. In a room on the second floor of the White Tower they keep many very gorgeous Oriental weapons, and they show the cloak in which Gen. Wolfe died, on the plains of Abraham. It is a gray garment, and the active moth has given it a share of his personal attention. The most impressive objects to be seen here, however, are the block and ax that were used in killing the traitors, Lords Kilmarnock, Lovet and Balmerino, after the defeat of the Pretender in 1745. The block is made of ash, and there are big and cruel dents upon it, which show that it was made for use rather than ornament. It is harmless enough now, however, and this writer was allowed to place his head upon it in the manner prescribed for the victims of decapitation. The door of Raleigh's bedroom is just opposite these baleful relics, and it is said that his history of the world was written in the room in which these implements are now such conspicuous objects of gloom. The whole place is gloomy and cheerless beyond expression, and very great must have been the fortitude of the man who bore in this grim solitude a captivity of thirteen years, not failing to turn it to the best account by producing a book so marvelous for its learning, philosophy and eloquence.—N. Y. Tribune

Here is encouragement to perseverance: that Jesus Christ, our Head, is already in heaven. If the head be above water the body cannot drown. Flavel.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verse, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

REV. WILLIAM WORDSWORTH, of the Mississippi Conference, died at his home in Pleasant Valley, Copiah county, Miss., December 25, 1877, at seven o'clock P. M. On the twenty-sixth, at two P. M., Rev. W. E. M. Linfield preached his funeral from John xiii, 26, and at four P. M. we assembled at the Pleasant Valley cemetery, where, with sad hearts, we laid his body to rest until raised in the glory of the resurrection to the full triumphs of that faith by which he lived and "pleased God," and in which he died.

He was born of pious parents, in Hinds county, (near Jackson,) Miss., in 1830, and moved to the State of Louisiana in 1836. Some time during the year 1847, while alone upon his knees, reading the Holy Scriptures and supplicating for mercy, God spoke peace to his soul, and he entered upon a pilgrimage that knew no abatement until it ended in that "rest that remaineth to the people of God." He was received on trial in the Mississippi Conference in the fall of 1850, and appointed to the Leaf River circuit, and in 1852 and 1851 to Bolivar. In 1853 and 1854 he was appointed to the Greenville circuit, and some time during the year 1854 was married to Miss Sarah Millsaps, who, with four children, survives him. In 1857 he was appointed a third time to the Bolivar circuit, and the next year to the Deer Creek circuit, and then for two consecutive years he was sent to Bayou Pierre circuit. In 1861 he was made presiding elder of the Starkville district, but at the end of one year his health was so impaired by the excessive labor and anxieties which this extended work imposed that he was relieved, and for the next three years was appointed to the Washington circuit. In 1865 and 1866 he traveled the Fayette circuit; then for two years to Cayuga. He was then returned to Pleasant Valley for two consecutive years, where he purchased a home, and the remainder of his useful life was spent on that and the Scotland circuits. At our last Conference he was appointed to Scotland circuit; but his work was done. In his own humble and sweet spirited manner he finished his course, near the place of his birth, where good parents had reverently given him to the Lord. The Master called and he went in peace. His faithfulness is known by the love he ever received from his brethren, and not a few will attest the same before God and men, at the time when our works must be made manifest." As a preacher Bro. Wordsworth was as unpretending as a child, yet clear and convincing. He did not understand preaching to mean simply saying something, but to teach the people the truth. The atonement and holiness of heart were his favorite themes; and the ease and confidence with which he discussed these subjects showed that he had a deep and well-defined experience in both.

In prayer he was strong and often eloquent; and the deep and earnest pathos of his thanksgiving and supplications evidenced his esteem of the value of prayer, and that he had often been where first he found the Lord—on his knees over the word of life.

He died of pneumonia. Of his last moments and utterances I will quote from a note from his sorrowing wife: "His illness was short and painful. Owing to the nature of his disease, it was very painful for him to talk; so he said but little. I asked him, the morning before he died, if he thought he would get well. He replied: 'I think I will. To-day, however, is the crisis. If I live through it I will recover; but if I do not, all is well with me.' In looking back over my life I see that I have been unfaithful, but I have been greatly blessed during my sickness. 'There is not a single shadow between me and my Savior.' Afterward, when I discovered that his respiration was growing shorter and more difficult, and the cold perspiration was gathering on his brow, I asked him if his way was still clear, and he replied: 'O yes! O yes!' Nothing troubles me now but the thought of leaving you all.' And when our friends sang 'The sweet by and by,' and 'The Home of the Soul,' and spoke of reunion on the other shore, he would press my hand and say: 'Amen! amen!' Thus did our brother live and die; and I close this imperfect sketch by repeating the request, to all who read it, that was made of me by his bereaved wife: 'Pray that I may be sustained in this my great bereavement, and that I may discharge the heavy responsibility that has fallen on me, with such crushing weight, of providing for and instructing my children.'"

A. M. WEEMS.

DIED, at two o'clock A. M., November 30, 1877, at the residence of his mother, in Gosport, Clarke county, Ala., LEMUEL R. HEARN, aged twenty-four years, two months and thirteen days. He had just entered upon the stage of manhood, filling a field of industry and usefulness. It was while giving his personal attention to the ginning of his cotton that he was accidentally caught in the gearing of the gin, and literally crushed to death. During the few hours that he survived the terrible accident he was never heard to murmur, bearing his suffering with all the fortitude of a Christian martyr. I have known Lemuel from infancy, and can truthfully say that I have never known a more dutiful son. He was raised and educated by his widowed mother. His father died when he was but an infant three months old, and nobly has that mother discharged the responsibility of training up her child, for he was all that the most exacting mother could ask. He was never known to disobey her slightest wish. Yes, he loved his dear mother, and seldom passed her without playfully putting his hand on her head, and caressing her. When fatally wounded at his plantation he said to the servants with him: "Go for my mother. Oh, if she were only here!" Yes, his mother was all in all with him; and now that he is gone no one can ever fill the aching void in that mother's heart.

He was not a member of the church, but he had the highest respect for religion and for the ministry, often anticipating the wants of the minister at Gosport and supplying them. His purse was ever open to calls for church purposes, and ever ready to assist the poor and helpless. His death-bed scene will never be forgotten by many who witnessed it. He was perfectly conscious up to the last moment, and did not fear to die. His only regret was leaving his dear mother, sister and loving friends. Oh, how solemn the occasion when it was manifest that our dear friend would soon leave us. We watched his countenance closely when informed that his life was ebbing fast; and, thanks be to God, who giveth victory, the monster death had no terror for him, for with a serene countenance he closed his eyes, and his noble soul winged its way to God, who gave it.

Have we hope of his salvation? Has not God said: "The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him?" With what confidence did we lay hold of this precious promise as we appealed to God in behalf of dear, dying Lem. Yes, we knew that he was dying, and we felt that the prayer of faith would save the sick in heaven. Did we not feel God's presence very near as we prayed for that dying young man, who, when asked, only a little while before, if he knew Jesus loved him, and did he not love Jesus, answered in the affirmative, and that he could trust the Savior? Was he not heard to respond to the prayer offered, orally, by one of our most exemplary Christian ladies?

When taken from the litter on which he was borne from the plantation, and placed upon the bed of that much-loved mother, an observant of the family exclaimed: "We can do nothing now but trust in the Lord." Lem. looked at him and responded: "Yes, yes."

G. W. F.

DIED, December 13, of continued, remittent fever, at her residence in Claiborne county, Miss., Mrs. S. D. Powell, aged fifty-two years.

Mrs. Powell was the daughter of Francis and Mildred Burroughs, who resided at different times in the States of Missouri and Tennessee, last removed, while she was quite a child, to Vicksburg, Miss. In 1817 she was married to F. F. Powell whom she survived several years.

In the death of this estimable lady a heavy loss has been sustained by the entire community in which she lived, for she was given to hospitality, kind to the poor and afflicted, and

Mrs. Powell was converted in her eleventh year, and soon after joined the Methodist Church South, of which she remained a consistent and active member until the day of her death. Her religion permeated her life, directing her in the conduct of her household, and shining forth in the midst of the duties and trials of every day. She believed in prayer. When her children were in trouble about any of their plans for work or play she did not hesitate to advise them to tell it all to Jesus. In time of family affliction or business anxieties she was often seen by them coming from communion with the Father that seeth in secret, and to them her tear-dimmed eyes, chastened morning and cheerful countenance taught, more than many words, what are the true sources of patience and strength.

It was the absorbing purpose of her life to mold her children to the picture and admonition of the Lord. To honor father and mother, to revere sacred things, to be true and faithful to read the Bible and believe it all, and to keep the Sabbath holy, were duties which she never sought to compromise, and were impressed upon all over whom she had influence or authority, both by precept and example.

In her last illness she exhibited in a high degree the Christian virtues of patience and submission to the will of God. She talked much of the world to come, reveled in the thought of meeting the loved ones gone before, and triumphed in the felt presence of that Savior whom she did not doubt she soon would see for herself, and not another. She had lived a consistent life, she died smiling.

A FRIEND.

MRS. ELIZA WOLFORTH, daughter of Thomas and Rachel Long, was born January 21, 1801, and died at the residence of her son in-law, Mr. C. P. James, of Jasper county, Miss., September 24, 1877, aged seventy-six years and eight months. She professed religion and joined the Methodist Church at an early age. She was married, probably about the year 1817, to Michael Wolforth, who, though not a member of the church, was an agreeable companion, and provided well for his household. She raised four children, all daughters, who still survive her.

In the course of time her husband settled in a county where Methodist churches were few, and for the sake of connection with some branch of Christ's church she formally united herself with the Baptist Church, but continued to advocate some of the principal points of doctrine so much controverted between that denomination and our own. She still believed that infants ought to be baptized, and that men might apostatize, and be lost even after regeneration. She would often say: "It is not the church that saves, and it is my object to serve God." I do not recollect of having ever heard a word of complaint against her as a church member or a Christian. She was afflicted for many years previous to her death with palsy. She seemed to bear her afflictions with fortitude. She died as she had lived with the cross in full view. Her death was of a triumphant character, and consoling to her survivors.

I will give an extract from a letter, dated October 14, written by her grandson, Thomas M. James, giving me information respecting her death: "Grandmother is dead. She died September 24. I think she is at rest. She died happy, and at peace with the Lord. She died crying: 'Glory be to God in the highest!'" Her soul now rests in the city of God.

Her nephew,

WILLIAM P. LONG.

DIED, in Milam county, Texas, September 25, 1877, GEORGE E. WILLIAMS, son of Rev. J. W. and Elizabeth Williams, aged twenty-one years and six months. He was born in Covington county, Miss., and raised in Lawrence county, Miss., up to the twentieth year of his age, when he went to Texas, and located for awhile near the town of Milam and Bell counties, where he was taken sick. After three or four days' illness he sent for a doctor, but died before the doctor reached him. He was speechless an hour, and when called upon to bid this world adieu he had neither mother, father, sister nor brother to even lay a hand upon his burning cheeks during his sufferings; but Providence placed him in the hands of a kind friend, besides many kind strangers, who treated with all the kindness that could have been asked. But, O what a sad thing it is to give him up so far from home! We received many long and precious letters from our dear brother during his stay in Texas, and at last one came from this friend, and in it a piece of hair, stating that he was no member of the church, but a true and good boy from his childhood. Our friend informed us that he was very attentive to his Bible-reading for three months before his death.

SISTER.

DIED, near Mount Hebron, Clarke county, Ala., January 7, 1878, ELIZABETH GRAHAM, in the sixty-sixth year of her age.

Sister Graham was born in Chesterfield district, S. C. Her maiden name was Gregg. She removed to Macon county, Ala., with her parents, where she was married to William Graham, December 26, 1837. She and her husband immediately attached themselves to the Methodist Episcopal Church, which she loved until her death, her husband died a few years before her, after which time she seemed to be more intent in doing the Master's will, and growing in grace and the knowledge of the Master; her house was open to the itinerant to share her hospitality; likewise her purse, from which she left for her support by her husband, was liberally. She paid her pastor liberally, and contributed freely to all the church enterprises, not forgetting the local preachers who labored in the Master near her.

She lingered for some weeks, but her mind was strong, retaining her senses to the last moment; and while her children gathered around her to comfort her she told them that she was going to leave them, that she was welcome, that she was fully prepared and desired to go and be with Jesus. She died without a seeming struggle. May her children be comforted, and prepare to meet their mother where parting will be no more.

H. S. DAY.

IN MEMORIAM.

MRS. FANNIE W. YOUNG, wife of Dr. Oliver C. Young, and daughter of Rev. Y. and Elizabeth J. Fulford, was born in Jefferson, Marengo county, Ala., January 1, 1850; was married to Dr. Young January 1, 1877, in Choctaw county, Ala., where she died, December 1, 1877. In her childhood and youth Fannie enjoyed religious instruction, and was dutiful and obliging to those who had the care of her training. She was true in her friendships. All who knew her were her friends, and praise her. She was remarkably fond of children, and children loved her. As a wife she was devoted to her husband, and her affection, gentleness, patience and industry so won upon his heart that she was everything to him.

Mrs. Young was not a member of the church, yet she was Christian-like in her position and life. Her influence over her husband was good, often speaking to him about religion, and expressing her love for Jesus and a desire for them to join the church.

She said to her husband, a short time before her death: "Oliver, I am going to die no more." Thus has passed away a true woman, we trust, to a better world. She leaves a sorrow-stricken husband, who has our tenderest sympathy.

ALEX. H.

EUGENE WOODARD COLLIER, second son of the late George W. and Caroline Collier, was born in Leake county, Miss., December 6, 1853; joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Goshen, in the year 1867, under the ministry of the Rev. V. Pointer, and died at the home of his widowed mother, in said county, on Sabbath evening, September 23, 1877. The deceased was a young man possessing noble traits of character, demonstrated in his ardent love and attention to his mother, his regard for his brother and sisters, his devotedness to his many friends, and his high-toned Christian character. The latter relation he filled more fully than many others who are more demonstrative than he was. He was well known, after he joined the church, to do or omit an act that would lower him or bring reproach upon the church. He was buried in the family cemetery, on Tuesday after his death, where his body quietly sleeps, awakened by the trumpet at the last day. May Heaven's blessings attend the sorrowing family!

O. H. P. D.

DIED, in Sabine county, Texas, November 27, 1877, after a long and painful illness, HARRIET SWEET, wife of James Sweet, and daughter of the late Hon. Kalkler, of Terrell county, Ga., aged forty-eight years and nine months. For the last eight years she was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and in all the relations of life maintained the integrity of her Christian profession.

DIED, in Lauderdale Station, Miss., July 29, 1877, EARLE CLIFFORD, infant son of R. F. and Betty J. Orman, aged one year and three months. "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

J. C. BRADY.

MINERVIE EUNICE, only daughter of A. K. and M. J. Fisher, died on the 9th of November, 1877, aged seven months and twenty days. Little Eunice was a sweet little child. Everybody who saw her loved her.

BETTIE MCCOY.

JOHN C., son of Isaac and Elizabeth Covington, was born January 3, 1877, and died October 28, 1877, of typhoid fever.

WILLIAM TAYLER, son of W. and Fannie Parkey, was born March 1, 1877, and died September 27, 1877.

When once infidelity can persuade men that they shall die like beasts they will soon be brought to live like beasts also.—South.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1878.

A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE.

BY EPES SARGENT.

A life on the ocean wave,
A home on the rolling deep,
Where the scattered waters rave,
And the winds their revels keep!
Like an eagle caged, I pine
On this dull, unchanging shore;
O, give me the flashing brine,
The spray, and the tempest's roar.

Once more on the deck I stand
Of my own swift-gliding craft,
Set sail! farewell to the land!
The gale follows fair abaft;
We shoot through the sparkling foam
Like an ocean bird set free:
Like the ocean bird, our home
We'll find far out on the sea.

The land is no longer in view;
The clouds have begun to frown;
But, with a stout vessel and crew,
We'll say: "Let the storm come down!"
And the song of our hearts shall be,
While the winds and the waters rave,
"A home on the rolling sea!
A life on the ocean wave!"

Moral Necessity.

If, then, Prof. Tyndall believes, as I understand him, that physical energy contains within itself the laws and causes of its own distribution, mind is a mere unexplained phenomenon of physics. If that be not true—if "the whole stock of physical energy in existence" does not regulate its own laws of distribution—then there must be something else which does regulate it, and which will might well be defined as that which, though not able to create physical energy, is able to create and direct it in this direction rather, to concentrate it on one purpose or on another, within certain limits, as it will. Evidently, then, Prof. Tyndall either teaches us pure materialism, or leaves us free to believe that though the stock of physical energy in the world is always the same, incapable of increase or decrease, the way in which it is to be applied, whether by one channel to one purpose, or by another channel to another purpose, is left more or less at our disposal. Yet as we understand him, he forbids us to believe either of these alternatives. He wishes us to regard physical energy as containing in itself the precise laws of its own distribution, in some sense, and yet forbids us in another sense, consciousness and its states these laws. He says almost in the same breath, "molecular motion produces consciousness," and then adds, "physical science offers no explanation for the notion that states of consciousness can be generated by molecular motion." Which does he wish us to believe? If the first, then we know what he means, and that is pure materialism. If the second, he leaves plenty of room for the scheme of free will, in spite of that absolute limitation of the stock of physical energy in the world, which he teaches. But it is hardly reasonable to take credit for both assumptions—that molecular motion is the ultimate cause of everything, and that mental states are not caused by it any more than it is caused by them.

Still more difficult is it to follow out Prof. Tyndall's teaching as to moral necessity, when, at length, he has somehow skipped the gulf between physics and morals, and come to assume moral necessity as the truth. He says, very justly, that if the doctrine of necessity does away with moral responsibility, it yet saves in all their strength the motives for discouraging actions injurious to society, and encouraging those which are beneficial to society. That is quite true. But Prof. Tyndall appears to admit that though we should encourage what we find useful, and discourage what is injurious by every means in our power, approbation and disapprobation are unmeaning, except on that hypothesis of moral freedom which he has rejected. We may visit what is injurious with disagreeable results in order to prevent others doing it, but it is childish to talk of being morally offended with what was as inevitable as the fall of an apple when its stalk breaks. This being granted, then—being shut off from the dispensing of approbation and disapprobation—we shall be unfortunately also shut off from using, as for the most powerful of the moral influences to wrong and crime. As the German thinker said of God, that if he did not exist it would be necessary to invent him, so we might fairly say of moral approbation and disapprobation—if they did not exist we should be obliged to invent them. Mere betrayal of pleasure or pain would be of little use without that approbation and disapprobation which make the pleasure and pain really effective, and give them their stimulating or deterrent power. It is not shutting up a man in prison, but shutting up up because his action is treated by society as morally disgraceful, which is the formidable thing. Prof. Tyndall, in giving this up, gives up the very sting of the penalty, and deprives it of more than half its deterrent effect. And as for the preacher—why, to suppose that the preacher could preach against iniquity with zeal and effect, as Prof. Tyndall says, after he had ceased to believe that there was such a thing at all as iniquity in any sense except that in which deformity and infirmity are the same, Prof. Tyndall is the most sanguine of men if he thinks so. Indeed the punishment of persons who are believed to be incapable of doing anything but what they did, would soon become as impossible as it has already become impossible to punish criminal lunatics. Follow Prof. Tyndall's principles out to their proper limits, and all punishment, properly so called, would cease.—London Spectator.

The youth who does not look up will look down; and a spirit that does not soar is destined to grovel.—Disraeli.

Hypocrites are beings of darkness disguised in the garments of light.

Natalie Narischkin.

THE MOTHER OF PETER THE GREAT.

BY LIZZIE P. LEWIS.

Natalie Narischkin, the mother of Peter the Great, was a lovely, highly-gifted woman, though of humble origin. Alexis, her husband, was a prince of unusual energy and intelligence. He encouraged agriculture, established silk and linen manufactories, reorganized the armies, compiled a law code, which is in use at the present day, and did all which lay in his power to improve both the social and moral condition of his people. When he became a widower he resolved to marry a second time to please himself.

With this object in view, he went through the country in various disguises, seeking to penetrate into the inner circle of homes blessed with daughters. Sometimes he would go dressed as an apothecary in search of healing plants, sometimes as a merchant or a travelling professor.

In this way he became more thoroughly acquainted, too, with his country and its inhabitants, with their desires and cares, duties and trials, than would have been possible otherwise.

As he was one day walking through the suburbs of Moscow he met one Matwerf, with whom he had often talked concerning the ignorance of the Russian poor, and the best way of remedying it.

Matwerf invited the Czar to sup with him, and introduced him as a merchant from Kasan. The busy, bustling housewife received her guest with true Russian hospitality, but the Czar's glance passed over her short, round figure, to rest upon that of a tall, slender girl who stood behind her. It was Natalie, a poor orphan whom the Matwerfs had taken to their home through pity.

She wore the simple, national costume of the olden time. Upon her soft hair was a black velvet cap; around her neck hung a triple row of pearls, from which was suspended an image of the holy Saint Nicholas. The remainder of her outfit consisted of a short overskirt, a bright-colored underskirts, blue stockings, and low shoes.

Supper was served by the ladies, and though the kind hostess urged Alexis to do honor to her honeycakes and meat, he ate but little, so absorbed was he in listening to the praise which she gave her adopted child.

"She reads and writes well enough to be the first secretary of the Czar! The holy St. Nicholas protect him! and yet no girl, far or near, can spin better or faster than she. From early till late she helps me, and then in the evening she reads to Matwerf, because the moonlight pains his eyes. She is indeed the blessing of our old age."

The Czar's eyes rested with pleasure on the blushing face of the lovely maiden, and with reluctance he took his leave, only to repeat his visit soon and often.

Equally he declared his love, and won her promise to be his bride.

And now an imperial proclamation was issued, ordering all the fair young girls in the empire to assemble in the Kremlin on a certain day, that, following an ancient custom Peter C. might make his choice of a wife from among the daughters of the land.

Very unwillingly did Natalie prepare to obey the imperial summons. Her heart throbbed at the possibility of being the chosen one, and the dread of being unfaithful to her plighted lover.

Tremblingly she followed Matwerf into the salon where several hundred other maidens awaited the coming of the Czar.

The strange position, the unaccustomed splendor, the noise of the multitude, confused her so much that she was not able to lift her eyes from the floor.

A clang of trumpets announced the Czar's approach. The doors were thrown open, and Alexis, in gold-embroidered dress, a diadem on his head and jeweled scimitar by his side, entered. Laughing and chatting, he passed from one group to another of blooming girls.

When he came toward Natalie she raised her timid eyes, her glance met the Czar's, whom she recognized as the merchant from Kasan, and she fell unconscious to the floor.

When she next opened her eyes it was to find herself in the arms of Alexis, and to hear her name called as that of his beloved bride.

Crowds of servants now brought fruits from Damascus, figs and confitures from Turkey, cordials from Italy, and rich gifts to distribute among the disappointed girls; but to Natalie Narischkin was given the wedding robe.

The Emperor of all the Russias never regretted having taken to his heart and home the poor orphan girl. With her tender devotion and bright intelligence she soothed and cheered the hours he spent away from the affairs of State; she sympathized with him and aided him in all his efforts to elevate the tone of his people, and in every possible way she strove to implant in the hearts of the women of Ivrrealin the same virtue and wisdom which was in her own.—Home Journal.

Angels.

One thing is very plainly taught us, viz: that human beings never become angels. We and they belong to two different orders of God's creation; between their natures and ours are essential differences; they are of one kind, we of another; so that men cannot become angels any more than angels can become men. For this assertion abundant warrant is found in the words of the Bible. In the second chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews we are reminded of what had already been testified in one of the psalms: that God made man "a little lower than the angels," and that Jesus also "was made a little lower than the angels;" and that when he was made man "he took not on him the nature of angels," but he took on him the seed of Abraham." He was made not an angel, but man. Moreover, if our Lord tells that the "little children have their angels," it is silly to suppose that these children can be transformed into angels.

There is another difference—a sad one, indeed—between us and them. For those angels that sinned there is no redemption; they fell beyond recovery; the gracious Savior did not come to seek and to save the lost angels.

The apostle puts to the Christians of Corinth the question: "Know ye not that we shall judge angels?" Well may we be assured, therefore, that there will not be in the case of men and angels, any more than in any other case, a confounding of orders and kinds which the Creator himself has made separate and distinct. We shall never become angels. Yet we may, so great is God's goodness to men, attain to a higher honor and glory than they possess. Though now we are a "little lower" than they, yet hereafter those of us who by being made members of Christ, the second Adam, have become children of God and heirs of the incorruptible inheritance, shall be in him raised to the high position of judges of those other creatures of his hand. "The saints" shall judge not only the world, but also angels. Let, then, no ignorance of Holy Scripture, or no fond delusion of sentimentalism, lead us to misunderstand our relation to the angels, and to forget our own position and the dignity to which we are entitled as "joint heirs with Christ" our Lord.—Rev. J. H. Babcock.

Singular Coincidences.

A presiding elder writes: "Ten quarterly meetings were held in ten charges on my first round last year. At six of them the brethren had on the ground a comfortable dinner, which was served up just after the sermon on Saturday, and before entering upon the duties of the Conference. We had six pleasant and profitable Conferences; where business was dispatched rapidly, and where liberal things were devised in all matters of church finance. The official members were in a good humor, and disposed to provide a good support for the preacher. In four charges there was no dinner on the ground. In all these we had tedious Conferences, small salary allowed the pastor, much complaint at the assessments made by the district stewards, and a disposition to growl. Can you explain these things? Would you recommend a Quarterly Conference dinner as a moralizer?"

We are reminded of the way they do things among the Wesleyans in New South Wales. According to a letter in the Wesleyan Advocate, published at Sydney, and copied by the New York Methodist a custom prevails over there of preaching quarterly meetings with a big dinner. The preacher, who reports his personal contract with the custom, says that at first he was opposed to it, but experience has made him an advocate of it. A steward will ride fifteen miles to secure a preacher, and after a good dinner will make liberal provision for his pastor. The correspondent closes his letter with a burst of eloquence, which we append, instead of an editorial recommendation of "a Quarterly Conference dinner." Hear him:

"Reverend brother, if you have any ferocious steward of whom you are in fear, dine him well, and he will probably be as quiet and inoffensive as Samson in the lap of Delilah. If your quarterly meeting is thinly attended, if the members of it are at all surly or stingy, if the business grates and rasps in its progress, establish forthwith a grand quarterly dinner. The effect will most likely be as beneficial upon your meeting as it will be injurious upon the poultry-yards."—Western Methodist.

HOW THE INDIANS CLIMB TREES. Appleton's Journal says: "In South America even the weakest woman may be not uncommonly seen plucking the fruit at the tree-tops. If the bark is so smooth and slippery that they cannot go by climbing, they use other means. They make a hoop of wild vines, and, putting their feet inside, they use it as a support in climbing. The negro of the west coast of Africa makes a larger hoop around the tree, and gets inside it, and jerks it up the tree with his hands, a little at a time, drawing his legs up after it. The Tahitian boys tie their feet together, four or five inches apart, with a piece of palm-bark, and with the aid of this fetter go up the cocoa palm to gather nuts. The native women of Australia climb the gum-tree after opossums, where the bark is rough they chop holes with a hatchet, then one throws about the tree a rope twice as long as will go round it, puts her hatchet on her cropped head, and placing her feet against the tree and grasping the rope with her hands, she hitches it up by jerks, and pulls herself up the enormous trunk almost as fast as a man will climb a ladder."

A young girl from the country, being on a visit to a Quaker, was prevailed on to accompany him to the meeting. It happened to be a silent one, none of the brethren being moved to utter a syllable. When the Quaker left the meeting-house with his young friend he asked: "How didst thou like the meeting?" To which she pettishly replied: "Like it? Why, I can see no sense in it—to go and sit for whole hours together without speaking a word; it is enough to kill satan himself." "Yes, my dear," rejoined the Quaker, "that is just what we want."

A skeptical young collegian confronted an old Quaker with the statement that he did not believe in the Bible. Said the Quaker: "Does thee believe in France?" "Yes; for though I have not seen it, I have seen others that have. Besides, there is plenty of corroborative proof that such a country does exist." "Then thee will not believe anything thee or others have not seen?" "No; to be sure I won't." "Did thee ever see thy own brains?" "No." "Ever see anybody that did?" "No." "Does thee believe thee has any?"

Religious Intelligence.

—Union Theological Seminary in forty years has sent out 1,285 clergymen, 124 of whom are foreign missionaries.

—The Church Missionary Society recently sent out thirteen new missionaries—three to Africa, nine to India and one to Japan.

—Mrs. John C. Green, the executrix of the estate of her benevolent husband, has added to her munificent charities the gift of $100 000 to the American Sunday School Union.

—The Vatican has accumulated a capital of 30,000,000f., which is lodged partly in Torlonha's Bank, partly in Paris and Brussels, and necessary for the payment of officers of the pontifical army and ex-officials of the pontifical State.

—The Cardinal Autonelli will case has not yet been decided, but a decision is expected soon. It is said that the Countess Lambertini will lose the case unless she can present her mother, which her counsel says can be done in case of extreme necessity.

—The New York City Mission and Tract Society, which represents the Protestant Evangelical Churches of the city, is about closing its fifty-first year. During the year the society's missionaries have made 89,422 visits among the poor, and have held 835 preaching services. At five of the chapels missionaries may be found ready to answer every call.

—The Rev. George Muller disclaims any connection with the Plymouth Brethren. He occupies an independent position as an evangelical preacher and pastor. Among the helpers in his institution in Bristol, England, there are representatives of eight denominations, and he receives a cordial welcome to the pulpits of all branches of the church.

—More than three and a quarter centuries ago many refugees arrived in London who had been driven from their own lands by the spirit of religious persecution. A company of these refugees, who were Frenchmen, were allowed the use of the crypt of Canterbury Cathedral for worship. Their descendants still enjoy this privilege, and the little congregation has just celebrated the three hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of its existence.

—At the close of the Revolutionary war the Baptists had in New Jersey about 22 churches and less than 2 000 members. The churches had suffered considerably in the destruction of property which accompanied the progress of the war. The churches, however, soon rallied from the depression caused by the disasters of the war, and by 1814 they had formed a State association. Since this period there has been a pretty steady progress. In the 21 years, between 1852 and, 1873 the number of communicants was doubled. Now the church and school property has a valuation of about $2,500 000; there are 171 churches, 201 preachers, 32 000 communicants, and an adhering population of not less than 150,000."

—The Friends of England have been interesting themselves in the suppression of the opium trade, which has done so much to degrade and destroy the Chinese. A deputation of Friends waited on the Chinese minister in London and held a long conversation with him on the subject. He has also given a written reply to the deputation, in which he gives an account of the negotiations of the past two years. The Chefuh convention, concluded last year, was regarded as satisfactory to both parties; but it is now rumored that the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce intends to oppose its ratification. The minister says the recent depression in trade is due to the growing practice of opium-taking, which entails "poverty and starvation." Many families could live comfortably on their incomes but for the habit of opium-smoking, which is added daily to the list of the suffering poor. He thinks that the land in India now devoted to raising poppy were better used for corn and other cereals. It would be a great help to the missionary movement if the importation of opium could be stopped, and the country which is responsible for the introduction of the plant in China, and is now responsible for its continued cultivation, ought to take steps to put an end to the wrong which is being done to the Chinese people.

—The German correspondent of the London Guardian gives the following story in illustration of Catholic miracles. It will do to read in connection with the account given by the Catholic Review of the miracles performed at Lourdes, where nine miraculous cures were effected in one day. Here is the story: "Before the date becomes too antiquated, let me narrate an amusing incident in connection with the Marpingen visions. Large numbers of devout Catholics had prepared to spend the festival of St. Sedan in a becoming way, by pilgrimaging to the sacred spots, and on the day before (September 1) a large company arrived at the Trier station, on their way to Marpingen. The train was much behind time. In consequence of the throng, and at Trier every one rushed to the refreshment-rooms, thinking that, as usual, there was a long stoppage there. Among the company was a lame cripple, who, by the help of a pair of brand-new crutches, made his way painfully along the platform. The fact of spick-and-span new crutches was a little conspicuous, but why should not the man have put on his best exterior when about to journey to the favored abode of the Virgin? At any rate, the lame man was hustled with the interior when the bell rang for starting, and he delayed the work a little too long. The guard whistled the train off, and when he hobbled out of the refreshment-room the train was slowly moving. Regardless of appearances the cripple tucked his new crutches under his arm, ran the whole length of the platform, and, with all the agility of practiced youth, sprang on the foot-board and into a carriage, and so went on to Marpingen to be miraculously cured."

Our Young People.

THE PRAYER AND THE PROMISE.

Into her chamber went
A little maid one day,
And by a chair she knelt,
And thus began to pray:
"Jesus, my eyes I close—
Thy form I cannot see;
If thou art near me, Lord,
I pray thee speak to me."
A still small voice she heard within her soul:
"What is it, child? I heard thee. Tell me all."

"I pray thee, Lord," she said,
"That thou will condescend
To tarry in my heart,
And ever be my friend;
The path of life is dark—
I would not go astray:
Oh, let me have thy hand
To lead me to the way."
"Fear not—I will not leave thee, child, alone."
She thought she felt a soft hand press her own.

"They tell me, Lord, that all
The living pass away;
The aged soon must die,
And even children may.
Oh, let my parents live
Till I a woman grow;
For if they die, what can
A little orphan do?"
"Fear not, my child—whatever ills may come,
I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home."

Her little prayer was said,
And from her chamber low
She passed forth with the light
Of heaven upon her brow.
"Mother, I've seen the Lord—
His hand in mine I felt;
And oh, I heard him say,
As by my chair I knelt:
'Fear not, my child—whatever ills may come,
I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home.'"

From Our Little Friends.

MERIDIAN, MISS., January, 1878.

DEAR BRO. PARKER: I noticed so many little girls and boys writing to you that little Charlie Bancroft and myself concluded we would write a letter together to you. Charlie says he wants to tell you that he is a member of the church, and is glad of it, and hopes, if he lives, to grow up to be a good and useful man. He is the youngest of five children living, and the only one now living with his pa and mo. His old and good grandma is still living with them, but is getting very feeble from old age. My father's name is Mr. Peter L. Dallas. I am attending East Mississippi Female College, at Meridian, and boarding with Rev. George Bancroft. I must tell you that I, too, am a member of the church, and hope to live a Christian life. I am delighted with the college. Prof. Adkisson is an excellent teacher. I do not see how a girl can keep from learning with him. He is a pious man, and has good teachers. There are one hundred and four students, and everything goes on like clock-work. I try to study so that I will be benefited. I think it bad for a girl to grow up without an education. I heard Mr. Bancroft say that a boy might work along somehow and get along through the world, but for a girl to grow up without being educated was a serious misfortune. Of course he thinks boy ought to be educated too. I will close by wishing you a happy Christmas.

SALLIE E. DALLAS.

MONTROSE, MISS., Dec. 15, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I see a great many letters in your paper that are written by little boys like myself. We are always anxious to get the ADVOCATE, though it brought sad news to us when we saw the death of Bishop Marvin. I have read his good letters with great interest. It seems that the ways of our kind Father above are mysterious in taking one so good and useful. I will answer Jenny L. Simmons' question: It was Manasseh who began to reign at twelve years of age—Second Kings xxi, 1. I will ask a question: What king began to reign at twenty years of age? Your little friend,

WILLIE ABNEY.

GOODMAN, MISS., Nov. 21, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years old. I like to read the Child's Corner so well that I thought I would write to you and answer some of the questions. You may tell Thomas M. Owen that Melchisedek was the first priest mentioned in the Bible, and he was a type of Christ. Now I will ask the little folks a question: What was the name of the first archer mentioned in the Bible?

Your little friend,

ETHEL HARRINGTON.

MOSS POINT, JACKSON CO., MISS.
November 26, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: It was the Lord who buried Moses in the valley of Moab; it is found in Deuteronomy xxxiv, 6. Now I will ask some questions for your little readers to answer: How many days did the people mourn for Moses, and how old was he when he died? What king made a great feast to a thousand of his lords? What vision appeared while they were drinking wine?

Yours truly,

JOSEPHINE MCGREGOR.

LISBON, ARK., Dec. 2, 1877.

MR. EDITOR: Aaron was the first priest mentioned in the Bible. I will ask a question: Who was the father of Saul? Where is the Lord's Prayer found in the Bible?

From your little friend,

A. J. SCOTT.

The Old Gullies.

One never forgets the church of his youth. The pulpit, the pews and the preachers are never forgotten. His playmates and his teachers are still in memory. The road leading to the church seems as if one had just made the journey. Now and then we remember bits of the preachers' sermons. The preachers have forgotten they ever saw such a boy; but we have never forgotten him; and oftentimes that his sermons, though preached many years ago, very useful.

Our boyhood church was situated in the town of B. We loved to go to church and meet our friends and see the preachers. If the preacher shook hands with us we thought we were somebody. I shall never forget a remark Dr. A. made in one of his sermons. He pointed to the gullies just above the church and said: "I would rather undertake to stop those gullies from washing than to preach to men of evil habits." There was a time when one could have taken some straw and thrown in the wash and stopped it. Every time it rained the gullies were made longer, wider and deeper. Cotton and corn used to grow where the gullies are; but now the land is useless. Not long ago we passed the old church and saw the gullies, and thought of the doctor's remark. I thought of my schoolmates, and found that the doctor's remark was true.

A saloon was opened in the town. Some of my schoolmates went in and called for their drinks. The gully soon began.

First, it washes away pleasant words.

Secondly, it washes away good manners.

Thirdly, it washes away respectability.

Fourthly, it washes away friends.

Fifthly, it washes away health.

Sixthly, it washes away a mother's happy heart.

Seventhly, it washes him into a drunkard's grave.

The gully has a name—it is the Gully of Disgrace.

Dear children, beware of that gully. The father's toddy led to it when I can get it," "when I can get it led to a saloon, a saloon led to a drunkard, a drunkard went to a drunkard's grave, a drunkard's grave led to hell.

JERRY.

How Little Jenny Fell Asleep.

Little Jenny was tired. She could not run and skip as you can, my merry darlings. Light as his footsteps and gay as his rosy-bird's voice, Jenny carried her head. Instead of sparkling cheeks and clear eyes, hers were white as the down of a snow-bird. But I cannot think that even your rosy faces are more kissable than were Jenny's.

Her hair was golden bright, and it blew away from her face like a soft, soft cloud, and her eyes were bright and clear, and lovely sweet.

Many and many a night of her sad young life, when her poor little body was racked with pain, her dear mother would take her in her arms and try to hush her with sweet lullaby-song; or she would kneel by her little bed, and ask God to take away her pain, and send her sleep. And at last the dear God, leaning very tenderly out of heaven, did send sleep to the tired eyes; not such sleep as the mother prayed for—not such as you know, tucked away in your little beds, with mother's kiss warm upon your lips—but a sweeter, calmer sleep, from which pain nor tears can never waken.

For many days before the coming of this beautiful sleep our darling suffered much. We could do nothing for her but sit and hold her little trembling hands and smooth the bright hair, softly crying all the while. And when she saw us crying around her she would raise her weak hands to dry our tears, and say: "Don't cry for Jenny; by and by she'll go to sleep."

And by and by she did. It was sunset-time. A soft breeze fluttered the curtain of the window, and through its folds a trembling ray of sunlight stole and laid a crown of shining gold upon our darling's head. She felt the warm touch, and opened her sweet eyes, smiling as at an angel's kiss.

"Take Jenny to the window, please," she whispered; so we wheeled the little bed into the full tide of sunset splendor.

A moment the dear eyes lingered upon the beautiful earth, upon the softly purple hills—the flush of sunset bloomed above them—and then we watched the poor lids droop in the coming of the beautiful sleep. Like tired birds, the baby hands fluttered a moment, then drooped in folded rest. A feeble kiss, a smile of heavenly beauty about the tired mouth, and Jenny slept. A bird commenced singing a low, sweet song of good night, she did not wake to listen. The last gleam of day failed from the hills, yet never again the long lashes stirred upon the white cheek.

And has she never again awakened? Not here; but there is a land where God and the angels live, and there, no longer lame and pale and tearful, but a shining angel, we know our little Jenny will awake.—Golden Hours.

A railroad two feet wide will soon connect Billerica and Bedford, Mass. It will cost less than $6,000 a mile, or only one-eighth of the cost of ordinary railroads. Its passenger cars will have a row of single seats on each side.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GOLDEY.
REV. J. O. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Looking Back and Going Back.

Unfitness for the kingdom is affirmed of him who looks back. His hands may be still on the plow, but he is unfitted for his work if his eye be diverted from its guidance. The furrow will be badly turned, the tillage will be shallow, the whole business will be slightingly and poorly done if the attention be divided. God must be sought with the whole heart. He must be served with a perfect heart and with a willing mind.

Looking back is not going back, but it is going forward reluctantly, while the glance of desire is furtively turned away from the true object of the Christian profession. There are temptations in the ordinary path of religious duty respecting the sacrifices that have been made, renunciation of worldly pleasure, and the giving up of doubtful courses. The ilue of the tempter is to insinuate that we are more strict than is necessary, that religion is perfectly compatible with a gay and pleasure-loving life, and that there is more Puritanism than piety, more Pharisaism than godliness in the vow to renounce the world and its covetous desires. The forbidden fruit is alluring, the tree pleasant to the eyes, and there may be some mistake about the consequences.

In the ministry separateness, and the consequent withdrawal from secular pursuits, tests the faith to the uttermost. What opportunities for money-making, the securing of luxury, and the attainment of the prizes of ambition have not been sacrificed! The toil, and the long patience, and the scant remuneration are not fully realized till some time after the start. In the beginning we may have thought our consecration complete, and that the heart was altogether in the work. But time passes, trials come often—the most severe about the period of ministerial maturity and middle age—and there is a drawing away from the gospel field as the exclusive pursuit. There is, however, only a looking back. Perhaps there was an inward struggle with the call at first, and possibly the looking back coincides with the beginning of a half-hearted obedience to the divine vocation. Weakness, vacillation, mark the entire career, and lead to an early abandonment of the work. But, if this be not so, still the looking back is at any and all periods of the ministerial life so serious and capital a defect that he who is guilty of it is pronounced not fit for the kingdom of God. If salvation be not forfeited, there is danger of it, and there is utter disqualification for the special mission to which he has been called.

The habit of looking back in Christians of any class is destructive of their peace, spirituality is surely if slowly undermined, and their power for usefulness is lost. They are not fit co-workers with God, and they can no longer render an effective, consistent and acceptable service. The hand may be on the plow, but the heart is in other things, and the work of God is often marred rather than advanced. Lot's wife only looked back. It was expressive of a worldly, disobedient and trifling spirit, and the singular judgment that came upon her stands as a warning. We grant there is a difference between the sinner looking back as he flies from Sodom, and the Christian who, on his way to heaven, turns his face momentarily toward the things he has forsaken. It, in the last case, may be a temporary perturbation, but there is danger, and when a divided heart becomes habitual the path to ruin is short. Perhaps the great Teacher meant no more than that if a man's heart is not in the work of the gospel he is not fit or qualified for it; and that if he cannot give up all for Christ, and make a complete surrender, his failure is a foregone conclusion. Christ wants whole-hearted service, and this is the only kind that can be acceptable to him.

If looking back stops with the looking, it is a grievous sin and a serious damage to the soul, but it is often the prelude to going back. Spiritual shipwreck, of course, begins in the heart. Looking back, if not arrested, is likely to end in a return to the world. The sin, if not nipped in the budding of desire, in time bursts into the full-blown flower of apostasy. God only knows how much of this looking back there is in the heart of those who profess to have put their hands to the plow. The fruits of it are often long in coming to the surface, but enough is manifest in worldliness, in compromising the Christian calling by countenancing ungodly diversions, and by looseness in business affairs, to warrant our gravest fears. An indulgent temper toward frivolity and dishonesty, and a disposition to sink the disciple in the worldling, are the beginnings of a disastrous end. That which people permit themselves to look upon grows into objects of desire, and then comes the actual falling away. "When lust hath conceived it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death."

The only safety is in resisting sin as it springs in the heart, and in persistently looking forward. There is a present joy in hearty, devoted service, a peace in bright contrast with that double-mindedness which sweeps the soul as a tempest, and a reward which reduces the world to insignificance. To look back is to declare ourselves not fit for the kingdom of God. The kingdom on earth is made up of those who have taken leave of the world once for all, and who patiently, bravely and hopefully move forward in the path of duty. In heaven the kingdom is composed of those who have fought a good fight, and have kept the faith. To look back is the most incongruous, the most perilous thing that a Christian can do. It dishonors Christ, and is subversive of the believer's comfort and usefulness.

Beginning at Jerusalem.

After the scenes which had culminated in the crucifixion, we naturally pause and inquire: "What more can God do for his vineyard? What has been left undone in the clearing, fencing, breaking up and fertilization? Yet wild grapes have been the only fruit of the vineyard. The law has been there; the impressing ritual of the Mosaic dispensation has there had its metropolis; the prophets have been there; the fire and sword of the invader have been there to execute the vengeance denounced by the prophets; God has been there in the wonderful restoration; Jesus has been there and proclaimed in person the great mission; yet there has flowed the blood of the prophets; there the law has been disregarded and substituted by the traditions of men; there the heavenly purity and simple sublimity of the Savior's teachings have been spurned; and he scoffed, pursued, arraigned and shamelessly murdered. Why, after all this expense of the heavenly favors and the purest human virtue in vain, not give Jerusalem over to hardness of heart and reprobacy of mind?"

The general answer to these inquiries is that God's ways are above our ways. The wisest of men have been often constrained to remark how circumscribed are the widest fields of human observation, and how inconclusive the clearest human reasoning. In nothing does this admission have clearer illustration than in the results of those calculations which we are too prone to make in regard to the expensiveness of the means and methods by which God has proposed to save the world. When we begin to compute the expense of blood, both of animals and men, from the days of Abel, the expense of treasure, the expense of toil, the expense of intellect and heart, down to the days of the Savior; and then on the other hand count the results upon the day of the crucifixion, "Alas!" we sigh, "how enormous the outlay! How scant the returns!"

But here let us note the narrowness of our ideas of expense, which we may well illustrate by allusion to the well-known law in physics: that action and reaction are equal. Deity so provided in his moral government. The toil spent for him is the only toil not thrown away. The life lost for his sake is the only life saved. The treasure expended in his service is the only treasure laid up "where moth and rust corrupt not, and where thieves break not through nor steal." The divine plan of salvation has always been that of present salvation; so that Abel and all the martyrs were saved not only at the time when it was of greatest advantage to the world, but at the only time when their own salvation could be eternally assured. The treasure and human energies employed at the times exactly when they were called forth came at the opportune moment not only for the cause of religion, but at the only time when they would have been of service at all. As the heroism of Leonidas and his three hundred would have been a useless thing at Marathon, Leuctra or Platea, but was an incalculable boon to Greece at Thermopylæ, though not one survived the conflict—so in the divine plan there have been a thousand Thermopylæ from which he has gathered the "tried stones" which are to enter into the "house not made with hands."

It must further be remembered that the results of the Divine Providence are not balanced by setting the debits opposite the credits, or by taking any given period and reckoning the results then and there apparent. The debits are mostly of those "things which perish with the using," while the credits are all imperishable. Then the results upon the credit side of the account become cumulative, while the debits are constantly blotted from the ledger. When, therefore, we look again at the account, running from Abel to Christ, we find that the results are incalculable on the credit side. The blood of the martyrs might have dried in their veins and left us mummies; the treasures spent might have lodged in the ruins of Nineveh or Babylon, or lived in the immortal uselessness of the Serapeum or the Pyramids, or Cleopatra's Needle; while the talents of Moses, David, Isaiah and their worthy peers might have had only the earthly splendor and fame of Solon, Homer and Sophocles. As it is, Abel, "being dead, yet speaketh;" the temple, though destroyed, has left the Shekinah; and Moses' laws rule, David's psalms cheer, and Isaiah's enchanting eloquence still calls to the world: "Arise and shine, for the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee."

Again, we must reflect that all of the work previous to the Savior, though to be permanent, was nevertheless preparatory. "Behold, I lay in Zion a corner-stone." The work was merely then a laying of the foundation. Immense as might seem the expense, incredible as might seem the toil, long as might seem the time, still it was all preparatory. Deity had not been hasty in choosing the site or in forming the plan. He was not in a hurry to construct an edifice defective in plan or imperfect in material, hoping, as we do, that when times became better he would rear a more commodious or substantial dwelling. One house he would build, and only one; but he would build it for eternity.

Therefore Jesus said: "Beginning at Jerusalem." Nothing which has been achieved is to be thrown away. If Jerusalem has had many favors, give her more. If Jerusalem, with all the light given, is still in darkness, give her more light. If the house is yet to be built, lay each stone fairly upon the foundation. Her name is "Not Forsaken;" therefore begin there. I have died there; therefore begin there. I am coming to reign there; therefore begin there. The accumulated evidences of my love, my power and my divinity are there; therefore begin there. There rest till the resurrection, my chosen prophets, priests and kings; "vessels to honor," though hidden in charnel-houses; therefore begin there. I have seen the end from the beginning; my gospel must girdle the world with a zone of light—with the silent march of ages its all-illuminating rays shall converge to Jerusalem; therefore begin there, and time shall end there.

T. A. S. A.

Authority of the Scriptures.

In science we reach conclusions by observation and experiment. In religion we have to deal with God. He is beyond observation, above experiment. He is invisible, intangible, and to finite minds necessarily incomprehensible. We can know nothing of his essence, his mode of being, or his will, but as he is pleased to reveal himself. In regard to God and the future life we are shut up to the disclosures of revelation. These statements must be admitted, and, being admitted, they cut us off from all suppositions and assumptions that are not in strict harmony with the revealed word. But there are many, not only of those who deny revelation, but who in some sort admit it, who nevertheless essay to have their "thoughts" about what God will or should do. God says, for example, in his word: "Without shedding of blood is no remission." But there are those who will tell you, in the face of this plain statement, that they "believe" God is a kind parent, and will forgive all his creatures. They make God indifferent to the moral quality of actions. Extremes meet; they make God so "good"—that is, so careless as to the maintenance of right and the prohibition of wrong—that they make him bad—make him like "the unjust judge," neither regarding conscience nor public opinion. Further, in making God so indifferent as to sin and holiness they practically dethrone him. He is no longer the just Ruler and inflexible conservator of the right, but such a Being as all created intelligences might distrust and fear; for if he does not care about the moral quality of the actions of his creatures, he may not about his own; and so I may forever dread that this tremendous and irresponsible Being, who has no unchangeable rule of action, may some day turn upon and undo and ruin me forever.

People of the class who ignore "Thus saith the Lord" are wont to dwell with great complacency upon the pleasing and beautiful aspects of nature—sunny skies, verdant meads, flowers and singing birds, bountiful harvests and luscious fruits. But they overlook destructive storms, convulsive earthquakes, pestilence, drouth, disease and pain and death. They overlook the countless ills of sin, and all the thousand evidences of the divine displeasure.

The fact is, we know not, and cannot know, what to do with the problem of sin—how its ills can be escaped, how its guilt can be pardoned, or how its pollution can be purified. We know not, and cannot know, whether God will hear or answer prayer. We know not, and cannot know, whether death is an eternal sleep, or the mysterious passage through gates of immortality. Shut up the Bible, set aside the authority of its teaching, and we are no more and no wiser than blind men groping in the dark, straining our sightless eyes, and reaching out helpless hands into ruleless vacancy. Shut the Bible, and all our opinions about God and futurity are the baldest and most baseless assumptions. We are upon a shoreless ocean of speculation, without chart, compass or pilot, and are tossed "about with every wind of doctrine." Some of the class we have alluded to tell you they believe only certain parts of the Bible—such portions as chime in with their ideas. These hasty, or else shallow, thinkers seem not to see that they make their own minds the standard, rather than the revelation of God. They seem not to see that their principles only need to be pushed to their logical sequence to get rid of Bible authority altogether; for if each may reject whatever may not harmonize with his theories, then it may all soon be rejected. The Bible is our only instructor, our only safe guide. It flames like the polestar upon the dark and perilous ocean of Time, and is the voyager's only guide to the haven of rest.

W.

Knowing and Esteeming

Paul, in his earnest, nervous prayer to the Thessalonians, stresses tremendously the character and work of the preacher. In doing Christ's work they "labor among you." They "are over you in the Lord;" not in self, not in serving their own pleasure or their own will. Sent to you by the will of God, surrendering even the common privilege, for the common good, of selecting their own fields of labor. They "labor among you." They "are over you in the Lord." They "admonish you" in his name and for his sake. No service of self in any or all of these things. And for this very reason the church was to "know them" and "esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake." The church was "to esteem them"—"esteem them very highly"—"esteem them very highly in love"—"esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake." It was not to be a high esteem for any personal perfection, or grace of style or manner; not for any special amiable quality or spirit in them, but for their work's sake. The preacher to be esteemed and loved for his own personal qualifications, or even for his riches in Christ Jesus, is to rob Jesus of his honor. It tends to create partisans. One will be for Paul and another for Apollos. We love some preachers more than others. We will do so as long as the world stands. We are only to guard the source of this preference. It is not to be for themselves, but for their work's sake. It is to be for the grace of Christ manifest in them. It is to be a tribute to the power of Jesus in saving and adorning.

The entreaty is "to know them." May it not be to know them as men—men of like passions and infirmities with others? It is, to say the least of it, doing no violence to the Scriptures. The church is to know them which labor among them, and are over them in the Lord, and admonish them (also in the Lord) as men—converted, consecrated, devout, constant, faithful men, redeemed by Jesus, and cleansed by his blood, and saved by grace, like any other sinner. In proportion as the preacher is thus known will men glorify God through them. The tendency is to glorify men—to exalt men. The broken, earthy vessel through which the grace flows becomes the object of thought and love, instead of the blessed One who gives the one and the other. "But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us."

Knowing them as men, they are to be known as embassadors from God. Called of God to this work, they have no choice in the matter. They are sent, and as embassadors from God they beseech men, in the stead of Christ, to reconciliation to God. This is the "labor." This is being "over you in the Lord." This it is to "admonish you." They have a "vocation," not a "profession." Their preaching is to be according to the mind of the Spirit, and not according to the will of the flesh.

At the same time they are to be known as ministers, not priests. There is a wide difference between the two. The days of the priesthood passed away when Jesus became our one and true High Priest in heaven, and when every man loving and serving him became a priest and king on earth. The priest is one who acts for another before God. The minister is one who helps another to act for himself—who helps the man to come to God. The minister is not so much to pray for the man as to help the man to pray for himself. And the preacher who fails to do this does nothing. It may be, indeed, that he becomes a stumbling-block, as before intimated. He is listened to, seen and loved, and not God.

Let the churches, then, "know" their pastors, "who labor among them, and are over them in the Lord, and admonish them," as men, as embassadors sent from God, as ministers, and not priests. Knowing them as men, "know" their weaknesses, that they may be corrected and strengthened. Know their strength, and their resources in Christ Jesus the Lord, that they may rely upon them.

The man will then never become the hero. The servant will not get above his Master. The Principal will not be lost sight of in the agent. The pastor will not sink into the fashionable social friend. The minister will never get so low as to become the priest. God will be glorified, and men will be saved—both they that preach and they that hear.

On the first of January the government dredgeboat McAllister left this port. On the second of January she entered the gulf, bound for Sabine Pass. A heavy blow came on soon after she went to sea, and she has not since been heard from. The latest intelligence is from the cutter McLean, which was sent out to find the missing vessel. Some fragments of the McAllister were picked up, far out at sea, by the McLean, and the loss of the vessel is now certain. The McAllister was furnished with good boats, and it is hoped that the crew and officers may have been saved, but as yet there are no tidings. Seventeen men from Algiers were on the McAllister—several of them heads of families—and the utmost sorrow has spread over that community. It is indeed a sad disaster—a calamity which carries distress to many households. By some the vessel is said not to have been seaworthy, and some aver that the government officials were to blame in sending her out at a time when storm signals were flying at the custom-house in New Orleans. We know not that any are to be blamed; but if this catastrophe is the result of official negligence or recklessness, the responsibility should be visited upon the guilty.

We are gratified to learn that new subscribers to the ADVOCATE are now frequently sent with marriage notices. This, we hope, will become a time-honored custom. The other day a gentleman sent us his name as a new subscriber, with the money, in the same inclosure with an obituary of a dear relative. Why not? It costs a great deal of money to publish these notices, and why should not those for whose gratification they are inserted help bear the expense? We are glad to note such instances, not merely because our patronage is extended thereby, but because they indicate a just and right conception of what is due to the publisher of a Christian newspaper.

The sure way to miss success is to miss the opportunity.

The Russians have taken possession of Adrianople, and the Turkish commissioners, sent to treat with the Grand Duke Nicholas for an armistice and to arrange the preliminaries of peace, have reached the Russian headquarters. The negotiations are being watched by the great powers of Europe with a jealous eye, and they will insist on having something to say about the terms which Russia is now prepared to dictate to her nearly conquered enemy. England especially is in a state of great excitement, and the occasion for armed intervention in favor of Turkey is a matter of general comment. The settlement of the Eastern question may be at hand; and, again, only the beginning of the end may have been reached. There may be peace within the next thirty days, and within that time the great powers may be engaged in a gigantic and bloody struggle.

The discussion of national finance is still going on in Congress. Final action on the remonetization of silver and on resumption are still delayed. These questions are paramount just now, and absorb the attention of the people. Remonetization, in some form, is probable, while the question of resumption trembles in the balance. In the meantime failures in business and bank suspensions are reported in large numbers daily, and the present year promises to be one of greater stringency than any within the past decade. Thus far we hear of few failures in the South, and this section seems to be on a sounder financial basis than the North and West. The comparative failure of the sugar crop, however, and the loss in quantity and quality of cotton from the unfavorable fall, will be severely felt in the South.

We see from the papers that Bishop Marvin's letters are out in book form. The title of the work is: "To the East by Way of the West." Besides the letters originally published in the Nashville Christian Advocate, two chapters, containing a narration of the Bishop's tour through a part of Europe, have been added, and also Bishop McTyeire's funeral discourse. The introduction is by Rev. T. O. Summers, D. D. As we have not seen a copy of the book we cannot speak of the manner in which the publishers have done their work; but, having read the letters, we can assure our readers that they ought by all means to get the book. They will be richly repaid for so doing.

ONE-SEVENTH.—A farmer in the northern part of Illinois, who keeps a dairy, has for some time given one-seventh of the gross receipts to the Lord. It came about in this way. The milk needed the same care on the Sabbath as on week days. This troubled him. It was a work of necessity on the Lord's day; therefore he decided to give the proceeds of all the milk on Sabbath to benevolence, and he has sacredly kept his agreement, both to his great delight and surprise. He is delighted to find how much he has to give, and surprised at the rapidity with which the fund accumulates. It is now a real luxury to give to the Lord. The fund is large enough to awaken interest in the objects for which the money is given. This leads to more careful investigation, and more intelligent and prayerful giving. His farm is not large, nor is he wealthy, but if this system he finds it easy to do something for all good and worthy objects, and his donations are manifold more than ever before, and the joy is multiplied even more than the gifts. He has taken the Lord into partnership, and pays his dividends promptly, cheerfully, and with evident blessing to his own soul.

Mr. Moody's severe labors, says the Independent, have at last begun to tell upon him. Sickness compelled him to remain away from the meetings appointed for one of the Sundays while in Cleveland in Providence. He and his inseparable companion, Mr. Sankey, began a campaign at Hartford last Sunday. They had audiences of about three thousand in the afternoon and evening, and overflow meetings were held. Union services are to be continued at Providence. There will be meetings four afternoons a week during the month of January and every Sunday, under the direction of the Rev. G. F. Pentecost.

The Ministerial Union of Philadelphia, in which the evangelical denominations are represented, has been discussing the question of future punishment; and, by a rising and unanimous vote, adopted the following resolution:

"That we put on record, as the sense of this body, that the old orthodox doctrine of future and endless punishment of the finally impenitent is dearly held by all evangelical churches of this city within our limits."

The Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South will convene at St. Paul's church, Baltimore, on the first Wednesday in March—the sixth of the month. This date is announced by authority of Bishop McTyeire, who is to preside on the occasion.

A sort of ostracism is continually going on against the best, both of men and measures. Hence the good are fain to purchase the acquiescence of the bad, by contenting themselves with the second, third, or even fourth best, according as they can make their bargain. Augustus Hare.

Periodicals.

The Southern Review, January, contains the following articles: Edwards on the Will. This article continuation of the reprint of Bledsoe's work on the Will. first installment in the October ber contained the introduction the first three sections. This nd installment contains the four ons next following. 2. Mrs. wning is a brief but discriming tribute to the character and ory of this gifted woman. 3. Papacy and the Civil Power is a orical rather than a polemical ment of this duce exciting ques- 4. The Gospel According to n is a continuation of Dr. Bledarticle in the October number he Review. It is a fragment—beginning of an article, designed the leader for the present numand given just as the lamented or left it—a precious although unfinished work of scriptural ism and exegesis. 5. The Hoe Poems. This theme, so frettly discussed, and for so long a is handled with freshness and , and with a critical appreciaof the great epics. The translaare also noticed, and their relamerits fairly stated. 6. Obece and Faith is an excellent and ical sermon by Rev. William row, D. D., on the text: "If man will do his will, he shall of the doctrine, whether it be od, or whether I speak of my-—John vii. 17. 7. The Chris- Cosmos. This is the title of a work on which Dr. Bledsoe was ged at the time of his death. believe this work was designed e author to be the complete and statement of his theological , and to be supplemental to reat work—A Theodicy. The nt article contains the introduc- to the Christian Cosmos, with rst and second chapters. The chapters will follow in due in the April, July and October ers of the Review for the curyear. 8. The Ode is a very , pleasing and instructive re- of this department of literature, abounds in extracts from the rles illustrative of the writer's and criticisms. 9. The Greek h. This is the first of two s on the history, literature, nes and present condition of stern Church. 10. School Life ief discussion of methods of g, and insists upon a higher rd and greater thoroughness. plea for hard study, and early g in study. 11. The Genesis thodism. The key-note of this is: "Methodism is that form ristian piety which resulted the activity of John Wesley." evelopment of the Wesleyan ment is traced up to the time of Wesley's death, and the heirf this development upon the ent history and progress of dism. 12. Cook's Biology is a of Mr. Joseph Cook's lectures subject—searching, often conatory, and, on the whole, just andid. 13. Notices of Books. last page is this simple anement: "Died, at his residence xandria, Va., on the eighth of ber, 1877, Albert Taylor Bledthe sixty-ninth year of his Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine uary, 1878—reprinted by the d Scott Publishing Company, ork—has the following artiline is Thine, part 7; Murder nissioner Fraser, Delhi, 1835; ender Recollections of Irene Heddy, part 2; French Home ond series, No. 1—Religion; of Mind and Manners; ation from Heine, by Thomas ; The Fall of Plevna—Peace The Storm in the East.

ibner's Monthly for Febru- For frontispiece, a portrait ham Lincoln; Moose Hunt- strated; The College Rank nguished Men; A California Camp, Illustrated; Washingly Sister; The Majolica of Illustrated; The New Rudge, Illustrated; The Hummird of the California Water- Illustrated; Recent Church ions, Illustrated, and other

Sunday school publications uary, 1878, are to hand. A m on Church Government g out in chapters in the colhe Visitor. This is a valuribution to our catechetical e. The Magazine has a fine contents. With the Maga- Lesson Papers in hand our school teachers will be well with helps to study and Scientific American, with ber of January 5, begins vol- This is a publication almost a rival in the line of science, nechanics, and is invaluable to wish to keep up with the progress in invention, manuand chemistry. It is splendidly illustrated. Published weekly by Munn & Co., New York. Price, $3.20 per year.

A NOTEWORTHY NUMBER.—The number of Littell's Living Age for the week ending January 19 contains: The Ninety Years' Agony of France, by Prof. Goldwin Smith; an installment of "Erica," translated from the German of Frau von Ingeralehen; The Story of Maximilian at Miramar and Queretaro, a very interesting sketch translated from the French of Victor Tissot; Modern Life and Insanity, from Macmillan; Macleod of Dare, by William Black, from advance sheets; The Celt of Wales and the Celt of Ireland, Cornhill; Smith's Poor Kin, Spectator; Valentine's Day, an unpublished poem by Charles Kingsley, with other short articles and poetry. The back numbers containing the first installments of "Erica," and a story by Miss Thackeray, are still sent to new subscribers for 1878.

—The National Repository for February has: Antelopes and Deer of America, illustrated; Deep Sea Soundings and Dredgings, illustrated; Leon Gambetta, with portrait; Between the Lines; Among the Thorns; A Hymn of Devotion; The Temperance Cause in England and America; Life's Little Day; The Revision of the English Bible; A Chance Resemblance; Unsleeping Love; Editorial Miscellany.

—Sunshine of Song is the title of a collection of new songs, ballads, and songs with chorus, with an accompaniment for the piano-forte or reed organ, published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston. The volume is substantially bound, and contains about 70 songs, which cover 200 pages. We judge it to be a work of considerable merit, although some of the songs are open to objections as poor poetry and worse sentiment.

—Appleton's Journal for February is an unusually fine number of this always excellent periodical. It has: The American at Work, Illustrated; Stanley's Voyage Down the Congo; Rip Van Winkle; Mementos of Mycenæ; The Battles of the Birds; From Athens to Corfu, and other articles. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. Price, $3 per annum.

—St. Nicholas for February is alive with striking pictures, and well filled with entertaining articles for the amusement and instruction of the young people. Among other fine things we note: A Trip to the Tea Country; Crumbs from Older Reading; How Sir William Phips Found the Treasure in the Sea; The Tower Mountain.

—Golden Hours for February is very handsomely illustrated. In the table of contents we find: Peninsulas, Illustrated; Rocky Fork Boys, Illustrated, part 1; The House of a Queen; St. Valentine's Day, Illustrated; The Three Terrible Robbers, Illustrated, and other articles.

—Lippincott's Magazine for February has: A Month in Sicily, Illustrated; Glimpses of Sweden, Illustrated; With the Russians in Bulgaria, Illustrated; Hunting in France; A Reminiscence of the First Ironclad Fight; Thirty-Five Years Off Soundings, and other articles.

—We have received some samples of Springer's Transfer Outlines for the Blackboard, intended to illustrate the International Sunday-school lessons for 1878; also a manual showing the method of using the transfer designs. These helpful adjuncts to Sunday-school work are published by L. Prang & Co., Boston.

—We have received a copy of the minutes of the sixty-second session of the Mississippi Annual Conference. It is tastefully printed, and filled with useful and important information for the churches.

—The Christian Standard is the title of a semi-monthly paper published in New Orleans. It is a very neat eight-page sheet. Rev. C. Hunt, editor and proprietor.

—The Complete Preacher for January has five sermons. Among them are Mr. Beecher's Background of Mystery, and Canon Farrar's sermon on Eternal Punishment.

—The Athenæum for January contains a large number of choice poetical selections. Published at Springfield, Ill. Price, $1.50 per annum.

—We have received Nunz & Nunez's Illustrated and descriptive catalogue of seeds, plants and bulbs for 1878—Louisville, Ky.

Perhaps a majority of hearers do not so much seek, in attendance upon public worship, knowledge for their understandings, or conviction for their consciences, as excitement for the sensibilities. They would rather behold beautiful visions of gospel promise than thorny paths of unmistakable duty. They would rather behold glow with hope than be searched to their consciences. They would rather be pleased and titillated than elevated in character, purified in life, and aggrandized in destiny.

Philosophy, if rightly defined is naught but the love of wisdom.

MARRIED.

WILLIAMSON—WATSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. M. Watson, on Sunday, January 13, 1878, by Rev. William P. Long, Mr. William N. Williamson to Miss Eliza Watson, all of Covington county.

LAWES—NASH.—At the Carondelet Street Methodist Church, New Orleans, La., by Rev. S. H. Schroeder, on the nineteenth of January, 1878, Mr. James S. Lawes, of Iberville parish, to Miss Lizzie Nash, of St. Mary parish.

MOBLEY—CARRICO.—On the eighth instant, at Mount Collier, near Fairfield, Ala., by Rev. G. Hawkins, Mr. C. C. Mobley, of Greene, to Mrs. E. F. Carrico, of Marengo, Ala.

ESTES—KEENAN.—January 6, 1878, at Walnut Grove, Miss., by Rev. Irvin Miller, Mr. H. H. Estes to Miss Eliza Keenan.

BAIRD—HUNTER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, on the sixteenth of January, 1878, by Rev. T. H. McClendon, Mr. William R. Baird to Miss Maggie C. Hunter, all of Richland parish, La.

JONES—CARTER.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in the town of Hayville, La., on the sixteenth of January, 1878, by the Rev. T. H. McClendon, Mr. Moses A. Jones to Miss Sallie Carter.

LISENBEE—SULLIVAN.—At the residence of Mr. Joseph Milliken, in East Baton Rouge, on the evening of January 10, 1878, by Rev. Ira B. Robertson, Mr. William J. Lisenbee, of East Feliciana, to Miss Emma L. Sullivan, of East Baton Rouge parish, La.

BROWN—THOMASON.—At the residence of Mr. T. E. Brown, near Haynesville, La., December 6, 1877, by Rev. J. H. Stone, Mr. S. F. Brown to Miss M. O. Thomason, all of Claiborne parish, La.

KENDRICK—PATILLO.—At the residence of the bride's father, November 20, 1877, by Rev. J. B. Stigle, Mr. W. A. Kendrick to Miss M. A. Patillo, all of Claiborne parish, La.

COOPER—LOCKE.—January 10, 1878, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Brookville, Miss., by Rev. W. C. Black, Mr. C. B. Cooper to Miss E. M. Locke, all of Madison county, Miss.

Publisher's Department.

NEW ORLEANS DIRECTORY FOR 1878.—Messrs. L. Soards & Co. have placed upon our table a copy of this very useful work. Besides the whereabouts of our citizens, it contains much valuable information upon the business interests of the city and State. The publishers have prepared for our use an accurate and trustworthy guide, and deserve our hearty patronage. It can be had at all the book stores. Supply yourself immediately, and do not borrow from your neighbors.

THE ADVERTISEMENT of D. H. Holmes, dealer in dry goods, will be seen on this page. We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. The managers understand their business thoroughly, and are in every way reliable. Good articles are sold at reasonable prices and purchasers meet with nothing but courtesy and careful attention from the gentlemen employed in the store. Ladies interested should call and inspect the black cashmeres, silks advertised.

SEEDS.—Our friends will notice the advertisement of Richard Frotscher on this page. Mr. Frotscher is one of the most extensive dealers in seeds in the South, and is in every way deserving of patronage. We have before us his Almanac and Seed Annual for 1878, which is replete with information concerning every variety of plants. It will be sent free on application. We would advise our readers to deal with Mr. Frotscher.

THE TELEPHONE.—C. A. Miltenberger & Co., the well-known seed dealers, on Camp street, have established at their office a telephone for the purpose of transmitting orders to their seed yards up town. This will enable them to fill orders by mail in a very few minutes after receiving notice at the office. The curtains are lifted, and see the contrivance in operation.

A. P. DUMAY, commission merchant, No. 11 Union street, solicits consignments of cotton, wool, hides, etc. He orders a liberal advance upon bills of lading. He intimates to the trade that it is a reliable establishment and a pulsating one here that seems to be a necessity. Read and rely upon fair dealing.

ARLAND HARD COAL CEMENT COMPANY.—Persons afflicted with nervous debility or impaired constitution should read carefully the advertisement of the above company, and get a remedy that will strengthen and MILLINERY AND FANCY GOODS.—Read T. Rathbone's advertisement, on the sixth page, and if you are in want of anything we would say that there is no more reliable house in the city to go to.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT.—For everything in the sporting line go to 55 St. Charles street, and you will be pleased with the prices. See Dicedy's advertisement on the seventh page.

PALAIS ROYAL.—Our country friends should read the advertisement of the Palais Royal Grand Bazar, and send in their orders.

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST POWDER.—As superior as the Yeast Cake. For sale by P. McGoodwin & Co., grocers.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED.

Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes—Pet Rose, Alpha Flora, and all other odors are rich and highly esteemed everywhere. They are used by the most well-bred and refined persons, as their powerful, durable and exquisite fragrance. No toilet is complete without them.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC will cure the chills that are so harassing and annoying, and no other medicine will cure so quickly as this. For sale by all druggists.

DR. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC cures after everything else fails. See the testimony of the thousands that have used it. For sale by all druggists.

CAPT. JAMES BURNS, of Mobile, Ala., says: "I had a cancer under the nose removed by Dr. Grace, and with but little pain. I am now perfectly well." (See his card in this paper.)

FOR children, convalescents and invalidated weak constitutions the use of Caldin's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Pepsine Tonic will be found invaluable. L. L. Grons, agent, New Orleans.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. E. Gilbert's Anti Dyspeptic or Invigorating Tonic is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Fluker & Pledger, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician at 98 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., who has paid much attention to nervous diseases, has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, whether chronic, dyspeptic, neuralgic or sick headache, periodical or not. Sufferers will find this a truth in medical philosophy, and sufferers from the complaint are requested to write. The proprietor will send it to them at 75 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Associated Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent, postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, cause blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers should apply it to infants. Who become shaved with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC will cure the chills that are so harassing and annoying, and no other medicine will cure so quickly as this. For sale by all druggists.

DR. HARPER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC cures after everything else fails. See the testimony of the thousands that have used it. For sale by all druggists.

CAPT. JAMES BURNS, of Mobile, Ala., says: "I had a cancer under the nose removed by Dr. Grace, and with but little pain. I am now perfectly well." (See his card in this paper.)

FOR children, convalescents and invalidated weak constitutions the use of Caldin's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Pepsine Tonic will be found invaluable. L. L. Grons, agent, New Orleans.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. E. Gilbert's Anti Dyspeptic or Invigorating Tonic is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Fluker & Pledger, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician at 98 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., who has paid much attention to nervous diseases, has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, whether chronic, dyspeptic, neuralgic or sick headache, periodical or not. Sufferers will find this a truth in medical philosophy, and sufferers from the complaint are requested to write. The proprietor will send it to them at 75 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Associated Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent, postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, cause blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers should apply it to infants. Who become shaved with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.

Dr. Handy, chief surgeon, with a competent corps of assistants, will spend a month at New Orleans, No. 186 St. Charles street, from January 15 to February 15, 1878. This visit is designed to accommodate those who cannot visit the Institute at Atlanta, Ga., Philadelphia or Indianapolis. The time the surgeons remain will be sufficient to effect a cure in cases of Piles and Fistula, diseases of the Eye and Ear, and those peculiar to men and women. And to manufacture and adjust surgical appliances for the cure of club feet, crooked knees, hip joint diseases, curvature of the spine, and all other deformities of the human body. Consultation free.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.,

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1868.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH,

The attractions for this season are.

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $40.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age

MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a suit.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set (Cape and Muff) to $20.

Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $10.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article in it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LONG LOOKED FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each; and carriage politely placed with the price. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

RICHARDSON'S New METHOD

FOR THE PIANO-FORTE.

Price, $3.25. By Nathan Richardson.

Over a million sold. Sales have surpassed those of all other books combined. Be sure to order by the above title, lest the old method, instead, of this, THE MODERN SCHOOL, which is another book, by the same author. Mr. Richardson's opinion of the merits of this first call may be gathered from the following, taken from the preface to the NEW METHOD:

"Becoming at length satisfied of the truth of the assertions by many eminent composers and professors, and convinced that great improvements were obviously needed, I determined, if possible, to remedy the defects. Profiting by the experience gained in the most practical teachers, I commenced a thorough and critical examination of my first method, and concluded that the work wrongly, would be to bring out a new work on an improved plan."

This new work is substituted for the defective MODERN SCHOOL of Richardson's

New Method for the Piano-Forte, which has, on its revised and revised method, it is the most successful book ever published, and is a great favorite with the leaders of music in the country. Richardson.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,

BOSTON.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

711 BROADWAY, N. Y.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE CALL ESPECIAL to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

1 to 5 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

SEED MERCHANT.

I HAVE ordered a large and complete stock of VEGETABLE, FLOWER & GRASS SEEDS, which I offer at the lowest market price.

Especial Red Rust Proof OATS, in quantities to suit purchasers. Early growing SEED POTATOES a specialty. Almanac and Garden Manual for the Southern States sent free on application.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

Nos. 15 and 17 Dauphine St., New Orleans.

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT

FOR THE SALE OF

COTTON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,

AS WELL AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Slaves, Timber, Lumber, Hemp, Poles, Fire Wood, etc. Liberal advances made on consignments.

A. P. DUMAY,

NO. 11 UNION ST., New Orleans.

NOTICE.—HAVING MADE CONNECTION with our Coal Yard by aid of the Telephone, we are enabled to deliver COAL on short notice, on the shortest possible notice and at lowest rates. Our friends are invited to call and examine our new method of transmitting orders.

C. A. MILTENBERGER & CO.,

68 Camp street.

Yard on Levee, between Dibre and Robin streets.

30 MIXED Cards, Snowflake, Damask etc., no two alike, with name, 10c. 40 Elegant Mixed Cards, with name, 15c. Agent's outfit, 10c. HEAVY BROS., Northford, Ct. 39w

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot, and comes from the imperfect cocoon, with the original properties intact, and are so prepared as to render them shrink-proof; and for Rheumatism and Cold Feet are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pairs sent to any address by mail, on receipt of 25 cents. In ordering state size, and whether for lady or gent or man. S. TUTTLE & SONS, 324 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Imported Embossed SCRAP PICTURES,

REPRESENTING JAPANESE MEN and WOMEN, BIRDS, BUTTERFLIES, FLOWERS, ANIMALS, CHILDREN, in fact every conceivable object for embellishing SCRAP-BOOKS CHINA and GLASSWARE ORNAMENTS, ALBUMS, and numerous other articles. These pictures are especially adapted for Pottery Work, the Japanese figures being expressly made to imitate those on the imported China and Japan goods which bring such high prices at auction in this city. These Embossed pictures are far superior to the popular Decalcomania. We will send a package containing 50 pictures of assorted sizes for 25 cents, or 100 extra large for $1. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment. (5p) J. T. HILLYER, 800 Broadway, N. Y.

Scribner's Monthly.

MIDWINTER NUMBER.

THE MIDWINTER NUMBER of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY, in the variety of its contents, and the beauty of its illustrations, as well as in its entire mechanical execution, surpasses anything we have hitherto attempted.

In the series on American Sports, there is "MOOSE-HUNTING," illustrations by Sandham, Ward and Kelly; "A CALIFORNIA MINING CAMP," illustrations and text by MARY HALLOCK FOOTE; "THE HUMMING-BIRD of the CALIFORNIA WATER-FALLS," illustrations by Moran, Beard and Gibson; "RECENT CHURCH DECORATIONS," by Clarence Cook, illustrations of the work of Bartholdi, La Farge and St. Gaudens; "Following the Halcyon to Canada," by Burroughs; "Majolica," by Castelland, etc. There are also illustrated Poems and Stories by Stoddard, Gilder, Boyesen, Holland and Stockton; besides Sketches, Essays, Reviews and Fun; "How a Man Takes Care of His Baby;" "An Asylum for Literary Lunatics," etc.

The edition of the "MIDWINTER SCRIBNER" is

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Among other novelties there is a double frontispiece: a portrait of Abraham Lincoln, from the last photograph drawn by WYATT EATON, and, engraved by COLE; and opposite the portrait a sonnet on LINCOLN, by RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, printed in quaint old English type, from matrices three hundred years old.

One of the most noteworthy features of the Midwinter SCRIBNER is a series entitled: "PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF LINCOLN," by NOAH BROOKS, with a fac-simile of one of the President's stories in his own handwriting. These papers have been specifically copyrighted, so that they can be had only in the magazine.

Another Novelty—"The Scribner Extra."

For the convenience of purchasers of the "Midwinter SCRIBNER," we have reprinted the earlier chapters of "ROXY." Dr. Eggleston's Novel, from the November, 1877, December, 1877, and January, 1878, numbers of SCRIBNER, together with Mr. Frank R. Stockton's capital "RUDDER GRANGE STORIES," with the original illustrations (also continued in the "Midwinter SCRIBNER.") In a "SCRIBNER EXTRA," which is sold by all book-sellers and news dealers. Price, 15 cents.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR $5.

For $5 you can get SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY, the best of the illustrated magazines, for one year and a half, beginning with the magnificent "MIDSUMMER NUMBER" for August last, including the splendid "MIDWINTER NUMBER" for February of this year, and ending with the number for January, 1879, and also the splendid Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS for December, 1877, containing one hundred pages—the finest number of a children's magazine ever issued.

These numbers will contain all the chapters of "HIS INHERITANCE," Miss Preston's graphic story of ARMY LIFE; all of "ROXY," EDWARD EGGLESTON'S NEW NOVEL, a story of Western life during the political campaign of 1840; and all or a large part of Boyesen's novel, "A Knight of Fortune," the story of a community of emigrants in the Northwest; besides shorter stories by Mrs. Burnett, Saxe Holm, Boyesen, etc.; and Illustrated Poems, Travel Sketches, Essays, Reviews, nearly a dozen of the splendidly illustrated series of "Out-of-Door" papers, including many of the best of the series on "American Sports," and on "The Picturesque Aspects of American Farm-Life, Etc."—that is to say, all the numbers of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY from August, 1877, to January, 1879, inclusive, and the Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS more than 2,000 octavo pages of the best and freshest illustrated literature, costing in book form more than $5.

Price, 35 Cents, $4 a Year.

FOR SALE BY ALL

Book-Sellers and News Dealers.

SCRIBNER & CO.,

743 Broadway, N. Y.

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.,

AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 3m

WHEELER & PIERSON,

Successors to Pierson & Hess,

NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,

opposite the City Hotel,

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good Goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST

DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Cribs, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots to full-size Beds, 4.10x6 feet.

General Agency for Southern States—19 COMMERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

CINDERELLA

SHOE STORE

TRADE MARK.

No. 502 Magazine Street,

Between Brassleman's and Adams',

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected and now here my store, with careful attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable, made, as they are, expressly for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far famed Misses, of Philadelphia, and Burt, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Public attention to all; fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,

5p Manufacturer and Dealer.

French Millinery,

Berlin Zephyr Worsted,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

No. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL.

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and recently direct from prominent Parisian houses is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS, Lamplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the safe remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 24 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Mobile depot—DuBose & Co., 20 Water st. St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main st. 5p

SALESMEN WANTED $125 A Month and Expenses allowed to all who engage with us. Outfit and particulars free. Address P. O. VICKERY & CO., Augusta, Maine. GOODS

HARTE'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by FREDERICKSON & HARTE, 139 Canal street. 5p

FRANK M. NORMAN,

Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,

509 MAGAZINE STREET,

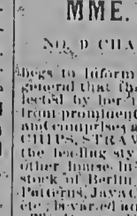
Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 50 cents. Upper City Circulating Library. Frames made to order. Catalogues free.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE

Conducted by Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York.

The third volume of this the cheapest and most attractive magazine for Sunday reading in the world) commences with the January number. Each number contains 32 quarto pages, and usually as many engravings as pages (including portraits, scenes from Scripture history, travel in missionary lands, and all subjects variety of interesting subjects). The text consists wholly of the most interesting matter of a highly moral and religious tone (written with a view to combine entertainment with valuable information and instruction), it includes serial stories, fragments of travel, descriptions of place lands, etc., and affords an inexhaustible source of entertainment for the Sunday fireside. Now is the time to subscribe. The January number has a striking portrait of Dr. Deems. Terms, $4 a year or 25 cents per number. Address FRANK LESLIE'S PUBLISHING HOUSE, 537 Pearl street, New York.



Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

Have the largest and most complete Type Foundry in the West. All type cast from best quality of metal. Estimates furnished on legal advice. Goods shipped promptly. Complete outfits supplied on short notice.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS, Lamplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the safe remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 24 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Mobile depot—DuBose & Co., 20 Water st. St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main st. 5p

SALESMEN WANTED $125 A Month and Expenses allowed to all who engage with us. Outfit and particulars free. Address P. O. VICKERY & CO., Augusta, Maine. GOODS

HARTE'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by FREDERICKSON & HARTE, 139 Canal street. 5p

FRANK M. NORMAN,

Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,

509 MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 50 cents. Upper City Circulating Library. Frames made to order. Catalogues free.

Farm, Garden and Household.

WINTERING BEES.

At the late meeting of the National Bee-Keepers' Association Mr. N. N. Betsinger, a noted apiarian, gave the following as the method he had found the most successful in wintering bees:

The fullest combs should occupy the center. By exchanging the partly filled combs, generally found in the brood nest, with those at the outside, we not only get the honey where it is most needed, but we get the well-ripened honey where it is accessible during the long cold spells in early winter, which is very essential in order to retain the healthful condition of the colony. Some may say it is contrary to nature to thus exchange the combs. Let us see. When the honey harvest is over, where do they commence to use the first honey? From the extremities of the hive. After frost no more honey is found, and brood-rearing ceases; they then lie in a half-torpid condition, and while they are in this state it is absolutely necessary for them to consume the very best of honey; and while the colony is in this condition they can endure the long confinement which generally takes place the first two months of winter, with still no signs of dysentery.

By having all full and well-sealed combs in the center combs should not be less than one-half inch apart; we have a body that, when once heated, will not be affected by the sudden changes for which New York State is noted.

The bees, while thus clustering upon their solid stores, will begin to consume their honey from the central portion of the hive, and by the first of January will desire to re-establish brood-rearing; and while the bees are thus employed, feeding the brood begins the evil which I call dysentery. If we can keep the center of the hive well filled with honey, so as to prevent the raising of much brood until the middle of April, perfect health will result, with no spring dwindling. I think, therefore, that extracting is not only unnecessary, but injurious to the colony. Out of the number I endeavored to winter the past season, those that were fullest of sealed stores were the only ones that survived.

FATTENING TURKEYS.

While ducks, geese and chickens, especially the latter, can readily be fattened in confinement, and, in fact, fatten more readily that way, turkeys seldom if ever do well when cooped up for that purpose; and in many cases they grow poorer daily, instead of gaining in fat and flesh.

We know of a party who had an extra fine Cayuga gobbler, weighing some forty-seven pounds, and $25 was offered for him if he would draw fifty pounds by Christmas, then about three weeks distant. He was at once put into a roomy inclosure—an old corn crib—and fed liberally on the best and most wholesome food. But when he was put on the scales, about four or five days before Christmas, he pulled but thirty-two pounds. Had he been fed outside, and given full liberty, we believe he would have readily gained the extra three pounds, instead of losing his weight so materially.

The best way to fatten turkeys is to keep them growing rapidly from the start by feeding liberally, often and at regular intervals. Let them have their liberty, so they can get their accustomed feed of bugs, worms and grass, and give them, morning and night, liberal feeds of mush, made by boiling or scalding coarse corn meal. Keep also a trough in some convenient place, in the shade, in which put daily supplies of thick clabbered milk.—Poultry Journal.

SOME SORGHUM.—Mr. Levi Compton, two miles west of Eagle Lake, Minn., commenced making sorghum sirup on the fifth of September, and concluded on the fourteenth of November. He lost ten days during the time, and made 1,241 gallons. William Ireland had a piece of cane which contained five rods less than half an acre. It took three men two days to cut and get this crop to the mill. It made 110 gallons. This, at seventy-five cents a gallon, would make $82.50. This crop was planted three and one-half feet one way and eighteen inches the other. Mr. Compton thinks cane makes sweeter sirup when it is grown thick on the ground. He says there is a great demand for sirup at seventy-five cents.—Prairie Farmer.

TO KEEP EGGS.—Make a solution of borax-water a heaping teaspoonful of pulverized borax to a pint of boiling water; let it stand until the solution becomes warm, but do not allow it to get so cool that the borax will crystallize; dip the eggs quickly then. Keep in a cool place. The borax will crystallize around the egg, and therefore keeps out the air and preserves the egg.

FROST JELLY.—One-half box of gelatine, one pint of cold water poured over to dissolve it, one-half pint of boiling water, two cupfuls of sugar, juice of two lemons. When cool, and just beginning to form, add the beaten whites of two eggs, and beat the whole together until it is thoroughly mixed. Set in a cool place.

Trees are cut down by electricity in the East Indies. A platinum, who, connected with the poles of a battery, is passed around a tree, and burns its way in fifteen minutes through one which it would take two hours to fell in the ordinary way.

BEST EVIDENCE OF ITS WORTH.

The great popularity of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the best evidence of its worth. Whenever a sweet or light biscuit is wanted, or a light pudding, a delicate cake, or a delicious pudding, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder should be used. It is pure. [illegible]

MEDICAL.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Bilious, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers Internal or External, any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflitore Rheumatism, if Still Taking quiet the feverishness of the body. Taking.

After Tak.

No other Medicine required, if it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any feverish, poisonous, inflammatory action that may exist in the system.

When you take a tea-spoonful, it is taken up by the absorbent vessels in the stomach, follows and destroys any poisonous elements in the duct and blood vessels, relieves the causes of Chills and their accompanying diseases.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY has cause to rejoice. This new discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will make glad many an anxious countenance, curing Chills, Shakes, Ague, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, price $1.00; also Powder, to Tincture Themselves, sent by mail all over the world at $1.00 per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Take no more medicine down to the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat or Lungs, Dr. J. H. McLean's Lung-Healing Globules.—They are sugar Globules, containing medicine. As rapidly as the Globule dissolves in your mouth, the saliva acting on the medicine in the Globules, it generates a healing Gas, which must be inhaled, permeates every air cell in the Lungs and absorbed by the Glands in the Throat, the decay of the Lungs must cease. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLEAN'S COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES. Consumption, Coughing, Bronchitis, Asthma, Horseness, Colds, and any Soreness in the Throat or Lungs yields to their wonderful Magic Influence. Trial boxes, by mail all over the world, 25 cts. per box. Postage Stamps will be received for them.

Address, DR. J. H. McCLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

Is the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat, or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, get it on the sore parts. In contact Before Tak. with the disease in the Nose, Throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chafing, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the poison out of every sore and cure it. Trial boxes 50 cts., by mail.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

hrm

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians.
Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Dysentery, Fever & Ague, and Wind Colic.

THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, and Indigestion.

THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Rosy Cheeks.

THEY ACT on the Blood, and remove all Impurities.

THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Diseases.

THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.

THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the body.

THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.

THEY ARE invaluable for Female Irregularities.

THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.

THEY ARE harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

LILIENTHAL'S

PHOTOGRAPH

ART GALLERY,

121 ..... CANAL STREET 121

TOURO BUILDINGS.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

I guarantee the LAMBERT to be the only Picture that WILL NOT FADE.

MARKET GARDENERS,

SEND FOR

Root's Garden Manual for 1878.

Full of instruction in gardening for small profit. BEST CHOICE SEEDS. Sent (by mail) on receipt of stamp. Address J. J. ROOT, Rock Ford, Ill.

WANTED By a lady of experience, a situation as governess in a family, a position as governess in a family, a position as governess in a family, a position

MISCELLANEOUS.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

SICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

...miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

...ment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND ...ERS a specialty. ...er to Hon. J. Burns Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. ...state Linn, Miss.; Mrs Caroline Byrd, ...hala, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Manvilla, ...

CHARD RHODES,

ORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

...cles of All Kinds for Fishermen.

...Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable ...for the Angler, wholesale and retail. ...S, RULES and PISTOLS of every variety. ...direct importation. Also Sporting materials ...kinds, Game Bags, Shot Pouches, Flasks, ...every article needed by Hunters, will be sold ...west prices for cash. Also the celebrated ...Shot" Gunpowder, Shot, Eley's Shells, Car... ...etc., of the best quality; wholesale and re... ...Regarding Glass Balls and Traps. R. RHODES.

OD! WOOD! WOOD!

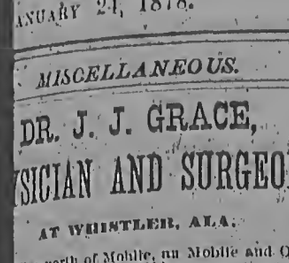
...AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

...ey Island Wood & Coal Yard, ...Nos. 375 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN, ...Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1060. ...Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

...Wood, per Cord..... $5 00
...Wood, per Cord..... 5 00
...and ASH, mixed, per Cord..... 5 50

...al discount made to dealers. Satisfaction ...teed. P. RABELAT, Agent.



BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES

GO TO

...ney Timken's New Factory,

...ings, Nos. 1008 and 1010 ST. CHARLES ST., ...Tenth and Eleventh Sts., ST LOUIS, MO.

...work is of first-class material and workman... ...Call and see or send for catalogue.

NATHAN CARD

...RIAGE MANUFACTURER

...E. For. Seventh & Chestnut Sts., ...Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall, ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED FOR AMERICAN WATCHES $10 305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,

...rriage Manufacturers,

...AND 1012 ST. CHARLES STREET, ST. LOUIS.

...facturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their ...for durability and elegance, is unsurpassed ...anteed.

...ERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA... ...the most beautiful ...Pastyle ever Opera ...ed in Tone ever made. It has Accelebrated Concert stop, which ...chestrion ...the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned to perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect is magnificent & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, DRYHESTRONE, PIANO-FORTO, VESPER, TENTENNIAL ORGANS, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS. Unique French Cases in every ...SPECIALTY. FIRST CLASS ...

...TERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ...THE BEST MADE. Tone, Touch, ...manship, & Durability Unsurpassed. ...anted for SIX YEARS. ...ES EXTREMELY LOW for cash, ...ly instalments received. A liberal ...ount to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues ...GENTS WANTED. Special inducements ...to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues ...Second-hand Instruments of Great ...value. HORACE WATERS & SONS, ...anufacturers and Dealers, ... 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION ...ARE, NEW YORK, Box 3567.

CARPETS!

ELKIN & CO.,

...CANAL STREET..... ...RE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF ...sher, Velvet & Brussels Carpets, ...ster Brussels from $1 to $1 25 per yard. ...ish Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc. ...PENCIS of all descriptions. ...extremely LOW PRICES.

GEO. PURVES'

...sh, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

...ner St. Charles and Clio Streets, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

T. WALSHE

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

MEN'S

...RNISHING GOODS

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

...LOTHING,

No. 110 CANAL ST.

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER.

...PRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assort... ...of over 200 000 feet constantly on hand. ...large stock of Hours, Sash and Blinds on ...and made to order. Office—Corner Delord ...Howard. Depot the square bounded by Delord, ...Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 1915. JOHN F. PUPP.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.

WIDOW HY. HABERT,

Successor to P. Delerolx, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

JEWELRY STORE.

A. Boitel, Watchmaker,

58.....ROYAL STREET.....58

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts. New Orleans.

Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.

A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.

A. BONNET & CO.,

DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,

NO. 45 ROYAL STREET

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,

IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN

LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,

TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,

And manufacturers of Boot, Leather & Shoe Uppers.

No. 112 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. JOS. A. VIGNAUD. Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

GAMET & VIGNAUD,

DEALERS IN

SUGARS AND MOLASSES,

Oil Cloth, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 31 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opp. the Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

117 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 77.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morgan, Third District New Orleans.

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John Bussio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices and polite ...forts. Private Dining-Rooms up-stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE.

Office and Sales-Room 27 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory Carondelet Walk, bet. Roman and Prieur, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc. Also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1818.

J. H. KELLER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office—110 GRAVIER ST. New Orleans, La. All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY. "SCHEAP" IS MY WORD.

R. BLONDEAU,

Successor to J. G. Belmont,

Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,

NO. 34 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

J. H. MEHAFFEY,

General Commission Merchant,

And dealer in Staves, Firewood, Lime, Lumber and Coopers Materials.

OFFICE, 22 Union Street. LUMBER YARD, Cor. Levee and Washington Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.

JOHN S. McDONALD

Proprietor and Manufacturer

MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE CLEANED

MOSS.

Factory—Nos. 248 to 256 Smith, Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 15 Cypress street.

Office—No. 248 S. Liberty street, P. O. Box 1235, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

Corner Camp and Common Streets,

Opposite the City Hotel.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat, load or less, to the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRE'S CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better and cheaper, so come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we are but a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship spar. W. W. CARRE & CO., No. 350 Delord street.

THOMAS HASAM,

LUMBER.

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard: Corner CEDAR and JULIA STS. (New Basin.) New Orleans.

ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU,

159.....POYDRAS STREET.....159

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gents', Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILLMANN,

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

320.....DELORD STREET.....320.

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ,

134 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN,

MANUFACTURER OF THE

Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in all first class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally,

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month. Pianos toned and kept in repair, $1 50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement. Regular tuning in order, $2. Strings free. Regular tuning in order, $2. Strings free. Reed and Pipe Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. H. GAILDNER, 87 Magazine, between Sixth and Seventh Sts. Pianos for rent at $3 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGED,

ARCHITECT

31.....CARONDELET ST.....31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WILLIAM F. MELLEN,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

110.....GRAVIER ST.....110

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three P. M. Four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET

Between Julia and St. Joseph.

New Orleans, La.

T. M. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. W. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, New Orleans.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

THIS is no question of speculation, confined in the least to narrow limits, being Oxygen Monopoly. It is the most wonderful Vitalizer of the human body ever known. Therefore it should have a greater variety of ills and a larger proportion of patients than any other agent. Eight years of large experience fully sustain the association. The advertisers will in their success to place knowledge available to the sick the Secret of Power of the Compound Oxygen. It is the latest, surest and greatest remedy in the world, and in consumptives, dyspeptics, paralytics, rheumatic and all chronic diseased invalids, it is not an experiment. It is now, which might easily be verified by the statements and best testimonials. Mailed free.

Address, A. M. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Phila.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 36 Pine St., New York, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or caustic. Pamphlet sent free. Patients may attend to business. No interference from pile. Pay all expenses if they fail. Guarantee five years. Refer to Hon. J. H. McLean, Ex-Governor United States and Europe; Hon. McGeorge and Lamps, leading druggists in Cincinnati; Messrs. M. A. Wood, Bruce & Co., Hardware, Main Street, Hon. H. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator, Kentucky; Hon. Wm. Walter Coxe, Lynchburg, Va.; Hon. Fowler, Ark.; Hon. C. B. R. Edw. Mead, Jr., Grocer, Fourth street, L. Bilton, Wholesale Grocer, Second street, Jerry Wood, Steamer Minnesota's architect, etc.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated, by inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Consumption, Catarrh with good results.

DR. J. H. HARRENBURG, 709 Wash street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET (near Bayou), South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

WE call special attention to their extensive assortment of DRY GOODS, LINENS AND COTTON GOODS, Fancy Goods, Laces, Goods for Men and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready Made Underwear, etc.

SAMPLES SENT FREE.

ALSO TO THEIR

Dressmaking Department.

Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order promptly, in a superior manner, at the latest styles, at moderate rates. Orders executed. Rules for self-measurement and estimate of materials, with estimate, sent upon application.

All orders amounting to $10 or over will be sent free of freight charges to express; but parties whose orders shall be accompanied by the money and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for express charges.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES

NO. 143 CAMP STREET.

THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will defy competition. Give me a call and see for yourself.

Repairing carefully done. Repairs made at short notice. All Furniture and Bedding put in perfect order and ready to be used. Moving, Packing or Storing at the lowest possible price. Call or send application to HENRY ETHOFF, 143 Camp street.

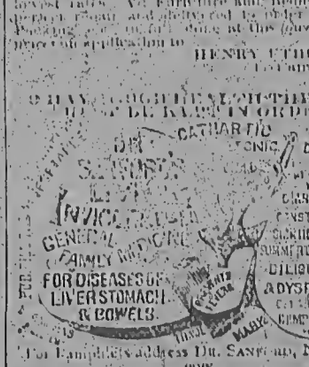
DO YOU THOUGH THE LIVER IS ALL RIGHT IN ORDER.



For Pamphlet address Dr. SANFORD, New York. eow

BLYMYER M'F'G CO BELLS

Church, School, Fire alarm & other low price Warranted. Catalogue with 20 testimonials, prices, etc., sent free. Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O. eow

TAKE NOTICE, We have ...Diamond ...Rings, ...Studs, ...Pins, ...Bracelets, ...Lockets, ...Chains, ...Sleeve Buttons, ...Scarf Pins, ...Charms, ...Watches, ...Jewelry, ...Silverware, ...Spectacles, ...Eye Glasses, ...Opera Glasses, ...Fine Clocks, ...Bronzes, ...Etc., ...Etc., ...Etc.,

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Jan. 22, 1878.

The general tone of the market for all kinds of produce for the past week has been firmer than before [illegible]ed. Buyers, however, are very cautious, and are not disposed to invest largely, nor do sellers seem very anxious to dispose of their goods except on short time and to parties thoroughly responsible. This condition of things argues well for the future of this city if this principle of buying and selling cautiously is adhered to.

Gold opened in New York yesterday at 101¼, the lowest point at which it has been since 1860.

From all that we can learn, the success of the bill in Congress authorizing the remonetization of silver is pretty well assured. As the President will, no doubt, approve the bill when passed, we think the debtor classes have reason for gratulation. Regarding this subject we extract the following dispatch from an evening paper of this city:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—There was a secret caucus last night, irrespective of party, on the silver question. Over one hundred were present, mostly from the South and West, several from Pennsylvania, and Gen. Butler, from Massachusetts. Mr. Buckner, of Missouri, presided.

He stated that the caucus had been called for the purpose of organizing a movement in both houses of Congress to accomplish three objects: First, repeal of the resumption act; second, remonetization of silver; and third, substitution of greenbacks entirely for national banking currency. After discussion the following was adopted:

Resolved, That the purpose of the organization now about to be made shall be confined to the remonetization of the silver dollars and repeal of the resumption act.

The general tenor of the debate showed an indisposition to interfere with national banks.

The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

State and city bonds have been quite active in the past week. Consols have touched 84⅞@85, while premiums were sold to-day at 37. The prospect is that the latter will go a little higher in view of the favorable action of the courts in the matter of the consolidated bonds.

Mr. I. N. Maynard, of the New Orleans Clearinghouse, furnishes us the following:

REPORT OF AVERAGE DAILY CONDITION OF ASSOCIATED BANKS,

For the week ending Friday morning, January 18, 1878, after the exchanges.

RESOURCES.

Specie (coin average)	$23,990 57
U. S. legal tenders and national bank notes (average)	8,703,043 53
Other cash items (average)	10,023 48
Sight exchange on New York (average)	850,477 70
Foreign exchange (average)	230,651 20
Due from distant banks and bankers (average)	147,222 79
Loans and discounts (average)	12,076,119 23
Other cash assets (average)	2,196,501 58
Total	$20,162,258 08

LIABILITIES.

Circulation	$726,835 50
Deposits (average net after exchanges)	16,586,770 39
Due distant banks and bankers, subject to check (average)	571,983 60
Other liabilities to banks and bankers	1,072 867 02
Other cash liabilities (average)	136,305 7
Total	$18,093,861 49

I. N. MAYNARD, Manager.

Below will be found the Democrat's report of the cotton market:

We have to record a weak and irregular cotton market to-day. The demand throughout was active, and a fair business was done on the basis of last Saturday's quotations, with occasional transactions at lower rates. Liverpool was flat on arrivals, Havre dull and easier, and futures at New York seven to ten points lower. Under these unfavorable advices buyers expected concessions which factors successfully resisted; but, on the whole, the market was weak, causing holders to sell freely at quotations. Sales, 9,100 bales, market closing irregular and easy at Saturday's figures.

The closing report of the Cotton Exchange was as follows:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary	7¾	7¾
Ordinary	8⅝	8⅝
Good Ordinary	9⅛	9⅛
Low Middling	10	10
Middling	10⅜	10⅜
Good Middling	11⅛	11⅛
Middling Fair	11⅝	11⅝

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1877	21,356
Gross receipts since yesterday	19,417
Gross receipts previously	1,017,834—1,031,751
Total supply	1,053,107
Exported to-day	15,417
Exported previously	649,061—714,478
Total stock this day	338,629
Total stock this day last year	268,120

The exports to-day consisted of 13,415 bales to Liverpool, 993 to Rotterdam, and 1,319 to New York.

Net receipts since Saturday	16,187
Receipts from other ports	1,330
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	18,791
Net receipts this day last year	9,228
Net receipts since Friday	21,749
Net receipts same time last week	32,628
Net receipts same time last year	12,712
Net receipts since September 1	865,062
Net receipts same time last year	750,365

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 50,681 bales; Havre 34,708; Bremen, 8,614; Mediterranean, 975; North Sea, 16,179; Spain, 600; Mexico, ——; coastwise, 2,247; total, 114,005 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 224,624 bales.

The receipts at all ports from twelve M. on Saturday to twelve M. to-day, as per Cotton Exchange telegrams, are 38,630 bales, against 33,758 bales last Sunday and Monday, 23,010 bales last year, and 21,024 year before last.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be [illegible]

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$1 00	4 00
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	30 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 25
Half do., with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Cora mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	90 00	9 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	80 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Swedes, assorted	7	7½
Hoop	3¼	5
Sheet	3¼	5
Nail rods	— —	— —
Castings, American	— —	— —

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	35 00	38 00
Lime, ₩ bbl:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	18 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	15 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 75	4 25
Nails, best brands	$ 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 30	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	—	10
Paris Green, ₩ lb	25	30
Pat. Dryer, ₩ lb	12	—
Whiting, ₩ lb	1½	2
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₩ gal	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights:

Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds per pair
8x10	35	$1 50	$1 50
10x12	55	1 70	2 00
10x18	80	2 75	2 70

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 00	$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 80
Panel Doors:
2 ft. 10 in. x 7 ft. 1¼ in. thick	— —	$2 75
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1¼ in. thick	— —	3 65
3 ft. x 7 ft. 1¾ in. thick	$3 90	— —

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western	8	19
New York, good to creamy	26	31
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	17½	17¾
Rio, good	18	18½
Rio, prime	18¾	19
Java, choice O. G	— —	— —
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Chocolate, ₩ lb.:
Cocoa	— —	— —
Sweet	— —	— —
Canned Fruits, ₩ doz.:
Peaches, strawberries and pears	— —	— —
Corn Meal, ₩ bbl.:
Best, R. D	2 60	2 65
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	12½	12¾
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	11 00	— —
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	1 40	— —
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	4 00	4 25
XX	4 75	5 00
XXX	5 50	5 75
Choice XXX	6 25	6 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	4	6
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	11	12
Raisins, ¼ quarter box	55	65
Raisins, ½ half box	1 15	— —
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 85	— —
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 50	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	8	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	40	45
Coal, in barrels, best	33	35
Insurance, in cases	— —	50
Insurance, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels.
Common	15	20
Fair	22	24
Prime to choice	26	30
Golden and Roquet sirups	— —	— —
Halfbbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	3¾	4
Ordinary	4	5¾
Fair	5¾	— —
Prime to choice	6	6¾
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb.:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₩ lb	3¾	4
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 05	1 10
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in hhds.:
Good fair	5¾	6¼
Prime	— —	— —
Choice	— —	6¾
Yellow clarified	7⅜	8¾
White clarified	9	9¾
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	15	— —
Pepper	13½	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Teas, ₩ lb.:
Black Oolong	75	1 10
Green imperial	80	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	85	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow	— —	52
White	— —	53
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₩ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	37	38
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	95
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	14 50	15 00
Ordinary	— —	— —
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	1 00	1 75

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.:
Breakfast	9	9¾
Shoulders	6¾	7
Sides, clear rib	7	7¾
Sides, clear	7¾	8
Hams, sugar-cured	10¾	11
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl	12 50	12 75
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	4½	4¾
Lard, ₩ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	9	9¾
Choice, in tierces and barrels	7¾	8

BAGGING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	12	12¾
Ties: Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 lbs and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

DRY GOODS.

Brown Domestic, ₩ yard:
Standard brands, ⅝	7	9
Standard brands, 4-4	7	11
Bleached Domestic, ₩ yard:
Choice brands, ⅞	8	10
Choice brands, 4-4	9	12½
Calico, ₩ yard:
Common brands	5½	6
Sprague, Allen & Hamilton	6½	9
Ticking, ₩ yard:
Common brands	10	15½
Good	16	21
Osnaburgs:
Eight ounce	11	— —
Stripes	9	11
Checks	14	17
Denims	12	15

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₩ dozen
Old chickens	4 00	4 25
Young	2 50	2 75
Ducks	3 00	3 50
Geese	5 00	6 00
Turkeys	11 00	13 00
Eggs, ₩ dozen
Western	10	18
Louisiana	18	20

SEWING MACHINES.

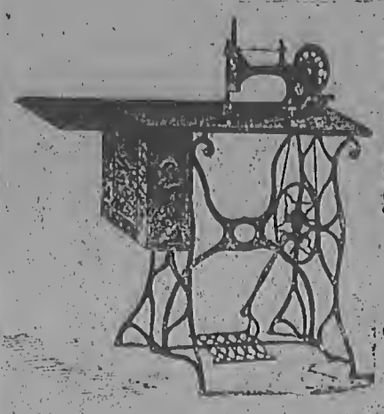
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Bogus Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

Special Notices.

A Gem worth Reading!—A Diamond worth Seeing!

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Restore your Sight!

THROW AWAY your SPECTACLES,

By reading our Illustrated PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY of the EYE SIGHT. Tells how to Restore Impaired Vision and Overworked Eyes; how to cure Weak, Watery, Inflamed, and Near-Sighted Eyes, and all other Diseases of the Eyes;

WASTE NO MORE MONEY BY ADJUSTING HUGE GLASSES ON YOUR NOSE AND DISFIGURING YOUR FACE. Pamphlet of 100 pages Mailed Free. Send your address to us also.

Agents Wanted,

Gents or Ladies. $5 to $10 a day guaranteed. Full particulars sent free. Write immediately, to DR. J. BALL & CO., (P. O. Box 957.) No. 205 West 33d Street, New York City, N. Y.

STANDARD EXCELLENCE.

The place that Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have won in public estimation sustains us in the assertion that for standard excellence they have no equal. Every housewife who has had occasion to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts will indorse the above statement.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MONTGOMERY DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tuskegee	Jan. 5, 6
Opelika	12, 13
Auburn	19, 20
Tallassee, at Tabulia chapel	26, 27
Tuskegee circuit, at Cotton Valley	Feb. 2, 3
Salem circuit, at Shady Grove	9, 10
Hurtville circuit, at Seal	16, 17
Crawford circuit, at Soule chapel	23, 24
Loachapoka circuit, at Loachapoka	Mar. 2, 3
Montgomery	9, 10
Elmore circuit, at Ellis chapel	16, 17
Wetumpka	23, 24
Songanatche mission, at Rocky Springs	30, 31

M. S. ANDREWS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIS.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity Street	Dec. 30
Louisiana Avenue	Jan. 6
Algiers	13
Baton Rouge	27
Lafourche mission, at Thibodaux	Feb. 3
Morgan Street	17
Carondelet Street	24
Plaquemine and Rose at Plaquemine	Mar. 10
St. Charles Street	17

The District Conference will be held in Baton Rouge, beginning on Friday morning, April 5, 1878, at nine o'clock A. M.

LISIUS PARKER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Homer	Jan. 12, 13
Haynesville	19, 20
Vernon	26, 27
Indian Village	Feb. 2, 3
Lisbon	9, 10
Farmerville	16, 17
Downsville	23, 24
Arcadia	Mar. 2, 3
Sparta	9, 10
Rochester	16, 17
Minden	23, 24
Rochester	30, 31

The district stewards will please meet at Vernon quarterly meeting.

J. H. STONE, P. E.

J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT ROOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

153 Gravier and 12 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159 CANAL ST. 159

keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, of all sizes and lengths. Jewelry, Ladies' Combs and Hair Ornaments, etc., made up in all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Fans. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

WANTED.

AT LIND GROVE, LA., a TEACHER to take charge of a school of fifteen or twenty pupils. A lady preferred, and one who could teach Music. Address DR. L. N. RENWICK, Lind Grove, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS,
Stone China TEA SETS,
Decorated CHAMBER SETS,
Real French China DINNER SETS,
Gold Band China TEA SETS,
Table TUMBLERS,
Table GOBLETS,

WHITE FOR PRICES

8p. W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

A. BALDWIN, President. JESSE K. BELL, Vice President.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION

OF

The New Orleans National Bank,

DECEMBER 31, 1877.

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$ [illegible]
Surplus fund	[illegible]
Undivided profits	[illegible]
Circulation outstanding	1,000,000 00
Dividends unpaid	9,850 00
Deposits	610,330 72
Due to banks and bankers	25,842 68
Total	$1,650,923 40

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$1,287,180 72
United States bonds	250,000 00
Premiums on United States bonds	3,000 00
Due from banks and bankers	8,500 00
Furniture and fixtures	2,500 00
Cash	344,972 68
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer	9,000 00
Total	$1,650,923 40

I, W. C. SHEPARD, Cashier, certify the above statement is correct.

W. M. PALFREY, Cashier.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

71 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ THE BEST OFFER! ☜

We will sell during these hard times

$500 Pianos for $250,

and all other styles in the same proportion, including Grand, Square and Upright—all new and first-class—sold direct to the people at factory prices. No agents; no commissions; no discounts. These Pianos made one of the finest displays at the Centennial Exhibition, and were unanimously recommended for the HIGHEST HONORS. Regularly incorporated Manufacturing Company. New manufactory one of the largest and finest in the world. The Squares contain Mathushek's new patent Inside Overstring scale, the greatest improvement in the history of Piano-making. The Uprights are the finest in America. Pianos sent on trial. Don't fail to write for illustrated and descriptive catalogue, mailed free.

MENDELSSOHN PIANO CO.,

NO. 56 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

BLACK GOODS!

AT THE

MOURNING STORE,

17 BOURBON STREET.

ANYBODY wishing to purchase a Black Dress will do well to call at the Mourning Store, where the prices are absolutely lower than they have been for twenty years in any market. Ladies' customers bring with them samples for comparison, to satisfy themselves.

sp A. LAPRY.

UNDERTAKERS.

CHAS. C. JONES, JOHN C. ROCHE.

(Formerly with Frank Johnson.)

JONES & ROCHE,

250 & 252 MAGAZINE ST., NEAR DELORD,

Undertakers and Embalmers.

All business intrusted to the firm will receive prompt and careful attention at moderate rates. Carriages to hire.

$200 a month. Agents wanted to represent Child & Pratt, Cin'ti, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

PIANOS AND ORGANS

VERY CHEAP HERE

Some $25 to $100.

No. 135 Canal Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue.

Leading Pianos & Organs

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Less than Manufacturers' prices.

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPERIOR

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoulas

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice, $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb
CHOICE RIO,	30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA	35c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, (Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Odors. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell, Richardson and Burke & Thomson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

THE BLANCHARD BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat

BLANCHARD FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SPERMATORRHŒA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, HYSTERIA, DIABETES AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator

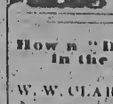
$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.



$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES are the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made on the latest improvements, at the above prices. They are a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Chains from $5 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS METAL WATCH FACTORY 135 Broadway N.Y. P.O.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.
D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 21 Canal Street.

A. ROY, Agent.

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street.

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner.

A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, PENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure Bred Land and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place.

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK-BOOK MAKERS,

87.....COMMERCIAL PLACE.....87

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc., executed with neatness and dispatch, and at Northern prices. Sole agents for Pictorial Business and Visiting Cards of all kinds.

PIANOS Retail price, $750; only $175. ORGANS $175 Organs, in stops, $170; only $65. 12 $85; 9 $65; 2, $45—Brand new, warranted, 15 days' test trial. Wonderful bargains. 24 pp Illustrated Paper all about Piano-Organ war, free. HALLETT, DAVIS & CO., Washington, N. J.

FRANCIONI & FOLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western Produce, Sole consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Molasses, Potatoes, etc. 93 DECATUR ST. (Box 2580) New Orleans, La.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with name, 10c. postpaid. J. B. HUSTED, Nassau, N. Y.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY RODT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1878. NO. 5.

THE DEAD BEE.

BY FLETCHER BATES.

Where honeysuckles scent the way,
I heard thee humming yesterday;
Thy little life was not in vain,
If gathered sweets for others' gain.
And somewhere in a dainty cell
Is stored delicious hydromel.

O poet! in thy calm retreat,
From joy and grief extracting sweet,
Some day thy fancy's wings must fold,
And thou lie motionless and cold.
Perhaps thy garnered honey then
May be the food of living men!

Scribner's Monthly.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 22.—The Supreme Court to-day decided that circuit judges must be elected by the people. This decision ousts circuit judges elected prior to 1877 by Republican Legislatures, and retains Shaw and Wallace, elected last year by the Democrats. When the decision was announced Judge Townsend immediately adjourned the Circuit Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The American Bible Revision Committee held their monthly meeting at the Bible House on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Rev. Philip Schaff, president, reports that the Old Testament company have nearly finished the first revision of Jeremiah, and will next take up Ezekiel. They had previously revised the Pentateuch, the Psalms and the Prophet Isaiah.

The New Testament company have finished the eleventh chapter of the second Epistle to the Corinthians in the first revision. The Gospels, the Acts, and two-thirds of the Epistles have been revised so far, but will require a second revision.

The American committee are not far behind their brother revisers in England.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—A bill was introduced and referred by Mr. Cook, of New York, for the relief of the tobacco trade.

On motion of Mr. Ewing, of Ohio, Mr. Matthews silver concurrent resolution was taken from the speaker's table and passed by over a two-thirds vote.

Mr. Baker, of Indiana, moved to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution declaring that in the judgment of the House no subsidies in the form of bonds, public land loans, or by pledge of the public credit, should be granted or renewed by Congress to associations or corporations engaged in or proposing to engage in public or private enterprises, and that all appropriations ought to be limited to such amounts and purposes only as shall be imperatively demanded by the public service. Adopted by a two thirds vote.

The vote on Mr. Matthews' silver resolution was 187 to 79.

WASHINGTON, January 28.—The Senate has just passed an anti subsidy resolution, opposing in the strongest terms possible the granting of any pecuniary aid or government indorsement to any corporation. The vote was 179 for the resolution to 85 against it. This settles the vote on the Texas Pacific.

The Returning Board trial is a matter of deep interest here. It is almost certain that those members now in the government service will be dispensed with as soon as the case is over, no matter how it results. The President requires the Southern senatorial votes, and they will certainly be refused if the Returning Board members are to be retained at the Customhouse in New Orleans.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Reuter's telegram from Rome says: The Vatican, owing to inquiries of nuncios abroad, states that the situation has not been changed by the accession of King Humbert to the throne.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—The semi-official Provincial Correspondence, in an issue this evening, says it pertains: In the earnest and successful negotiations for an armistice, the inability of a speedy conclusion of peace. The article adds: A complete peace will not be settled by the two belligerents alone, but the solution of the questions which have to be taken into consideration cannot, to a certain extent, be effected without a previous understanding of the European powers and their co operation; but the relations existing to subsisting between the powers appear to afford good grounds for trusting, at this decisive moment, that European complications, that are likely will attend the efforts to bring about a solution, while fully protecting the interests of a general peace, the knowledge of this seems to be afforded by the wisdom and moderation of the Emperor of Russia, his intimate relations with neighboring powers, and his peaceful disposition recently manifested by England.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The marriage of Alfonso and Mercedes, the third daughter of the Duke de Montpensier in the Atocha Cathedral, was celebrated with great splendor. There were present Queen Christina, King Francisco, the King's grandmother and father, the special ambassadors from France, Austria, Russia and England, the apostolic legation, the Count and Countess de Paris, senators and deputies, and many dignitaries. The Pope, who is the King's godfather, sent by the apostolic delegate a wedding ring blessed by his holiness, and a rose of golden for the Queen.

The Duke de Montpensier gives his daughter 25,000,000 francs, in addition to a great quantity of diamonds and a wonderfully rich trousseau.

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—The French mail steamer from Vera Cruz brings the city of Mexico dates to January 18.

The cabinet question is giving President Diaz considerable trouble. It is rumored Senor Gonzalez, before entering the ministry of war, will go to Lower California on an important mission. Several cabinet changes are spoken of, but nothing definite is known.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—A Russian official dispatch from Kezanlik states that a portion of Suleiman Pasha's train, consisting of 2,000 wagons, was captured on the eighteenth instant, near Hermanli, about forty miles west of Adrianople.

Another dispatch from Kezanlik says: From details received by the Russian staff, Gen. Gourko's victory at Philippopolis was more complete than at first announced. Suleiman Pasha's whole army, 40,000 strong, was engaged and finally split into two parts. One, commanded by Fuad Pasha, fled into the mountains, and the other, under Suleiman Pasha, retreated in the direction of Haskoi, pursued by Gens. Skobeloff, and Lazaroff. The Russians captured 97 guns.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 25.—The Porte having yesterday accepted the Russian conditions, peace is regarded as virtually concluded. The Russian conditions are not yet officially known here, but it appears certain that they greatly exceed the conference programme, and stipulate both for territorial concessions and the payment of a war indemnity.

The Daily Telegraph, in a second edition, prints the following from Constantinople: The Turkish delegates have been ordered to sign the peace preliminaries. The armistice will probably be concluded to-day. The peace conditions are, stated, on excellent authority, to include the following: Servia to be independent, without compensation; Montenegro to receive Antivari, Niksics and Spuz, and a portion of the territory bordering on Lake Scutari; Russia to hold Batoum, Kars and Erzeroum until a war indemnity of £20,000,000 is paid. The Dardanelles to be open to Russian men-of-war. Bulgarian autonomy to be conceded, rather on the principles of the Lebanon than on the plan of the Constantinople conference, and Turkey to nominate a Christian governor for a long term of years, subject to ratification by the powers. Bulgaria not understood to include Thrace, but only to extend to the line of the Balkans. A part of the Russian army to embark at Constantinople for their return home, and the final treaty of peace to be signed at Constantinople by the Grand Duke Nicholas. This arrangement will satisfy Russian military honor without involving the occupation of Constantinople.

HAVANA, Jan. 25 via Key West, Jan. 26.—A rumor that Spain will sign a treaty with Santo Domingo at the end of this month, assuming a protectorate over that island, causes very great excitement in Santo Domingo and Hayti, and serves to further increase the unpopularity of President Baez. The rumor is somewhat strengthened by the appointment of new Spanish consuls at several ports of the Dominican republic.

ROME, Jan. 27.—The Pope's condition is worse. He kept his bed today and took no nourishment.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Standard's Constantinople correspondent says: The Porte has received a telegram to the effect that preliminaries of peace have been signed, and that the Turkish delegates and the Grand Duke Nicholas would reach Adrianople today. The same correspondent states that England has asked the Porte's permission to enter the Dardanelles.

The Post publishes the following as the official version of the preliminary conditions of peace:

1. Autonomy for Bulgaria—boundaries not defined—under a governor to be appointed according to the stipulation of the Constantinople conference. The Turkish military forces to be withdrawn to certain localities to be determined upon.

2. The independence of Roumania, with compensation for territory near the mouth of the Danube which she will make over to Russia.

3. Local autonomy for Bosnia and Herzegovina, and independence of Servia, with territorial rectification.

4. Aggrandizement for Montenegro.

Finally, the Sultan to undertake to consider how to protect Russian interests in the passage of the Dardanelles.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—A special to the Times from Calcutta says: A doubtful rumor, though transmitted through official channels, says: Cabul is massing troops at Candahar. This might mean a menace to Persia or England, against both of whom the ameer is hostile.

The significance of his hostile attitude to the English lies in the fact that hitherto, in considering the possibility of a Russian invasion of India, we have been accustomed to look upon Afghanistan as an all but invincible barrier between English territory and Russian aggression, whereas now, for all military purposes, that barrier has ceased.

A clerical gentleman, remarkable for preaching many Sabbaths from one text, had nearly run through the year from these words: "Peter's wife's mother lay sick of a fever." The church bell tolled early one morning, when the minister dispatched a servant to inquire who was dead. The sexton pretended ignorance, but returned for an answer: that he "believed it was Peter's wife's mother, as she had been sick for a long time."

Mississippi Conference Reports.

From the minutes of the late session, recently published, we make the following extracts:

RESOLUTIONS AND MEMORIAL.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this body that candidates for license to preach should be examined upon the same course of study as candidates for admission on trial into the traveling connection.

Resolved, That all grants of license to preach, and recommendations to the Annual Conference for admission on trial into the traveling connection, and for deacon's or elder's orders, be removed from the Quarterly to the District Conference, and that no candidate receive a license to preach until he first stand an approved examination upon the prescribed course of study.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Conference that the Bishop should prescribe a regular, but reasonable and moderate, course of study for candidates for deacon's and elder's orders, and that no local preacher be elected to deacon's orders, and no local deacon be elected to elder's orders until he stand an approved examination upon this course of study.

Resolved, That we hereby, for the sake of our local preachers hereafter, for the sake of their biblical and theological improvement, for the sake of their usefulness, and for the sake of the Christian ministry and the church of God, most earnestly memorialize our approaching General Conference, to be held at Atlanta, Ga., in 1878, to take these matters into consideration, and adopt the laws and requirements of the church accordingly.

WILL. H. LEITH,
W. H. WATKINS,
BEVERLY CARRADINE,
C. K. MARSHALL,
C. G. ANDREWS,
J. J. SMYLIE.

REPORT OF THE JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

To the Bishop and Members of the Mississippi Annual Conference:

The Joint Board of Finance respectfully report that at their last session it was estimated that the amounts necessary to meet the claims upon the Conference, during the year now closing, were: For the Bishops' fund $900, and for the Conference fund $2,100; and these amounts were distributed among the several districts as follows:

Districts.	Bishops' Fund.	Conference Fund.
Vicksburg	$165 00	$450 00
Jackson	150 00	400 00
Brandon	75 00	175 00
Brookhaven	165 00	350 00
Woodville	65 00	200 00
Seashore	50 00	125 00
Meridian	125 00	325 00
Summit	75 00	175 00
Total	$900 00	$2,100 00

These assessments were made upon a fair and equitable basis, and with the earnestly expressed hope that the full amounts in all cases be collected. But the hope was vain, the Vicksburg district alone discharging all its obligations. The receipts from the several districts have been the following:

Districts.	Bishops' Fund.	Conference Fund.
Vicksburg	$172 00	$373 60
Jackson	175 00	303 40
Brandon	81 50	198 25
Brookhaven	130 65	271 55
Woodville	76 50	168 75
Seashore	50 00	85 80
Meridian	126 15	240 40
Summit	75 00	82 30
Total	$914 80	$1,617 05

We have also received from the Van Houten trust fund, through Rev. H. H. Montgomery, the sum of $72, making the total amount of the Conference fund received by us only $1,719.05, instead of the $2,100 asked for.

Of the amounts received for the Bishops, the Joint Board have appropriated the sum of $50 for the traveling expenses of Bishop McTyeire, and the residue to the support of the Bishops. The members of the Joint Board would congratulate the Conference on the fact that the Mississippi Conference has never failed to respond fully to the assessment made by the General Conference, although many of the other Annual Conferences have been in default.

For the ensuing year the board estimated the amounts necessary to meet the claims on this Conference at $900 for the Bishops' fund, and $2,100 for the Conference fund; and these amounts are apportioned in the following manner among the districts:

Districts.	Bishops' Fund.	Conference Fund.
Vicksburg	$170 00	$390 00
Jackson	200 00	410 00
Brandon	100 00	175 00
Brookhaven	145 00	350 00
Woodville	100 00	260 00
Seashore	70 00	165 00
Meridian	115 00	350 00
Total	$900 00	$2,100 00

These assessments, in the main, are the same as those of the present year, and the hope is again expressed that the full amounts may be collected. The board feel assured that this can be done if the brethren will only try. The amounts asked for are the very least sums needed for the claimants. Not a dollar can be spared. Let the effort be to raise more than the assessments. Do not be satisfied with less. Our people are economical, but not penurious. Once advised of the purposes of the Conference fund, and the worth of the beneficiaries and their needs, the members of our church will not refuse to respond liberally to the demands made upon them in this behalf. It is impossible to realize that an earnest effort was made by the preacher in charge where $2.80, $4 or $8.50 are reported as the contribution of several hundred members of one church, as was done at the present Conference by brethren whose names have been long on the rolls. The junior members of the Conference have, as a general rule, brought up the best contributions; and these have not always been from "rich circuits" or stations, but from the pine woods of the Seashore district, as well as from other portions of our territory. While one station has fallen far behind what had been looked for, others have met the demands made on them. The reports from Natchez and Vicksburg show the wisdom and great success of the "envelope plan" in raising money for the support of the ministry; and this opportunity is taken to urge the general adoption of that method in all our churches.

In conclusion, the Joint Board of Finance reiterate the warning of two years ago, and assure the brethren that in future the receipt of no claimant will be received or regarded by the board. No one is authorized to disburse any of the Conference fund without authority from this board, and any one acting contrary to the Discipline in this matter will do so at his own risk.

Respectfully submitted.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, Chair'n,
W. M. THORNTON, Sec.
TOM. L. MELLEN, Treas.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

Your Committee on Education having carefully sought, from the different sources within their reach, to obtain information in reference to the four institutions of learning within our bounds, present the following report as the result of their researches. It should be a source of gratification to us that, despite the universal complaint of "hard times," our colleges are being supported, at least.

Centenary College, situated at Jackson, La., we are gratified to report, is more encouraging in its prospects than for many years past. While we find that only fifty-seven students have matriculated up to the present, it is pleasing to know that of these twenty-six are in the regular college classes, compared with twelve in the same classes during the last session.

The Rev. I. D. Wall, a graduate of last year, and a young man fully competent in every respect, has been elected to the principalship of the Preparatory Department in the stead of Rev. A. G. Miller. More than all, we take the greatest pleasure in bringing before this body the fact that a higher moral and religious status has never existed with this institution before since its opening. This is proven from the fact that during its past year's existence not only were their regular social meetings well attended, and many connected themselves with the church, but not one case of expulsion occurs upon their roll. In every particular we feel safe in saying that Centenary College has improved and is still improving. We recommend the reappointment of Rev. C. G. Andrews, D. D., president of this institute.

Port Gibson Collegiate Academy, situated at Port Gibson, Miss., with the Rev. J. A. B. Jones as president, assisted by a competent faculty, is doing a good work and gradually improving. Those acquainted with the institution say it has improved very "materially during the past year." Bro. Jones brings all his energy and ability to the discharge of his duties, and we recommend his reappointment.

East Mississippi Female College, located at Meridian, Miss., is in a very prosperous condition, and making rapid advance toward greater success. Considering the age of this institution, we think none has made more rapid progress, and that none has a better outlook for the future than East Mississippi Female College. Up to the present, of this session, one hundred and two have been enrolled, of whom twenty-seven are from abroad. During the past year improvements have been made to the amount of about $800, $700 of which remains unpaid; however, with a prospect of very early settlement. Bros. Adkisson as president, and Ellis as financial agent, we believe are both doing a good work for the school and church, and therefore we recommend each of them to their former positions.

Whitworth College, situated at Brookhaven, Miss., is well known to us all. Its success and plan of operations are better ascertained from the catalogue than your committee are able to report. It speaks for itself. No comment is necessary. We find upon its roll of last year two hundred and twenty-two names, coming from all parts of Mississippi and many from Louisiana. Its graduating class of 1876–77 numbered twenty. It has a large list of alumni, the most of whom have gone out from the institution within the last ten years, and many of them are engaged to-day as teachers. The improvements alluded to by your last committee as under progress have been completed. The institution is now furnished with all the necessary improvements and apparatus for the comfort of its students and the assistance of its professors. With pleasure your committee recommend the reappointment of Rev. H. F. Johnson to the presidency of this institution.

T. B. HOLLOMAN, Chairman.

ASSESSMENT FOR MISSIONS.

The board assessed the districts for missions as follows:

Districts.	Foreign.	Domestic.
Jackson	$650 00	$500 00
Vicksburg	650 00	500 00
Woodville	500 00	300 00
Brookhaven	500 00	300 00
Brandon	450 00	300 00
Meridian	450 00	300 00
Seashore	350 00	250 00

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS LITERATURE.

The Committee on Religious Literature report upon the several communications and matters before them for consideration as follows, to wit:

They heartily indorse the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, both in its editorial and publishing departments. They regard it of inestimable value to our church, and worthy of the most liberal patronage of our people. They regard the communication of the publisher, Rev. R. J. Harp, as a most satisfactory one in respect to the appropriateness and completeness of the information which it furnishes. They are thankful to learn that the financial condition of the paper is still improving in spite of the stringency of the times.

The committee fully indorse the resolution referred to them by the Conference recommending the stopping each paper when the subscription expires.

They indorse the plan recommended in the resolutions offered by Dr. C. K. Marshall for increasing the circulation of our papers, but are of the opinion that its use or disuse should be left entirely to the sound discretion of each preacher in charge.

REPORT ON RELIEF OF THE PUBLISHING HOUSE.

The committee to whom was referred the urgent papers of the book agent beg leave to report that, in compliance with the following suggestion of the agent, Rev. A. H. Redford, to wit:

"Of the $60,000 for which we asked we have received about $26,000, leaving about $34,000 yet to be provided for. We requested the Mississippi Conference to give us $2,500. Of this amount we have received $1,345.87. The balance we ask from the Mississippi Conference is $1,154.63. Our struggle during the past year has been a hard one. We have cheerfully risked everything we have to save the Publishing House from ruin, and we only ask the church to extend a helping hand. The amount for which we ask is essential to our success, and we most respectfully request that it be divided among the several districts by a committee appointed by the Conference, and then by the presiding elders divided among the several charges. The amount can be raised without difficulty."

We submit this distribution, made in accordance therewith, to wit:

Vicksburg district	$215 00
Jackson district	225 00
Brandon district	115 00
Brookhaven district	200 00
Woodville district	82 63
Seashore district	85 00
Meridian district	156 00
Summit district	157 00
Total	$1,154 63

ROBERT B DOWNER,
RENÉ JONES,
W. E. M. LINFIELD,
Committee.

REPORT OF TREASURER OF MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

H. H. Watkins, Treasurer, in Account with Missionary Society of the Mississippi Conference.

DR.

Collected in Jackson district	$288 15
Collected in Woodville district	292 85
Collected in Summit district	104 65
Collected in Brookhaven district	230 45
Collected in Brandon district	146 85
Collected in Vicksburg district	186 70
Collected in Meridian district	241 70
Collected in Seashore district	150 00
Collected from other sources	2 80
Collected at anniversary, 1878	62 00
Total	$1,658 75

CR.

By amount paid to—
E. J. Taylor, Scotlandville, Miss	$75 00
P. C. Wimbish, Chickasaha	75 00
H. H. Montgomery, Pearl River	183 50
J. S. Holton, Sunflower	146 25
J. L. Forsyth, Woodville district	150 00
J. A. Godfrey, Summit district	75 00
Thomas Price, Seashore district	168 75
John C. Williams, Ellisville, Miss	131 25
A. L. McBryde, Clarke, Miss	75 00
C. W. Calhoun, Pascagoula, Miss	75 00
E. A. Flowers, Biguechitto, Miss	75 00
G. W. Gilbert, Springfield, Miss	150 00
J. N. Williams, Homewood, Miss	112 50
J. F. Graham, Lauderdale, Miss	131 25
Amount overdrawn last year	51 82
Cash to balance	69 93
Total	$1,658 75

Besides this, $1,651.60 have come into my hands for foreign missions—in all $3,311 35.

W. H. WATKINS, Treas.

VICKSBURG, Dec. 8, 1877.

VAN HOUTEN BEQUEST FUND.

As treasurer of the Van Houten bequest fund, I report that I have collected $72 interest on the fund, and have paid the same to the Joint Board of Finance.

H. H. MONTGOMERY, Treas.

EXPENSES OF DELEGATES.

Resolved, That the pastors of the Mississippi Conference be and are hereby instructed to take a collection in each of their congregations, during the month of March, to defray the expenses of our delegates to the General Conference, and remit the same to the nearest delegate.

H. H. MONTGOMERY,
F. M. FEATHERSTUN.

Independency may be found in comparative as well as absolute abundance—I mean when a person contracts his desires within the limits of his fortune.—Shenstone.

Money for Foreign Missions.

MR. EDITOR: I have this day forwarded to Rev. J. W. Lambuth, by bill of exchange on London, the following amounts, raised at the anniversary of the Missionary Society during the late session of the Mississippi Conference at Jackson. On a proposition to build a church in some town in China there has been paid by two brothers, one living in Georgia, the other in Mississippi, $200.

On a proposition to build a second church in China the following amounts were paid: Mrs. W. L. Sharkey, $10; Mr. Charles Burns, $10; Rev. J. T. Heard, $20; Rev. H. H. Montgomery, $5; Rev. J. A. Godfrey, $5; Rev. J. P. Drake, $5, and Rev. J. W. Ellison, $7—in all, $62. On this proposition $202 were subscribed, and the part not paid was promised to be paid during this year.

A proposition was made to build a third church, and several subscriptions received to be paid during the year. This proposition may be considered still open. Persons wishing to subscribe or pay on it can do so by sending me their names and amounts. To educate a girl in Mrs. Lambuth's school in China, Mrs. W. L. Sharkey paid $10, and Mrs. Susan P. Gunn $5. I also include in the draft $12 25 paid by the Sunday school at Vidalia, La., for the China mission, and handed me by the superintendent, Mr. G. J. Bahin, of Natchez.

These announcements are made that all parties may have due credit and know what is done with their contributions, and that subscribers may exert themselves to pay their subscriptions as soon as possible. Perhaps it would be well for the preachers to take up their missionary collections early in the year, while there is more money in the hands of the people, and to avoid crowding the collections toward the last of the year.

The Board of Missions at Nashville have assessed to this Conference for foreign missions $3,500. This amount has been distributed among the districts by the Domestic Board of our Conference, and will require, if raised, larger collections than heretofore. Our new minutes are just out and beautifully printed. We hope they will be generally circulated and read, that preachers and people may know and do their duty in regard to this important subject.

W. L. C. HINNICUTT,
Secretary Board of Missions, Miss. Conf.

VICKSBURG, MISS., Jan. 21, 1878.

Glass Type.

The usefulness of toughened glass, says an English exchange, bids fair to be greater and more serious than was at first supposed. Some experiments are reported to have been made in France with a view to showing whether this substance can be pressed into the printer's service, and substituted for the metal composition of which types are made. The metal does not at first sight strike the observer as the best that could be found. It is bright enough when the letters first come from the foundry, and before they have seen any service; but a few days wear gives them a very much more dingy appearance, and before they are finally returned to the melting-pot they have degenerated into a very squalid form, looking dirty in their bodies as well as battered in their faces. The idea now is to discard these long-proved but unattractive servants and fill their places with glittering types of glass. The advantages in point of cleanliness alone would, it is alleged, be not insignificant. But the Patrie points out that there are other and more solid improvements involved in the new system. The toughened glass, which is not to be made in quite the same way as that used for tumblers and wine glasses, and need not, of course, be so transparent, is naturally much harder than the old metal, and can hardly be crushed out of shape by those little accidents which so shorten the life and spoil the beauty of the only type we now employ. It is also capable of being cast into more delicate shapes, so that the difference, for instance, between the thin and the thick strokes can be more clearly defined. Finally, it is now found that the new material can be cast in exactly the same molds as the old, and that therefore there need be no expense incurred in altering the machines and implements used in the manufacture of type. If the Patrie has been well informed, the experiments have been completely successful, and the adaptability of toughened glass to printing and to numerous other purposes is likely ere long to be fully established.

Decision and promptitude, even though sometimes a man may err for want of due deliberation, will, in the long run, more often conduce to success than a slow judgment that comes too late.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1878.

THE BOATMAN.

BY D. W. M.

Walking along the glistening sand
She saw a boatman approach the land.

"Boatman," she said, "what is thy fee?
I am tired, and fain would sail with thee."

He shook his head. "Death is my fee
When I come again you may sail with me."

"I am tired, so tired," she mournful said,
"Let me rest with the silent dead."

"Not now, poor child; I cannot do,
But wait—one day I will call for thee."

Seven years passed of work and pain,
Ere the boatman moored by the bank again.

She heard the dip of the oar in the wave,
And moaned, "Now give me the rest I crave."

He caught her whispered cry for "rest,"
And folded her safe in his loving breast.

Then we, watching near, knew the Lord's dear face,
And that heaven was the boatman's destined place.

Christian Union.

Christian Education.

A SERMON PREACHED BEFORE THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE, DEC. 14, 1877, BY PROF. J. LEWIS, JR.

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding.—Proverbs iv. 7.

In response to the call of the Committee on Public Worship, and in deference to the wish of many honored brethren, I appear before you this evening charged with the advocacy of Christian education. The service demanded of me is both difficult and delicate. The great theme upon which I am expected to address you cannot be satisfactorily discussed within the time ordinarily allotted to a single sermon. And still the hour will not have been misspent if, under the divine blessing, such a presentation of the subject can be made as shall more fully enlist the talent and zeal of this body of ministers and laymen in behalf of our educational enterprises. The delicacy of our task will be sufficiently obvious without any formal statement. There are occasions when the most guarded utterance of truth is apt to be resented as a challenge. This may be one of them. The silversmiths of Ephesus could not hear the preaching of the gospel; and we must not expect that the expression of our opinions upon any controverted question shall escape the adverse criticism of those with whom we differ.

We undertake to establish the following proposition: That those systems of education which are avowedly and decidedly religious are preferable to those other systems in which attention to the spiritual interests of the student is not made an official duty, but is left at the option of the instructor. From this announcement it will be seen that we do not mean to discuss our text formally, but rather to illustrate and enforce the important truth which it declares in connection with the great work of education.

The term "wisdom," as ordinarily used, is more comprehensive than knowledge. It implies knowledge, but denotes at the same time such a state of the intellectual powers as shall enable a man to profit by what he has learned. As employed by the inspired writers, the words wisdom and knowledge have primary reference to spiritual things. In our text, therefore, wisdom means religion. This, "the wisdom that cometh down from above," "is the principal thing."

The passage assumes that man is an immortal being, at present in a state of probation, and on his way to a judgment, by the awards of which his eternal destiny is to be fixed according to his behavior in this world. If death, as some pretend, is an eternal sleep, then there is nothing better than to pass as comfortably as possible the few years allotted us on earth. But if the body is only a pitched

"Upon the shore
Of that vast ocean we launch souls," then it is madness to trifle away the short period granted us that we might prepare for our launching forth upon that tremendous deep. In this view of life and of death man's religious interest is his paramount interest. The grave question of his relations to God immeasurably transcends in importance all other questions. "Wisdom is the principal thing."

I. In the work of education, therefore, which is a preparation for life, the attainment of wisdom should be the primary object.

And, first, the acquisition of religious knowledge is necessary. This knowledge is not intuitive, nor is it a result of human investigation. The Being and attributes of the Deity, our relations to Him, the requisites of acceptable worship and service, these are subjects beyond the range of human discovery. All satisfactory knowledge of these matters must be derived from God himself. Else how is it that we are wiser upon religious subjects than Plato and Aristotle and Cicero, and that even our children know more of God than did Socrates, that greatest philosopher of antiquity? Let the psalmist answer: "I understand more than the ancients because I keep thy precepts." "The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple."

The Deity has been pleased to put a revelation of religious truth into a book, and to enjoin upon those who have been enlightened by that book the duty of communicating their knowledge to others. Especially are parents required to impart this instruction to their children. At Horeb the Almighty said to Israel: "And these words which I command thee this day shall be in thy heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently to thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." Language cannot be more explicit, more emphatic or more imperative than this. The New Testament repeats this injunction, and extends it over the whole range of religious truth. This duty demands the personal attention of parents, and nothing can exempt them from its obligation. To discharge it with fidelity it is necessary that we begin it in the infancy of our children, and continue it diligently, perseveringly, patiently and prayerfully until they pass from under our charge. But if early childhood calls for this outlay of time and labor, what shall we say of that most critical period commonly embraced in college life? At the age of fifteen or sixteen the habits are unformed, the character unsettled, the intellect weakest, the passions strongest, the impulses quickest, the caution least, the experience nothing. Of it is a fearful thing for a young man to be removed from the tuition of a pious home, and thrown into association with two or three hundred fellow-students of a similar age, amid the evil solicitations by which the collegian is assailed! How dare Christian parents expose a son to such imminent peril without definite and satisfactory assurances that his preceptors will "watch for his soul as they that must give account?" Even when an institution of learning is consecrated to God the risk is too serious to be incurred without earnest prayer; but when attention to the religious welfare of the student is not "nominated in the bond," such a delegation of responsibility is not only a folly but absolutely a crime.

But religious instruction is valuable chiefly as tending to the conversion of the young. No man is educated, in the full sense of the word, until he has become a sincere Christian. He may be intelligent, may be learned, may be a highly cultivated gentleman, but his education is incomplete. His intellectual faculties may have received all possible attention, but his spiritual powers are undeveloped; or, what is worse, have been developed in a direction hurtful to himself and to society. "Wisdom is the principal thing." This, without anything else, is better than all things else without this. No pious father or mother can contemplate with satisfaction, or even with composure, the condition of a son or daughter who is destitute of religion. This question should claim precedence of all others in every arrangement made for young people with reference to their education and their settlement in life.

In this connection allow us to insist upon the importance of early conversion. The same general reasons which show the pre-eminent value of religion demonstrate that an early conversion is best. But there are some special arguments upon this point well worthy of consideration.

Delay may be fatal to the soul. Youth has no immunity from death, and a young man who dies in his sins is lost forever. The rejection of Christianity in early life hardens the heart and sears the conscience. The formation of habits, of associations, of the life plan, of business engagements, without regard to religion, greatly increases the danger of continued and final impenitence. And even if the imperiled soul, against which all these causes operate in fearful alliance, is roused to a just sense of its awful exposure, so difficult is now the work of repentance that conversion in such cases is little less than miraculous. This truth is fully confirmed by observation. After the age of twenty-five conversion rarely occurs, except among persons whose early religious privileges have been limited. But waiving this point, and allowing that, despite all hinderances, the delinquent is at last converted, still the delay is fraught with evil to the convert and to society. Time and opportunity for good are irretrievably lost, wickedness has been done, is irreparable. The transgressor incurred spiritual disabilities which can never be fully overcome. The life, taken as a whole, can never be what it should have been. It is difficult adequately to estimate—impossible to over-estimate—these considerations. The upper portion of a gnarled and unsightly tree may be made to grow straight; but not all the engines upon earth can give comeliness to the misshapen trunk. This fact has its spiritual analogon. Let a man postpone his repentance until middle age, and not even divine grace can rear him to that Christian stature, or impart to him that exquisite symmetry which he might have attained.

The last argument that we shall advance on this point is that persons converted in early life are more likely to persevere unto final salvation. "What! Are not the young proverbially unstable? and do not many excellent people, on this account, carefully restrain their children from any public demonstration of religious feeling?" We answer: Many parents are guilty of egregious folly upon this subject; but still it is true that a much larger proportion of those converted in childhood are faithful until death than of those who profess religion in after-life. True, the children may grow cold, become wayward, backslide—so may the adult converts. But in almost every instance (we have never known an exception) the children are reclaimed, whereas many of the older proselytes fall away and are never renewed. For these strong reasons we are convinced that the spiritual interests of every young man should receive special attention during his collegiate course. But, then, some one may ask: "Why may not this office be safely intrusted to an institution not avowedly religious?" To us the reasons are overwhelming. First, there is no controlling motive in the appointment of the trustees and professors of such an institution to secure the election of Christian men. Hence State colleges and universities often number among their instructors men who are not only not Christians, but positively unfriendly to Christianity. Secondly, those of them who are Christians are apt to be chosen from the different religious denominations, and hence cannot labor so efficiently for the conversion of their students as the officers of a church college can do, because united. Thirdly, they are less likely to concern themselves about the religious interests of the young men, from the fact that it is not expected of them, and might subject them to the suspicion of proselytism. Fourthly, such an institution, because of its non-religious character, will generally be preferred by those patrons who are opposed to Christianity. Infidels, profligates, and wicked people of every description, who do not bring up their children properly, and do not wish them to become religious, will send them hither to be educated. The associations, therefore, will be unfavorable to piety. Fifthly, and finally, even if, despite all these difficulties, the officers of a State college do labor earnestly to secure the conversion of the young men, the latter will be apt to resent such efforts as an impertinence. Now, where so many causes combine to subordinate the principal thing in education to a minor interest, the result may easily be divined.

On the other hand, the religious college is free from all these disadvantages. First, its trustees and faculty are chosen with special reference to their religious character and influence. Secondly, they recognize the great truth that "wisdom is the principal thing," and labor unitedly and earnestly to secure this gift to every student under their charge. Thirdly, the known character of the institution determines the sources of its patronage, and tends to insure a more orderly collection of young men. Fourthly, the influence of the prayers and labors of patrons, trustees, faculty and students is focalized upon this one point with tremendous power. Religion presides over all the exercises of such an institution, from the morning prayer to the evening prayer, day after day, from the opening to the close of every session, and it is not wonderful that, ever and anon, pentecostal fire descends in glorious baptism, and pious fathers and mothers, in distant places, are transported with the intelligence that their sons have found "peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ." The conclusion which we have reached by sound reasoning is abundantly confirmed by an appeal to facts. Your speaker was once, for five years, an instructor in a Methodist college. During all that time he never saw one of the students intoxicated, nor heard one of them utter an oath, nor knew one of them to be expelled for misconduct or for neglect of duty; and in those memorable years more than five hundred conversions took place among the young men. We might fearlessly challenge the enemies of denominational schools and colleges to produce so fair an exhibit from the records of any State university in the land.

It has been urged as an objection against denominational colleges that they exert an improper sectarian influence. This charge is not only false, but has been often refuted. Such an abuse of authority and position would be ruinous to any school. But suppose the fact were otherwise, and that every graduate of a Methodist college will be a Methodist, and that every graduate of a Baptist college will be a Baptist. Is it not infinitely better that our sons should join a church differing in minor respects from our own than that they should grow up to manhood without religion? I am a Methodist by inheritance and by choice, and prefer, of course, that my children should be Methodists; but I am still more anxious for them to be saved; and, while there is a Christian college within my reach, no son or daughter of mine shall ever become a student of any institution where Solon and Lycurgus are set above Moses, and Demosthenes and Cicero above Paul, and Homer and Virgil above Isaiah, and science above Christianity. No, brethren! Religion first, and learning afterward!

II. Not only are the religious interests of a young man safest, but his intellectual growth and culture are most rapid and satisfactory at an institution of learning consecrated to God. This is indeed a fair deduction from the proposition just established; but we prefer to support it by an additional array of arguments not less conclusive than those which we have already presented.

First. The conservative influence of the Christian religion upon a student is of inestimable value.

1. Christianity furnishes the noblest and strongest incentives to diligence and fidelity in the labors of the study and of the recitation-room. Generally it is true that, in whatever good work any man may be employed, he will perform it all the better for being a Christian. The labor which to a worldling is only a means of living, or of money-getting, is exalted by religion to the dignity of a Christian service to God and to the community. This law finds nowhere a more beautiful illustration than in college halls.

2. Again, religion protects its possessor from those evil associations, those bad habits, that levity, those feverish excitements, which are so prejudicial to the good order and prosperity of seats of learning, and so fatal to the success of many collegians. He is not beguiled from his pursuits by Pleasure, with her sparkling cup, and her instruments of music, and the revelry of her gay and thoughtless votaries. His days are given to useful study, his nights to refreshing sleep; and his mind, free from the alternate excesses and reactions of dissipation, grows on in serene healthfulness, up to the full maturity of its powers.

3. Another valuable fruit of religion is that unity of spirit and of purpose between instructors and pupils, without which the highest success in the work of education cannot be attained. One of the most serious difficulties in the training of the young is the antagonism which often springs up between them and their preceptors; nor is there any adequate preventive of this spirit of discord but the religion of Jesus Christ.

Secondly. The Christian religion exercises directly a wonderful power upon the intellectual life of its confessors, and of the world.

1. All intelligent persons are aware that the mind is enlarged or contracted according to the character of the subjects with which it is most conversant. If familiar with little things, it is enfeebled; if with great things, it is strengthened and elevated. When the columns of the Portico were trembling over the heads of Pythagoras and his disciples they relied for salvation upon the strength of the hardy Crotonist, whose muscle had been tested by burdens and exercises appalling to the inhabitants of Sybaris; so when society needs an intellectual giant she turns her eyes upon those whose minds have been developed by grappling with the great themes of the universe. Now, no subjects are comparable in magnitude to those presented by religion. Her truths are indeed infinite. Grant that they are beyond our comprehension, still our assertion holds good. No mind can take in the ocean, rolling its unfathomed floods around the earth in awful might and solemn majesty; and yet within the soul, upon whose attentive ear there beats daily and nightly the rhythm of that tidal minstrelsy, anon varied by the thunder of storm and tempest, are awakened thoughts and feelings vaster than the ocean itself. No man can comprehend the stellar universe, swelling upward and outward, sun above sun, and system beyond system, as far as Creative Power has wrought its unspeakable wonders; but the soul which drinks in the myriad beams of heaven catches an inner illumination brighter than that above it, and the glory of this light can never be extinguished. So, too, we cannot compass the eternal and the infinite; but when we let in the eternal and the infinite upon us we are lifted up above the earth, and feel that we are greater than the visible universe—the pulse of immortality beats within us, and we aspire to communion with the Deity.

2. Again, all truth is harmonious and connected. The greater the number of truths which we know, the more accurate will be our knowledge, and the more rapid our discoveries. False notions of God, of ourselves, of our relations to God and our fellowmen—of life, its true end, its relations to eternity—cannot but vitiate all our beliefs and convictions. And only religion can rectify our views upon these subjects, and round our knowledge into spherical unity and completeness.

3. But, besides these truths, religion actually gives new life to the mind; it quickens and energizes the intellectual man. This point alone is worthy of an hour's discussion, but we can only illustrate it by a few examples. Without religion Moses would have been only a shepherd; religion made him the law-giver of Christendom, and the prophet of all time. Elisha would have been a plowman; religion transformed him into "the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof." But for the Christian religion Peter and John would have been humble fishermen; Saul of Tarsus a tent-maker, or a rabbi; Martin Luther a fiddler; John Bunyan a profane tinker, and John Wesley a gownsman and a pedant. But lift up your eyes and see! The fishermen of Galilee have left their nets, and one is the preacher at Pentecost, and the other the prophet of the Apocalypse. Saul of Tarsus becomes "the myriad-minded, lion-hearted Paul," the sublimest human figure in all history; Martin Luther, the morning star of a new civilization; John Bunyan, the inspired dreamer of a vision which has entranced the world; and John Wesley, the regenerator of a dying church, and the apostle of the eighteenth century.

4. But let your thoughts take a higher and broader range. Tell me where is civilization seen? and what is civilization? Where are steamboats, railroads, telegraphs, universities, hospitals, asylums, schools for the blind, the dumb, the orphan? Where is Science, with her magic wand, and the ensigns of her sovereignty over the material universe? Take the map of the world and look, and you will find that civilization is the child of the Christian religion. We fling this bold challenge in the face of infidelity. We claim that Hume and Gibbon and Huxley and Mill and Tyndall and Spencer, and all the Anakim of skepticism, are themselves the unnatural offspring of Christian civilization. Deism, unenlightened by the Bible, never gave birth to such men. If so, where and when? Let them be pointed out, or else, for shame, let the lying oracles of Antichrist be put to silence. And if farther advances are to be made in the same direction—if even the submarine telegraph is to give place to new and greater wonders, where shall these things be? In lands where the Bible is known, or where it is not? Even our children can answer the question.

The conclusion to which this discussion brings us is obvious and irresistible: that system of education which is vitalized by religion is best for the intellect. Any other is without the breath of life.

Upon this point we can confidently appeal to facts. Many young men of brilliant endowments and great ambition fail at college; but we have never known a student of ordinary talent and sincere piety who did not attain a position of intellectual respectability. Even those collegians who resist the combined religious influences at work in an institution of the character that we have described are apt to do better here than elsewhere. The efforts which fail to secure their conversion prove at least a salutary restraint from evil courses. The peacefulness and good order of the literary community in which they reside are favorable to study; and though they come short of the highest attainable development and culture, they do become scholarly and cultivated men, and honorable and useful citizens. Candor requires us to admit that their education is unsatisfactory to us. The college cannot point to them as specimens of its best work. But what, we ask, must be the difference between two institutions, one of which proudly claims such men, and the other sadly acknowledges them as its alumni!

We now claim to have shown that, both for the spiritual man and for the intellectual man, those systems of education which are avowedly religious are the best. A due concern for [illegible] we are of our [illegible] would adopt the same choice of [illegible] which we have seen to be recommended by higher considerations. But we cannot now pursue this line of argument.

III. We have, however, one further proposition strongly confirmatory of the general conclusion which we have reached. The alumni of a religious school or college will be more successful in life than those of institutions under the management of the State. What may be termed college influence does not end on the day of graduation, but affects for good or evil the whole subsequent history. Of course it will be said: Whatever affects his religious and intellectual character will affect all the after-life. But we mean much more than this.

1. A young man's sentiments upon nearly all subjects of general importance are molded at college, and solidified before he takes his diploma. His religious views, his political opinions, his moral principles, his literary tastes, all are here fixed, and are rarely afterward changed. Here, too, his life-plan is formed. If the prevalent tone of the institution is secular, his life-plan will be thoroughly worldly. God and religion will be forgotten. And, since no man becomes better than he purposes to become, it is easy to predict the end from so inauspicious a beginning. You may give a young man health, wealth, family influence, genius, learning—whatever you will—and send him forth upon a godless life, and you consign him to inevitable and irredeemable destruction.

2. Again, it is a great mistake to suppose that text-books and processes of instruction are the most potent instrumentalities in education. These things are not unimportant; but, after all, the main consideration is the character of the leading men with whom the student comes in contact. Plutarch was the preceptor of Trajan, and the influence of the master is clearly seen in the history of the illustrious pupil. Plato and Xenophon and Aristotle were the children of Socrates in a far higher sense than that of natural descent. The stamp of the men who officer your schools and colleges will be upon your children until the end of life. There is a village in Georgia, where, about seventy years ago, a young man of infidel principles was for twelve months in charge of the academy. From that day to this infidelity has been in the ascendant throughout that community and the adjoining country. Nor is this case exceptional. The spirit of the master passes into the pupil. If that spirit be not strong and true and noble—better than any earth-born spirit—then, alas for the graduate, though he possess the genius of Thomas Wentworth, enriched with all the learning of the Alexandrian and Bodleian Libraries!

3. We have had occasion to speak of college associations as affecting the character and the intellect. This matter is not less important as connected with the after-life of the student. The strength of the attachments formed at college is wonderful. They spring up while the heart is young, and the affectional nature is warm and generous, and they survive all subsequent changes. The intimacies which your sons form at college will influence their business plans, their place of abode, their social connections, their literary pursuits and their religious history. For help or for hinderance, "for blessing or for banning," these society and class-room fellowships will hold through life. "We speak as unto wise men; judge ye what we say."

And here we close this discussion. We have shown that Christian education is best for the spiritual man, best for the intellectual man; that its subject will go forth into the world with sounder sentiments, with a nobler purpose, with a better life-plan, and with a more desirable circle of friends, than those young men who are educated under any other system. We believe that all these conclusions are fairly deduced from indisputable premises. We are willing for them to be thoroughly tested.

We are willing further, for this question to go to judgment upon the record. The denominational colleges in this country have done more for society, more for the church, more for the State, than any other institutions of learning. As a general rule their graduates have been more successful, more useful and more eminent. Of the many gifted and learned men in the land who have been ruined by dissipation, not one in twenty was educated at a church school or college. The lesson is so plainly written that "he may run who reads."

Thus has Divine Providence attested the divine word, and rebuked the presumptuous folly of attempting to educate an immortal being without religion.

Hewitson, the holiest man I have ever known, and who told me on his death-bed that he was "better acquainted with Jesus than with any friend he had on earth," his whole life being a visible proof of it, wrote, in his last illness: "My ministry has for the most part been eventful. I have declared the whole counsel of God, without fearing or flattering any one, great or small. This I can say with a good conscience; but, oh, what iniquities do I now see to have been in my holy things!—iniquities forgiven, but still to be mourned over. Never did I feel my soul to be nothing more than in this illness."—Baillie.

A clergyman and one of his elderly parishioners were walking home from church one frosty day, when the old gentleman slipped and fell flat on his back. The minister, looking at him a moment, and being assured that he was not much hurt, said to him: "Friend, sinners stand on slippery places."

The old gentleman looked up, as if to assure himself of the fact, and said: "I see they do; but I can't."

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents please write names and [illegible] distinctly. Give us a copy on proper [illegible]. Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. [illegible] only points of general [illegible] help the living: Death, funeral services, and such phrases as "their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verse, original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, such communication fail to appear, let a [illegible] be sent instead of a complaint.

SISTER CAROLINE C. McCO[illegible] was the daughter of John and Clarissa [illegible] and was born in Williamson county, [illegible] June 22, 1812. About 1818 the family [illegible] to Mississippi and settled in Jefferson [illegible] where Caroline, in early womanhood, [illegible] braced religion and united with the M[illegible] 1st Episcopal Church. June 22, 1831, [illegible] married to William Winans McCo[illegible] nephew of Rev. William Winans, [illegible] the Mississippi Conference. Mr. M[illegible] died December 8, 1838, and left her [illegible] widowhood with one son and two da[illegible] but with a comfortable estate, which, however, was swept away by the results of war. Her husband was a good citizen, earnest advocate of temperance and morals, and a very liberal patron of the church, though he died out of [illegible] communion. The writer lived a near neighbor to Sister McCollum about thirty years, knew her intimately in all her domestic, social and church relations, as well as in her joys and sorrows, and a more pious, consistent and persistent Christian is seldom known. She gave her pastor and church no occasion to complain of her [illegible] delinquencies on her part. Whenever and wherever she was at her post of duty, and did her part to advance the Redeemer's kingdom. Soon after her marriage she was deeply impressed with the importance of family worship, and felt that she could not have the full blessing of God on her household while this was neglected. Her husband kept aloof awhile, but became discouraged and gave up. With his consent she soon repaired to the altar, and ever after during his life, and during her widowhood, until her family was dissolved by the marriage of her children, she kept the fire burning evening and morning. Of late years she has lived with her youngest daughter, Mrs. Wyatt, where she still kept up her habit of family prayer and giving thanks at the table. She was a useful leader in female prayer meeting. For several years her health has been declining. She had sinking spells at times, when it was thought she could not live. But she was ready and only waiting the Master's call. On the evening of October 26 she said grace at the supper table, prayed in the family, as usual, and retired to bed and slept. About three o'clock in the morning of the twenty-seventh she called her daughter to get a light, for she thought she was dying. She had nothing particular about herself, except that she was ready and waiting. Her preparation for death had been made long ago. But in that brief interval she thought of her children. "Tell Cornelia," said she, "to be a good girl, and meet her mother in heaven." After this she spoke only three or four sentences distinctly, one of which was for her children, and she slept in Jesus. In 1840 she united with a few others in forming the original Belle Grove church, in this circuit, and, it is presumed, continued a member there to the last, though sometimes lived at a distance from the church.

J. G.

MRS. MARY A. SPENCER was born in Bibb county, Ala., and died at her residence, in Sumpterville, Greene county, Texas, December 6, 1877. She was the daughter of Rev. H. W. and Sister [illegible] Brown; embraced religion at Cove[illegible] Bibb county, Ala., when young, [illegible] Methodist Episcopal Church South, [illegible] a consistent member until called [illegible] labors on earth to her reward [illegible] She was married to her now bereaved husband, Mr. T. Spencer, in December [illegible] Sister Mollie was a gentle, affectionate, lovely girl. The graces of her [illegible] heart beautifully harmonized with the [illegible] her person. To a meek and quiet [illegible] united good mental capacity, [illegible] modesty, kindness and patience [illegible] Lord in life, and there never was a [illegible] voted wife, surpassing nearly all [illegible] ness of disposition. Cheerful patience [illegible] her character in adversity, while [illegible] ity and love were her chief ornaments [illegible] prosperity. Gentle, amiable and kind [illegible] spirit, Sister Spencer won the confidence [illegible] of all. Her example before her [illegible] was such as to baptize them for good. [illegible] Christian character was beautiful, and [illegible] brightly in the domestic circle. A [illegible] disposition and generous in spirit, she [illegible] home happy. She suffered [illegible] for several [illegible] before her death, but never murmured. [illegible] is true that at times she was sad, [illegible] but not on account of fear, for [illegible] she died she expressed herself as [illegible] fears of death whatever. Her [illegible] of this world, her surroundings [illegible] leave a devoted husband and lovely [illegible] not, however, obscure the vision of [illegible] No, her faith was triumphant, and [illegible] light, joy and peace as she passed up [illegible] the shadows to that mount of vision [illegible] the sun of righteousness arose in [illegible] glory upon her soul. [illegible] A. D.

MILES H. DIXON was born in [illegible] bama, March 17, 1851, and died in [illegible] tochee parish, La., December 7, 1877. He was married to Miss Fannie E. [illegible] November 18, 1875. He professed [illegible] Christ about one year before [illegible] While dying he asked the prayers [illegible] Christian friends around him, and [illegible] his departure. After that he said [illegible] heaven revealed to him. He died [illegible] monia, and his last words were [illegible] God!"

PASTOR A[illegible]

As rivers are generally deepest in winter, when there is comparatively more rain and less evaporation than in summer, so our religious feelings are wont to be deepest in the wintry season of sorrow, being then most fed with the showers of grief granted in answer to earnest prayer, and as also exempted from the exhausting influences of prosperity.

e Christian Advocate.

URSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1878.

GRANDMOTHER.—A PORTRAIT.

BY O. E. S.

face on which the years lie gently,
Softening over as they go,
e a stone is smoothed and brightened
By the river's ceaseless flow.

yes to which fears are no strangers,
For she often fears hath shed er burdens borne by others,
Which she fain would bear instead;

nd her hair is silver woven,
As though light were falling down rom the city she is nearing,
Just foreshadowing the crown.

nd her feet, they ne'er seem weary
When they others' steps can spare; nd her hands are ever busy Lightening others' load of care.

nd her smile, it cometh gently,
Like the moonlight falling clear n some still, acquestered water,
Pure and sparkling, heaven near.

nd her thoughts, they seem too holy,
And her gentle love too pure,
o see crime and guilt in others
Unless, seeing, she can cure.

, dear heart! The toilsome journey
Now is mostly over past;
nd the glimpse of heaven you give us
Will be part of Heaven at last.

Names of Plants.

e English magazine, Nature, ugust 30, has an article on the glish Names of Wild Flowers plants," which contains a great nt of curious information in re- to the origin of the names. We some extracts from the article, r at random. Some of the ex- tions may be thought fanciful, ey are all interesting:

hy names of plants contain the aphy of their origin. The Canry bird is obvious; so is the der rose. The Alexanders, a lant round Taunton, but grow- n great quantities at Blue An- comes from Alexandria; the ot, from Candia; the de- ane, from Campanlo; the med- from Media; the carraway, from the walnut or Welsh nut from orth of Italy, called Welsh by Germans. Peach is Persicus; d; Asclepius; spinach, His- us; the damson rightly spelt mascene, tells its own tale, his less clear in the case of the or Damascene violet, a cor- extended at one period to sted, ten happens, by the Latin abent, matronalis.

first attempts at scientific ological or other, leave a large n of miscellaneous items re- to be ticketed or systema- and there remain a few names under none of the categories h I have cited, yet too interest- to be omitted. Such is apple, ling its form in the Teutonic, ; Sclavonic and Lettish lan- es, and springing, apparently the Sanscrit ap, water, which pears in the Latin pa of Padus, Peto and Pomum, meaning ing the water fruit or juice Such again, is daffodil, the daffodilly of Spenser and other It is a combination of asphod- or asphodel lily, with asphodelus, d English affodilly. With the for alliteration often shown, ocular names, the saffron, blending with the affodilly, he- by a mutual compromise daffa- illy, whence daffodilly and dill. Eyebright is the fox's eglew, inflammation, a ring of bells on an arched support. Carna- ion-coronation, its flowers being as crowns or chaplets, just as ion is champion, gathered to n the champions. In a tourna- t Cross is possibly from cross, its being cruciate; possibly, from ere, to grow, in token of its rapid th. It was used in Chaucer's under the form of kers to ex- any insignificant quantity.

"If paramours be nought be not a kers."

which comes, perhaps, our at phrase, "I do not care a ," though a yet ruder parallel- has since been manufactured to use its spelling and its etymol- Nettle is from ne, to spin, indi- g that its fibers were used for th in early times, an idea borne by Hans Andersen's beautiful of the wild swans, in which you mber that the princess was per- d to redeem her brothers from transformation by weaving shirts of nettles. Shamrock is an Erse word signifying the trefoil.

Tobacco was the Indian name he pipe in which the weed was ed, not of the weed itself; and do belonged at first to a tropical olvulus, and was transferred by ake to the well-known esculent. goose berry was the cross berry, its triple spine, which fre- ly takes the form of a cross. hollyhock is the caudihock, hock an old name for the mallow, hose order it belongs, and cauli, ning cabbage, either from its cabbage-like stalk, or, as in age rose, with reference to its double bloom. The laburnum its petals at night-fall like a laborer, and the ozier is named the oozy beds which suits it th. Pansy is pensey, though', its significance in the language owers: "There's pansy," says ella," that's for thoughts." y scholar will detect in acacia Greek word for gullelessness, in amaranth, with which Milton's hining archangels wreathed brows, the Greek for unfading; e periwinkle the pervinca used and about the head; in lettuce, meaning of milky; in geranium, descriptive name, crane's bill, he plane he will see the Platanus he poets; in the rose the Rhodon omer and the Rosa of Virgil; e sycamore, the wild fig of the , transferred in mediæval mira- ny to the tree which now bears name; in the vine, the onion and o, whose Sanscrit root is still out in our words of twine and twist. He will understand that the basil, which poor simple Isabel plant- ed in the pot which held her murdered lover's head, was the regal plant, used perhaps of old in some royal bath or unguent; that the angelica, which now flavors our soups, and was once a specific against the plague; was given to mankind by angels; that the belladonna was ap- plied as a cosmetic to make ladies beautiful forever; that the cyclamen, which still grows wild in Devon- shire, owes its name to its prominent circular tuber. He will not so readily discover that the tansy of our cottage gardens is the Greek athanasia, im- mortality, administered to Gany- mede that he might become fit for his life in heaven; that nasturtium means nose twister, from its pungent smell; that our Quantock wortle- berry is a corruption of myrtillus, myrtle-berry; that eglantine is acu- lenta, the prickly rose or sweet brier; that lavender, from the Latin lavare, to wash, was in the twelfth century Scotch and northern English for washerwoman, because then, as now, its sweet spikes were laid among fresh linen; that the mushroom is the muscarius or fly bane, because a particular agaricus, pulverized and mixed with milk, was used in south- ern Europe as we now use the poison called "Keating's Insect Powder;" that the narcissus owes nothing to the love-sick youth over whom Ovid sung and Bacon moralized, but is connected with the Greek narkodes, sluggish, a derivative from narke, the torpedo, itself sprung from the Sanscrit nark, hell; cited by Sopho- cles (Œ. I., Col., 682) as crowning the goddesses of Hades; gathered by Proserpine before her wedding tour into the same dark region, because its heavy odor (for by it the ancients meant the hyacinth) blunts the nerves and makes men sleepy and torpid. I can find comparatively few names which we have borrowed from the French.—New York Observer.

Popular Amusements.

In the late Church of England Congress at Croydon, Canon Hoare was called to speak on the subject of the attitude of the church toward public amusements, which he did to the following effect:

We have heard a good deal about theaters and race-courses, and we have been told that we ought to re- form them, but I should like to know how to do it. Of one thing I am thoroughly persuaded, and that is that we shall not succeed in re- forming them by going to them, and therefore, for my own part, I believe it best that we should stay away. I would speak with the utmost respect for the high estimation in which our Archbishops and Bishops are held throughout the country. I believe that their influence, when exercised with discretion, is immense; but I believe if all of them altogether were to go to Epsom, and take their place in front of the grand stand, they would not have the slightest influ- ence in stopping the gambling at the Derby. I cannot doubt, therefore, that it is the safest thing for us who have not the same influence or power to quietly say: "That is not the place for me." We have other work to do—a great work from God—and we cannot leave it for an amuse- ment in which we should be power- less for good. Our work is in our own neighborhood, among our own young men, and our object must be to secure for them Christian happi- ness. In doing this we must en- courage their activity. I like to see a young fellow play well, for good play recreates the mind for good work. I rejoice, therefore, to see my own young men taking the lead in manly exercise, and able to play at cricket, to jump, to swim, and to excel in all vigorous amusements. I am all for activity, and I like to see the young fellows active. It is all nonsense for people to talk about our requiring gloomy faces, and what they call puritanical melancholy. They know nothing about us if they say that of us. We do not want that, and neither we nor our forefathers in the faith have ever promoted it; it is all a mere fiction that certain persons have conjured up in their own minds, who know nothing about what they call puritanical. But we do say this: If anything is associated with im- morality, and we know not how to disentangle the association, or if anything is so associated with world- liness that the very essence of the pleasure is in worldliness, then we do say that we cannot go out of our path to be mixed up either with that which is vicious, or with that which is worldly. We do not want it, we stand aside from it, we protest against it, and we warn our young men against it. I go a step further, and am prepared to say this: If we have reason to believe that our liberty in- volves another person in danger, al- though we think we may go in safety ourselves; if we feel persuaded that others will follow our steps and go there with danger, then we ought to stay away. I will say in conclusion: there is such a thing as renouncing as well as following. It was said that we were not to tell the people to give up their amusements. But are we not taught to tell the people to renounce the world, the flesh and the devil? And while we give a counter attraction, the attraction of our blessed Lord and Savior—the best attraction and the most power- ful attraction in the world—are we not to tell them also that there is such a thing as renouncing the world, and that if they would take their stand boldly with Christ they must come out and be separate from all that is contrary to his will?

An Irish girl, on applying for a situation, was asked by a lady if she was used to early rising. "Arrah!" exclaimed Biddy, "is it airly rising ye wants? Faith, I always gets up, an' has the breakfast ready, and every bed in the house made, before there is a soul in the house awake. An' is that airly enough for ye?" The lady thought it was, but she also thought that making a bed while the person was asleep was a novel experiment, and one which she did not care to try.

The Image of Christ.

The image of Christ, drawn by the pencil of the Spirit, to which Scrip- ture directs our aims, is painted in such colors that it is impossible often to contemplate it without its irresist- ibly affecting the heart. As the bodi- ly eye that has looked long at the sun retains a bright image of it, so the spiritual eye that gazes stead- fastly on the face of Christ is filled with light. We carry this image with us wherever we go, and it blends with all our thoughts and ac- tions. It never ceases to be a study to us, ever growing more bright and beautiful as we gaze upon it, reveal- ing in contrast, more and more, the darkness of our own hearts. I have said it is with us at conversion as it is in spring, when the sun melts the snow in the fields and on the mount- ain-side, but upon the highest peaks and in the deepest valleys patches of it still remain. So the rays of the spiritual sun may penetrate our souls, and still there remain in each heart heights and depths, where yet all is cold and hard. How much must still be melted away, he is first aware, who conscientiously yields himself up to the discipline of Scrip- ture. The longer we contemplate Christ the more do we discover how unlike him we are, how selfishness has penetrated our inmost na- ture, how poor we are in humility, in love. When we enter this school of discipline it does not seem so. This beholding ourselves in the im- age of Christ has the peculiarity that while we more and more discover the darkness in us, upon us, all the while unconscious, it is pouring its light. Paul has expressed this in a particularly rich passage in his let- ter to the Corinthians. He says: "But we all, with open face, beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same im- age, from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." A wonder- fully rich saying, indeed. Just as when we behold ourselves in a me- tallic mirror, he would say, it spreads over us its own effulgence; so we Christians, looking with unveiled face at Christ, as into the mirror of humanity, are adorned with his light, made partakers of his spirit, changed as from glory to glory into the same resplendent image.—Thalack.

TOM MOORE'S COTTAGE.—It is well known that Tom Moore, the poet, passed several months in this coun- try in the years 1803-4. The cottage he occupied in Philadelphia, says a correspondent, is still standing. While temporarily delayed at Bel- mont, and looking out of the window and seeing the gable roof, the soli- tary chimney, and the overhanging willows, I was reminded of a purpose I had for some time entertained of visiting it. Going down a footpath that wound in and around some low one-story buildings, I made my way toward the cottage from the back. There was a small garden—very small—on the north side, tolerably well kept. The house is a small one-story structure, built of rude stones, strongly cemented together. The roof is of the kind known as a gable. The shutters are of stout oak, strongly secured. The old chimney in the center is large and old-fashioned. The whole is in keep- ing with the period of its erection. It fronts on the river, the bank rising some ten or fifteen feet, the roadway lying between it and the water. Op- posite it in the river is a small island, perhaps half an acre in extent, cov- ered with trees and shrubbery. It was in the old cottage, which then stood isolated on the river-bank, that the great Irish poet, Tom Moore, lived in 1803. Only a few years back some of his verses, scrawled in an idle hour, could be seen on the whitewashed walls.—Philadelphia Press.

BILNEY'S CONVERSION.—In Trin- ity College was a Romish student named Thomas Bilney. Like Luther, he carried a burdened mind in a body enfeebled by penances which afforded him no relief. Hearing his friends one day talking about Erasmus' Testament, he felt a strong de- sire to possess it. But it was a pro- hibited book, and when he saw it at first he dared not touch it. It lay before his eyes as yet a hidden power—a fountain sealed, whose liv- ing water he needed to quench the thirst of his soul which was consum- ing his body. Hoping he might find something in it to ease his heavily- burdened mind, he mustered cour- age to purchase it secretly, and then, listening to his room, shut himself in. With a trembling hand he open- ed it, and read, with astonishment: "This is a faithful saying, and wor- thy of all acceptation: that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief." Then laying it down, he exclaimed: "What! Paul the chief of sinners, and yet Paul sure of being saved!" He read it again and again, and broke out in ecstasy of joy: "At last I have heard of Jesus! Jesus Christ, yes, Jesus Christ saves!" And, fall- ing on his knees, he prayed: "O thou who art the truth, give me strength that I may teach it, and convert the ungodly by means of one who has been ungodly himself."

One of Dr. Macknight's parishion- ers, a humorous blacksmith, who thought that his parson's writing of learned books was a sad waste of time, being asked if the doctor was at the manse, answered: "Na, na, he's gane to Edinbro' on a verra use- less job." The doctor had gone off to the printer with his laborious and valuable work, "The Harmony of the Four Gospels." On being asked what this useless work might be which engaged his minister's time and attention, the blacksmith re- plied: "He's gaun to mak' four men agree wha ne'er cast out."

They have an astute citizen in Warren, who, after having heard the church committee discuss whether it was better to have two or three aisles in their new church, broke in with: "Wal, you may talk about your new kinds of lle as much as you're a mind to; but I never yet see any lle or gas that is as good as the old-fashioned lamp lle!"

Religious Intelligence.

—The Scotch Episcopal Bishops have passed resolutions favoring the restauration of the Metropolitan, which was abolished in 1731.

—The Church of Jesus in Mexico now has seventy congregations. The American Church Missionary Society, down to the present has furnished $75,502 to carry on the work of this young church.

—The New York Evangelist says a Bible class meeting of fully one thou- sand persons meets each Sunday afternoon at five o'clock in Association Hall, New York, to be instructed by Dr. W. H. Thompson.

—Whittaker's Protestant Episco- pal Almanac for 1878 reports the fol- lowing statistics: Bishops, 61—in- crease, 2; ministers, 3,216—increase, 45; parishes, 2,903; baptisms, 46,787—increase, 1,756; confirmations, 29,- 179—increase, 2,418; communicants, 281,977—increase, 13,443; contribu- tions, $6,734,268—increase, $95,331. This is the only instance perhaps where a denomination has increased its total of collections during the past year.

—The Catholic Bishop of Van- couver's Island is visiting Alaska, making a long tour through the in- terior, preparatory to the establish- ment of a mission, if it be deemed best. He gives an interesting de- scription of his journey and of the habits of the Indians. He will re- main for awhile at Milato, to de- termine whether that would be a good place to open a mission to the Indians. Milato is on the Yonkon, which is a grand river, 2,000 miles long, 6 miles from its mouth, where it is three miles wide.

—According to the Rock, the Cath- olic party in the Anglican Church proposes the establishment, next spring, of another ecclesiastical or- der, to be known as the "Fraternity of Jesus." The fraternity is to con- sist of three orders. The first will embrace those who live under the vows of holy poverty, celibacy, and holy obedience, and live in the col- lege; the second order consists of those who live under the same vows, but only meet in the college, pursu- ing their secular business, avoid- ing social entertainments; the third order consists of those who observe the vows of obedience and poverty. They may marry and live in their homes, contributing of their means to the objects of the fra- ternity.

—Mr. Barker, of Texas, Western Turkey, writes that he has made of 25 days' traveling about 450 miles. He reports the sufferings of the people as dreadful. Scarcity have been created for the war that very small crops were sown, and many were on the verge of starvation. The "tax collectors" take the last cow, sheep or goat, and even cooking utensils and the last bed, from the poor peasants, and there is no re- lief. At Angora, an Armenian Bishop and congregation some time ago declared themselves Protestants; but Protestantism has gained little. The Bishop has moved religious life, and has been trying to have his epis- copal claims acknowledged; while as to the congregation, many of its members have left off attendance on public worship and live wickedly.

—Aneityum is a small island of the New Hebrides, which is occupied as a mission by the Canada Presby- terians. It has a population of only 1,250, of whom 189 are females. Dur- ing the past year the deaths have greatly exceeded the births, there being 31 of the former and 12 of the latter. Two missionaries divide the island between them, and have al- most Christianized it. Of the whole population 600 are communicants. There are more than a score of schools, and services are maintained at several points. The people are very generous, giving one-tenth of their labor to the mission. On some of the other islands there has been less success. In Nguna, where there has been a small attendance at pub- lic worship, no hearers are now to be found. In the Island of Matase, having a population of 80, a church of 7 members has been formed, and 40 persons attend the services.

MADAGASCAR.—The Rev. E. W. Cousins, a missionary of Madagascar, recently addressed the British and Foreign Bible Society, in which he gives the history of the introduction and triumph of Christianity in that island, and closes his most admirable address as follows: "I was present at the Coronation of the present Queen, Ranavalona the Second. She sat beneath a beautifully-made gilded canopy, and round the canopy were in- scribed the words: 'Glory to God, peace on earth, good will to men.' And just below Queen Ranavalona was placed a small table, upon which was laid a beautifully-bound Bible, the gift of this society to King Ra- dama. About three or four years ago I was present at a large school exam- ination in the capital of Betsileo, about two hundred miles distant from Antananarivo. At the close of the ex- amination the Queen made presents to some of the more diligent scholars, and those presents chiefly consisted of hymn-books and Testaments."

—The Methodist Episcopal mission at Montevideo, Uraguay, is meeting with great success. The building now used by the congregation was formerly a theater; yet such is the interest in the services that it is crowded, and is not large enough really for the Sunday school, which has to be divided, a part meeting in another building. The members of the church are taking steps to secure a larger building. Protestant mis- sions in South America have usually been of slow growth, and have been abandoned in some cases where the attachment of the people to Roman Catholicism has been too strong to be broken by years of earnest labor. In this connection we may notice that the independent mission of the Rev. Emanuel Vanorden, at Rio Grand do Sul, Brazil, recently opened, ap- pears to be in a prosperous condition. He has secured a room and preaches every Sunday, and does an extensive work in the circulation of Bibles and tracts. He publishes also a monthly in English and Portuguese. Of this one of the Brazilian papers makes the rather amusing observation that its tendencies are Ultramontane.

Our Young People.

LOST AND FOUND.

BY CLARA CLAYTON.

A little girl—just "washed up clean"—
The sweetest baby ever seen;
With curls of golden, well-brushed hair
Above her forehead smooth and fair.

'Twas but a moment since I kissed her,
Then from my work I looked and missed her.
Say, have you seen this little maid?
Or know you where she can have strayed?

Ah! who but grandma would have thought
To look in such a hiding spot
For missing baby? Boy see here!
Is this my girl—this bundle queer

Of sugar, flour, molasses, dough?
Pray, which is head and which is toe?
Ah! here's a curl, and here an eye—
But all the rest is blueberry pie.

No, here's a pair of sugared lips,
And here are sticky finger-tips.
Behind this saucepan is a foot,
And so, with comb and sponge and water,
I've sought and found my little daughter.

The Congregationalist.

From Our Little Friends.

NEAR MOUNT STERLING, Jan. 1, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: My grandma and ma have been taking your ex- cellent paper two years, and would not be without it for twice the cost of it. I have been reading the Child's Corner, and wish to answer some of the questions asked in your paper of November 22. Elijah slew the proph- ets of Baal at the brook Kishon; it is found in First Kings xviii, 40. Melchisedek was the first priest. He was a type of Christ. It is found in Genesis xiv, 18. It was Abner who said: "Am I a dog's head?" It is found in Second Samuel iii, 8. "Cu- cumbers" is found in Numbers xi, 5. "Philosophy" in Colossians ii, 8. I will ask one question: Where are the words "Ishi" and "Baali" found, and what do they mean?

Your young friend,

POWELL SMITH.

WILLIAMSBURG, Miss., Dec. 19, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: A friend of mine frequently gives me a copy of your most valuable paper, and the more I read it the better I like it. I especially love the young people's corner, as this is the part most easily understood, and I wish to aid in making it interesting, if I am able. Please tell Henry H. Robson that it was Zaccheus, the chief of the publi- cans, who climbed the tree to see Jesus as he passed. It is found in Luke xix, 1-4. I will ask my little friends: Where did Christ perform his first miracle, and what was it? Wishing you and your paper the most perfect success, I remain

Your little friend,

LUENZY A. GRAVES.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 3, 1877.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years old, and joined the church four years ago. My pa is an itinerant preacher. He has just re- turned from Conference. We have had glorious times in Atlanta this year. I thank you very much, Mr. Editor, for the children's corner in your very excellent paper. I shall do my best to get you one subscriber this year. I want to ask the chil- dren a question: Who met Abraham as he was returning from the slaugh- ter of the kings? I wish you and all the children a happy New Year.

EUGENIA A. HEARN.

[That is right. Send a new sub- scriber. EDITOR.

BIG BLACK RIVER, Miss., Dec. 5, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: My papa takes your paper. I like it very much. I will answer some questions: "Atone- ment" is found in a great many places, too numerous to mention. Hezekiah was sick unto death, and fifteen years were added to his life. Jezebel was the wicked queen that Elijah prophesied should be eaten by dogs. "Cucumber" is found twice in the Bible. Manasseh began to reign at twelve years of age, and reigned fifty-five years. Who smoth- ered his master with a wet cloak and afterward reigned in his stead?

Your friend,

E. E. ROBINSON.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Jan. 3, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am ten years old, and have been attending Sunday school for the last three summers. We have vacation during the cold winter months. We are all glad to have Bro. P. Howard for our preacher again this year. I always read the young people's column in your paper, and try to find the an- swers to the questions asked. The word "holy" is found twice in the forty-seventh chapter of Isaiah. I wish to ask the young people: Who was hung on a gallows he had pre- pared for another?

Your friend,

MATTIE E. LEWIS.

Commander Jamie.

There lived in a Scotch village a very little boy, Jamie by name, who set his heart on being a sailor. His mother loved him very dearly, and the thought of giving him up grieved her exceedingly; but he showed such an anxiety to go and see the distant country which he had read about that she finally consented. As the boy left home the good woman said to him: "Wherever you are, Jamie, whether on sea or land, never forget to acknowledge your God. Promise me that you will kneel down, every night and morning, and say your prayers, no matter whether the sail- ors laugh at you or not."

"Mother, I promise you I will," said Jamie, and soon he was on shipboard, bound for India.

They had a good captain, and as some of the sailors were religious men, no one laughed at the boy when he kneeled down to pray.

On the return voyage things were not quite so pleasant. Some of the sailors having run away, their places were supplied by others, and one of these proved a very bad fellow. When he saw little Jamie kneeling down to say his prayers this wicked sailor went up to him, and, giving a sound box on the ear, said in a very decided tone: "None of that here, sir."

Another seaman who saw this, al- though he swore sometimes, was in- dignant that the child should be so cruelly treated, and told the bully to come up on deck and he would give him a thrashing. The challenge was accepted, and the well deserved beat- ing was duly bestowed. Both then returned to the cabin, and the swear- ing man said: "Now, Jamie, say your prayers, and if he dares to touch you I will give him another dressing."

The next night the devil tempted Jamie to do a very foolish thing. He does not like to have any one say his prayers, or do right in any way, so he put it into the little boy's mind that it was quite unnecessary for him to be creating such a disturb- ance in the ship, when it could be easily avoided; if he would only say his prayers quietly in his hammock, so that nobody would observe it. Now see how little he gained by this cowardly proceeding. The moment that the friendly sailor saw Jamie get into the hammock without first kneeling down to pray he hurried to the spot, and, dragging him out by the neck, he said:

"Kneel down at once, sir! Do you think I am going to fight for you, and you not say your prayers, you rascal?"

During the whole voyage back to London this reckless, profane sailor watched over the boy as if he had been his father, and every night saw that he kneeled down and said his prayers. Jamie soon began to be in- dustrious, and during his spare time studied his books. He learned all about ropes and rigging, and, when he became old enough, about taking latitude and longitude.

Several years ago the largest steam- er ever built, called the Great East- ern, was launched on the ocean, and carried the famous cable across the Atlantic. A very reliable, experi- enced captain was chosen for this important undertaking, and who should it be but little Jamie, of whom I have been telling you. When the Great Eastern returned to England, after this successful voy- age, Queen Victoria bestowed on him the honor of Knighthood, and the world now knows him as Sir James Anderson.

A Generous Deed.

A French surgeon in the late war between France and Germany tells of a soldier who did not believe in "looking out for number one."

On the eighth of October the chlo- roform began to give out at Metz. A few local druggists had tried to make it, but the product was not fit for use, and the real article was scarce. At the temporary hospital of the re- doubt, where I was on duty, we had very little left. As we did not know how long the siege might yet last, it was our urgent duty to be sparing with it. On the mornings after the fight at Ladonchamps there was a terrible influx of wounded, and we had our hands full.

A chasseur of the guard is brought into the operating-room, with his hand badly shattered. It is found necessary to take off the bone to which the little finger is attached. The man comes in on foot, still hold- ing fast his gun, which he carries slung over his back.

"Well, my good friend, we shall have to have a bit of an operation."

"I know it, major; that's what I'm here for."

"Would you like to be made in- sensible?"

"O dear, yes! I've suffered so much all night that I don't think I could stand it."

"Are you very particular about it?"

"Why, is it very scarce now—that stuff that puts you to sleep?"

"We have scarcely any left."

The chasseur reflected a moment in silence, then suddenly said:

"Well, keep it for those who have lost legs or arms; but be quick."

He put his poor, blue cravat, still bloody, in his mouth, lay down and held out his hand.

The operation over:

"Did it hurt you much?"

"Yes; but what can you do? We poor fellows must help one another."

Yes; that is it. Let us help one another. "Look out for number one," cries selfishness. "Love one another," says God.

The Christian must stand in a posture to receive every message which God shall send, whether it be by his word spoken through the preacher, or any other. He must be so prepared as to be like one who is called to set out on a sudden journey, and has nothing to do but to set out at a moment's notice; or like a mer- chant who has goods to send abroad, and has them all packed up and in readiness for the first sail.—R. Cecil.

During a recent thunder-storm near Memphis, Tenn., a negro was severely kicked by a vicious mule, and just as he was picking himself up a stroke of lightning hit the mule and killed him on the spot. "Well, dar!" exclaimed the negro, "I 'spect dis chile hain't got powerful friends to 'venge his insults, den dere's no use tryin' to hab faith in anything."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE:
REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Melody in the Heart.

The heart may be out of tune even more than a cabinet organ—even more than the voice. There is in it the discord of conflicting passions. The life is not in accord with the conscience, and there is not harmony in our relations with others. The greatest of all discords is between the soul and God. The cares of the world fill us, and there is no spirit of praise. "How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?" How, indeed, if we are far from God, and in a state of estrangement from the comfort of the Holy Spirit? It is well to attend to the instrument, to cultivate the voice, and to master the science of music. Both in the Old Testament and in the New we are commanded to sing. Singing stands upon the same authority as praying. One may be more vitally important than the other, but by precept and by example both are enjoined. Everybody can pray, even vocally and in public, but some may not be able to sing. Some! With proper convictions in reference to it as a duty, the most can. Conscientious study and practice will enable nearly all to assist in congregational singing, and also to hum a tune in private when the spirit of praise and rejoicing is in us. But we can, without exception, make melody in the heart unto the Lord. This depends largely on the spiritual state, and the condition is very much under our own control. A dumb person may sing, and this is one of the miracles, literal as well as metaphorical, which an ancient seer predicted.

Paul and Silas, in prison, with their feet in the cruel stocks, and at midnight, sang praises to God. The song may have been from the Psalms, or it may have been improvised from the fullness of hearts filled with the love of Jesus. We can hardly think of Paul as having much melody of voice. He probably carried the bass with many a jar and crack, while Silas, with more sweetness and strength, sang the air, sending the music through all the corridors and cells of the jail, so that the prisoners heard. What was in the heart could not be repressed, and the singing, under such circumstances, fell upon the ears of the criminals as something bordering upon the supernatural. It may have had as much to do with the awakening of the jailer as did the earthquake. Martyrs have sung on their way to execution, and in the flames. Dying saints have breathed their life out in song. The melody of the heart rises superior to outward conditions, and reaches its sweetest and purest notes amidst the severest trials of faith and fortitude.

We do not from hence conclude that the inward melody always finds utterance; only that it often does, in spite of the most untoward circumstances, and that it may and should exist in all Christian hearts. The heart as inevitably sings under the breathings of the Spirit as do the Æolian strings when swept by the evening breeze. The chords are tuned by the divine hand, and they respond to the touches of the infinite love.

While we are enjoined to sing with grace in the heart, and to sing with the spirit and the understanding, may we not comfort those who cannot utter themselves musically by supposing that some of the most perfect psalms and hymns and spiritual songs have vibrated in believing souls, without ever having reached the grosser birth of vocal expression? Is not this the perfect melody, and the only perfect? Words are inadequate, voice and ear and science are necessarily defective; but the voiceless music of a pure heart may be without a flaw. Angels may catch some of its strains, but only the ear of God takes in every note. It is said that we must sing here if we expect to sing in heaven. This opens a poor prospect to those of us who never can turn a tune, and almost forces us to withdraw our approbation from those who are silent because they respect the feelings of their fellow-worshipers. But is not the probationary aspect of music chiefly that of the heart? However well we may sing, we shall not be the fitter for heaven on that account, unless we have learned to sing with grace and to make melody in the heart. Better be in heaven without a tongue than to be there with no capacity for this higher music of the soul. As God regards the matter, there is more real melody in a silent Quaker meeting than in the professional quartette of a fashionable church. In the heavenly atmosphere our merely vocal attainments here would be the veriest discord. The medium of vibrations there may be such that the heart diffuses melody as flowers give out fragrance. What the bird with frenzied effort tries to sing, the flower is. The song of heaven is the music of holy hearts. And may it not be that the song that, for lack of suitable organs, has been shut up through all this mortal life will burst forth as a prisoner from his long and weary confinement? Or, as the sweet odors spring forth from the broken vase, so may it not be with the soul when the earthly tabernacle is dissolved? At any rate, those who can sing must not be too severe on those who cannot. In this, as in other things, the first may be last and the last first.

As a matter of religion and of worship singing must be with grace in the heart. It is a dead and offensive thing unless the spirit go along with the understanding. In our singing we must make melody in our hearts unto the Lord. The main thing is the state of the heart. We need better singing than we have, and nine-tenths of religious people are culpable because of their personal indifference on the subject; but probably the greater and almost universal guilt is that our hearts are not filled with praise. It is a part of worship both as sacred and as spiritual as prayer, and yet many have come to regard it as an artistic entertainment belonging more to the region of æsthetics than to the domain of piety and devotion. The well-tuned heart is an important preparation for the service of song, giving it that unction which it needs quite as much as the prayer or the sermon. And we believe that where there is melody in the heart, the worthiest expression will be studied, sought and attained. Praise in itself is comely, and it will seek to array itself in comely utterance. The spiritual soul will love spiritual songs, and the pure heart will hate discordant notes as it hates unhallowed desire and unholy tempers. The heart and the voice—let them be cultivated together. They will act and react, and the harmonies of the outward expression and of the inner feeling will be blended in a worship that is adorned with the beauty of holiness.

What He Did Say.

Much ado has been made about Canon Farrar's sermon on Eternal Punishment. His views are radical enough, but it is not unlikely that he has been misunderstood.

He protests against the popular notions of hell—of the Roman Catholics on the one hand, and of the Nonconformists on the other, and as exhibited in the writings of Dante and Milton, and against such conceptions as those uttered by Jeremy Taylor. He says: "I know nothing so calculated to make the whole soul revolt with loathing from every doctrine of religion as the easy complacency with which some cheerfully accept the belief that they are living and moving in the midst of millions doomed irreversibly to everlasting perdition. Augustine dared to say that infants dying unbaptized would certainly be damned, though only with evissime damnatio." And again: "Thomas Aquinas lent his saintly name to the abominable fancy that the bliss of the saved may be more keen because they are permitted to gaze on the punishment of the wicked; and another writer talks of God as holding up the wicked in hell with one hand, and tormenting them with the other." In the same connection he declares: "Here, amid the silent memorials of the men of fame, and the fathers who begat us, of whom many, though not saints, were yet noble though erring men; and whom, though they and we alike shall certainly suffer, and suffer bitterly, both here and hereafter, the penalty of unrepented sin, we cannot and will not think of as condemned to unutterable tortures by irreversible decrees."

From these extracts it is evident that Canon Farrar's ideas of eternal punishment, as generally held, are somehow connected with the doctrine of "irreversible decrees," and that millions of living men are "irreversibly doomed to everlasting perdition." But the doctrine of eternal punishment is held by those who do not believe that the doom of living men is sealed by irreversible decrees. It is easy to see that his difficulties flow from a theology which is by no means generally accepted by the Christian world, and that he sets up travesties of the doctrine of future punishment as the views which are now current in the church.

The only attempt at criticism in the sermon is to declare that damnation means condemnation, that aionios—translated everlasting—in its first sense means age-long, and that hell means not a material and everlasting fire, but an intermediate, a metaphorical and a terminable retribution. And he opens this critical passage with these very modest words: "Yet I say unhesitatingly—I say claiming the fullest right to speak with the authority of knowledge." And it is Canon Farrar's ipse dixit throughout—there is not the shadow of learned and acute criticism, nor of real argument in any part of the sermon.

The text is: "For this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead."—First Peter iv, 6. This passage is not critically examined, but we suppose it is assumed by the preacher that it means that the gospel was preached to the dead in hell; not to living men dead in sins, as Macknight and others explain. He says he "cannot preach the certainty of what is called Universalism." He believes there is a probation after death—a probation of suffering—but he declines to dogmatize on the point whether all shall finally be saved. We quote his concluding words:

> I care but little for individual authority in such matters; but thus much is proved at least by these different theories of wise and holy men: that God has given us no clear and decisive revelation on the final condition of those who have died in sin. It is revealed to us that God is love, and that to know him is life eternal, and that it is not his will that any should perish; and that "as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive;" but how long, even after death, man may continue to resist his will, how long he may continue in that spiritual death which is alienation from God, that is one of the secret things which God has not revealed. But this much, at any rate, that the fate of man is not finally and irreversibly and necessarily sealed at death, you yourselves—unwittingly, perhaps, but none the less certainly—admit and declare and confess every time you repeat the Apostles' Creed; for there you say that Christ descended into hell; and the solo passage which proves that article of the creed is the passage in which St. Peter tells us that Christ went and preached to the spirits in prison who sometimes were disobedient. St. Peter tells you in so many words, in the passage which I have chosen for my text, that the gospel was preached to them that are dead; and if, as the church in every age has held, the fate of those dead sinners was not irrevocably fixed by death, then it must be clear and obvious to the very meanest understanding that neither of necessity is ours.
>
> There, then, my brethren, is the sole answer which I can give you to your question: What about the lost? My belief is fixed upon that living God who is the Savior of all men. My answer is, with Thomas Erskine, of Linalhan, that we are lost here as much as there, and that Christ came to seek and to save the lost; and my hope is that the vast majority of the lost will at length be found. If any hardened sinner here, shamefully loving his sin and despising the long suffering of his Savior, trifle with that doctrine, it is at his own deep and awful peril. But if, on the other hand, there should be souls among you (and are there not?)—souls very sinful, indeed, but yet not hardened in sin—souls that feel, indeed, that ever amid their failing they long and pray and love and agonize, and strive to creep nearer to the light, then to you I say: Have faith in God. There is hope for you—hope for you even if death overtake you before the final victory is won; hope for the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven; hope for the mourners, for they shall be comforted; though you too, if you should continue in sin, may have to be purified in that gehenna of fire beyond the grave. Yes, my brethren, "say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him, for they shall eat the fruit of their doings. Woe unto the wicked! it shall be ill with him; for the reward of his hands shall be given him." But say also, as Christ's own apostles said, that there shall be a restitution of all things, that God willeth not that any should perish, that Christ both died and rose and revived that he might be the Lord both of the dead and of the living; that as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive; and that the day shall come when all things shall be subdued unto him, that God may be all in all.

We confess that the sermon disappoints us. We expected nothing very strong, nothing very profound, but we did look for a fair treatment of the subject, a just representation of the views and arguments on the other side, and at least an earnest attempt to explain those passages of Scripture which he only says are not conclusive.

City of Mexico Mission.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Missions, held at the mission-room, January 9, 1878, the Rev. W. M. Patterson, the newly appointed missionary to the city of Mexico, was present, and after a free and full conversation with him, the board adopted the following, offered by Dr. Kelley:

"We are gratified to have received a visit from the Rev. William M. Patterson, recently appointed superintendent of our mission in the city of Mexico; we desire to assure him of our full confidence in him, and of our sympathy with the work he has, in God's providence, undertaken; therefore,

"Resolved, That we heartily approve of his appointment to the work, and pledge him our moral as well as our material support in his deeply important field of labor.

"Resolved, That as this is the only point in any of our foreign fields which we occupy in common with any other form of Methodism, it is our earnest hope that he will be able so to arrange his work that our mission and that of the Methodist Episcopal Church will not appear as antagonistic forces, purposing, as far as lieth in us, to avoid all strife."

F. D. Villegas, a Mexican preacher who has been at the Vanderbilt about two years, is to accompany Bro. Patterson. The following was adopted: "In view of the early departure of the Rev. F. D. Villegas, we recommend a farewell missionary meeting, to be held in the chapel of the Vanderbilt University on Sunday, the thirteenth instant, at half-past three P. M." The president and secretaries were charged with the arrangement for the meeting.

The secretary, Dr. McFerrin, was requested to represent the board at a farewell meeting, should one be held in Memphis, on Sunday, January 20, on the occasion of the setting out of the Rev. William M. Patterson for the city of Mexico.

J. B. MCFERRIN, Sec.

MR. EDITOR: Bro. Patterson and family and Bro. Villegas will, as you have been apprised, leave this port presently for the city of Mexico. After a year's prayer and observation I believe that we have the right man for this important post left vacant now ever since Bro. Daves' return. The appointment of Dr. Wright, a year ago, as superintendent of the mission was providentially frustrated the day before his Conference adjourned. Meanwhile, though our schools and mission in Mexico during the past two years have held their own, yet there were other causes which seriously interfered with any advance movement in the work. Now things are quieted, and under the excellent and liberal government of President Diaz are more hopeful for the spread of civil and religious freedom than ever. The education of our Spanish preachers in the knowledge of our Methodism and of our language is another point of departure which promises much. We are in advance of all the other churches in this—the training of native missionaries at our universities. We may hope and expect that God will greatly bless this labor of love by abundant fruit at the heart of the great Mexican republic.

On the Texan border our success among the Mexicans has been something marvelous. We hope soon to see something of the same spiritual power in the city of Mexico. Let us pray for it.

The monthly Missionary Board at Nashville, as you will see from the above resolution, gave Bro. Patterson the right hand of fellowship and some very patriarchal advice by way of an outfit. It reminds one of Joseph dismissing his brethren; with their sacks stuffed full and wagon-loads of good things, the advice was added: "See that ye fall not out by the way." What particular need Bro. Patterson had for the second resolution I am at a loss to know, unless it was to advertise him that the Methodist Episcopal Church had a mission in the city of Mexico which it was our duty to foster as well as our own. If that were the point, it is an ebullition of fraternal regard which I am sure Dr. Butler will duly appreciate. But the doctor is of all men well able to take care of his own work. He is the best representative of the interests of his own church, I venture to say, on this continent, both aggressively and in defense. He has great energy, and a heart that could take in all Mexico—Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Southern Methodists, all. If he had the money he would place himself side by side of every mission work in that promising field. He leaves no stone unturned. If needful he will visit Nashville and suggest the true policy for our society.

It has been gravely proposed more than once that we can take the border, and the Methodist Episcopal Church the city of Mexico. That would please the doctor immensely, and still more so if we would also withdraw wholly from the entire republic.

To give up a field upon the appearance in it of our country cousins will be to give up all our German mission work in Texas, and all elsewhere; for they expect sooner or later to go everywhere in Brazil, China, Central America, as well as Mexico.

The presence of the Methodist Episcopal Church in a mission-field is to us no more than the presence of Baptists, Presbyterians or Episcopalians. Each of these missions is in fact a help to the other; for there is room enough for every branch of the church of Christ; and behind each one is the supporting column of the church at home. The city of Mexico, besides being the headquarters of every important movement in the State, is a large city, and we might as well yield New Orleans to one church as that field. So, too, the large cities of Leon, Guanahuata, Guadalahara and Puebla. Dr. Riley occupied many of these places first, which have since become points of missionary enterprise for the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist Episcopal Churches.

We were the first to buy a church in the city of Mexico, next after Dr. Riley. Then presently Bishop Haven bought a church and premises, whose walls touch those of the San Francisco chapel of the Episcopalians.

The field there is as large for our flocks as could be desired, and there can be no need of such resolutions as this second one, which suggests much latent mischief, not in its intent, but content. We need no more have strife than Abraham and Lot, simply because we all have abundant room. But the recent exposé of the actual workings of fraternity at home may well apologize for any undue sensitiveness upon my part to this action of our board.

Yours truly,

J. C. KEENER.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24, 1878.

Abraham.

In the history of individuals Abraham holds the most exalted place, for he was the "friend of God." In the history of redemption, of all men, his place is the most significant, for he was explicitly told that the Redeemer should spring from him. In the history of providence he holds the most desirable place, for God said to him: "I am thy shield!" In the history of prayer he holds the most wonderful place, for no one pleaded face to face with the Almighty as he did. In the history of obedience he towers above all other servants of the Lord. In the history of faith he holds the most illustrious place, for the "father of the faithful" is the brightest example of faith the world has yet had. The most remarkable man in all history is Abraham. When seventy-five years of age God called him away from his country and kindred, and gave him the grandest promise a man ever got. The Lord said to him: "I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee and make thy name great, and thou shalt be a blessing, and I will bless them that bless thee and curse him that curseth thee; and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed." Here was a promise of temporal prosperity and spiritual blessings such as had been promised to none other. The temporal blessing was that he should be blessed himself, and become the founder of a great nation. How remarkably was this promise fulfilled. As to his personal blessing, we are told that "Abraham was very rich in cattle, in silver and in gold." As to his descendants, they have been and still are innumerable; and the fact that the race-characteristics are preserved unimpaired in his posterity of to-day shows how large and how deep and how abiding was the blessing bestowed upon the father. The impress this blessing of God made upon the character and physical organization of Abraham is seen in the fact that while other peoples and nations rise and grow, and pass away into utter extinction, his posterity passes through the nations unmingled with them, and down the centuries unchanged by their changes. They are as distinct a type of humanity to-day as they were in the days of the magnificent Solomon! The blessing pronounced nearly four thousand years ago is still at work. The history of Abraham's descendants is not yet ended. Those descendants are still reaping the fruits of the blessing given to their father. Pressure of times and circumstances, and persecutions of men do not prevent the steady outflow of the beneficent results of the promise given. In this respect his name is held in honor by Jew, Mohammedan and Christian.

The spiritual blessing was that he "should be the chosen ancestor of the Redeemer, and thereby become the means of blessing all the families of the earth." Though he was great as a man, and the progenitor of a great and numberless posterity, yet his individual and national character does not constitute his most remarkable distinction. It is his spiritual character that marks him as the most eminent man of our race. The Apostle Paul gives us to understand that wherever the spiritual character of Abraham is "reproduced in" of his posterity, or through their instrumentality in any belonging to the other nations of the world, they are the true children of Abraham. Then "Abraham's place and significance in the history of the world of redemption is rightly apprehended only as he is recognized as the father of the faithful." How wonderful has been the fulfillment of this promise. Who can count the number of this spiritual seed—the children of faith? God is still mindful of his covenant he made with his servant for every day and every hour children are being born unto Abraham. This man, then, to whom God said "I will make thee great," is great in two respects—great as the progenitor of a race as numberless as the sands, great as the ancestor of a spiritual seed who shall shine as the stars forever. He whom God makes great is great indeed! All other greatness is but littleness. And when all the generations of men have passed away, and the trumpet shall sound to awake the dead, no greater name will come forth than he who came out of the "cave of Machpelah before Mamre."

C. W.

The following note from Rev. C. G. Andrews brings us the sad intelligence of the death of his mother. Venerable in years and ripe in grace she has passed within the portals of the heavenly city. We tender our sincere sympathies to Dr. Andrews and all the bereaved ones.

MY DEAR BRO. PARKER: On Monday, January 14, I was summoned to Jackson, Miss., by the telegram: "Your mother died this morning." Although I knew her health was very poor, and although I had been trying to prepare myself for her death, yet oh! how crushing was the announcement! I hastened to Jackson and got there in time to look upon her face once more before it was placed under the sod. She looked so natural and so peaceful I had no doubt of her safety; my sorrow was not for her; but as I bowed beside her silent body my despairing was the consciousness that I never could do anything more for her comfort, and how keen were the regrets that I had not been more studious of her well-being in the world! She loved me with all her soul, and would have made any sacrifice for me. She died very peacefully and without any pain, breathing less and less frequently until she finally ceased. I feel deeply chastened by her death, and realize that I am drawn nearer to heaven and impressed more earnestly with the desire to be always ready for every good word and work. A suitable memoir will be sent you in a short time.

C. G. ANDREWS.

JACKSON, LA., Jan. 19, 1878.

Rev. Osborn L. Smith, D. D., died suddenly at Oxford, Ga., on the twenty-fourth of January. The Southern Christian Advocate says:

Dr. Smith was one whose loss will be deeply felt by the church, and whose death creates vacancies which will not be easily filled. With pre-qualifications of a high order, he was peculiarly, we might say pre-eminently, gifted by natural endowments and scholastic culture for the educational and religious training of youth; so that his life-work has been, at the mandate of the church, divided between the pastorate and the professor's chair. In each position he acquitted himself with unimpeachable fidelity, and whether in the pulpit or the lecture-room, his work demonstrated him "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed." The social qualities of our now glorified brother were of the most engaging type, and drew to him a host of devoted friends. We doubt if there is a minister in Georgia whose death would bring the sorrow of personal bereavement to a greater number of hearts. With a genial disposition, a warm, loving, generous heart, a subtle mind and fluent tongue, and an inexhaustible store of rich, pellucid humor, his attractiveness was not long in transforming casual acquaintances into life-long friends. Whoever he was personally known the shadow of a deep sorrow will come with the announcement of his death. He has fallen midway in the meridian of life, ere yet he had reached the zenith of his strength.

Sunday, the twentieth of January, was Mexican mission Sunday in Memphis. There was a farewell service at the First church at night, which addresses were made by Bishop McTyeire, Dr. McFerrin, the superintendent of our Mexican mission, Rev. W. M. Patterson, and the young native Mexican preacher, Rev. F. D. Villegas. Two hundred dollars were raised.

There is to be a farewell service and missionary meeting at the Carondelet Street church in New Orleans on Thursday night, January 31; at which Bro. Patterson, Bishop Keener and others will deliver addresses on our mission work in Mexico. Bishop Keener, Bro. Patterson and family and Bro. Villegas expect to leave on Friday morning, February 1, by steamship for Vera Cruz and the city of Mexico.

The able sermon of Prof. Lewis on Christian Education, delivered before the Alabama Conference, at the late session in Montgomery, will be found on our second page. It will well repay careful perusal.

"With You Without Fear."

For he worketh the work of the d, as I also do," reveals one rce of Timotheus' fear. They urally preferred Paul, the instrunt of their conversion, and the n of power. They knew him, y loved him. They had confi-ce in his integrity. The necessi-of the work requiring a change, e it hard for the younger, less ex-enced Timotheus to follow Paul.
way is prepared by this unself-man of God. "Now if Timotheus e, see that he may be with you thout fear." Paul hardly intended express a doubt of his coming, otheus had evidently been ap-ted to visit and work with them.
this as it may, they were to see he was with them without fear.
ides the one alluded to above, he ld be subject to fears from other ces. Paul's counsel was timely.
as well calculated to harmonize differences, and strengthen the ts of the young preacher. This sel has lost none of its timeliby great age or long use. It is ly to-day. It may be said to the ches: "Now if Timotheus come, that he may be with you without
."

e of the common fears of the stry—to the humble, modest her—is that of unacceptability.
icularly is this the case if he fola popular, strong man. In odist economy the man is sent.
oes not send himself. The fear unacceptability may be in a large ure done away with by the ner of his reception. It is a ge sort of religion in the mem-and a stranger sort of love for church, for him to meet the her with a hard, steel-like look, ungracious, critical scrutiny. He ide to feel that half his year's is to be given to the work of g to his brother. He ought to an open, warm, heart—a sun-
, smiling face—and all fears on core of unacceptability at once pear.

other fear is relative to success.
natural for him to dwell upon oint. "Will I succeed? Will I a good meeting this year? Will he many souls saved? The h can in a large measure see he is without fear in this re, for he is assured of success in as the church is alive to God.
e each member is doing full living right in all things, suc-as certain as time lasts. A live h makes a live preacher. A church kills preacher, people ill.

other fear common to preachers
s to temporal things. They , indeed, to get up on a higher
, and live a life of trust in God.
they are but men, after all.
have fears. The meat and question comes up—it will not
. The church is to see that hem be without fear. Provide ally, especially in the beginning e year. If real, honest inutility
, let it be known in the end;
the beginning of the year.
the preacher a good start. There uch in this. The chances are he will pick up momentum gh to carry him through before discover that people won't sup-him. "Now if Timotheus come,
that he may be with you without ." Your men and women of God ghout the land can do this.
reception—warm-hearted, enging reception of the preacher—lively faith in God and love to —your open purse and storees—can dissipate all fears, and him to work, fully and strongly,
e week after his coming.

All you do it! If you do not, for a moment of the sad re-
. You crush the preacher—his heart. You act unjustly od as well as to man. You rob of his reward. Men and women would have been saved are lost.
mourns, Jesus weeps, the Spirit nished. You can drive away the cher's fears, give him strength joy, and save the church. Will do it? Timotheus has come.
that he is "with you without
."

Wesleyan Missions, 1877.

e Wesleyan Church is one of est efficient missionary bodies e world. In Germany it comwith American Methodism, has 22 missionaries and assistant onaries, 2,358 members, and attendants on public worship.
aly it has surpassed us, and has ssionaries and native ministers, members, and 2,073 attendants.
Wesleyan missions in Switzer-
France and Corsica report: 18 els and other preaching-places,
members, and 9,800 attendants.
ndia the Madras, Mysore and tta districts have 75 chapels other preaching-places, 40 misaries and assistant missionaries,
members, and 2,330 attendants.
a has 565 attendants on public
hip. South Africa has 1,178
els and other preaching-places,
inisters and assistant ministers,
ocal preachers, 16,555 members,
20,748 attendants on public wor-
Western Africa has 253 chap-nd other preaching-places, and 19,180 attendants on public worship. West Indies has 492 chapels and other preaching-places, 99 missionaries and assistant missionaries, 43,920 members, 149,582 attendants. The Conferences of Australasia and Polynesia, New South Wales and Queensland have 680 chapels and other preaching-places, 99 ministers, 49,326 attendants on public worship. Victoria and Tasmania: 686 chapels and other preaching-places, 105 ministers, 89,503 attendants on public worship. South and Western Australia: 317 chapels and other preaching-places, 35,499 attendants on public worship. New Zealand: 319 chapels and other preaching-places, 27,988 attendants on public worship. Friendly Islands, Samoa, Fiji and New Britain: 1,140 chapels and other preaching-places, 18 missionaries, 74 native ministers and assistant missionaries, 3,176 day school teachers, 3,989 Sabbath school teachers, 2,037 local preachers, 27,512 members, 116,883 attendants on public worship.

During the year 47 missionaries have been sent out. In the home and the foreign field there are 617 circuits, 6,260 chapels and other preaching-places, 851 ministers and assistant missionaries, and 5,870 other paid agents, such as catechists, interpreters and day school teachers. There are 24,612 unpaid agents, such as Sabbath school teachers, and 209,998 scholars. The membership numbers 141,286, with 19,707 on trial. The income of the Missionary Society for 1877 was $731,170 for the home and foreign field. The figures should be studied.—Western Christian Advocate.

Books and Periodicals.

A SUMMER VACATION ABROAD.—Thoughts and Sketches Abroad in the Summer of 1877. By James B. Converse, editor of the Christian Observer. Illustrated. 12mo, pp. 201; price $1.50. Published by Converse & Co., Louisville, Ky. Sent, postpaid, by the publishers, on receipt of price.

As the author says, the book is not a mere record of travel. "It does not inflict upon the reader a diary of the writer's experience, but gives results rather than the means by which they were reached." Mr. Converse has really given us a most delightful and instructive volume—one that will be read with interest and profit by all who can enjoy good writing, and sound and intelligent thinking. We are under obligations to the author for a pleasing and instructive book.

HINTS ON BIBLE READINGS, WITH A COLLECTION OF READINGS FROM VARIOUS SOURCES. By Rev. John C. Hill, New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co.

This is a valuable work for pastors and others who wish for instruction and suggestions on the preparation and manner of conducting Bible readings. There are twenty-eight readings given. The publishers will send the work, postpaid, on receipt of the price ($1.)

—The Complete Preacher for January, and William the Baptist, an excellent work on baptism, are for sale by D. L. Mitchell, Presbyterian Book Depository, No. 27 Camp street, New Orleans. We have heretofore noticed both of these publications. The Complete Preacher for January has the sermons of Mr. Beecher and Canon Farrar on future punishment.

—We have received the minutes of the eighty-third session of the Virginia Annual Conference. They are edited and published for the Conference by Rev. P. A. Peterson. They are the handsomest and most complete of any minutes we have seen. We can suggest no improvement except that an Index would be a convenience for purposes of reference.

—We are indebted to the obliging secretary, Rev. R. B. Crawford, for a copy of the minutes of the recent session of the Alabama Conference. They are handsomely gotten up, and appear to be accurate and full. We shall quote some items for our next issue.

—Wide Awake for February is a very beautiful and entertaining number of this splendid child's magazine.

—The Southern Musical Journal for January has been received.

Read This.

In a letter from Bro. J. J. Ransom, our missionary in Brazil, bearing date December 10, he says of Jaco Correa, a converted Brazilian he found in the service of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Uruguay, and who was transferred to our church, and is now employed as Bible agent by the American Bible Society: "He is pious, zealous—needs training. Since returning with me to this empire he has been in constant correspondence with me. He is doing a good work as Bible agent, and is pursuing a course of study under my direction. I think he promises well. Your present letter distresses me (I had written that we could not make provision for him before the annual meeting of the board in May.) The present position which he occupies is to be vacated in January or February. What to do then I do not know; am by no means disposed to send him back to Uruguay." Who will place in the hands of the board $400 to be used in employing this man from now until June? This is a new mission, and such exigencies are often found in new work, which have not been and cannot be provided for beforehand. Shall we put this man, whom God has converted, to work among his own people, or shall he return to the Methodist Episcopal Church mission in Uruguay?

D. C. KELLEY, Ass't Sec.

A Knight of the Bath—Saturday night.—Puck.

The Wife of William Wirt.

The Presbyterian Herald, of 1857, in noticing the then recent death of Mrs. William Wirt, the wife of the eminent lawyer, gives the following story of his reform from inebriate habits. The story is republished at the request of a gentleman in Danville, Ky.

There is an anecdote related of the early life of this couple, which is in itself very beautiful, and exhibits in a pleasing light one of the noblest traits of a true woman. In his youth Wirt was addicted to intemperance, and passed whole days and nights in the society of the low and degraded. His passion for drink was constant, and the remonstrances of friends, as well as the promptings of a high and generous nature, were disregarded. He had offered himself to this lady, but she was forced to reject his suit because of his great intemperance. This refusal, no doubt, served only to increase the intensity of his appetite, and he continued to sink in the scale of humanity, without making an effort to regain his manhood, until one day, becoming grossly intoxicated, he lay down by the roadside and fell asleep. The sun was burning hot, and its scorching rays fell upon his upturned face. The object of Wirt's affections happening to pass by, observed his precarious situation, in view of the hot sun falling directly upon him, and, actuated by a feeling of sympathy for the unfortunate—to which woman's heart is so keenly and truly alive—she alighted from her carriage and placed her handkerchief over his face to protect him from the hot sun. It may be remarked that when she alighted she did not recognize him so altered and distorted were his features. She drove on, and it was several hours ere Wirt awoke. When he did so, what was his astonishment at beholding the handkerchief of a lady placed over his face, and, divining its object, picked it up, and observed, neatly worked in one corner, the initials of his idol. Remorse and contrition seized him. He reformed, and became once more an honored member of society. Afterward they were married, and enjoyed long years of peace and happiness in the affection and society of each other.

As the rays come from the sun and yet are not the sun, even so our love and pity, though they are not God, but merely a poor, weak image and reflection of him, yet from him alone they come. If there is mercy in our hearts, it comes from the fountain of mercy. If there is the light of love in us, it is a ray from the full sun of love.—Charles Kingsley.

The professor, addressing with a triumphant air his audience at the end of the lecture, exclaimed: "It seems to me that a demonstration like this is worth something." "Let's git out," said an economical backwoodsman to his son; "they are gwine to take up a collection."

A true Knight is fuller of gay bravery in the midst than in the beginning of danger.—Sir P. Sidney.

No man preaches his sermon well to others if he does not first preach it to his own heart.—John Owen.

MARRIED.

ELDRIDGE—WATKINS.—At the residence of Mr. H. W. Barton, December 27, 1877, by Rev. John W. Hall, Mr. J. H. Eldridge to Miss M. O. Watkins, all of Leake county, Miss.

HALL, MONTGOMERY.—At the residence of the bride's mother, January —, 1878, by the same, Rev. Joseph W. Hall to Miss Mary Montgomery.

SCOTT, ROLLINS.—At the residence of Mr. R. M. Rollins, the father of the bride, January 10, 1878, by the same, Mr. James M. Scott to Miss Rowena Rollins.

MONTGOMERY, HALL.—At the residence of the bride's father, January —, 1878, by the same, Mr. W. D. Montgomery to Miss Julia T. Hall.

WILLIAMS, COWING.—At the Methodist church in Biloxi, Miss., January 17, by the same, Mr. W. P. Williams to Miss Lizzie Cowing, all of Biloxi, Miss.

HUTCHINSON.—On the twenty-third of January, [illegible] Mr. [illegible] to Miss [illegible], all of Ouachita city.

WILKENS, TEBEAU.—January —, 1878, at the residence of Mr. T. D. Higdon, by Rev. P. M. Williams, Mr. James S. Wilkins to Miss Ellen Tebeau, all of Warren county, Miss.

COX, JOICE.—By Rev. Ralph Bradley, at the residence of the bride's parents, in Yazoo county, Miss., December 30, 1877, Mr. Taylor Cox to Miss Betty Joice.

Publisher's Department.

THE NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.—Two of the most eminent physicians of the above institute are located at No. 106 St. Charles street, and are treating with marked success the most difficult cases in surgery. All who are deformed or who have been injured in any manner may find relief, and probably a cure, by calling upon them. They are supplied with all the necessary appliances for all forms of operations, and are thoroughly scientific gentlemen.

PERIN & BROUSSARD.—The gentlemen composing the above firm, located at No. 138 Canal street, are making friends with our country merchants, whose trade they respectfully solicit. They are well stocked with all articles in the dry goods line needed by the country trade, and guarantee low prices and goods to agree with samples. See the advertisement.

SEWING MACHINES.—Read the advertisement of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, on the eighth page and send for circular and cash prices. This is one of the most popular machines in the market, and no machine stands higher with the ladies.

VISITING CARDS.—For elegant visiting cards of all kinds, and at prices astonishingly low, call at Sauve & Waggaman's, 27 Commercial Place. These cards are gotten up in the most artistic manner possible, and of any color desired.

SELF-ACTING FAN.—Parties interested in the above should call and see Otto Schwaner, 17 Baronne street, who will be glad to give all information respecting this ingenious contrivance. Read the advertisement carefully.

RESTAURANT.—If you want a good meal at exceedingly low prices call at J. Deizel's, 133 Poydras street. Country people will find this a very convenient place to go to.

LADIES' SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSETS, as made by Mrs. Griswold, are meeting with favor among the ladies, and have become quite popular. She is desirous of employing lady agents to make known her improvement, which finds a ready sale, and is sold at reasonable figures. She is reliable and fair in all her business transactions, and is worthy of patronage. Address 21 East Sixteenth street, New York city.

FRENCH MILLINERY.—Mme. Rosa Reynoir, at 9 Chartres street, is one of the most elegant and stylish milliners in the city. Our readers wanting anything in her line could go to no better place; and her prices are as low as can be found at any first-class establishment in the city. See the advertisement.

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK COMPANY.—A. Ray, the popular agent for this reliable company, is ready at all times to show his manufactures to those needing fire-proof security for their valuables. He can be found at 27 Canal street. See the advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

CHASTE AND DELICATE.

The most chaste and delicate perfumes for the handkerchief are Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes—Pet Rose, Alsia Bouquet, Hyacinth, Sweet Brier, or any of his odors. The exquisite delicacy of their fragrance will delight all lovers of sweet scents.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE.—Dr. Handy, chief surgeon, with a competent corps of assistants, will spend a month at New Orleans, No. 106 St. Charles street, from January 15 to February 15, 1878. This visit is designed to accommodate those who cannot visit the Institute at Atlanta, Ga., Philadelphia or Indianapolis. The clinic the surgeons remain will be sufficient to effect a cure in cases of Piles and Fistula, diseases of the Eye and Ear, and those peculiar to men and women, and to manufacture and adjust surgical appliances for the cure of club feet, crooked knees, hip joint diseases, curvature of the spine, and all other deformities of the human body. Consultation free.

NEW YORK, November 1, 1877.

FROM the practical tests I have given the Blanchard Foods I think they will prove of great value to the invalid, and they should be thoroughly indorsed by the medical profession.

EGBERT GUERNSEY, M. D.
18 West Twenty-Third St.

See advertisement of the Blanchard Food Cure Company.

MRS. CAROLINE BYRDE, of Chunchula, Ala., says: "I had a Cancer near the eye removed by Dr Grace without the use of the knife, and with but little pain, and the eye saved. My mother and sister died from Cancer. I am perfectly well." Card in this paper.

THE regular use of Colden's Liebig's Liquid Extract of Beef and Tonic Invigorator is the most direct means of regulating physical debility, as it assimilates the insoluble and impure vigor to the whole system. J. L. Lyons, Agent, New Orleans.

DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE Specific will cure the Third-Day Ague, Neuralgia and Sick Pain in a shorter time and more permanently than any other medicine will cure simple Ague. For sale by all druggists.

DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE Specific cures after everything else fails, is the best known of the thousands that have used it. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. W. Benson, a practicing physician, at No. 104 North Howard street, Baltimore, Md. (who has paid much attention to nervous diseases), has discovered that extract of celery and cramp bitter, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, either bilious, dyspeptic, nervous or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are profiting by it. He prepares it in pills at 75 cents per box. The Rector is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Episcopal Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or send postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies who use it daily to be the only preparation that does not reached the skin, each luster of leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed, with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 66 North Sixth street, St. Louis. (Lindell Hotel.)

CHARMING PICTURES.—To introduce their goods, Ir. Parker & Co., 162 William street, New York, will send a package of Decalcomanie Pictures, with illustrated catalogue, to every reader of this paper who will send eight cents in stamps to cover mailing and express. These pictures are artistic colored, beautiful and valuable transfers of many objects, such as to adorn the most beautiful paintings. 49w

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that [illegible] is the most reliable [illegible] is the word of [illegible] in the strongest [illegible] Hall & Hastings, wholesale druggists in New Orleans, who have used it for years with it. Proof in testimonials and Quaker Bitters not publishing any quantities. Arsenic, strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by druggists.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERYBODY DOES IT.

THE OLD MEN USE IT.

THE YOUNG MEN PERUSE IT.

THE LADIES EXCUSE IT!

BOARDS' 1878

CITY DIRECTORY.

Acknowledged by the press and publicly to be the most reliable and best compiled Guide of New Orleans ever issued.

Don't fail to secure a copy. Call day or evening at our Directory at once.

PRICE ONLY $5.

For sale by the Publishers and principal Stationers.

L. SOARDS & CO.
Publishers Commercial Place.

SELF-ACTING FAN.

HAVING bought the patent for a Self-Acting Fan, one of the simplest and most ingenious contrivances of the age, I am prepared to fill orders for from One Unit, at very low figures. These Fans are guaranteed to run for one hour and a quarter, and are admirably adapted for private houses, restaurants, saloons and steamers. Call and examine at No. 17 BALTIMORE, opposite Odeon Hall. OTTO SCHWANER

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT

FOR THE SALE OF

COTTON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,

AS WELL AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Staves, Timber, Lumber, Hoop-Poles, Fire Wood, etc. Liberal advances made on consignments.

A. P. DuMAY,
NO. 11 UNION ST., New Orleans.

HARTE'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by
FREDERICKSON & HARTE,
130 Canal street.
5p

FRANK M. NORMAN,
Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,
598 MAGAZINE STREET,
Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 30 cents. Frames made to order. Scrap pictures. Catalogues free. Upper City Circulating Library.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the head, and comes from the interlined seams, with the original properties intact, and are so prepared as to render them damp proof, such for Rheumatism and Cold Feet are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Rubber dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pair sent to any address, by mail, on receipt of 25 cents. In ordering state size, and whether for lady or gent's wear.

S. TUTTLE & SONS, 317 Arch St., Philadelphia.

THE WONDERFUL PEN-HOLDER!

NO INK REQUIRED.—We have invented and patented July 17, 1877, a Pen-Holder which contains Solidified Ink to last years, and with which any person can write Once dipping in WATER will write a page! Simple, neat, durable, made, as they are, expressly for use by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far-famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and HART, of New York. Sent by mail, on receipt of 50 cents. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment.

J. T. HILLYER, 306 Broadway, N. Y.

☞ The Christian Union of Sept. 5, 1877, says: "It is all it claims to be. We speak from a practical experience, for this letter is written with one of these pens, and we propose to carry it all the time." 5p

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1868.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are:

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $10.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a suit.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set (Cape and Muff) to $20.

Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $10.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article in it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LONG LOOKED-FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the price. Call, or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

RICHARDSON'S New METHOD

FOR THE PIANO-FORTE.

Price, $3.25. By Nathan Richardson.

[illegible] Sale has surpassed [illegible] of all other books of [illegible] Because it is by the [illegible] and is [illegible] For Modern School, which is a better book, by [illegible] Mr. Richardson's method is one of the [illegible] that may be gathered from the [illegible] and [illegible] the preface to the NEW METHOD.

[illegible] in search of the truth in many entire rooms [illegible] and [illegible] convinced that great improvements [illegible] seriously needed. I determined, if [illegible] to search out the defects. Profiting by my experience [illegible] the most perfect teacher, I commenced a thorough and critical examination of [illegible] first method, and concluded that [illegible] remedy would be to bring out a few [illegible] judicious plan.

The above work, substituted for Pre-Selective Modern School, was Richardson's

New Method for the Piano-Forte, which has [illegible] revised and re-issued until it is the [illegible] perfect of all [illegible] is a great favorite with the profession, and is the only true "Reformation."

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
867 BROADWAY, N. Y.

FRENCH MILLINERY,

BERLIN ZEPHYR, WORSTED,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL,

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dress-makers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any Disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,
ROXBURY, MASS.,
AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 5p

SULLIVAN & BULGER,
NO. 97 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS,
DEALERS IN
Gas Fitters' and Plumbers' Materials,

Gas Fixtures, Pumps, Bath-Tubs, Ranges, Iron, Lead and Tin-Lined Pipes, Sheet Lead, Fittings of all descriptions, Brass, Steam, Water and Gas Cocks, Valves, Plugs, etc. Thirty per cent. discount on Iron Pipe; all other goods in proportion. 6ow

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Crib, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots to full size Beds, 4.10x6 feet.

General Agency for Southern States—10 COMMERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK

No. 502 Magazine Street,

Between Braselman's and Adams'.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in New York markets, with careful attention suiting Southern demand for elegance, comfort and economy.

Ready, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable, made, as they are, expressly for me by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far-famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and HART, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,
5p Manufacturer and Dealer.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE

Conducted by Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York.

The third volume of this cheapest and most attractive paper of a Sunday reading in the whole [illegible] with the January number. Each number contains [illegible] pages, and consists exclusively of [illegible] judging purchasers, scenes from Scripture history, travel in [illegible] lands, and an endless variety of interesting [illegible] The best writers wholly of the most [illegible] manner, a healthy moral and religious tone [illegible] with a view to combine amusement with valuable information, and, in short, [illegible] It includes serial stories, incidents of travel, descriptions of [illegible] and adventures, and articles [illegible] Now is the time to subscribe. The January number has a striking [illegible] Terms, $4 a year or 35 cents per number. Address FRANK LESLIE'S PUBLISHING HOUSE, 537 and 539 Pearl street, New York.

HENDERSON'S COMBINED WEALTH OF EVERYTHING FOR THE GARDEN

[illegible] PETER HENDERSON & CO.
Seedsmen, Market Gardeners and Florists,
35 Cortlandt Street, New York.

MONARCH CORN MILL

For HAND or POWER use.

It grinds all kinds of Grain, Fine or Coarse. With Power it will grind from 4 to 6 bushels per hour. We know of no Mill costing less than $45.00 that will do the work of this Mill. Price for hand use $12.00, with Power Attachments $19.00. Send for illustrated Circulars. Address EDWARD THOMPSON, General Agent, 112 & 114 Poydras Street, New Orleans, La.

Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

Have the largest and most complete Type Foundry in the West. All Type cast from best quality of metal. Estimates furnished on application. Goods shipped promptly. Complete outfits supplied on short notice.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS La-place's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Mobile depot—DuBose & Co.; 20 Water St. Little Rock depot—Richardson & Co., 700 N. Main St. 5p

WHEELER & PIERSON,
Successors to Pierson & Hess,
NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,
Opposite the City Hotel.

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good Goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

Farm, Garden and Household.

LICE ON POULTRY.

For five-and-twenty years I have been in search of some cleanly method of freeing my pigeons from their implacable enemy, the Acarus necator, that minute insect that lies in wait for the young from their very exit from the shell. I have long known that insect vermin generally stand in dread of certain smells. For years I bred pigeons in my stables, and never saw there either lice or fleas, or any kind of insect, and in a pigeon-house built in a bark warehouse the birds have been found to enjoy a similar immunity. I have used phenic acid, tar and tobacco, all of which proved of some service, but only on condition that they were employed afresh almost every day, and applied to every nest; and last year I found the application of cubebs, in the form of powder, of considerable service.

This year my young birds were infested with vermin, despite of scrupulous cleanliness. Cubebs having no effect, I tried the powdered root of pyrethrum. This acted rapidly, all the vermin that came in contact with it being speedily destroyed. But next day things were just as bad as ever; a fresh generation appeared upon the scene. I then tried essence of turpentine spread on the floor, but it only acted effectually when used in such large quantities as to compromise the health of my birds. Then I tried liquid ether dropped upon the skin, more especially under the wings. The vermin perished as if thunder-struck, but the birds themselves survived their enemies but a few minutes. Then I tried ether in the nest, but this plan also proved fatal to the birds. At last the idea struck me to have recourse to a well-known insecticide used by the vine-growers of the South for the destruction of the phylloxera—the sulphide of carbon.

The very next day I was agreeably surprised to find that the enemy had left, leaving none but dead and dying behind, and on the following day not a single living insect was to be found, while my birds were sitting quietly on the roof enjoying an unwontedly peaceful repose. This lasted for twelve days, till the sulphide of carbon had fully evaporated. Twenty-four hours later a fresh invasion of lice had put in an appearance under the wings of the birds in the warmest portions of the house, where there were no currents of air. I replenished the supply of sulphide, and the next morning only a few of these were remaining. The next morning every trace of vermin had disappeared.

Since that time I have personally made a great number of further trials with the sulphide, with immediate and absolute success. I should recommend the sulphide of carbon to be put in small medicine vials hung about the pigeon-house or poultry-roost. When it has about three parts evaporated the remainder will have acquired a yellowish tinge, and no longer acts so completely as before, but if it be shaken up afresh it will still suffice to keep the enemy at a distance.—Dr. Schneider, in Journal of Agriculture, Paris.

SEED POTATOES.—The transactions of the Australian Agricultural Society would seem to show that the product of potatoes, large and small, was pretty much the same there as otherwheres. A writer therein, experimenting with potatoes received from England, says:

I selected two of the finest, which weighed 1 pound 2 ounces, and these were cut up so as to make 14 sets. In a row next to them I planted a similar number, cut from the same weight of these potatoes, but all small in size; in fact such as are usually used as seed potatoes. I dug up the crop, and found that the two large potatoes produced 9 pounds 12 ounces, while the produce of the smaller seed was only 6 pounds. But the most remarkable part of the experiment was that among the produce of the larger seed there was hardly a small potato, while the produce of the smaller consisted of a great many small tubers, and scarcely any large. If a calculation be made on this basis, it will be seen that 1 hundred-weight of large potatoes would produce over 6 hundred-weight of a saleable crop, while the same weight of small seed would produce only 4 hundred weight of a crop, a large proportion of which would be only of use as pigs' food.

TRANSPLANTING.—A rule without an exception in transplanting is this: Place the roots in contact with as much soil as possible. This is very important with nursery-grown evergreen trees which have a mass of roots, and all other fine-rooted plants or vines, such as strawberries, raspberries, grapes, etc. It is not enough that a nice place is prepared to receive the tree or plant with all the roots in natural position, or that the finest earth is used in filling up. Nor is it sufficient that the roots are carefully spread out before the earth is put on them. All these things must be done, and then it is necessary to see that in filling up the roots are not crowded into a mass without earth between. The hole may be of proper size, the roots spread out nicely, the finest earth may be used, and the tree shaken well when filling up about the roots, and still they may be flattened together, so as to touch no soil except at the bottom. Water may be freely used, or the roots well puddled in mud-mortar made for the purpose, and still the difficulty is only aggravated by making the roots closer than ever. The fine roots must be separated, and fine earth worked well among them to separate them as widely as possible.—Germantown Telegraph.

BEYOND A QUESTION.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from all adulterants, hence the purest and most economical. It is beyond all question the best and most perfect of anything in the market. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is not sold in bulk, it is put up in cans, securely labeled.

MEDICAL.

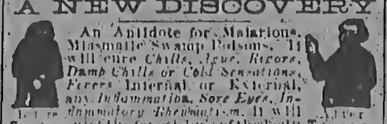
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Fevers, Damp Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers Internal or External, any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism. It will Tone up quiet the feverishness of the Body Tonic.

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any feverish poison or inflammatory action that may exist in the system.

When you take a teaspoonful, it is taken up by the absorbent vessels in the stomach, forces and destroys any poisonous elements in the blood vessels, relieves the causes of Chills and their accompanying diseases.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

has cause to rejoice. This new discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will make glad many anxious countenances during Chills, Shakes, Ague, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, pills, Powder, to Tin Cans, or compressed, to safely mail all over the world in any climate.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of curing the lungs is in direct contact with the Throat and Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules.—They are sugar globules, possessing medicines. As soon as the globules dissolve in your mouth, the healing medicine is in the throat and lungs, and as the breath is inhaled it takes the medicine to every part of the Lungs and bronchial tubes, healing and curing. Thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLean's COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES. Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung diseases. Sent to any part of the world. Magnetic Medicine. Sent by mail or express. Price, $1 per box. Postage stamps will be received for sums less than $1.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

Is the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

Before Tak.

After Tak.

This new and wonderful discovery regularly absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat, Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, settles on the sore parts in contact with the disease. In the Nose, Throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Crusting, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the poison out of every sore and cure it. Trial boxes sets, by mail.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians. Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Fever & Ague, and Worm Colic.
THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulency, and Indigestion.
THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Blushes to Sallow Skins.
THEY ACT on the Blood, and remove all Impurities.
THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Diseases.
THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.
THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the body.
THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.
THEY ARE invaluable for Female Irregularities.
THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.
THEY ARE Harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

Six miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

I refer to Gen'l J. Burtis Mobile, Ala.; Mrs Cogle, State Line Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Chinchula, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Maxville, Ala.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay Irritation which induces coughing, and give immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,

No. 270 JULIA ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1960.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord.....
OAK WOOD, per Cord.....
OAK and ASH, in sledged Cord.....

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. BATTICAT, Agent.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES

NO. 155 CAMP STREET.

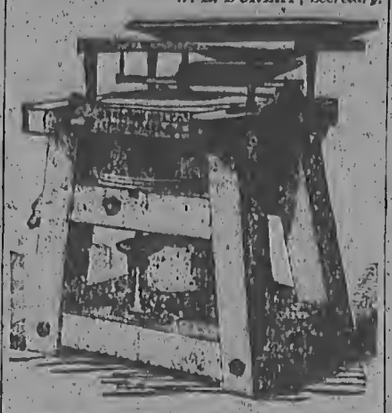
THE undersigned has a full assortment of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give me a call and see for yourself.

Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at lowest rates. All furniture sold will be put in perfect repair and delivered to order. Moving, Packing, etc., in all cases at the lowest possible terms. Orders solicited.

HENRY CHOPE,
155 Camp street.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

J. R. STEWART, President. W. E. DUNLAP, Secretary.



BRADFORD MILL CO.,

Successors to JAS. BRADFORD & CO.

Improved Under-Runner Mills.

PATENTED DECEMBER 5, 1876.

FRENCH BURR MILL STONES, Portable Corn and Flour Mills, Smut Machines, Bolting Chests, and dealers in genuine Dutch Anchor Bolting Cloths, and general Mill Furnishers. Send for price list. Office and Factory—158 W. SECOND STREET, CINCINNATI, O.

BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale of cotton.

BUYERS CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IF IN FLAT TIES.

Send for circular containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICES REDUCED.

THE

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.

HAVE the pleasure of announcing that recent decrease in cost of material and labor, and increase in manufacturing facilities, have enabled them to make a reduction in their Catalogue prices of from $10 to $5 on each Organ. (See Price List dated November, 1877.)

Organs of their manufacture are acknowledged to stand at the head of instruments of this class, having merited and received Highest Honors at all World's Exhibitions for ten years.

NEW STYLES, NOW READY,

surpass previous productions in musical excellence and beauty of cases. Sold for cash, or in installments; or rented until rent pays. Illustrated Catalogues and Reduced Price Lists (November, 1877) sent free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont St., Boston; 25 Union Sq., New York; 250 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS.

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh-ground daily.

Flour delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN, suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rates.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 CAMP STREET,

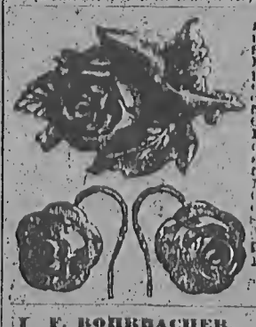
AMERICAN and FOREIGN

WATCHES,

DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE,

AT LOWEST PRICES.

Special attention to Watch-Repairing.



Ladies Elegant Imitation Coral Rose Coral Set, Breastpin and Earrings, sent post-paid on receipt of any number of this paper for 25 cents. Three sets for 50 cents. Imitation CORAL SLEEVE BUTTONS to match 25 cents per set. Or the Rose sets for 50 cents. Elegant Necklaces with Cameo, $1 each, express or Postage Stamps taken. Extra Discounts to Agents.

BRIDE & CO.,
14 Clinton Place, New York City.

J. F. ROHRBACHER,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

237 ..... CAMP STREET 237

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best manufacturers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's Alaska unlined Congress Boots at $4 50.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Lambrequins, etc.

Frames made to order—a specialty.

No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.

CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—800 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Tabic and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
RUGLAPS Table and Enamel OIL CLOTH.
A. BOUSSARD & CO.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARSDEN'S

Pectoral Balm!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, COLDS,

AND

CONSUMPTION.

FINLAY & THOMPSON,

SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Attention, Country Readers!

SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRESS GOODS, BLANKETS,

SHAWLS, FLANNELS, WOOLEN GOODS, HOSIERY, COTTONS, ETC.

BLACK GOODS.

Extraordinary inducements in this department, consisting of Black Silks, Merinoes, Bombazines, Delaines, Etamines, Alpacas, Mohair, Empress Cloth, Crepe, etc.

Also White and Printed Linen Towels, Damasks, Marseilles Quilts, Nottingham Laces, French Embroidered Curtains, etc.

PEPIN & BROUSSARD,
158 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE

SOUTHERN BELLE,

AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES,

DEVOTED TO

Fashion, Instruction and Amusement.

Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 CANAL ST.

Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 50 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal street, New Orleans. General Agent for the old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.

MADAME FRICKE

begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove, on the

FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,

from her present residence corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over the vestibule of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice, and in the latest styles. Respectfully,

K. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—18 Carondelet St., Cor. Union, NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

MAKE $100

PER MONTH YOU CAN

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed, and when you receive your circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

O. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 50 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS., 9 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

WHOEVER IS

Appreciates Honest Dealing!

Will do well to call at

S. EHRLICH'S

CLOTHING HOUSE

21 St. Charles St., New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to.

RICHARD RHODES,

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ST. CHARLES ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Articles of All Kinds for Fishermen.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail.

GUNS, RIFLES and PISTOLS of every variety and of direct importation. Also Sporting materials of all kinds, Game Bags, Shot Pouches, Flasks, and every article needed by Hunters, will be sold at the lowest prices for cash. Also the celebrated "Dead Shot" Gunpowder, Shot, Eley's Shells, Cartridges etc., of the best quality wholesale and retail. Bogardus' Glass Balls and Traps.

R. RHODES.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

PRYTANIA STREET, CORNER URANIA,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to the patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

GEO. C. PRIOT, Principal,
P. O. Box 425, New Orleans, La.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.

159 ..... Camp Street 151

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

H. H. HUSSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood.

NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,

37 CARONDELET STREET.

EXTRACT FROM THE

ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,

NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877....$567,707 19
Losses paid within the year..... 239,675 73

Cash Dividends for the Year:

Interest (semi annually)..... 10 per Cent.
Premiums..... 20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877..... $1,282,908 60

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium. ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John I. Noble, T. Lyle Lyon,
John Chaffe, Samuel H. Boyd,
Richard Milliken, Joseph McElroy,
John I. Warren, Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner, H. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander, Wm. G. Black,
A. A. Yates, Charles Chaffe,
John I. Adams, L. C. Janey,
Isaac Scherck, Wm. Hartwell,
R. M. Walmsley, C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May, A. T. Janin,
S. H. Snowden, Jos. Bowling,
A. M. Bickham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,

89 ..... CAMP STREET 91

BRANCH STORE—527 MAGAZINE ST.

WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.

NEW ORLEANS.

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE!

BUILDERS' HARDWARE,

GRATES, CUTLERY,

STOVES AND RANGES,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE

CHARTER OAK STOVE.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Griswold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET, universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH and two new styles Oil Chromo Chromo Cards, 10c. Agents' Sample Package, Buckeye Cards, all Chromo, Magic Pen (no ink required), Local Combination Pen-Holder, Mourner, Tidies, Stag-leaf, Parching Plate, Felt Lamp Wick, Machine Needles, Agents' Supplies, Notices, Cheap Jewelry, etc. Catalogue free. BUCKEYE NOVELTY CO., Cincinnati, O.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFITS per week will prove it or forfeit the New Automatic Knitting Machine. Price complete, $20; not patented. Sample sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromo Cards, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards, 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 25 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Established 1830.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted. Business for thinking parties. Particulars free. Address, WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND

FANCY GOODS!

EMBRACING

All the Latest Novelties and Patterns

OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE and is sufficiently extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, enables me to purchase all goods from first hands, thus securing not only a choice, but the very lowest figures; and hence I can offer

BARGAINS

Both in Price and Quality of Goods,

that will suit the purse and captivate the taste.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HAIDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres st., New Orleans,
Second door above Customhouse.

THE "RED BOOT" STORE

IS THE

Cheapest Boot and Shoe Store

IN THE CITY.

All grades of goods always on hand, and sold at the VERY LOWEST PRICES. Call, examine my stock and prices, and be convinced.

GEORGE J. WAGNER,
Ursuline street, corner of Dauphine.

The Jackson Railroad (City) cars pass within one square of the store.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—Quick Sales and Small Profits.

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

SAM. HENDERSON,

Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,

48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

30 Mixed Car's, Showbake, Damask, etc., no two kinds alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MILLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

JUST PUBLISHED.

The Paragon of Holiday-Books for Musical People.

"THE GREAT TONE-POETS"

BEING SHORT MEMOIRS OF THE GREATER COMPOSERS.

By F. Crowest.

A valuable, convenient and beautiful work for musical readers; a perfect compendium of information concerning the most eminent musicians and their works. The volume contains biographical sketches of the following composers and their works:

Bach, Handel, Gluck, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Rossini, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Schumann.

Nothing could be of greater service to the musical student than this elegant work.

Bound in Cloth, $1.50.

Sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.

Published by

JOHN CHURCH & CO.,

CINCINNATI, OHIO,

And 805 Broadway, New York.

National Sunday School Papers.

The Sunday School World.—A Monthly Journal, 16 pages, quarto, contains The International Sunday School Lessons, by the Rev. John Hall, D. D., of New York, and other matter for teachers. Only 50 cents a year. By mail, 60 cents, in clubs, 55 cents, postage paid.*

INTERNATIONAL Lesson Papers for Scholars.—1. Advanced. 2. Intermediate. 3. Primary, with pictures. Each, 100 copies per quarter, in advance, $9.*

Quarterly Review Papers on the International Lessons.—1. Large Review, printed on sheets 33 by 5 feet, in large type, to be viewed by the whole school at 1 per year. 2. The Superintendent's Paper. 3. The Scholars' and Teachers' Review Papers, 10 copies, per year, 40 cents, per quarter, 10 cents.

The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by Rev. Richard Newton, D. D. 400 copies per month, $12 a semi-monthly, $24. By mail, $16; semi-monthly, $26. Single subscription, 75 cents monthly, 50 cents semi-monthly.*

Catalogues and specimen copies of these papers furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions received at the Society's Depositories, as follows:

A. KIRKPATRICK, 1122 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.
C. S. SCOFIELD, 5 and 7 Bible House, New York.
J. A. McGEORGE, 77 Branch Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
W. R. POST, 74 Randolph, near State St., Chicago, Ill.
S. PAXON, 827 N. Sixth Street, St. Louis, Mo.

* Ten copies and over to the same address.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTORY WAS SHOWN AT PARIS EXHIBITION.

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. H. CHRISTESON,

SUCCESSOR TO

SAMPSON BROS.

99, 101 and 103 Customhouse St.

MANUFACTURER OF AND DEALER IN

FURNITURE

OF ALL STYLES AND DESCRIPTIONS.

Now receiving a magnificent assortment of NOVELTIES, in all the LATE STAPLES for Misses and Children, and BOOTS and SHOES for Men and Boys.

PRICES THE VERY LOWEST.

Call in immediately at HOGAN'S,

KIRKWOOD

The best, safest and most reliable remedy in the world for Catarrh, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the lungs and air passages.

Price, $2; Quantity for pamphlet, etc., address

E. FOUGERA & CO.,
30 NORTH WILLIAM ST.,
NEW YORK.

INHALER

USEFUL PRESENTS

Boys and Girls

ARE MAKING MONEY BY

Do Your Own Printing

NO EXPERIENCE necessary for the intelligent purchaser of GOLDING'S OFFICIAL PRESS. Outfits for printing Cards, Paper, Labels, Envelopes, Rubber Stamps, Key Stamps, Hand Stamps, Stencil Plates, Type, Cases, Chases, Rules, Leads, Slugs, Ink, Tools, Tweezers, Gauges, Composing Sticks, Mallets, Wood Type, Brass Type, Ivory Type, Name Plates, Label Stamps, Figures, Fancy Type, Borders, Cuts, Brass Rule and Labor-Saving Specialties. Send 3 stamps for new Illustrated Catalogue, containing full information. GOLDING & CO., Printers' Warehouse, Fort Hill Square, Boston.

LADIES ELEGANT JET SET, BROACH DROPS sent to any [illegible] this paper for 25 cents. Sets ASSORTED PATTERNS, 50 cents. The setting is twice the size of the illustration.

POSTAGE STAMPS AS CASH.

F. STOCKER,
27 Bond Street, New York.

Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, reduced to $1.

FREDERICK GOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

LARD OIL AND STEARINE.

Improved Machinery. Oils, also Mineral Lard Oil and extra Clarified Cotton Seed Oil constantly on hand. 112 PETERS AND 46 COMMERCE STREET, New Orleans.

OFFICE ST. BERNARD COAL CO., Carondelet street, New Orleans.—SPECIAL NOTICE.—The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL, for fall and winter supply, at the following rates, delivered in any portion of the city:

Families..... 50c. per bu.
Steam..... 50c. per bu.
Dealers (hauling themselves)..... 35c. per bu.
Country orders solicited.

W. S. CAMPBELL, Agent.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES. Cheapest in the known world. Sample Watch Free to Agents. Address, A. COUTER & Co., Chicago.

The Common Pump.

think it is Herschel who somere says that if a man were cond from childhood in a prison he ld be able to reason out all the ths of pure mathematics, but he s of course could tell, unless he saw it, at would become of a lump of ar when thrown into water.
r illustration of this I will take as instance the rise of water in a ump. It was matter of common ex-ence that the suction of the piswas followed by the rise of water the well. How was it to be ac-unted for? The Greeks had sense ough to see that a vacuum was ed above the water, and, having ished in their minds a theory nature abhors a vacuum," they ught this a sufficient reason to count for the occurrence. As nature ferred a vacuum, she testified her ference by making the water fill
Now here there is obviously no ysical cause given to account for physical effect. It is merely an ginary reason, utterly unsupted by any mechanical proof. And this theory, that nature abhors a cuum, was accepted as a sufficient planation of every phenomenon quid, whether liquid or aeriform, ning in to fill empty space, for e than two thousand years. At t, in the middle of the seventeenth ntury, when some engineers were ised by the Duke of Tuscany to w water near Florence of an un-al depth, it was found that the mp would not work. They applied Galileo, then an old man living at cetri, to explain the reason, and half in jest and half in earnest, them that he supposed that na-re did not abhor a vacuum above ty-two feet. But Torricelli, a pupil Galileo, applied himself to the blem, and he soon satisfied him-f that a column of water thirty-o feet high, which is the utmost ght to which water can be raised pumps must be raised by some man force equivalent to the ght of water supported. He made periments, and found that this known force was nothing else an the weight of the atmosphere.
e, then, was the discovery by ans of experiment of an unsusected truth—that the air has defi-te weight, and a weight exactly ual to that of a column of water ty-two feet high. But men are t to admit what shocks a longished opinion or prejudice, and t until Pascal demonstrated truth of Torricelli's theory by perimentally showing that mery in the barometer, invented by ricelli, sinks as it is carried up a untain—where, of course, the ere is less the weight of the air ss—did men were absolutely inced that mere weight
d pressure was the sole cause of the enomena; for," as Pascal ob-ved, "we cannot suppose that naabhors a vacuum at the foot of a untain more than at the sum-—Baxter's Magazine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES
ry Timken's New Factory,
TH AND 1109 ST. CHARLES ST.,
ST. LOUIS, MO.
manufacturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their k, for durability and elegance, is unsurpassed where. Send for catalogue.

NATHAN CARD
RIAGE MANUFACTURER
E. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.,
te Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED
20 FOR $10
AMERICAN WATCHES
305 N. 7TH ST.
ST. LOUIS, MO.

McCALL & HAASE,
Carriage Manufacturers,
1108 AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET,
ST. LOUIS.
nufacturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their k for durability and elegance, is unsurpassed where.

ATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA

the most beautiful style and perfect ic ever made.
Imitates the celebrated Concerto stop, whi chanical imitation
of the Human Voice,
and two and a half Octaves of bells tu ned in perfect har mony with the reeds,
& their effect is magn
ficent & electrifying.
WATERS' CLARI-
ONA, ORCHESTR-
CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL
IMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE OR-NS, in Unique French Cases are to eve-respect FIRST CLASS.
ATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE,
and Upright,
E THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, orkmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed.
arranted for SIX YEARS.
ICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash.
onthly Installments received. A Liberal count to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducents to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues iled. Second-hand Instruments of Great rands. HORACE WATERS & SONS, anufacturers and Dealers,
40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION
UARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

LUMBER.
YPRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assortment of over 2,000,000 feet constantly on hand.
so a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on nd and made to order. Office—Corner Delord d Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, lliope, Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 1945.
JOHN F. POPP.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.
WIDOW HY. HABERT,
Successor to P. Delcroix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of
all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST.,
between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

JEWELRY STORE.
A. Boitel, Watchmaker,
58.....ROYAL STREET.....58
Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts. New Orleans.
Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.
A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.
A. BONNET & CO.,
DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,
NO. 65 ROYAL STREET,
Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN
LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,
And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,
No. 112 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD,
Formerly Shumway & Bernard.
GAMET & VIGNAUD,
DEALERS IN
SUGARS AND MOLASSES.
Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.
No. 31 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
117 DECATUR St., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice,
Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Canned or all kinds, Rosin, Honey, and every description of Country Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 36 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Marcan, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes Always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—JOHN
ROSSO, proprietor of this old and favorite house announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore.
Private Dining-Rooms up stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates.
Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE.
Office and Sales-Room, 27 NORTH PETERS ST.
Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, bet. Roman and Prieur, New Orleans.
Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1819.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and
Castile Soap,
Office—110 CHARTRES ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY. "CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.
R. BLONDEAU,
Successor to J. G. Bernel,
Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,
NO. 63 ROYAL STREET,
Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.
Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties of performances.

J. H. MEHAFFEY,
General Commission Merchant,
And dealer in Staves, Firewood, Lime, Lumber and Coopers' Materials.
OFFICE—22 Union street, LUMBER YARD—
Cor. Levee and Washington, Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.
JOHN S. McDONALD,
Proprietor and Manager.
MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED
MOSS.
Factory—Nos. 238 to 250 South Liberty, and Nos. 1
to 11 Cypress street.
Office—No. 218 S. Liberty street. P. O. Box 253.
New Orleans, La.
Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
B. D. WOOD & BRO.,
Corner Camp and Common Streets,
Opposite the City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all Kinds of COAL.
Purchers Coal delivered by boat-load or rail at the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRE'S CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—
To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better and cheaper, so call on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship spar. W. W. CARRE & CO.,
No. 30 Delord street

THOMAS HASAN,
LUMBER.
CABINS MADE TO ORDER.
Every description of LUMBER always on hand.
Also Sash, Blinds, etc.
Mills and Yard: Corner CEDAR AND JULIA
STS. (New Basin.) New Orleans.

ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU,
159.....POYDRAS STREET.....159
Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less price than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILSMANN,
DEALER IN
WOOD AND COAL,
320.....DELORD STREET.....320
NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ,
174 Rampart Street,
Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,
MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.
Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Caleche built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Crescent City Cigar Store,
Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally,
No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,
NEW ORLEANS.
Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month; Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1 50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement.
Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.
Pipe and Reed-Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. G. GARDNER, 87 Magazine,
Between Sixth and Seventh Sts.
Pianos for rent at $3 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILGER,
ARCHITECT
31.....CARONDELET ST.....31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WILLIAM F. MELLEN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
140.....CRAVIER ST.....140
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

DR. C. J. BICHHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four
P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana.
G. W. RACE, W. R. FOSTER.
MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS
AND SOLICITORS,
Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.
THIS is no system of medication, confined in its action to narrow limits, being Oxygen Magnified. It is the most wonderful Vitalizer of the human body ever known. Therefore it should cure a greater variety of ills and a larger proportion of patients than any other agent. Eight years of large experience fully confirm the expectation. The subscribers make their forces to make known, and available to the sick the Mysterious Virtues of the Compound Oxygen. It is the safest, surest and cheapest remedy in the world. In all consumptives, dyspeptics, gouty, ladies (recommend all, even discouraged invalids, send for our brochure of 148 pages, which contains many wonderful but true statements and best of testimonials. Mailed free.
DR. STARKEY, A.M., M.D. | STARKEY & PALEN,
G. E. PALEN, Ph. B., M. D. | 1112 Girard St., Phila.

PILES.
DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 209 Pine street,
St. Louis, positive cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business.
No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. Mc-Lean, Known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Raines, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lithe; M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware; Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sparks, Asst. N. W. Rev. Co., St.
Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R. Estes Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Dillon, Wisconsin Ferry Co., Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

ASTHMA.
FOR YEARS I have treated, by Inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.
DR. J. H. HAGENBURG,
913 Wash street, St. Louis, Mo

ANGELL'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side,
New Orleans, La.
Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1810.
CHAS. SIMON & SONS,
63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,
WOULD call special attention to their extra large stock of GOODS SUITABLE FOR PRESENTS, LINEN AND COTTON GOODS, Fitting of ready Linen, Shirts for Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Made Underwear, etc.
SAMPLES SENT FREE.
ALSO TO THEIR
Dressmaking Department.
Chaka Dresses, etc., made to order promptly. In a safe reliable manner, and on the most favorable cash or credit terms, orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement and simplest system of dress, with estimate of cost, sent upon application.
All orders amounting to $20 or over will be sent free to the ship-masters by express; but parties whose orders do not reach or exceed that amount, by the money, and having it, or goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of money.

CARPETS!
ELKIN & CO.,
105.....CANAL STREET.....105
ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF
Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.
Tapestry Brussels from $1 to $1 25 per yard.
Oil Cloths, Mattings, Rugs, Mats, Curtains, etc.
MARBLE Cut to all desired sizes.
All orders receive LOWEST PRICES.

GEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

B. T. WALSHE
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS
BOYS' & CHILDREN'S CLOTHING,
No. 110 CANAL ST.
NEW ORLEANS

TAKE NOTICE. WE have the LARGEST and best selling Stationery Package in the world. Contains 15 sheets Paper, 18 Envelopes to match, Pencil, Holder and Pen, of Unrivalled Quality, Combined Value and Cheapness, and gold steel pen in Box, post paid, for 25 cts.
Gratefully placed Ring, size of Ladies' Finger, sent on receipt of 10 cts. Imported Purse, containing 25 cents, 5 Cards with Assorted Jewelry 25 cts. A Splendid Watch and Chain free with every $50 worth of Cocoa you buy.
BRIDE & CO., 11 Clinton Place, New York

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
H. & C. TYLER,
9.....CAHONDELET ST.....9
will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates. H. & C. TYLER.

$1200 SALARY. Permanent salesmen wanted to sell Staple Goods to dealers. No peddling. Expenses paid.
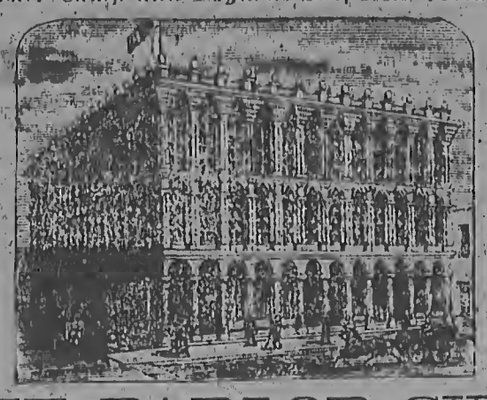
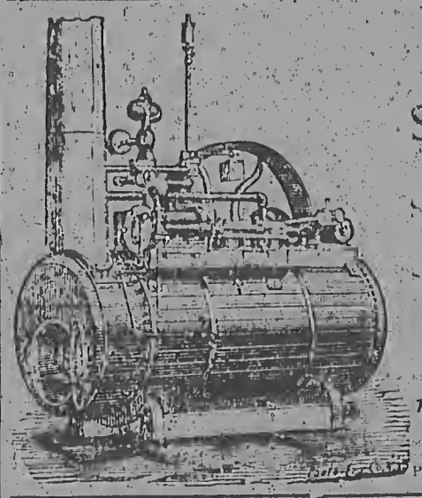
Address E. A. GRANT & CO., 2,
4, 6 & 8 Home St., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.
FURNITURE EMPORIUM,
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



FINE PARLOR SUITS,
IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.
FINE BED-ROOM SUITS! IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.
Fine Dining-Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.



PAYNE'S
PORTABLE
STEAM ENGINES.
5 TO 15 HORSE POWER.
Strong, Simple and Durable.
FIRST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.
SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.
B. J. WEST,
SOLE AGENT,
115 and 117 Magazine Street,
NEW ORLEANS.
Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills,
Lime, Cement, Roofing, etc.

We have the best Imitation Gold Watch in the market.
The metal is a composition of gold and copper so closely resembling pure gold that the best judges cannot detect the difference except by a chemical test, and it has the various requisite to make it the best substitute for gold known. Genuine American movement. Jewelled in 7 Holes. Expansion Balance, and Compensation Adjustment. Hunting Case and equal in appearance to a GOLD WATCH THAT COSTS from $150 to $200. If you wish a watch for your own wear or to make money in, try this. Owing to our large sales we are enabled to reduce the price of them to $12 each, with an elegant Chain attached. They are used on railroads, steamers and in many business and other places where accurate time is required, and give general satisfaction. We send them by mail or express, on receipt of $12, to any part of the country, or if it will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires and remits $3 on account. These elegant CHAINS weigh about Fifty Pennyweights, and the same pattern in pinchbeck would cost $10. We sell these Chains at $4 each. But we sell the Watch and Chain for $12, by mail in a registered package, postpaid, to any post-office in the United States.
WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.
J. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 11 Eighth St., New York.

MILK OF MAGNESIA
IS THE best preparation of Magnesia for the cure of INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH, HEADACHES, and all diseases of the Stomach caused by Acidity. It is the most pleasant to take, and the most effectual. It is also prescribed by the most eminent physicians for Infants and Children. Being entirely free from grit, it is the only preparation of Magnesia that can be used for the Teeth. Its wonderful effects in all cases of Acidity are made plain and apparent to the dullest comprehension in the following pamphlet, which contains a few of the thousands of testimonials received from those who have used it. Every person who has ever taken Milk of Magnesia should send for this pamphlet, as it contains information of the greatest importance to them. Sold by druggists generally. Price, 50 cents per bottle. Be sure to get the genuine. Manufactured only by
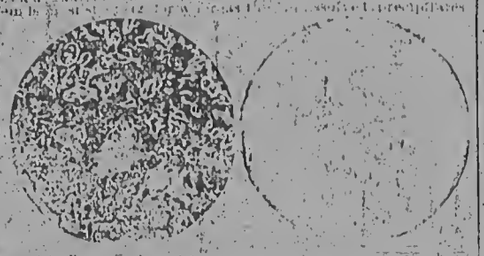
C. H. PHILLIPS,
Manufacturing Chemist,
NEW YORK.



MUNSON & CO.'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
111 LOCUST ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.
Complete Price Lists and Circulars will be sent on application.
Munson & Co.'s Croup & Cough Syrup has become the standard remedy for Croup and Severe Coughs. It gives immediate relief and is pleasant to take. Price, per bottle, 25 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Cough Lozenges have never failed to give prompt and entire relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc. Children suffering from Whooping Cough should use them.
Munson & Co.'s Whooping Cough Syrup. This remedy is very soothing in its effects, relieving promptly, and will shorten the attacks and disarm disease. Bottle, 25 cents.
Anodyne Camphor, or Vienna Cholera
Drops.—This preparation has been extensively used in attacks of Cholera and Diarrhœa, Cholic, etc. It is a sure cure. Bottle, 25 cents.
Munson & Co.'s Fever and Ague Pills.
A sure cure for Intermittent Fevers, Fever and Ague, etc. Bottle, 25 cents.
Theyn Occidentalis, the Specific for White
Coloss and all Excrescences of the Flesh. Bottle, 25 cents.
Gentleman's Cologne Remedy.—The only remedy that will cure this disease. Price, 50 cents.
Dr. Munson's Infant Syrup.—For infants and children. 50 cents.
Dr. Munson's Egg Nog.—Per box, 25 cents.

$1,000 IN GOLD.
To All Whom It May Concern.
THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in good faith, offer the above reward for the sworn statement of two respectable citizens of any city or town which will prove that PHOSPHORIC AIR, THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, has failed to permanently cure any form of CA-TARRH, Sneezing, Hay-fever, or any form of Nervous or Mental diseases. One month's treatment, Inhaler, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.
Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passages and Brain can be reached.
Phosphoric Air cures by its effects upon the circulation, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.
We will be happy to give a TRIAL, FREE to any who can call upon us so that they may experience its immediate beneficial effects.
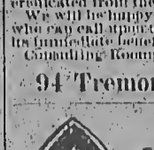
Consulting Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.,
94 Tremont Street, Boston.



Sutter, Berry & Co.,
GLASS STAINERS.
Particular Attention Paid to Church Work.
Orders from all parts of the country promptly attended to.
719 N. SEVENTH ST., bet. Pine and Olive ST. LOUIS, MO.

25 Fashionable Cards, no 2 alike, with name,
10c, post paid. U. KEE & CO., Nassau, N.Y.

Malarial Poison.
A NEVER-FAILING ANTIDOTE!
BUFFALO LITHIA WATERS
H. J. RIVET
DEALER IN
Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines
AND PERFUMERY, AND IMPORTER OF
FRENCH PROPRIETARY MEDICINES,
Cor. Bienville and Chartres Sts.,
NEW ORLEANS.
Proprietor of the Incorporated Perchlorid Bitters.

WATCHES & JEWELRY

SEND FREE.—Our fine
Illustrated Price List of Watches and Jewelry. We are the cheapest house in America. Agents wanted.
Rogers Manuf'g Co.,
210 STATE ST., Chicago, Ill.

Meneely & Kimberly,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
Illustrated catalogue sent free.

Coal, Wholesale and Retail.
COAL by boat or barge load, delivered to planters on upper or lower coast. Steamers coaled at New Orleans and Baton Rouge.
Coal in sacks for shipment to country customers by rail or steamboat.
W. H. WILMOT & CO.,
186 Poydras street, New Orleans.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUsic. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 55 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E.
TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

SHAKSPEARE IRON WORKS,
Cor. Girod and Dryades Sts.
MANUFACTURE EVERY VARIETY OF
STEAM ENGINES,
SUGAR MILLS,
VACUUM PANS, SAW-MILLS,
DRAINING AND CENTRIFUGAL MACHINES,
MILL AND GIN GEARING,
GRATE BARS, ETC., ETC.,
STORE FRONTS,
COLUMNS, VENTILATORS,
RICE MILLING MACHINERY,
PULLEYS AND SHAFTING.
And work of all kinds manufactured to order by
SHAKSPEARE, SMITH & CO.
Office—219 GIROD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Estimates and price lists furnished on application.

WATER WHEELS.
THE UNEQUALED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE
TURBINE WATER WHEEL,
PORTABLE AND STATIONARY
STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS
SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,
MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,
SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS
Of Improved Designs, A Specialty
Address, POOLE & HUNT,
Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

MENEELY & COMPANY,
Bell Founders, West Troy, New York,
FIFTY years established. CHURCH BELLS and CHIMES, ACADEMY, FACTORY BELLS, &c.
Improved Patent Mountings. Catalogues free.
No agencies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

D. MERCIER & SONS,
MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'
CLOTHING!
HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.,
Cor. Dauphine and Bienville Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Orders from Country Merchants promptly executed on the most reasonable terms.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS.
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen
Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,
143 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

E. BAKER,
SEEDSMAN,
No. 7 Camp St., New Orleans.
A FULL STOCK OF
GARDEN, FIELD & FLOWER SEEDS,
Fresh, Pure and Reliable.
Seeds sent by mail. Also Fruit, Shade and Ornamental TREES, ROSES, etc.

PIERRE LANNES, Butcher,
Stalls Nos. 38 and 39 Magazine Market.

Steamships, Families, Hotels, etc., with BEEF, MUTTON, YORK Sausages, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,
183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.
Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

Cholera! Charming!!! Cheap!!!
THE NURSERY.
A Magazine for Youngest Readers,
Superbly Illustrated—Published Monthly.
Subscription, Plan & postage included, $1.00 in advance. 10c Send 10 cents for sample number. Now is the Time to Subscribe.
JOHN L. SHOREY,
36 Broomfield St., Boston.

First-Class Visiting Cards.
25, all different,.....by 25 Autumn Leaf.....10c.
5 Wrens.....by 20 Snowflake.....10c.
5 Pansy.....by 25 Regt.....10c.
5 Pond.....by 25 Damask.....10c.
5 Floral.....by 25 Scroll, with name, 10c.
Send a 3 ct. stamp extra for each picture when the order amounts to less than 40. When more I pay the postage and you save 2 cents on $1 worth.
No finer work in the world at any price. Money refunded if they don't suit. W. C. CANNON, 342
Washington street, Boston, Mass.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.
BUFFUM & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire
Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

T. W. ROTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above
Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $14 and upward.
Gold Watches at $35 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Jan. 29, 1878.

No change of any note has taken place in the markets during the past week. The usual amount of business has been done in the great staples—cotton and sugar. The general tone of the market for the latter is stronger than last week at this time. The sugar planters have much to contend with this season: first, the partial failure of the crop, then the low prices for sugar, and now the movement on the part of Northern and Western refiners to have the duty removed from imported sugars. The plan is so manifestly unjust to the South that it is very improbable that Congress will be disposed to take any steps in the matter. However, it is absolutely necessary that the Southern planters should use every effort to oppose the movement in its incipiency.

State and city bonds for the past week have been very irregular, with a downward tendency for the former. State consols are quoted at 82½@83; premiums, 36½@37.

MONETARY.

Exceptional commercial paper, 8@— per cent.; A1 do., 9@11; second grade do., 12@—; loans on collaterals, 8@—; A1 mortgage paper, 9@10; second grade do., —@— ₰ cent. per annum.

Gold is quiet and firmer.

Foreign exchange is moderately active and higher.

Sight is quiet and steady.

Stocks quiet.

Gold opened in New York at 101, and closed at 102¼. Here it opened at 101⅞@102 and closed at 102⅛@102¼.

Some of the principal stocks are quoted as below by the New Orleans Stock Exchange:

BANKS.	Bid.	Asked.
Canal	96 50	— —
Citizens'	75 50	78 00
Louisiana National	103 00	105 00
New Orleans National	80 00	85 00
INSURANCE COMPANIES.
Crescent Mutual	76 50	— —
Factors' and Traders'	101 00	102 00
Sun Mutual	101 00	102 00
Hope	47 00	51 00
CITY RAILROADS.
Carrollton	$115 50	$116 50
Crescent City	52 50	— —
New Orleans City	140 00	141 50
St. Charles Street	75 25	76 00

COTTON.

The Democrat reports the cotton market as follows:

The day opened under the influence of an easy market at Liverpool on spot cottons, and a decline on futures at New York. Naturally enough, buyers were in the market for concessions, which were stoutly and successfully resisted by factors, although the latter freely accepted yesterday's prices. This stringency of holders checked the movement, and in consequence only 5,550 bales were sold, the market closing without any quotable change in prices.

The closing report of the Cotton Exchange was as follows:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary	7	7
Ordinary	8⅜	8⅜
Good Ordinary	9	9
Low Middling	9⅜	9⅜
Middling	10¼	10¼
Good Middling	11⅛	11⅛
Middling Fair	11⅞	11⅞

Sales to-day, 5,550 bales. Market quiet and easy.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1877	20,358
Gross receipts since yesterday	5,551
Gross receipts previously	1,105,554—1,127,217
Total supply	1,148,575
Exported to-day	6,552
Exported previously	761,393—767,945
Total stock this day	370,628
Total stock this day last year	299,830

The exports to-day were 4,552 bales to Havre and 2,000 bales to Antwerp.

Net receipts since yesterday	5,550
Receipts from other ports	883
Net receipts last Tuesday	12,711
Net receipts this day last year	10,075
Net receipts since Friday	32,708
Net receipts same time last week	31,484
Net receipts same time last year	39,430
Net receipts since September 1	940,378
Net receipts same time last year	865,044

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 62,052 bales; Havre 44,124; Bremen, 12,681; Mediterranean, 1,826; North Sea, 11,683; Spain, 600; Mexico, — coastwise, 4,007; total, 137,973 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 232,655 bales.

The receipts at all ports from twelve M. yesterday to twelve M. to-day, as per Cotton Exchange telegrams, are 21,168 bales, against 29,097 bales last Tuesday, 22,071 bales last year, and 20,186 year before last.

The movement at ports for four days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	32,708	31,484	39,430
Galveston	7,291	6,819	6,100
Mobile	12,568	12,302	7,565
Savannah	8,372	10,760	5,673
Charleston	8,378	6,901	4,257
Wilmington	1,120	1,078	1,377
Norfolk	7,966	7,882	5,024
Baltimore	385	835	182
New York	2,974	1,924	6,959
Boston	2,389	2,255	1,291
Philadelphia	212	200	1,415
Other ports
Total	84,472	86,447	79,671

Receipts at ports since September 1	3,040,285
Receipts same time last year	3,055,315
Receipts same time year before	2,952,435

The exports from all United States ports, consolidated as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for four days have been as follows:

	G. B. France.	Cont.	Chan.	Stocks.
This week	10,209	11,956	12,86	911 6
Last week	60,872	8,780	11 667	865,315
This week last year	38,901	8,905	9,335	903	856,681

Be not hasty to cast off every aspersion that is cast upon you. Let them alone for awhile, and then, like mud on clothes, they will rub off.

PRICES CURRENT
IN
THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS. ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 60
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	30 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 03	11 53
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do., with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 80	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	18 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	97 00	9 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₰ lb.:
Swedes, assorted	— —	— —
Hoop	3¼	5
Sheet	3¼	5
Nail rods	— —	— —
Castings, American	— —	— —

BUILDING MATERIAL.
Bricks, ₰ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	— —
English Brs	30 00	35 00
Lime, ₰ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Connent	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₰ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₰ 1,000	2 75	3 50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₰ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 10	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 30	4 [illegible]	4 [illegible]
White Lead, best, ₰ lb	[illegible]	[illegible]
Paris Green, ₰ lb	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pat. Dryer, ₰ lb	[illegible]	[illegible]
Whiting, ₰ lb	[illegible]	3
Putty, in bladders, ₰ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₰ gall	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS. Window Sash, 12 lights: Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	37	$1 00	$1 55
10x12	45	1 70	2 05
10x16	50	2 35	2 70
Sash Doors:		Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet		$3 00	$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet		3 60	4 30
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches		— —	3 80
Panel Doors:
2x8 and 1¼ inch thick		— —	$2 20
2x7 and 1¼ inch thick		— —	2 25
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick		— —	2 30
4x7 6 inch and 1¾ inch thick		— —	4 00

GROCERIES.
Butter, ₰ lb.:
Western	18	19
New York, good to creamy	28	31
Coffee, ₰ lb.:
Rio, fair	17	17¼
Rio, good	18	18
Rio, prime	— —	19
Java, choice O. G.	— —	— —
Candles, ₰ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Chocolate, ₰ lb.:
Cocoa	— —	— —
Sweet	— —	— —
Canned Fruits, ₰ doz.:
Peaches, strawberries and pears	— —	— —
Corn Meal, ₰ bbl.:
Best, K. D.	2 60	2 65
Cheese, ₰ lb.:
Factory	11	12
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	16
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	22 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	2 00
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₰ bbl.:
Superfine	4 25	4 50
XX	— —	5 00
XXX	— —	6 00
Choice XXX	6 25	8 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₰ lb	4	6
Dried peaches, ₰ lb	11	12
Raisins, ₰ quarter box	55	60
Raisins, ₰ half box	— —	1 00
Raisins, ₰ whole box	1 85	1 85
Bananas, ₰ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₰ lb.:
Soda	5	8
Butter	6	7
Sugar	5	9
Gingernuts	9	12
Oil:
Coal, in casks, bbl	40	48
Coal, in barrels, bbl	30	35
Insurance, in casks	— —	30
Insurance, in barrels	— —	25
Lard, in barrels best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	18	20
Fair	22	24
Prime to choice	28	32
Golden and Rouget syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c and kegs 10c more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₰ lb.:
No. 2	3¾	4
Ordinary	4½	5¼
Fair	5¾	— —
Prime to choice	6	6¼
Soap, in boxes, ₰ lb.:
XXX Palm	6	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₰ lb	— —	3½
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 10	1 15
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in hhds.:
Good fair	5¾	5¾
Prime	— —	6
Choice	— —	7
Yellow clarified	8	8½
White clarified	9	9½
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₰ lb.:
Allspice	15	— —
Pepper	14	14
Cloves	30	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₰ lb.:
Black Congo	27	1 10
Green Imperial	30	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₰ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	55	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.
Corn, ₰ bushel:
Yellow	— —	52
White	— —	55
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₰ bushel
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	37
Galena	— —	38
Bran, choice, ₰ 100 lbs	— —	55
Hay, ₰ ton:
Prime	15 00	18 00
Ordinary	— —	13 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	1 40

PROVISIONS.
Bacon, ₰ lb.:
Breakfast	9	9½
Shoulders	— —	8½
Sides, clear rib	— —	7½
Sides, clear	— —	7½
Hams, sugar-cured	10½	11
Mess Pork, ₰ bbl	12 00	12 25
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	4½	4¾
Lard, ₰ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	9½	9¾
Choice, in tierces and barrels	8¾	9

BALING STUFFS.
Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	12	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 ties and buckles	— —	1 80
Twine, hemp	13½	14

DRY GOODS.
Brown Domestic, ₰ yard:
Standard brands, 7/8	7	9
Standard brands, 4/4	7	11
Bleached Domestic, ₰ yard:
Choice brands, ⅞	8	10
Choice brands, 4/4	9	12½
Calico, ₰ yard:
Common brands	5¾	— —
Sprague, Allen & Hamilton	6¾	9
Ticking, ₰ yard:
Colliston brands	10	18½
Good	8	14
Osnaburgs:
Eight Ounce	— —	— —
Stripes	9	11
Checks	12	17
Denims	13	18

POULTRY AND EGGS.
Poultry, ₰ dozen:
Old chickens	3 10	3 25
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 00	3 50
Geese	5 00	6 50
Turkeys	12 00	15 00
Eggs, ₰ dozen:
Western	12	15
Louisiana	15	17

SEWING MACHINES.

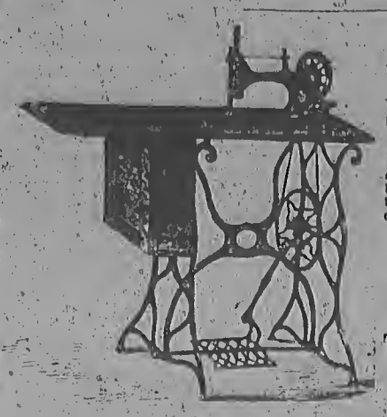
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the prices of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Rogus Ones or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

EXTRACT FROM THE POD.

Dr. Price's Vanilla Flavor is extracted from the Mexican Vanilla Pod. This popular flavor, as made by Dr. Price, embodies the delicate aroma of this agreeable fruit, free from the strong, rank taste of those extracts sold as Vanilla, made from the cheap Tonqua or snuff bean.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MONTGOMERY DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Tuskegee	Jan. 5, 6
Opelika	12, 13
Auburn	19, 20
Tadassee, at Tabiba chapel	26, 27
Tuskegee circuit, at Cotton Valley	Feb. 2, 3
Salem circuit, at Shady Grove	9, 10
Hurtville circuit, at Seal	16, 17
Crawford circuit, at Soule chapel	23, 24
Loachapoka circuit, at Loachapoka	Mar. 2, 3
Montgomery	9, 10
Elmore circuit, at Ellis chapel	16, 17
Wetumpka	23, 24
Sougahatchie mission, at Rocky Springs	30, 31

17 M. S. ANDREWS, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LILIENTHAL'S

PHOTOGRAPH

ART GALLERY,

131 CANAL STREET 131

TOURO BUILDINGS.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

I guarantee the LAMBERT to be the only Picture that WILL NOT FADE.

J. A. LEM. S. ALBERT HOOKER

J. A. LEM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159 CANAL ST. 159

Keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, of all sizes and lengths. Jewelry, Ladies' Combs and Hair Ornaments, etc., made up in all qualities of goods and at the newest styles. A choice assortment of Fans. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

SEED MERCHANT.

I HAVE on hand a large and complete stock of VEGETABLE, FLOWER & GRASS SEEDS, which I offer at the lowest market price. Also, Genuine Red Rust-Proof OATS, in quantities to suit purchasers. Eastern-grown SEED POTATOES a specialty. Almanac and Garden Manual for the Southern States sent free on application.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

Nos. 15 and 17 Dumaine St., New Orleans.

UNDERTAKERS.

CHAS. C. JONES. JOHN C. ROCHE.

(Formerly with Frank Johnson.)

JONES & ROCHE,

250 & 252 MAGAZINE ST., NEAR DELORD.

Undertakers and Embalmers,

All business intrusted to the firm will receive prompt and careful attention at moderate rates. Carriages to hire.

NOTICE.—HAVING MADE CONNECTIONS with our Coal Yard by aid of the Telephone, we are enabled to deliver COAL, to families on the shortest possible notice, and at lowest market rates. Our friends are invited to call and examine our new method of transmitting orders.

C. A. MILTENBERGER & CO.,

85 Camp street.

Yard on Levee, between Race and Robin streets.

MISCELLANEOUS

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS	WRITE FOR PRICES
Stone China TEA SETS
Decorated CHAMBER SETS
Real French China DINNER SETS
Gold Band China TEA SETS
Table TUMBLERS
Table GOBLETS

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

A. BALDWIN, President. JESSE K. BELL, Vice President.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION

OF

The New Orleans National Bank,

DECEMBER 31, 1877.

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000 00
Surplus fund	25,000 00
Undivided profits	7,655 81
Circulation outstanding	178,000 00
Dividends unpaid	9,750 00
Deposits	604,120 72
Due to banks and bankers	25,342 58
Total	$1,000,823 30

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$447,189 77
United States bonds	250,000 00
Premiums on United States bonds	8,661 25
Due from banks and bankers	76,884 75
Furniture and fixtures	2,500 00
Cash	343,572 05
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer	9,000 00
Total	$1,136,823 31

I certify the above statement is correct.

WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ THE BEST OFFER! ☜

We will sell during these hard times

$500 Pianos for $220,

and all other styles in the same proportion, including Grand, Square and Upright—all new and first-class—sold direct to the people at factory prices. No agents; no commissions; no discounts. These Pianos made one of the finest displays at the Centennial Exhibition, and were unanimously recommended for the HIGHEST HONORS. Regularly incorporated Manufacturing Company. New manufactory one of the largest and finest in the world. The Squares contain Mathushek's new patent Duplex Overstrung Scale, the greatest improvement in the history of Piano-making. The Uprights are the finest in America. Pianos sent on trial. Don't fail to write for illustrated and descriptive catalogue, mailed free.

MENDELSSOHN PIANO CO.,

NO. 56 BROADWAY, NEW YORK 8p

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

155 CANAL AND 18 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WANTED.

AT LIND GROVE, LA., a TEACHER to take charge of a school of fifteen or twenty pupils. A lady preferred, and one who could teach Music. Address DR. L. N. RENWICK, Lind Grove, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC STOR

135 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

LEADING MAKERS

OF

PIANOS AND ORGAN

WRITE FOR PRICES.

"We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. It has large facilities, and is conducted on the basis of the utmost and liberality.

J. B. WALKER
J. B. A. ARRE

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPERI

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoulas

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPO

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1 20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra Choice $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb
CHOICE RIO	30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA	30c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station in Mobile or Jackson Railroad. Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 5c. extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extract

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Odors. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Richers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

THE BLANCHARD BLOOD AND NERVE FO

BLANCHARD FOOD CURE CO.,

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, NE PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, PEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCRO CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHE TISM AND LOSS OF VITAL EN

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 16-page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

The only reliable Brain-Invigo

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Expres your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made latest improvements of the above prices. They a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLI METAL WATCH FACTORY 135 Broadway N. Y. P. O. B

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.
D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country. A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 27 Canal street.

A. ROY, Agent.

GEORGE STHOID,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner. 8p

A. A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, TENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure-Bred Land and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLE

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pict

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the A

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old P A SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the c ted ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only fir work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW G LERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place.

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTE

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK-BO MAKERS,

27 COMMERCIAL PLACE,

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc., executed neat, new and dispatch and at Northern pric Sole agents for Pictorial Business and V Cards of all kinds.

PIANOS Retail price, $750; only $ $175. Organs, 18 stops, $120; 12. $65; 9, $45; 2, $45. Second ORGANS warranted, 15 days' test trial. C bargains. 24 pp. illustrated c paper all about Piano-Organ war, free. H. F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

FRANCIONI & FOLSE, COMMI MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western C tice. Solicit consignments of Cotton, Sugar Potatoes, etc. 93 DECATUR ST. (Box 2268) Orleans, La.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with n 10c. post paid. J. B. HUSTED, Nassau, N

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1878. NO. 6.

THE MESSENGER.

Go, go, go,
To the high and to the low,
To the weary who are sighing,
To the crushed ones, faint with crying,
To poor souls with burdens dying;
Tell every one
Christ bids them come.

With the message all may speed,
Go to every land and nation,
Go to every class and station,
Spread the gracious invitation—
Christ's blessed call Extend to all.

Fly, fly, fly,
For Time hastens—Death is nigh.
Haste o'er mount and plain or valley,
Through each highway, byway, alley;
Allmankind to Jesus rally.
He calls to day;
Let none delay.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NORFOLK, Jan. 31.—At 6:30 this ...rgoon the steamship Metropolis, ...m Philadelphia for Para, Brazil, ...t ashore on Currituck beach, ...es miles south of the lighthouse, ...ing a furious southeast gale. ...reat confusion prevailed on board, ...ing to the fury of the gale and the ...ing of the surf, the orders of the ...ers were unheard. About fifty the passengers and crew have ...hed ashore. About two hundred believed to be lost.

WASHINGTON, February 3.—Judge ...kley, in refusing to grant the pe... ...n of J. Madison Wells and others, the Louisiana Returning Board, ...a transfer of their cases to the ...cuit Court of the United States, ...reserved to them the right to ...e an appeal to the Supreme Court the United States.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A special to the ...ndard from Belgrade, on Monday, ...: After a four days' battle the ...ks were defeated near Rutschanik ...000 Servians. The hospitals ...have been ordered to prepare for ...wounded.

The Times' correspondent at Bel... stated that Prince Battenburg, ...n of Alexander of Hesse, will be ...inted regent of Bulgaria.

The Times' correspondent, be... ...d in Erzeroum, writes, January ... Typhus is raging; 250 die daily. ...re are 10,000 sick and wounded in ...hospitals.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 31.—The ...kish government is having diffi... ...y to maintain order in the capital. ...ong the tens of thousands of refu... ...from Roumania are many armed ...assians. These have already ...ndered the towns and are flocking ...Constantinople laden with booty. ...e government wishes to disarm ...m and send them into Asia. ...spalling misery prevails from ...Bosphorus to the Gulf of Salon... The whole coast is crowded ...h terrified Mohammedans, seek... ...transportation across the Straits. ...ndreds are perishing from cold; ...ger and exhaustion, and no suc... ...is possible until the panic and ...fusion in the capital is abated.

LONDON, January 30.—The Times' ...ne dispatch says: The Pope is ...paring an allocution against Rus... ...for the persecution of the church ...Poland, and against King Hum... ...on his accession to the throne ...the assumption of the title "King ...taly."

The Queen of Portugal, daughter ...the late King Victor Emanuel, ...the Pope's god-daughter, is re... ...d admission to the Pope, because ...is residing at the Quirinal.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—The ...mander of the Russian steamer ...stantine reports that he left Se... ...topol for a cruise on the twenty... ...nd instant, and approached Ba... ...on the twenty-sixth, where ...re were seven Turkish vessels. ...Constantine sent a white-head ...edo against a screw steamer, ...ch was on guard outside, and ...k her immediately. The crew ...e all drowned. The Constantine returned to Sevastopol.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 31.—The Rus... Grand Duke Nicholas arrived ... by railway from Hermanlik, ...took quarters in the governor's ...ce.

The Russian vanguard has been ...d Bodaski, Haskoi, Demotica and ...k Kilisa. The Czarowitz's army ...crossed the Lom in force, the ...ks everywhere retreating upon ...fortresses of the quadrilateral.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—A telegram from ...ra announces that the Grand ...er of Turkey has telegraphed to ...Khedive that the protocol of the ...istice is ready for signature. The ...an telegraphed to the Czar ac... ...ting the peace conditions, and ...ing the Czar to stop the advance ...the Russian troops. The Czar re... ...d that he was about to give orders ...hat effect.

A telegram from Constantinople, ...d January 31, says it is expected ... the Russian conditions will be ...municated to the Turkish Parlia... ...t on Saturday. It is said that ...military delegates have fixed the ...s of demarkation, according to ...ch the Russians will provision... ...occupy Erzeroum and Sillistria. ...Mehemet Ali Pasha has been ap... ...inted commander of Pera.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 2.—Russia ...accepted Austria's proposal for ...nference for the settling of Euro... ...n questions resulting from the ... The place of conference has ...yet been determined, but will ...obably be in one of the small States. ...bases of the Russian conditions ...been signed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—The ...r yesterday, after inspection, ad... ...ssed the troops as follows: "I congratulate you upon the armistice, the satisfactory conditions of which are due to our brave troops, who proved that for them nothing is impossible of accomplishment. We are still, however, far from the end, and let us continue to hold ourselves prepared until we obtain a durable peace, worthy of Russia."

Public opinion here, and even more at Moscow, regards the projected conference with disfavor. Some papers speak of the conference as a mere device of the European powers to deprive Russia of all she gained after so heavy an expenditure of blood and treasure, without themselves spending a farthing or losing a man.

The Vedomosti calculates that after the conclusion of peace the Black Sea and Sea of Azof ports will export twenty million quarters of wheat.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Reuter's Athens dispatch to-day announces that the Greeks have captured Doruves at the point of the bayonet. One hundred and fifty Greeks were killed. Five Turkish men-of-war passed through the Dardanelles on Sunday on their way to the Greek coast. There are only five hundred troops in Athens, and a small English gunboat at Piraeus. Hundreds of volunteers are leaving daily for the frontier.

PARIS, Feb. 4.—A telegram, dated Shanghai, China, yesterday (February 3,) published here, announces that an asylum for women and children, at the city of Tientsin, has burned. Over two thousand persons are stated to have perished in the flames.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Standard's correspondent at Vienna telegraphs the following: The situation is still regarded here as serious. It has transpired that Russia is concentrating troops in the interior of Roumania and 120,000 men will be massed toward the west and north, evidently for defense against Austria.

The Berlin correspondent of the Standard says: "The situation is still considered critical. The Czar's address to the troops at St. Petersburg on Sunday, and the calling out of forty new battalions, have further checked public confidence in the early re-establishment of peace."

A special to the Standard, from Athens, states that the port of Piraeus is defended by torpedoes.

The Beys of Epirus have submitted to Greece. Thirteen hundred Turks were taken prisoners at Domoco.

The Post's Berlin dispatch says: It is announced that the proposed European conference will probably meet in Brussels.

Col. Fabra, the Spanish commissioner to the Centennial Exhibition, during a recent trip through the West, visited Toledo, O., upon invitation of the mayor, and met with a warm reception there. The name of the Toledo Blade attracted his attention, and on visiting the office and seeing on the wall of the editorial-rooms an appropriate coat-of-arms, in the shape of a small Toledo sword, he remarked: "My friends, you are worthy of a better blade than that, and I will give you one." There was on exhibition in the Spanish government building at Philadelphia a double-handled sword, from Spain, five and a half feet long, of the best Toledo steel, wrought in imitation of the double-handled "terrors" turned out by the Toledo manufactory in the sixteenth century, and wielded by the knights of that period. The blade is beautifully engraved in grotesque, and bears an inscription telling the time and place of manufacture—"Toledo, Spain; 1873." This formidable weapon is soon to form the new coat-of-arms of the Blade, as the gift of Col. Fabra.

In the Jewish dispensation there were some very holy things—golden vessels in the holy place—and these had a great position, as it were; they occupied a very important place in the manifested presence of God; but yet they were only the shadows of things in the heavens—types of something that was coming—and now we are being taught about the heavenly things themselves. Now what are the heavenly things? If you have come to Jesus, been washed in the precious blood, sealed of the Holy Ghost, you are the heavenly things in Christ—you are the vessels for God's service.

What is needed is not to tell men new things, but to make them new men; not that they should hear some new thing, but that they should do one new thing—serve God, and not their own idle whims. The old gospel, preached in the old way, can alone do this. Not that the pulpit should fail to be abreast of the times—there is no virtue in old fogyism. Not that the preacher should be uninteresting—there is no saving power in dullness. The truth must be presented to men freshly, vigorously; but it must be truth eighteen centuries old that is presented, not something new.—Examiner.

FAITH.—"Without faith it is impossible to please him." Faith, then, is indispensable. Without it the most perfect natural character will not be accepted; while a character naturally most imperfect and distorted may, by the exercise of faith, struggle upward to perfection, encouraged and comforted by the sympathetic assistance of God's Holy Spirit.—American Messenger.

The more you read, study and pray over the Bible, the more you will take heed to it, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place. I have been reading the Bible for forty years, and am but an A B C scholar in it yet. It is still as fresh as ever.—Romain.

International Sunday School Convention.

The International Sunday School Convention will be held at Atlanta, Ga., April 17-19, 1878.

At the meeting of the executive committee, held in New York, October 4, 1877 the undersigned were appointed a Committee on Delegations to the above named convention. Information concerning the subject in hand is therefore given, as follows:

1. The convention will be strictly a delegated body.

2. Each State or Territory is entitled to send a delegation equal to double its representation in the Senate and Congress of the United States. Canadian representatives in the same ratio.

3. Members of the executive committee are ex officio members of the convention, and therefore need not receive appointment from the States in which they severally dwell.

4. Where State or Provincial Associations (Union) exist, they are entitled to appoint the delegates from their own fields, and to issue certificates of appointment to the same.

5. Where no such organizations exist, applications for appointment, or nominations of suitable parties, should be made as follows:

For Canada, the New England States and New York to the Rev. Henry M Parsons, 151 Chippewa street, Buffalo, N. Y.

For the Middle, Western and Pacific States, to the Rev. George A. Peltz, Jamestown, N. Y.

For the Southern and Southwestern States, to the Rev. T. C. Boykin, Atlanta, Ga.

6. Representatives of benevolent societies, or of denominations, cannot be received as such.

7. Duly accredited delegates are assured of a hearty welcome to the homes of Atlanta if, by April 1, they forward notice of their appointment to W. S. Whidby, Esq., Atlanta, Ga.

8. A representative of the Committee on Delegations will be in constant attendance at Atlanta to fill existing vacancies not otherwise provided for; to issue tickets entitling delegates to reserved seats and other privileges; and to meet such other demands within its province as may arise.

9. Full delegations from all parts of the field are earnestly desired, as matters of vital interest to Sunday school work will come before the convention.

GEORGE A PELTZ,
Jamestown, N. Y.
HENRY M PARSONS,
Buffalo, N. Y.
T. C. BOYKIN, Atlanta, Ga.,
Committee on Delegations.

SINGLE BLESSEDNESS.—If it is true that, for the greater number of us, married life is the perfect life, it is equally true that for others of us, the single life is the perfect life. In the case of men it is superfluous either to illustrate it by instances, or to support it by argument; especially when we remember that the solution of the question rests usually with themselves. As for unmarried women, what a dreary wilderness this earth would be without them! In thousands of homes the maiden sister or aunt is the very angel of the family, the children's idol, the secret wonder and delight even of those who too scrupulously use her; by sick-beds and death-beds a divine consoler; the depository of the sweet secrets of blushing hearts, the tender friend of the old, and the poor, and the lonely. Old maids, indeed! Why, with certain obvious exceptions, they are the very salt of the earth, the calm and sweet life of the household that is so blessed as to own them; their distinction, to be wanted by everybody; their reward, to be useful to everybody; their home—the snuggest, warmest place in the hearts that can love. And if they have a niche to fill on earth, as none can fill like them, many of them shall have a crown of surpassing brightness in heaven. Men, and women too, sometimes keep single not so much because no one cares for them, but because they themselves care for Christ first and most. The chosen solitariness of an unmarried life is occasionally the sacrifice of self, secretly but deliberately laid at the feet of him who pleased not himself; and it has, and shall have, its great recompense. "The unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and spirit." Presently she will find out, and others also, that the Lord has cared for her.—Sunday Magazine.

"He shall come down like rain upon the mown grass." Observe that the peculiar characters of the grass, which adapt it especially for the service of man, are its apparent humility and cheerfulness: Its humility, in that it seems created only for lowest service—appointed to be trodden on and fed upon. Its cheerfulness, in that it seems to exult under all kinds of violence and suffering. You roll it, and it is stronger the next day; you mow it, and it multiplies its shoots, as if it were grateful; you tread upon it, and it only sends up richer perfume.—Ruskin.

Living in sensible comforts and joys is rather a part of our reward than of our duty. It would, therefore, save modest and pious persons a great deal of disquiet if they would learn to judge of their spiritual condition by duties and services, rather than by consolations.—Boyle.

The address of Rev. K. A. Jones is Valden, Miss.

Brazilian Mission.

REV. D. C. KELLEY, D. D.: It is now a long time since I read that good book, The Preacher's Manual; yet Memory, faithful guardian of the past, still recalls many of the vivid impressions then made upon my youthful spirit. Among other things which fixed themselves upon my recollection was a certain story of a preacher whose text was: "He that believeth shall not make haste." Having an economico-ecclesiastical essay to write you, I propose the above by way of introduction. A quotation from your letter of October 17, 1877, shall serve for text:

"As to your own work—we shall expect you to give yourself to the preaching of the word until you hear from the board, after the May meeting, 1878. I do not mean by this that other missionary work is not to be undertaken; the restriction applies only to the fact that you are not expected to make any arrangements, which will involve expense of any kind, until after May."

1. We note here that it is "expected" that I give myself "to the preaching of the word." This is the positive side of the injunction, the "shalt do" of the text. The first part of the law to Adam was: "Keep the garden;" the first part of the text is: "Give yourself to the preaching of the word." The injunction to Adam implied his ability, presupposed that it was rendered possible for him to "keep the garden."

But (a) the first part of the text is addressed to a Methodist missionary; hence it does not mean "preaching of the word" for the "Presbyterians," or the "Fluminenses," in their respective houses of worship; but on the contrary:

(b) "Preach the word" as a Methodist missionary to a Methodist congregation, in the house of worship for Methodists, where you can preach distinctive Arminianism, and, distinctive Methodism, and build up a Methodist Church; for this you were sent to Brazil.

2. "You are not expected to make any arrangements, which will involve expense of any kind, until after May." Adam had his "forbidden fruit," so had I—it was this second injunction to beware of "arrangements which will involve expense." Adam could keep the garden—his keeping from the fruit did not interfere with that. In this he was more fortunate than I—the second part of my text nullifies, cancels the first. To "give myself to the preaching of the word," as this phrase has been explained, is inseparable from "arrangements which involve expense," and considerable expense.

3. "And he did eat."—Genesis iii, 6. "And I did eat."—Genesis iii, 12.

1. I have to day closed a contract for a house for 1878. The necessary papers are to be passed to-morrow afternoon. The house is on the Cattette, the prettiest street in the city of Rio de Janeiro, and is admirably adapted for our purpose; indeed, will be the best located Protestant house of worship in the city. The house is large. From the Cattette you enter a vestibule which has two doors—one opening into what will be the pastor's room; the other into the audience-room, which has a capacity of seating two hundred people, more or less. The audience-room is neatly furnished, has excellent acoustic properties, and is altogether perhaps the best hall in the city. Two doors open from the audience-room into another large hall, whose capacity is of about seventy-five or one hundred people, and whose windows, as those of the audience-room, open on the Cattette. The house is at the corner of the Cattette and the street Bella da Princeza. Entering from Bella da Princeza, you pass into a hall that runs the whole length of the three rooms just mentioned, and which communicates with them by three doors. On the left of this hall are three rooms, besides pantry, kitchen, bath-room, etc. On the second floor are four rooms, and on the third, one. Having been engaged since October 1 in hunting a hall, I know that it is impossible to obtain one without obtaining the house in which it is situated, and we might search the city through, and for convenience and suitableness of location we could not find another equal to the one which I have rented.

The gospel is for all men; one of the proofs of Christ's Messiahship was that "the poor had the gospel preached unto them." It is only the poorer class of people that has accepted the gospel in Brazil. There are plenty of poor people near enough to our house of worship; but that part of the city contains also the wealth, the rank and the learning of the capital of Brazil. They, too, have souls not whiter nor cleaner than those of other folks, but just as solemnly immortal, and as sadly restless and Spirit-hungry as the souls of the poorer and less educated. Is it wrong that we look to them especially? God knows we long to send the gospel, like the breath of the tropics, to blow upon every green mountain of the American empire—these of whom I speak, if won to the truth, have the learning and eloquence to win back the multitudes to that faith in the spiritual and eternal from which they are slowly drifting—these, if consecrated to Jesus, have the means with which to send through all the land the messengers of salvation.

5. Our house will cost per year $1,900 in United States currency. Seats will cost $150 or $200 additional; a man to take care of the house, $225 per annum. We need an organ, which will cost $175 to $250. On the whole, will need for our house of worship $2 500 for 1878.

To meet this I have the promise of the board for $500, which was to be forwarded December 1, 1877. Also there is an assessment of $1 450 for my "salary and rent of a preaching-place" for 1878. A total of $150 may be expected from some friends in Rio de Janeiro. So that, not to speak of how I am to live, there will only be a deficit of $400 on the score of expenses. As I disobeyed express instructions in taking this step, I now proceed to reveal to the Methodist Episcopal Church South how I proposed to carry on the enterprise should the worst come to the worst. First, as to current expenses. I secured the promise of a loan sufficiently large to keep the ball in motion for one year. Should the board say, "You have not obeyed instructions—we wash our hands of the matter," I calculated the probable profits of a school, which I myself would conduct during the week, at sufficient to meet my own expenses, and the aforesaid deficit of $400. This would curtail, if not forestall, pastoral work; but so be it.

A WORD TO HIM THAT READETH.

My essay is written. I wish Dr. Kelley to publish, and I hope that every paper in our connection will give it a place in its columns. For two years I have been trying to prepare myself for work here; now I wish to be heard. My heart burned within me as I followed Bishop Marvin's path of light around the globe. Thanks, be to God! China is open, Japan is open, the whole world is open to receive the gospel; but, brethren, no door is wider open than that which lets our church into Brazil. The door is open, the bolts and bars of intolerant bigotry that held it fast are shattered forever, and a liberal constitution and an enlightened public opinion have made our access to this people but little more difficult than to the people of the great republic.

Do not understand by what I say in my essay that I supposed the board would disapprove of my renting the preaching-place. I did not think so. I have other things to say. I will be brief.

Nothing has touched me more; among all the sweet surprises of my mission-life, than a little notice I read in the Nashville Advocate of October 27, 1877, that the Sunday school at Clarksville, Texas, had forwarded to the secretary of missions $25, with the request that it be applied to my support. The Sunday schools of the Tennessee Conference, to which I belong, have done a noble thing in resolving to support the Rev. W. R. Lambuth, M. D., our last missionary to China.

Why I write now is to say: The Brazil mission is the youngest of our missions. We are just struggling into existence. Will not the church make us a donation of the $2 500 needed for our church for 1878? I appeal to the Sunday schools, I appeal to individual Methodists, I appeal to every man, woman and child who is interested, and has faith in our work in Brazil. Let this be separate and apart, over and above the regular missionary collections—let it be a free-will offering!

J. J. RANSOM.

As the secretary to whom the care of this work has been given, I hereby wish to state my joy, my great joy, that we have the hall. Thank God! I prefer to print the following private note, although not intended by the writer for the public. Will not the church at once provide for this extra expense? Shall we, like Paul, plant Christianity in the great centers? or, for the sake of economy, hide in the corners?

D. C. KELLEY,
Assistant Secretary.

P. S.—I hope you will find nothing particularly objectionable in the article inclosed. I think we have a bargain in our house, and so think my most prudent friends. You see things are costly in Brazil.

How about a school? We have plenty of room for a large day college—we only lack money for teachers. Don't be frightened; I won't employ any teachers on my own responsibility. I will (D. V.) live in the house from March on. Until March my rooms are engaged. If you send out any help, the additions to our force will, perhaps, not find the house disagreeable for a residence.

I very much wish we had money for a paper in Portuguese, if only for the publication of Bible studies.

The pastor of the Presbyterian church here, who is secretary and treasurer of their missions, and superintendent also, I think, paid me the high compliment of requesting me to write an apology for Christianity in reply to Renan's works, adding that their mission would publish anything I would write upon that subject. A hand-book of that sort is very much needed, and so I am preparing Young's "Christ of History" for them, thinking if the best I knew, and preferring to defer the attempt at anything original. They are to give me twenty-five copies, and sell to our mission at a reduction under their wholesale price. The work is expected to be out in April. Respectfully, J. J. RANSOM.

CAIXA 381 DO CORREIO GERAL,
Rio de Janeiro, Brazil,
Thursday, Dec. 20, 1877.

Time has laid his hand upon my heart gently, not smiting it; but as a harper lays his open palm upon his harp to deaden its vibrations.—Longfellow.

The address of Rev. T. F. Mangum is Selma, Ala.

To the Members of the Louisiana Annual Conference.

Full complements of the minutes of our late Conference session were forwarded last week to the preachers in charge of the various stations and circuits.

In order to facilitate transmission to the destined points we publish the following list:

The packages for Bastrop, Lind Grove, Oak Ridge, Rayville and Floyd were sent to Monroe, care of Rev. P. H. Moss.

For Downsville, Farmerville and Indian Village, to Trenton, care Rev. C. W. Carter.

For Winnsboro, Oakley and Tensas, to Waterproof, care Rev. B. F. Alexander.

For Homer, Lisbon and Haynesville, to Minden, care of Rev. J. E. Bradley.

For Caddo, Logansport, DeSoto, Mansfield, South and North Bossier, to Shreveport, care of Rev. J. T. Daves.

For Rapides, Bayou Boeuf, Evergreen and Spring Creek, to Alexandria, care Rev. C. Keener.

For Centerville and Trinity, to Harrisonburg, care Rev. J. F. Marshall.

For Opelousas, Plaquemine Brulee and Grand Coteau, to Washington, care Rev. R. S. Isbell.

For Abbeville and Indian Bayou, to New Iberia, care Rev. M. C. Manley.

For Grand Chenliere, Sugartown and Calcasieu Mission, to Lake Charles, care Rev. A. H. Moss.

All other packages were sent either by mail or by direct shipping route.

Fraternally,

S. H. SCHROEDER,
Publisher.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5, 1878.

NOTICE.—The minutes of the Alabama Conference have been sent out. If any member fails to receive the package sent to his address he will please notify me, as I have reserved a few copies.

There have been some changes in the postoffices since the minutes were put in type. The address of Rev. T. F. Mangum is now Selma; J. S. Frazer is at Bellville; R. N. Ledbetter, at Daphne; M. M. Graham is at Gravella; and there may be other changes of address of which I have not been notified; but I have done the best I could.

R. B. CRAWFORD,
Sec. Alabama Conference.

OPELIKA, ALA., Jan. 30, 1878.

NOTICE.—The secretaries or editors of the minutes of the Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church South are earnestly requested to furnish me a copy of the minutes of the last session. They will receive, if address is given, a copy of the South Carolina Conference minutes in exchange. Any others furnished on remitting ten cents to cover charges. Address

A. M. CHRIETZBERG,
Newberry Ct., S. C.

JANUARY 30, 1878.

FAITH AND COURAGE.—He who by faith in Jesus evinces courage in the hour of temptation; knowledge, so as to take a broad and comprehensive view of things when others are contending about the merest trifles; moderation when worldly success is flowing in upon him, and others would be swept away by the tide into extravagance; patience when he is tried either by personal afflictions or the provoking conduct of his fellow-men; godliness, in holy fellowship with Jehovah, even when business is pressing most hardly on his attention; brotherly kindness, in doing good to his fellow-Christians, even when in many respects they are personally objectionable to him, and love in caring for all men for Christ's sake, even when they may return it with insult and ingratitude—he is the fruit-bearing Christian. It is not the cultivation of a series of states of heart, one after the other, we are to seek; but rather the possession of the one Christ-like spirit, and when we have that, each of the graces will shine forth as its presence is required.—Christian at Work.

BEYOND REPAIR.—The Last of the Lessie Taylor.—This unfortunate steamboat, whose donkey boiler exploded a short time ago at the wharf, committing damage already familiar to the public, has again been visited by a misfortune which will strike the name of the Lessie Taylor from the roster of steamboats. At five o'clock on Sunday morning she struck a snag in the lower part of the Atchafalaya, causing a total loss of herself and cargo. The passengers and crew are all safe.—Picayune, February 5.

No man can be brave who considers pain to be the greatest evil of life; nor temperate who considers pleasure to be the highest good.—Cicero.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1878.

HE LEADS US ON.

He leads us on
By paths we did not know.
Upward he leads us, though our steps be slow.
Though storms and darkness oft obscure the day,
Yet, when the clouds are gone,
We know he leads us on.

He leads us on Through all the tangled years
Past all our dreamland hopes, and doubts and fears.
He guides our steps. Through all the tangled maze
Of sin, of sorrow, and o'erclouded days
We know his will is done
And still he leads us on.

And he at last,
After the weary strife,
After the restless fever we call life—
After the dreariness, the aching pain—
The wayward struggles which have proved in vain—
After our toils are past—
Will give us rest at last.

Sketch of Rev. B. M. Drake.

NUMBER 1.

The separated prisms and pieces of glass which compose a kaleidoscope convey no pleasant sensation to the eye or mind of the beholder; but when scientifically arranged and presented to the light they produce a countless variety of beautiful colors and radiant figures, and illustrate in some degree human character. Separate a man from association with his fellow-beings, and but little appears to interest others. Place him in favorable circumstances socially, and by contact with the qualities and sympathies of others, and his own are developed, and his character illuminated; for, "though each human life is, in a sense, complete in itself, and must work itself out independently of and clinging to no other, yet there is a beautiful mystery in the way one life influences another."

Dr. Drake was ever desirous that the experiences and examples of useful Christians should be preserved, to keep them in remembrance, and especially to benefit the living, but made no provision for anything of the kind in his own case. His epistolary correspondence was very extensive and interesting. His letters to his family and friends, a few scraps of his journal, etc., will furnish material for this memorial.

Tradition, carefully preserved in different branches of the Drake family, runs their genealogy backward for more than two hundred years, without a broken link, to the first emigrants from England, the various accounts agreeing in all important items. One of these we give from a letter written to Dr. Drake, in 1854, by his uncle, Maj. John H. Drake, of North Carolina, who was then residing with his daughter, Mrs. White, in Auburn, Ala. He says: "I will here give you the tradition of the Drake family as I received it from old Matthew Drake,* who was a merchant and traded to Virginia. He said that about two hundred years ago, or more, three young men by the name of Drake came into the mouth of James river from old England. One of them settled in Southampton county, Va., one of them went to the North, say Rhode Island, and the other went South, say to South Carolina. * * * From the brother who settled in Southampton sprang all the Drakes that peopled North Carolina and Virginia."

James Drake, of the sixth generation from the first emigrant, was the only son of Matthew Drake and Millica (or Milbery) Griffin. He was a native of Nash county, N. C.; was twice married, and raised fifteen children of large stature, neither sons nor daughters weighing at maturity less than two hundred pounds each. His son Albrittain, not inferior in size to the others, was noted in youth for great physical strength and personal bravery, and from his superiority in gymnastic games was called by his companions "Great Britain." He was a volunteer in the American army at the age of fourteen, and was commended for his gallant defense of his father's house when attacked by a party of tories under Capt. Beard, as related in Wheeler's History of North Carolina. He was also gifted with superior intellectual powers, but for various reasons had but few opportunities of improving them, which was probably the cause of his not desiring for his children more than the common branches of an English education. He was, however, well acquainted with the science of vocal music, and had a voice not only of great compass and power, but also of richness and melody.

The maternal grandfather of Dr. Drake was Michael Collins, who married Ann Perry. Their daughter, Ruth Collins, was married to Albrittain Drake in 1784 or 1785, and they afterward removed from Nash to Robeson county, in the same State. They were not professing Christians then, though inclined to the Baptist Church; but through the labors of Rev. Thomas Humphries were converted, joined the Methodist Church, and offered their house for the preaching of the word.

Mrs. Drake's figure was slight, her mind well balanced, and her manners unostentatious and unconsciously graceful. She was a tender and watchful mother. Their older children were John, Sophia, Silas, Collins and James Perry. On the eleventh of September, 1800, Benjamin Michael was added to the number, and in due time followed William and Edmund. The long, framed building in which Benjamin was born, the large spreading mulberry-tree, embowered in a luxuriant grape-vine at the west end, the beautiful stream of water flowing by on the east, with other surroundings, made impressive by the sports and tender affections of childhood, formed a cherished picture in his memory, which seemed to grow fresher with added years. In the fall of 1809, leaving the oldest son (who had married) in Robeson county, Mr. Drake left North Carolina, stopped for a year in Tennessee, and made one crop. There his son-in-law and family remained, and the rest of the family removed to Kentucky and settled permanently in Muhlenberg county, about twenty miles from Russelville. Here they were again found by the earnest itinerant; and again, till a church was built near them, their doors were opened for the preaching of the gospel. The earthquakes of 1811 and 1812 (in Kentucky, as elsewhere) caused great consternation. They were first felt at night. Mr. A. Drake sprang from his bed, thinking that some one was trying to frighten him, but soon realized the true cause of the shock. Before day the house was filled with his neighbors, entreating him to pray for them, there being but one other layman in the vicinity who prayed in public. Many of them thought the judgment day had come. Such scenes were repeated for many nights. A number thus awakened continued faithful to the end. With Benjamin and his brother Silas, as with others, "the fear of the Lord was the beginning of wisdom." The former was only eleven years old, but determined to seek the pearl of great price. He afterward spoke of the darkness which at this time prevailed at night as resembling that in Egypt—so intense that it could be felt. During the day copious showers of rain fell. Their home was included in the Christian circuit, Bro. Axley being the presiding elder, and Bro. Cartwright the circuit preacher. On one occasion, after service in his father's house, Bro. Cartwright invited any who desired it to join the church. Benjamin went forward with great trepidation, fearing he was too young to be received, and was comforted when the preacher took his hand and he saw his name registered in the class-book. When dismissed he passed hastily out of the room to avoid observation, but saw a young girl silently point at him the finger of scorn. How often have such trivial incidents caused persons to make shipwreck of their good intentions, and what a fearful responsibility is assumed by the authors of them. Fortunately in this case his wounded feelings had no power to shake his determination. He had, on the whole, the advantage of country schools for somewhat less than two years, his teachers reporting rapid progress. During his seventeenth year he superintended his father's laborers, plowing and otherwise working with them, with good success. A copy of Plutarch's Lives, which he found in his brother Silas' library, greatly interested him, and increased his love of reading and study. Meantime he attended all the means of grace within his reach, never failing to be at the altar when mourners were called.

Though his natural cheerfulness and social qualities led him at times to mingle with gay young company, and caused him to suffer loss, the recollection that he was a member of the church restrained him from anything which could bring a reproach on the cause; and the watchfulness of his anxious mother, who would privately talk with and pray for him, prevented any serious decline of earnestness. About the close of 1817 he requested his father, if he had anything to give him, that it might be spent on his education. The old gentleman consented to indulge him, but said if he preferred his portion in that way it would be all he could give him. He accepted the terms, but his purpose was delayed by unfavorable circumstances, and finally given up.

At a nightly prayer meeting, held at a Bro. Harvey's, on the twenty-second of May, 1818, he became so deeply interested as to cry aloud for mercy. Rev. J. Dava, the circuit preacher, engaged in fervent prayer for him, exhorting him to give up self-dependence and rest in Jesus alone. While striving to follow his instructions he was enabled to lay down his burden, and saw by faith the Savior smiling on him from the cross. He remained in quiet prayer till more fully assured, and then arose, shouting the praises of God,—confession still more strengthening his faith. A provoking circumstance occurred as he left the house, and though he controlled his feelings, satan used it to annoy him; but prayer, so all-prevailing, was resorted to again, the victory obtained, and he never afterward doubted his conversion. The next morning his mother told him she knew by his countenance that he was converted.

He was soon after called on to pray in public. He feared to refuse, but could only say: "God be merciful to us sinners." A good brother called out: "Amen!" The eternal interests of men are sometimes influenced by responding to or refusing to yield to the first call to duty. In a short time after this "the Spirit began to move him" to declare the unsearchable riches of Christ. Feeling his want of education, and having an humble opinion of his talents, he hesitated, and entreated his Maker to excuse him; being willing to live always unnoticed and obscure if he might save his soul without preaching. But still the voice said: "Cry!" and he felt that "woe is me if I preach not the gospel." His hesitation caused him for a time to lose religious comfort. Some almost miraculous escapes from death had some influence, but his course was finally determined by reading "Sutcliff's Divine Mission of the Methodists." He was licensed to exhort June 7, 1819, by Rev. John Craig, and to preach on the eighteenth of September of the same year, by Rev. Marcus Lindsey, having just passed his nineteenth birthday. A letter of counsel to him is still preserved in the beautiful handwriting of this able and devoted minister; for though deformed in both hands, Mr. Lindsey was an elegant scribe. We make from it the following selections. It is dated November 19, 1819.

"Dear Brother: Grace, mercy and peace be multiplied to you, etc. You are just now entering upon the theater of the world; young and inexperienced, and almost entirely unacquainted with the innumerable snares to which you are exposed. You stand doubly responsible in your present situation—you now sustain the character of a minister of Christ as well as a member of his church. Here should you step aside, you disgrace the church, the holy ministry of the gospel, in a sense above the improprieties into which a merely private member falls. Methodism is groaning under the backsliding of its members and preachers. * * * Some grow proud and so excessively foppish that they seem to have lost sight of their own souls' salvation. Others commence their ministerial labors and courtship at the same time. * * * This latter class merit the contempt they meet. * * * Now I write these things to you that you sin not. Being my beloved son, I warn you with great plainness. I exhort, first of all: Be pious. Be studious, and very watchful. Acquaint yourself with the Holy Scriptures. Labor to get souls converted; Especially indulge no chit-chat with young women. Pray to God to lay the worth of souls near your heart, and the very God of peace give you understanding in all things. Yours in love,

M. LINDSEY."

(At the last quarterly meeting for the year Mr. Drake was presented by his presiding elder for recommendation to the Annual Conference. A local preacher, who had a low estimate of his abilities, used his influence successfully to prevent his reception. Mr. Lindsey was much grieved, and after Conference continued his license, and appointed him to assist Rev. W. Gunn on the Henderson circuit. The two young men passed round together, alternately preaching and exhorting. Mr. Drake's diffidence often gained such ascendency that he could say but little. As they were one day leaving the church a good brother greeted them, first asking Mr. Drake how long he had been preaching, and, being answered, looked on him with pity, as if he thought he would not succeed. Then, addressing the same question to Mr. Gunn, said: "You'll do very well for a one-year-old." The young man's discouragement may be imagined. His perseverance attests the purity of his motives, and his future success adds additional testimony to the efficiency of the system which he always thought superior to any other mode of theological training. The discouragements just named caused him again to fear that he had run before he was sent, and he besought the Lord, if he had really called him to labor in his vineyard, that he might know he was instrumental in the salvation of souls. After services held in a country church, not far from Henderson, a lady, who professed religion at the time, came forward and told him he was the instrument of her awakening and conversion. He received this as an answer to prayer. At the closing quarterly meeting for this year the local preacher who had previously opposed his recommendation said to Mr. Lindsey: "You had better stop that young man. He never will preach." "He will preach," said Mr. Lindsey. "He is a good young man. I have known him at his father's." Fearing, however, to rely too much on his own judgment, the presiding elder determined to test him publicly, and let that issue decide the question. As he descended from the pulpit, after the eleven-o'clock service, he touched the young man on the shoulder, saying: "You must preach to-night." It was like an electric shock; but disobedience was not to be thought of. Immediately after dining he retired to a wood, and continued in wrestling prayer, trying in vain to suit himself with a text; but toward evening the clouds dispersed. A subject was presented to his mind on which he had light. He returned, without supping, to the church. The introductory singing had commenced by a large congregation. He entered the pulpit calmly, and afterward said he was never more divinely assisted. Seekers came forward after service. Mr. Lindsey was confirmed in his opinion, and objections ceased. He was recommended by the Quarterly and received by the Annual Conference, which commenced its session in Hopkinsville, Ky., on the fourth of October, 1820, and appointed, with S. P. V. Gillispy and J. Craig, to the Fountain Head circuit, which then included Hopkins county, Ky., and Sumner county, Tenn.

* Grandfather of Mrs. Baxter Clegg.

Why Are Our Children Lost to the Church?—No. 3.

4. Another cause of the loss of our children to the church is the neglect of their parents to supply them, at an early period, with the primary doctrinal, biographical and historical literature of our church. A few dimes judiciously laid out in the purchase of our Sabbath school literature, doctrinal tracts, and other denominational books, easy of comprehension by children and youths, with suitable instruction and encouragement to them to read, would start them all right, at least, in the theory of Methodism. But, as it is, too many of them are permitted to grow up in ignorance of the scriptural authority of our doctrines, Christian experience and church polity; so that they are liable to be misled by the imposing ceremonies of other churches which have no foundation in the Bible. Instead of having their hearts established in the truth, they are easily "tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive."

5. Another very effectual cause of the perversion of our children from the church is that of placing them at school under influences not only subversive of Methodism, but, in many instances, of all Protestant Christianity. As a denomination we have as good schools, academies, colleges and universities as any elsewhere extant in the country, and yet, for no apparently good reason, many of our Methodist parents prefer to place their children at seminaries of learning where not only their Methodism, but too often their Protestantism, is neutralized for life, and we see them either unite with other churches, or stray off from all religious influences and die out of the church.

6. I am orthodox on the subject of Sunday schools, and where they are conducted in a way not to alienate the children from attendance on the regular public means of grace, they may be made very subservient to the successful preaching of the gospel. But I notice, with deep regret, that in some places, especially in towns and cities, as soon as the Sabbath school is dismissed most of the children return home, to take holiday, while their parents go to the eleven-o'clock preaching. At evening preaching also most of the Sunday school children are absent, so that many of them seldom hear a sermon from their pastor. The result is that when many of our Methodist children are done with the Sabbath school they are also done with the church, and seldom come to hear the word preached. There is a fault somewhere just here. Nothing should be allowed to hinder our children from regular attendance on the preaching of the gospel; for "faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God." Have the Sabbath school earlier, so as to give the children a short recess before preaching, or have it in the afternoon; but by all means have the children present at the preaching.

My main object in these brief outlines has been to call the attention of our Methodist families to the humiliating and alarming fact that many of our children are forever lost to the church, and that large numbers of them are now in an unconverted state. Could I get the ear of the church I would suggest that with the beginning of this new year we begin to make special and united prayer for the speedy conversion of the children of our church. Should we go about this matter in good earnest, and use all other needed appliances, I believe many hundreds of them would be truly born of God before the close of 1878.

J. G. JONES.

PORT GIBSON, Miss'ppi.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

BRO. LEM. P. DAY was born July 31, 1829, and died January 3, 1878, at the residence of his father, in Tunica, West Feliciana parish, La. Bro. Day was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1857, at a protracted meeting held in West Baton Rouge parish, conducted by Rev. J. C. Keener (now Bishop.) He had been identified for some years past with the church at Tunica, and was favorably known all around this district. He was a devoted son, an indulgent father, an affectionate brother, a genial and obliging neighbor, and a trusty friend. His neighbors say he was generous to a fault, and they regarded his presence as almost indispensable to the welfare of the community. We knew him for two years, and think the above is a fair estimate of his character. We have said he was converted in 1857. His heart was then turned to God, he walked for a time in obedience to the commands of his Savior; but, alas! during the troublous times of the war he wandered far away from his heavenly Father's house. Like the psalmist, Bro. Day could exclaim: "Before I was afflicted I went astray, but now have I kept thy word." He who came "to seek and to save that which was lost" sought and found the wanderer while languishing on a bed of sickness. "There is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation: that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners." "Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not; behold, your God will come and save you." "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." Precious promises! now doubly dear to the friends of Bro. Day, for he was enabled to grasp them, and through grace by faith privileged to realize Christ a present and all-sufficient Savior. A few hours before death Bro. Day declared himself fully reconciled to God through the atoning merit of the Lord Jesus Christ. He died with faith in God, confiding hope in immortality, and in charity with all mankind. May his death be sanctified to the growth in grace of his entire household. May its salutary lessons be stamped indelibly upon the church and the entire community of Tunica.

PASTOR.

DIED, at the home of her parents, in Perry county, Ala., twenty-four miles north of Summerfield, January 11, 1878, Mrs. FRANCES ELIZABETH WOOLLEY, wife of Mr. J. C. Woolley, and daughter of S. M. and N. A. Bolling. The deceased was born in Perry county, February 22, 1857, and had been married only two years when she died. Her life, from earliest infancy, had been one of uniform gentleness and loveliness of disposition, developing, as she grew into womanhood, with attractiveness and beauty of person, all those valuable traits of character that make one useful, lovely, and worthy of regard. She had a tender and loving heart, a sweet and gentle manner, a serene and quiet nature, and withal such cheerfulness of spirit and devotion as a wife that won the admiration and esteem of all, and rendered her an element of joy and sunshine in the family into which, through a good Providence, she had married. She bore the great suffering of her short illness with fortitude and Christian patience. The day before she died she called the entire family and friends around her bedside, and sung with great earnestness the song, "I am going home to-morrow," giving expression to her feelings of joyous and triumphant faith in praises to God at the end of each stanza.

As her final hour approached she became perfectly reconciled to death, confident of her salvation, giving evidence that she was cleansed from all sin by the blood of the Lamb, and passed away gently and calmly, in full assurance of meeting her Savior, bidding farewell to all, with an earnest petition on her dying lips that husband, father, mother, sister, brothers and friends would meet her in the promised land. On earth "none knew her but to love her," while now she is to be ever remembered as a redeemed and joyous spirit on a better and brighter shore.

A FRIEND.

SISTER AMANDA LEE was born November 11, 1814, in Choctaw county, Ala. She was married to Bro. John Adams October 19, 1866, and departed this life December 18, 1877, in the city of Mobile.

For several years she was a member of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church South in this city, and manifested the Christian life and character by a godly walk. Trained under religious influence, she gave herself to Jesus at an early day, walking in his ways blameless. The past year has been one of much severe affliction, but also of great religious comfort. The fell destroyer—consumption—claimed her for its victim, but she was victorious in the conflict. Often have I been at the bedside of departing saints, but never have I been more solemnly impressed with the power of religion to remove the sting of death than in this last scene. It left a lively desire, stronger than heretofore, in my heart to "die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

In my frequent visits I heard no murmurs. All impatience was expressed in the sentiment of C. Wesley's hymn—a desire for the messenger to come, and enable her to lay the burden of body and pain in the [illegible] She is safe. Let our sympathies lean to bereaved husband and the orphaned [illegible] drea; while to the members of St. Pa[illegible] would address the closing words of the [illegible] later at the grave: "The last act of kind[illegible] is now done for our departed friend. Know how she lived; we have seen her died. "Go and do likewise."

T. W. MATHE[illegible]

DIED, at his residence in Wash[illegible]ton county, Miss., January 11, 1878, Rev. N. RAINEY, aged forty-seven years.

Bro. Rainey was born in Greene co[illegible] Ala., and was raised in Attala county, [illegible] where he was licensed to preach [illegible] twenty years ago, by the Methodist E[illegible]pal Church South. If was during the [illegible] think, that he removed with his fa[illegible] Winston county, where, in 1866, he dis[illegible] his connection with the Methodist C[illegible] and connected himself with the Cumb[illegible] Presbyterian Church, in which he [illegible] actively engaged in the Master's work [illegible] called to his reward.

No man was held in greater esteem [illegible] community than himself. He had the [illegible] confidence of both saint and sinner. [illegible] his health had not been good for some [illegible] he was stricken down only a few days [illegible] his decease, having preached on Sab[illegible] fore his death on Thursday. He left [illegible] words, nor were any needed. He [illegible] the talent the Lord gave him, and [illegible] doubtless heard the plaudit, "well [illegible] good and faithful servant; enter into [illegible] of thy Lord."

He leaves a wife and six children, [illegible] a brother in the North Mississippi Co[illegible] ence. May the Lord comfort the [illegible] ones.

W. P. ANT[illegible]

DAVID A. HOOPER died at [illegible] residence of his father-in-law, Gen. [illegible] Patton, near Meridian, Miss., on the [illegible] December 25, 1877, aged forty-seven [illegible]

At an early age he was thrown in[illegible] resources. He was well known in [illegible] Alabama and east Mississippi as a [illegible] journalist, and was for many years con[illegible] with the leading newspapers of Mob[illegible] Meridian. Several years before his de[illegible] abandoned this profession and turned [illegible] attention to other pursuits.

Through exposure he became a v[illegible] the fatal disease, consumption, and h[illegible] brought gradually, through several ye[illegible] the grave. His active life ended in [illegible] ber, when, with constitution broke[illegible] and health destroyed, he found it [illegible] abandon all business and lie down a h[illegible] victim of disease. It was then his [illegible] were turned to the importance of a pr[illegible] tion to meet God. To this subject he [illegible] dressed himself with great earnestness [illegible] sincerity, and through the counsel and [illegible] ers of friends, and the light and aid of [illegible] word and spirit, was enabled to accept [illegible] and trust him for salvation. He unit[illegible] the Methodist Episcopal Church Sout[illegible] gave satisfactory evidence of his [illegible] state. He died in peace, and was bu[illegible] his friends not without hope. He le[illegible] wife and two children.

H. J. JO[illegible]

MRS. WINEFURH FLOYD depa[illegible] this life on the tenth of December, [illegible] 1877, aged sixty-two years. Sleep[illegible] sleeps near the scenes of her chi[illegible] where many loved ones have crossed [illegible] before her. Her maiden name was [illegible] She leaves a husband, six children and [illegible] friends to mourn her loss. She was [illegible] fined to her bed ten days. I visited her [illegible] ing her afflictions, and ever found [illegible] patient, and resigned to the will of [illegible] heavenly Father. She professed re[illegible] ligion early in life, and adorned that pro[illegible] unto death. She was perfectly compo[illegible] death's approach; but my dear widowed [illegible] for the Conqueror of death was with [illegible] a wife, mother, friend and Christian [illegible] very few, were more perfect models. [illegible] Floyd was a member of the Methodist E[illegible] copal Church South; the principles of [illegible] she lived and strongly advocated. [illegible] grave contains on her appropriate he[illegible] and her church-yard that last tribute [illegible] spect which custom has established f[illegible] living to the dead; and we trust she [illegible] where the wicked cease to trouble and [illegible] weary are at rest.

WILLIAM M. C[illegible]

WILKINSON COUNTY, Mississippi.

DIED, November 5, 1877, at [illegible] residence in Covington, La., Dr. Wm. [illegible] MALLORY, in the eighty-fifth year of his [illegible]

Dr. Mallory was born in South Ca[illegible] thence he emigrated to Tennessee, and [illegible] thirty years ago settled in this parish, [illegible] he has lived and labored as a physician [illegible] Christian till his death. As a husband [illegible] kind and forbearing, as a citizen unim[illegible] patriotic, as a physician safe and succe[illegible] and as a Christian consistent and pious [illegible] served in the war of 1812. He was pecu[illegible] kind in his practice to the poor, and [illegible] and died in the community honored, re[illegible] and loved.

He was ready for his change. It did [illegible] him to contemplate his homeward [illegible] He died as he had lived, in peace with [illegible] world and in favor with God. He leaves [illegible] aged and afflicted wife to revere his mem[illegible] imitate his virtues and seek his heave[illegible] home.

G. T. VICKE[illegible]

Nashville Christian Advocate please copy.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT TO J. W. HOWOK.

Whereas, It has pleased our heavenly Father, in his all-wise providence, to remove from our membership by death Bro. J. W. Howok, a brother teacher in the Sunday school at Whistler, Ala., to a membership eternal in the heavens; therefore,

Resolved, That while we deeply deplore the loss to our Sunday school, we bow with humble submission to the will of our heavenly Father, knowing that God doeth all things well; and although our brother is dead, his works do follow him.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the family of our beloved brother, and invoke the blessings of God upon them, praying that they, with the members of this school, may be, as he was, always ready to meet God in peace.

J. T. BROTH,
J. E. MILLER,
FANNIE MALOY,
Committee.

Duty is the voice of God, and a man is neither worthy of a good home on earth or heaven that is not willing to be in peril for a good cause.—John Brown.

The Christian Advocate.

URSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1878.

BLUE FLOWERS.

n ask which flowers I love the best,
When Spring calls forth her pretty train,
d each in cheerful garments dressed,
he sends them forth o'er hill and plain.

Give me blue flowers
To grace my bowers;
e perfect color"—heaven's own blue;
Meek violet,
In emerald set,
d glistening with the fragrant dew:
Or by the brook,
Wild-flowers best look,
e nodding harebell's fairy form
I love to see.
Where lowly she
th bend her head to meet the storm.

e flowers! Oh, give me fair blue flowers;
y pleadingly their azure eyes look to mine at morning hours,
Taking their color from the skies;
Of heaven they learn,
To heaven they turn ir opening bells at break of day;
And heaven doth shed
On each fair head
Blessing on them where they lie—
A blessing meet
For flowers so sweet, portion of her glory bright;
Our prayer should be
On ships may we clothed them" with robes of light.

The Christian.

Mount Pisgah.

will be remembered that in ary, 1875, our Palestine Explon Society published an "Idention of Mount Pisgah," written in by the archæologist of its first dition, Prof. J. A. Paine. In the Arabic name Jebel Slaghah first recognized as a relic of the cal name Pisgah, and the mount defined as the most western and ghest head of the range, while her one further back eastward found to bear the name of Jebel
, the Mount Nebo of the Bible.
view from this elevation was ked to comprise two-thirds the e of the Dead Sea, less what t be concealed under the eastern —namely, from the southern f Masada, on the western shore, the northern end of the sea, directly west of the mount of vation; also the entire eastern of Western Palestine, from the country, or Negeb, to the re of Safed in the north, exclud-however, Mount Hor in the
, the sea on the west, and Hermon in the north, said by Tristram to be visible, though oint of view was a neighboring k less commanding.
his "Identification" Professor mentioned that the explorer first stood on Nebo was the Duc Luynes, in the year 1851, relying on the fact that the latter the mountain Jebel Musa, or Mount, on his chart; adding at this would appear, no doubt, the latter pross of his posthuwork. Now, after so many that posthumous work has ared—"Voyage d'Exploration à la Mer Morte." To this we turn fore with much interest, to see will afford us any corroboration view which has been described later explorer as poor and dis-nting. Standing on the point sed by Prof. Paine to be the t of Peor, the Duc de Luynes ds to the last one in the range ected furthest toward the south namely, Jebel Slaghah—in the wing words:

serving that a second height of mountain seemed more elevated give a perspective of greater t over the Dead Sea and the Land, we proceeded further, ote of the hazy state of the horiwe ascertained that from this ion one discerned the north the northwest shore of the Dead from the mouth of the Jordan as nearly to Jebel Usdoum and to Safsa, the whole mountain n from Hebron to the Quran-Mount, all the land from the ain of Heshan, of Jebel Osha, e es-Salt, even into the Ghor,
e mountains of Najdous, of Jenin, Nazareth, Mount Tabor, a part plain and even Banias, as our s assured us; only they said one could not see the snow of non, even in the purest atmos-
e. The perspective of that ele spot was without limits and its t of the utmost majesty. It is asonal that tradition causes s to be conducted to this place hovah, in order to show him all Promised Land. The view from second height does not reach as the place where Segor is ad-ed to be, the refuge of Lot, her situated at Wady es-Safieh, posed to be in Wady Ithm.
We were then on the summit of h, among the heights of Mount , and in the chain called Abarim we were beholding the same ne that Jehovah spread before s, after having prohibited the crossing the Jordan."—Pp. 150

e Palestine Exploration Society ask for no fuller confirmation work. By Jebel Usdoum the de Luynes means what Dr.
rd Robinson writes Usdum and ders a traditional reminiscence dom, often called the Mountain lt, at the southeastern portion e Dead Sea; thus exactly corating the limit of vision given e" identification of Mount Pisand proving that a large ex-of water-surface lies directly r the eye of the beholder on Slaghah. Moreover, the Duc Luynes proves not only to have osed Jebel Musa to be Mount
, but to have regarded the ex-ity of the range on which lie as the Pisgah of the Bible. is an independent concurrence pinion by two observers. The de Luynes was the first to look rom the spot, and in his own regard it as the Pisgah of Moses'
. Prof. Paine was the first to sh the opinion, after having on the same ground and been ined by the panorama that this Pisgah, and to discover the name is extreme point—viz.: Slaghah to perceive in it a survival of word Pisgah.—Independent.

A Scholar's Sick-Bed Solaces.

Prof. Tayler Lewis is well known to biblical students as among the world's most eminent biblical scholars. The readiness and versatility of his scholarship, however, may not be quite so well known. We refer to it to point a moral as to the uses of learning in sickness and infirmity. For several years this distinguished man (of whom the Reformed Church may well be proud, for he is one of its members) has, through entire deafness, been mostly shut up to his own resources. Pencil and paper, as a means of communication, cannot compensate the loss of that delicate drum in the human ear upon which little drummers, and big, play so many tunes that bring smiles, and create the joy of social and domestic life. He has also for months past suffered the pain and torture of sciatica—one of those modern forms of nervous disease which ought to entitle a man to a prominent place in "Fox's Book of Martyrs." But the venerable scholar (now over seventy) has solaced many a sleepless night by puzzling out in his head original mathematical problems or by musical and poetical compositions, or by recreations in Greek, Hebrew and other languages, or with the lofty thoughts of Genesis or Job or other Bible books, with which, perhaps, his mind and pen had been busy during the day. His fullness and readiness of Bible knowledge has lately been shown in the preparation of the International Sunday School Lessons, which had been assigned to him. There are certainly few men who could lie upon their backs in pain and dictate, with only an occasional reference to Bible or book, the form and substance of these admirable papers. One of them contains a metrical version of a whole prophetical book, of which Newman Hall writes that there are none equal to it in England. But what a well-spring of comfort has He provided for the weary hours of age or infirmity, who can thus—when the eye is perhaps curtained in "ever during dark," or the ear closed to the entrance of sound—draw upon the resources of a mind into which learning has for years been pouring the best thoughts of the best authors and books.

While speaking together of Prof. Lewis, a distinguished scholar who had himself almost lost the use of his eyes lately (and naturally,) gave the preference to deafness over blindness. Kitto (who was deaf) has elaborately and touchingly argued the contrary. When, however, we see what stores of knowledge Kitto was able to accumulate for his own comfort and for the enjoyment and good of others, so that "he, being dead, yet speaketh"—or when, similarly, we look at the many volumes Prof. Lewis has written, and see how richly his "sowing beside all waters" has yielded in the way of good to himself and others, we cannot but think blindness, of the two, the greater loss. Perhaps it depends, after all, upon surroundings and good daughters. We have in mind not Milton, but a ministerial friend upon whose eyeballs cataract has accumulated. With three cultivated and devoted daughters, he hears the news and keeps up with the times—knows that Hayes is President, and all about Fidler—has his daily readings, preaches at times, and, without aid of desk-book, Bible or manuscript, fluently and easily conducts the whole service; and from a serene and cheerful face reflects everywhere the pleasant luster of a sweet and comfortable spirit. He has resources of the mind and heart; but he has what Heaven must have meant as a compensation for infirmity—he has daughters. Prof. Lewis has also such a devoted companionship. But as he now feels, under mysterious disease, his work is almost done. Surely all he has learned here about God and Jesus and truth will not be lost to him in heaven.—Christian Intelligencer.

Dr. Dodd's Sermon on Malt.

The Rev. Dr. Dodd, who lived near Cambridge, England, offended several students by preaching a sermon on temperance. One day some of them met him. They said one to another: "Here's Father Dodd; he shall preach us a sermon."

They accosted him: "Your servants."

"Sirs, yours, gentlemen," replied the doctor.

They said: "We have a favor to ask of you, which must be granted."

Dr. Dodd asked what it was.

"To preach a sermon," was the reply.

"Well," said he, "appoint the time and place, and I will."

"The time, the present; the place, that hollow tree" (pointing to it,) said the students.

"'Tis an imposition," said the doctor; "there ought to be a consideration before preaching."

"If you refuse," responded they, "we will put you into the tree."

The doctor acquiesced, and asked them for a text.

"Malt," said they.

The reverend gentleman commenced: "Let me crave your attention, my beloved. I am a little man, come at a short warning, to preach a short sermon, upon a short subject, to a thin congregation, in an unworthy pulpit. Beloved, my text is 'Malt.' I cannot divide it into syllables, it being a monosyllable; therefore I must divide it into letters, which I find in my text to be four: M—A. L—T. M, my beloved, is moral, A is allegorical, L is literal, T is theological.

"1. The moral teaches such as you drunkards good manners; therefore M, my masters; A, all of you; L, leave off; T, tippling.

"2. The allegorical is, when one thing is spoken and another meant; the thing here spoken is Malt, the thing meant, the oil of malt, which you rustics make M, your masters; A, your apparel; L, your liberty; T, your trusts.

"3. The theological is according to the effects it works, which are of two kinds: the first in this world; the second in the world to come. The effects it works in this world are, insomuch, M, murder; in others, A, adultery; in all, L, looseness of life, and particularly in some, T, treason. In the world to come the effects of it are, M, misery; A, anguish; L, lamentation; T, torment; and thus much for my text, 'Malt.'

"Infer (1.) As words of exhortation: M, my masters; A, all of you; L, leave off; T, tippling.

"(2.) A word of conviction: M, my masters; A, all of you; L, look for; T, torment.

"(3.) A word for caution, take this: A drunkard is the annoyance of modesty, the spoiler of civility, the destroyer of reason, the brewer's agent, the ale-wife's benefactor, his wife's sorrow, his children's trouble, his neighbor's scoff, a walking swill-tub, a picture of a beast, a monster of a man."

The youngsters found the truth so unpalatable that they soon deserted their preacher, glad to get beyond the reach of his voice.

The Complainer.

If it is a misfortune to meet with a complainer in general society, much more so is it to meet with one in the church; for, more than in the former, the peace and prosperity of the latter depend upon the hopefulness and the one-mindedness—to use an apostolic expression—of its members. In society men can at the most exchange sentiments; but in the church, heart throbs in sympathy with heart in the worship and the service of the one God and Father of all. Worship levels all distinctions of life and individual worth, for the worship of a church is, or should be, one breath of adoration, one wrestling of human weakness with divine strength. One dissatisfied, querulous soul, out of harmony with the other worshipers, may be compared to one man of a company who have gathered round an electric machine; instead of presenting to his neighbor on either side of him a naked, manly hand, he offers to each of them an insulator, and the communion, the fellowship with the mystic spirit, is broken.

It is no uncommon circumstance in the history of small churches that one member acts the unhappy part of the fly in the apothecary's ointment. At the prayer meeting he is forever telling the Lord about the shortcomings, backslidings and sins of his people. They are cold-hearted, selfish, worldly, unbelieving. The church is like "the dry and parched earth"—its glorious beauty is faded, withered up—an offense for God and man to look upon. Groaning in spirit, he says:

"Look how we grovel here below,
Fond of these trifling toys;
Our souls can neither fly nor go
To reach eternal joys."

Then there comes the wailing cry: "How long, O Lord, how long?"

The same sad tale is repeated when the affairs of the church are discussed in public or in private. If there are in a prosperous condition, the spiritual prosperity, he is sorry to remark, is not in the same proportion; and if there is "a shaking among the dry bones," as he terms it, there is sure to be a departure from the apostolic rule: that all things should "be done decently and in order." Now it is the minister who is rated for coldness and dullness in the pulpit, or for inactivity out of it; and now the congregation of office-bearers are spoken of as hanging like dead weights upon the minister's heart. The complainer is ever seeing evils to be removed and work to be done, but he does not so much as touch one or the other with his own little finger.—Rev. H. Stinger, in London Evangelical Magazine.

FAMOUS LIGHTHOUSES.—There are two stories of famous lighthouses which are worth remembering. Smeaton, who built the Eddystone Lighthouse, is said to have conceived the idea of moving his lighthouse to the rocks from seeing how an oak, which withstood the tempest while all around it were torn up, had its roots firmly grasping a ledge of rock. While it was being erected the workmen were seized by a party of French marauders and thrown into prison. But Louis the Fourteenth, on hearing of it, ordered their prompt release, saying: "I wage war against England, but not against mankind."

This was in 1759; but centuries before that the Roman writers tell us of the famous tower of Boulogne, built by the Emperor Caligula, and carefully guarded down to the days of Charlemagne, lest the lightning should strike it. But they never thought to inquire what the great, creeping sea that washed against the foundations was doing, or the little springs down deep in the ground that were mining a way to the sea; and one day the fortress, the lighthouse, and even the cliff itself went down and were swallowed up. That was not the end of it. The city of Boulogne had paid to the owner of the soil a yearly rental for the use of this barren land, which paid better in lighthouses than in any other crop. So now he sued them for damages, since his whole farm was gone. The suit went up to the Royal Parliament, which, in 1656, decreed that the city should pay the rental of two thousand herrings a year, or put the land back where it was before. And as they could not easily rebuild the cliff, they paid the herrings down to the days of the French Revolution.

THE TREASURER.—Jesus Christ is the Lord Treasurer of heaven and earth, as Joseph in Egypt; if any one would have corn they must go to Joseph for it; if they came to Pharaoh but for a peck or a gallon, presently he sent them to Joseph; so the Lord sends all that will have any drop of mercy to his Son. If ye will not go to my Son, ye shall not have one drop; ye shall die in your sins. No salvation but only by believing in his name. He hath all the seven spirits of God. No spirit of grace at all can be had but only of him; he was the rock that Moses must stand on, that the glory of God's goodness might pass before him.

Religious Intelligence.

—The Paris Reformed Consistory have appointed Theodore Monod, lately of the Free Church, to the Sainte Marie church, vacated by Pastor Decoppet, who succeeds Pastor Montandon in the Oratoire.

—The missions of the Reformed Church of France among the Basutos report 14 stations and 3,449 communicants. The past year 304 infants and 344 adults were baptized. There are 1,639 catechumens and 2,601 scholars.

—Jacob D. Mitchell, D. D., one of the oldest ministers of the Southern Presbyterian Church, died recently at Alexandria, Va. He was a graduate of Princeton College, and began his ministry in Virginia in 1830. He was seventy years old.

—The persons in charge of preparing the Prolegomena to the last great edition of Tischendorf's Greek Testament, Ed. VIII, Critica Major, have written to Prof. Isaac H. Hall for the peculiar readings of the Syriac New Testament manuscript recently discovered by him, for the purpose of incorporating them in the Prolegomena aforesaid.

—The Missionary Society of the reunited Methodist Church of Canada reports an income for the past year of $145,998, of which the largest part was expended on home missions and missions to the Indians. The domestic work includes missions to the French, the Germans and the Chinese. The foreign missions are in Bermuda and Japan. In Bermuda there are now 4 missionaries and 2,000 members. The society does an extensive work among the Indians, spending last year $31,000 on it.

—The British Museum has received some fresh antiquities from Babylonia, consisting of bronze and terra-cotta statuettes and cones from Zeyhal, which bear the name and titles of Gudea, King of Zirgalla. The inscriptions are in Accadian, and, therefore, belong to an early age. Gudea describes in them the temples he had erected to various deities. A fragment of black basalt has also arrived which formed part of a statue of King Khammuragas. It has a long bilingual inscription in Accadian and Assyrian, and is important as showing that Accadian was still spoken at the time in Babylonia.

—The Anglican diocese of Sierra Leone includes Yoruba, Sierra Leone, Rio Pongas, etc., and, according to Bishop Cheetham, has 46 clergy, of whom 10 are Europeans, 4 West Indians and 32 natives. Of the latter, 16 are agents of the Church Missionary Society and 13 of the Sierra Leone Native Church. Besides, there are 37 persons in Sierra Leone authorized "to minister in the congregation." The ordinary attendants on public worship in the whole diocese number 17,829, of whom 6,710 are communicants. In the last six years 4,817 persons have been confirmed and in Sierra Leone over $13,000 a year is raised for church purposes. This church also carries on missions at Bulloni, Quiah and and Tasso Island, for which $2,430 was contributed last year. Port Lokkoh, in the interior, among an extensive Mohammedan population, is again to be occupied for work among the Timnehs. It was first occupied in 1849, for ten years, and a second time in 1855, for five years, but without any encouraging results.

—The spread of the gospel in East Africa depends in the outset on the extirpation of the slave trade. The good work has begun, but the monster dies hard. That this is the case we see through the vivid letters which have recently appeared in English newspapers. Rev. Mr. New, a Methodist missionary, writing from the East Coast to the Times, says: "The slavery among the native population remains untouched, except as regards the open sale of slaves in the public markets. But for those are substituted others which can scarcely be called private ones. Any trader can sell as many as he pleases upon his own land, provided he surrounds it with a fence of some kind; and these sales cannot be less hideous than the former were. Wherever I go chained gangs, manacled and fettered individuals, the clank of irons, the grip of the stocks, the thud of the stick, the screams of the afflicted fall upon the ear. Stopping at the house of a friend in Zanzibar, a few weeks ago, I heard strange sounds proceeding from an adjoining building. It was as though a dozen mortars and pestles were in operation. But above the whole were heard the screams of some poor creature, who was evidently being punished severely. My friend explained that it was the custom of this neighborhood to beat their slaves unmercifully; but that, to drown their cries, the mortars and pestles were always kept vigorously at work till the screaming was done. Zanzibar is as well stocked with slaves as ever." A correspondent, writing to the Telegraph from the Seychelles Islands, thus describes the condition of the living freight of an Arab slaver captured off Madagascar: "When the 'Vulture' was near enough, a boat, in charge of a young officer, was sent on board the Arab, whose true character and the nature of his cargo were soon made known. On going below, the men found a frame-work of bamboo constructed on each side of the hold, ranging fore and aft, in which 238 human beings were packed, tier upon tier, like bottles in a rack. The occupants of each tier were placed in the closest personal contact with each other. When taken out and placed upon the deck their limbs were useless. They were seized with vertigo, and fell from sheer inability to stand. One or two young children were found crushed to death. The lower tier had been laid upon the sand ballast and was half buried. One poor woman really was buried, with the exception of her face. Her mouth was full of sand, and when taken out she was on the point of suffocation. There was a woman of this lot, the only survivor of a whole band in the middle of Africa. The rest had perished on their four months' march to the coast."

Our Young People.

JUST OBEY.

Do as you are told to do
By those wiser far than you;
Do not say:
"What the use of this may be?
I am sure I cannot see."
Just obey!

Do not sulk and do not sigh;
Though it seem in vain to try—
Work away!
All the ends you cannot see;
Do your duty faithfully—
Just obey!

When at length you come to know
Why 'twas ordered thus and so,
You will say
Glad am I that when to me
All was dark as dark could be,
I could trust, and cheerfully—
"Just obey!"

Sunday School Times.

From Our Little Friends.

TWISTWOOD, Miss., Dec. 18, 1877.

DEAR MR EDITOR: As I am a constant reader of your paper, I wish to ask some of the little correspondents a question: What two chapters in the Bible are alike? My father has been taking the ADVOCATE for some time. I like it very much, especially the Child's Corner. Bro. Bradford is our preacher this year. We all like him very much.

Your friend,
JOHN L. ATWOOD.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Dec. 3, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: We children enjoy hearing Grandma Latche read the Child's Corner. Not long ago I was glad to see a letter in your paper from a dear friend of mine who lives in Black Hawk, Miss. We attend Sunday school every Sunday. Dr. Davis is our superintendent. Abigail rode a camel to meet David.

Your friend,
SI TUCKER SMITH.

GOODMAN, Miss., Nov. 23, 1877.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: It was Rebekah who rode a camel when she was going to be the wife of Isaac. It is found in Genesis xxiv, 6. What was the name of the little boy who fled with his father's servants into Egypt? From your little friend, EDDIE DICKENS.

Preaching With a Shovel.

BY EMILY HUNTINGTON MILLER.

It was a dreary winter evening, and Laura was snuggled up in a corner of the sofa with her book in her lap, just in the middle of a most delightful story. The boys were playing in the corner, and now and then she caught a scrap of their talk, but she paid very little attention to it. Rob was putting his locomotive together, and Fred was arranging an orphan asylum with his alphabet blocks. Twenty-seven orphans were ranged about the carpet; some of them in bed, some eating soup out of Laura's China dishes, one desperate fellow in solitary confinement behind the door, and a long row learning to read from bits of newspaper. The only trouble was that they all had such jolly faces; they would grin all the time; and what can you do with a boy that grins when you whip him?

So presently the orphan asylum was turned into a gymnasium, where twenty-seven little acrobats stood on their heads, walked on their hands, turned somersaults, and performed all manner of wonderful feats. Then they were all convicts in State prison, and Rob came and preached them a sermon. This was the sermon:

"My brothren"—

"People in jail aren't brothren," said Laura, looking up from her book.

"Oh, yes, they are," said Rob; "brothren is just a kind of preach word, and means everybody but the minister. My brothren, folks ought to be good, and not steal things, and quarrel and get angry. When you begin to be bad, you can't tell how bad you may get to be. The minister knows of a boy that begun by wouldn't let his brother have his skates when he didn't need 'em at all himself, and he grew up so't he set a house afire."

"Is that true, Robby?" asked Fred with very big eyes.

"Course not; that's a 'lustration. Sermons are true, and 'lustrations are just to make you understand 'em. Now, my brethren, you mustn't steal, or do any more bad things, 'cause you can't do it anyway, and if you try to get out they'll shoot you."

The convicts now marched back to their cells under the sofa. Rob lay upon the carpet, with his arms under his head, and said, very slowly: "When I am a man I shall be a minister."

"I thought you were going to be an engineer," said Laura.

"Well, p'raps I shall. Cars don't run on Sunday, and I could think up my sermons all the week, and then go and preach 'em."

"Oh, you can't make sermons just thinking them up on an engine," said Laura positively; "you have to do 'em in a study with books and writing."

"I could," persisted Rob; "I shall say my sermons like Mr. Challis; and I know lots of texts."

Laura looked at papa, who was smiling at them over the top of his paper, and added, doubtfully: "Could he, papa?"

"I suppose he could," said papa.

"But I thought ministers had to be just ministers, and not part something else."

"I know of a boy," said papa, "who preaches first-rate sermons, and he does a great many other things—goes to school, brings in wood, takes care of a horse."

"Me, papa?" asked Rob.

Papa laughed, and shook his head. "He preaches them to the people on the street; he preached one to me to-night."

"Oh!" said Laura, and Rob sat straight up and looked at papa.

"He preaches them with a shovel."

Rob laughed heartily at this, and Laura looked more puzzled than ever. Fred came and leaned his arms on his papa's knee.

"How, papa?" he asked; "how could anybody preach with a shovel?"

"I'll tell you," said papa. "All through this month of snowy weather there has been one hundred feet on Beech street of clear, clean sidewalk. No matter how early I go down town, it is always the same—clean to the very edge of the walk. People pick their way through the slush, or wade through the narrow, crooked path the rest of the way; but when they come to this place they stamp their feet, and stand up straight, and draw a long breath. It makes you feel rested just to look at it. The boy that keeps that sidewalk clean preaches with his shovel. It is a sermon on doing your work well, and not shirking; a sermon on doing things promptly without wearying; a sermon on doing your own part without waiting for other people to do theirs."

"May be a man does it," said Rob.

"No, it is a boy; I have seen him at it. I saw him one day when it was snowing very fast, and I said: 'Why do you clean your walk now? It will soon be as bad as ever.' 'Yes, sir,' said he, 'but this snow will be out of the way. I can brush it off now easily, but when it is trampled down it makes hard work.' I call that a first-rate sermon, and every one who does his work in his very best way preaches a sermon to all around him."

The bell rang, and somebody called papa away, but Rob kept thinking of the little crooked, uneven path he had made to the barn and, well, and what a stingy little pile of kindlings he had split for the kitchen, and he made up his mind he would try and preach a sermon with the shovel the next day.

Laura saw that her mother had laid aside her own book to show some pictures to little Nell.

"That's what mamma is always doing," she thought—"preaching sermons about loving other people better than yourself. I guess I'll preach one about Do unto others," and Laura left her story, and amused her little sister until her blue eyes were too sleepy even for smiles.

The next day Rob widened his path, and shoveled it clear down to the firm ground, and then he called Fred to admire it.

"It's nice," said Fred; "I guess it's as nice as that sermon-boy could make."

"'Spose we go and shovel a path for Mrs. Rainey."

"Come on," said Rob; "that'll be a sermon 'bout—about—I wonder about what?"

"Being kind," said Fred; "but I don't know what the text is, unless it's 'Love one another.'"

"That's a pretty good text," said Rob, "that fits to most anything good."

Writing a Letter.

"I wish I could write to Tommy," said a very little girl whose brother was at school.

"Well," said a friend who was in the room, "I will lend you my hand and pen. What will you write to Tommy?"

"O I can't write a letter—I don't know what to say," said the little girl.

"Not know what to say?" said the gentleman. "Come, let me begin: 'Last night the house was burned from top to bottom.'"

"O, no, please don't say that."

"Why not?"

"'Cause it isn't true."

"Well, that is something. You know that you mustn't put into a letter things that are not true. Now let us try again: 'The kitten has been playing with its tail for five minutes.'"

"No, no," said Betsy, laughing, "don't say that."

"Why, that is true. I saw the kitten doing it."

"Yes, but Tommy don't want to know it."

"Come, my dear, that is another thing that you know. When you write a letter you should say something that your friends will care to know. Shall I write: 'Jem was naughty and would not learn his lessons?'"

"No, no, not that, please."

"Why, that is true, isn't it?"

"Yes, but you needn't tell Tommy. That would be telling tales."

"You are right, my dear. I see you know something else about writing letters—we should not put unkind things in them. Shall I write: 'Mary Anne is much better, and will be down stairs to play to-morrow?'"

"O, yes, do write that, 'cause Tom will be so glad to know Mary Anne is better. He is so fond of Mary Anne."

"Why, you little puss, you do know how to write a letter, after all?" said the gentleman. And little Betsy went on thinking of things that would please Tom at school, and the letter was a very nice one.—Christian at Work.

A gentleman traveling through one of the most picturesque portions of the White Mountain region saw a farmer at work, and, being of a sociable disposition, approached the man, and expatiated on the beauty and majesty of the surrounding scenery, concluding with the remark: "I suppose, my friend, you enjoy this glorious view that people come so far to look at?" "Why, yes," was the response; "but if I'd had the sortin' of these hills, I'd make 'em a little peakeder."

Mistress—"Come, Bridget, how much longer are you going to be about filling that pepper-box?" Bridget (a fresh importation from where they don't use pepper castors)—"Shure, ma'am, and it's meself can't say how long it'll be takin' me to get all this stuff in the likes through the little holes in the top."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. Harp, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. D. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Making Light of It.

This is emphatically the temper of the world at the present time in reference to revealed religion. There is not the earnestness of a persecuting spirit, nor the seriousness of opposing convictions. The tendency is to treat the gospel and its teachings with levity, and to meet the solemn questions of sin and accountability with flippancy. The current jests of the day are made upon the existence of the devil, and upon the subject of the future punishment of the wicked. The words of Christ are bandied about as if they were the clever rumors of a clown in the ring, and the most sacred and momentous declarations of Scripture are made the occasion of puns and gibes and affected witticisms. It would seem to be assumed that few really believe in the Bible, and that those who do are to be commiserated as simple and demented souls, whose convictions demand no more respect than the morbid imaginations of a lunatic.

Beneath this surface appearance of levity there may be more or less of seriousness. The laugh is often a mere mask to conceal compunctions of conscience, and to hide the troublesome fears which disturb the heart. Men make a jest of the doctrines of the gospel because they wish to silence the voice of truth, and to hush the inward monitor. They would, if possible, get rid of the troublesome notion of a judgment to come, and of the retribution of the wicked. There may be more seriousness and more real apprehension than we suppose, but we are not to forget that men may come to believe what they wish, and that the levity, which is at first affected, comes at length to be a real indifference and a stubborn unbelief. The manner in which the guarded language of Farrar and others has been received and understood shows with what readiness the popular mind seizes upon the flimsiest props for the support of its skepticism. The comment of the trifler is that these men are coming to their senses at last, and that the doctrines of accountability and future punishment are the products of an ignorant and superstitious age. Not one in a thousand of those who deride and sneer have given any serious thought to the subject, or have taken any pains to read and examine for themselves. The discussion of the question brings together multitudes who are more influenced by idle curiosity than by any real concern as to their personal interest in it.

The fruits of this prevalent frivolity in the treatment of religion are manifest in the sweeping flood of dishonesty and crime which fills the country. Where divine revelation is treated with lightness there is nothing serious left. The relations which men sustain to each other are, of course, matters of conventional agreement and convenience. There is no moral government because there is no retribution, and righteousness and wickedness are merely nominal distinctions, and in the end come to the same thing. Making light of the gospel proclamation, the way is open to complacency in vice, and to every form of license in human conduct. Hence crime is as trivial a thing as the divine law which denounces it, life itself is a jest, and death the winding up of a purposeless and irresponsible existence.

The disposition to make light of religion is not the only evil, but it is surely one of the most pernicious and fatal symptoms of the times. It is more prevalent than organized error and studied opposition to Christianity. Levity, with reference to religious things, spreads over our Christian civilization as an appalling blight which withers and defaces every virtue and every truth. The youth of the land are not learning so much to argue against the gospel as they are to smile at its denunciations of sin, and to meet the question of retribution with the slang of popular ignorance.

Perhaps religious people are somewhat to be blamed for this state of things. The seasoning of grace is not always in their conversation, and there is a wide discrepancy between the profession and the life. Much of the lightness in the world may be traced to the unseemly levity of those who pretend to accept the doctrines of the Bible. If Christians are wanting in seriousness concerning the things they believe, is it strange that others should treat these great truths with unconcern? Further, it may be the fault of our preaching that lax and superficial notions are so general in reference to the divine government. We have assumed that the most important and powerful of all revealed doctrines are generally believed, while the occasional allusion to them has only provoked a smile. The disposition to frivolity indicates where more earnest emphasis should be placed in our pulpit ministrations. Sin, judgment and eternal punishment, so far from being retired into the background of mystery, are to be presented as among the clearest facts of revelation. They are not matters of speculation to amuse and entertain, but terrible disclosures to warn and to awaken. "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God," and it is a part of our fidelity that the whole counsel of God be declared.

Little by Little.

One of our churches in this city last year organized a Woman's Missionary Society. The members pay ten cents apiece monthly, and collectors are appointed to collect this sum from each subscriber every month. The amount realized at the end of the year was such as not only to gratify, but also to astonish the ladies engaged in the work. It was found not to interfere with the Sunday School Missionary Society, nor did it lessen the regular annual collection made by the pastor. Besides promoting a missionary spirit, it was rather helpful to all the financial interests of the charge, and the amount collected was a clear gain over all that would otherwise have been realized. All of our stations would do well to try this method, and we do not see why the country circuits may not have their Woman's Missionary Societies.

The secret of success in church finance lies in methods by which the people give often. The plan of weekly contributions for the support of the church in one of our city appointments has succeeded better than any hitherto adopted. The members are assessed so much per week; fifty-two small envelopes are sent to each member, with address printed on them, so that every Sunday the contribution, properly inclosed, may be dropped in the basket.

If our people can be trained to this systematic way of giving they can easily support the gospel. A reasonable assessment divided into fifty-two installments, and paid weekly, will never be felt as a burden, the money will come into the treasury as it is needed, and at the end of the year the pastor will be paid, and everything will be clear for the new budget. Under this plan everybody, including women and children, can pay something. There are very few indeed who cannot pay ten cents a week or more if they make it a matter of conscience and duty to do it weekly. Larger contributors will also find it more convenient in this way to come up to the full measure of their duty and ability. On circuits the plan of monthly contributions might be expedient, the sum assessed so divided that a due proportion be paid at every service. At certain seasons there is not much money in the country, but there is always some, and not much at any one time will be required if frequent payments are the order. Neither in city nor country will one person in a hundred give up to the measure of ability in any other way.

Little by little is the solution of the problem of church finances. It will take time and patience to train and educate the people to this method. There will be some resistance, a good deal of negligence, and many, as under any system or no system, will for a time pay nothing, but it will succeed in the end. More money will be raised, and the ministry will be better supported by this arrangement than by any other. It is, at any rate, essential that we have a system of stated giving, and that it be persistently worked and drilled into the people. This system should be as uniform as possible thoughout the connection, so that our people everywhere be familiarized with it, and so that it become a matter of habit and conviction with them all.

The duty of giving, and of all giving, is a subject that calls for instruction and appeal to the reason and conscience. Sound principles must lie back of any system. We have only indicated the methods and channels through which these principles may operate most effectively in attaining the end of a well-supported ministry, and of church institutions efficiently sustained. Let our contributions be regular—weekly, if possible—at the farthest let them be monthly.

Off for Mexico.

On the morning of Friday, February 1, Bishop Keener, Rev. W. M. Patterson and family, and Rev. F. D. Villegas, sailed from New Orleans for Vera Cruz, on the steamship City of Mexico. Bros. Patterson and Villegas spent but two days in the city. The former goes out as superintendent of our mission in Mexico; the latter, a native Mexican, has spent several years in this country, part of the time at Emory and Henry College, and for a year past at the Vanderbilt University. He is a young man of intelligence, devoted to the work, and of modest and pleasing address. On Thursday night a farewell meeting was held at the Carondelet Street church. A good audience was present, and addresses were made by Bros. Patterson, Villegas and Bishop Keener. The collection in cash and pledges amounted to about $450. Fervent prayer was made that our friends might have a safe voyage, and that their mission might prosper. At the close of the meeting there were personal introductions, hearty hand-shaking and leave-taking, and expressions of deep interest in the welfare of the missionaries. They expect to reach the city of Mexico in about one week from the time of sailing. Bishop Keener will probably return early in March. Our former superintendent, Rev. J. T. Davis, did a fine work in Mexico—a work both deep and permanent. Since his return, while not much progress has been made in extending our operations, no ground has been lost. With a superintendent there, and an additional force of native preachers, there is every prospect of enlargement. The usual straitness in the way of funds still hampers and limits our movements. Our success in Mexico and on the border, and the door ever opening wider and wider for entrance, should stimulate us to a larger and more self-denying liberality. The general call to occupy foreign fields is loud and clear, but our call to the work in Mexico is special to Southern Methodists. Geographically we are nearest of kin, and we ought to redeem this inheritance. All the indications of Providence are this way, and we shall be unfaithful to a specific trust if we fail to push with vigor the work to which we have been so manifestly called. Let us devise generously in this direction, and let us pray for the success of our Mexican missions.

After-Thoughts.

"Curriculo pulverem Olympicum collegisse juvat" has often occurred to me as a fitting maxim to the tumultuous troop of after-thoughts which come to the preacher when he has retired from the pulpit to his study—perhaps to his pillow. He may have had the silent applause of tears or fixed attention while he was preaching; he may have had many a warm shake of the hand, and now and then an earnest "God bless you for that sermon;" or he may have felt, on the contrary, that the attention of the congregation was mainly forced, and the speedy though orderly emptying of the church has left him in a most uncomfortable frame of mind. In either case he has hardly failed to have plenty of company home in the shape of the uninvited after-thoughts. They are the dust (or the mud) collected from the Olympic track—dust, when he has been persuaded that his preaching was a success; mud, when he feels that it has been a failure. It is delightful to collect the dust—humiliating to have caught the mud.

Such is the verdict which we pronounce upon the spur of the moment; but immediately there will appear to reflection a hill of exceptions so long and formidable that the case is instantly remanded for a new hearing. The perfect sermon is not so perfect, after all; the failure is not irretrievable. It is true there were some positions well taken and some points clearly made in the former; but how was it that the strongest positions were entirely overlooked and the best points not mentioned at all? Doubtless, were the congregation now back in their pews, and the preacher back in the pulpit, he could not keep them still, and those who most warmly shook his hand and complimented him would be the first to get out of the church. This afterthought is apt to lodge in the nose or bronchia of the preacher, and set him to sneezing or coughing. Yet it is dust from the Olympic track. If the preacher is wise he will not mind it more than once or twice until he will learn not to rehearse before rehashing a sermon that has been once a success. The less classic phrase occurs to me just here: "Took like hot cakes." And if you are ever assured that a sermon did take thus upon the first occasion, beware lest it take like cold cakes on the rehearsal. Nothing is more palatable than steaming batter cakes—nothing less so than the same served cold. No doubt many a preacher has wondered that his best efforts on repetition should fail so that, even when he repreached them by request. The true and only philosophy of the fact is in a hot cake and a cold one.

"Do you, then, advise me to throw away my best sermons as soon as I have preached them?" asks one. By no means. If the after-thought presents you with the points untouched it affords you the opportunity of a rearrangement. One of the relieving features of all Scripture is its many-sided quality. Prismatic regularity and kaleidoscopic variety are so wonderfully blended that the colors and shapes seen through them are almost infinite. Open your kaleidoscope, whose beauties have all been beheld until you are tired. Drop into it a bead, a three-cornered piece of glass, or a crystal of salt. Now shut it up, and turn it over and over as often as the rules of permutations and combinations both together will indicate by the multiplication of the natural numbers of the pieces into the number of their sides, into the number of the sides of the instrument, into the number of angles formed by the sides of the instrument and the sides of the articles within. Your arithmetic will surprise you, but not more so than your scriptural kaleidoscope. This hint serves as well for your poor sermon as for your good one. No one ought to despair because of a failure. A slip or a fall is sometimes the very best proof of your being on the right track. The mud in your face or upon your garments indicates that you have been near the clatter of iron hoofs or the rattle of fervid wheels. It was a "cold dab;" yes, but colder because your blood was warm. The only difference between the dust and the mud is in the presence of water. He who collects the dust as if it were gold-dust might lay away the lumps of mud as "nuggets" and "bonanzas" that in the smelting-furnace would yield greater wealth than all the dust. How rich are the after-thoughts of a poor sermon! While the taking sermon may have left the preacher humbly tremulous and grateful to God while half intoxicated with human praise, the poor sermon has brought with the after-thoughts the plain artisans of the Almighty. Humility is there. By her side stands Trust. Near by is Patience; and over her shoulder peeps the cheerful face of Hope, as at the same time Obedience and Resignation slip out of the closet as if they had been playing "hide and seek" for the amusement of the lovely tenant of the room. What a cheerful fire glows on the hearthstone directly! How quickly the mud dries! How it now warms and melts, the dross running off in the ashes and the pure gold coming out all glittering before the wondering eyes! What sermons have grown up in the night—Sunday night—over the head of the weary Jonah! May be they were gourd-vine sermons; but if they were, they were of divine appointment, and served their end as well as if they were bowers of a century's culture and growth. But even the evanescent sermon that grew in a night and withered in a day has left its lesson clean-cut and ineffaceable upon the soul. But all are not gourd-vines, as all prophets are not Jonahs. Too many Jonahs we have, indeed, who are afraid to preach to Nineveh; but still there are Elijahs yet alive. To these the ravens of after-thought bring on their dusky wings and in their croaking months heaven-sent food. Through the room whither the preacher has retreated flows the only stream that has not dried up in the moral dearth pervading the land. The prophets whom the world applauds have seen "lying visions," while the true prophet, sore disheartened, has fled to the seclusion and darkness of the mountain grotto. The after-thoughts of a devoted life flock around him till another sermon grows, whose tamest passage brings fire from heaven, and whose grand peroration mounts with the fire-engirdled chariot and drops upon the world the mantle of immortality.

T. A. S. A.

There is a long and wearisome step between admiration and imitation.

There Is But One Way.

"Plain living, moderate expectations, honest dealing and industry, combined with courage, will send us over the hard places of 1878." This quotation is from one of the really live religious journals of New York. "The hard places" referred to are the commercial ones. Included in these, however, must of necessity be the individual "straits." The lesser is involved in the greater. It seems to us that in the above the cart is put before the horse. The rhetoric is fine—almost faultless. It does not go to the root of the matter, however. All these things are but the fruits. The tree is in this: "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase; so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine." In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths; for the merchandise of it (wisdom, religion) is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold.

The hard places of 1878 to come, and the narrow straits of 1877 now past, are all in the fact that men differ in opinion from almighty God. The trade and traffic of silver and gold, of houses and lands, is to them better than the merchandise of wisdom. They divorce those whom God hath joined. He has made temporal prosperity dependent upon the above principles. Men make it dependent upon the contrary. Men honor God with their lips, outward observances, long prayers and great pretensions, but not with their substance. The first fruits of all their increase is laid upon the altar of self, and dedicated to the god of gain, and not to the God of heaven. If, after their own plans are carried out, there is anything left, a few faulty grains—a sort of seconds—they give it to God. Even these are frequently consumed upon their own lusts, and God gets nothing. Tell such a man that the tithe—the one-tenth—is God's, and the least that he can offer with safety, and he will reply, as one did to the writer: "Why, my dear sir, it is a hard struggle—almost starvation—to live on all, much less nine-tenths." So it is. Here is where the friction comes in. Men will starve to death upon all, and grow strong and healthy upon their own. Such men as the one above will decrease in substance; or if there is any increase, it is on the goods of another, and the curse of stolen property will rest upon it. The sin of the church—pulpit and pew—of the world at large, is the horrible one of covetousness. Men worship mammon. Let "hard places" come, and retrenchment always begins against God. These are men's thoughts. God's thoughts are different. If, instead of retrenching on God—paying him off at twenty-five or fifty cents on the dollar—they would double their usual payments, these "narrows and straits" would quickly widen out. A man whose religion is all in his head and heart, and none in his pocket, will never be worth much to the church or the world. The world's heart and head are too big—its pocket is too small by one-half. They have got their Master's capital, in gold, lands, houses, brains, capacity, etc., and, trading upon it, refuse even the small per cent. he demands; and that demand, too, made only in their own interest—that they be the happier and richer. Harder places are coming. God has said so. Men will go on, withholding from him his due. They will refuse to build churches, and will let the heathen perish at their doors. Bankruptcy, moral as well as temporal, will be the result. Harder times will come. The earth will refuse to yield her increase—will spew out into the lap of men the seed they put in, hoping for a harvest. There will be no grounds for "plain living, moderate expectations," etc.

There is but one way. Let us come back to that. Then we may hope.

Our neighbors, says the Western Christian Advocate, have what they are pleased to call a "settled pastorate" which they prefer to our "itinerancy." But statistics show only a very few pastors much "settled." The theory is beautiful, but it does not work out well. And then almost every removal under that system makes heart-burnings on both sides. The following, from the Boston Watchman, tells us what is the measure of permanency and what of itineracy among the Baptists of Massachusetts: "The pastoral changes have been about as usual, 54 new settlements being reported in 1877. In 1876 there were 45, and in 1875 there were 66. Thus almost exactly one-fourth of the settled pastors have entered their present fields within the year. More than half of them—135 out of 232—have been settled less than three years; and 30 of them must have changed twice in their three years. There are only 21 settlements in the State that reach back of the seventies, and only two that reach back of the sixties. The patriarch is Secretary Bowers, Bishop of Clinton since 1817. Next after him is Pastor Bellamy, of Chicopee Falls, settled in 1848. There is no survivor of the fifties, and the next is Bro. Miller, of Somerville, 1861."

Giving.

Christians would escape much distress of mind, and take many annoyance out of their lives, if they would but settle with themselves the principle that lies at the foundation of all giving.

As it is now, most persons seem to put giving entirely out of the category of praying, fasting, eating, drinking and the other affairs of life which are at once matters of duty and sources of pleasure. In all these things they at least profess that they govern themselves by a rule, while giving is left wholly to their whim.

There must be a rule for giving as for eating, as for speaking and for paying debts, as for all kinds of social and commercial intercourse.

The giving of money is an expenditure of a part of one's estate, an expenditure for which he must give an account.

The apostle's rule of doing "all to the glory of God" would readily settle this question with us. Suppose the giver's name is A; suppose those who seem to have claims upon him are B, C, D, E and F; and suppose solicitors are represented by all the other letters of the alphabet. What the giver spends upon himself is given to A. What he spends upon his father, mother, wife and children are represented by the next letters. Suppose A to have really the best claim; he certainly has no claim first or last, except that which comes under "the glory of God."

The Christian man does not take out of his estate and expend upon himself one thousand or five thousand dollars a year because he has a right to so much. No one has a right to the property of God, and must take that money and spend it on A, because he believes that he can better promote the glory of God thereby than by spending it upon B, or X, Y and Z. There is a point beyond which he cannot give to that is, cannot expend upon himself—another dollar without violating the fundamental rule. If he goes beyond what he ought to expend upon himself, for the promotion of the glory of God, he is doing wrong, and he is taking that which belongs to B, C, D, E, F, or else that which belongs to the other letters of the alphabet.

The first thing for a Christian to do is to disabuse his mind of the false prejudice that anything belongs to him, and fill himself with what is true, that all he can touch belongs to God, and he is responsible for the exercise of his intellect in placing where it can do the most good. He will practice himself in this, he will soon acquire great skill, and have the promise of God that if he be in wisdom he shall be directed.

Now suppose every Christian were filled with this sentiment, and were acting upon this principle—is it not apparent that the conflict between selfishness and duty, which is going on in so many hearts, would come to an end?

In regard to every dollar which passes through his hands, each Christian would think it necessary to go through a judicial process, settling each question as it arose, as the judge on the bench whose decisions were to be certainly revised by a superior court, which would break him of his office if he were found guilty of misministering such a portion of God's estate as was put under his control, through the influences of fear, favor or undue bias of affection. If throughout the whole church such views and practices prevailed, we should be relieved from the fact that whatever went to any other man is so much taken from ourselves, and from the feeling of self-complacency when we gave to another what rightfully belongs to him. It would be no more hurt a Christian to give a portion of his estate to the erection of a church, the building of a hospital, the endowment of an orphanage, or any other thing he ought to do for the Lord, than it now hurts him to pay his butcher's bill or to buy a pair of shoes for his own child.

Is not this the right principle? If not, will some one be good enough to tell us what is the teaching of the Scriptore in regard to giving?—Dr. Deems, in Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

Death of President Miller.

The following note from Rev. T. W. Rogers, Chappell Hill, Texas, brings the sad and unexpected announcement of the death of Rev. C. Miller. President Miller was for a number of years president of Centenary College, at Jackson, La. About eighteen months ago he was called to take charge of Soule University. We learn that that institution has greatly improved under his direction, and that up to the time of his last sickness he was working hopefully and successfully. Bro. Miller was a good preacher, an experienced educator, and a man of untiring energy. His death will be a heavy blow to the university, and a great loss to the church.

CHAPPELL HILL, TEXAS, Jan. 29, 187

REV. LINUS PARKER—Dear Bro.: We are sad. Our whole community is stricken and overwhelmed with sorrow. Rev. John C. Miller, D. D., president of Soule University, is no more. He died of pneumonia, at about 11.15 o'clock this forenoon. I can write no more now. You knew him. You loved him. No doubt proper notice will be furnished in due time. A mighty man in Israel has fallen.

Yours in love and sorrow,

T. W. ROGERS.

Rev. J. T. Davis reached New Orleans too late to meet Bro. Patterson and to be present at the missionary meeting on January 31. He, however, did good service on Sunday, and, after a few days in the city, left for his home in Shreveport on Tuesday, February 5. We learn from him that his pastoral charge is doing well.

Periodicals.

The British Quarterly Review, uary, 1878 (republication by the ard Scott Publishing Company, York,) has the following arti- The Mikado's Empire; The ricans in Turkey; Savings and ngs Banks; Precious Stones; tal and Labor; Comprehension; ly and Parodists; Prof. Henry rs; Contemporary Literature. is an unusually valuable num- f this always able periodical.

Prof. Tice's National Weather nac for 1878 gives forecasts of weather for every day in the based upon astronomical occur- s. Printed and published by pson, Tice & Co., St. Louis, Price, twenty cents, sent by

The Southern Cultivator for Feb- is a fine number of this useful ation. Published at Athens, W. L. Jones, editor and pro- r. Price, $2 a year.

Y VERY WELL SATISFIED.—venting, during a series of re- s meetings in the town of B., being much interested manifested the subject of religion, a busy of the world, a blasphemer, d into church. Toward the of services, after a most power peal from the preacher, he was If he would not come to Jesus ply was: "I am very well d."

evening he left the house of pparently unconcerned, but and he regularly attended the gs, and could have been seen thers bowing for the prayers istians, being under deep con- of sin. He soon found that not satisfied.

er, if you have not already, I now, with all earnestness of l, to come to Jesus. Will you, you not, respond that you y well satisfied?

do not feel concerned about oul, and feel delight in the of the world, banishing seri- oughts from you, you show to although you do not acknowl- that you are satisfied. Oh, nd, let not anything upon you have set your affections your way and cause you to ternal life.—S. S. Lovell, in ian Messenger.

HIRE OF THE SERVANTS.—day when the Lord shall pull four stakes of your clay tent, last grain of sand shall be nt out of falling down in your glass, and the Master shall servants of his vineyard to em their hire, you will esteem m of this world's glory like rs of the rainbow, that no put in his purse and treas- ing labor and pains will than- you. Ah! the feeding of lambs in private, in catechis- painful preachings and fair, and free warning of the flock, ellers garland. Oh! ten times blessed are they who ured of Christ, to be faithful iful in wooing a bride to —Rutherford.

was a time when the waters flood covered the earth; not e highest mountains could be. hen it was that in the dis- n the raging waters, a small, k was seen, rising and fall- the billows. It was the ark, ing the church of God, of uls. But God had planned shut the door with his own and the church was safe. So be through all time.

e all of us different creatures ferent people; our very phy- anges according to our sur- gs. We expand mentally, physically in one atmos- and we close and shrink and another. Nervous, sensitive how this distinctly; but even phlegmatic do not escape ts of repulsion or attraction. an Art.

MARRIED.

-BROOK.—At Shaw Hill, Ala., Jan 9 by the Rev. J. M. Crews, Mr. John J. ss to Miss H. Crook.

-AVERETT.—On Sunday, January 7, ones chapel, Methodist Episcopal in Barbour county, Ala., by Rev. hnson, Mr. M. A. Vinlog, of Barbour to Miss S. E. Averett, of Chatta- ty, Ga.

N—CHRISTENBERRY.—December Marion Springs, Ala., by the Rev. F. A. William F. Grillan to Miss Josie Chris- of Perry county, Ala.

KELLER.—January 15, 1878, in iss., by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr on to Miss Sallie E. Keller.

McKEE.—January 16, 1878, in Natchez v. R. S. Woodward, Mr. John C. Ellis, parish, La., to Miss Elizabeth E. Mo- chez, Miss.

BELL.—December 20, 1877, at the resi- bride's mother, Mrs. Bell, near Ja- by the Rev. G. M. Gilmore, Mr. John Miss Rebecca Bell.

-WILKINS.—January 30, 1878, at the leSoto, Miss., by the Rev. G. M. Gil- Lawrence K. Hatties to Miss Arabella all of Clark county, Miss.

—EASTERLAND.—At the residence 's father, January 10, 1878, by Rev. G. Mr. S. H. Mangum to Miss Maggie both of Simpson county, Miss.

JACKSON.—At the residence of the er, by Rev. A. L. McBryde, Mr. W. A. lis S. E. T. Jackson.

N—EWING.—At Ariel plantation, on January 24, 1878, by the Rev. C. F. D. Halsey Wertehe to Lelia, daughter of dge and the late Dr. F. C. Ewing. No-

WATSON.—December 23, 1877, in Wes- borough, by Rev. W. W. Graham, Mr. to Miss G. A. Watson, all of Butler

-ROBERTSON.—On the nineteenth , 1877, by Rev. A. L. Potter, Charles G. ss Carmella C. Robertson, both of Co- Miss.

JEWELRY.—F. Stockman, et, New York, is offering cheap Jew- ly reduced prices. See what he says page.

Publisher's Department.

NATIONAL SURGICAL INSTITUTE. Dr. Hamly, chief surgeon, with a competent corps of assistants, will spend a month at New Orleans, No. 463 St. Charles street, from January 15 to February 15, 1878. This visit is designed to accommodate those who cannot visit the Institute at Atlanta, Ga., Philadelphia or Indianapolis. The time the surgeons remain will be sufficient to effect a cure in cases of Piles and Fistula, diseases of the Eye and Ear, and those peculiar to men and women, and to manufacture and adjust surgical appliances for the cure of club-feet, crooked knees, hip joint disease, curvature of the spine and all other deformities of the human body. Consultation free.

BETHESDA WATER.—This water, which has become so universally famous, does certainly merit all the appreciation it has received, for it is, beyond question, a useful remedial agent in the cure of many distressing and almost incurable maladies, such as diabetes, inflammation of the kidneys and the bladder, dropsy, torpid liver, and many forms of chronic cutaneous Bilious persons will find it a valuable corrective, and a preventive to serious illness, liable to occur at any day. Parties in all parts of the Union contribute testimonials to the Bethesda Water pamphlet, which can be had of Mr. L. F. Avery, the general agent for the South, Nos. 25, 28 and 30 Bienville street. See the advertisement.

POLAND MINERAL WATER.—This spring water contains medicinal qualities which are of great service in the cure of scrofulous humors, salt rheum, Bright's disease of the Kidneys, constipation and indigestion. It contains carbonate of lime and magnesia, chloride of sodium, carbonate of soda, all good ingredients in a chemical composition. The water has a very pleasant taste, is odorless, and is agreeable to weak stomachs. H. T. Hill is the agent, No. 175 Canal street, where books and water may be found. Read the advertisement.

TOTMAN'S PATENT CORN MILL.—Mr. E. Totman has recently patented a mill for grinding meal, grits and hominy, and which will, no doubt, meet a want long felt by farmers and others. These latest patents are on exhibition at 172 Magazine street and see the mill in operation, or send for illustrated circular. The advertisement is on this page.

KIRKWOOD'S INHALER.—Write to E. Fintorn & Co., 9 South William street, New York, and get a circular containing testimonials of the treatment of asthma, catarrh, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. This lozenge is one of the most reliable in the country, and persons can have the utmost confidence when they send for same, that they will be benefited thereby.

COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT.—Persons suffering with consumption and dyspepsia should write to Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1029 Girard street, Philadelphia, and get one of their valuable books containing many wonderful statements of persons who have found relief and a permanent cure in the use of the Compound Oxygen Treatment. See the advertisement on this page.

NATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL PAPERS.—Our readers wanting anything in the Sunday school line should write to A. Roesterick, 1122 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. Where to find supply of everything necessary for this purpose is constantly on hand. The advertisement will be found on the sixth page.

DRUGGIST.—Call and see that reliable druggist, H. J. Rivet, at the corner of Bienville and Chartres streets, if you want anything in the above line. This gentleman stands high in this community as an upright, honorable man. Country orders satisfactorily attended to.

STOVES.—Our esteemed fellow-citizen, J. H. Campman, has an advertisement on this page of the well known Stewart Stove, for which he is the agent for this State. Mr. Campman guarantees every stove sold, and our readers can rely upon his representations.

HARDWARE.—H. and R. DeVerges and P. V. Lacoste, have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of carrying on the hardware business in this city. They are all well known gentlemen, and deserving of patronage. See advertisement on this page.

DRUG STORE.—Those wishing to buy fresh and reliable drugs and medicines are referred to E. DeLanzac's card. Mr. DeLanzac was for many years with I. L. Lyons, on Camp street, where, no doubt, some of our readers have met him.

THE Sportsmen's Depot is advertised for in day's paper. Everything necessary for hunters and anglers will be found at the establishment. Mr. Richard Rhodes, the proprietor, is a worthy man, and we take pleasure in recommending him to our friends.

MACHINERY.—There is no better place to go to for anything in that above line than to R. J. West's, 115 Magazine street, where everything required for plantation work is constantly on hand. Note the advertisement.

DELIGHTFUL PERFUMES.

Dr. Price has prepared a rich variety of perfumes, from which the most fastidious can select an odor which agrees best with them. Dr. Price's Pet Rose, Alpha Bouquet and other perfumes are great favorites, as their sweetness and freshness are not excelled.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

ASK your druggist or dealer for a copy of Dr. Harter's Dutch Doctor Almanac for 1878. It is free to all, is full of valuable and important information, and should be in the hands of every one.

DR. HARTER'S LIVER PILLS have been used by the public for many years, and never has an instance come to our knowledge of their failing to relieve or restore to health the suffering sick where they have been thoroughly and faithfully used. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician at his North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. (who has paid much attention to nervous diseases), has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, either bilious, dyspepsia, nervous or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are ordering by mail. He prepares it in pills at 50 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Episcopal Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, coat tollster, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a scarcity of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 667 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wilhoft's Anti-Peraotic, or Fever and Ague Tonic, is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Finlay & Thomas, soul, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

MRS. HIRAM FREELAND says: "I had a large Cancer on the nose which Dr Graeter removed without the loss of the knife, and with but little pain, two years ago, and I am now perfectly well." Card in this paper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

NEW YORK, November 26, 1877.

DR. V. W. BLANCHARD: During the past year I have prescribed your various preparations of Food Cure, and feel happy to say they have met my most sanguine expectations, giving to patients long enfeebled by blood poison, chronic disease, or overdriving dosing the needed nutrition and nerve force.

PROF. CLEMENCE S. LOZIER, M. D., Dean of Hom. Med. College and Hospital for Women, New York City.

See advertisement of the Blanchard Food Cure Company.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A NEW CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

Dr. H. James' CANNABIS INDICA, or East India Hemp, raised in Calcutta, and prepared on its native soil from the green leaf, has become as famous in this country as in India for the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis and Asthma.

We now inform the public that we have made the importation of this article into the United States our specialty, and that in future the afflicted can obtain these remedies of all first-class druggists. As we have, at great expense and trouble, made permanent arrangements in India for obtaining "Pure Hemp," gathering it at the right season, and having it extracted upon its own soil from the green leaf by an old and experienced chemist (not chemist, being a native), we know that we have the genuine article.

In All Its Purity and Perfection, and feel that we are entitled to credence when we say that Cannabis Indica will do all that is claimed for it, and that one bottle will satisfy the most skeptical of its positively and permanently curing Consumption, Bronchitis and Asthma.

Instead of devoting a column to the merits of this strange and wonderful plant, we would simply ask it to speak for itself through other lips than ours, believing that those who have suffered most can better tell the story, as the following extracts from letters verbatim will show:

GLYNDON, PENNSYLVANIA, Nov. 18, 1877.

Messrs. CRADDOCK & Co.: Gentlemen—I must have more of your invaluable medicine, and wish that you would place it here on sale, as the cost of delivery is too high to Hollowbush. Proved by using the Cannabis Indica I had used all the medicines usually prescribed in my son's case (CONSUMPTION.) I had also consulted the most eminent physicians in the country, and, all giving me up as lost, I, as a last resort, recommenced using the Hemp Remedies (as he got so much relief from them before), and I feel confident that he will recover. Send me by express, etc.

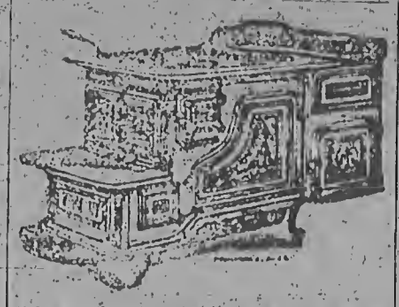
H. T. HILL, 175 and 177 Third St.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Jan. 16, 1878.

Messrs. Heath, Ricker & Sons, Poland Springs, State of Maine:

Gentlemen—By advice of physicians, I visited the Poland springs on the 8th of August, 1877, suffering with chronic diarrhœa, or Bright's disease of the kidneys, with generally depraved state of the blood, offered for your great spring from the very fatal to me. Ordinary patent, and had not experienced anything like relief. I remained six weeks, and improved steadily and rapidly, with the exception of the cure. I had a gentleman from Portland, Maine, who was in the same room with me, and he can corroborate what I say. Since my return home I have used many of the things you sent me, and am now as free from all symptoms of disease as I ever was in my life.

PETER MORAN,
No. 2 Magazine street.



The Celebrated Stewart Stove.
IMPROVED PATTERN OF 1873.

THE best Cook Stove in the world. Will last twenty years, and do more work with the same amount of fuel than any other Stove that was ever made. Pieces for repair old Stewart Stoves always on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,
113 Poydras St., Agent for Louisiana.

Choirs, Singing Schools, Societies,

THE SALUTATION ($12 per doz.) or ZION ($9 per doz.) or THE ENCORE ($7.50 per doz.) or PERKINS' SINGING SCHOOL ($6.75 per doz.) or JOHNSON'S CHORUS CHOIR INSTRUCTION-BOOK, ($12 per doz.)

The first two are best of these Church Music Books by L. O. Emerson and W. O. Perkins, and have had unusual large sales. The last three are fitted especially for Singing Schools, and are the very best of their class. Send for a critical Winter and Spring circular.

Music sent when ordered. One year's postage on boards, 80 cents; on paper covers, 60 cents. CANTATAS. Send for list and terms.

Belshazzar	$1 25
Don Munio	1 50
Joseph's Bondage	1 25
Prodigal Son	1 25
Walpurgis Night	80

Books sent for examination. Postage are drama [illegible] one hundred orders.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK.

No. 592 Magazine Street,
Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in Northern markets, with careful attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable; made, as they are, especially for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far-famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and HUNT, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully,
W. N. TOLER,
Manufacturer and Dealer.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

For the cure of CHRONIC DISEASES.

THIS is the surest, safest and cleanest curative agent known; it cures by revitalizing the whole body, and hence is effective in a great variety of diseases. Among the many homes to which we are permitted to refer, we give the following:

Hon. S. FIELD, Judge of U. S. Supreme Court, and his accomplished wife; Mrs. HALLIE KILBURN; Judge SAMUEL SMITH, New York; Hon. JOEL MONTGOMERY BLAIR; Ex-Gov. BOREMAN, West Virginia; Hon. WM. D. KELLEY; T. S. ARTHUR; Gen. FITZ HENRY WARREN.

Our Brochure of 200 pages, which contains the clearest statement of principles, the most tabulated record of cures, and all the information necessary to an intelligent opinion and intelligent action, will be mailed FREE.

STARKEY & PALEN,
1029 GIRARD ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.
H. R. Starkey, A. M., M. D., G. F. Palen, Ph. B., M. D.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES, Cheapest in the known world. Sample Watch Free to Agents. Address, A. COUTER & Co., Chicago.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OFFICE OF THE
American Cotton Tie Co.,
(LIMITED.)
47 CARONDELET ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Important Special Notice.

The AMERICAN COTTON TIE COMPANY (LIMITED) having fixed the price of the celebrated

ARROW COTTON TIE

at $2.85 per bundle, less 2½ per cent discount for cash, the General Agents hereby authorize their Sub-Agents in this city (dealers in Bailing Stuffs) to sell to and contract with Factors and Country Merchants, for future delivery, on the above-named price and terms, in quantities, from time to time as may be required, settlements being made on delivery.

The Company having a large stock now on hand and having contracted for an abundant supply to meet the entire demand for Cotton Ties throughout the Cotton States, the celebrated ARROW TIE will be placed upon the market generally and sold by their numerous Agents at the price and terms above stated, it being the object and purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community.

J. R. W. RAYNE & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

POLAND
Mineral Spring Water.

THIS is to inform the public that the undersigned has received the Sole Agency for the South for the sale of the celebrated recommended by eminent physicians to be a sure cure for all forms of KIDNEY and BLADDER, and excelling BRIGHT'S DISEASE. It will invigorate [illegible] the virtue of well known ingredients, [illegible] and can be sold as cheap as any mineral water in the market.

POLAND MINERAL WATERS,

H. T. HILL, 175 and 177 Third St.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Jan. 16, 1878.

Messrs. Heath, Ricker & Sons, Poland Springs, State of Maine:

Gentlemen—By advice of physicians, I visited the Poland springs on the 8th of August, 1877, suffering with chronic diarrhœa, or Bright's disease of the kidneys, with generally depraved state of the blood, offered for your great spring from the very fatal to me. Ordinary patent, and had not experienced anything like relief. I remained six weeks, and improved steadily and rapidly, with the exception of the cure. I had a gentleman from Portland, Maine, who was in the same room with me, and he can corroborate what I say. Since my return home I have used many of the things you sent me, and am now as free from all symptoms of disease as I ever was in my life.

PETER MORAN,
No. 2 Magazine street.

The Celebrated Stewart Stove.
IMPROVED PATTERN OF 1873.

THE best Cook Stove in the world. Will last twenty years, and do more work with the same amount of fuel than any other Stove that was ever made. Pieces for repair old Stewart Stoves always on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,
113 Poydras St., Agent for Louisiana.

Choirs, Singing Schools, Societies,

THE SALUTATION ($12 per doz.) or ZION ($9 per doz.) or THE ENCORE ($7.50 per doz.) or PERKINS' SINGING SCHOOL ($6.75 per doz.) or JOHNSON'S CHORUS CHOIR INSTRUCTION-BOOK, ($12 per doz.)

The first two are best of these Church Music Books by L. O. Emerson and W. O. Perkins, and have had unusual large sales. The last three are fitted especially for Singing Schools, and are the very best of their class. Send for a critical Winter and Spring circular.

Music sent when ordered. One year's postage on boards, 80 cents; on paper covers, 60 cents. CANTATAS. Send for list and terms.

Belshazzar	$1 25
Don Munio	1 50
Joseph's Bondage	1 25
Prodigal Son	1 25
Walpurgis Night	80

Books sent for examination. Postage are drama [illegible] one hundred orders.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK.

No. 592 Magazine Street,
Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in Northern markets, with careful attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable; made, as they are, especially for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far-famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and HUNT, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully,
W. N. TOLER,
Manufacturer and Dealer.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

For the cure of CHRONIC DISEASES.

THIS is the surest, safest and cleanest curative agent known; it cures by revitalizing the whole body, and hence is effective in a great variety of diseases. Among the many homes to which we are permitted to refer, we give the following:

Hon. S. FIELD, Judge of U. S. Supreme Court, and his accomplished wife; Mrs. HALLIE KILBURN; Judge SAMUEL SMITH, New York; Hon. JOEL MONTGOMERY BLAIR; Ex-Gov. BOREMAN, West Virginia; Hon. WM. D. KELLEY; T. S. ARTHUR; Gen. FITZ HENRY WARREN.

Our Brochure of 200 pages, which contains the clearest statement of principles, the most tabulated record of cures, and all the information necessary to an intelligent opinion and intelligent action, will be mailed FREE.

STARKEY & PALEN,
1029 GIRARD ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.
H. R. Starkey, A. M., M. D., G. F. Palen, Ph. B., M. D.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES, Cheapest in the known world. Sample Watch Free to Agents. Address, A. COUTER & Co., Chicago.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.

CONTAIN all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of styles and musical combinations, adapted to Church and Home use. Every instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogues sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1293 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La. 6mnll

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.
PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.
MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot, and connected on the inner edge only, with the edges prepared as to render them damp proof, and are so prepared. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and much wanted by the lady or gentleman. S. TUTTLE & SONS, 324 Arch St., Philadelphia.

THE WONDERFUL PEN-HOLDER!

NO INK REQUIRED.—We have invented and patented July 17, 1877, a Pen Holder which contains Solidified Ink that will write and will not dry up. Three dippings in water will write a page. Sample, postpaid, 25 cents, or Pen-Holder and one box of ink extra links, 50 cents. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment.

J. T. HILLYER, 206 Broadway, N. Y.

☞ The Christian Union of Sept. 5, 1877, says: "I shall claim [illegible] experience for this paper is written with one of these pens, and we propose to have a specimen [illegible]

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1868.

THE CHEAPEST AND MOST POPULAR HOUSE IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are:

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $40.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and children from 2 to 16 years of ages from $1 50 to $15 each.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 to set (Capes and Muffs) to $50.

Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 21 inches deep, from $5 to $40.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article to it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LAND LOOKED FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the prices. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

FRENCH MILLINERY,

BERLIN ZEPHYR WORSTED,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL,

begs to inform her patrons and the ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marah, well known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any disease of the scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.,

AND SOLD BY ABL DRUGGISTS. 5p

HARTE'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL AND Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by

FREDERICKSON & HARTE,

120 Canal street.

FARNHAM IMPROVED.

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Crib, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots to Full Size Beds. I box rest.

General Agency for Southern States—19 COMMERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS
A GREENHOUSE AT YOUR DOOR
FOR $1.00 EACH
OUR SELECTION
CHOICE SORTS
A hundred other things cheap.
Also an immense Stock of Fruit & Ornamental Trees Evergreens, Shrubs etc. year. 13 Greenhouses. 400 Acres.
STORRS HARRISON & CO.
PAINESVILLE, OHIO.

Fifty pages, 300 Illustrations, with Descriptions of thousands of the best Flowers and Vegetables in the world and how to grow them, all for a FIVE CENT postage stamp. Printed in German and English.

Vick's Flower and Vegetable Garden, 175 cts. in paper cover. In elegant cloth covers, $1.

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, 32 pages, one finely colored plate, and many fine engravings in every number. Price, $1.25 a year. Five copies for $5. Address

JAMES VICK, Rochester, N. Y.

MONARCH CORN MILL

For HAND or POWER use.

With Power [illegible] 4 to 6 bushels per hour. With Hand [illegible] Price for hand use $11.00, with Power Attachments $14.00.

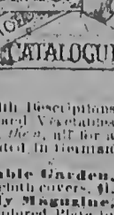
With [illegible] EDWARD THOMPSON, General Agent, 112 & 114 Poydras Street, New Orleans, La.

Marder, Luse & Co.
TYPE FOUNDERS,
CHICAGO,

Have the largest and most complete Type Foundry in the West. All Type cast from best quality of metal. Estimates furnished on application. Goods shipped promptly. Complete outfits supplied on short notice.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.



Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Lapice's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Mobile depot—Fontaine & Co., 20 Water St., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 708 N. Main St. 5p

WHEELER & PIERSON,
Successors to Pierson & Hees,
NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,
Opposite the City Hotel.

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good clothing sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 1

50 Elegant Mixed Cards, with name, 10c. Agent's outfit, 10c. SEAVY BROS., Northford, Ct. sdw

Farm, Garden and Household.

NOTES ON GARDENING.

FEBRUARY.

Every suggestion of the previous month applies to this, and especially so in a higher latitude. Seeds of almost every known plant may be sown this month, either in open ground or cold frames, on and below 33°. It is better to defer the planting of melons, cucumbers and other vines until next month, when they may be sown in the hand frames about the tenth, or a little earlier. March 25 is early enough to plant in open ground. All the roots should be sown as early as possible.

PLANTS

of celery, cabbage, lettuce, cauliflower and leeks should go out and will do well. Grout the roots of all with semi-liquid manure from the cow-stall. Set up to the leaves and press the soil firmly to the plants. If it is necessary to water, make a depression close to the plant and fill with water, and after it is soaked in draw soil over it.

Irish Potatoes.—Plant in 2 feet rows and 12 to 18 inches apart. Repeated experiments at the Pennsylvania Agricultural College disprove the idea that it is better to cut the potatoes some days before planting. Our own experience for four or five years induces the practice now of cutting just before planting. Fermented stable manure, well fired with a little acid phosphate, and plenty of well-rotted but not leached ashes, is the manure. A quickly maturing plant like the Irish potato demands a highly soluble manure, if the manuring is done simultaneously with the planting.

Sweet Potatoes.—Bed fine, large potatoes in a cold frame at once for earliest plants. Water the plants with warm water (90 to 100) every four or five days, and keep the glass on except when the temperature is above 50°. Devote all the soap-suds and dish-water to the potato beds. As the sprouts appear, clip them a little with scissors to make them stocky. Has anybody tried the "Early Peabody?" Prof. Thurber, of the American Agriculturist, indorses this variety highly, and states that he obtained good-sized potatoes in August (and that in New York.) If a good thing, it ought to be advertised.

SOWING IN FRAMES.

Tomato, pepper and egg plant, should be sown in a frame or other warm seed-bed, or in a box in the kitchen window. For the egg plant it is far better to sow in frame or box elevated some feet above the ground, in order to protect plants from the flea beetle. It is the only way we can raise plants.

Onions.—Sets may be put out this month, and may be made to produce very good sized bulbs. Seed may be sown for sets; in fact this is the month for this—8 to 12 seed to the square inch. Sow in drills 12 to 18 inches apart, and keep down the weeds. Old seed will always disappoint.

English Peas.—Sow "Little Gem" or "Blue Peter," in 2 feet rows, 4 to 6 seed every 12 to 15 inches. Philadelphia Extra Early and Caractacus of the taller sorts are the best.

The first corn should be planted toward the latter part of the month. Tuscarora and Philadelphia Flint are good early sorts.

GROUTING PLANTS.

We rarely transplant anything without grouting, satisfied that it more than pays for the trouble. "Grout" is the term applied to a semi-liquid compound of two or three parts of cow manure, one part clay-dust, and water to reduce to the consistency of mush. Into this the roots of plants are dipped before being set out. To an ordinary-sized bucket full of the grout we add a handful each of rotted ashes and superphosphate, mixed thoroughly. This grout induces plants to throw out new roots speedily and abundantly. We are endeavoring to combine with the grout an antidote to the cut-worm and May beetle grub. At present we impregnate the grout with the odor of kerosene, and have cause to hope that it will be found successful. Used in other ways, we have found kerosene to be a most effective insecticide and repellant. Time will show to what extent and how it may be used without injury to plants, and with what success as a preventive of cut-worms. We were led to try kerosene from seeing a statement that it was destructive to mealy-bugs, and that it was very fine for killing and preserving entomological specimens. This is true. One drop on the head kills instantly, and a few more drops act as a preservative in several ways.

We close by urging a prompt thinning of the beets, turnips, salsify, etc. (on the richest soil not closer than 6 inches,) and killing grass and weeds while they are very young.

Three well-known proverbs in gardening are:

"A garden that is well kept is easily kept."

"You must conquer weeds or weeds will conquer you."

"The best time to kill weeds is before they come up." It is well to heed them.—S. A. C., in Southern Cultivator.

The mass of mankind are much more generous to their vices than to their virtues. Hence we find that the cost of the one exceeds that of the other many fold. And it is a melancholy fact that even church members will often give more to some hurtful habit than for the advancement of Christ's kingdom, and that pride receives larger tribute than the church.

THE TRUTHFUL TEST.

It requires no learned experts to establish the fact that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the purest and the strongest. It will make sweeter, lighter and more digestible bread, biscuits, cakes etc. than can be made with other kinds. It is of incontestable proof of its purity and receives excellence.

MEDICAL.

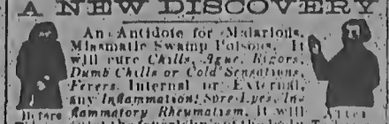
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Rigors, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers. Internal or External, any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism. It will destroy any poisonous elements in the blood. Before Taking. After Taking. quiet the feverishness of the body. Take one.

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any feverish, poisonous, inflammatory action that may exist in the system.

When you take a tea-spoonful it is taken up by the absorbent vessels in the stomach, bowels and destroys any poisonous elements in the ducts and blood vessels, relieves the causes of Chills and their accompanying diseases.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

has cause to rejoice. This new discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will make glad many an anxious countenance. Such as Chills, Shakes, Ague, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottles, price $1; also, Powder, to Torture it yourself as cheap, by mail all over the world at 1 cent per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
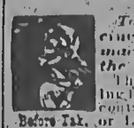
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.



Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat and Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules "They are Sugar Globules, containing medicine." As rapidly as the Globules dissolve in the mouth, the oily coating on the medicine in the globules forms a healing gas, which is at once inhaled, permeates every air cell in the lungs and absorbed by the Glands into the blood, thus the fountain of the Lungs is reached. Thousands of testimonials have been received by Dr. J. H. McLean, Caswell, Va., U. S. A., in behalf of Consumption, Coughing, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Colds, and any Soreness in the Lungs. Before Taking. After Taking. Globules, with Circular Medicine, in tin boxes, to mail all over the World, at 25 per box. Postage Stamps will be received for this.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

In the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, get it on the sore parts, the contact with the disease in the Nose, Throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chafing, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the poison out of every sore and cure it. Full box 25 cents, by mail.

Before Tak. After Tak.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

TUTT'S PILLS.

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians. Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Biliousness, Fever & Ague, and Mind Colic.

THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Dizziness, Drowsiness, and Indigestion.

THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Healthy Low Spirits.

THEY ACT on the Head, and remove all Impurities.

THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Diseases.

THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.

THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the Body.

THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.

THEY ARE invaluable for Females, Irregularities.

THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.

THEY ARE harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere, 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

(Six miles south of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

I refer to Capt. J. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Pegld, state Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Chunchula, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Manville, Ala.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,

NO. 870 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,

Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1080.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD per Cord $6 00
OAK WOOD, per Cord 5 00
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord 5 50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. RADELAT, Agent.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES

NO. 155 CAMP STREET,

THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give me a call and see for yourselves.

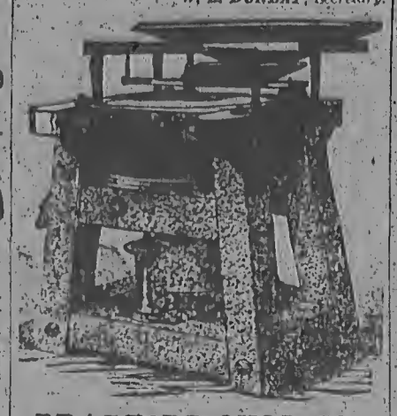
Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at lowest rates. All Furniture and Bedding put in perfect repair, and delivered, to order. Moving, Packing, etc., in full, done at the lowest possible prices on application to

HENRY UHOFF,
155 Camp street.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

J. R. STEWART, President. W. E. DUNLAP, Secretary.



BRADFORD MILL CO.,

Successors to JAS. BRADFORD & CO.,

Improved Under-Runner Mills.

PATENTED DECEMBER 5, 1876.

FRENCH BURR MILL STONES, Portable Corn and Flour Mills, Smut Machines, Bolting Chests, and dealers in genuine Dutch Anchor Bolting Cloths; and general Mill Furnishers. Send for price list. Office and Factory—658 W. SECOND STREET, CINCINNATI, O.

STRAUB MILL COMPANY, CINCINNATI

CORN-SHELLERS, HUSKERS, GEARING, SHAFTING, PULLEYS, MILL PICKS, PORTABLE MILLS FOR WHEAT, CORN OR FEED.

BOLTING CLOTH. MILLERS SUPPLIES.

BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale of cotton.

BUYERS CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IF IN FLAT TIES.

Send for circular containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co, St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICES REDUCED.

THE

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.

HAVE the pleasure of announcing that recent decrease in cost of material and labor, and increase in manufacturing facilities, have enabled them to make a reduction in their Catalogue prices of from $10 to $50 on each Organ. (See Price List dated November, 1877.)

Organs of their manufacture are acknowledged to stand at the head of instruments of this class, having merited and received Highest Honors at all World's Exhibitions for ten years.

NEW STYLES, NOW READY, surpassing previous productions in musical excellence and beauty of cases. Sold for cash, or on installments, or rented until rent pays. Illustrated Catalogues and Reduced Price Lists, (November, 1877) sent free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont St., Boston; 25 Union Sq., New York; 250 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS.

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh ground daily.

Flour delivered in all parts of the city.

FIDUCE BRAN suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rate.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 CAMP STREET,

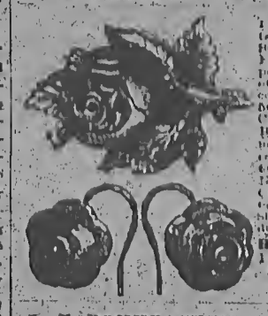
AMERICAN and FOREIGN

WATCHES,

DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE.

AT LOWEST PRICES.

Special attention to Watch-Repairing.



Ladies' Elegant Imitation Point Coral Set, Breastpin and Earrings, sent post-paid, for only reading this paper for 25 cents. Impossible to tell from genuine. Indian CORAL SLEEVE BUTTONS to match 25 cents per set; or three sets for 60 cents. Elegant Necklace, with Charms, 61 each, cannot be purchased elsewhere for less than $1. Rare inducements to Agents. BRIDE & CO., 14 Union Place, New York City.

J. F. ROHRBACHER,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

227 CAMP STREET 227

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best manufacturers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's fine made Congress Boots at $6 00.

HEATH, PIFFET & LARA,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.

Frames made to order—a specialty.

No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.

CARPETINGS—Wilton Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three Ply, etc.

FLOORTH CLOTH, English and American.

MATTINGS, Canton, White, Check and Fancy.

WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.

FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.

RUGS, Table and Enamelled OIL CLOTHS.

A. BROUSSEAU.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARSDEN'S

Pectoral Balm!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, COLDS,

AND

CONSUMPTION.

FINLAY & THOMPSON,

SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Attention, Country Readers!

SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRESS GOODS, BLANKETS,

SHAWLS, FLANNELS, WOOLEN GOODS, HOSIERY, COTTONS, ETC.

BLACK GOODS.

Extraordinary Inducements in this department, consisting of Black Silks, Merinoes, Bombazines, Delaines, Etamines, Alpaca, Mohair, Empress Cloth, Crepe, etc.

Also, White and Printed Linen Towels, Damasks, Marseilles Quilts, Nottingham Laces, French Embroideries, Curtains, etc.

PEPIN & BIDEBARRE,
158 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE

SOUTHERN BELLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

DEVOTED TO

Fashion, Instruction and Amusement.

Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal St.

Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 50 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal street, New Orleans. General Agent for the old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.

MADAME FRICKE

begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove on the

FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,

from her present residence, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over the west side of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice, and in the latest styles. Respectfully,

K. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union, NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son's celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

MAKE $100

PER MONTH

YOU CAN

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging an energetic AGENT, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed, and what you have to say. Address us at once, and we will explain fully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our full stock of these goods has recently been received, a few weeks has arrived and is ready for inspection. Our Breech Loading Shot Guns alone now in store comprises upward of 25 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade, and no sportsman should be profitably afforded a wider choice, considering the very low cost of good and serviceable shooters, while a large and well stocked house is looked to in order to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, either you wish to buy now or not.

FOLSOM BROS.,
9 Carondelet St., Cor. Camp St., New Orleans.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159 CANAL ST. 159

Keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, of all sizes and lengths, for sale. Ladies' Combs and Hair Ornaments, etc., made to order in all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Paris Country orders promptly attended to. No goods are sent as represented he will refund the money immediately.

AT WHOEVER'S

Appreciates Honest Dealing!

Will do well to call at

S. EHRLICH'S

CLOTHING HOUSE,

218½ Charles St., New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

PRYTANIA STREET, CORNER URANIA,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and retires, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars may be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

HEN. C. PROTT, Principal,
P.O. Box 425, New Orleans, La.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

153 Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

H. B. HERMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,

NO. 102 TALLEYRAND ST., between Magazine and Commerce, New Orleans.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,

27 CARONDELET STREET.

EXTRACT FROM THE

ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,

NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877... $567,767 19
Losses paid within the year..... 230,675 73

Cash Dividends for the Year:

Interest (semi-annually)..... 10 per Cent.
Premiums..... 20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877..... $1,283,208 66

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium.

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John I. Noble,	T. Lytt. Lyon,
John Chaffe,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Richard Milliken,	Joseph McElroy,
John I. Warren,	Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner,	B. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander,	Wm. C. Black,
A. A. Yates,	Charles Chaffe,
John I. Adams,	L. C. Jurey,
Isaac Scherck,	Wm. Hartwell,
R. M. Walmsley,	C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May,	A. T. Jaulin,
S. H. Snowden,	Jos. Bowling,

A. M. Bickham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,

89 ..... CAMP STREET 91

BRANCH STORE—597 MAGAZINE ST.,

WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.

NEW ORLEANS,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE!

BUILDERS' HARDWARE,

GRATES, CUTLERY,

STOVES AND RANGES.

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE

CHARTER OAK STOVE.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Griswold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET, universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH made by agents selling the Buckeye Stationery Package, Buckeye Casket, 93 Chromos, Magic Pencil (no ink required,) Lucky Combination Pen Holder, Money Tubes, Magical Parching Plate, Felt Lamp Wick, Machine Needles, Attachments, Notions, Cheap Jewelry, etc. Catalogues free. BUCKEYE NOVELTY CO., Cincinnati, O.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles, just patented. Samples sent free by mail. Address W. H. CODDINGTON, 218 Fulton Street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromo, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent post-paid for 50 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted. Business legitimate. Particulars free. Address WORTH & CO., St Louis, Mo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND

FANCY GOODS!

EMBRACING

All the Latest Novelties and Patterns

OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE and is sufficiently extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, enables me to purchase all goods from first hands, thus securing not only a choice, but the very lowest figures, and hence I can offer

BARGAINS

Both in Price and Quality of Goods,

that will suit the purse and captivate the taste. Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans.
Second door above Custom House.

THE "RED BOOT" STORE

IS THE

Cheapest Boot and Shoe Store

IN THE CITY.

All grades of goods always on hand, and sold at the VERY LOWEST PRICES. Call, examine my stock and prices, and be convinced.

GEORGE J. WAGNER,
Dauphine street, corner of Bienville.
The Jackson Railroad (City) cars pass within one square of the store.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.,

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

SAM. HENDERSON,

Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,

18 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Purchasing on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no two alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINGLE & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

JUST PUBLISHED.

The Paragon of Holiday-Book for Musical People.

"THE GREAT TONE-POET"

BEING SHORT MEMOIRS OF THE GREATER COMPOSERS.

By F. Crowest.

A valuable, convenient and beautiful work for musical readers; a perfect compendium of information concerning the most eminent musicians and their works. The volume contains sketches of the following composers and their works:

Bach, Handel, Gluck, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Rossini, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Schumann.

Nothing could be of greater service to the musical student than this elegant work.

Bound in Cloth, $1.50.

Sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.

Published by

JOHN CHURCH & CO.,

CINCINNATI, OHIO,

And 805 Broadway, New York.

National Sunday School Papers.

The Sunday School World.—A weekly Journal, 16 pages, quarto, contains THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS, by JOHN HALL, D. D., of New York, and other helps for teachers. Only 50 cents a year; to students, in clubs, 35 cents, postage paid.

INTERNATIONAL Lesson Papers for Scholars.—1. Advanced. 2. Intermediate. 3. Primary, with pictures. Each, 100 copies per quarter in advance, $9.

Quarterly Review Papers on the International Lessons.—1. Large Review, printed on sheets 3' by 5 feet, in large type, to be viewed by the whole school, $1 per year. 2. The Superintendent's Review. 3. The Scholars' and Teachers' Review Paper, 10 copies per year, 40 cents per quarter.

The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by the Rev. RICHARD NEWTON, D. D. 100 copies semi-monthly, $12; semi-monthly, $24. By mail, $13; semi-monthly, $26. Single subscription, 50 cents monthly, 50 cents semi-monthly.

Catalogues and specimen copies of papers furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions received at the Society's Depositories, as follows:

A. KIRKPATRICK, 1122 Chestnut St., Phila.
G. S. SCRIBNER, 8 and 10 Bible House, N. Y.
J. A. CROWLEY, 7 Beacon Street, Boston.
W. R. PORT, 73 Randolph, near State street, Chicago.
S. PAYSON, 208 N. Sixth Street, St. Louis.

Ten copies and over at the same rates.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. H. CHRISTESON,

SUCCESSOR TO

SAMPSON BROS.,

99, 101 and 103 Customhouse st.,

MANUFACTURER OF AND DEALER IN

FURNITURE

OF ALL STYLES AND DESCRIPTIONS.

Now receiving New and Elegant Designs, purchased in the LOWEST MARKET RATES. Country orders solicited for price list.

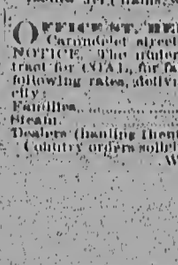
MATTRESSES. Hair and Spring Mattresses.

FRANK LESLIE'S SUNDAY MAGAZINE

Conducted by Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, New York.

The third volume of this the cheapest and most attractive magazine for Sunday reading commences with the January number. Each number contains 64 quarto pages of choice literature, profusely illustrated with fine engravings, pictures of Bible localities, scenes from Scripture history, missionary lands, and an endless variety of interesting subjects. The next volume will contain the best original matter of a highly religious tone, written with a view to edify as well as amusement, with valuable information and instruction. It includes social stories, sketches, descriptions of other lands, etc., and affords an inexhaustible supply of entertaining reading for the Sunday fireside. Now is the time to subscribe. The January number contains a portrait of Dr. Deems. Terms, $3 a year; 25 cents per number. Address FRANK LESLIE'S PUBLISHING HOUSE, 537 Pearl street, New York.

KIRKWOOD'S



The best, safest and most reliable instrument for the treatment of Catarrh, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the lungs and throat, positively.

Price, $7.50. Sent by mail.

For pamphlet, etc., address

E. FOUGERA & CO.,
30 NORTH WILLIAM ST.,
NEW YORK.

INHALE

Boys and Girls

ARE MAKING MONEY printing cards, labels, envelopes, etc., with PARTIES' PRESS. Send 2 stamps for catalogue of Presses, $3, Sizes, Type, Cards, etc., to the FACTORY. Kelsey Business Men should use it. GOLDING & CO., Franklin Square, Boston.

Do Your Own Printing

NO EXPERIENCE needed. Instructions and printing GOLDING'S OFFICIAL GUIDE for printing Cards, Tags, Labels, etc. Every Business Man should have it. Sent for 2 stamps.

Outfits from $3.

GOLDING & CO., Manufrs., Fort-Hill Square, Boston.

LADIES ELEGANT JET SET, BREASTPIN and DROPS sent to any address on receipt of this paper for 25 cents. Sets ASSORTED PATTERNS 50 cents. The cheapest and twice the size of any in imitation.

POSTAGE STAMPS TAKEN AT CASH.

F. STOCK,
27 Dey Street, New York.

Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, reduced to $1.

OFFICE ST. BERNARD COAL CO.

Carondelet street, New Orleans.

NOTICE. The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL, for fall and winter supply, at following rates, delivered in any portion of the city:

Families $6.00
Steam 5.00
Dealers (hauling themselves) 4.50
Country orders solicited.

W. S. CAMPBELL.

SCIENTIFIC.

The game of chess is evidently appealing as an educational means.

The alfalfa, a variety of grass, is doing wonderful crops in California.

It has been observed that plants maculated leaves lose their at the time of blossoming.

The estimated yield of silk in the of 1877 in France is 475 tons of w and 70 tons of green silk.

There are said to be 3,000 photogers in Germany, and they use ally nearly half a ton of nitrate ver.

Dr. Zimmermann, of Berlin, and savants, have formed a Gersociety for the exploration of tine.

A mine of very rich asbestos has discovered in the San Jacinto of California, and it will be ily worked.

The quicksilver yield of Californ the current year, is estimated 0 flasks, probably of the aggrevalue of $2,500,000.

Dr. Caldwell, of Iowa, affirms a n which the human hair grew inches after death. Other Ins have been reported.

Elastic tubes furnished with for fastening are now used as quets on the London and western railway, instead of the shioned bandage.

A variety of the plant arum is hi the Himalayas, to which me of the cobra-plant has been from the curious resemblance blossom to the head of the cobra.

The statement of Mr. Frank and that rattlesnakes cannot up their rattles," when they t, as in heavy rains, is denied American observer, who has ed two of these snakes in a ding rain-storm, and they beat attoo in a lively manner."

Dr. J. Gibbons Hunt, of our y, a few years ago published resting paper on plant crystals, ch he showed that these were distinctive in each family of In an English publication . H. Hammond has recently ving a detail of similar exre. He says the crystals he n the structure of Onagraceæ, æ and Balsaminaceæ are all inctive that each order can be ished by their crystals alone. enthusiastic on microscopic ries, and hopes that "some e microscope will supersede one in families." Many of us have no objection to its being one's close companion.

r spend your money before ve it. This will save you from difficulties and some tempta-

MISCELLANEOUS.

ARGAINS IN CARRIAGES
GO TO y Timken's New Factory,
S, 1008 AND 1010 ST CHARLES ST., and Eleventh Sts., ST LOUIS, MO. s of first-class material and workmanand sold, or made for cash or on time.

ATHAN CARD
IAGE MANUFACTURER
Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.,
Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED. $10
FOR RICAN WATCHES
305 N. 7TH ST.
ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,
iage Manufacturers,
AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET,
ST. LOUIS,
urers of all classes of Vehicles. Their d quality and elegance, is unsurpassed ntry.

S' Orchestrion chimes ORGA
the most beautiful and stylish and perfect ed tune ever made. It has the celebrated Concertoslop, which ches the imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned in perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect Omagical & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORTalune French Cases are the eveFIRST CLASS.
RS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, anship, & Durability Unsurpassed. ed for SIX YEARS.
EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Installments received. A Liberal to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, TS WANTED. Special Inducethe trade. Illustrated Catalogues ecommendations of Great HORACE WATERS & SONS, urers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14TH STREET, UNION , NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

l-Class Visiting Cards.

ent	10c	25 Autumn Leaf	10c.
	10c.	26 Snowflake	10c.
	10c.	28 Rep	10c.
	10c.	25 Damask	10c.
	10c.	28 Scroll, with name	10c.

el, stamp extra for each name when the ents is less than $1. When sure I pay , and thus you save 30 cents on $1 worth. ork in the world at any price. Money f they don't suit. W. C. CANNON, 742 n street, Boston, Mass.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.
WIDOW HY. HABERT,
Successor to P. Delcroix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

JEWELRY STORE.
A. Boitel, Watchmaker,
58.....ROYAL STREET.....58
Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts. New Orleans.
Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.
A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.
A. BONNET & CO.,
DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,
NO. 65 ROYAL STREET.
Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN
LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,
And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,
No. 142 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. ISAAC VIGNAUD,
Formerly Slumway & Bernard.
GAMET & VIGNAUD,
DEALERS IN
SUGARS AND MOLASSES.
Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.
No. 34 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John Bosio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining-Rooms up stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE.
Office and Sales-Room, 87 NORTH PETERS ST.
Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, bet. Roman and Prieur, New Orleans.
Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1849.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, Germun, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY.
"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.
R. BLONDEAU,
Successor to J. G. Bernet,
Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,
NO. 63 ROYAL STREET,
Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.
Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

J. H. MEHAFFEY,
General Commission Merchant,
And dealer in Staves, Firewood, Lime, Lumber and Cypress Materials,
OFFICE—21 Union street; LUMBER YARD—Cor. Levee and Washington Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.
JOHN S. McDONALD,
Proprietor and Manager.
MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED
MOSS.
Factory—Nos. 25 to 29 South Liberty and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress Street.
Office—No. 248 Liberty street, P. O. Box 235, New Orleans, La.
Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
B. D. WOOD & BROS.,
Corner Camp and Common Streets,
Opposite the City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all Kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or wagon to the consumer, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRIER CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better, and cheaper; so come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship spar. W. W. CARRIER & CO.
No. 6 Oakford street.

THOMAS HASAN,
LUMBER,
PLANS MADE TO ORDER,
Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.
Mills and Yard—Corner CEDAR AND JULIA STS. (New Basin), New Orleans.

ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU,
159.....POYDRAS STREET.....159
Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.
Citysmade Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent.'s, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILSMANN,
DEALER IN
WOOD AND COAL,
330.....DELORD STREET.....330
NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ,
134 Bampas Street,
Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,
MANUFACTURER OF
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.
Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Calèche built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Crescent City Cigar Store,
Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally,
No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,
NEW ORLEANS.
Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month; Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1.50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement.
Regular tuning $2 order, $2. Strings free.
Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. G. GARINKE, 807 Magazine, Between Sixth and Seventh Sts.
Pianos for rent at $3 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,
ARCHITECT
31.....CARONDELET ST.....31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. J. HICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 319 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. W. W. RACE. W. K. FOSTER.
MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,
ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,
Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,
NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

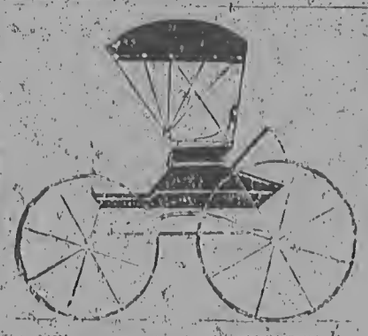
PILES.
DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 206 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles, without knife, ligature or pain. Patient can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McGillops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lopez, M. A. Wolff, Frank Shispoich, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sneckie, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Bilson, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

ASTHMA.
FOR YEARS I have treated, by Inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay-feverness, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.
DR. J. D. HAHRENBERG,
319 Walnut Street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.
Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.
CHAS. SIMON & SONS,
631 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,
WOULD call special attention to their extensive stock of DRESS GOODS, LINEN AND COTTON GOODS, Embroideries, Laces, Goods for Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Made Underwear, etc.
SAMPLES SENT FREE.
ALSO, TO THEIR
Dressmaking Department.
Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order promptly, in a superior manner, and in the latest style, at moderate rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement, and samples of materials, with estimate of cost, sent upon application.
All orders amounting to $20 or over will be sent free of freight charges by express; but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of money.



J. A. LEM & CO. N. ALBERT HOPKINS
J. A. LEM & CO.
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
182 Gravier and 18 Union Street.
A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

CARPETS!
ELKIN & CO.,
105.....CANAL STREET.....105
ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF
Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets,
Tapestry Brussels from $1.10 to $1.25 per yard. Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, Cocoa Mattings and Rugs.
All the Cheapest Low Priced
CARPETS
CEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.,
GENERAL
COMMISSION MERCHANT
FOR THE SALE OF
COTTON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,
AS WELL AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.
Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Staves, Timber, Lumber, Hoop-Poles, Fire Wood, etc. Liberal advances made on consignments.
A. P. DuMAY,
NO. 11 UNION ST., New Orleans.

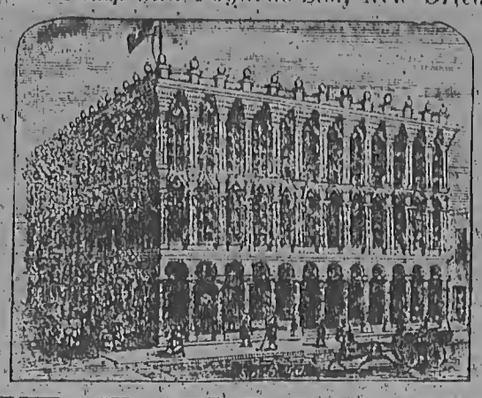
LUMBER.
CYPRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assortment of over 2,000,000 feet Constantly on hand. Also a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on hand and made to order. Office—Corner Delord and Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, Calliope, Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 1945.
JOHN F. POPP.

TAKE NOTICE, WE have the LARGEST and best selling Stationery Package in the world. Contains 1 Gold-plated Fountain Pen, 1 piece of valuable Jewelry, Complete sample Outfit, with elegant gold stone Silver Mounted Scarf Pin, 1 Gold-plated Ring, and a Patent Pocket Inkstand Pencil, Pin and Drops, together $3 retail. 5 PACKAGES with Assorted Jewelry $1. A Splendid Watch and Chain free with every $50 worth of Goods you buy. Agents Wanted in Every Locality to Canvass. Extraordinary Inducements to Agents.
BRIDE & CO. 11 Clinton Place, New York

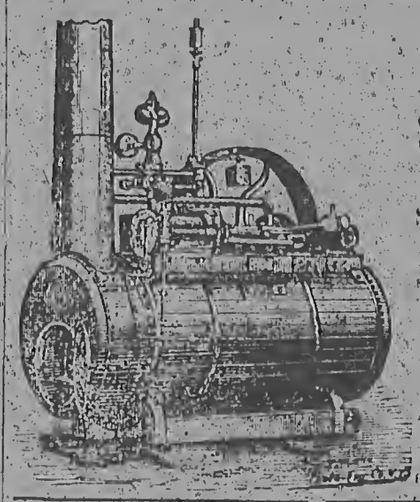
$1200 SALARY. Permanent salesmen wanted in each Staple Goods to deal. No peddling. Expenses paid. Address H. A. GRANT & CO., 3, 5, 7 & 9 Home St., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.
FURNITURE EMPORIUM,
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



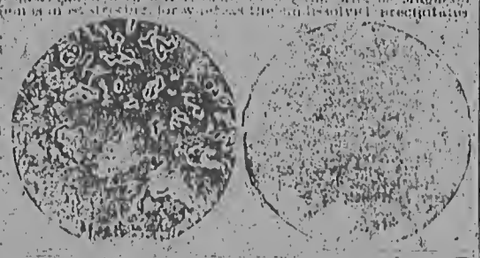
FINE PARLOR SUITS,
IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.
FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.
Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of PIER MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.



PAYNE'S
PORTABLE
STEAM ENGINES.
5 TO 15 HORSE POWER.
Strong, Simple and Durable.
BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.
SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.
B. J. WEST,
SOLE AGENT,
115 and 117 Magazine Street,
NEW ORLEANS.
Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses, Pumps, etc.

We have the best Imitation Gold Watch in the market. The metal is a composition of other metals, so closely resembling gold, that the best judges find it difficult to detect the difference, except by a chemical test; and it has the virtues required to make it the best substitute for gold known. Genuine American Movement. Expansion Balances, Beautifully Engraved or Enamel Jointed Hunting Cases and equal in appearance to a $400.00 WATCH THAT COSTS from $150 to $200. Every one wish a watch for your own use, or to make money on; try this. Owing to our large sales we are enabled to reduce the price of them to $12 each, with an elegant Chain attached. They are used on railroads, steamers and in manufactories and other places where accurate time is required, and give general satisfaction. We send them by mail or express, on receipt of $12, to any part of the country, or it will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires, and remits $2 on account. These elegant CHAINS weigh about Fifty Pennyweights, and the same pattern in pure gold would cost $100. We sell these Chains at $4 each. But we sell the Watch and Chain for $12, sent by mail in a registered package, postpaid, to any postoffice in the United States.
WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.
I. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 11 Eighth St., New York.

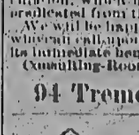
MILK OF MAGNESIA
IS THE best preparation known for all disorders and conditions of the stomach. It is indispensable and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SICK HEADACHE, and all those painful symptoms which arise from an acid condition of the stomach. The pleasant taste and milk like smoothness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It keeps freely in any climate, and will not change on the shelf, or in any way when used with fruit, as it is also perfectly neutral to the taste. The surpassing excellence of this preparation and its perfect safety are made to fly apparent in the following Declarations. They express a fact and not a single drop unqualified testimony. The Milk of Magnesia we take is with water. The use of Milk of Magnesia does not affect the action of the kidneys in any way, as it is entirely dissolved in the stomach and has performed its office before it reaches the kidneys. The drops of calcined Magnesia are exhibited with terrible effect upon the kidneys. Milk of Magnesia is the appearance of a cloudy vapor, and does not change the atmospheric properties in the slightest degree.
Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. We are the original importers of Milk of Magnesia. Physicians are not already acquainted with this, should send for circular explanatory circular by addressing
C. H. PHILLIPS,
Manuf'g Chemist,
P. O. Box 1972. NEW YORK.



THE RUBBER PAINT
IS THE
BEST PAINT IN THE WORLD.
There is no Paint manufactured that will wear longer, look better, or in any way give more satisfaction. Durable, Elastic, Economical, and of a handsome Fire White or Fine Black. Any one using it is sure to get the BEST Paint in the market at the lowest price. Shipping Agents for the Trade in the following Branch Factories will have no trouble in filling orders promptly and at manufacturers' prices.
BRANCH FACTORIES:
300 West St., New York. 81 W. Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill.
210 S. Third St., St. Louis, Mo. 60 Wholesale Depot at Works, 161 Eastern Ave., No. 2 N. Liberty St., Baltimore, Md.
Sample Cards and Numerous Testimonials Sent FREE on Application.
If we have no Agent at your nearest town, send to one of our offices for circular.
80w

ALWAYS ASK FOR ESTERBROOK'S
STEEL PENS.
Works Camden N. J.
NEW YORK OFFICE 26 JOHN ST.
ESTERBROOK & CO. FALCON PEN. 048
Samples & prices on application.
80w

$1,000 IN GOLD.
To All Whom It May Concern.
THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in good faith, offer the above reward for the sworn statement of Own respectable citizens of any city or town which will prove that PHOSPHORIC AIR, THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, has failed to permanently cure any form of CATARRH, Asthma, Epilepsy, or any form of Nervous or Mental diseases. One month's treatment, Inhaler, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.
Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passages and Brain can be reached.
Phosphoric Air cures by its effects upon the circulation, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.
We will be happy to give a TRIAL FREE to any wherein enlargement, so that they may experience its immediate beneficial effects.
Consulting-Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.;
94 Tremont Street, Boston.



Sutter, Berry & Co.,
GLASS STAINERS.
Particular Attention Paid to Church Work.
Orders from all parts of the country promptly attended to.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
Illustrated catalogue sent free.
310 N. SEVENTH ST., bet. Pine and Olive, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

25 Fashionable Cards, no 2 alike, with name, 10c, post paid. Geo. I. REED & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

SHAKSPEARE IRON WORKS,
Cor. Girod and Dryades Sts.
MANUFACTURE EVERY VARIETY OF
STEAM ENGINES
SUGAR MILLS,
VACUUM PANS, SAW MILLS,
DRAINING AND CENTRIFUGAL MACHINES,
MILL AND GIN GEARING,
GRATE BARS, ETC., ETC.,
STORE FRONTS,
COLUMNS, VENTILATORS,
RICE MILLING MACHINERY,
PULLEYS AND SHAFTING.
And work of all kinds manufactured to order by
SHAKSPEARE, SMITH & CO.
Office—219 GIROD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Estimates and price lists furnished on application.

WATER WHEELS.
THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE
TURBINE WATER WHEEL,
PORTABLE AND STATIONARY
STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS
SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,
MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING
SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS
Of Improved Designs, A Specialty
Address, POOLE & HUNT,
Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

MENEELY & COMPANY,
Bell Founders, West Troy, New York,
FIFTY years established. CHURCH BELLS and CHIMES; ACADEMY, FACTORY BELLS, etc. Improved Patent Mountings. Catalogues free. No agencies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

D. MERCIER & SONS,
MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'
CLOTHING!
HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.,
Cor. Dauphine and Bienville Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Orders from Country Merchants promptly executed on the most reasonable terms.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS.
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,
146 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

E. BAKER,
SEEDSMAN,
No. 7 Camp St., New Orleans.
A FULL STOCK OF
GARDEN, FIELD & FLOWER SEEDS,
Fresh, Pure and Reliable.
Seeds sent by mail. Also Fruit, Shade and Ornamental TREES, BUSHES, etc.

PIERRE LANNES, Butcher,
Stalls Nos. 38 and 39 Magazine Market,

Supplies Ships, Families, Hotels, etc., with BEEF, MUTTON, PORK Sausages, Tripe, Pies, Fowls, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,
158 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.
Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

B. T. WALSHE
IMPORTER AND DEALER IN MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS
BOYS' & CHILDREN'S CLOTHING,
No. 110 CANAL ST.
NEW ORLEANS

COAL.....COAL.
H. & C. TYLER,
.....CARONDELET ST.....
will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates. H. & C. TYLER.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.
DUFFY & CO., No. 81 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 & 104 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

T. W. BOTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $45 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. E. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

H. J. RIVET
DEALER IN
Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines
AND PERFUMERY, AND IMPORTER OF FRENCH PROPRIETARY MEDICINES,
Cor. Bienville and Chartres Sts.,
NEW ORLEANS,
Proprietor of the celebrated Peychaud Bitters.

WATCHES & JEWELRY
SENT FREE—Our fine Illustrated Price List of Watches and Jewelry. We are the cheapest house in America. Agents wanted.
Roger's Manuf'g Co.,
241 STATE ST., Chicago, Ill.

Meneely & Kimberly,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

Coal, Wholesale and Retail.
COAL by boat or barge load, delivered in planters on upper or lower coast. Steamers coaled at New Orleans and Baton Rouge.
Coal in sacks for shipment to country customers by rail or steamboat.
W. G. WILMOT & CO.,
166 Poydras street, New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Feb. 5, 1878.

From all the information at hand we are of the opinion that business of nearly every kind is steadily improving. The prices in the markets have not changed materially, but are steadier, and merchants generally are more confident.

The State Legislature yesterday passed resolutions indorsing the Bland silver bill and the repeal of the resumption act.

A large number of the merchants of this city have signed a petition to the Legislature asking that a constitutional convention be not called, but that, instead, the Legislature should suggest changes to be submitted to the people at the next general election.

We think that the interests of the country would be best subserved by postponing the convention for some years, say until the summer of 1880. At present our farming and planting interests would suffer much more than after awhile, when the country is less agitated by politics.

State consols have taken a downward course, while premiums are strong. The former are quoted at 82½@82¾, and the latter 36½@36⅞. The city consols are also lower, being held now at 39¼. The following we take from the Democrat of to-day:

At the banks there was but little demand for money. On the street discount rates are easy and the offerings of paper small.

Exceptional commercial paper, 8@— per cent.; A1 do., 9@11; second grade do., 12@—; loans on collaterals, 8@—; A1 mortgage paper, 9@10; second grade do., —@— ₱ cent. per annum.

Gold is steadier.

Foreign exchange quiet and steady. Sight is in demand and stronger.

State consols are steady at 83@83¼.

Premium bonds are in fair demand and firm at 36½@39.

Stocks quiet.

Gold opened in New York at 102¼ and closed at 102⅜. Here it opened at 102⅛@102¼ and closed at 102@102¼.

COTTON.

The disquieting influences in the cotton market have largely disappeared, and prices seem to be better settled and steady. Liverpool to-day was reported firmer and dearer; New York steady on spots and barely steady on futures; and Havre a shade firmer. These advices for a time seemed to place our local market in the hands of the factors, and during the morning hours they were disposed to figure for an advance; but buyers retiring and refusing to concede better prices, the business of the day settled down on the basis of Saturday's quotations, at which the market closed quiet, with the day's sales footing up 7,850 bales.

The following are the closing quotations of the Cotton Exchange:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary	7⅛	7⅛
Ordinary	8⅛	8⅛
Good Ordinary	8⅝	8⅝
Low Middling	9⅜	9⅜
Middling	10⅛	10⅛
Good Middling	11⅛	11⅛
Middling Fair	11⅝	11⅝

Sales to-day, 7,850 bales. Market opened firm; closed quiet.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1877	21,356
Gross receipts since yesterday	20,012
Gross receipts previously	1,162,926—1,182,938
Total supply	1,204,321
Exported to-day	6,341
Exported previously	827,652—834,093
Total stock this day	370,221
Total stock this day last year	286,882

The exports to-day were 2,604 bales to Liverpool and 3,710 to Bremen.

Net receipts since Saturday	17,004
Receipts from other ports	2,978
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	19,487
Net receipts this day last year	11,769
Net receipts thus far this week	25,214
Net receipts same time last week	21,018
Net receipts same time last year	27,051
Net receipts since September 1	987,409
Net receipts same time last year	855,763

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 57,352 bales; Havre 30,669; Bremen, 12,883; Mediterranean, 2,375; North Sea, 20,057; Spain, 874; Mexico, ——; coastwise, 6,974; total, 129,184 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 241,137 bales.

The receipts at all ports from twelve M. Saturday to twelve M. to-day, as per Cotton Exchange telegrams, are 35,541 bales, against 37,400 bales last Sunday and Monday, 28,146 bales last year, and 20,179 year before last.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	25,214	25,018	21,014
Galveston	4,912	6,013	4,265
Mobile	8,066	8,177	6,184
Savannah	4,643	6,014	4,020
Charleston	3,859	4,305	2,958
Wilmington	737	901	913
Norfolk	3,551	5,980	6,128
Baltimore	76	200	13
New York	2,908	1,389	3,142
Boston	835	1,147	2,137
Philadelphia	844	160	763
Other ports
Total	55,245	60,304	55,617

Receipts at ports since September 1	3,164,689
Receipts same time last year	2,867,751
Receipts same time year before	3,005,880

The consolidated report for three days gives:

EXPORTS TO

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	Coas.	Stocks.
This week	29,650	12,866	7,693		970,033
Last week	3,679	4,904	11,286		966,181
This week last year	34,313	7,555	1,068	2,670	891,741

None are so seldom found alone, and are so soon tired of their own company, as those coxcombs who are on the best terms with themselves.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 00
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do. with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double shovel plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Cora mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. Weet's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	104 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	84 00	90 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	116 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	70 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Hoop	3½	5
Sheet	3½	5
Horse Shoe	3½	4½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	35 00	8 00
Lime, ₩ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 60 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 26	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	11½	12½
Paris Green, ₩ lb	30	40
Pat. Dryer, ₩ lb	10	13
Whiting, ₩ lb	1½	2
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	4	5
Linseed Oil, ₩ gal	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Size of lights.	Sashes per pair, Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
Window Sash, 12 lights:
8x10	35	$1 50	$1 50
10x12	55	1 70	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	2 70
Sash Doors:	Single.		Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 50		$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00		— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —		3 80
Panel Doors:
2x8 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		$2 20
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		2 25
3x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		2 30
4x7—6 inch and 1¾ inch thick	— —		4 00

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western	18	19
New York, good to creamy	26	31
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	15	16¼
Rio, good	17	17½
Rio, prime	18½	18½
Java, choice O. G	28	30
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	17	18
Corn Meal, ₩ bbl.:
Best, K. D	2 60	2 65
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	12½	13½
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	16
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	11 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 40
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	4 50	4 75
XX	— —	— —
XXX	5 00	6 25
Choice XXX	6 25	6 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	3	4
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	11	12
Raisins, ₩ quarter box	1	1½
Raisins, ₩ half box	1 60	1 80
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 80	1 85
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	9	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases; best	40	45
Coal, in barrels, best	30	35
Insurance, in cases	— —	60
Insurance, in barrels	— —	55
Lard, in barrels, best	85	85
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	18	21
Fair	21	24
Prime to choice	31	40
Golden and Roquet strups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	3½	4
Ordinary	4	4½
Fair	4½	5½
Prime to choice	6	6½
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₩ lb.	4	4
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 05	1 10
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in bbls.:
Good fair	6	6½
Prime	6½	7
Choice	7½	8½
Yellow clarified	8½	8½
White clarified	9	9½
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	15	— —
Pepper	13	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₩ lb.:
Black Oolong	27½	1 10
Green Imperial	30	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow	— —	49
White	— —	50
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₩ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	37	38
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	90
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	15 00	16 00
Ordinary	— —	15 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	1 40

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.
Breakfast	9	9½
Shoulders	— —	7½
Sides, clear rib	— —	7½
Sides, clear	— —	7½
Hams, sugar-cured	10½	11
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl	12 00	12 25
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	4½	4½
Lard, ₩ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	7¾	8
Potatoes, ₩ bbl	1 90	2 00
Onions, ₩ bbl	2 25	2 75
Apples, ₩ bbl	3 50	5 00
Cabbages, ₩ 100	8 00	10 00

WOOL.

Burry	11	12
Louisiana, clear	— —	26
Lake, clear	27½	29

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	12	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 lbs and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	11½	11

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₩ dozen:
Old chickens	— —	3 00
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 00	3 50
Geese	6 00	6 50
Turkeys	9 00	10 00
Eggs, ₩ dozen:
Western	12	13
Louisiana	15	17

SEWING MACHINES.

THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

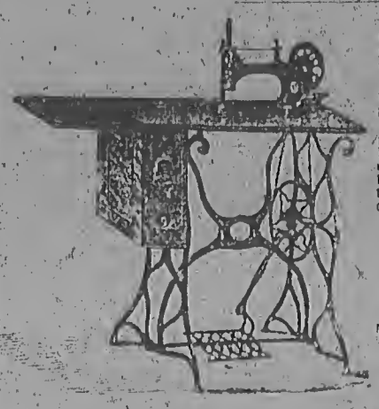
FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Bogus Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

GIVE THEM A FAIR TRIAL.

Give Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts a fair trial, and if they please you recommend them. We have no fears of your not being satisfied, provided you get Dr. Price's, as their popularity and extensive sale is from their perfect purity and excellent quality.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Alexandria and Pineville	Jan. 12, 13
Centerville	19, 20
Montgomery	Feb. 2, 3
Rapides	Mar. 2, 3
Harrisonburg, Shelly Island and Trinity, at Harrisonburg	9, 10
Columbia and Copour, at Columbia	16, 17
Bayou Beuf and Evergreen, at Bayou Clear	Apr. 6, 7
Spring Creek, at camp ground	13, 14

CHRISTIAN KEENER, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LILIENTHAL'S

PHOTOGRAPH

ART GALLERY,

121.....CANAL STREET.....121

TOURO BUILDINGS.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

I guarantee the LAMBERT to be the only picture that WILL NOT FADE.

EVERYBODY DOES IT.

THE OLD MEN USE IT.

THE YOUNG MEN PERUSE IT.

THE LADIES EXCUSE IT!

SOARDS' 1878

CITY DIRECTORY.

Acknowledged by the press and public to be the most reliable and best compiled Guide of New Orleans ever issued.

Don't delay a single day, but buy a copy of the new Directory at once.

PRICE.....ONLY $5.

For sale by the Publishers and principal Stationers.

L. SOARDS & CO.,
Publishers' Commercial Place.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

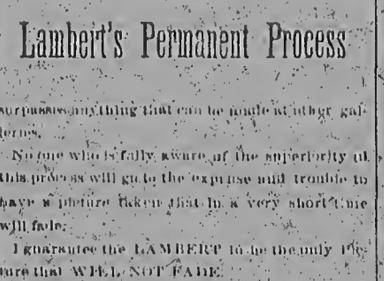
SEED MERCHANT.

I HAVE on hand a large and complete stock of VEGETABLE, FLOWER & GRASS SEEDS, which I offer at the lowest market price.

Genuine Red Rust-Proof OATS, in quantities to suit purchasers. Eastern-grown SEED IRISH POTATOES a specialty. Almanac and Garden Manual for the Southern States sent free on application.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,
Nos. 15 and 17 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans.

TO HAVE GOOD HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE KEPT IN ORDER.



For Pamphlets address Dr. SANFORD, New York. eow

BLYMYER M'F'G CO BELLS

Church, School, Fire alarm. Fine-toned, low priced, warranted. Catalogue with 700 testimonials, prices, etc., sent free. Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O. eow

SELF-ACTING FAN.

HAVING bought the Patent Right, for the States of Louisiana and Texas, for a Self-Acting Fan, one of the simplest and most ingenious contrivances of the age, I am prepared to fill orders for from 1 to 1000, at very low figures. These Fans are guaranteed to run for one hour and a quarter, and are admirably adapted for private houses, restaurants, saloons and steamers. Go and examine at No. 27 BARONNE St., opposite Grunewald Hall.

OTTO SCHWANER.

$200 a month! Agents wanted to operate Child & Pratt, Chi'll, O. eow

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS.....
Stone China TEA SETS.....
Decorated CHAMBER SETS.....
Real French China DINNER SETS.....
Gold Band China TEA SETS.....
Table TUMBLERS.....
Table GOBLETS.....

WRITE FOR PRICES

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

A. BALDWIN, President. JESSE K. BELL, Vice President.

STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION

OF

The New Orleans National Bank,

DECEMBER 31, 1877.

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$500,000 00
Surplus fund	25,864 20
Undivided profits	7,845 81
Circulation outstanding	179,000 00
Dividends unpaid	3,500 00
Deposits	603,130 72
Due to banks and bankers	25,982 58
Total	$1,005,323 31

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$641,189 77
United States bonds	200,000 00
Premium on United States Bonds	7,000 00
Due from banks and bankers	30,000 00
Furniture and fixtures	2,500 00
Cash	104,633 54
Redemption fund with United States Treasurer	9,000 00
Total	$1,005,323 31

I certify the above statement is correct.
WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

☞ THE BEST OFFER! ☜

We will sell during these hard times

$500 Pianos for $220,

and all other styles in the same proportion, including Grand, Square and Upright, all new and first-class, sold direct to the people at factory prices. No agents, no commissions; no discounts. These Pianos made one of the finest displays at the Centennial Exhibition, and were unanimously recommended for the Highest Honors. Regularly incorporated Manufacturing Company. New mammoth factory one of the largest and finest in the world. The figures contain Mathushek's new patent Duplex Overstring Scale, the greatest improvement in the history of Piano-making. The Uprights are the finest in America. Pianos sent on trial. Don't fail to write for illustrated and descriptive catalogue, mailed free.

MENDELSSOHN PIANO CO.,

NO. 56 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. 8p

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

155 CANAL AND 18 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NOTICE.—HAVING MADE CONNECTIONS with our Coal Yard by aid of the Telephone, we are enabled to deliver COAL to families on the shortest possible notice, and at lowest market rates. Our friends are invited to call and examine our new method of transmitting orders.

C. A. MILTENBERGER & CO.,
66 Camp street.
Yard on Levee, between Race and Robin streets.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC STORE

135 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

LEADING MAKERS

OF

PIANOS AND ORGANS

WRITE FOR PRICES.

"We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. It has large facilities, and is conducted on the basis of the utmost liberality.

J. B. WALKER,
J. B. A. ALLEN.

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPERIOR

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoulas

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1 20. Best at $1 40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb
CHOICE RIO,	30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA,	35c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express office on Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all. Toothone, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Finch, Lewis & Co., John L. Adams & Co., Harlan & Hollingsworth, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

THE BLANCHARD BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 32 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post-paid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The only reliable Brain Food.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express, or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.
D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial

FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 10, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 27 Canal Street.

A. ROY, Agent.
8p

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner. 8p

A. A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, TENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure Bred Land and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCH

the only real Dustless Hard Gold Watches that are made. Latest improvements, at the above prices. Tiny but beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. METAL WATCH FACTORY, 335 Broadway, N.Y.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember—WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place.

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK BOOK MAKERS,

27.....COMMERCIAL PLACE.....27

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc., executed with neatness and dispatch; and as Northern and Foreign agents for Pictorial Business and Fancy Cards of all kinds.

PIANOS Retail price, $700 only $178. Organs, 10 stops, $78. 12, $85; 8, $65; 7, $45; 6, $35. Elegant, warranted, 15 days' test trial. Wholesale prices. Great bargains. 21 pp Illustrated newspaper all about Piano-Organ war, free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

FRANCIONI & POLME, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Woolens, Hides, Furs, Potatoes, etc. Solicit consignments of Tallow, Wool, Hides, Furs, Potatoes, etc. 93 DECATUR ST. (Bet. Bienville and Conti), New Orleans, La.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with name, 10c. postpaid. J. B. HUSTED, Nassau, N. Y.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1878. NO. 7.

TRANSLATION FROM CALDERON.

...e who far off beholds another dancing,
...eveh he who dances best, and all the time
...ears not the music that he dances to,
...hinks him a madman, apprehending not
...he law which moves his else eccentric motion:
...e that's in himself impossible
...f love's sweet influence, misjudges him
...ho moves according to love's melody:
...nd knowing not that all these sighs and tears,
...pulations and injudgences,
...ecessary changes to a measure
...ules for divine mysterious plays may call
...he lover crazy, which he would not do
...f he within his own heart bear the rule
...ed by the great musician of the world.

Life's Dream.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Presi...nt approved the joint resolution ...tending the thanks of Congress to ...nry M. Stanley, and an act for the ...moval of obstructions from the ...ssissippi, Missouri, Arkansas and ...d rivers, and for the preservation ...the public property.

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 7.—The House ...Representatives to-day defeated the ...l to permit the intermarriage of ...ites and negroes.

AUGUSTA, February 8.—At seven ...clock last night this city was visit...with a shower of hail, followed by ...in storm accompanied by thun... and lightning. There was rum...ng and tremor similar to that ...ich accompanies a light shock of ...thquake. The storm passed away, ...was followed by a cyclone which ...destruction in its path.

...little after one o'clock this morn... the cyclone struck the city on ...southwest, near the center of the ...et, and demolished many houses. ...e lower market-house, a large ...ucture in the middle of Broad ...et, was literally lifted and smash... into atoms.

...veral brick and wooden build...s were wholly or partially de...oyed. The cyclone traveled from ...thwest to northeast, and covered ...pace about three hundred yards ...de. Some casualties are reported.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 8.—The Columbia ...lway depot is a total wreck. Some ...mage was done to the Central rail...d depot, and many private resi...ces were injured. Charles Dives ...d wife, colored, were found dead ...der the ruins of their house.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 9.—The total dam...e by the cyclone will amount to a ...le over $50,000. The last vestige ...the hurricane disappeared in South ...olina. Reports are rife of damage ...the neighboring county south of ...gusta. The weather was cloudy ...d windy all day.

PROVIDENCE, February 11.—Last ...ght, at about half-past ten o'clock, ...re broke out in the wholesale con...tionery of L. A. Levy, situated on ...e north side of Texas street, and ...as soon communicated to the ad...ning buildings. The headway of ...e flames was not checked until four ...e business houses were entirely ...stroyed.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Daily News ...es the following dispatch, dated ...is, Monday:

"The surrender of Erzeroum is offi...ally announced. The Russians will ...ter the town to-morrow. The Turk...h garrison and the poorer Mohamme...ans who wish to go will retire to ...rkish territory. This surrender is ...ainly in fulfillment of one of the ...nditions of the armistice."

The Daily Telegraph's Vienna cor...espondent says: Count Andrassy's ...ual invitation to the signatory ...wers of the treaty of Paris, to send ...eir plenipotentiaries to a conference at ...ienna, fixes no date for its assem...ling.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—The German Par...liament will be opened to-day by ...rr Camphausen, vice president of ...e Council of Ministers.

...he speech from the throne was ...d by Herr Camphausen. In the ...ssage relative to foreign affairs the ...onarch expresses the hope that a ...edy peace will enable the confer...ce of the Constantinople conference ...be applied and durably established.

The comparatively slight pre...ration of Germany in Eastern ...rs will allow the empire to dis...y disinterested co-operation in any ...angement that may be made by ...e powers concerning future guaran...s against a recurrence of trouble ...the East, and for the amelioration ...the condition of the Christian ...ulation. In the meantime the ...peror's policy attained its object, ...nmeb as it had essentially contri...uted to the preservation of peace ...ween the European powers, and ...e relations of Germany with all ...wers remained not only peaceful, ...t altogether friendly.

VIENNA, Feb. 6.—A Berlin tele...m to the Pesther Lloyd says: The ...ssage of the Russians through Con...antinople forms part of the stipula...s, though this would only be done ...r the conclusion of peace, and for ...e purpose of embarking part of the ...y there on its way home.

HAVANA, Feb. 6.—It is officially ...nounced that the insurrent Col. ...J. Ramirez, with 15 officers, 103 ...n, 70 women and 108 children, ...ndered in the neighborhood of ...ramo.

ROME, Feb. 7, 12.50 P. M.—The ...pe's death is hourly expected. All ...cessary arrangements, in view of ...e event, have been made. Reports ...e current that his holiness is ...ally dead.

ROME, Feb. 7, 1.10 P. M.—The ...pe has passed into the death agony. ...s death is momentarily expected.

ROME, Feb. 7.—The Pope died at ...e o'clock P. M.

...he House of Lords, hearing of ...is, immediately suspended.

A conclave of cardinals will be called immediately.

ROME, Feb. 7, 6 P. M.—The Pope died at 4.57 this afternoon.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 7.—A dispatch received to-day from the Grand Duke Nicholas announces that, in accordance with the understanding between the Russian and Turkish plenipotentiaries, free commercial intercourse by land and sea is to be immediately re-established between Turkey and Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Official information from St. Petersburg gives the detailed peace basis:

1. The erection of Bulgaria into a principality.

2. A war indemnity or territorial compensation.

3. The independence of Roumania, Servia and Montenegro, with an increase of territory for each.

4. Reforms in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

5. An ulterior understanding between the Sultan and Czar regarding the Dardanelles.

6. The evacuation of the Danubian fortresses and Erzeroum.

But, according to the above official information, there are only five conditions, the evacuation of the fortresses being part of the armistice conditions, not those of peace.

The fifth condition also provides for the negotiation of a final treaty at either Odessa or Sebastopol.

There is no doubt of the Pope's death. The morning journals fully confirm the previous reports from Rome.

The Advertiser's special dispatch from Rome states that the news of the Pope's death is already officially announced, and gives the following particulars:

The Pope, at eight o'clock on Wednesday night, felt a sudden suffocation. He rallied several times, but said to his physicians: "Death wins this time." He was alternately lucid and wandering. His last moments were lucid. He said: "Guard the church I loved so well and sacredly." The immediate cause of death was the closing of the wound in the leg, which made the humors mount to the lungs and brain.

Cardinals Manning and Howard, and many others, were present at the death.

The conclave has commenced. Cardinal Simeoni has demanded troops, and the government has acceded to his request.

The embassadors accredited to the Vatican have gone in a body to view the corpse.

Later.—The Italian government insures independence of the conclave, and offers any services that Cardinal Simeoni may demand.

Other accounts say the cause of death was the mounting of the water to the heart.

The Pope swooned and was in extremis at three o'clock, but death did not occur until somewhat after the time announced in the first dispatch from Rome yesterday.

All the dispatches indicate that the cardinals will be unmolested and free in their selection of the Pope. King Humbert and all foreign ministers appear to have paid proper and, in some instances tender respect to the departed Pope Pius the Ninth. Rome is tranquil. The police prevent approach to the Vatican, where the sacred conclave is in session.

The troubles between Greece and Turkey have been unsettled and referred to the proposed conference.

ROME, Feb. 10.—To-morrow on the arrival of the foreign cardinals, the Sacred College will permanently constitute itself in congregation. A bull left by Pius the Ninth authorizes the cardinals to deviate from the established procedure, but does not prescribe any special new rules. The public were admitted to St. Peter's to view the remains of the Pope at 6.30 this morning. The crowd was tremendous. Many women fainted from pressure. A company of soldiers had to enter the church to regulate the passage of the crowd.

The body of the Pope, arrayed in pontifical robes, lies on a crimson bed, at each corner of which stand a member of the Noble Guard, with a drawn sword. The bed is surrounded by twelve large candelabra. The face is calm and unchanged by death.

The Reforma states that the conclave will last a long time. At one of the next congregations the cardinals will consider the question of permitting absent cardinals to telegraph their votes.

The Reforma also states that Monsignor Lasagnie, acting papal secretary of State, has sent a note to the nuncios, protesting against any power to execute veto, and stating that perfect tranquility and independence are assured to the conclave in Rome.

The Italian government has ordered eight additional battalions to Rome.

ST. PETERSBURG, February 11.—It is officially announced that Prince Gortschakoff on Sunday telegraphed the powers, stating that the intelligence that Great Britian and other powers had determined to send ships to Constantinople for the protection of their subjects obliged Russia to consider the proper means for protecting the Christians whose lives and property might be threatened. For this purpose the Russian government has been obliged to contemplate the entry of a portion of its troops into Constantinople.

It is semi-officially announced that orders were sent to the Grand Duke Nicholas in accordance with the determination expressed above.

VIENNA, Feb. 11.—Austria will leave the duration of Russian occupation of Bulgaria to the conference. Three Austrian men-of-war have been ordered to the Bosphorus.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Italian war vessels are going to the Bosphorus. Russian sailors are going overland to the Sea of Marmora to man the Turkish vessels surrendered.

PERA, Feb. 11.—In the event of a rupture to the armistice the Turks could not reoccupy the Constantinople lines of defense. Preparations are making to defend the interior lines.

Returning Board Trial.

The first of these trials ended on the night of February 7. Thomas C. Anderson, on trial for forgery, was found guilty by the jury and recommended to the mercy of the court. The New Orleans Times of the eighth instant says:

Last night, at about 8.30, the Superior Criminal Court room was crowded to its fullest capacity with eagerly interested spectators, assembled there to listen to the delivery of Judge Whitaker's charge to the jury in the case of the State vs. Thomas C. Anderson. At about 8.45 the judge began the delivery of his charge, and was occupied with the task until 9.30. The jury thereupon retired to the jury-room, and the throng of spectators, believing that no verdict would be rendered that night, left the court. The prisoner remained in the court-room, as did the judge and the court officers; but counsel for both State and defense departed, leaving, however, instructions as to where they could be found if needed before morning.

At 10.10 the usual signal rap was heard from the jury-room, indicating that a verdict had been reached, or that further instructions were desired. Messengers were at once sent for the counsel of both sides, and Assistant Attorney General Fagan, and Mr. Cullom, of prisoner's counsel. Court was opened and the jury sent for. Upon the resumption by the jury of their places in the jury-box the court said to the jury: "Gentlemen, have you agreed upon your verdict?" And thereupon the foreman tendered the written verdict of the jury to the court, who in turn handed it to the clerk, who, opening it, said: "Is this your verdict, gentlemen of the jury?" "New Orleans, February 7, 1878:—We, the jury, find Thomas C. Anderson guilty, and recommend him to the mercy of the court. WM. P. CONVERSE, Foreman."

The foreman bowed assent, and then there was in the court a brief period of profound silence. The prisoner did not, however, betray any marked agitation, although there was a slightly perceptible change in the color of his countenance. At this time there were not more than forty persons in attendance in the court-room.

The court then desired to know of Mr. Cullom if he wished to have the jury polled, and Mr. Cullom answering in the affirmative, the jury was polled, and each juror answered "Yes" to the question by the clerk: "Is this your verdict?"

The court then said: "Let the verdict be recorded, and let the prisoner be remanded to await the sentence of the law;" and thereupon, returning his thanks to the jury, he discharged them from further service.

The prisoner was surrounded by several of his friends, who accompanied him also to the parish prison, whither he was directly conveyed.

A merchant that man great of soul who has not only been gifted with an eye to discern the right, but also with a heart to love it; a man who cannot be content merely to discover truth, or to point it, or to sing of it, but who, feeling that he possesses it, feels also that he has a mission to proclaim it. A man who can be satisfied with nothing less than that which is real and right—who is content to count all things loss for the attainment of a spiritual aim, and to fight for it against all enemies—who deems truth the bread of life, and makes its pursuit his daily labor—he is a great man. F. Myers.

The North German States expend annually on the twenty universities belonging to them more than $2,500,000. The Imperial government in one year expended $350,000 on the University of Strasburg. The University of Leipsic (Saxony) receives over $250,000 a year from the State. In North Germany there is a university to every 2,000,000 inhabitants; in Austria, one to every 5,000,000; in Switzerland, one to each 1,000,000; in England, one to 7,000,000.

The steamer LaBelle, Capt. M. N. Wood, from Shreveport, bound for New Orleans, sunk on Sunday night, February 10, in the raplous, twenty miles, below Alexandria, La. The boat and cargo are a total loss. As far as could be ascertained, there were no lives lost.

Some have entertained a chimerical idea of an universal language. There is indeed, spiritually speaking, a language common to all the converted, of every age and country, understood all the world over, by every one who is taught of God. Topladdy.

The rude man is contented if he but sees something going on; the man of more refinement must be made to feel; the man entirely refined desires to reflect. Goethe.

Miss Phelps calls morbidness a "convenient word, which is without a rival in its adaptability to cover all forms of character differing from one's own."

Hints and Queries.

MR. EDITOR: Is it admissible for a preacher, while preaching, to travel from one side of the pulpit to the other from the beginning to the end of his sermon, and in the meantime gesturing at random with both hands? Would it not be better, in the main, for him to stand still and let his hands rest in some native position, at least till his soul is somewhat warmed with his theme, and even then to keep gesticulation under proper restraint?

We saw a brother once who stood behind a table to preach, and we counted the times he walked from one side of the table to the other while preaching, and during about one-third of his sermon he had made the circuit twenty times. Afterward we gave him this problem in proportion to solve: If a preacher walk from one side of the table to the other twenty times during one-third of his sermon, how many times would he make the trip during the whole sermon? This effectually cured that brother from itinerating while in the pulpit.

The trite saying, "Action is eloquence," has doubtless produced many an unmeaning, not to say ridiculous, action. An action or gesture unsuited to the word is about of as much use to the word as the letter h is to the word hour.

Why is it that all Methodist preachers do not observe the same method in conducting religious worship, when the Discipline gives such explicit directions concerning it? We might reasonably suppose that every Methodist preacher would observe all the rules and regulations of the church, as he sacredly promised in his ordination vows to keep and not mend them. Yet one preacher will first read the Scriptures, another will first sing, while another will follow the Ritual throughout, and another will follow the prescribed order till he comes to the close, but then will dismiss without singing the doxology by pronouncing not the Apostle's benediction, but a rigmarole of his own. So we find but little more uniformity in public worship among Methodists than others who have no rule on the subject. First, this may arise from a want of proper appreciation of the beauty there is in method and uniformity? Secondly, it may arise from a want of a just sense of the strength of the obligation, and the sacredness of the promise to observe all things in the book of the law, whether small or great.

There is, we think, a beauty in uniformity of public worship which would, if observed throughout the whole church, add much to the distinctiveness of Methodism. Why is it that the preacher will sing his hymn without lining it, when, it may be, six-sevenths of his congregation are without books, and have to stand up, and fight against the temptation to be provoked because they cannot sing? The usual apology for not lining is that it is to be supposed the churches are supplied with books; but this is not the case. Why not line the hymns when there are no books? Ah! why? Is it not for the want of nerve? Has not the almost universal introduction of choirs and organs into our churches, not to say fancy music, made the impression that it is old-timey in bad taste and out of place to line the hymns? It is no use to disguise the fact—organs and choirs have the upper hand of the music department of Methodism of the present day. The preacher of iron nerve, who announced, on seeing a bass-violin in the church: "We will fiddle and sing to-day on the two hundred and forty-fifth page;" or a Bishop who could order down a Virginia Conference choir, might be able to control their own music. On passing we were once asked to preach in a church. Before commencing the preacher came from the back part of the house, where the singers were stationed, to get our hymns. Having selected a rather long hymn, we said: "Please sing the first three verses, and conclude with the last three of the same hymn." Soon he returned and said: "The choir think it in bad taste, and would like to have another hymn." We will not say what we did.

Why is it, when a presiding elder in a Quarterly Conference asks the question, "Is there a written report of the number and state of Sunday schools, and of the pastoral instruction of the children?" that the pastor says: "There are two Sunday schools on the work, both of which are in good condition; all of which is respectfully submitted;" and does not say a word about the pastoral instruction of the children, which is as much a question as the other, and is of equal importance. Yet the pastor makes no report, and the presiding elder requires none. Is it not made the duty of the presiding elder to inquire of each pastor if the rules respecting the instruction of the children have been faithfully observed? Is it not required of every preacher, on being received into the Conference, to promise diligently to instruct the children in every place? Is it not made the duty of pastors, in their pastoral visits, to speak personally and kindly to the children on the subject of experimental religion and practical godliness, and pray earnestly for them? Is it not made the duty of pastors to form Sunday schools wherever ten children can be found? And last, but not least, is it not the duty of every pastor to preach to all his congregations especially on the subject of Sunday schools and the religious instruction of the children? Yet the question, "Is there a report on the pastoral instruction of the children?" in many instances gets no answer. Why we can hardly tell, unless it is that there seems to be a sort of general aversion to such work. We remember the experience of a young presiding elder who asked the question in a Quarterly Conference: "Have the rules respecting the instruction of the children been observed?" First the pastor feigned not to understand. The question was repeated, when he pointed to Bro. C., and said: "He is the superintendent of the Sunday school." "Yes, brother," said the presiding elder, "but the Discipline makes it your duty to do this work." "Yes," he said, "the Discipline requires a great many things which it ought not." The presiding elder said: "The secretary will please put it down." The preacher says the Discipline is wrong. Would not the next General Conference do well to make a separate and distinct question upon the pastoral instruction of the children, or else leave it out altogether, and turn the work over to the Sunday school institution?

J. P.

MOSCOW, Tenn., Jan. 9, 1878.

Our Necessities.

Between now and the tenth of March we have obligations to meet, to the amount of several thousand dollars, which cannot be deferred.

To meet these obligations we rely on the promptness of brethren who are indebted to the Publishing House for books and periodicals to pay us; and also on the Conferences that have promised to take up collections for the Publishing House. We therefore most earnestly request all persons indebted to us to send us the amount due within the present month, and that the collections for relief of the Publishing House be taken up and sent to us at once.

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.
NASHVILLE, TENN., Feb. 6, 1878.

General Conference Daily Advocate.

We are now receiving subscribers for the Daily Advocate, to be published in Atlanta, Ga., during the session of the General Conference in May next.

The chief difficulty in supplying subscribers promptly, with which we met in Louisville and in Memphis four and eight years ago, was caused by the mails of so many subscribers not being sent to us until the meeting of the General Conference. With the press of business on our hands, we found it difficult to enter promptly the names as they came in.

To prevent any trouble of this kind, we request that all persons who intend to take the Daily to subscribe for it at once, so that we can complete our list as early as possible, and thus know what amount of paper to purchase. The price of the Daily precludes the postage. Send order at once to

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.
Nashville, Tenn.

OUR LITTLE PEOPLE AND LESSON PAPERS. Several of our subscribers have written to us requesting us to substitute the Lesson Papers, to which they are entitled, with Our Little People. We would be glad to accommodate them if we could, but find it impracticable to do so. The Lesson Papers are given to subscribers who order a certain number of the Magazines, while the Little People, costing more, cannot be made to supply their place without loss.

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.

"How is it that you have never kindled a flame in any one's heart?" asked a rich lady of her portionless niece. "I suppose, aunt, it is because I'm not a gold match," meekly replied the poor niece.

He that doubts the existence of mind, by doubting, proves it.

Books and Periodicals.

THE MAGAZINE OF AMERICAN HISTORY, WITH NOTES AND QUERIES. Edited by Mrs. Lucy Lucas Lamb. 1878. Published by A. S. Barnes & Co., New York and Chicago.

The historical department of this number has the following articles: The Fall of the Alamo; Oriskany; Remarks on the Portraiture of Washington. In the biographical department we have: The Waltons of New York. Original documents have: The Diary of Joshua Pell, Jr., an Officer of the British Army in America, 1776-77, and a New Poland in America. Reprints has: Settlement of Arcadia. Article containing Notes and Queries. Article 6 gives the December Proceedings of the New York Historical Society. 7. Literary Notices.

BELFAVIA, OR PAPERS ON CHILDHOOD. By the author of "Ugly Girl Papers." Boston: Lothrop & Co.

A handsome little volume, and containing much excellent advice to young people. It is lively and entertaining work, and such as the young will read with interest.

—We have received from Shaw & Blaylock, publishers, Galveston, Tex., "The Five Texas Annual Conferences." The minutes of the five Conferences are published together, making a stout pamphlet of 175 pages. A carefully prepared index adds much to the value of the work. We should like it better if there were no advertisements bound up with the minutes, but nearly all are published in this way, and we suppose it is a business necessity.

—Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for March is splendidly illustrated, and is replete with articles of interest. We know of no periodical equal to it in the large variety and general excellence of its reading matter.

The American Agriculturist for February is fruitful of information for farmers, housekeepers and mechanics.

A PICTURE OF SPURGEON.—Mr. Spurgeon is a very hard working man, his time being spent in moving quickly to and fro from the Tabernacle, the Pastors' College, the schools, the classes and ordinances of which he is the guiding spirit. He passes his life, when not actually preaching or working, in a pony chaise, varied by an occasional omnibus. Wrapped in a rough blue overcoat, with a series of soft deerstalker hat over his head, a loose black neck tie round his massive throat, and a cigar burning merrily in his mouth, he is surely the most unclerical of all preachers of the gospel. Yet that short, thickly built man, with the shock head of hair hardly yet touched with gray, with a triple brown beard covering his heavy jowl, and a thin line of mustache covering his capacious mouth, is the famous preacher for whom, when yet a very young man, no building could be found sufficient to hold his congregation. One plan he has ever pursued during public life. It is never to reply to personal satire or attack. Not even a sentence in print that he had poised over his own mother would provoke the shadow of a reply. More than this, he keeps and one volume, for several, in his library, filled with newspaper cuttings of an abusive character, and takes particular pleasure in pointing out to his guests the virulent attacks in which he is designated mountebank, buffoon, blasphemer, hypocrite and villain. His dark brown eyes lights up with a keen twinkle of enjoyment as he comes upon a particularly savage onslaught, and he actually smacks his lips over caricatures.

THEATRES AND CHRISTIANS. Objectionable entertainments are doing harm on a wildly wholesale scale. Many good people are so pitifully blind on this subject as to support and advocate theaters in the face of reports against them by a Parliamentary committee of investigation; in the face of testimony of educators to their utterly disorganizing influence on the mental work of their students, or the face of their utterly withering influence on religious work; in the face of the deeply significant fact that seldom if ever is there an evening's performance, even in the better class of theaters, where something is not said or done which would not drive some one saying or doing the same in decent society outside of the social circle. The words of the Scottish poet relative to the saying that theaters might be the means of doing good are still applicable to them:

"Yet so perhaps they might, but never were White ravens are plentier than theater-going Christians who are a strength and comfort to their pastors and churches. These are the sleeping sentinels who cause disastrous surprise when the foe attacks. The Advance in the Church Union.

A little girl who had often heard her mother speak of her father, who was somewhat bald, as being a self-made man, asked her one day, if her father was a self-made man, why he didn't put more hair on his head.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1878.

LONGINGS.

When shall I be at rest? My trembling heart Grows weary of watching, sickening still With hope deferred. O, that it were thy will
To loose my bonds and take me where I would art.

When shall I be at rest? My eyes grow dim
With straining through the gloom. I scarce can see
The ways-marks that my Savior left for me.
Would it were morn and I were safe with him!

O, that I were at rest like some I love,
Whose last fond looks drew half my life away,
Seeming to plead that either they might stay
With me on earth, or I with them above.

But why those murmurs? Though I shrink
From any toil or weariness of life,
Not even from that last deep agony,
Shall I be restless, little child, think?

No, Lord, for when I am indeed at rest,
One taste of that deep bliss will quite efface
The strongest memories of my earthly race,
Save but to swell the sense of being blest.

Then lay on me whatever cross I need To bring me there. I know thou canst not be Unkind, unfaithful or untrue to me;
Shall I not toil for thee, when thou for me didst bleed?

Evangelical Magazine.

A Louisianian Abroad.

MR. EDITOR: Traveling on a steamboat brings us in contact with the worst and most debased side of human nature. The officers, almost without an exception, use profane language, visit the bar frequently, and indulge in the exciting and dishonest game of cards. In some respects the officers of the City of Alton, running between St. Louis and New Orleans, are an exception. In a nine days' trip I never heard the captain utter a single oath; and the mate, whose duties were arduous and trying, never annoyed the passengers with this vulgar and impolite practice. He deserves the commendation of all the good and faithful, and as an advocate of virtue and morality I am ready to award the praise to which he is justly entitled.

On deck, where vice usually prevails to an alarming extent, one Sabbath night several negroes, hands employed on the boat, assembled themselves together for a prayer meeting. From their songs and prayers it became apparent that they were Methodists, and inspired with the spirit of song and prayer. Several white passengers were attracted thither by this divine exercise—among them myself. Being invited to speak to them, I delivered them a short exhortation. I returned to my room, feeling that I was strengthened in love and faith. Among these ignorant and unrefined people are found some of the truest and most faithful disciples of Christ.

Where once the soldier bivouacked on the cold and frozen fields, where once the whistling Minnie ball or the bursting shell were heard, when the wounded, dying and dead marked the sanguinary conflict, all is quiet, peaceful and prosperous. From the river the eye can detect little or no traces of the war which raged so fearfully a few years since. But many hearts ache when they turn to those who died in the camps or were slain on the battle-fields. The husband, the son, the dear friend, were swept away, and were by their comrades laid in the soldier's grave. While the homes of those who survive have been desolated, and the voice of the loved has been hushed in death, they are cheered by the thought that the cause was just, and for the right, and for the sacred claims of their homes and families they sacrificed their blood and their lives.

St. Louis is a city of magnificent proportions. Its population is about 450,000, with a fair prospect in a few years, if it continues to grow as it has done since the war, of becoming the second city in the United States. The public buildings which have gone up within the last seven years indicate a spirit of energy and enterprise far exceeding anything in its former history. The Lindell Hotel, a splendid edifice, has been erected upon the site of the former one. The customhouse covers a whole square, at a cost of more than $2,000,000; the Merchants' Exchange covers half a block, and cost $1,500,000; the bridge spanning the Mississippi river, the tunnel and Union depot cost $11,000,000. While all of these great enterprises have been in course of completion, the people have been brought face to face with their old and familiar friend—Hard Times—pale, gaunt and begrimed with the labors and cares of many years. And now his step may be constantly heard, and his unwelcome and discouraging voice is heard in private and public places. The people feel that he has a very strong hold upon their pockets, and hence we hear the loud wailing of distress almost everywhere.

It seems that the Southwestern Book and Publishing Company has changed its name to the St. Louis Advocate Publishing Company. The former company became so involved that three parties assumed all its liabilities, and it is run in their name. Mr. L. D. Dameron is at the head of this religious enterprise. It is now making money. Books are now published by contract, and not by the company itself, which has been found to be much cheaper. Bishop Marvin's travels has an immense sale, the publishers scarcely being able to supply the demand. The St. Louis Advocate is a very popular religious journal, and deservedly so from the choice selections of matter and the able editorials which appear in its weekly columns.

The winter in Missouri is very open—rain and mud in abundance, like people unable to get their produce to market, and from necessity the finances of the country are very stringent and unsatisfactory.

J. F. SCURLOCK.

Salary of the Presiding Elder.

MR. EDITOR: Among the vital questions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South stands that of the presiding eldership; and among the vital points of the presiding eldership stands that of its support. The fact is, it must be so amply sustained, both with means and appreciation, that its incumbent may be full and free in the arduous work to which he is appointed. But while the duty of sustaining the presiding elder is vital to the well-being of the church, yet cheerfulness and harmony must be maintained with other important factors in this work, so as to forward the Israel of God.

That dissatisfaction has been felt upon this matter none will deny who have noticed the many able discussions which have occurred upon this question, from time to time, among brethren beloved. Although numbers of methods have been devised, by the wise and good of the church, for the purpose of relieving the question of all embarrassment, yet it remains a subject open for discussion and improvement.

Facts gathered from the field of operation show the possibility of improvement or abuse to which the system of sustaining the presiding elder may be subjected. To narrow the range of thought upon this subject, I furnish the following table, made up from the minutes of the Alabama Conference of 1876, showing the difference of the several districts of the Conference as to the percentage assessed upon the salaries of the preachers in charge for the support of the presiding elders, and the per cent. paid thereon:

	Assessed.	Paid.
Union Springs district	19½ P. ct.	21
Eufaula district	13 "	13
Mobile district	15 "	12½
Selma district	20½ "	21
Montgomery district	15 "	14
Mariana district	25 2-5 "	27½
Prattville district	16 "	14½
Greensboro district	15 6 7 "	16

Average, a little over seventeen per cent. paid.

From the above it will be seen that the presiding elder of the Eufaula district was assessed the lowest per cent. upon the salaries of his preachers, and the presiding elder of the Mariana district the highest. It will further be seen that the presiding elder of the Eufaula district was the only one to whom was paid the per cent. of the assessment. Upon three districts the presiding elders were paid above the per cent. of the assessment, and upon four below the assessment. These facts forcibly show that there is defect in the system by which the assessments are made. They further show that in some districts the preachers in charge bear more of the expense of supporting the presiding elder than those in other districts.

In order to relieve preachers in charge, and especially the pastoral charges themselves, as far as may be requisite, and to preserve the presiding elder in all his vital force, the following was offered by Dr. M. S. Andrews, and, after able discussion, was adopted by the Alabama Conference during its session at Greensboro, Ala., December, 1876:

"Resolved, That the Bishops be requested to call the attention of the several Annual Conferences over which they may preside to the propriety of striking out the proviso of paragraph 8, section 2, chapter 3 of the Discipline, which reads as follows: 'That no district shall contain more than fourteen appointments.'"

So far, then, as the Alabama Conference is concerned upon this question, her voice has been uttered, and her delegates to the next General Conference will certainly take good heed thereto "and govern themselves accordingly." Let the work be done ex animo.

ANDY'S DOWLING.

CLAYTON, ALA., Feb. 2, 1878.

* Use the minutes of 1876 because I have not the minutes of 1877.

A Few Thoughts.

MR. EDITOR: Suffer me a little space in your valuable paper for a few thoughts. I have been a Methodist for about fifty years, and have been a close observer, and I find many things in our system that I like—the itinerant system, with its Bishops, presiding elders, preachers, circuits, stations and missions, with all the powers belonging to each, if well worked. Let the Bishop make the appointments with such assistance from the presiding elders as he may need, for no Bishop will afflict a brother intentionally in making his appointment. Some will have hard places, but the hard places must be filled, and the Bishop's appointment is only for one year; and in many instances the place that appeared to be hardest turns out to be the best that could have been done for the brother. I have always thought—yes, and I believe it—that the appointments are made of God himself through his agents; and, oh! what an agent when a cabinet, in devout prayer, asks God to direct them! I believe that our system is the best in the world when properly worked, and not abused.

Now, Mr. Editor, suffer me to mention a few of my dislikes. I dislike to know that we have so many stations and circuits without a parsonage. We have much trouble now to arrange comfortable quarters for our preacher, who has left a parsonage well furnished. Every station and circuit ought to have a parsonage. This might be done in most cases if there could be proper harmony between the elder, preacher in charge, the stewards and the members of the church in fixing the boundary lines of circuits before going to Conference and recommending to the Bishop such and such changes. I am not afflicted—am perfectly satisfied, but many are not. There is much complaint. I have lived where I now am seven years, and have been in four different circuits. Our church had an interest in a parsonage one year in the seven, and now we have no parsonage. The church in the South has spent thousands of dollars in building parsonages, and to-day we have but few of them in circuits. I have paid at least $200 to help build parsonages. It is gone, and thousands have gone the same way. Our people are sore on this subject. We could yet build some parsonages if we could have the boundary lines permanently fixed. I know this cannot be done in all cases, but it can in most. A question for the General Conference, I think, in relation to lay delegates: The Discipline should read: "And an equal number of lay members;" leaving out: "One-fourth of whom may be local preachers;" also leave out the same clause in electing delegates to the Annual Conference. Why discriminate? Let them elect whom they please. Suppose two local preachers were elected on the first ballot, and they were tied at fifteen votes each—who is to decide? Let them elect no local preachers, or all local preachers, or as many or as few as the delegates desire. A local preacher is numbered with the lay members, and why discriminate for or against him?

I like our Annual Conferences. What a grand convocation we have once a year! Oh, how we rejoice to meet and greet each other, and tell of the trials and joys of the past and the hopes for the future! Your correspondent, with his wife and daughter, had a pleasant home with my old friend and brother, John Powell, Sr. The Lord bless the whole family! Our wives and daughters want to see all the preachers once a year—and the Bishop. Some of them would never see a Bishop if they did not go to Conference. And I bless God that our Bishops are not stuck up, but are pleased to have our wives and daughters introduced to them.

MOSES PADGETT.

ALLISTON, ALA., Jan. 15, 1878.

Bible Cause.

MR. EDITOR: On the fifth day of January, 1877, I began the pleasant and very important work of supplying the people in south Alabama with the word of God. During these twelve months, amidst cold and heat, wet and dry, wind and sand, rain and sunshine, I have traveled in buggy 3,490 miles, and visited 3,200 families; have preached to at least 60 congregations and lectured 28 Sunday schools; have been to the homes of the rich and the cottage of the poor; have been entertained in parlors of culture and refinement, sat at bounteous tables, and slept on beds of down; have also been kindly welcomed to the poor man's home, warmed at his luxurious fire, gladly partook of his hospitality, and sweetly rested beneath his humble roof. To the best of my ability I have presented the Bible cause to all classes of men within my reach—to the wayfaring man on the public highway, and the quiet family at home; to the farmer at his plow, and the mechanic in his shop; to the dram-seller and the merchant, the doctor and the lawyer, to the teacher in his school, and to the preacher in his study. I have visited Conferences, associations and camp meetings; have been permitted to preach and lecture in Methodist, Missionary Baptist, Christian and Primitive Baptist churches. Yes, even our Primitive brethren, who so strenuously oppose everything outside of their church, never refuse to permit me to stand before their large congregations, with the Holy Bible in hand, and speak in behalf of this great cause. While thus engaged, though the labor was great and the privations many, yet as I look back over the year that is gone it gives me infinite comfort to know that, as an humble servant of the American Bible Society, I have been instrumental in placing in the hands of the people 2,600 copies of the Bible and parts of the Holy Scriptures. Of this number more than 800 copies were donated to the poor, many of whom never would have possessed such a treasure had it not been carried and given to them. There is pleasure in distributing the word of God among the people; but it gives me pain to find so much destitution. Of the 3,400 families visited, 850 were without Bibles. I speak of this not because it is pleasant, but the church and the world ought to know the true condition of our country. But where is the remedy? Preachers, Sunday school superintendents and teachers can do much; but more depends upon parents. I endeavor to get fathers and mothers to supply their children, but only in a few cases have they done so. So long as parents permit their sons and daughters to grow up without Bibles, just so long will this destitution continue.

A. M. JONES.

GREENVILLE, ALA., Jan. 16, 1878.

The Presiding Eldership.

MR. EDITOR: In a recent number of the Western Methodist (January 8, 1878) some brother urged a change in the presiding eldership—that is, the enlargement of districts, so as to reduce the number one-half. This certainly looks to the abolition of the office altogether; for if it is a useless appendage as it is—to make his visits twice instead of four times a year—it would be worth just half as much to the church as it now is. The presiding eldership is such a necessity in our church economy that I should feel distressed if the General Conference were to touch it with a design to abolish or remodel it. The Bishop cannot have the information necessary to station the preachers unless every preacher, and every station, circuit and mission is specially reported to him. One Bishop to every Conference, nor two Bishops to every Conference—indeed, to have no presiding elders our Bishops would have to be increased to about the present number of "first-class preachers." From the extensiveness of their labors, presiding elders are often wanting in information necessary in the stationing-room, and when a round or two is missed during the year, especially the last round on the district before Conference, grievous mistakes are made. Stations and circuits are wronged, and "first-class preachers" are outraged. Ever since my ordination I have rested under the impression that every traveling preacher—"first-class" and all—was bound to labor where those in authority over them should appoint; and then I recollect "with a glad heart and free," or something of that sort. In this State (Conference) preachers appointed to districts never refuse to go because it does not pay enough to their class. Mr. Editor, did you ever know a preacher to refuse to take charge of his work when appointed to a district because it would not pay him enough? Did you ever hear of one resigning his charge for any cause whatever? The presiding elders of this State (Conference) are first-class men. I am second-rate myself, and have been waiting round for twenty years—since my eligibility—to be made presiding elder; but I have never floated to the surface yet. Some years ago a third-rate man was made presiding elder. I then had more hope. I went to the Bishop about it. He said it was a mistake; he thought him a first-rate preacher when he appointed him. My hopes declined. I gracefully retired to the private ranks, and tried to be reconciled. Mistakes like the one alluded to will occur once in awhile. Sometimes, for the want of proper discernment of men, the wrong man is elevated to this office of sub-Bishop, who magnifies himself instead of his office, and patronizingly visits and talks with his preachers rather than heartily entering into their sympathies, and counseling with them in regard to their great work. He impresses the Quarterly Conference that he is presiding elder rather than inspiring the members with their responsibility to God and the church. These charges lie decidedly against the men and not against the office.

Now, Mr. Editor, on account of some of us first-class old fogies, use your influence with the delegates to the coming General Conference not to disturb the presiding eldership.

L. D. N.

There are beautiful warm soda springs in Colorado, and people who go bathing in them at once exclaim: "Oh, but this is soda-licious!"

The Phonograph.

SOMETHING NEW.

MR. EDITOR: The Rev. T. C. Jopling, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and of Winston county, Miss., has invented a machine for taking down, upon the principle of stenography, the phonics of the English language. It is operated by keys, made to work somewhat similar to those of a piano-forte or melodeon. He calls it "the phonograph." It is certainly well calculated to accompany the telephone, and will doubtless bring that discovery to a degree of usefulness beyond the most lively expectations of the promoter of that medium of communication. While a speech is being delivered on the floor in Congress, it may be caught from the lips of the speaker, and borne upon the wings of the telephone, be caught off at every telegraph station in the country by the operators of the phonograph, and in one hour be ready, in all its freshness, for every morning paper throughout the land. This instrument is calculated to excel all methods of stenography as about six is to one.

Any person wishing to make inquiries can address Rev. J. C. Jopling, Goopwood, Miss.

JOSEPH D. NEWSOM.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names. Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

REV. PETERSON G. BROGDON died at his home, near Tallassee, Ala., on Sunday morning, January 20, 1878, in the seventy-third year of his age.

Bro. Brogdon was born of Primitive Baptist parents, near Edgefield, in Washington county, N. C., March 6, 1805, where he lived until he was about fifteen years old, when, with his father and mother, he moved to Georgia. There, in the twentieth year of his age, being a young man who read and thought for himself, he joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, though his parents were of a different persuasion; and for twenty years afterward he was a class-leader in the same church.

To his wife and children, whom he loved with the fervor of devotion, Bro. Brogdon was most tenderly kind, and no word was too soft to be spoken to them, and no touch too gentle and affectionate.

Some time during the year 1858, in Tallapoosa county, Ala., he was licensed to preach in the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and for the years which followed, while his health would allow, he did good and faithful work for that Master whom he loved and in whose cause he died. He loved the church of which he was a member next to his Lord; and in conversation with his wife, only a few days before his death, he remarked and seemed to deprecate that he had done so little for the church, which, he said, had done so much for him, and to which he was under so many obligations. The church had been everything to him, and he felt that no life could be too long to spend in her service, and no service too earnest or complete.

He died of dropsy of the pericardium; and though he had suffered from this disease many months, and had felt satisfied for some time that he was liable to die at any moment, and often said to his wife that he was afraid he would be found dead at some time on the roadside, or in his bed in the morning when she would seek to awake him; yet, after all, his death was rather sudden and unexpected. He was teaching school at Tallassee, and taught on Thursday before his death on Sunday morning. Feeling a little more unwell than usual on Friday morning, he remained at home, and did not teach that day, as he had several times done before. Soon, however, he felt better, and was more cheerful than usual, and continued so until evening. About three or four o'clock P. M. he went from reading his Bible out into the yard to take a walk in the fresh air, leaving his Bible lying open, intending, perhaps, to return in a few minutes and examine his reading. While in the yard his sister-in-law, who was sitting on the gallery, observed that he sat down by a shade-tree and leaned his head upon his hand. Fearing that something serious had happened to him, she ran in and called her sister, his wife. When his wife reached him she found him unable to walk, and, with the assistance of two gentlemen who were near, he was carried into the house. The doctor, his daughter (Mrs. Lackey) and son-in-law were immediately sent for. When Mrs. Lackey entered the room, a few hours afterward, and approached the bed where he was, he said: "Lizzie, I am going. Meet me in heaven." His son-in-law, Mr. Lackey, then approached him, and to him he said: "Robert, my time here is not long; I will soon be gone; but my sky is clear, and my house is set in order." And after making some further remarks, and asking some question, which was answered evasively by Mr. Lackey, he said: "O sir, you need not be afraid to talk with me about death. I am ready to go; my house is set in order." He also assured the physician that all was well. To his wife he said: "Fanny, you must keep up family prayer. Gather the little ones around you and offer up the daily sacrifice. Do not let the altar go down." After this, perfectly conscious that the time of his departure was at hand, he lingered on until Sunday morning, when, at four o'clock, in full view of the glory-land, with no intervening shadow, his spirit, mounting up from amid the ruins of its fallen earthly tabernacle, soared away to that blissful country which "hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God." He died without a doubt, without a struggle, without a shudder. "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

JOHN R. PEARCE.

MRS. SUSAN GILMORE was born December 27, 1822; was married to Rev. M. Gilmore, February 20, 1850; joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South the same year, and died September 20, 1877.

This noble woman possessed many virtues, developed and made apparent in none of her sex except under circumstances peculiar in their nature, most of which she fully experienced. Being at an early age left of parents, the care of younger brothers and sisters devolved upon her—a responsibility whose weight is known only to those who have experienced it, and which she discharged so successfully as to reflect great credit upon herself, and which has served to leave an impress upon the hearts of the surviving ones that will never be obliterated, and to prompt a readiness "to rise up and call her blessed." At the age of twenty-two years she was married to Bro. Gilmore, many years her senior, with a large family of children, over whom, together with the charge already on her hands, she assumed control and exerted an influence so happy in effect as to prove her perfect adaptation to the onerous position of stepmother. To her husband she indeed proved an helpmeet, a comfort, a blessing. Soon after their marriage, during the prevalence of an epidemic, her grown daughters, two of whom were married, fell victims to its ravages; and during the war four sons; just entering upon the career of manhood, were sacrificed upon the altar of their country—an affliction so severe and calamitous as to well-nigh crush the spirits, but to whom she devoted her physical and mental energies to reanimate and encourage; and not only to the family connected with her household did she minister help and comfort, but, good Samaritan-like, while fathers, brothers and husbands were absent in the army, she did something for all.

Her chiefest joy seemed to be to cheer and console her husband in his failing health and declining strength; but, apart from this preference, she indeed manifested her obedience to the injunction of the Savior: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Her death has caused a painful void in the household of which she was the light and the example, a great calamity in the community, in which she was indeed a benefactress, and to the church, the doctrines which she adorned; and long will Mrs. Gilmore be remembered by family, community and church as one "instant in season, out of season." To her three sons born, one of whom preceded her a few years to the spirit-land. As it is reasonable to expect of one endowed with such graces, her death was a triumphant one.

A FRIEND.

DIED, November 27, 1877, of pneumonia, at her home in Warren county, Miss., MRS. MARY WILLIAM COOK, wife of Rev. Reece Cook, in her fifty-eighth year. Her maiden name was Daughtry. She was born in 1826, in Southampton county, Va., and in 1836, with her mother, moved to the county of Clinton, Hinds county, Miss., where she was reared and educated. She was married to her now bereaved husband, Maj. Reece Cook, May 12, 1870. Sister Cook professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South when she was twenty-four years old, and from that time until her death lived a devoted and consistent Christian. She was modest, retiring, reserved, yet she was prompt and faithful in all her obligations, and uncompromising in her convictions of right. She regarded Christianity as a system of living, and not only did she practice it in the various relations of life. But a few hours before her death I interviewed her upon the subject of religion, and found her trustfully stayed upon Jesus, perfectly calm and resigned, and ready to depart in death, and as long as she could articulate she at the several times repeated the Lord's Prayer in the most deliberate and devout manner. Thus passed away from earth to heaven the soul of our lamented Sister. May Heaven in mercy temper the winds to those who loved her most. "Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal."

F. M. WILLIAMS.

EVA WEEKS, daughter of [illegible] and Lou. Wheaton, was born in Shreveport, La., May 18, 1874, and died at Logansport, La., November 27, 1877. In a few short hours this lovely young bud of promise drooped, to open among amaranthine flowers that bloom in paradise. Her death was a great stroke to her parents; but they wished to die and go to heaven, where she was told she would meet her sister. We know that they are united, for no purer spirits than theirs ever burst from the portal to shine in the home of the blest. To use her own language, God has taken the cover from the skies and let her see her sister."

S. [illegible]

BRO. HENAN BALLANCE was born in Tennessee, April 6, 1803, and in 1[illegible] converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, in the Southern branch of which he lived a consistent member to the time of his death, which occurred October [illegible], 1877. In 1811 he emigrated to Louisiana, and for many years been regarded as one of the early settlers of this portion of the State. He died at his home near Arcadia, surrounded by his family and friends. His life was consistent—his end was peace. Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace." May God bless the surviving members of his family.

THOMAS J. [illegible]

MR. EDITOR: Please give room in your paper of the death of Miss [illegible] WEBB, of Clinton, La., a member of the Sunday-school and Bible class. She died in Clinton, La., on the twenty-second of January, 1878, aged eighteen years.

By request of the Methodist Episcopal Church South Sunday-school at Clinton.

F. D. BRAND.

LILLY HESSEY, daughter of [illegible] and Nancy Ann Gibbs, died in Rapides, La., of flux, after a painful illness of [illegible] days, aged one year, three months and [illegible] days.

J. M. FA[illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

URSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1878.

ALADDIN.

BY J. R. LOWELL.

When I was a beggarly boy,
And I lived in a cellar damp,
I had not a friend nor a toy,
But I had Aladdin's lamp;
When I could not sleep for cold,
I had fire enough in my brain,
And builded, with roofs of gold,
My beautiful castles in Spain!

Since then I have toiled day and night,
I have money and power good store,
But I'd give all my lamps of silver bright
For the one that is mine no more!
Take, Fortune, whatever you choose;
You gave, and may snatch again;
I have nothing to build nor lose,
For I own no more castles in Spain!

Voyage of the Challenger.

e voyage among the Spice Isl- was perhaps the most interest- part of our whole journey. First ome to the little Arru group, be- ing to the Dutch, touching at the town of Dobbo, where Malay Chinese traders come to purchase orgeous birds of Paradise. The e officials come on board to greet Dutch etiquette prescribes that shall wear black European dress ll State occasions. Their official e seems to have come down from her generation, and to have been e for a much larger race of men. tails of their coats almost touched heels, and the sleeves covered finger-tips. The high stove- hats were made to fit their heads he insertion of a thick paper pad. n they left the ship we saw in their canoes divesting them- s of their State attire. Fly-hig- abound in these waters. As they the surface they turn on their , displaying their glittering tins; take flights of more than a dred yards. At a little distance look like swallows. No one sees them will doubt that they tually fly, not merely descend- bliquely from the height gained heir first leap from the water. he Great Kii Island the people developed a special gift of boat- ding. Their beautiful canoes are of planks neatly doweled to- er at the edges with wooden without a particle of iron, and ngthened by cross-beams lashed he sides by split rattans. The s of Great Banda are perpendic- cliffs two hundred feet high, beautiful vegetation hanging in ons to the water's edge. Along shore the water is so transparent the most minute objects can be at a depth of fifty feet. Among is a burning mountain twenty- hundred feet high. Amboyna, chief town of the island of the name, is a pretty place, and is ded as the capital of the Molne- Here, in company with the Governor, we visited the nutmeg plantations. Bachin Tawale, almost under the equa- are great volcanic masses heaved to the height of a thousand feet, separated by a narrow strait nding in the most romantic ery. In fact we were now in the er of a great volcanic region, subterranean activity, however, nifesting itself mostly in frequent quakes.

wadays' sail from Z dir is the isl- of Camtguhn, now desolate, but years ago one of the most popu- s in the whole archipelago. In center is an extinct volcano, thousand feet high. Early in there were several earthquakes, ch were ended by an eruption the plain almost at the foot of old volcano, and a new mount- of chocolate-brown ashes, has n to the height of two thousand its base entirely covering the er town of Camiguhn, which bered ten thousand inhabitants. e then the island has been de- d, only a few hundred people remaining upon it. The subter- an action still continues, as is n by the regular growth of the ntain, although there is little ent violence, and for miles on er side the trees are blighted and tation destroyed by the sulphur- exhalations. Temperatures were n at a depth of one hundred and ty-five fathoms close at the foot e volcano, but they were found reater than is usual at similar hs in these equatorial seas.

aving the Spice Islands to the , the Challenger skirted the hern coast of the great island of Guinea, and on March 4 reached Admiralty Islands, the inhabit- of which are reputed to be great ibals. We lay to in a harbor ed by three beautiful islets, and ship was soon thronged by na- eager for barter. They had for spear-heads of tortoise-shell; lets, ear-rings and nose-rings of e shell, stone knives and axes, finely-carved wooden bowls and els of canoes. What they wanted t of all were knives, hatchets and s of hoop-iron, setting little or nt value upon the most gaudy hes and handkerchiefs. Their color, nose-rings, ear-rings, rately dressed hair, and general t of all but the most scanty cloth- coincide with the description ly Cameron and Schweinfurth he cannibal tribes of Central ca; and, like them, they had a er mild and intelligent expres- of countenance.—National Re- ocy.

Appeals for Contributions.

e appeals which the secretaries of different departments of church send down; those of us who are ors. expect to repeat from our its, and to urge them upon our regations.

will be well to remember that appeals will carry additional if based upon considerations h commend themselves to the judgment of our people.

may at first sight seem that the effective way of securing con- utions is to represent what, od, is usually too true—that our ionaries and evangelists are suf- fering, and that our education and sustentation work are distressed for want of funds. But if we should be so unfortunate as to produce the impression that our contributions are for any particular person's benefit, we should be doing a very great injustice to the missionaries and to the church.

The truth of the matter is that it is seldom if ever the case that it would be proper to regard our contributions as an act of charity, in the common sense of that word. The church selects a missionary, field, or any other department of Christian labor, and electing one of her servants, duly and entirely consecrated to Christ, sends him forth, and in the discharge of his work, and whether in a foreign field or in a professor's chair, he is the representative of the church.

When, for Christ's sake, he accepts that appointment, the church accepts and admits the obligation to sustain him. And every one who is asked to contribute to his support is simply asked to make a free-will offering to God in order to maintain the institutions of his religion, and in order to participate in the advancement of his cause.

As these appeals must be made from year to year, it is very important that they be directed to springs of action which are permanent. If there is nothing better to look to than the disposition to compassionate the suffering of the missionaries or other servants of the church, it is perfectly certain that such sources will eventually dry up. There is nothing to which people sooner grow accustomed than such appeals. And under them they come to feel at length that perhaps the noblest of God's servants, employed in the grandest occupations, are little better than ecclesiastical mendicants. We cannot imagine anything much more demoralizing. And it would obviously be unwise to pursue any course which would lead to this.

What are the actual facts that underlie this whole subject? They are simply these: That we owe everything to our Redeemer, and that he expects us to show our gratitude and affection to him by our zeal in advancing the interests of his cause as long as we live. The proposition is as simple as that two and two make four. It may be replied that people don't see it. The answer is that thousands and millions have seen it and do see it; and that every one who has the love of God in his heart can be made to see it, and to feel it, and to rejoice in it. Here is a fact and a principle of action that never grow old, never become exhausted, never grow tiresome, never degrade by making men more covetous. They have made many feel richer by all that they gave, and brought them into a more living sympathy and more generous communion with all who are laboring in the cause of Christ.

It is scarcely fair to reproach congregations with being indifferent to the causes of church benevolence unless we have presented the proper motives. Urge the highest, educate them to appreciate the highest motives, and what will happen then?

They will learn to feel that here is the best investment they can make of their resources, and that it is due to God, according as he has prospered them; for there is no way by which the "mammon of unrighteousness" becomes a better friend than when it affords the opportunity of showing our affection and gratitude to Christ.—Southwestern Presbyterian.

The Infidel's Sheep

Away among the hills of northern New England were two infidel neighbors, who had lived to man's estate, sinning and blaspheming against God.

One of them heard the gospel message, and, hearing, believed, unto eternal life. A short time afterward the converted man went to the house of his infidel neighbor and said to him:

"I have come to talk with you. I have been converted."

"Yes, I heard that you had been down there and gone forward for prayer," said the skeptic with a sneer; "and I am surprised, for I thought you were about as sensible a man as there was in town."

"Well," said the Christian, "I have a duty to do to you, and I want you to stop talking and hear me. I haven't slept much for two nights thinking of it. I have four sheep in my flock that belong to you. They came into my field six years ago, and I knew they had your mark on them, but I took them and marked them with my mark; and you inquired all around and could not hear anything of them. But they are in my field, with the increase of them; and now I want to settle this matter. I have laid awake nights and groaned over it, and I have come to get rid of it. And now I am at your option. I will do just what you say. If it is a few years in the State's prison, I will suffer that. If it is money or property you want, say the word. I have a good farm and money at interest, and you can have all you ask. I want to settle this matter up and get rid of it."

The infidel was amazed. He began to tremble.

"If you have got those sheep, you are welcome to them. I don't want anything of you. If you will only go away; a man that will come to mess you have—something must have got hold of you that I don't understand. You may have the sheep if you will only go away."

"No," said the Christian, "I must settle this matter up, and pay for the sheep; I shall not be satisfied without. And you must tell me how much."

"Well," said the skeptic, "if you must pay me, you may give me what the sheep were worth when they got into your field, and pay me six per cent. on the amount, and go off and let me alone."

The man counted out the value of the sheep and the interest on the amount, and laid it down, and then doubled the dose, and laid as much more down beside it, and went his way, leaving a load on his neighbor's heart almost as heavy as that which he himself had borne.

The full results of that scene are known only to God. One thing is certain—the infidel was seen to frequent the house of prayer, and we may be sure that he afterward believed that there was some power in the gospel, and that all Christians were not hypocrites.

Now.

It is said that "God respecteth adverbs more than verbs." He cares more to have a man work well than to have him merely work. And there is one adverb that it is God's will that we should esteem more highly than it is our custom to do, and that is the adverb now. We live in the past, we live in the future, and the present we allow to slip through our hands. Yet we are dead to the past, we are not born to the future, and the present is our only time for doing, enjoying, living.

How constantly, as we go on in life and meet fresh trials and sorrows, are we disposed to exclaim with Job: "Oh, that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me; when his candle shined upon my head, and when by his light I walked through darkness." Then I would be content and thankful. The woman, bereft of her husband, but blessed with a child, mourns over her past happiness, regardless of her present sources of joy. The child is taken from her, and then she bitterly reproaches herself for past lack of resignation, and asks: "Oh, why was I so ungrateful while my child was spared to me?" This new bereavement is a judgment upon me for my rebellion." And, even were every one of our nearest and dearest taken from us, should not the Christian heart exclaim: My Savior is left! He is the one whom my soul loveth, the chiefest among ten thousand, and altogether lovely. He will be my greatest joy throughout eternity, and he says to me now:

"Can I suffice for heaven and not for earth?"

We must indeed think of the past to profit by the experience it has given us, to repent of our sins, and to make reparation where we have injured any one; but we must not let our life be in the past. We should use the past only to live better, to live more fully in the present. As regards the future, there is a certain provision for it that is the duty of the present hour; but, beyond that, we should strive anxiety and fear as not belonging to us. We should remember how often we have allowed ourselves to be distracted by dread of a future difficulty or sorrow, and when the time and place were reached, lo! the heavy stone was already rolled away, and angels with blessing stood awaiting us. We may rest assured that if we do our part in the present, God will take care of the future.

Within Christians, the Lucifers of past days, whatever it may have been, should be both dead and buried. For is that bitterness sin? After repentance and all possible reparation for wrong-doing, it is both a duty and a privilege to rejoice in forgiveness.—Church Journal.

AN INDIAN LEGEND.—There was once a beautiful damsel upon whom one of the good genii wished to bestow a blessing. He led her to the edge of a large field of corn, where he said to her: "Daughter, in the field before us are ears of corn, in the hands of those who pluck them in faith, shall have talismanic virtues, and the virtue shall be in proportion to the size and beauty of the ear gathered. Then shalt pass through the field once, and pluck one ear. It must be taken as thou goest forward, and thou shalt not stop in thy path, for shalt thou retrace a single step in quest of thine object. Select an ear full and fair, and according to its size and beauty shall be its value to thee as a talisman." The maiden thanked the good genius, and then set forward upon her quest. As she advanced she saw many ears of corn, large, ripe and bountiful, such as calm judgment might have told her would possess virtues enough; but in her eagerness to grasp the very best she let these fair ears behind, hoping that she might find one still fairer. At length, as the day was closing, she reached a part of the field where the stalks were shorter and thinner, and the ears very thin and shriveled. She now regretted the grand ears she had left behind, and disdained to pick from the poor show around her, for here she found not an ear which bore perfect grain. She went on, but, alas! only to find the stalks more and more feeble and blighted, until in the end, as the day was closing, and the night coming on, she found herself at the end of the field without having plucked an ear of any kind. No need that the genius should rebuke her for her folly. She saw, clearly, when too late, how many in all climes and in all ages, in the evening of life, call sadly and regretfully to mind the thousand golden opportunities forever lost because they were not plucked in their season."

PRAYER.—Among the forms of insect life there is a little creature known to naturalists which can gather around itself a sufficiency of atmospheric air, and, so clothed, it descends into the bottom of the pool, and you may see the little diver moving about dry, and at his ease, protected by his crystal vesture, though the water all around be stagnant and bitter. Prayer is such a protector—a transparent vesture. The world sees it not, a real defense. It keeps out the world. By means of it the believer can gather so much of heavenly atmosphere around him, and with it descend into the putrid depths of this contaminating world, that for a season no evil will touch him, and he knows what to ascend for a new supply. Communion with God kept Daniel pure in Babylon.—Dr. James Hamilton.

A book canvasser the other day talked half an hour to induce a lady to buy a book. Then she handed him a slip of paper, on which was written: "I'm deaf and dumb."

Religious Intelligence.

—There are now 116 single lady missionaries in India, employed as agents of various societies.

—A weekly Christian newspaper, published by the missionaries of the American Board, in Japan, has a circulation of over a thousand copies.

—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions announces that its receipts since last May are more than $7,000 less than for the same period in the previous year.

—A mission school is sustained in Madrid, Spain, in spite of much opposition on the part of the Roman Catholics and the civil authorities. There are now 255 children on the list.

—A son of Bishop Southgate, formerly Episcopal Bishop of Constantinople, has been received into the Roman Catholic Church at Baltimore, together with the Rev. Mr. Murphy, a Baptist.

—It appears that the Friends, who are declining in the United States and Great Britain, are obtaining a foothold on the Continent. They have several societies in Denmark, and are increasing in number there.

—The Christian Standard, of Philadelphia, says the conclusion has been reached that the few camp-meetings and conventions held in the interest of the holiness doctrine are insufficient, and that tabernacle meetings in the centers of population are needed to help forward the movement. These will be held in a tent, which can be moved from place to place.

—There is a numerous sect, called Siva, in South India, among the Mahratta, Canarese and Telugu people. In Northern Mysore most of the farmers and traders belong to it. Their special distinction is the worship of Siva, under the form of the Linga, which they carry about on their persons. They are supposed to have arisen about 700 years ago. Like the Buddhists, they hate the Brahmins, make little of caste, and have monasteries, called mattas, where their leading teachers reside, with disciples.

—The collections the past year in the State Church of Prussia for "pressing necessities" amounted to only $75,000. This fund is used to aid curates and in church-building. This church has a large number of foreign congregations, which maintain a close relation with it. These churches are found at Hull, Rotterdam, Hague, Lisbon, Rome, Genoa, Braila, Belgrade, Bucharest, Grahova, Galatz, Pitesti, Constantinople, Beirut, Smyrna, Jerusalem, Petropolis, Alexandria, Cairo, Santiago and Osorno.

SCOTLAND.—Congregational Reunion.—The Evangelical Union of Scotland began some thirty years ago in the expulsion of nine students from the Wardlaw Theological Seminary and the cutting off of five churches from the fellowship of the Scottish Congregationalists. These became the nucleus of a new denomination, which has grown up and become nearly, if not quite, as strong and numerous, and certainly, according to its resources, exhibits a more aggressive spirit than the older and more conservative section of Congregationalists. Mr. Douglas, delegate from the Scotch to the English Congregational Union, reporting the measures in progress toward reunion, said that he believed that the majority in the Congregational Union, and in the Evangelical Union, are prepared for an amalgamation of the two, and hoped for a "larger union" still in addition to the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

—Persecution is not at an end yet in Mexico, as the missionaries have daily cause to know. A gentleman connected with the American Board in the State of Jalisco describes some of the outrages committed on converts. Recently one of them was assassinated on the streets. Many lose their employment, are driven from their houses, and are looked upon as the filth of the world by their own families. In the Pueblos one had his house burned because he spoke of Jesus instead of Mary; another was stoned in the plaza for not taking off his hat when the bell struck twelve o'clock; a third was followed with the cry, "Death to the Protestant," because he read the Bible to his family and others who would listen to him. Four persons, because they possessed a little, had to leave their homes at midnight, under cover of darkness, to save their lives, the priest having said that the inhabitants of the place had proved themselves cowards for allowing such boys in their midst and tolerating the persons that had them.

The Hebrews in Boston are a feeble folk numerically, and without the prestige which in New York they enjoy by reason of wealth and social position. They are supposed to number about five thousand, men, women and children, and they maintain some six congregations for public worship. The largest and most important of these is the Congregation Ohabei Shalom, whose synagogue is on Warrenton street, toward the South End, and whose minister is Rev. Raphael Lasker. He Lasker is a German, a graduate of a German university, and a resident of this country for some six or seven years, so that he speaks the language with readiness, and has a useful familiarity with our institutions. He belongs to the party of Jewish reform, as, indeed, the Hebrews of Boston generally seem to do. His congregation comprises about 150 families, with an average attendance of 600 or 700; and it has the appurtenance of a "Sabbath school," with perhaps 150 members. This school holds two sessions, morning and afternoon, on Saturday, and one on Sunday, and affords instruction in the Hebrew language, as well as in the Jewish faith and ritual. The distinction of sex has been abolished in the seating of this congregation, and the pews are taxed to meet the expenses of worship. Of the other congregations in the city several are served by lay readers.—Christian Union.

Our Young People.

WHAT'S THE USE OF GRUMBLING?

Suppose, my little lady,
Your doll should break her head,
Could you make it whole by crying
Till your eyes and nose are red?
And wouldn't it be pleasanter
To treat it as a joke,
And say you're glad 'twas Dolly's,
And not your head that broke?

Suppose you're dressed for walking,
And the rain comes pouring down,
Will it clear off the sooner
Because you scold and frown?
And wouldn't it be nicer
For you to smile than pout,
And so make sunshine in the house
When there is none without?

Suppose your task, my little man,
Is very hard to get,
Will it make it any easier
For you to sit and fret?
And wouldn't it be wiser,
Than waiting like a dunce,
To go to work in earnest,
And learn the thing at once?

Suppose that some boys have a horse,
And some a coach and pair,
Will it tire you less, while walking,
To say: "It isn't fair?"
And wouldn't it be lighter
To keep your temper sweet,
And be your heart be thankful
You can walk upon your feet?

And suppose the world don't please you,
Nor the way some people do,
Do you think its whole creation
Will be altered just for you?
And laigh it, little girl or girl,
The wisest, bravest plan,
Whatever comes, or doesn't come,
To do the best you can?

From Our Little Friends.

WILLIAMSBURG, Miss., Jan. 14, 1878.

MR. EDITOR: We have moved from Oakohay to near Williamsburg. I like to live here, because the people are nearly all Methodists. We have preaching nearly every Sunday by my father or Mr. Whitehead. We have prayer meeting every Wednesday night at the neighbors' houses. Next meeting at our house. My father gave me twenty cents which I sent to Dr. Redford for the Sunday School Visitor, which I get monthly. I so much admire such pieces as the "Pet Lamb" and the "Magic of Silence," and others.

It was Haman who made a gallows to hang Mordecai on, and was afterward hung on it himself. It was a rich man who was chief among the publicans—named Zaccheus—who climbed into a sycamore-tree to see the Savior as he passed. I will ask what is meant by the word "Selah," so often used in the Psalms.

I remain, as ever, your friend,

LUCINDA JANE LANG.

CANTON, ALA., Jan. 21, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: Your excellent paper visits us every week. We are always glad to get it. The child's column is especially interesting to us little ones. The short letters from your little friends are always read by us. I read them myself, having learned to read in my sixth year—am now in my eighth—and am very fond of reading the church papers and good books. Our Sunday school is small, but very good. We get the Visitor and Our Little People regularly. I wish very much that all the children in the land enjoyed the Sunday school privileges I do. Give my best love to all your little friends. I am glad to hear that so many of them are members of the church. Hope they are good Christians. Your little friend, MITTIE E. PATTON.

TUCKER RIVERS, Miss., Jan. 17, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl not quite eight years old. I love your paper very much, because it contains so much nice reading. I cannot read it well yet, but get mamma and my teacher to read it for me. We have no Sunday school now, but it will open next Sunday. We have preaching once a month. Our new preacher is my dear Uncle Charlie Calhoun. He is loved by every one, for he is so good. I am trying to be good, so that when I die I may go to heaven, where my little angel sister Lottie is. I have two little brothers living and one sister dead.

From your little friend,

IDA HOWELL.

FRANKLINTON, La., Jan. 12, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I love to read your valuable paper. It affords me great comfort. Obed was the grandfather of David. The greatest miracle Christ performed on earth was raising Lazarus from the grave. Now I will ask a question: Who sat under the juniper-tree? It is in the Old Testament. We regretted giving up our minister and family very much after having them two years; but we are all well pleased with our new preacher. Mr. Howard is his name. Wishing you success with your paper, I remain,

Your Methodist friend,

TENY L. SIMMONS.

MARY'S LANDING, Jan. 15, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I do not go to Sunday-school, as the church is too far off, and the roads are bad almost all the year round; but I study at home. I am ten years old, and am in the fourth reader, in Davies' Arithmetic, geography, and Miss Swift's Philosophy. I study my catechism and Bible at home. ("Bethel" means "God's house.")

Your little friend,

MARY LITTELL.

Children's Faith.

A child six years of age was present with her mother at communion season, and, seeing the bread and wine passed around, asked what the people were doing. Her mother replied that they were celebrating the love of Jesus. "Can I," she said, "have some of the bread?" "No, my dear; it would not be proper for you to take any." The child burst into tears, and exclaimed: "Why, mamma, you know that I love Jesus!" She could not understand why she was not allowed to express her love for Christ as well as did those around her.

During four years from this time this little Christian was always with her mother at the celebration of the Lord's Supper, longing to partake of the emblems of her Savior's love. She would often ask when she could unite with the church, and she felt that she was deprived of a great privilege in being kept back. Some months ago a young, most lovely boy, who had joined the church at the age of thirteen years, died; and this little girl told her mother that she had, in a dream, written a letter to Jesus, and sent it by Johnny—the name of the departed boy. "I knew," said she, "the letter in his hand as he lay in the coffin." "And what did you write to Jesus about?" asked her mother. "I wrote to Jesus to ask him if I was too young to join the church."

At the next communion her pastor and the officers of the church, feeling that, if the Lord Jesus Christ himself was visibly present, he would invite this child to come to him, and sit at his table, unanimously voted to receive her, though she was only ten years of age. Her joy was great when told she could come. Since then, as before, her daily walk is with the Beloved. When tempted to get angry, or to sin in any way, she will close her eyes, and offer a silent prayer to Jesus for help. On one occasion, when a companion irritated her, a flash passed over her sweet face; for an instant she was silent, but all was over when she cheerfully resumed her play. Speaking of this to her mother, she said that she sent a little prayer to Jesus, "and he came, O so quickly!" It is her delight to attend all the services of the church, and to bring her companions to the weekly prayer-meeting—an example that might be profitably followed by many older professing Christians.

Another little girl, two or three years older, was received into the church, who, with others, gave the brightest evidence of her union to Christ. She told her Sabbath school teacher she hoped, after she had been at the communion-table, that the blessed Savior would take her to himself, as she was afraid she might sin against him if she remained in this world. It was the Lord's will, however, that she should tarry here to testify for him; and it has been most pleasing to hear of her earnest efforts to bring others to Jesus. While she walks the earth, she seems to live in heaven. One day she called upon me with her Sabbath-school teacher, to tell me of an incident that had given her great joy. She said that the night before she dreamed that she was standing at the beautiful gate of the New Jerusalem, waiting for the angel to come and admit her. While standing there she saw her pastor approach her, and he said to her: "I have been looking over the Lamb's book of life, and I saw your name written there." Her delight was so great that she awoke, and as soon as possible she hastened to communicate to her pastor her joy.—Sunday School Times.

Two Young Heroes.

Most knightly deeds are recorded of two boys. One of the boys lives at Bay City, Mich., and is named Kinderman. He has lost his right arm, but he did heroic work with his left. He and a younger brother were fishing the other day, on Lake Michigan, in a small boat which a passing propeller upset.

Young Kinderman, seeing that his brother was likely to drown, seized him by the hair with his teeth, and struck out for the shore. He swam with his left arm, until a boat which had put off from the shore picked him up.

The other young knight lives in Springfield, Mass., and attends the high school of that city. While walking out the other day he saw a dog making straight for a five-year-old boy who was playing in the street. The dog apparently was mad, for it held its head low and frothed at the mouth.

Stepping at once in front of the child, the young hero, as soon as the dog came near, kicked it over. Then, throttling it with one hand, he pounded its head with a stick until he killed it.

In the terrible struggle the dog set fast him on the wrist as to leave three tooth-marks. These, when the dog was dead, he cauterized by coolly holding them over the flame of a lighted matches. The child was uninjured.

Some fifty years ago all England rang with the praises of Thomas Fowell Buxton, afterward Sir Thomas, for catching a mad dog, which was making toward a group of ladies, and holding it until chained. Buxton, however, was a stalwart Englishman, with the strength of a Hercules. The Springfield hero was but a boy, who risked his life for a child.—Youth's Companion.

Daniel Webster once affirmed in company that no woman ever wrote a letter without a postscript. "My next letter shall refute you!" said a lady of his acquaintance. The "great expounder" soon received a letter from his fair opponent, where, after her signature, stood: "P. S. Who is right now, you or I?"

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Publishing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. R. H. KIX,
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY,
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER,
REV. JOHN MATHEWS,
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Self-Deception in Hearing.

From the emphasis placed upon doing as well as hearing it would seem that there is a religion of hearing, and that there are those who regard the mere hearing as a work of piety in itself. Christ refers in strong terms to him who "heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them not." The passage in James is suggestive: "But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your ownselves." Hearing may be nearly equivalent to profession, indicating a reverent regard for the divine authority, while not doing marks the inconsistency and folly of such a profession. Hearing may stand for the form of godliness, the act of worship, while the practical duties are neglected. It is a fetich, as nearly as such a thing may be in connection with Christian superstition. It is a religious service rendered that is thought to have virtue in it, just as some suppose that there is a mystical grace imparted by the sacraments, without regard to the intent and faith of the recipient. Manifestly hearing is not an end in itself. Incidentally there may be in it the element of profession, and it may be associated with the service of worship, but its purpose is to bring us to the knowledge of God and of his will. If it does not lead us to the practice of righteousness, to the doing of the word, it has failed of its chief design.

Men deceive themselves in hearing the word by complacently resting in this as the performance of a religious duty that somehow condones for sin, and puts them in a favorable relation to God. It may be felt to be a species of penance which atones for loose living, and keeps them from utterly drifting away from the pale of divine mercy. Hearing with many may be a habit that has grown with the early influences of education, and has been strengthened by social custom. They are hearers because others are, and because their religious training has made them so. In the good resolutions which people sometimes make, who have fallen into neglecting the house of God, they determine to begin anew the practice of church going. They contemplate little else beyond this. There is no serious intention of reform, of repentance, of doing the will of God. They have determined to become hearers, as if this were the sum of religion, and the vital thing in the service of Christ.

How people can be the dupes of such self deception we may not be able to explain, but the fact remains. Faith cometh by hearing, and yet there is a hearing that is attended with the most fatal self deception. It will not be difficult to recall the cases of those who have been hearers of the word for many years, of some who have heard through life, and yet have never been brought to Christ. They heard the gospel of repentance without repenting; they heard the gospel of faith without believing, they heard the gospel of regeneration without being born again, and they heard the gospel of consecration without giving themselves to the active service of the Redeemer. There is nothing strange in the conduct of those who do not hear the gospel, and who, in their estrangement from the ordinances of religion, live on in sin and impenitence. The wonder is that those who hear constantly and with apparent interest continue year after year unmoved and unchanged. We speak of men becoming gospel-hardened. They become used to the cry of alarm and warning, and, by long resistance, appeals to conscience make no impression. Those most abandoned of the Spirit may be those who are always in their place as hearers. They have met the striving Spirit in the sanctuary, under the full blaze of the light of truth, and in the stronghold of all gracious influences. The crust that forms under these circumstances is probably the hardest of all. The obduracy that is born of such close and persistent opposition to the clearest and most powerful convictions is the most fearful.

But have we not at least a suggestion as to the cause of this frightful condition? There is a perversion of the means of salvation. The hearing that was designed to lead to faith, and to a spiritual experience, has been seized upon as the end and substance of religion. If men can persuade themselves that baptism or other sacraments have a saving efficacy, why not also that hearing covers a multitude of sins, and somehow provides a way of escape from eternal death? The import of such passages as we have referred to is that there is a religion of hearing, as distinguished from that of hearing and doing, and that this form of self-deception prevails in the world. It is hearing without other profession, and it is profession which goes no farther than hearing. It is not hypocrisy, but something which men believe in, and feel secure. How to be safe without doing the word is the problem which the natural man has set himself to solve, and this is the upshot of the endeavor.

It is a main business of the preacher to ferret out and expose the hiding-places of sinners, and it is a significant fact that the most difficult of these from which to dislodge the erring soul are within the sound of the preacher's voice. His very ministry is being perverted and used as the means of a false hope. The service which he leads, and the forms incidental to the worship which he conducts, are laid hold of and wrested as a cover to the conscience. In this way, as in others, he is a savor of death unto death. He cannot be too searching in his application of the truth. He must explore those dark places and refuges of lies which abound nearest the sanctuary. It must be made clear that no one can build upon the rock who is not a doer of the word, and that every form and pretense of religion that does not embrace purity of heart and practical obedience is a gross perversion of the gospel plan of salvation.

Death of the Pope of Rome.

As announced in the dispatches published in another column, this not unexpected event occurred on Thursday, February 7. Giovanni Maria Mastai Ferretti was born in Sinigaglia, May 13, 1792. The conclave chose him Pope on the sixteenth of June, 1846, and he assumed the title of Pius the Ninth. At the time of his election he was regarded as a man of liberal sentiments, and he began his career by several important measures of reform, and by making some moderate concessions to the demands of the Roman people. In 1848 popular discontent reached the point of revolution, and the Pope made his escape to Gaeta. He was restored to his capital by French troops in 1850, and maintained his temporal power under the protection of a French army, until the disasters of the Franco-Prussian war left the Pope to his own resources. The temporal power soon came to an end, and the Papal States, including the city of Rome, were incorporated in the kingdom of Italy, under Victor Emanuel.

The pontificate of Pius the Ninth extended through more than thirty years, nearly embracing a well-rounded and complete generation, and it has been signalized by events that have agitated and shaken the political and religious world. In 1851 the doctrine of the Immaculate conception was defined to be a dogma of the Catholic faith, and more recently the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope was considered and promulgated by authority of a general council. The loss of the temporal power, by which the Pope ceased to be the head and ruler of an earthly kingdom, is the most important political event in his long career. He died grieving over the loss, and probably with the cherished expectation that the temporal sovereignty would some day be restored. The political influence of the papacy has, however, been steadily and rapidly declining ever since Pius the Ninth ascended the pontifical chair, and to-day that influence is but little felt or regarded by the governments of Europe.

Since Ferretti was born, and since he attained to mature manhood, a wonderful change has come over the world in regard to the assertion of the principles of civil and religious liberty. The progress has indeed been notable as exhibited in the present condition of those countries in which Catholicism was most exclusive and dominant. These are now generally open to Protestant missions and worship, and the time is not very distant probably when Romanism must stand everywhere upon its own merits, unaided by the civil or military power, and dependent upon moral forces alone. Within the last thirty years the intolerance of the Catholic government has been broken in Mexico, Brazil, Italy, Austria and Spain, and Protestantism has been spreading where it was previously excluded. It is doubtful whether Roman Catholicism will ever accept the logic of events, and throw off the intolerance and exclusiveness which have marked its claims hitherto. But popular intelligence is now too generally diffused, and the spread of evangelical truth too powerful, to admit of the belief that the popes will ever regain the influence which they once wielded.

At the beginning of his reign Pius the Ninth doubtless sincerely aimed to reform the administration of the papal government, and there might have been in him some tendencies to a more enlightened and liberal ecclesiastical policy. If so, the system of which he was the head was too perverse to be changed, and the influences which surrounded him were too strong to be overcome. There seems to have been a reaction in his own mind, and the events of 1848 would seem to have overcome the liberalism which he was thought to possess at the time of his election. His personal character, we believe, was without stain. He is represented as a man of great amiability and benevolence, and as harboring no private resentments. We suppose he believed himself to be the vicar of Jesus Christ, and that in his official capacity, as the head of the church, he was infallible. Millions of people believed this of him, and he believed it of himself. He is now in the presence of his Maker, and to be judged as other men. His was a vast responsibility, and how the account will be met remains for the disclosures of the final day.

From a Catholic point of view, his pontificate can scarcely be regarded as successful. There has been loss of prestige and influence, both temporal and spiritual. Antonelli, and other of the Pope's advisers, will be charged with part if not all the blame. The dogmas of the Immaculate conception and of the papal infallibility—the latter especially—were promulgated for the purpose of resisting the encroachment of modern ideas; but these measures have failed of their purpose. The Pope's influence was heartily for the infallibility. Was he wise therein? Both as an ecclesiastic and as a politician he was earnest, honest, ambitious, but not sagacious nor astute.

The conclave will soon be in session. The Ultramontanes and the Liberals are represented in this body. The former will probably elect their man, whoever he may be. The election is watched with considerable interest by the European governments, but there seems to be no very great anxiety about it. There was a time when the character of a pope was a question of serious moment to the nations of the world. That time is passed. Neither Europe nor America have much to hope or fear. An Ultramontane may keep up intrigue and strife, and do some mischief, but a Liberal cannot well do otherwise than adhere to the dogmas of the Church of Rome, and attempt to carry out its traditional policy.

The Great Privilege.

Privilege means "a special advantage granted in favor of a particular person or a particular class of persons." Religious privilege is a special religious advantage—a right to a special religious enjoyment, granted by the Lord in favor of man. The first privilege is the privilege to be a Christian. What a grand privilege is this! What a right the Lord has conferred upon man in the grant of this privilege! This privilege includes everything that is good. It embraces every substantial advantage. It confers the right to taste every real joy as we go along through life. It introduces the profoundest peace into the soul when all outside of us is in commotion. It creates most beautiful hopes when the world overwhelms us with disappointments. It exalts us to the highest relationships known to intelligence, and in the end sits us down at the font of the throne of God, bewildered by the beauty of the home we have reached. Our great privilege is to be Christians. To be a Christian—what is it? To be a "man after God's own heart;" to be fashioned after the model of the true man of Nazareth; to be cast in the mold of Jesus Christ; to be stamped with the seal of the divine character—this it is to be a Christian. To learn the lessons of truth; to make life beautiful by working out and exhibiting to others its high aims; to render service to all men by becoming the servant of all; to be governed by the law of God—this it is to be a Christian. To take the lowest place in the temple of humanity, and yet possess the right to "sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of God;" to plod heavily along through this "weary vale of tears," and yet to "mount up on wings as eagles;" to receive reproaches and insults from men, and yet have a clear title to honors higher and more beautiful and more illustrious than those which cluster about the brow of a seraph—this it is to be a Christian. To be earth-born, and yet an heir of heaven; to live here, and yet have citizenship in God's empire; to be human, and yet a partaker of the divine nature—this it is to be a Christian. Oh, what a privilege is conferred upon us! This is one of our "vested rights." The great Lawmaker has made this special statutory provision in our favor. We have the right and privilege to be Christians, and they are inalienable, except by our own acts. And yet how many live, day after day, as if they had no such privilege—as if they had no right to be Christians! This is not only our right, but it is our only right under the law of the gospel. We have no right to be anything else. What man has a right to be wicked? Where does any one get the privilege to sin? It certainly does not come from the law of the gospel under which men are placed. There is no such privilege or right granted anywhere. It is our privilege and our first right to be Christians—true Christians, not false ones. We have no right to be tinsel Christians. We have no right to put on the gauzy frippery of external duty, but the robe of a whole-hearted righteousness. Nor can we be half Christians. There is no such thing as that. The first thing religion does for a man is to make him a new man, and it never half does its work. It never makes men half new. When a man is converted by the Spirit of God, the whole of him is converted. Mind, body, influence, money, are all turned into the channels which religion has opened for them. There is one fearful thought brought to view by our Savior in connection with privilege. Privileges augment responsibility. Where much is given much will be required. In the grant of the privilege to be a Christian everything is given, and in the final settlement between us and God much, yea, everything, will be required. If we would escape a fate more horrible than that of Sodom we must live up to our privilege, and be earnest, lowly, devout, loving Christians, avoiding "every appearance of evil," "in honor preferring one another," and "growing up into Jesus Christ in all things."

C. W. C.

The Blessed Servant.

The one chief demand—the one vital fact—in the Christian life is an earnest, persistent activity. There is no margin left on any page for idleness. All is to be filled up with work. This is an essential law of spiritual being. It is not only the demand of God's word, but the man's actual necessity. There is no space for laziness in any single department of life. Carelessness and indifference are a crime against nature. The law of labor prevails everywhere. Gold and silver are hid away, and sometimes deep down under the ground. It is only in sowing, and that in seed-time, that we can reap. The solid tree in the forest contains the material for the house. The "woe" of the prophet lies heavily upon those who are at "ease in Zion." In Zion is a "travailing" state, not one of ease. The normal condition is that of horror. "Horror hath taken hold upon me because of the wicked that forsake thy law." Nor need we be surprised at God's great concern in this matter. The strongest efforts of the Spirit are in the way of arousing the Christian's vocation in life. There are two great points to be gained in this: 1. The salvation of the individual man. 2. The salvation of others through him. "And they glorified God in me." Jesus meant more than that the man found "so doing" was blessed only in himself. Such, without doubt, are blessed in themselves—in their own souls. Such a man, doubtless, is "blessed" just in the same degree as if he was the only man on the earth. Still, in his faithfulness God is glorified, as he is a living comment on the truth. Let us briefly consider the blessedness of this faithful servant. "Blessed is that servant whom, when his Lord cometh, shall find so doing." He has the reward in himself of activity—"so doing." He was not found standing idle—not lying down, resting. Not simply waiting—but "so doing." He is found at work. He is true to his engagements. He is earnest in his activity. He is settled in his purpose. "So doing." This "so doing" is afterward explained as watching. "Watch, therefore, for ye know not," etc. "Be ye also ready," etc. He was watching. Watching is working. He was "ready." Readiness is working—is "so doing." He was "faithful." "Who, then, is that faithful servant?" etc. Not only faithful, but wise. "Who, then, is that faithful and wise servant?" etc. "Blessed is that servant whom his Lord, when he cometh, shall find so doing." There is a wide difference, yes, between "so doing" and professing to so do—between the form and the power. Neither the man himself nor the world around him finds any strength or help in the one. They together find all blessedness in the other. The one class is a failure, a religious dwarf. He has a name to live, but is dead. The other is all life.

We have in this lesson very strong reasons urging to faithfulness in "so doing." 1. That his Lord will come. There is no questioning here. There is no doubt arising. His Lord will come. He knows this. 2. With this certainty there is a dreadful uncertainty. He does not know when he will come. Be ye also ready, for ye know neither the day nor the hour, etc. There could be no excuse or apology for not "so doing"—even if the day and the hour were fixed. As it is, knowing that God is coming to him in judgment, and not knowing the day nor the hour, it is indeed a strange thing that man is not found always "so doing"—always "ready." But above these incentives there is an appeal to the manhood in man. There is an intense happiness, like a bright light, springing up in the life of every one from a consciousness of duty done. There is an ample reward, in all work, in an approving conscience. To know that one is living and acting from principle—not from fear or passion—is worthy the mightiest efforts of all. Our Lord now is away. But the charge is given us. We are to be "faithful" and found "so doing;" not alone to escape the Master's anger and to escape punishment, but from principle—doing right because it is right to do right. Right service is not an eye-service.

Wonderful arguments does God give us. Most wonderful appeals does he make to us.

We are not told how "blessed" the faithful servant. We suppose it was something beyond his telling or our understanding. Nor does he say how unblessed the one not found "so doing." In another place his words are strong, startling: "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom, but he that doeth," etc. Let us be true to God, true to man, true to self.

Teaching the Teachers.

The Sunday school teacher holds a most important position in the church. Upon their piety, intelligence and devotion depend the faithful instruction of the children in the doctrines of the Bible and Christian duty. It would be well for every pastor, if possible, to meet his superintendent and teachers once a week to study the lesson, and to give advice and instruction as to the best methods of teaching. The following, from the Christian Union, is suggestive:

WHO SHALL TEACH THE TEACHERS?—The Protestant Episcopal Sunday schools of the Diocese of Long Island seem to be more awake to the question of normal teaching than those of any other denomination. A month ago a convention was held in Brooklyn where this was the main topic presented. January 21 another convention was held in the same city, with the same drift of discussion. At this meeting the subject was ably treated by the Rev. Mr. Nock, pastor of St. Stephen's church. He holds that Sunday school teachers ought to be taught: 1. By the Holy Spirit. 2. In normal classes by instructors selected by the Bishop—the diocese to be divided into districts, and the teachers within each district to constitute one class. 3. By their own pastors. This Mr. Nock considers not only the most effective method of normal teaching, but an essential part of the pastor's functions.

"The pastor," he says, "should teach the teachers. His education and training give him a peculiar fitness for the duty. Hence, whatever or however pressing other duties may be, that of instructing the teachers of his Sunday school he ought never to set aside or neglect."

Rev. James G. Walker, writing from Seguin, Tex., February 4, says: "Rev. H. P. Bowen, formerly of the Mississippi Conference, died at his residence near Seguin, January 31, 1878. An obituary will be sent as soon as it can be prepared."

Bro. Bowen removed to Texas several years ago on account of his health. He was, we believe, threatened with consumption, and it is probable that he died of this disease. He was a good man and a useful preacher, and we have no doubt that his end was peace.

The question of a general European war trembles in the balance. Events, however, are rapidly approaching a crisis, and it would seem that in the course of a few days it must die must be cast either for peace or for a tremendous and gigantic struggle. Turkey is conquered, and the present indications are that the Sultan is disposed to form an alliance with the victorious Russians, and to cease to look to England for sympathy or succor. It is not probable that England, single-handed, will go to war with Russia, and at present there appears to be no assurance that any of the great powers will unite with her. If England insists upon sending her fleet to the Dardanelles, France, Austria and Italy will do the same; and if such a movement is determined on, Russia will probably occupy Constantinople and its defenses, and be able to hold it. The far Germany has maintained a strict neutrality, and Bismarck has given no intimation of the policy that will be pursued in case of a rupture between England and Russia. The object of the war, as defined by Russia, was the protection of the Christians of Turkey. This object now becomes a secondary consideration with the European governments. If Turkey is to be dismembered, each will naturally wish for a portion, or have the final settlement so adjusted that the interests of all shall be respected. England is jealous of the aggrandizement of Russia, because her Indian empire is threatened by it; and the other powers may also regard with apprehension any movement which gives Russia virtual control of the Turkish empire. If a general war ensues the Christians of Turkey will be lost sight of in the struggle for national power and domination among the contending governments. Such a war, on grounds of religion and humanity, is to be deprecated; but, should it come, it will possibly end in retiring the Turk from Europe, and in a readjustment of the political affairs of the world which will prove beneficial to mankind. The immediate effect of such a war upon us would be commercial business prostration, low prices for cotton, and higher prices for provisions.

St. Charles Avenue church of this city has enjoyed a large measure of spiritual prosperity since the beginning of the year. The pastor, Rev. John Hannon, assisted by other ministers of the city, has been holding services every night for more than a week past. The meeting has steadily grown in interest, and a most powerful refreshing has come upon the people. There have been a number of conversions and additions to the membership.

We deeply regret to learn, through her pastor, Rev. T. K. Fauntleroy, that Sister G. M. Hamilton died at the family residence on Bayou Boeuf, Lafourche parish, West Baton Rouge, La., on the fourth of February. Sister Hamilton was an exemplary Christian, and her death will be a heavy sorrow to her family and to the whole community in which she lived. An obituary has been received and will appear soon.

We regret to report, says the Richmond Episcopal Methodist of February 9, the extreme illness of Rev. Dabney Ball, D. D., presiding elder of the East Baltimore district. Dr. Ball has for some time been in a very feebled condition, and has for several days been confined to his room with an acute attack of heart disease. His condition is very critical, and, should he partially recover, he will in all probability not be able to resume active work. He has the sympathies and prayers of his brethren. May he who "healeth our diseases" restore him to health and useful labor, or sanctify his sickness to a still higher issue.

THE REVIVAL AT VISALIA.—The extraordinary revival of religious interest at Visalia, says the Pacific Methodist of February 1, continues with unabated vigor. On Friday last Rev. C. Chamberlain, of Santa Rosa, went to the help of the overworked and exhausted preacher in charge. We take heart of courage that these spontaneous and powerful exhibitions of divine favor and power continue to visit our land. It is like of the old time.

The Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng has resigned from the rectorship of St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church, New York. He has occupied the place thirty-three years, and has been prominently identified with all the great public movements of that period. The cause of his retirement is advanced age and impaired health. He becomes "pastor emeritus," with a life annuity from the church of $5,000. The Rev. Walter W. Williams, who has been acting as associate rector for two years, is named as his successor.

"FEED MY LAMBS."—Rev. Walter Featherstun, of the Los Angeles Conference, sends us a little catechism, designed to teach practical religion to children. It is published at Santa Ana, Cal.

Prayer is the pitcher that fetches water from the brook wherewith to water the herbs; break the pitcher and it will fetch no water, and the want of water the garden will wither.—John Bunyan.

MARVIN MEMORIAL.

. Christian Keener, Alexandria,
a.;
. Joel T. Daves, Shreveport, La.;
. P. H. Moss, Monroe, La.;
. J. J. Billingsley, Opelousas, La.;
. Alfrod E. Clay, Pattersonville, a., and
. James E. Bradley, Minden, La., requested to assist me in raising ections for the Marvin Memorial.
ies raising funds for said pur-in the portions of the State iguous to the above-mentioned es, will please turn over to the e-named brethren the amounts ected.
rculars in explanation of the ob-have been sent to the preach-and superintendents of Sunday ols, as far as we have their ad-ses.
ROBT. J. HARP,
Acting by request of Executive Committee.

hey tell the story that the little ghter of the Democratic candifor a local office in Saratoga nty, N.Y., was told to run and tell aunt that "Mr. Young has got nomination," and the little one d out: "O mamma, do they ever it?"

MARRIED.

S—BARWICK.—January 30, 1878, at the ce of the bride's father, near Newport, by Rev. W. C. Black, Mr. B. W. Dealn to lice Barwick.
AWAY—BICKHAM.—On the twenty-third uary, 1878, at the residence of the bride's
Mrs. Bickham, by Rev. R. A. Davis, Mr Allaway to Miss Mollie Bickham, all of parish, La.
ER—TWINER.—January 24, 1878, at the e of the bride's parents, by Rev. Ralph y, Mr. J. I. Miller to Miss M. J. Twiner, all , county, Miss.
LER—JAMES.—January 29, 1878, at the e of the bride's father, Mr. T. G. James, Tallahatchie county, Miss., by Rev. R.
Mr. Cass Miller and Miss Mary S. James,
Tallahatchie county.
D—ATHEY.—On the seventeenth of Janu-
, at the residence of the bride's father, in mery county, Miss., by Rev. L. Patterson, M. Lord to Miss L. L. Athey. The bridesubscribes for the ADVOCATE. The money ames the order.)

Publisher's Department.

LEVY'S PALAIS ROYAL.—Mr. s one of the largest stocks in the South, furnish all sorts of needed articles at the west prices. He pays particular attention country trade, whose orders he respectfully
. He has a large lot of ladies' wearing ap-rel which is worth seeing. Call on him. See advertisement.

HEELER AND WILSON.—This sewing machine still holds its own with
. It has all the modern improvements.
to get out of order, and is not at all mbrance by the most delicate lady. Mr.
will take pleasure in exhibiting its ad-to any and all. Call at 103 Canal street.

L. NAVRA'S CHINA PALACE.— desiring articles in any class of ware, and d elegant styles and workmanship, can ed to their tastes and means to the China of Mr. Navra, 129 Canal street. No matter ou may need in his line, he will furnish it, rantee you satisfaction.

AVELERS' OFFICIAL GUIDE.—
ons going away from New Orleans to any in this country or Canada cannot do better purchase a copy of this useful work before on their journey. It gives all the lines and the distance, besides much more of information.

ER.—Mr. J. M. Ball now occuold stand of J. S. Twomey, on Magazine, corner of Philip, where he keeps a large stock of goods. He will fill country or-reasonable prices, and will deliver goods to em at their residences free of drayage. See
.

TENTION is called to the adver-nt of E. Lilienthal, who offers his entire of jewelry for sale at cost. Mr. Lilienthal stock of jewelry, and those wishing to will find it to their interest to call at his Canal street.

Y GOODS.—To make room for ing goods, Mr. Braselman is anxious to t a large quantity of articles at very low . Reference to his advertisement on this will convince all of the cheapness of the offered.

A DEPOT.—Send your orders to ath, No. 5 Camp street. This gentleman is y reliable, and guarantees satisfaction to may favor him with their orders. See the tisement.

CHINERY.—Read the advertise-
Poole & Hunt, on the seventh page. This is one of the oldest in the country, and high in this section.

OTS AND SHOES.—For fine boots
oes of all kinds go to M. Andrieu, 179 Street. Country orders attended to and tion guaranteed.

NOTHING TO BE DESIRED.

ery odor made by Dr. Price has ollar sweetness characteristic of the flower which it is obtained, and are so chaste and o that their use really leaves nothing to be Dr. Price's handkerchief perfumes do who use them.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

V. T. P. CHILDS.—Our readers dice again the large double-column adver-nt in reference to a CATARRH CURE. Mr was for many years a great sufferers from ase, and at times despaired of his life. By nd experiments he discovered a system of thrivalsease, which has baffled the skill of ians for many years. Suffice it to say that emedy is recommended by every practitioner ose notice it has been brought. The cure is horough and scientific. Mr. Childs is the of a church, and has been drawn into the ssure of his Catarrh Cure by the calls from rs of friends who desired to be freed from loathsome disease, as well as by a desire on his to alleviate, as far as might be in his power, dering and distress of the Indian family.
Childs' reputation and character secure him fidence of his patrons, who are assured that are all dealing with a man that has a patent but a simple remedy. The success that has ed the introduction of Dr. Catarrh Spe-is wonderful. Mr. Childs has nearly six ed patients scattered over the country and ands more he has cured permanently. Read dvertisement carefully, and examine the ates.

FARMING PICTURES.—To intro-their goods J. L. Patten & Co., 162 William
, New York, will send a package of Rosalee Pictures, with illustrated catalogue, to reader of this paper who will send eight stamps to cover postage, etc. These s are highly colored, beautiful, and are transferred to any object, so as to imitate most beautiful painting. row

BUSINESS NOTICES.

ASK your druggist or dealer for a copy of Dr. Harter's Dutch-English Almanac for 1878. It is free to all, is full of valuable and important information, and should be in the hands of every one.

DR. HARTER'S LIVER PILLS have been used by the public for many years, and never has an instance come to our knowledge of their failing to relieve or restore to health the suffering sick when they have been thoroughly and faithfully used. For sale by all druggists.

OWATONNA, MINN., Sept. 20, 1877.

R. Mickel, General Agent, 114 La Salle Street, Chicago, Ill.—DEAR SIR: Please send us by express one dozen Blanchard's Tonic Extract of Wheat.

This is a good remedy. Our Dr. Harsha is using it with good effect. Yours, etc.,

HARSHA & TONALISON, Druggists.

See advertisement of the Blanchard Food Cure Company.

MR. GREY, of Jackson county, Miss., says: "I had a large Cancer, four years ago, removed by Dr. Grace, without the use of the knife, and with but little pain. I am now perfectly well." Card in this paper.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician, at 181 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. (who has paid special attention to nervous diseases), has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures the dance, either bilious, dyspeptic, hysteria or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are ordering by mail. He prepares it in pills at 50 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Episcopal Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent postage free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not freshen the skin, crap blister, or leave black spots on the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wolfe's Ague Preventive for Fever and Ague, Tonic is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Finny & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poison, whatever. For sale by all druggists.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CLEARANCE SALE

TO Make Room for Spring Goods.

BARGAINS IN DRESS GOODS.
Black and Colored Alpacas at 15c.
French Cashmeres at 50c
BARGAINS IN HOSIERY.
Ladies' full-finished Hose at 25c.
Misses' full-finished Hose at 15c.
BARGAINS IN HANDKERCHIEFS.
Hemstitched Linen Handkerchiefs at 75c a dozen.
BARGAINS IN LINEN GOODS.
4-4 Irish Linens, good quality, at 25c.
Fine Linen Shirt Fronts at 75c.
Huck Towels, extra large, at $1 50 a dozen.
BARGAINS IN WHITE GOODS.
Real India Mulls at 10, 12½, and 15c, slightly soiled, and sold at half price.
BARGAINS IN EVENING DRESS GOODS.
Eight Colored Grenadines at 15c.
White Barlatans at 12½c.
Figured Parisians at 25c.
Colored Satins at 50c, a yard.
BARGAINS IN MOURNING GOODS.
Black Lustrines, all wool, at 30c a yard.
Black French Merinos, extra fine, at 50c.
JUST RECEIVED.
Choice Spring Calicoes at 5c.
Solid Colored Sorges and Lenos at 10c.
Mohair Plaids at 20c.
New Spring Percales at 10c.
And a full stock of Bobbinet Mosquito Nettings and Marseilles Counterpanes.
A full Bobbinet Bar for 75c.
A Heavy 4-4 Counterpane for $1.25.

J. A. BRASELMAN,

586 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 586
Corner St. Andrew.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT.

Edward Lilienthal, Jeweler, 95 Canal street, will sell at cost during the current month his entire stock of Diamonds, American and Imported Watches, fine Jewelry, Silverware, Silver-Plated Ware, Clocks, and any article in his line, being recent selections for the retail trade in this city. Every article will be guaranteed to be as represented. His old customers and the public generally are invited to call.

J. M. BALL,

DEALER IN

Staple and Fancy Groceries,

TEAS, COFFEE, SUGAR, BUTTER, STARCH, Soap, and everything appertaining to a FIRST-CLASS GROCERY.

Corner Philip and Magazine Streets.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Goods delivered free to all parts of the city.

Mark Twain Unrivalled. FRANZ LISZT.

ALL World's Exhibitions OF RECENT YEARS:

Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; Santiago, 1875; Philadelphia, 1876,

HAVE AWARDED THEIR

HIGHEST HONORS

TO THE

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

FOR

Demonstrated Superiority.

NEW STYLES at reduced prices, from $47 up-ward. FIVE PRIZE FIVE OCTAVE, DOUBLE REED, $60. NINE STOPS, $105. In ELEGANT WALNUT CASE, NEW STYLE, $135. In JET AND BEIGE BRONZE, $155. Sold also for installments, or rented until fully pays. A small organ of best quality may be obtained by payments of $7 50 per quarter. For the quarters ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES and PRICE LISTS free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,

154 Tremont St., 25 Union Sq., 250 Wabash Ave.,
BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

ORGANS Superb $310 Organs, only $85. Pianos, Retail price by other manufacturers $900, only $260. Beautiful $800 Pianos, $175. Same size, Compared to days' test trial. Other bargains want them introduced. Agents wanted. Paper free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, PIANOS Washington, New Jersey.

EPILEPSY or FITS CURED!

By Dr. Ross' Epileptic Remedies. TRIAL PACKAGE Sent Free. Cures speedy, absolute and permanent. Address ROSS BROS., No. 51 Main St., RICHMOND, IND.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED.

MY EXPERIENCE.

Eighteen years of terrible Headache, disgusting Nasal Discharges, Dryness of the Throat, Acute Bronchitis, Coughing, Soreness of the Lungs, raising Bloody Mucus, and even Night Sweats, incapacitating me for my professional duties, and bringing me to the verge of the grave—ALL caused by and the results of NASAL CATARRH. After spending hundreds of dollars, and obtaining no relief, I compounded my CATARRH SPECIFIC AND COLD AIR INHALING BALM, and wrought upon myself a wonderful cure. Now I can speak for hours with no difficulty, and can breathe freely in any atmosphere. At the calls of numerous friends I have given my cure to the public, and have now thousands of patients in all parts of the country, and thousands of happy fellow-beings whose sufferings I have relieved. My cure is certain, thorough and perfect, and is indorsed by EVERY PHYSICIAN who has examined it. If I can relieve my fellow-beings as I have been relieved of this loathsome disease, making the possession at once disgusting to himself and others, I shall be satisfied, and feel that I have done my little toward removing the ills of mankind.

REV. T. P. CHILDS.

A DANGEROUS DISEASE!

CATARRH is a dangerous disease! Yet it can be cured by the use of my "Catarrh Specific." Thousands suffer without knowing the nature of this almost universal complaint. It is an ulceration of the head. Its indications are hawking, spitting, weak, inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, dry and heat of the nose, matter running from the head down the throat, often ringing or deafness in the ears, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness and dizziness of the head, often in its first stages, but more commonly in its advanced stages. Pain, often settling in the left side, and under the shoulder blades. Indigestion usually attends Catarrh, a hacking cough and colds are very common. Sometimes all these symptoms, at others only a few. Very little pain attends Catarrh until the Liver and the Lungs are attacked, in consequence of the stream of pollution running from the head into the stomach. It ends in CONSUMPTION.

The Legitimate Child of Catarrh is Bronchitis.

Beginning in the head, Catarrh, Troches and all palliatives can do no possible good, when the ulcerated cancer in the head, whence the poisoned, festering, corrosive matter issues, scabs, or dries of any kind, always draws, rules and never cures the Catarrh. All such persons catch cold easily, and have frequently a running at the nostrils; the breath sometimes reveals to all around the corruption and decay the patient has frequently lost all sense of smell. The disease advances cautiously, no pain in the chest, lung or bowels startles him. He hacks, and coughs, has Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and is urged by his doctor to take this or that patent Sarsaparilla or Cod Liver Oil preparation. Directly ridiculous! The foul ulcers in the head exhaust the system by pouring such foul stuff into the poor jaded stomach. The patient becomes nervous, the voice is harsh and guttural, he feels disheartened, memory loses her power, old, gray hair, specks, gloomy forebodings hang overhead; hundreds, yea, thousands, have expressed to me that to die would be a relief, and many do even cut the thread of life short by suicide. There is one other form of Catarrh that I must just refer to. A hacking cough, the excess of blood gushing from the lungs at night sweats, all signs of the fourth stage of Catarrh, Consumption. Neglected when it is curable, very soon it will run its course to the grave. Many of these cases, if taken in time, with a few months' use of my Catarrh Specific, afford a safe cure and positive cure.

Cleanse and Heal—My Motto.

Cleanse and heal is my motto, and at the same time one of the six remedies I send brings up the ulceration through the nostrils, and thus prevents it from running down the throat and into the stomach. By so keeping the nostrils clear of matter, and of applying the three remedies, they speedily heal, and heal permanently. Also for weak eyes, Colds, Headache and Neuralgia are speedily relieved.

This disease can be cured in early life, as I can look back a few years—perhaps only months—when it was curable. Neglected when it could possibly very soon it will run its course to the grave. Many of these cases, if taken in time, with a few months' use of my Catarrh Specific, afford a safe cure and positive cure.

100,000 Die from Consumption.

More than 100,000 die annually from Consumption in these United States, and a careful calculation has segregated the startling fact that fully 50,000 of these cases were caused by Catarrh in the head, and I do not know of a case in connection with hereditary causes. A large share of these cases might have been cured. Many of them were in the morning of life, and their young hearts now cold in the consumptive's grave—struggled hard against the vile enemy that laid them low.

Physicians' Testimony.

This certifies that the undersigned are acquainted with Rev. T. P. Childs, and believe him to be reliable and truthful; and that his mode of treating Catarrh is quite new and effectual in breaking up and curing it, and indeed it seems to be the only mode likely to effect a complete cure.

J. H. COPEN, M. D., Troy, Ohio.
JOSIAH HEED, M. D., Troy, Ohio.

☞ Either of the above-named physicians can be consulted by letter or otherwise.

Be Cautious.

Five years ago, when I first announced to the World that "Catarrh could be cured," it was the only announcement of the kind then to be found. All, or nearly all, the physicians in the land scouted such a boast. A few snuffs could be had at drug stores, labeled "Catarrh snuff." "Catarrh cure." Many learned lawyers who had advertised their "blisters" and "plasters," an engraving of all sizes, and claimed for them almost miraculous power to cure almost any disease, slip into their catalogue "CATARRH." Is not this an afterthought? Do they not, to engage their medicines to suit the development of Nasal Catarrh, which has but recently become prevalent? Be not deceived!

Special Remarks.

This specific is regarded by the best of physicians as being the most complete system for the treatment of Nasal Catarrh ever devised. Indeed there does not appear to be anything lacking in its perfect adaptation to the horrid disease, but all of its loathsome, painful and dangerous developments. It is really two systems harmoniously combined: for, in addition to the regular treatment for Catarrh in the nasal passages, it includes a fine system for inhaling warm medicated vapor, and for passing it all along the air-pipes, and even along the eustachian tubes, without pain or difficulty.

NO ONE MEDICINE

can by any possibility cure Catarrh when it spreads, as above described, through the nasal passages, throat and bronchial pipes. Here lies the secret of the unparalleled success of my treatment. Some of the six excellent Catarrh medicines which I send, or all combined, are just sure to follow it into all of its hiding-places, search it out and destroy it, no matter where located. All but taken now where the medicated water cannot go to cure, then the case is hopeless.

The following are taken from thousands of testimonials in my possession:

Boston Testimony.

William Cutler, 9 W. Dedham St., Boston, Mass., writes under date of Feb. 12, 1877: "I would here state that my daughter has used your Catarrh Remedy about four weeks with me, and considers herself well, and I have myself and family used it, and consider myself half well. In answer to inquiry from a gentleman who thinks personally of consulting you for Catarrh, I reply, I have spoke of these facts to him. In asking God I ever got hold of V. P. Childs' Catarrh Remedy."

The following voluntary notice appeared in the Boston CONGREGATIONALIST of January 3d, 1877:

The publishers of the ——, with multitudes of other people, are somewhat skeptical of patent medicine, as a rule, and when we received the large (two column) advertisement that may be seen on another page, we at first laid it aside unlooked for, but on making inquiry we received such satisfactory replies and one especially from a well known Congregational pastor not far from Rev. Mr. Childs, the proprietor of the most prominent kind, that we decided to look at the advertisement carefully, and examine the several notices. Mr. Childs has been drawn into the manufacture of this Catarrh cure by the calls from friends who desired relief from their infirmities.

My Daughter is Cured.

Rev. T. P. CHILDS—Dear Sir: I should have written before on long ago to let you know what a great medicine your Catarrh Specific is. My daughter is cured.

L. P. JAMES.

Cedar Cincinnati, Kentucky.

Judge J. Collett, of Troy, O., writes: "You well remember how terribly Catarrh had taken hold upon me at the time you were at my house, making me miserable to myself and to all around, and wasting away day and night. I began to use your excellent remedy about the twenty-sixth of August. Now I am cured—head free, air passages all open, and breathing natural. I express to you again what I said in a recent letter: A thousand thanks to you for so sure a remedy, and so very cheap." I have laid away the instrument, having no further occasion to use it. Here in about six weeks I have accomplished what you thought could be gained in from three to six months."

Late Testimonials.

Dr. T. P. CHILDS—Dear Sir: I am happy to inform you that your medicines have acted beyond our most sanguine expectations. Your inhaling instruments and Balm have all aided the great control. In fact they have accomplished wonders to my case. When I commenced their use I was almost totally deaf. In ten days' time I could hear tolerably well, and my hearing is continually improving. I am very truly your friend, BRAZORIA, Texas Dec. 2, 1876. JOHN H. WALLACE.

Mrs. Gates, of Meadville, Va., says in a recent letter: "I would not take a thousand dollars for the benefit I have derived from your specific."

Mrs. Elizabeth Lee, of Concord, Va., in a letter dated Nov. 4, 1876, says: "I have never paid out money for anything in all my life that has given me such satisfaction as your medicines."

A Case of Catarrhal Consumption Cured.

Rev. T. P. CHILDS—Dear Friend: I had been confined to my room seven weeks. I was given up by my friends, soon to fill a consumptive's grave. Had a distressing cough, and no suffering, so that I could not lie down without the greatest distress to my lungs. I had lost all sense of smell and hearing, and my head was one mass of misery. My friends decided to try the use of your treatment, which I commenced with but little hope, as I had been under the care of several doctors for nine Winters, all of whom said I had the consumption. But I began to commend immediately. They (the pellets) cease to accumulate, and the inhaling Balm soon relieved my lungs, and I passed the winter quite comfortably, and have been moving all summer, and am now in good health. Enough no stoppage of the air passages, no soreness of the lungs. I do not know of such a case at all. I thank the Lord that I ever ordered your medicine, and shall ever pray for your success. Truly your friend, LUKE SCHENCK, Howard, Co., Iowa. RACHEL STEWART.

Little Children.

The undersigned has invented a neat contrivance, by which little children can be treated successfully, and the nasal passage kept open, and cold not only warded off, but broken up when committed, and thus settled Catarrh prevented.

Conclusion.

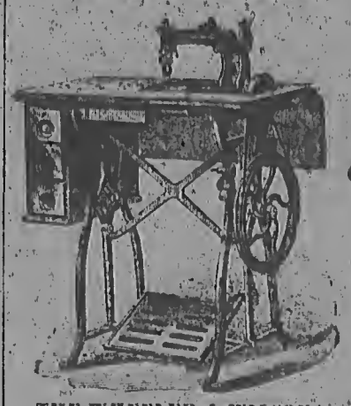
Everything known to be great in the treatment of Nasal Catarrh, Throat, Bronchial or Lung diseases combined in one grand system. Two of the best inhalants in the world, and the instruments with which to use them, in each full set, so that, with the Catarrh Specific, the enemy can be attacked all along the line, morning, noon and night, and the fight kept up all through the day, without trouble. One of my inhaling Balms produces a quicker circulation, carries the blood to the surface, and then it is quite impossible to take cold. This is fully one-half of the battle. An ounce of prevention is worth fifty pounds of cure in this case.

Do not trifle with some cheap thing which at best can afford but temporary relief, while the roots of the vile disease are left to strike deeper and deeper. Be in earnest and determined, or do nothing! Write at once and say what paper you saw this in. Circulars, price lists and all necessary information can be had by addressing (with return stamp)

REV. T. P. CHILDS, TROY, OHIO.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90. "	50.
" 85 "	35.
" 80 "	10.
" 75 "	85.
" 70 "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,400,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle.
It never cuts the thread of goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no many complicated wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss.

OFFICE AND SALE-ROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 8p

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot and evolves from the imperfect combustion, with their eight properties to check and arrest perspiration, and also prepared as to render them damp proof, and for Rheumatism and Cold Feet they are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pairs sent to any address, by mail, on receipt of 65 cents. In ordering state size and whether for lady or gentleman. S. TUTTLE & SONS, 323 Arch St., Philadelphia.

THE WONDERFUL PEN-HOLDER!

NO INK REQUIRED.—We have invented and patented, July 17, 1877, a Pen-Holder which contains Solidified Ink, to last years, and with which one can write a thousand pages. Once dipping in WATER will write a page! Sample, post-paid, 25 cents. Or Pen-Holder and box of six extra Inks, 50 cents. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment.

J. T. HILLYER, 206 Broadway, N. Y.

☞ The Cincinnati Chronicle of Sept. 5, 1877, says: "It will at once be seen that the writer is a practical penman, and that with one of these pens and even ordinary ink he can write a beautiful hand." 5p

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1865.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are:

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2 50 to $8.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.

MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1 50 to $15 a suit.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set (Cape and Muff) to $50.

Extra Large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1 50 to $30.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article on it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LONG LOOKED FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the prices. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

FRENCH MILLINERY,

BERLIN ZEPHYR WORSTED,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL,

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the Beautiful Stock of Millinery, selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr, Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 8p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any Disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.,

AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 8p

HARTER'S BERGEN COD LIVER OIL

AND

Soluble Phosphate of Lime,

Always fresh. Prepared by

FREDRICHSON & HARTE,
139 Canal street.

AT

NAVRA'S

CHINA PALACE!

THE LARGEST & BEST ASSORTED

Crockery Store in the South,

YOU CAN PURCHASE

French China, Stone China,

GLASSWARE,

CUTLERY, SILVER-PLATED WARE

AND

GENERAL

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS

Cheaper than in Any Other Store

IN THE CITY.

☞ No trouble to show goods nor to answer inquiries as to prices.

M. L. NAVRA,

129 CANAL STREET (COURO BUILDING.)

NEW ORLEANS, LA. 5p

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST

DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Crib, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots to full size Beds; 1,000 feet.

General Agency for Southern States—19 COMMERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

CINDERELLA

SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK.

No. 503 Magazine Street,

Between Hesselman's and Adams'.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in Northern markets, with careful attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable; made, as they are, expressly for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and BEAR, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. FLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and one price shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,
8p Manufacturer and Dealer.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Lapierre's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 24 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Middle depot, DuBose & Co., 30 Water St.; St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 5p

WHEELER & PIERSON,

Successors to Peirson & Hess,

NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,

Opposite the City Hotel,

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

Farm, Garden and Household.

HINTS ABOUT FRUIT-TREES.

Many complain of the struggle with insects and fungoid diseases. Some of this may be cured by washing trees in the winter season. Under glass, the best peach and grape-growers would never think of letting the season go over without washing the trunks, after pruning, with a mixture of soot, sulphur and lime. If the bark, as in the grape, be loose, it is stripped off first. It is just the same benefit to wash young orchard-trees.

It will be well to note what has been said about linseed oil destroying some trees. There is no doubt but it will destroy scale and improve the health of the trees; but in a few cases it has been destructive, evidently from the use of mineral oil and not pure linseed. The purity of the article should be ascertained. Trees that have suffered badly from scale often get hide-bound. A slitting up and down with the pruning knife will set them on their feet again.

This is generally supposed to be the pruning season. Orchard-trees generally get too much pruning. In young trees only thin out, so as not to have the main leaders crossing or interfering with one another. Or when a few shoots grow much stronger than the rest, cut these away. Insist on all the branches in young trees growing only on a perfect equality. On older trees, which have been in bearing a number of years, it will often be best to cut away a large portion of the bearing limbs. By a long series of bearings, branches will often get bark bound and stunted, thereby preventing the free passage of the sap to the leaves. In such cases the sap seems to revenge itself by forcing out vigorous young shoots a long way down from the top of the tree. It is down to these vigorous young shoots that we would cut the bearing branches away. One must use his own judgment as to the advisability of this. If the tree bears as fine and luscious fruit as ever, of course no such severe work need be done; but if not, then now is the time.

And, above all, look after the nutrition of the trees. Some people say that land which will raise good corn will grow good fruit-trees, which is all right; but they should add that like corn, they require regular and continuous manuring. There are some parts of the country where corn can be successively taken for half a lifetime without manure. On these soils we need not manure fruit-trees, but in all others we must, to have good results. This is particularly essential where trees are grown in grass, as both the trees and the grass require food. Where trees are grown in grass, we prefer top-dressing in June or July; but if it has not been done then do it now. Where trees are kept under clean surface-culture, the manure is of course plowed or harrowed in, with the rest in the spring of the year. To know whether trees require manure or not, ask the leaves. If in July they are of a dark, rich green, nothing need be done to them; but if they have a yellowish cast, longer is what is the matter. This, of course, is supposing they are not infested by borers, in which case they will be yellowish in the richest soil.—Gardener's Monthly.

TURKEY AS INSECT-DESTROYERS.—The first summer I spent two months in the country. On the farm there were a number of turkeys. The neighbors suffered a loss in their potato patches by the ravages of the potato bug; men and boys were in the field daily, from morning until night, killing them with Paris green, and by hand, while on the place where I was staying comparatively little damage was done, although the potato bug made its appearance. They were destroyed daily by a number of turkey hens and their young, that spent a portion of each day in the potato patch. All farmers should keep turkeys. They are great foragers, and will destroy thousands of insects that, if permitted to live, would do incalculable injury to the growing crops. Turkeys and Guinea fowls I consider two essentials on every farm. They will not only make you money by their increase, but save you money, time and trouble by destroying myriads of insects that infest the farm.—Southern Poultry Farmer.

WASH FOR FRUIT-TREES.—The Practical Farmer, speaking of a wash for bodies of fruit-trees, recommends the following: One quinine of copperas to eight or ten gallons of water forms a good wash, and is advised as a preventive against blight. One pound of bleacher's soda and one gallon of water forms a wash that cleans off all insects, and leaves the trees with fresh, young-looking, healthy bark.

SPANISH CREAM.—One box of gelatine soaked in a large cup of milk or water; one quart of milk boiled and poured into it; then beat the yolks of eight eggs and add to the gelatine, with one and a half cups of sugar. Let it thicken as for custard. Beat the whites of the eggs in a dish, and pour in the custard; mix well; flavor with lemon or vanilla, and let it cool in the mold.

This passionate cry to be made happy is very often an ill-disguised selfishness. And often, when men think that they have their answer and their blessing, there is delusion and damage. It is so easy to mistake getting happy for substantial religious progress. Alas! it is as often followed by spiritual exhaustion as invigoration.

NOT SURPRISED.

When we consider the little attention paid to the laws of health we are not surprised at the indifference manifested in relation to the purity of daily food. If all articles were like Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder this indifference might suffice, their perfect wholesomeness would insure us against all evil consequences.

MEDICAL.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Rogers, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers Internal or External, any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism, it will

After Taking, collect the feverishness of the body. Taking

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any feverish poisonous inflammatory action that may exist in the system. When you take a tea-spoonful, it is taken up by the absorbent vessels in the stomach, follows and destroys any poisonous elements in the ducts and blood vessels, relieves the causes of Chills and their accompanying diseases.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY has cause to rejoice. This new discovery of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will relieve, and many an anxious countenance, during Chills, Shake, Ague, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, price $1.00; also Powder, to Dissolve it ourselves, sent by mail all over the world at $1.00 per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!
To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat

Before Taking or Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules.—They are sugar-globules, containing a medicine. As rapidly as the globules dissolve in your mouth, the saliva acting on the medicine in the globules it generates a healing vapor which is inhaled, to locate every vein in the Lungs and Throat by the Glands in the Throat, the diseases of the Lungs must cease. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLean's COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES of Consumption, Coughing, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Colds, Sore and Weak Throat or Lungs yield to their wonderful Magic Influence. Trial boxes by mail all over the world, 25 cts. per box. Postage stamps will be received for Cents.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

In the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the nerves in the Nose, Throat or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, set it on the sore parts. In contact Before Taking with the disease in the Nose, Throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chilblains, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the ill-seases. It will absorb the poison out of every diseased part to be cured. Trial boxes by mail.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

nrm

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians.
Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Fever & Ague, and Mind Colic.
THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, and Indigestion.
THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Regular Habits.
THEY ACT on the Blood, and remove all Impurities.
THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Disease.
THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.
THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the body.
THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.
THEY ARE Invaluable for Female Irregularities.
THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.
THEY ARE Harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

(Six miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

Refer to Capt. A. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Virginia, state Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Chunchula, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Manilla, Ala.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,

NO. 275 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,

Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1089.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord $6.00
OAK Wood per Cord ..... $ 5.00
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord ..... $ 5.50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. RADELAT, Agent.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES

NO. 155 CAMP STREET.

THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give me a call and see for yourselves.

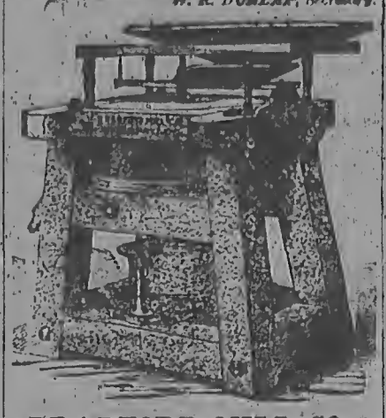
Furnishing lines, by storage. Repairing done at lowest rates. All kinds of upholstering promptly attended to. Mattresses made to order, especially.

HENRY PEROFF,
155 Camp Street.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

J. F. STEWART, President. W. R. DUNLAP, Secretary.



BRADFORD MILL CO.,

Successors to JAS. BRADFORD & CO.,

Improved Under-Runner Mills.

PATENTED DECEMBER 5, 1876.

FRENCH BURR MILL STONES, Portable Corn and Flour Mills, Smut-Machines, Bolting Chests, and dealers in genuine Dutch Anchor Bolting Cloths, and general Mill Furnishers. Send for price list. Office and Factory—458 W. SECOND STREET, CINCINNATI, O.

BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale of cotton.

BEVERS CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IF IN FLAT TIES.

Send for circular containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS.

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh ground daily.

Flour delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rate.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 CAMP STREET,

AMERICAN and FOREIGN

WATCHES,

DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE.

AT LOWEST PRICES.

Special attention to Watch-Repairing.

Dunbar's Wonderful Discovery.

BETHESDA WATER.

On and from this date I have appointed

L. C. Arny,

Nos. 26, 28 and 30 Iberville Street, N. O., my General Agent for New Orleans and the State of Louisiana for the sale of the celebrated Bethesda Water of Waukesha, Wis. It is the acknowledged cure of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Liver and all urinary diseases.

Call for certified pamphlets and directions for using the Bethesda Water at my General Agent's office. RICHARD DUNBAR

WAUKESHA, Wis., Jan 28, 1878.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55

NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN

OF ALL KINDS.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Gaynett's Breech and Muzzle-Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial Baits. Address Postoffice Box 1589.

FREDERICK GOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

LARD OIL AND STEARINE.

Improved Machinery this day. Also Mineral Lard Oil and extra Clarified Cotton Seed Oil constantly on hand. 116 PETERS AND 46 COMMERCE STREET, New Orleans.

A GREAT INVENTION.—DUMAN'S PATENT CORN MILL. This is the only mill ever invented that will make grits and meal at the same time with one operation direct from the corn. It will also grind Cotton Seed with the hull or divest from the glu. Capacity, 20 bushels per hour. Price, only $6! Call and see it now in operation, or send for illustrated circular, at No. 172 Magazine street, near corner of Julia street, New Orleans. E. TOLMAN, Patentee and Proprietor.

J. F. ROHRBACHER,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

227 ..... CAMP STREET 227

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best manufacturers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's home made Congress Boots at $4.50.

HEATH PIPPEY & LARA,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS: Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Cheniles, Fringes, Ties, etc.

Curtains made to order, especially.

No. 90 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Dr. LANZAC,

DEALER IN

DRUGS AND MEDICINES,

Hordon's Effective Thayer's Fluid Extracts, Mallé's Nux and subphuric Acids, Leeches, French Patent Medicines, etc., etc.

53 A, 55 Customhouse St., New Orleans.

All goods at lowest market prices.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARSDEN'S

Pectoral Balm!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, COLDS,

AND

CONSUMPTION.

FINLAY & THOMPSON,

SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Attention, Country Readers!

SPECIAL BARGAINS IN

DRESS GOODS, BLANKETS,

SHAWLS, FLANNELS, WOOLEN GOODS, HOSIERY, COTTONS, ETC.

BLACK GOODS.

Extraordinary Inducements in this department, consisting of Black Silks, Merinoes, Bareges, Delaines, Examines, Alpacas, Mohair, Empress Cloth, Crepe, etc.

Also White and Printed Linen Towels, Damasks, Marseilles Quilts, Nottingham Laces, French Embroidered Curtains, etc.

PEPIN & BROUSSARD

154 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE

SOUTHERN BELLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

DEVOTED TO

Fashion, Instruction and Amusement.

Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 CANAL ST.

Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 20 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal Street, New Orleans, General Agent for the Old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.

MADAME FRICKE

begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove, on the

FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,

from her present residence, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over the vestibule of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice and in the latest styles. Respectfully,

K. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union.

NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Shelton Lap Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

MAKE $100

per MONTH Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed; and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,

275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,

Chicago, Illinois.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (long expected) has delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. Its Breech Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 70 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded at no higher prices owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

9 Decatur (Old L. Vee) St., opp. Postoffice.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at Wholesale and retail.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

159 ..... CANAL ST. 159

keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, of all sizes and lengths. Jewelry, Ladies' Combs, and Hair Ornaments etc., made up in all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Fans. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

WHOEVER

Appreciates Honest Dealing!

Will do well to call at

S. EHRLICH'S

CLOTHING HOUSE

214 Charles St., New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

BRITANIA STREET, CORNER URANIA,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the Circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

GEO. J. PROFF, Principal,
P. O. Box 475, New Orleans, La.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.

153 ..... Camp Street 153

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

H. B. HESSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,

NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Camp sts., New Orleans.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,

37 CARONDELET STREET.

EXTRACT FROM THE

ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,

NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877 ..... $267,767 19
Losses paid within the year 229,557 73

Cash Dividends for the Year:

Interest (semi-annually) ..... 10 per Cent.
Premiums ..... 20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877 ..... $1,282,908 00

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium.

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John I. Noble,	T. Lyell, Lyon,
John Chaffe,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Richard Milliken,	Joseph McEnery,
John L. Warren,	Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner,	R. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander,	Wm. C. Black,
A. A. Yates,	Charles Chaffe,
John I. Adams,	L. C. Jurey,
Isaac Schierek,	Wm. Hartwell,
R. M. Walmsley,	C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May,	A. T. Janin,
S. H. Snowden,	Jos. Bowling,
	A. McBickham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,

89 ..... CAMP STREET 91

BRANCH STORE—597 MAGAZINE ST.,

WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.

NEW ORLEANS,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE!

BUILDERS' HARDWARE,

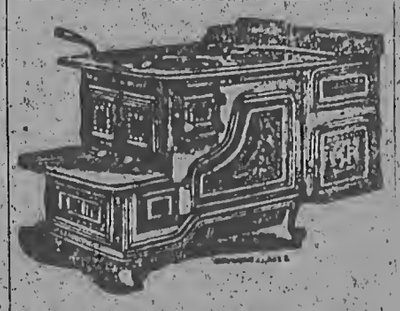
GRATES, CUTLERY, ETC.

STOVES AND RANGES,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE

CHARTER OAK STOVE.



The Celebrated Stewart Stove.

IMPROVED PATTERN OF 1878.

THE best Cook Stove in the world. Will last twenty years and do more work with less consumption of fuel than any other Stove that was ever made. Power to repair old Stewart Stoves always on hand.

L. H. CAMPMAN,

133 Poydras St., Agent for Louisiana.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Grist's Patent Adjustable CORSET, universally approved, and is graduated to suit all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH made by agents selling the Buckeye Stationery Package, Buckeye Casket, 20x11 Chromos, Magic Portemonnaie (patented), Lady's Combination Pen Holder, Mother Tubes, Magical Patenting Plate, Fob Lamp Wick, Machine Needles, Assortments, Notices, Cheap Jewelry, Pattern Sheets free. BUCKEYE NOVELTY CO., Cincinnati, O.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove or forfeit $1,000. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHILDS & CO., 218 Fulton street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 50 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted, most liberal terms. Particulars free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND

FANCY GOODS!

EMBRACING

All the Latest Novelties and Patterns

OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE and is sufficiently extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, enables me to purchase all goods from first hands, thus securing not only a choice, but the very lowest figures, and hence I can offer

BARGAINS

Both in Price and Quality of Goods,

that will suit the purse and captivate the taste.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. H. HARDON,

Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans,
Second door above Customhouse.

HENRY DE VERGES, RICHARD DE VERGES,
F. N. DE VERGES.

H. DeVERGES & CO.,

HARDWARE,

17 ..... DECATUR ST. 19

Opposite Postoffice, New Orleans.

Importers and Dealers in Iron, Nails, Cutlery, Guns, Agricultural Implements, Oils, Paints, Coal Screen Plows, etc.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no two alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

JUST PUBLISHED.

The Paragon of Holiday-Books for Musical People.

"THE GREAT TONE-POETS"

BEING SHORT MEMOIRS OF THE GREATER COMPOSERS.

By F. Crowest.

A valuable, convenient and beautiful work to place in the hands of readers: a perfect compendium of information on, critical comments upon, and their works. The volume contains brief sketches of the following composers and their works:

Bach, Handel, Gluck, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Rossini, Schubert, Mendelssohn and Schumann.

Nothing could be of greater service to the musical student than this elegant work.

Bound in Cloth, $1.50.

Sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.

Published by

JOHN CHURCH & CO.,

CINCINNATI, OHIO,

And 805 Broadway, New York.

National Sunday School Papers.

The Sunday School World.—A Monthly Journal, 16 pages, quarto; contains THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS, by JOHN HALL, D. D., of New York, and other matter for teachers. Only 50 cents a year. Five copies, to one address, $2.25; ten copies, $4.50; twenty copies, $8.50; postage paid.

INTERNATIONAL Lesson Papers for Scholars.—1. Advanced, 2 Intermediate, 3 Primary, with pictures. Each, 10 cents per quarter; 40 cents per year.

Quarterly Review Papers on the International Lessons.—1. Large Review, printed on sheets 38 by 5 feet, in large type, to be viewed by the whole school. 40 cents per year. 2. The Superintendent's Paper. 3. The Scholar's and Teacher's Review, 16 pages, 8vo, 10 cents per quarter; 40 cents per year.

The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by Mrs. RICHARD NEWTON, D. D. 16 pages, 4to, published monthly; 12 copies to one address monthly, $1. By the quarter, 3 copies to one address monthly, $.25. Single subscription, 25 cents monthly, 70 cents semi-monthly.

Catalogues and specimen copies of publications furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions to the Society's periodicals, as follows:

A. KIRKPATRICK, 1124 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
G. S. SCOFIELD, 5 and 16 Bible House, New York.
J. A. CROWELL, 7 Boylston Street, Boston.
W. B. FORT, Randolph, Four Miles South of St. Paul, or 207 N. Sixth street, St. Louis.

Ten copies and upwards to the address of each subscriber.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTORY AND WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

L. H. CHRISTESON,

successor to

SAMPSON, BROS.,

89, 101 and 103 Customhouse St.

MANUFACTURER OF CATAFALQUES

FURNITURE

OF ALL STYLES AND DESCRIPTIONS.

New and Elegant Designs guaranteed to be at the LOWEST POSSIBLE RATES. Country Orders solicited and promptly executed.

MATTRESSES, Hair and Spring, of the best quality.

KIRKWOOD

The best, only safe and reliable remedy for the treatment of Catarrh, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, of all ages generally.

Price, $2.00 and $3.00. For pamphlets, address, etc.,

E. FOUGERA & CO.,
30 NORTH WILLIAM ST.,
NEW YORK.

INHALE

Boys and Girls

FAMILY PRINTER

Do Your Own Printing

Outfits from $1

GOLDING & CO., Manufacturers, Fort Hill Square, Boston.

LADIES' ELEGANT JET CHARMS, ETC.

DROPS lent to Exhibitors.

POSTAGE STAMPS AS CASH.

F. STOCK,
27 Bond Street.

Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, reduced.

Murder, Lust, Theft

TYPE FOUNDERS

CHICAGO

Have the largest and most complete Foundry in the West. Offer the best quality of metal. Estimates cheerfully furnished on application. Goods shipped C. O. D. Complete outfits supplied on short notice.

OFFICE ST. BERNARD COAL CO.,

Carondelet street, New Orleans, ...

NOTICE.—The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL, for fall and winter supply, at following rates, delivered in any portion of the city:

Families .....
Steam .....
Dealers (hauling themselves) .....
Country orders solicited.

W. S. CAMPBELL, Agent.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET,

CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvets, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—Scrolls, White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in Variety.
BUREAUS, Table and Enamel Cloths.

A. BROOKS.

SAM. HENDERSON,

Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,

48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans.

Refers on Grange to the Editor and at Grange

MISCELLANEOUS.

ontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

NER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LES, GENT'S, MISSES AND CHILDREN'S

OOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

...ays on hand a full assortment of the articles ... at prices which defy competition. Call and ... stock before purchasing elsewhere. ... MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits." ... railroad cars pass in front of the store.

MERCIER & SONS,

MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'

LOTHING!

...TS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.,

Dauphine and Bienville Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

...rs from Country Merchants promptly exe... on the most reasonable terms.

M. H. APPLEGATE,

LUMBER,

AND DEALER IN

...KING RANGES AND BOILERS,

...tubs, Water-Closets, Washstands, Kitchen ..., Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, ...pe, Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass ... and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.

... Poydras St., New Orleans, La.

...airing neatly done. Country orders attend...

GENERAL

OMMISSION MERCHANT

FOR THE SALE OF

...ON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,

...TE AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.

...attention given to the sale and purchase ... Timber, Shingles, Hoop Poles, Fire ... Liberal advances made on consignments.

A. P. thoMAY,

No. 11 UNION ST., New Orleans.

BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES

GO TO

...ry Tinker's New Factory,

...nes, 1008 AND 1010 ST. CHARLES ST. ... Tenth and Eleventh Sts., ST. LOUIS, MO

...ks is of first-class material and workman... ...and see, or send for catalogue.

NATHAN CARD

RIAGE MANUFACTURER

...r. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.

...te Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall,

ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED

FOR

...MERICAN WATCHES

$10

305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,

...rriage Manufacturers,

...109 AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET,

ST. LOUIS.

...facturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their ... durability and elegance, is unsurpassed ...ranted.

...TERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA

...is the most beautiful in style and perfect ... tone ever made. It has the celebrated Concerto stop, which ... a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned ... perfect harmony with the reeds, & ... delightful, magnificent & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRON, CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL, ...MS, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS. ... Unique French Cases are in every ... correct FIRST CLASS.

...TERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, ...manship, & Durability Unsurpassed. ...nted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash, ...ly Installments received. A Liberal ...ount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches & Schools. AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducements to the Trade. Illustrated Catalogues and Second-hand Instruments of Great ...ious, HORACE WATERS & SONS, ...ufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION ...RE, NEW YORK, Box 3567.

Ladies' Purses! Just out, Gents' Pocket Book, Russia Calf, Bankbook and Letter Holder, sent post-paid to any address on receipt of this notice for 35 cents. Imitation COCOA GRAIN BUTTONS in packets 25 cents per set, or three sets for 60 cents. Elegant Necklaces with Charms, 25 each. Currency or Postage Stamps taken in ... ments to Agents. BRIDE & CO., 11 Clinton Place, New York City.

...rst-Class Visiting Cards.

...ifferent ..... 10c | 25 Autumn Leaf 10c
...ke ..... 10c | 30 Snowflake 10c
...al ..... 10c | 38 Hepp 10c
...al ..... 10c | 25 Damask 10c
...ge ..... 10c | 25 Scroll, with name 10c

...a 3c. stamp extra for each name when the ...aments to less than 25. When more 1 page ...ge. sent thus you save 3 cents on 25 worth ...er work to the world's fancy price. Money ...ed if they don't suit. W. C. CANNON, 712 ...rtain street, Boston, Mass.

...ROTHICK,

UNDERTAKER,

...1 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

...balming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully ... Carriages and Caskets for hire.

$200 SALARY. Permanent salesmen ... wanted in all States to sell Staple Goods to Retailers. Expenses paid. Address P. A. HEARY & CO., 1 & 3 Hanover Block, Cincinnati, O.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.

WIDOW HY. HABERT,

Successor to P. Delcuix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 108 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

JEWELRY STORE.

A. Boitel, Watchmaker,

58.....ROYAL STREET.....58

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.

A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.

A. BONNET & CO.,

DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS,

No. 65 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,

IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN

LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,

TOOLS, OILS, ETC.

And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers

No. 112 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD.

Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

GAMET & VIGNAUD,

DEALERS IN

SUGARS AND MOLASSES,

Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 34 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOFFG,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 677.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—JOHN BOSIO, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 141 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining-Rooms up stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. HECK, COOPERAGE.

Office and Sales-Room, 27 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, bet. Roman and Esplanade, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc. Also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

J. H. KELLER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office, 140 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.

HAIR MANUFACTORY.

"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.

R. BLONDEAU,

Successor to C. Bernod,

Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,

NO. 87 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specialty by Theatrical Wigs to be rented for parties or performances.

J. H. MCHAFFEY,

General Commission Merchant,

And dealer in Staves, Firewood, Lime, Lumber and Coopers' Materials.

OFFICE—21 Union street. LUMBER YARD—Cor. Levee and Washington Sts., New Orleans, La. Liberal advances made upon consignments of Staves, Lumber and Western Produce.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.

JOHN S. McDONALD,

Proprietor and Manager.

MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED

MOSS.

Factory—Nos. 24 to 26 South Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress street.

Office—No. 218 S. Liberty street. P. O. Box 258, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL,

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

Corner Camp and Common Streets,

Opposite the City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CABRES CABENS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better and cheaper; so come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship-spar. W. W. CARRE & CO., No. 96 Delord street.

THOMAS HASAM,

LUMBER,

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard, Corner CEDAR and JULIA STS., New Basin, New Orleans.

ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU,

150.....BOYDRAS STREET.....150

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

Cheapside Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less price than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN BIERMANN,

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

320.....DECATUR STREET.....320

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOTZ.

134 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans.

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premium awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cabriolet built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in All first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally.

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1855.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Bourbon Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month. Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1 50 every alternate month, or yearly engagement.

Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.

Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned. Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. O. GARDNELL, 87 Magazine, between Sixth and Seventh Sts.

Pianos for rent at $4 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,

ARCHITECT

31.....CARONDELET ST.....31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET

Between Julia and St. Joseph.

New Orleans, La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. G. W. RACE. W. R. FOSTER.

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

For the cure of CHRONIC DISEASES.

THIS is the surest, safest and cheapest curative agent known. It cures by revitalizing the whole body, and hence is effective in a great variety of diseases. Among the many names to which we are permitted to refer, we give the following:

Hon. S. Field, Judge of U. S. Supreme Court, and his accomplished wife; Mrs. Hallet Kilham; Judge Samuel Smith, New York; Hon. Montgomery Blair; Ex-Gov. Boreman, West Virginia; Hon. Wm. D. Kelley; T. S. Arthur; Gen. Fitz Henry Warren.

Our Brochure of 200 pages, which contains the fullest statement of principles, the most brilliant record of cures, and all the information necessary to an intelligent opinion and intelligent action, will be mailed FREE.

STARKEY & PALEN,

1112 GUARD ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

G. R. Starkey, A. M., M. D. G. E. Palen, Ph. D., M. D.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN, & CO., 206 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Prof. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKillops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lujan, M. A. Wolff, Frank Stupleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sheckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R., Pulaski, Mo.; J. Alexander, Fourth street, L. Rillon, Wineglass, Perry & Co., Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minnesapolis, and others.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated, by Inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay-fever, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.

DR. J. H. HAGENBURG,

309 Wash street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELI'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

63 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

WOULD call special attention to their extensive stock of DRESS GOODS, LINEN AND COTTON GOODS, Embroideries, Laces, Goods for Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Made Underwear, etc.

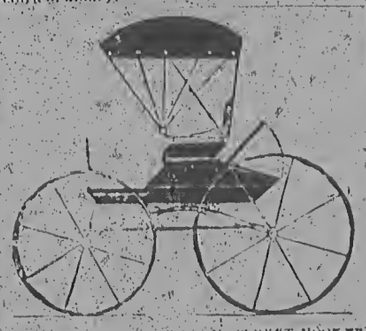
SAMPLES SENT FREE.

ALSO TO THEIR

Dressmaking Department.

Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order promptly, in a superior manner, and in the latest style, at moderate rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement, and samples of materials, with estimate of cost, sent upon application.

All orders amounting to $20 or over will be sent free of freight charges by express; but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of money.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

142 Gravier And 18 Tulane Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

CARPETS!

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF

Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.

Tapestry Brussels from $1 to $1 25 per yard. Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc. MATTINGS of all descriptions. All orders promptly LOW PRICES.

CEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

TAKE NOTICE. We have the LARGEST SET and best selling 5 Cabinet Gift Enterprise in the world. It costs ... to fill one set. It contains ... Silver-plated Pocket Pieces, ... Gold-plated Vest Chains, ... Gold-plated Rings, ... Gold-plated Scarf Pins, ... Gold-plated Lockets, ... Gold-plated Bracelets, ... Gold-plated Lorgnettes, ... Gold-plated Sleeve Buttons, ... Gold-plated Studs, ... Gold-plated Pencils, ... Gold-plated Ear Drops, ... Gold-plated Lace Pins, ... Gold-plated Charms, ... Gold-plated Bracelets, ... Gold-plated Lockets, ... Gold-plated Rings, ... Gold-plated Scarf Pins

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Feb. 12, 1878.

The market for breadstuffs has stiffened somewhat since our last report. The prices for other articles have remained unchanged pretty much. The daily papers report considerable shipments of grain arriving here from the West, and also some large cargoes shipped from here to England in the past few days.

State consols have gone up since last Tuesday to 85¾, afterward dropping to 85⅝@85¾, at which figures they are now quoted. Premium bonds have improved slightly also. Money is easy, and the rate of discount comparatively low.

We are indebted to the Democrat for the cotton report which follows:

COTTON.

The market was less depressed today than the nature of the news from abroad would seem to have warranted. The dispatches from Liverpool indicated a fair demand, which holders freely met. Havre was lower and slowly declining, and New York was weak on spots and barely steady on futures. Necessarily, under these circumstances, our own market opened irregular and easy, with a limited demand; but the demand improving later, it was freely met by factors, and the day closed with sales amounting to 7,350 bales, and prices off ⅛c. on low middling and the grades below.

The official closing quotations of the Cotton Exchange were as follows:

	To-day.	Yesterday.
Low Ordinary	7	7⅛
Ordinary	7⅞	8
Good Ordinary	8⅝	8¾
Low Middling	9⅜	9⅝
Middling	10	10⅛
Good Middling	11¼	11⅜
Middling Fair	11⅞	11⅞

Sales to-day, 7,350 bales. Market easy.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1877	21,856
Gross receipts since yesterday	17,896
Gross receipts previously	1,227,178 — 1,245,074
Total supply	1,266,430
Exported to-day	10,272
Exported previously	872,294 — 882,566
Total stock this day	383,914
Total stock this day last year	295,083

The exports to-day were 3,145 bales to Havre, 4,036 bales to New York, 1,665 bales to Providence and 1,376 bales to Boston.

Net receipts since Saturday	13,582
Receipts from other ports	4,314
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	17,964
Net receipts this day last year	14,584
Net receipts since Friday	16,606
Net receipts same time last week	25,214
Net receipts same time last year	19,001
Net receipts since September 1	1,047,160
Net receipts same time last year	912,192

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 57,040 bales; Havre, 81,934; Bremen, 7,080; Mediterranean, 1,573; North Sea, 34,574; Spain, 876; Mexico, ——; coastwise, 2,885; total, 186,809 bales. This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 247,046 bales.

The receipts at all ports from twelve M. Saturday to twelve M. today, as per Cotton Exchange telegrams, are 27,965 bales, against 35,054 bales last Sunday and Monday, 29,028 bales last year, and 27,697 year before last.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	16,606	25,214	19,001
Galveston	4,193	4,902	2,894
Mobile	676	2,041	1,918
Savannah	4,886	4,665	2,039
Charleston	2,980	3,236	2,342
Wilmington	169	747	791
Norfolk	2,292	3,881	5,191
Baltimore	143	54
New York	1,856	2,688	2,126
Boston	1,608	845	3,293
Philadelphia	751	861	905
Other ports
Total	42,965	54,849	41,836
Receipts at ports since September 1			3,284,858
Receipts same time last year			3,314,741
Receipts same time week before			3,184,885

The exports from all United States ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for one day, have been as follows:

	U. K.	France	Cont.	Class Stocks.
This week	12,109	8,971	10,935	2,948 — 911,830
Last week	2,640	12,816	7,107	910,346
This week last year	4,361	5,740	5,810	576,731

STUDY OF THE SCRIPTURES.—A silver egg was once prepared as a present to a Saxon queen. Open the silver by a secret spring, and there was found a yolk of gold. Find the spring of the gold, and it flew open and disclosed a beautiful bird. Press the wings of the bird, and in its breast was found a crown, jeweled and radiant. And even within the crown, upheld by a spring like the rest, was a ring of diamonds which fitted the finger of the princess herself.

O how many a promise there is within a promise in the Scriptures—the silver around the gold, the gold around the jewels; yet how few of God's children ever find their way far enough among the springs to discover the crown of his rejoicing, or the ring of his covenant of peace.—Short Sermons for Sunday School Teachers.

A lady took her son, of some five years, to church. After the minister had been preaching about half an hour the little fellow grew sleepy and began to nod. The mother aroused him into attention several times by pushing, but as it seemed a hopeless case she concluded to let him sleep undisturbed. After awhile the little fellow had his nap out, and saw the minister holding forth. He looked up in his mother's face and innocently asked: "Mother, is it this Sunday night, or next Sunday night?"

To be amended by a little cross, afraid of a little sin, and affected by a little mercy, is a good evidence of grace in the soul.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 60
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 53
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do., with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double shovel plow	4 60	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —

Wagons, Carts, Etc.
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	81 00	95 00
Cane wagon	180 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	130 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00

Iron, ₱ lb.:
Hoop	3½	5
Sheet	3½	5
Horse shoe	3½	4½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₱ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	5 00	5 00
English fire	30 00	35 00
Lime, ₱ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₱ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₱ 1,000	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	8 50	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₱ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 16 to 18 by 20	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₱ lb.	10½	12½
Paris Green, ₱ lb.	30	40
Pat. Dryer, ₱ lb.	10	13
Whiting, ₱ lb.	2½	3
Putty, in bladders, ₱ lb.	3½	5
Linseed Oil, ₱ gall.	50	60

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights: Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	$1 00		$1 50
10x12	1 50		2 00
10x16	2 75		2 70

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 50	$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 80

Panel Doors:
2x8 and 1¼ inch thick	— —	$2 20
2x7 and 1¼ inch thick	— —	2 25
3x7 and 1¼ inch thick	— —	2 30
4x7—6 inch and 1¼ inch thick	— —	4 00

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.:
Western	18	19
New York, good to creamy	28	32
Coffee, ₱ lb.:
Rio, fair	17	17½
Rio, good	17½	18
Rio, prime	18½	18½
Java, choice O. G.	28	30
Candles, ₱ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.:
Best K. D.	2 50	2 75
Cheese, ₱ lb.:
Factory	12	12½
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls.	— —	11 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 40
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₱ bbl.:
Superfine	4 50	4 75
XX	5 00	5 50
XXX	5 50	6 25
Choice XXX	6 25	6 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₱ lb.	3½	4
Dried peaches, ₱ lb.	11	12
Raisins, ₱ quarter box	50	55
Raisins, ₱ half box	— —	1 00
Raisins, ₱ whole box	1 80	1 85
Banana, ₱ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₱ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	5	6
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	40	45
Coal, in barrels, best	30	35
Insurance, in cases	— —	30
Insurance, in barrels	— —	25
Lard, in barrels, best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	18	21
Fair	24	26
Prime to choice	30	40
Golden and Roqfet syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₱ lb.:
No. 2	3½	4
Ordinary	5	5½
Fair	5½	5¾
Prime to choice	6	6½
Soap, in boxes, ₱ lb.:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	— —	— —
Starch, ₱ lb.	3½	3½
Salt, ₱ sacks:
Fine	1 05	1 15
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in bbls.:
Good fair	6	6½
Prime	6½	6¾
Choice	7	7½
Yellow clarified	8	8¼
White clarified	8½	9¼
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₱ lb.:
Allspice	15	— —
Pepper	13	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₱ lb.:
Black Oolong	75	1 10
Green Imperial	50	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel:
Yellow	— —	49
White	— —	47
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₱ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Gelena	34	35
Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs	— —	95
Hay, ₱ ton:
Prime	15 00	16 00
Ordinary	— —	14 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	1 40

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.:
Breakfast	9	10
Shoulders	— —	9½
Sides, clear rib	— —	10½
Sides, plear	— —	10
Hams, sugar cured	10	10
Mess Pork, ₱ bbl.	12 00	12 25
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders	4	4½
Lard, ₱ lb.:
Choice, in tcs and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	7½	8

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl.	1 25	2 25
Onions, ₱ bbl.	— —	2 25
Apples, ₱ bbl.	3 50	5 00
Cabbages, ₱ 100	8 00	10 00

WOOL.

Burry	11	12
Louisiana, clear	— —	26½
Lake, clear	27½	29

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	11	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 lbs and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₱ dozen:
Old chickens	3 50	3 75
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 50	3 51
Geese	6 00	6 50
Turkeys	10 00	11 00
Eggs, ₱ dozen:
Western	18	21
Louisiana	22	25

SEWING MACHINES.

THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

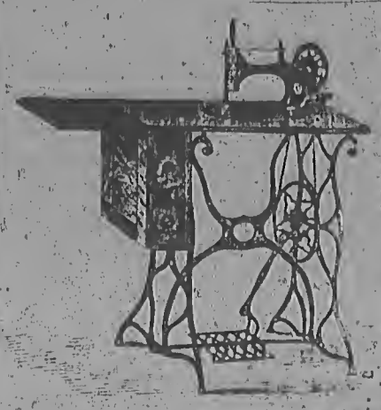
FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the Price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Rogue Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

THE FINEST AND MOST NATURAL.

The finest, purest and best flavors for cakes, puddings, pastry, etc., are Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts. In this age of adulteration it is gratifying to find one to stick by the old path of honesty, and consumers owe it to themselves to patronize such efforts.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

SELMA DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Selma	Feb. 16, 17
Summerfield	23, 24
Siggsville	Mar. 2, 3
Grove Hill	9, 10
East Selma	16, 17
Marion	23, 24
Brush Creek	30, 31
Uniontown	30, 31
Independence	Apr. 6, 7
Choctaw Corner	13, 14
Lower Peachtree	20, 21
Orrville	27, 28
Spring Hill	June 1, 2
Rehoboth Hills	8, 9

J. W. RUSH, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Alexandria and Pineville	Jan. 12, 13
Centerville	19, 20
Montgomery	Feb. 23, 24
Rapides	Mar. 2, 3
Harrisonburg, Sicily Island and Trinity, at Harrisonburg	9, 10
Columbia and Castor, at Columbia	16, 17
Bayou Boeuf and Evergreen, at Bayou Clear	Apr. 6, 7
Spring Creek, at camp ground	13, 14

CHRISTIAN KEENER, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LILIENTHAL'S

PHOTOGRAPH

ART GALLERY,

121 ..... CANAL STREET 121

TOURO BUILDINGS.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

I guarantee the LAMBERT to be the only Picture that WILL NOT FADE.

Choirs, Singing Schools, Societies,

SHOULD USE

THE SALUTATION ($12 per doz.,) or ZION ($12 per doz.,) or THE ENCORE ($7.50 per doz.,) or PERKINS' SINGING SCHOOL ($6.75 per doz.,) or JOHNSON'S CHORUS CHOIR INSTRUCTION-BOOK ($12 per doz.).

The first two are first class Church Music Books by L. O. Emerson and W. O. Perkins, and have full instructive Courses. The last three are written especially for Singing Schools by the very best talent. Now for a spirited Winter and Spring Singing Class!

Also give new interest to the year's practice by getting up one of our CANTATAS. (Send for circulars.) Five of them are

Belshazzar	Butterfield	$1 25
Don Munio	Dudley Buck	1 50
Joseph's Bondage	Chadwick	1 25
Prodigal Son	Sullivan	1 25
Vulpurgis Night	Mendelssohn	80

Belshazzar and Joseph's Bondage are dramatized, and are splendid musical dramas.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

SEED MERCHANT.

I HAVE on hand a large and complete stock of VEGETABLE, FLOWER & GRASS SEEDS, which I offer at the lowest market price.

Genuine Red Rust-Proof OATS, in quantities to suit purchasers. Eastern-grown SEED POTATOES a specialty. Almanac and Garden Manual for the Southern States sent free on application.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,
Nos. 15 and 17 Chartres St., New Orleans.

SELF-ACTING FAN.

I HAVING bought the Patent Right, for the States of Louisiana and Texas, for a Self-Acting Fan, one of the simplest and most ingenious contrivances of the age, I am prepared to fill orders for from 1 to 1,000 at very low figures. These Fans are guaranteed to run for nine hour and a quarter, and are admirably adapted for private houses, restaurants, saloons and steamers. To be examined at No. 17 BARONNE St., opposite Grunewald Hall. OTTO SCHWANER.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain De Terre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes;
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS ..... WRITE
Stone China TEA SETS ..... FOR
Decorated CHAMBER SETS ..... PRICES
Real French China DINNER SETS ..... PRICES
Gold Band China TEA SETS ..... PRICES
Table TUMBLERS ..... PRICES
Table GOBLETS ..... PRICES

80 W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK-BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

71 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

135 CANAL AND 18 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place. sp

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK-BOOK MAKERS,

27 ..... COMMERCIAL PLACE 27

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc., executed with neatness and dispatch, and at Northern prices. Sole agents for Pictorial Business and Visiting Cards of all kinds. sp

SULLIVAN & RELIGER,

No. 97 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS,

DEALERS IN

Gas Fitters' and Plumbers' Materials,

Gas Fixtures, Pumps, Bath Tubs, Bronzes, Iron, Lead and Tin Lined Pipes, Sheet Lead, Fittings of all descriptions, Brass, Steam, Water and Gas Cocks, Valves, Plates, etc. Thirty per cent. discount on Iron Pipe; all other goods in proportion. eow

FRANK M. NORMAN,

Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,

598 MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 30 cents. Engraving made to order. Scrap pictures. Upper City Circulating Library. Catalogues free.

FRANCIONI & POLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western Produce. Solicit consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes, etc. 93 PEARL ST., (Box 2885,) New Orleans, La. sp

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES. Cheapest in the known world. Sample Watch Free to Agents. Address, ACTIVITY & Co., Chicago.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with name, 10c. postpaid. J. B. HUSTED, Nassau, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC STOR

135 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

LEADING MAKERS

OF

PIANOS AND ORGAN

WRITE FOR PRICES.

"We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. Its large facilities, and is conducted on the basis of the utmost and liberality.

J. B. WALKE
J. B. A. AIKE

A. ERKENBRECHER'S

SUPERIOR CINCINNATI SUPER

STARCH!

ESTABLISHED 1842.

F. A. BEHAN, SOLE AGENT, No. 2 Tchoupitoula

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPO

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c. & 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.50 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice, $1.50.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pek Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

HOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per
CHOICE RIO	30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA	35c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must pay extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. All orders should be made payable to T. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orlean

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavori Extrac

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these p are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce ter results than any others, and that they use them in own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrif

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincin

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Harte bers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

THE BLANCHA

BLOOD AND NERVE

BLANCHARD

Or Tonic Extract of M

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SU PEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SC CATARRH, NEURALGIA, R TISM AND LOSS OF VITAL P

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post paid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

The only reliable Brain Fo

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by E your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WAT the only real Imitation Gold Watches that stan latest improvements, at the above prices. Ha beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watc Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same G METAL WATCH FACTORY, 335 Broadway, N. Y.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. | JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.
D. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. HOY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 37 Canal Street.

A. HOY, Agent.

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos. 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner. sp

A. A. LISCOMB, COLUMBIA, TENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure-Bred Jacks and Water Fowls. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

HENDERSO

COMBINED CATALOG

EVERYTHIN

FOR THE GARDE

Numbering 175 pages, with Colo sent free to customers of past years purchasers of our books, either Fruit, Practical Horticulture or Flo Plants are price $1, all others, by mail Gardeners, on receipt of 25c. Spec Seed Catalogues, without Plates.

PETER HENDERSON A

Seedsmen, Market Gardeners, Flo

35 Cortlandt Street, New

MONARCH CORN

FOR HAND or POWER

Hundreds of kinds of grain. Fine Potatoes it will gather from 2 to 6 in hour. We know of no Mill that will do the work of the Mill. P hand use $11.00, with Power ments $17.00. Send for illustrat Address, EDWARD THOM General Agent, 112 & 114 Poydras Street, New Orl NOTICE.—HAVING MADE A tions with our Coal Yard by all of phone, we are enabled to deliver Coal lies on the shortest possible notice, a market rates. Our friends are invited to examine our new method of transmitting C. A. MILTENBERGER & Co.

Yard on Levee, between Race and E

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1878. NO. 8.

PRAISE.

are sweet incense, not the fragrant gum, h in the day of type and shadow roll'd ing tribute from the disk of gold, though ill be. The day of truth is come;
ll the incense that will bear its rays.
ng us way to heaven, is praise, true praise.

on that lies hee. Ransack by-gone years, fever-stricken on thy little bed,
sed mother nursed the throbbing head, prayed as mothers pray, and at her tears;
ely tears, the peril fierce and black harmless by, and joy and health came k.

eap on incense, gathered in thy flight ds death-shadowed, where the devil reigns, nen; bound fast in misery and chains,
in the deep'ning gloom for life and light;
ght; true light, thy happy eyes can see—life, eternal life, is won for thee.

Lord, we praise thee that our land has rest, ch is cherished, and the word is free.
e who will may come this day to thee,
he most wretched he supremely blest;
ssetty meeds. Lord, we bless thy name, rapt'rous incense on love's sacred flame.

Sunday Magazine.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

ASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The bill ed by Mr. Money as a substitute several bills referred to him as man of a sub-committee on mail communication with Brawas adopted by the committee out amendment, and will be re-rt to the House.

e bill provides for a monthly of steamships from New York to neiro and from New Orleans
o Janeiro, calling at St. Thomas, the New Orleans line touching lveston and all the leading coast s of Brazil en route. The compen-n to be $30 per mile per annum, olds open to individuals as well mpanies, to be advertised for in leading papers of the seaboard of the country. The ships must not less than 3,000 tons burden, of the latest models and construc-

This bill, if passed, will be of benefit to the whole country, specially to the Mississippi val-

ARSHFIELD, Feb. 11.—The man-of Daniel Webster was destroyed re, with its contents.
e building was owned by Mrs.
ster Webster, who, with her son, sole occupants. They made exertions to save the historical and succeeded in rescuing a ity of silver plate, pictures and r priceless mementoes of Mr. ster. The library was not deed, having been removed some ago.

VESTON, Feb. 15.—Ten buildwere destroyed by fire at Hemp-this morning. The following mong the losses: William Green, $3,000, insurance $9,000; C. L. ott, $5,000, no insurance; F. J.
ce & Co., $2,700, insurance $2,500;
Spence, loss $3,000, insurance
; J. A. Felker, loss $3,000, ince $2,300.

ALTIMORE, Feb. 15.—Rev. Dab-
Ball, D. D., presiding elder of East Baltimore district, Methodist iscopal Church South, died this ning of heart disease.

ASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The silver passed at 5 o'clock this morning, mended by the Senate Finance mittee, by a vote of 48 to 21. It goes to the House for concurrence. er is remonetized and made equal gold as a legal tender. Free age is stricken out.

N FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—A very y storm prevailed during the twenty-four hours, extending ghout the State. A dispatch
Jackson, Amador county, says:
e rise of Jackson creek half of Chinese quarter has been swept
y. Eight Chinamen and two ite men are known to be drowned.
e Sacramento and Washington
ers are higher than ever known.
levees are broken and travel ended.

TALA, ALA., Feb. 18.—Four res in Midway, Bullock y, Ala., burned. Loss, $50,000.

FOREIGN.

NDON, Feb. 13.—The Times'
e correspondent telegraphs as ws: The embassadors of Catho-owers have jointly intimated to Camerlengo that if some cardi-known for their uncompromisdrift, whom they named, were y to obtain the suffrages of the clave, the embassadors would be pelled to oppose their election.
e Camerlengo has found in the e's desk a sealed packet, with uctions for delivering it into the ds of his successor. He also found ut scudi, the destination of h probably is designated in the 's testament. The Pope's wealth gether is said to amount to 120,- 000 livres, which is mostly in the ds of the Rothschilds, at Paris.

NSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 13.—Orditelegraphic routes have been ored. Hostilities have been reed in Thessaly. The Black Sea ade being raised, many ships going there for grain.
e smallpox fever is increasing ng refugees.

NSBURG, Feb. 13.—Alexander
, missionary, died, aged seventy-years.

NDON, Feb. 14.—The Advertiser lishes the following in official
: "We have reason to believe the fleet has passed the Darda-es, and is now in the Sea of Mara. We understand that Admiral hby was left full discretion as to force he would take with him.
In all probability a larger force gone than was at first contem-ed. We believe the Porte has ented itself with a formal pro-

The Standard and Post confirm the report that the British ships have passed the Dardanelles. The Post, however, gives the number as six.

The admiralty has a telegram from the English consul at Chanak Kalessi Anatolia, on the Dardanelles, twenty-three miles southwest of Gallipoli, confirming the report of the passage of six ships of the British fleet up the straits yesterday.

The Turkish Pasha made a formal protest at Chanak Kalessi, but no active measures were taken to prevent the passage.

The admiral's orders were to enter the straits with or without leave, and make arrangements to secure his rear. The ships were prepared for action.

HAVANA, Feb 11.—During the last few days official and private telegrams received leave no doubt that the insurgents, headed by their chiefs, are trying to arrange terms of peace all over the island. The Havana papers speak of a proximate peace as sure, and it appears that only the exact terms remain to be settled, when they will be proclaimed by the government.

To-day's papers publish a telegram, dated Santa Cruz, February 12, stating that Maximo Gomez, the Cuban Camera, and all the chiefs are working in favor of a definite peace, and that hostilities are suspended all over the island.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A Reuter telegram from Constantinople says: The British fleet has been withdrawn to Mandama Bay, forty miles south of Constantinople.

This movement is attributed to a desire on the part of England to facilitate negotiations to prevent the entry of the Russians into Constantinople. The instructions to Namyk Pasha have been revoked, and he has not gone to Adrianople.

The report that the congress would be held at Baden-Baden is confirmed. Negotiations have been concluded. All the powers, including Russia, have assented.

A Vienna telegram says: Notwithstanding the prospect of a congress, the situation is still considered grave. It is rumored that England has made overtures for an understanding and arrangement with Austria. The latter is negotiating a loan with the Rothschilds.

The Times' leading editorial to-day is very pacific in tone. It says:

It will be due to some gratuitous mismanagement if the relative position of England and Russia, near Constantinople, leads to any serious misunderstanding. Our own government may be trusted to act with combined moderation and firmness.

If the Russians are reasonably prudent there is no reason why the powers should not enter peacefully into the conference.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Paris correspondent of the Times telegraphs: Intelligence has been received here that Prince Bismarck on Tuesday will be able to announce that, owing to Emperor William's friendly intervention, Russia has resolved to maintain an attitude which cannot imperil a peaceful solution of existing difficulties.

According to the last information England and Russia will maintain their respective military and naval positions during the session of congress. No other power will enter the Dardanelles, lest it should increase complications.

ROME, Feb. 18.—Sixty-one cardinals entered their cells at six o'clock this evening. The Cardinal Patriarch of Lisbon has not yet arrived. The cardinals will meet twice daily in the Sistine chapel to vote, viz: at ten in the morning and four in the afternoon.

Marvin Memorial.

We copy the following communication from the Nashville Christian Advocate:

MR. EDITOR: I am requested by Bishop Marvin's family to say, as their pastor, that they are not in destitute circumstances so as to be objects of charity, nor have they consented to be so represented before the church.

To this I would add as one of the Executive Committee of the Marvin Memorial Association, that in the appeal made to the church by said association this point was carefully guarded. The objects of this association were appropriately and designedly stated to be a monument first, and then a home; thereby indicating that the latter, as well as the former, was to be regarded as an expression solely of esteem for Bishop Marvin, and gratitude for his services, and not as an act of charity to his family.

The family, I have reason to believe, would feel no humiliation in consenting to accept such a tribute to the Bishop's memory.

The gentlemen placed in charge of this matter by the association are fully aware of Bishop Marvin's simplicity of character and taste, and will be guilty of no ostentation or extravagant expenditure of money upon the proposed monument.

The papers of our church are requested to publish this.

J. C. WILSON.

ST LOUIS, MO., Nov. 29, 1877.

Christians are often employed in digging wells to find comfort, and the deeper they go the darker they get. The Fountain of life, salvation and comfort is above. Call upon thy God, and look up, and the light of his love will soon cheer thee.

Labor to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire, called conscience.

Alabama Conference.

We take the following extracts from the printed minutes:

ACTION ON TRUST FUNDS.

The following correspondence was had with the North Alabama Conference, through the commissioners appointed by that body to adjust the matter in dispute relative to the McAllister trust fund:

"To the Bishop and Members of the Alabama Conference, to be held at Montgomery, Ala., December 12, 1877:

"Dear Fathers and Brethren: As we, the commissioners of the North Alabama Conference, shall not be able, in all probability, to attend the session of your body, we deem it proper to send you a copy of the action of our Conference at its late session in Gadsden, pertaining to our claim on the McAlister fund. If you should take any action in the matter which shall require it, we shall be pleased to meet you, or your agents, at your pleasure, and adjust the claim.

"Please find inclosed a copy of the action above referred to.

"Yours in the bonds of the gospel,

ANSON WEST,
Chairman of Committee."

Whereas, There is between the North Alabama Conference and the Alabama Conference an unsettled moneyed interest, called the McAllister fund;

And whereas, We had a commission appointed for some time for the settlement of said interest;

And whereas, Our commission has failed to reach a satisfactory settlement with our sister Conference;

And whereas, We learn that the McAllister fund is in a condition that our brethren of the Alabama Conference cannot, without serious embarrassment, pay us our pro rata of said fund in money;

And whereas, We have the fullest confidence in the honor and integrity of the brethren of the Alabama Conference; therefore,

Resolved, That our commission be and is hereby authorized and empowered to meet any proper person of the Alabama Conference and determine what is due our Conference, and our commission is hereby authorized to arrange with the Alabama Conference, or their agents, so that our pro rata of said McAllister fund may be paid in bond and mortgage of the sons and daughters of members of this Conference; Provided, That no such preacher shall receive a greater benefit than the tuition and board of one child for one year, without the special permission of this Conference.

JOHN B. STEVENSON,
E. A. POWELL.

On motion, the foregoing communication was referred to a special committee of five, viz: John S. Moore, W. M. Motley, T. F. Mangum, S. H. Dent, T. A. K. Rainsey, who, on the next day, submitted the following report, which was adopted:

"The committee to whom was referred the communication from the North Alabama Conference in relation to the McAllister fund, having carefully considered the matter, do hereby recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we tender to the North Alabama Conference the same privileges and benefits arising from this fund that this Conference enjoys, namely: That the sons and daughters of the North Alabama Conference be admitted free of tuition into the schools which are receiving the benefit of said fund, and that in the distribution of the money arising from this fund, and appropriated to the payment of the board of preachers' daughters in the Alabama Conference Female College, the daughters of members of the North Alabama Conference shall be treated in the same way as the daughters of the members of our own Conference."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Resolved, That the board of trustees of the Southern University be requested to reduce the number of their members to twelve.

Resolved, That a collection be taken up in all our congregations to defray the expenses of the delegates to the General Conference, in the month of March; the amounts raised to be paid over to the nearest delegate, to be reported at the session of the General Conference.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to take into consideration the expediency and practicability of writing the history of Methodism in Alabama, and that they be instructed to report some plan by which to collect the material necessary for such a work.

The committee provided for in the above resolution consists of T. F. Mangum, W. M. Motley, W. H. McDaniel, A. S. Dickinson and M. C. Turrentine.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

The committee recommend:

1. The appointment of an agent for the collection of funds for the endowment of the Southern University.

2. That the presiding elders of the Conference be requested to raise, in such manner as they may deem proper, two thousand dollars, as an educational collection for the support and help of the Southern University, and that they distribute the amounts in the several districts of the Conference.

REPORT NO. 2 FROM THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

Centenary Institute.—In this institute there are, as most of the members of this Conference know, two departments, male and female. The female department is under the presidency of Rev. A. D. McVoy, a very competent and laborious teacher, whose heart is in his work. He is a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. As an evidence of the truth of this statement, we adduce the fact that four-fifths of all the students in the college are members of the church.

Miss. C. Jennie Samuel presides over the music department, and Miss Annie C. Howell over that of art.

Rev. R. S. Holcombe is principal of the male department of Centenary Institute, and his success in bringing this school up to its present state of excellence is the best evidence that can be given of his qualifications and efficiency.

Your committee are of the opinion that Centenary Institute is a necessity in that portion of our Conference. It meets a want there that could not well be supplied by any other institution now in existence. There are boys and girls in that section of the State who will be educated. If the field is not occupied by Christian men and women of Methodistic principles, it will be occupied by those who are not in sympathy with our church or its doctrines. The church that does not furnish educational advantages for its children will, in a few generations, be a thing of the past. Self-interest therefore, as well as a desire to advance the kingdom of Christ should prompt us to foster Centenary Institute in both its male and female departments.

Summerfield, where these schools are located is healthful, and the surrounding moral influences are favorable for the development of Christian character, a consideration of which should never be lost sight of in connection with educational enterprises.

We heartily recommend Centenary Institute to the people of western and southwestern Alabama as very worthy of their continued patronage.

B. B. ROSS, Chairman.

REPORT NO. 3 FROM COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

Alabama Conference Female College, Tuskegee, Ala.—Under the prudent administration of President John Massey, assisted by a full corps of competent and faithful teachers, the Alabama Conference Female College is steadily growing in public favor and in patronage. Many members of this body have displayed commendable zeal and industry in behalf of this valuable institution, and we confidently predict for it, under your fostering care, a new career of great prosperity and usefulness.

In conclusion we heartily commend to public confidence and support the three literary institutions under our charge, fervently invoking the continued protection and blessing of the great Head of the church upon all who are engaged in the holy work of Christian education.

And we respectfully suggest that the presiding Bishop be requested to appoint standing committees of visitation, with instructions to attend the commencement exercises of the Alabama Conference Female College, the Centenary Institute and the Southern University, and to present a written report at the next session of this Conference.

Respectfully submitted,

B. B. ROSS, Chairman.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Dec. 17, 1877.

REPORT ON THE CONDITION OF THE COLORED PEOPLE.

The committee appointed to consider the condition of the colored people submit the following for adoption:

Whereas, The colored people have had all the privileges of citizenship extended to them;

And whereas, The barriers thrown in our way by others with respect to them have been to a large extent removed rendering them much more accessible to us than formerly; therefore be it

Resolved, That we encourage them in their education in Christ by rejoicing them such help in their efforts to secure school houses and otherwise as we may be able.

Resolved, That we give them such aid in their churches, by participating in their religious services, as we may have opportunity.

Resolved, That the foregoing be published in the Christian Index, issued by the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America, at Louisville, Kentucky, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and the Nashville Christian Advocate.

J. BANCROFT, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate.—The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE receives our decided and complete approbation. Its paper and type be matter, original and selected are nearly, if not quite, all that could be desired in a religious family newspaper. Preachers and laymen should, therefore, put forth strenuous and continued exertion to put this ADVOCATE in all the Methodist families within the bounds of the patronizing Conferences.

The committee are pleased to receive assurance from the publisher that it is his intention, at an early day, to adopt the cash system in conducting the paper. We offer to editor and publisher our hearty co-operation in the effort to diffuse a pure religious literature through the families of our extended connection.

Nashville Christian Advocate.—The committee earnestly recommend to the members of the Alabama Conference the advantages presented by the Nashville Christian Advocate as a connectional organ, representing all the Conferences of our church. While it cannot possess the local interest of other journals of smaller circulation, nowhere else can the general information be presented that is found in the columns of this paper.

This paper is also the property of the church, and its profits inure to its benefit. We recommend that this paper be taken by our people for its general information touching our church economy, and that our finances may be benefited by the profit resulting from its publication. This journal is ably conducted by Dr. T. O. Summers, an accomplished editor, and a member of the Alabama Conference.

The Southern Review.—Your committee have heard, with profound sorrow, of the death of Rev. A. T. Bledsoe, LL. D., late editor of the Southern Review.

Dr. Bledsoe had acquired an extended and just fame as one of the ablest expounders of the doctrines of our church, and occupied a space in the intellectual world which few if any aspire to fill. We regard the Southern Review as a periodical of the very highest order, and as a true exponent of the doctrines and usages of our Southern Methodism.

We are informed that his daughter, Mrs. Herrick, intends to continue the publication of the Review through the ensuing year, the material for which having been supplied to her by the master-hand which has so lately lost its cunning. We therefore ask our people to subscribe for the Review, and thereby afford needed aid to the bereaved and deeply afflicted family of our deceased brother.

The Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn.—Whereas, A combination of circumstances has transpired in the financial affairs of the Publishing House at Nashville, Tenn., which has produced embarrassment, and has necessitated a call upon our Conference and people for aid, which has been but partially responded to;

And whereas, We have been informed, at the present session of this Conference by the indefatigable book agent, the Rev. A. H. Redford, D. D., that if the assessments asked of each Conference in our connection shall be met in full, this great church interest will be at once relieved of its embarrassment; and since it is important that in this and other Conferences there is not that clear understanding of the affairs of the said house which might be desired; and since the book agent has invited the closest investigation and scrutiny of its affairs, and believing that this valuable church enterprise should be one of pride to every member of our connection, and ought to be sustained by our people and wisely conducted; therefore,

Resolved, That this Conference hereby recommend the collection and payment of the deficit of the assessment made on this Conference by said Publishing House, to wit: the sum of $1 225 15.

Resolved, That the Joint Board of Finance of this Conference be and they are hereby requested, at the present session, to apportion to the respective districts the amounts they should pay of said deficit, having respect to the equities of the case in view of what has already been paid by some of the districts.

Resolved, That the presiding elders are hereby requested to urge upon the preachers of their respective districts the necessity of an early collection and transmission of said amounts.

Resolved, That for the better information of the membership of our church, and for the promotion of the interests of our Publishing House, the Book Committee at Nashville be and they are hereby requested to select experts—two or more—entirely disconnected with themselves and the house, and its agents and agencies, whose duty it shall be to proceed, without delay, to examine all the books, accounts and business transactions of said house, and to tabulate, compile and digest the same, and to discover and report any and all irregularities, discrepancies, errors of conflicts, if such there be, which may appear from the books, accounts and business transactions of said house, with or by its agents or agencies, at Nashville, Louisville, New Orleans, or elsewhere, so as to be enabled to present a complete, plain and comprehensive showing to the ensuing General Conference, together with the probable annual net earnings of said Publishing House in future.

Resolved, That the secretary of this Conference be and he is hereby requested to forward to the chairman of said Book Committee a copy of these preambles, resolutions and assessments at the earliest convenience.

Respectfully submitted.

PRICE WILLIAMS,
Chairman Com. of Books and Periodicals.

MARRIED.

LANE—KLINE.—January 30, 1878, at the residence of the bride's father, in Warren county, Miss., by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. William L. Lane, of Madison parish, La., and Miss Emma Kline, of Warren county, Miss.

KLINE—HENDERSON.—January 31, 1878, at the residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. Hines, in Warren county, Miss., by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. N. E. Kline and Miss Maggie A. Henderson, all of Warren county, Miss.

MAPLES—OWEN.—January 7, 1878, at the residence of the bride's mother, in Warren county, Miss., by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. William H. Maples and Miss Fannie G. Owen, all of Warren county, Miss.

FOX—CAMERON.—February 13, 1878, at three o'clock P. M., in the Methodist church at Bovina, Miss., by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. James L. Fox and Miss Tera Cameron, all of Warren county, Miss.

BURTON—ALLEBRIGHT.—February 17, 1878, at the residence of Mr. Bullard, in Warren county, Miss., by Rev. F. M. Williams, Mr. T. J. Burton and Miss S. E. Allebright, all of Warren county, Miss.

The Legislature and the Lottery.

The Louisiana Lottery Company was incorporated under the authority of a corrupt carpet-bag Legislature several years ago. The present reform Democratic Legislature, however, seems determined to perpetuate this most mischievous institution. On the first of February the bill to repeal the act incorporating the Lottery Company came up in the House, and was indefinitely postponed. We give the vote, that the moral and religious people of the State may mark the men and keep them in view at the next election for members of the Legislature:

Yeas.—Burton, Brown, Barron, Bosley, Brooks, Bribe, Carville, Cole, Cressy, Como, Drury, Durden, Davidson, Drew, Dickenson, D'Avy, Dejoie, Duke, Fobb, Fitzpatrick, Gary, Gracien, Hahn, Hill, of Ascension, Holt, Johnson H. M., Keating, Kelly, of Winn, Lewis, Magloire, Means, Milon, Newsom, Nunez, Peralta, Richardson, Bonton, Roby, Randolph, Soner, Singleton, Snaer, Spiller, Semmes, Stagg, Stewart, Tolliver, Washington, Watson, Warmoth, Walker, Wood, Wilde, Young, of Claiborne—41.

Nays.—Bush, Aldige, Breard, Bowden, Barrett, Bijlon, Brady, Berry, Bell, Carloss, Dinkgrave, Gaskins, Hill, of Orleans, Jonas, Kelly, of Orleans, Lyons, Leeds, Pitts, Ryland, Rolle, Shakespear, Sellers, Smart, Taylor, Tremoulet, Voorhies, Vance, Washburn and Wise—29.

Seventeen Democrats voted to indefinitely postpone. Mr. Fitzpatrick voted in the affirmative for the purpose of moving a reconsideration.

The same question came up in the House in discussing and acting upon the proposed amendments to the State constitution, and the vote was again substantially a victory for the Lottery Company. We quote from the published proceedings in the Picayune of February 14:

"Mr. Leonard offered an amendment in the terms following, to wit: 'No monopoly shall be created by the General Assembly, and all monopolies existing in this State are abolished.' This amendment was lost, the vote standing: Yeas 75, nays 28—the two-thirds vote of the entire body not having been obtained.

"Had the vote been announced as originally cast the amendment would have carried." About seven Republicans changed their votes just previous to the announcement.

The members who voted nay were:

Messrs. Barron, Brooks, Bosley, Carville, Como, Cobb, Davidson, Dayries, Dejoie, Drew, Dickenson, Fobb, Gantt, Hill, of Ascension, Holt, Johnson H. M., Kern, Lewis, Magloire, Milon, Raby, Stewart, Shums, Soner, Warmoth, Washington, Watson, Young, of Claiborne.

Absent.—Barrett, Brady, D'Avy, Desmarais, Denry, Hahn, Jonas, Keating, Peralta, Routon, Snaer, Stagg, Tolliver, Walker, Wilde, and Young, of Baton Rouge.

Messrs. Peralta and Snaer came in after the roll was called, but were not allowed to vote.

If we are ever to have deliverance from this gambling monopoly, it is plain that the people must elect a Legislature that will more faithfully gather their wishes in regard to it. Our friends will do well to paste this record in their memorandum-books for ready reference and future use. The men who have betrayed the highest interests of the State and voted to fasten this curse of a lottery upon us should be held to a strict account by their constituents. We believe the better classes of our people are opposed to the charter of an institution that is inimical to the moral well-being and the material interests of the State. Let them elect faithful and true men, who will have the courage and honesty to put down this infamous lottery.

MARVIN MEMORIAL.

Rev. Christian Keener, Alexandria, La.;
Rev. Joel E. Hayes, Shreveport, La.;
Rev. P. H. Moss, Monroe, La.;
Rev. J. Billingsley, Opelousas, La.;
Rev. Alfred E. Clay, Pattersonville, La.; and Rev. James E. Bradley, Minden, La.,

are requested to assist me in raising collections for the Marvin Memorial. Parties raising funds for said purpose, in the portions of the State contiguous to the above-mentioned places, will please turn over to the above named brethren the amounts collected.

Circulars in explanation of the objects have been sent to the preachers and superintendents of Sunday schools, as far as we have their addresses.

ROBT. J. HARP,
Acting by request Executive Committee.

A person who had been listening to a very dull address remarked that everything was "dull except the noise."

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1878.

CAST THY BURDEN ON THE LORD

Hast thou a care whose pressure dread
Repels sweet slumber from the bed?
To Thy Redeemer take that care,
And change anxiety to prayer.

Hast thou a hope from which thy heart
Would feel it almost death to part?
Entrust the Lord that hope to keep,
Or give the strength to lay it down.

Hast thou a friend whose image dear
May prove an idol worshiped here?
Implore the Lord that thought may be
A shadow between heaven and thee.

Whate'er the care that breaks thy rest,
Whate'er the wish that swells thy breast,
Spread before God that wish, that care,
And change anxiety to prayer.

Out in the World.

MR. EDITOR: Though in Texas, my thoughts still turn to the State of Missouri. Its agricultural resources will exceed many States in the Union, and will compare favorably with the most fertile and prosperous. Its mineral resources are very great, and have become the ground of large expectations to the citizens of the State. A large part of the State is prairie, the most beautiful and enchanting. But the climate is harsh and cold, and to one brought up in the South it is exceedingly trying, and not unfrequently lays the foundation of disease, or, if already afflicted, aggravates it until medical skill, though taxed to its utmost, can give no relief.

My observations concerning the church, in so short a visit, could not be very extensive nor entirely satisfactory. One thing is apparent—all the pastors are earnestly at work, aided by the laity, to build up the waste places of Zion, to lead sinners to the cross, and to strengthen each other's faith in a crucified and risen Savior. I heard a good account of the pastors in St. Louis, among whom is the Rev. W. V. Tudor, formerly a member of the Louisiana Conference. I visited the pastors of Sedalia, Lexington and Waverly stations, and by invitation preached to their pulpits to intelligent congregations. At Carrollton, in the bounds of the Missouri Conference, a great prayer meeting revival is going on. One hundred souls have been converted, and the meeting still continues with unabated interest. All the evangelical churches join harmoniously in these meetings. The origin of this meeting seems to be this: an evangelist visited the place and organized a business men's prayer meeting, to be held at eleven o'clock in the day-time, in order to the success of which each one who desired to join it signed his name to a written obligation not only to attend himself, but to use his influence to induce others to join it. From a small beginning it has gone on daily, gathering numbers and interest, until it has reached its present proportions. While the gospel is to be preached weekly by the pastors, and a regular system of pastoral visiting carried out, can we not in our several charges adopt some such method by which to aid the preaching of the word in reforming and converting men?

Central College (male) has the patronage of all the Missouri Conferences, and under the presidency of Rev. J. C. Wills is giving general satisfaction. The standard of scholarship is of a high order, comparing very favorably, as believed by competent judges, with the university of the State. In a contest of oratory between this institution and the university, the former was awarded the honor of greater merit. In another, in which several institutions took part, the representative of this institution again took the prize. For years past efforts, strong and persistent, have been made to raise an endowment fund for it, but it has not been completed. Central Female College, located at Lexington, is in a flourishing condition under the presidency of Rev. Marshall McIlhany. Others in the State are doing well, of which I need not speak at present.

Time runs away sometimes much faster than we wish it. Surrounded by our families and friends, with a real relish, whetted by long absence for such associations, we scarcely note how time flies, and the few days allotted to such pleasures have fled like a vision of beauty, beyond the outlines of the present.

Adieus are pronounced falteringly, and the form to which we cling to on earth most of all is lost in the dim distance. Though on the wing, the flight in an open wagon, or a two-horse hack, in mud frightful to behold, or over frozen ground that would arrest, in some degree, the worst attack of dyspepsia, if not making a final cure, must necessarily be slow even to tediousness.

Mr. Editor, can you appreciate writing under difficulties? I presume you can. But did you ever try to write at a hotel where they are dancing, and making preparations for a supper? Such is my condition at the Windsor House, in Dallas Texas. Such amusements never afford me any pleasure, nor can any true and faithful Christian be entertained with it while there is so much in the gospel, in Christ, in heaven, to interest, beautify and adorn our lives. No one can be a true Christian and dance. If already converted, this practice will destroy their enjoyment, and finally end in a total apostasy. If any one is deeply convicted, it will soon dissipate all such impressions, and they will turn again to the poor and beggarly elements of the world for their enjoyment. Ungodly members—those in the church who have never been converted, or those who have backslidden—try to satisfy themselves that there is no harm in it, and this they will plead as a justification of it. That is not the question to ask—that there is no harm in it; but what is there in it, to those who indulge in it, of good and lasting benefit? Are we made holier, wiser, and more zealous for the cause of God? Of course not; for all around us we see the blighting effects upon the church at large, and more especially upon individual character. May we never feed upon such husks, when we have the substance of things hoped for, for our present and eternal food.

J. F. SCURLOCK.

The Presiding Elder's Support.

MR. EDITOR: I certainly have no intention of tendering any advice to the reverend and honorable gentlemen who have been elected as delegates to our next General Conference. No doubt they know what is best to be done for our Zion, and the best manner of doing it. Nor, indeed, do I suppose they will be controlled in their action by any such advice, if offered. Still, as this seems to be the time for complaints against Methodism, by Methodists, it may not be out of place to see if these complaints are well founded, and whether the defects complained of cannot be removed without necessarily changing the whole economy of the church.

Judging from various articles which have appeared recently in our church papers, the presiding eldership is the most objectionable feature in our economy. Numerous changes and modifications are being suggested, while some seem ready to abolish the office altogether. Now it is quite possible that the trouble in regard to this office is the result of dissatisfaction with the manner in which its support is provided for, rather than with the office itself. So far as my observation extends, presiding elders are as useful, as highly appreciated and as necessary now as they have been at any time in the history of Methodism. This proposition, if needful, can be proved by appeal either to fact or argument; but I am satisfied that the church, in station, circuit or mission, will neither dispute it nor call for the proof. What, then, are the grounds of complaint? It will not be found far from the truth to answer that they originate in the suspicion, on the part of the church, that the presiding elder's salary is just that much deducted from the support of pastors; and the body of the church is unwilling to submit to this (as they suppose) injustice. If this answer is correct, may not all grounds of complaint be removed by putting into operation a different plan for the support of this officer? There are many and serious objections to the copartnership plan now in force. Without stopping to point these out, let me suggest a plan which is not liable to the same objections, and which, I think, has much to commend it.

Let the amount necessary to be raised for the support of the presiding elder be added to the amount apportioned to each district for the support of Bishops; and the sum so obtained, be divided among the several charges of the district by the district stewards, who shall be responsible for the collection of the same. If too much work is thus imposed upon the district stewards, let them have authority to appoint as many assistant collectors as may be necessary, say one for each church in the charges they represent.

In favor of this plan it may be said that it makes the presiding elder depend directly on the church in his district for support, and it will therefore possibly increase his diligence and faithfulness. It will protect the interests of pastors, which on the present plan are sometimes made to suffer by unpopular or unacceptable presiding elders, and it will protect the interests of the latter when they suffer on account of unpopularity in pastors. It may be said further, in favor of this plan, that presiding elders may more urgently and successfully, because disinterestedly, demand a good support for the preachers in their districts.

I make these suggestions, Mr. Editor, because I love the church as it is, and because any material change in our economy must awaken further dissatisfaction, and in the end leave nothing permanent. It is to be hoped that our General Conference will expend its strength rather in avoiding than making changes, which are exceedingly distasteful to OLD FOGY.

Men and Angels.

An article in the ADVOCATE of the twenty-fourth ultimo, on the subject of angels, attracted my attention with unusual interest, and suggested a train of thought in direct conflict with the learned author's theological conclusions.

The writer assumes as an incontrovertible axiom that men never become angels, nor angels men; and, strangely enough, undertakes to prove his position by Scripture. "It is strange what feeble testimony will suffice to confirm our preconceived opinions, and what respectable witnesses will be set aside when they testify against us.

There are few facts not positively asserted in the Holy Scriptures sustained by stronger circumstantial evidence than the affirmative. We are not restricted to the New Testament for historical facts to prove the spiritual identity of men and angels. As far back as the days of Abraham, and beyond, the same persons are interchangeably called men and angels by the same writers. The three travelers who called on Abraham on their way to Sodom, if I am not mistaken, are called both men and angels, both by Abraham and Lot. Therefore, assuming the favorite axiom of Alexander Campbell that the Scriptures "say what they mean, and mean what they say," we think such witnesses as Abraham and Lot ought to be heard in court.

The two men in bright raiment, seen by the disciples of our Lord on the occasion of his ascension to glory, were evidently believed by them to be angels sent by God to minister consolation for the seeming loss of their Master, and inspire obedience to his parting commands. But, even if this case be doubted, a little further on we come to a case which cannot be doubted without impeaching the integrity of the record.

It will be recollected by the attentive reader that two of the evangelists speak of the apparitions seen by those who first visited the sepulcher as angels, while two others call them men—as if the seeming discrepancy was intended to guard against the distinction urged by our author. Now there can be no doubt of their identity in the minds of the evangelists. They knew they were heavenly messengers specially sent to testify to the resurrection of the Redeemer, and to confirm the divine authority of his word.

We have still another witness to bring to the stand, whose testimony ought to close the last avenue to controversy on the subject.

In the twenty-first chapter of the book of Revelation it is written that the Apostle John, after a long and wonderful interview with a heavenly messenger, whom he calls an angel, fell down before him in the act and attitude of worship; but the angel forbade him, saying that he was a fellow-servant, and of his brethren the prophets.

His remaining references to scriptural evidence seem to be irrelevant and without logical significance. Still it may be well to notice them, lest their omission be magnified into argument. He takes for granted that men and angels are of different orders and genesis, because Jesus, when speaking of the guardian angels of infants, could not have meant the spirits of departed friends, because—because men cannot become angels, nor angels men. Such a conclusion charges the wisest and holiest men in the gospel ministry with false teaching, if not with downright heresy. How often have we heard uttered by holy men, from the sacred desk, the confident belief, nay, the consolatory assurance, that the spirit of the loving mother still hovered near her children, breathing into their hearts holy counsels, and warning them of approaching evil. I myself heard three ministers, of three different denominations, in the course of one month, utter with power and pathos, as if it were the conviction of their inner souls, their belief in the spiritual guardianship of departed friends."

The learned gentleman, in endeavoring to make good his main proposition, comes very near proving too much. He quotes from the Psalms that man was made a little lower than the angels to prove that he is a creature of inferior dignity, overlooking the force of a similar quotation in reference to the Son of God, or he would have been afraid of the charge of irreverence or blasphemy.

It does not require the degree of doctor of divinity to perceive the manner in which Jesus was made lower than the angels, nor would a sophomore in theology be excusable for not knowing the purpose of his degradation, for Paul tells us expressly that it was that he might suffer and die. And may not our degradation to an alliance, in our physical nature, to the brute creation have been ordained for a similar purpose?

R. B. R.

Christian Perfection.

MR. EDITOR: Christian perfection is the central idea of Bible Christianity, and also of Methodism in earnest. The Savior says: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." St. Paul says: "Let us go on to perfection." St. Peter says: "But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy." St. John says: "The blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanses us from all sin." To be cleansed from all sin in this world, and to live without sinning against God or man, is holiness or Christian perfection. By the term Christian perfection I do not mean the perfection of angels, nor the absolute perfection of God, but the perfection of a sinner "saved by grace through faith," and "made perfect in love"—made so perfect in love as to "love the Lord with all the heart, with all the soul, with all the mind and with all the strength, and love his neighbor as himself." This is the Christian perfection taught in the Bible, and the Christian experience of all "made perfect in love," and without this perfection or holiness in this world "no man shall see the Lord." But who believes this? Who among us Methodists comes up to this gospel standard of Christian perfection or gospel holiness? Is there one in ten of us Methodists who fills this bill? I fear there is not, although we profess to believe it and indorse it; yet by our tempers, words and acts we say to the church and to the world that we believe that we can get to heaven without it. O consistency! where is thy idush? Those of our brethren who believe that it is impossible for a Christian man to live in this world without sinning, because nothing but death can cleanse them from all sin, are more consistent than we are who do not believe this doctrine. I say we Methodists do not believe this Calvinistic dogma, because it flatly contradicts the whole tenor of Scripture, and destroys the atonement made by Jesus Christ for sinners; for if death cleanses the sinner's heart from all sin, it is not "the blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son," that does it, but death. And then it will follow that Christ's enemy did it—the last enemy he will destroy; and if Christ destroys the reign of death and the victory of the grave, then those who are saved by death will have no Savior in heaven to worship, and must sing: Glory to death, that hath saved us, but now is destroyed! While those who are saved by grace will have a Savior in heaven to worship, and will sing: Glory to God, who has redeemed us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and made us kings and priests unto God. "Death is (now) swallowed up in victory." "O death! where is thy sting? O grave! where is thy victory?" Thanks be forever given to God, "who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." Now, my beloved brethren in Christ Jesus, who hold the doctrine I here oppose, weigh it in the light of Scripture and reason, and I think you will see that it makes discord in heaven, and is without foundation either in Scripture or reason. And if so, the doctrine that "the blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanses us from all sin" in this life is true. As regards the time, in this life, at which the soul is cleansed from all sin, it is a matter of Christian experience, and is known by the man or woman "made perfect in love." The very moment the soul is made perfect in love the man knows it; he knows that he "loves God with all the heart, soul, mind and strength, and his neighbor as himself," as sensibly as he knows that he loves himself. Hence the modern idea among Methodists that a man can be born of God and made perfect in love, and not know when the work is done, is both unscriptural and unreasonable, and is extremely dangerous; for how can a man know that he is a child of God who does not know when God converted his soul? Or how can a man know that he is perfect in love who does not know when the Lord made him perfect? These two questions, I think, no man or woman on earth can answer.

JAMES SHANKS.

Premature entrance into public life, business life or professional life has been the misfortune of this country. If college life does no other good, it at least insures that a young man is kept for four years out of active share in the world's concerns, and thus gets a chance to mature a little. Juvenile work may be astonishing, but it is rarely good. The infant prodigy is worthless except for purposes of exhibition.—The Churchman.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

OUR SISTER, NANNIE NEAL DOWDELL, daughter of C. H. and M. A. Davis, was born March 3, 1850, at Halifax Courthouse, Va., and died January 9, 1878, in Opelika, Ala. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church when quite a child, and was always a consistent member. No one who has ever known Nannie can ever forget or cease to feel her sweet, ennobling influence. How vivid and how pleasant are all my recollections of her from the first moment we ever met. Four years ago this last October our brother, Louis A. Dowdell, brought her to our home, a lovely, beautiful bride. From the first moment we took her right into our hearts, proud of his choice, and have ever felt that God indeed gave him this rare jewel, this true wife, whose price indeed was far above rubies. She was a perfect companion in every respect, a constant inspiration to him to lead a useful, worthy life. Ah! the rod of affliction falls especially heavy upon him, for he had looked forward with fond hopes and bright anticipations to a long life spent in her sweet companionship. And with what a crushing weight it is laid upon her loving mother, of whom she was the only, the idulized daughter. May God comfort and sustain them while he bids them drink so deeply of the bitter cup of sorrow, for he alone can. Our Nannie's character I deem one of the fairest, in every respect, I have ever known. Not one grace did she lack. It seemed perfect in its formation. In disposition, how winning, cordial, loving always! There were constant manifestations of her deep, true, noble heart. Her mind was of a very high order, and finely cultivated. All the gifts and accomplishments that render true womanhood useful, attractive and influential were hers. But she has left us. God called her home—"longer here she might not stay." Her whole life was beautiful: it was like a polished mirror, and even the breath of praise seems to dim it. Words cannot express our deep appreciation, our deep sorrow. It was ordained that our loved one should be confined to her bed ten long weeks ere she left us; and yet almost without a murmur, and so patiently did she suffer God's will. But physical suffering was not all that, God, in his mysterious plans, called upon her to bear, in the midst of her illness, a few weeks previous to her death, God saw fit to take home her sweet infant, a beautiful little girl of seven months. That heavy stroke bowed down our darling, and utterly prostrated her delicate frame. We feel that was a fatal blow, hastening her end. We try to bow in humble submission to God's will, feeling that, mysterious though his works may be, he doeth all things well, and trusting that in the great hereafter all mysteries will be unfolded, and we shall see that Omnipotent love directed all things.

Besides a devoted husband, a loving mother, an uncle whom she loved as a father, a little son of three years, fond brothers and sisters, many, many friends, without number, mourn and grieve most deeply her departure.

SISTER SUSIE.

DIED, of typhoid fever, February 7, 1878, on Bayou Poydras, in the parish of West Baton Rouge, La., SARAH FARONS ECLES, wife of G. M. Hamilton, in the fifty-fourth year of her age. Mrs. Hamilton was born in Georgia, May 30, 1823; was married in Mississippi, to G. M. Hamilton, June 30, 1842. Thus has passed away the last of the Eccles family, and one of the little band that composed the Methodist Episcopal Church South on False river, a loss that can be better felt than expressed by those who knew her, whom to know was but to love and respect. None can ever forget the kind and cordial clasp of her hand when greeting, nor her hearty "God bless you" at parting.

Few, very few indeed, were possessed of such refined hospitality and cordiality as was she. Well does the writer of this remember when first he entered her door and rested beneath her roof, "a stranger among strangers." The quiet and loving manner in which she said "Make this your home" was most grateful, and made him feel that here was indeed a home for him.

Sister Hamilton joined the Methodist Church when she was but nine years old, and lived a consistent Christian until her death. Ah! such a death! I dislike to use the term, for it was indeed a victory for Christ—a demonstration of the fulfillment of all God's promises to the faithful Christian even unto the end: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." This was the language of her heart, this the faith which she developed.

When called to her bedside to pray with her, it was simply wonderful to see how perfectly she seemed to be lifted from earth to heaven in prayer, as expressed by her hearty "Amen." So closely did she follow in prayer as almost to anticipate the words and sentences; and when asked if she was ready for God's summons, her response was: "Everything in order." Then, clasping her hands, she exclaimed: "Happy! oh, so happy!" When speechless, unable to respond, she turned her head upon the pillow, expressing by the eye that which the palsied tongue was unable to utter, and then passed away to "that sun-bright clime," there to behold with celestial vision the glories of the new-ly Canaan, purchased by the blood of Christ.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Sister Hamilton leaves a husband and seven children, to whom she had ever been a faithful wife and a tender mother; and as they mourn her loss, they have but to follow her virtues, which point them to the Lamb of God, and their end will be as hers—not death, but victory for the Master.

T. K. F.

AT the home of her father, Jonathan Thomas, near Eufaula, Ala., as the light of December 17, 1877, was disappearing and the calm twilight, our dear ADDIE ceased to live and speak among us. After a long though not very painful illness of three months her spirit, which we think was too pure longer to be subjected to the vicissitudes of this life, without a struggle, passed away, we believe, to heaven, the place for which it was designed when created.

Miss Addie Leona Thomas was born in Barbour county, Ala., March 23, 1859; professed religion, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1870, under the ministry of our beloved and now sainted Oliver, and ever after held her church vows sacred. She was a dear lover of the ADVOCATE, and read it a great deal. Last September she attended the camp meeting at Wilkey Springs, and seemed to enjoy a liberal share of the divine blessing. She returned from thence with what proved to be her fatal illness—typhoid fever. More patience has scarcely been exhibited by any one than by her throughout whole life, and not one murmur was heard from her lips during sickness.

The last time she attended church was at quarterly meeting occasion, on Sabbath, a period when she was able to ride, and the feeling love-feast seemed full almost to overflowing. When the invitation was given to partake of the sacrament she was the first to kneel to receive it. As heaven holds her other life, sincerely I hope that the family and friends will, with renewed assiduity, follow the mandate: "Strive to enter in at the strait gate."

A. SISTER.

DIED, on the twenty-first of December, 1877, near Opelousas, St. Landry parish, La., Mrs. REBECCA E. LEWIS, in the sixty-fourth year of her age. She was the daughter of Capt. Charles A. Lewis and Catherine Battalle, of Carolina county. When very young she was happily converted and joined the Baptist Church—the only one of the family except her mother, who imbibed some courage and a great deal of grace; but she was a devoted Christian, made the Bible her daily study, and by her example showed to all who knew her that it is not a vain thing to serve Jesus. In the years every member of the family, consisting of four brothers, two sisters and her self, was converted and joined the church. As they used to tell her that the Lord had blessed them all to her. She never wavered or doubted her true love for Jesus, but always came trembling to the mercy-seat.

In 1838 she was married to John T. Lewis, of Prince William county, Va., who was a member of the Methodist Church; and with her husband she joined the church with him, where she remained a consistent member and a devoted Christian to the end of her death. In 1871 she moved with husband and sister, to St. Landry parish, La., where they remained up to the time of her death. They mourn her loss, but expect in a few years to join her in that sunny clime.

J. J. L.

Richmond Christian Advocate please copy.

MRS. EUGENIA HENLEY, daughter of Elizabeth Collier, and consort of [illegible] Henley, was born in Glenville, A[illegible], 30, 1858, and departed this life in Kent, February 2, 1878, aged nineteen years, [illegible] months and two days.

Sister Henley joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South in October, 1871. She married February 25, 1875, and professed religion in October following. So far as the writer knows, she ever lived a consistent member, adorning the doctrine of God our Savior by an orderly walk. As her pastor visited her frequently during her illness, prayed with and for her, which she seemed to enjoy, though suffering intense pain. But now her suffering is ended, and her body is still in death. Her spirit has gone to the regions of light and glory. We can only commend the bereaved husband, motherless child, sorrowing mother and brother and sister to the tender care of their divine Shepherd, who has not said "Seek ye my face" in vain. She is gone. Death has done its work. You must soon follow. Be therefore also ready.

G. M. LIVERM[illegible]

MRS. EMILY DONALD, wife of [illegible] A. Donald, and daughter of Benjamin and Martha Taliaferro, died at her residence in Opelousas, January 14, 1878, aged [illegible] years. She professed religion in Demopolis, Ala., in 1813, and since then has lived a consistent life. She was a dear lover of the doctrines and institutions of the Methodist Church, having been brought up by godly parents, whose godly example greatly influenced her to the right. Sister Donald enjoyed experimental religion. She meditated on and talked of the goodness and mercy of God as manifested in Christ Jesus. She never shrank from the performance of any Christian duty. She was called suddenly, while sitting in a chair conversing with husband; but she was ready. There were no dying words, but such a life as hers needed none. Her warfare is finished. She has gone up higher. The Master said: "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I overcame and am set down with my Father on his throne."

J. J. L.

HENRY K. SUMMERS, son of John Summers and Rebecca Felder, was born in South Carolina, March 12, 1807, and died at his residence near Port Vincent, La., January 17, 1878. He leaves an unblemished character, Honest, kind, polite, he won the hearts of all who knew him. He married Miss Baxter, of Marion county, Miss., who he leaves with a large family of sons and daughters, and many friends and relatives to mourn, but not as those who have no hope. In health he was cheerful, in sickness patient, in death resigned. He said, just before he died, that he was not afraid to die, that he had made his peace with God.

R. K. ELDER.

JOSEPHINE, wife of E. P. Brown, and daughter of Thomas and Sarah Ivy, was born in Harrisonburg, La., September 7, 1836, and died December 27, 1877. She was converted and joined the church in 1853, after which time she exemplified the life of a Christian. She was often very happy during her illness. She anticipated her death and met it calmly, fearlessly and joyfully. Trusting in Jesus, she had an easy, short and safe passage over the Jordan of death. Her pure spirit has no doubt joined in the song of Moses and the Lamb.

P. S.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1878.

THE HEM OF THE GARMENT.

He walks in the earth and the heaven;
The Lord in his raiment bright;
His sandals crimson at even,
It is gold in the morning light.
And his trails on the dusky mountains
With a silver fringe at night.

High over the people thronging
In the light of his pure, calm face;
Can the uttermost need and longing
Come trending that awful place?
But to touch the beautiful garment
Is a comfort and a grace.

The tender sweep of the grasses
Is smoothing away the smart;
And the light, soft wind that passes
Is a balm to the very heart.
Only the hem of his garment—
But I kiss it for my part!

The seamless blue and the border,
Where the earth and the heaven meet,
And the colors in mystic order
In the tresses round his feet;
It is but the hem of his garment,
But virtue is there complete.

He turns, and I am not hidden:
And he smiles, and blesses me;
For the gift come all unbidden,
Ah, to think he would not know
Through even the hem of his garment
It was Faith that touched him so!

Troy.

OBJECTS DISINTERRED BY DR. SCHLIEMANN.

The sight-seers of London have a new and original treat in store for them in the remains from Hissarlik, the plains of Troy, now being arranged by Dr. Schliemann, in some thirty cases, in one of the courts of the South Kensington Museum. Our much-vexed question of the antiquity and historical value of these specimens we do not intend now to discuss; we wish simply to give an idea of the number and variety of the objects to be seen, which form but a part of the whole disinterred by Dr. Schliemann.

As early as 1870 Dr. Schliemann made some preliminary excavations on the Hill of Hissarlik, an elevated plateau about eighty feet above the plain of Troy, but he was then forced to suspend his operations for more than a year, while waiting for the necessary firman from the Turkish government authorizing him to continue the explorations and forcing the private proprietors to part with the ground at a lawful price. All through the fine weather of 1872 and 1873 Dr. Schliemann persevered in his labor, which was carried on entirely at his own expense, the Turkish government even obliging him to pay the salary of the official employed by them to watch his proceedings. During these months Dr. Schliemann discovered the remains of four different cities or cities, one below the other, besides the Greek colony of Ilium of Alexander the Great. Of this colony he shows at South Kensington a very spirited metope of Apollo and four horses, and some small terra-cotta figures. It is, however, with the four ancient cities, chiefly with the second, from the virgin soil, that we are concerned. Roughly speaking, the two most ancient settlements below the Greek colony extend from just below the surface to a depth of 23 feet. The third city, which Dr. Schliemann calls Troy proper (Ilium), where he found the so-called Priam treasure, reaches to 33 feet below the surface, and the most ancient to a depth of 50 feet, or in some places to nearly 60 feet. These four cities are separated from each other by layers of ashes and other marks of conflagration. The objects shown at South Kensington from the lowest and most ancient city consist first of pottery and fragments of terra-cotta, chiefly of a grayish-black color, ornamented with graceful patterns in white. They are of a better quality than any found in the higher strata. Some specimens are of a brilliant black, or dark brown color, and the delicate patterns have been cut out and filled with some white substance. Only one specimen of painted pottery was found in this stratum and one in the city above—Troy proper. Vases of various shapes and sizes have also been found in the lowest stratum, but, as a rule, of far inferior workmanship to the fragments of ornamental terra-cotta, though the forms are in all cases graceful. These higher specimens may have been used among the poorer, the more decorated among the richer inhabitants. There are a few fragments from vases of an immense thickness and size, probably wine-coolers. Wilde vases are not uncommon, and these with very long, narrow lips, particularly convenient for pouring out liquids. One curious vase from the lowest city is in the form of a sow. One skeleton of a woman was found at a depth of 42 feet, with some simple gold ornaments which are shown in one of the cases—a flat ring, three ear-rings, a dress-pin and some gold beads. The gold is fairly pure. Both the ornaments and the skull (also shown) bear marks of fire. Another case contains some of the stone implements found in this earliest settlement. Knives of obsidian, arrow-heads, fragments of stone and flint, and metal implements are also shown from the same stratum; copper nails, knives and bracelets, silver pins, and a cross-shaped ornament in silver. In the case are various molds in which to cast for casting the metal implements.

The object appears to have been found in all the four cities—i. e., three small whorls, round pieces, chiefly of terra-cotta, with a hole through the middle. According to Dr. Schliemann, these were not used for spinning, hardly any of them showing traces of friction or usage, but were votive offerings. They are ornamented with suns, stars, altars, animals, and various unknown symbols. Specimens of these whorls almost fill one case; they are arranged according to their patterns.

It was in June, 1873, that Dr. Schliemann found the gold treasure supplying the two central cases of the court. It was at a depth of 28 feet, therefore, in Troy proper. The eye is at once attracted by the two large head-dresses of fine gold, worn so as to fall over the forehead, with the long pendant on each side covering the ears. Close by are numerous chains of gold beads, and a large collection of rings and buttons, which were all found together in a silver jug, four ear-rings, or rather par-tassels, nearly four inches long, a golden fillet and gold bracelets, in some cases welded together by the conflagration which destroyed this city. Above, in the same cases, are a bottle and vases of pure gold, and a remarkable gold cup, weighing one and a half pounds troy, in the form of a ship, with a handle at each side, and a mouth for drinking out of at each end. This vessel is of cast gold, and the handles have been fused on to it. The other objects are of wrought gold. Several silver goblets are also shown. In these two cases, and six objects like knife-blades of purest silver. These Dr. Schliemann conjectures to have been the Homeric Talent. One cup is in electrum—i. e., four parts gold to one of silver. Battle-axes and lance-heads of copper belong also to this treasure, and a large copper shield and cauldron. Three silver dishes were too much injured in excavating to be exhibited. One curious bent piece of copper, with a silver vase soldered to one end by the conflagration, and two fixed wheels at the other, Dr. Schliemann thinks to have been a hasp of the chest containing the treasure. The key of the chest, distorted by fire, is shown. The chest had perished, but the objects composing the treasure were all found packed together in a rectangular mass, and the copper key lying close by them.

It is impossible to mention all the smaller objects belonging to this city, such as ivory lyres and flutes, a lion-headed sceptre handle of fine crystal, combs of stone, terra-cotta brush-handles, copper weapons, and stone and bone implements of all kinds, which will be found in one of the cases; but the terra-cotta vases deserve special notice for their number, size and beauty of form. The largest have curious wing-shaped handles, with covers like a crown of diadem. The tall, slender, double-handled vases, mostly of a brilliant red color, collected together in one case, are singularly graceful. They are round below, so that they can only stand on their mouths. A few vases with the owl's face on the covers, which Dr. Schliemann considers as proving the worship at Troy of Pallas Athene, were found in the city, but they are more abundant in the higher strata. A man's skull is shown found near the treasure.

The visitor cannot but be struck by the various stages of civilization shown in the diverse objects apparently belonging to one period—delicate gold ornaments and silver goblets, graceful vases of fine terra-cotta and lyres of ivory, side by side with stone, flint and bone implements as rough as any found in the Swiss lacustrine dwellings. It is difficult, without very detailed plans of the excavations, to account for these incongruities. In the specimens from the two highest cities we find a few forms of vases not met with in the lower settlements, as, for instance, one in the shape of a bugle, on two feet; a small vase standing on three feet, with one handle and two ears; cup-handles in black terra-cotta in the shape of an ox's head, and the fragment of a vessel shaped like a horse's head. The most curiously marked of the whorls belong to these two upper strata, either flat disks, with two holes and some sort of potter's stamp on them, or round globes, divided into eight compartments, each with a separate symbol. These markings are often filled in with white clay, and must have been engraved while the clay was soft. As already stated, most of the vases with the owl-faced covers, which the visitor will find grouped together in two cases, belong to these upper cities.

We have said enough to prove that we have cause to be very grateful to Dr. Schliemann for bringing over, at great cost and labor to himself, this remarkable collection. His book on "Troy and the Remains," published about two years ago by Mr. John Murray, will be the best guide for those who wish to study these unique objects in more detail.—London Times.

Mind in Plants.

As Dr. Forbes Winslow has remarked, vegetable life is so universally assumed to be, as a matter of course, unconscious, that it appears to many a mere folly to express a doubt of the correctness of the assumption. But let a close observer and admirer of flowers watch carefully their proceedings on the assumption that they not only feel but enjoy life, and he will be struck with the immense array of facts which may be adduced in support of it. Endow them hypothetically with consciousness, and they appear in a new and altogether different aspect. His conclusion is that they are undoubtedly in the same category in this respect with the lower forms of animal life, respecting which it is impossible to determine whether they have consciousness or not.

Dr. Asa Gray, after speaking of the transmission of the excitability of sensitive plants from one part of the plant to another, the renewal of excitability by repose, and the power which the organs of plants have to surmount obstacles to positions favorable to the proper exercise of their functions, goes on to say that, when we consider in this connection the still more striking cases of spontaneous motion which the lower algæ exhibit, and that all these motions are arrested by narcotic or other poisons—the narcotic and acid poisons producing effects upon vegetables respectively analogous to their effects upon the animal economy—we cannot avoid attributing to plants a vitality and a power of making movements toward a determinate end, not differing in nature, perhaps, from those of the lower animals. Probably, he adds with characteristic caution, life is essentially the same in the two kingdoms; and to vegetable life faculties are superadded in the lower animals, some of which are here and there indistinctly foreshadowed in plants.

Darwin has observed in the Drosera rotundifolia a faculty for selecting its food, which in animals would be attributed to volition. Mrs. Treat has described the same trait in the plant. On being deceived by means of a piece of chalk, the Drosera curved its stalk glands toward it, but, immediately discovering its mistake, withdrew them. The plant would bend toward a fly held within reach, enfold it, and suck its juices; but would disregard the bait if out of reach, showing not only purposive movement (or a refusal to move, as the case might warrant,) but also a certain power to estimate distance.

Again, Darwin has shown that the more perfect tendril-bearers, among climbing plants bend toward or from the light, or disregard it, as may be most advantageous. Also that the tendrils of various climbers frequently attached themselves to objects presented to them experimentally, but soon withdraw on finding the support unsuitable. He says of the Bignonia capreolata that its tendrils "soon recoiled, with what I can only call disgust," from a glass tube or a zinc plate, and straighten themselves. Of another Bignonia, he says that the terminal point of the tendril exhibits an odd habit, which in an animal would be called an instinct, for it continually searches for any little dark hole in which to insert itself. The same tendril would frequently withdraw from one hole and insert its point in another. In like manner, spirally-twining plants seem to search for proper supports, rejecting those not suitable.

Speaking of phenomena of this sort, Dr. Lindsay makes this strong remark: In carnivorous and climbing plants there is a choice or alternative between action and inaction, acceptance or refusal; and the choice made is not always judicious. There may be an error, and the error may be corrected; but in order to such correction there must surely be some kind of consciousness or perception that a mistake has been committed, an exercise of will in making further efforts at success, and a knowledge of means to an end, with their proper adaptation or application.

According to Prof. Laycock, organic memory is common to both animals and plants, and certain habitudes seem to exhibit in a marked degree in their antipathy to certain trees. The botanist Brown has remarked that the trees which the lianas refuse to coil around are physically incapable of supporting the climbers. In many cases observers are, no doubt, self deceived, and mistake a mechanical and wholly unconscious mimicry of intelligent action for an actual exhibition of intelligence. Still such men as Dr. Gray and Mr. Darwin are not apt to be deluded by mimicry or figures of speech, and, however much it may run counter to popular notions of what is proper to plant life, the hypothesis that intelligence does not end with animal life seems by no means inconsistent with a multitude of trustworthy observations.—Scribner's Monthly.

Fifty Years.

Japan was sealed from the gospel fifty-one years ago. Dr. Morrison was allowed to enter China, but as a servant of the East India Company, and there was no missionary besides. Judson and his wife were prisoners in Burmah, where there were only eighteen Christian natives. In India, even Heber was compelled to decline baptizing a native convert, lest he might excite the jealousy of those whom it was desired to conciliate. From India to Syria there was not a missionary of the cross. Turkey was without a missionary, and the Sultan had issued an anathema against all Christian books. Two or three missionaries were along the west coast of Africa, and two or three more in the South Seas. Madagascar had scarcely been entered; the Church Missionary Society was rejoicing over its first convert in New Zealand; and only the first fruits were being slowly gathered in the South Seas. Outside of Guiana and the West Indies there were not 1,000 Christians in the whole heathen world.

What changes have been wrought in the last fifty years! In China to-day there are thirty Christian Churches at work, and the number of Christians is increasing six-fold every ten years. Japan welcomes every Christian teacher, and proclaims the Sabbath as the weekly festival. For every convert there was in Burmah there are now a thousand; there are 50 churches and nine-tenths of the work is done by native missionaries. There are 2,500 missionary stations in India, and nearly 7,000 of them manned by native laborers, while Christians are increasing by more than a hundred thousand in ten years. There are self-supporting Christian congregations in Persia and on the Black Sea; there are 5,000 communicants gathered into the mission churches of Syria. Gambia, Sierra Leone and Liberia have large Christian communities, aggressive upon the neighboring heathen with the aggression of the gospel. There are 10,000 communicants in the churches of South Africa, and 15,000 children in the schools. Moffatt waited for years for a single conversion, and he left behind him populations that cultivate the habits of civilized life and read the Bible in their own tongue. There are 7,000 Christians gathered into the churches of Madagascar; Polynesia is almost entirely Christian. There are not less than 2,000,000 connected with the Christian settlements in heathen lands, where 2,500 missionaries labor—and all this has been accomplished within fifty years.—Zion's Herald.

If you live in the neglect of secret prayer, you neglect all the worship of God; for he that prays only when he prays with others would not pray at all were it not that the eyes of others were upon him; yea, he that would not pray where none but God sees him manifestly does not pray at all.—J. Edwards.

Religious Intelligence.

—The Brahmo Somajes of India have been desirous of sending a missionary to Australia, but have been compelled to abandon the enterprise for awhile on account of lack of funds.

—A correspondent of the Herald of Truth suggests a union of all the branches of the Mennonite family, which are quite numerous. He thinks this might be brought about through a general conference.

—The Presbyterian Board for Foreign Missions has fallen behind in its receipts last year. The falling off to the present time in receipts of all kinds, except legacies, is $33,507. The receipts from legacies were larger in 1877 than in 1876.

—A Jewish paper favors a revision of the Jewish ritual, on the ground that there is much in it to which many do not give their assent, and there are sections which the people cannot understand. Such a revision would be in the opposite direction from uniformity; but of this there has always been a lack.

—The London Missionary Society has removed the headquarters of the Papuan branch of its New Guinea mission to Murray's Island. This removal was rendered necessary by the withdrawal of the government establishment from Somerset. Murray's Island was chosen as convenient for the opening of a mission in the southeast peninsula or the adjacent islands, as a healthy place for the retirement of sick missionaries and because of the friendliness of the people.

—The Woman's Board of Missions (Congregationalist) has closed another year (the tenth) of its life and labor, and presents a record of growth as gratifying to its friends as it will be alarming to its critics. The important statistics for the year are these: At home, 16 branches, 8 conference associations and more than 400 mission circles; abroad, 67 missionaries, 78 Bible readers, and 49 village and day schools; subscriptions and donations, $60,413.06; other receipts, $17,817.71. The individual reports from the several schools are all highly encouraging.

—The Canadian Baptists have 534 churches, of which 390 are in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The rest are in the Maritime Provinces. In the latter, however, is the largest number of members—35,641 out of a total of 63,153. The Baptists have doubled their membership in the Lower Provinces in twenty years, and have done the same in Ontario and Quebec in less time. The Canadian Baptists are very active in both home and foreign missions. They have two colleges—Acadia for the Eastern members and the Institute of Woodstock for those of the Upper Provinces. Acadia College has an endowment of $80,000, which is to be raised up to $100,000.

—An English paper gives this account of "watch night" in London: "The practice which some years ago was almost entirely confined to the Methodist bodies, has now become general. On Monday night most of the London churches and chapels commemorated the occasion with appropriate services, and large numbers of people turned out. Mr. Spurgeon's Tabernacle was crowded, and many of the Ritualistic churches had large congregations. The services commenced generally at eleven, and lasted a little over the hour. Those whose inclinations did not lead them to places of worship were reminded of the expiring year by the merry peals which rang in many a church steeple."

—Protestant union missionary conventions are multiplying, and the tendency is toward the building up of strong union churches in heathen lands. There ought to be one Presbyterian, one Methodist, one Baptist Church in India, in China, in Japan, and we believe that the time is not far off when such will be the case. We have already given the facts concerning the proposed union on denominational lines in China. Now we read that the Dutch Reformed, the American Presbyterian, and the Scotch Presbyterian missionaries in China have organized the Presbytery of Chinkiwui of the United Church of Christ in Japan. On the occasion three natives were ordained. The Chin Kwai includes fourteen foreign missionaries, three native evangelists and nine churches. We regret to notice, however, that the union does not extend to the educational efforts of the different missions. Much more could be accomplished in this important department of missionary work if the missions would unite in building up a strong educational institution. But perhaps this will be done after awhile. A very interesting union missionary conference, upon the model of that held in China last May, has been held at Abeih, Mount Lebanon, Syria. The Rev. H. H. Jessup writes that at this convention, the first to be held in Syria, there were present thirty-seven native Syrian delegates, four British and ten Americans. Eleven of the foreign and three of the native delegates were ordained ministers. The total number of members was thus fifty-one, and others would have been present but for the unsettled state of the southern part of the mission field. The conference was in session four days, during which thirteen subjects were discussed having reference to mission work. On the topic of systematic giving missionaries and native preachers made some interesting reports, showing that the churches were making progress toward self-support. One place, in which it was not generally thought that anything had been done, reported that one church member had given $152 for building a place of worship and $32 for a cemetery. Beirut reported $861 given last year to all objects. Ain Zehalteh reported $100 given for seats in the church, $36 for cemetery and $58 for the pastor. Other places reported weekly contributions, and the general outlook was one of growth and decided progress in the grace of giving. The conference was a decided success, insomuch that it was decided by a unanimous vote to hold another in 1878.—Independent.

Our Young People.

BABY MARION IN CHURCH.

Baby Marion went to meet God
To hear her grandpa preach;
'Tis Psalms time, I must be good,
I don't mingle her speech.

I've got my new hat dress on,
And my pitty pidderal hat,
And my handkerchief in my pocket,
The's like Aunt Jane's, I know that.

So Marion went to meeting,
As a rose bud sweet and fair,
She prayed up in the singing,
And bowed her head in prayer.

She craved her wee face hair [sic] from
To her little playmate, Grace,
And tried to wipe a sunbeam
From off her mamma's face.

She threw kisses to a lady
Who sat across the aisle;
Gave Dr. Meade some candy
Which made their breath smile.

She climbed upon a footstool,
Whispering "Mamma, don't I talk?
Wish Danpa'd look down here,
But then, perhaps, he'd [illegible]

Then Marion went home again
And jumped on papa's knee.
We all have been to meeting,
'Cause we are dood, you see.

And danpa preached a little baby
Sight in the ark and trees,
And how the rain and dive [sic] impressed
And Noah on the seas.

—Christian Intelligencer.

Letter to the Children.

DEAR LITTLE NIECES AND NEPHEWS: I love you all more than I can tell, and read your little letters with much pleasure. I suppose you all enjoy the exercise of looking for Bible questions and answers. I would suggest that instead of asking where some obscure name, word or passage might be found, you would ask about something that would stimulate the mind to thought and study, which some of you have already done.

I would like to write a letter to each one of you, but as our ADVOCATE family is so numerous I would scarcely be equal to the task; so, with our good editor's permission, I will write to all of you at once through the little postoffice "around the corner" of the ADVOCATE. I am as partial to corners as old Santa Claus is, for when I was a little girl I went to Sunday school in a church that went by the name of Bigotshaw Corner, but I never saw any brick or stone there, or perceived any sign of bigotry, and I used to wonder what the name meant. After I grew older I learned that it was so nicknamed because the preachers preached so much about Jesus and Heaven. He [illegible] it may, some of my earliest and sweetest thoughts about Jesus are connected with Bigotshaw Corner.

Now I want to tell you about a beautiful picture I saw some years ago. It was in a frame, and only the head, shoulders and clasped hands were visible. The face was oval, the forehead high, and crowned with glossy brown hair, silvered over with age. The furrows in the cheeks looked as if they had often been the channel to floods of tears. The eyes were large and brown, and had a far-away look, as if they were patiently waiting to see some heavenly vision, or as if the owner was singing:

"That blessed place of my father and
By faith its delights I do explore;
Come, favor my flight, Lord, to thee,
And wait me in peace to the [illegible]"

The lips denoted firmness, and the small square chin seemed to indicate stability of character; and over all there was a placid smile that showed the possession of that sweet peace that is only known and felt by the children of God.

Some of you may have seen pictures that would answer to this description, and you might say: "It was nothing but a ugly old woman." But I must say it was beautiful, and unlike any I ever saw in private houses or public picture galleries. As I said before, it was in a frame on the wall as I gazed upon it, with parted [illegible] of awe and veneration, not a muscle in motion of the eyelids. Then the tears poured down the cheek, the lips moved as if in the act of prayer, and the hands unclasped and clasped again. Spell bound, I stood and gazed many minutes, and then the picture vanished from my sight. Again I went to the same place and saw the picture, and every time I saw the same strange sight with the same emotions. No, I was not asleep and dreaming. I was as wide awake as I am this moment. And now can any of you guess where or what this beautiful picture was? Yes, I know you can all guess; and lest our Moses of an editor should be delayed with as many letters as he will about "Barney and the Bays' Nest," I will have to tell you at once. The picture was in reality a dear old lady, whom I shall call Naomi, from the relation she bears to me; and she, like the good Daniel of old, went up into the house-top to pray. And there, in the garret window of high-glass, she knelt and talked to Jesus. I was outside in the garden, and, looking up through the orange-boughs, I saw this beautiful picture. I never mentioned it to her, but I heard her say that the burden of her prayers was the conversion of her children.

Some of them are numbered with the children of God, but some are yet out on the hills, "away from the tender Shepherd's care;" and of one who had gone astray she said she had prayed earnestly, and shed tears enough to have washed him. Though that dear old mother is not now able to clamber to the house-top and frame her face at the window, the prayers are still ascending on the ladder of faith, and the answers will come some day, though it may not be till that face is cold as marble, and those hands clasped for aye over the pulseless heart. Perhaps you, my dear children, might see a picture like this every day if you knew where to look for it. Blessed is the child that has a praying mother!

AUNT LORRETTA.

WEST PEARL RIVER, LA., Feb. 5, 1878.

From Our Little Friends.

FAYETTE, MISS., Jan. 27, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I have seen so many letters from boys and girls in the children's column of the ADVOCATE, and have never seen but one from Fayette. I concluded to write you one myself. We have a very large Sunday school. I attend it every Sunday almost. Our minister is Rev. W. B. Lewis, and we all like him very much. Tell A. L. Scott that the Lord's Prayer is found in the sixth chapter of Matthew, commencing at the ninth verse. I will now ask the little people a question: Who was it plowing with twelve yoke of oxen at one time, and upon whom did Elijah cast his mantle? Papa says he is going to take the ADVOCATE this year—that he cannot do without it. Hoping for success, I will close.

Your little friend, ADA KEY.

Note.—Two dollars for the ADVOCATE received.—EDITOR.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, MISS., Feb. 1, 1878.

DEAR BRO. PARKER: As I have never seen any letters from this place I thought I would write one to your dear paper, which I like so much. You visited our little town in the spring of 1876, and seemed so delighted with it that I thought you would come again. Our Sunday school is in a better condition now than it was then. You must come back to see us all again. Now I will answer and ask one or two questions. Christ's first miracle was turning water into wine, at a marriage in Cana of Galilee. It is found in John ii. 5. It was Melchisedek who met Abraham as he was returning from the slaughter of the kings. How am I where was the king of Ai buried?

Your little friend,

CARRIE STEELE.

DUCKWORTH, Feb. 25.

DEAR MR. PARKER: Since the last time I wrote to you one of my dear brothers has died. He was very nearly grown. His name was Andrew. It was hard to give him up, but I hope we will meet him again in that better world above where there will be no more parting. I am sorry to say that our Sabbath school has broken up; but the reason why is because there has been so much sickness in the neighborhood. The doctor has been at our house at least two weeks day and night, this last summer; but we have become healthy at last, and I hope we will remain so. I remain, as ever,

Your true friend,

SIBYL N. TOWNSEND.

DECATUR, ALA., Feb. 6, 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: In your last paper I saw a letter from Belle Page, asking: "Who was King David's father?" and "Who did Paul cause to tremble?" I will answer both of hers. If she will answer one for me, Jesse was the father of David, and Felix trembled before Paul. Now my question is: Who was King David's mother?

I am staying in Eufaula with my brother, Rev. Henry D. Moore. He is presiding elder of the Eufaula district. Rev. Josiah Bancroft is our pastor. I have one of the sweetest ladies in town for my Sabbath school teacher. Your young friend, LALLY PAUL.

CAMERON, TEX., Jan. 26.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I am a little boy nine years old. My papa and mamma are members of the Methodist Church. They take your paper, and I read the letters from the little folks. I go to school to the Concord Institute. I also attend Sabbath school every Sunday. Mr. Freeman is our superintendent. We all like him very much. "Wash-pot" is found in Psalms lx. 8. The father of King David was Jesse. Paul caused Felix to tremble. How many plagues were sent upon the Egyptians? What was the first, and what the last? Your little friend,

HORACE ROBERTS.

"The funeral was all that could be expected," says an aged lady, who looks upon these events with an artist's eye. "The display of flowers was grand, and the widow wept like a born angel."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. B. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Reconciliation.

The appeals and declarations of the word of God everywhere assume that God is placable and ready to forgive the sinner. The atonement has made satisfaction to the law for sin, and the terms of peace are set before us. On the divine side the work is done, and what remains is that the offender accept the offered conditions. God has taken the initiative in the amnesty which he proclaims. The work of reconciliation has gone as far as it can on God's part. There is no needed change in him, nor can there be any. "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself." The sinner is in the attitude of rejecting the proposals of mercy. Hence the only thing that remains to be done in order to salvation is the act on his part of closing in with the proffers of peace.

The message is very completely exhibited in the apostle's words: "Now, then, we are embassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us; we pray you in Christ's stead be ye reconciled to God." The great change to be wrought is not in God, who comes to us with the offer of forgiveness, but in ourselves, who persist in a course of enmity and rebellion against him. The infinite love goes out in compassion after every wanderer, but that wanderer must return before he can receive the kiss of peace and be welcomed into the Father's house. Penitents are sometimes deterred in approaching God for mercy by the sense of their own aggravated guilt, and the conviction that God is somehow arrayed against them. In fact God is more anxious to save them than they are to be saved. The reconciliation, so far as the disposition to pardon them is concerned, is already complete on his part, and the only obstacle is in our opposition and enmity to him.

It is not uncommon for earnest seekers to labor under the impression that a change must be effected in God's disposition toward them when that disposition is already and always gracious and compassionate. The conversion demanded is not in God, but in them. In him "is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." God cannot be converted to the sinner, but the sinner must be converted to God. For what, then, is the penitent to pray? The duty enjoined is to be reconciled to God. If the way to reconciliation on the part of God were not clear of all obstructions, such as might grow out of the law and of his own righteousness, the exhortation to be reconciled to him would be impertinent and a snare to souls. Prayer can not increase God's love for the lost sinner, it cannot add anything to an atonement that is an adequate satisfaction for sin. The one thing to be done is for us to be reconciled to God, and here in God can help the awakened and contrite heart. The inward nature must be brought into harmony with Christ; there must be complete submission to his authority; there must be faith in him as a propitiation, love must take the place of enmity, and the whole life must be brought into accord with the will of God. The familiar truth cannot be too much insisted on, nor made too plain to the penitent and to all that the hinderance to pardon is altogether in themselves. Mercy and love can go no further until these hinderances are removed. The Holy Spirit may show us what they are, and enable us to overcome them. He can throw a flood of light into the darkened chambers of the soul, and expose the delusions of the natural man. He may aid us to make a full surrender, and to put forth that act of faith which is the condition of justification and the fountain of peace.

And yet in the awakened there may be a measure of self-will, a perverse and almost unconscious clinging to some secret sin, and a reserve in reference to some things which reconciliation demands. The power to turn is given, the grace to do it is promised. Are we willing to be reconciled to God? God's willingness is assured. He cannot be more willing, because he is perfectly willing; and at no future time can he be more willing, since he is perfectly willing now. On his part the feast is provided, and the invitation is: "Come, for all things are now ready." We have nothing to ask for so far as concerns the feast, but the thing to pray for is divine guidance and grace to enable us to come to it. It may seem a very commonplace statement to be made that the sole obstacle to salvation is in ourselves, and yet the greatest difficulty with awakened persons is the persuasion that God is somehow averse to pardoning their sins.

The true and right conviction is that God yearns over the sinner and longs to save him, and that the work and processes of the Spirit are directed to this single point of bringing the heart to that state in which alone the blessing can be received. Where there is in us the spirit of reconciliation the cry for mercy will never be unanswered. "God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself." All the wisdom and power of God are being put forth to this end. God's love was exhibited in Christ to overcome the enmity of the carnal mind. The cross is invested with attractive power by the love which it manifests, that it might move men to accept the peace which the divine compassion offers. The question is not whether God will have mercy upon us, but whether we will accept of mercy. It is not whether he will be reconciled to us, but whether we will be reconciled to him. His gracious dispositions toward us are not doubtful. The grounds of alarm are in the dispositions we cherish toward him.

Here and There.

—We would second the earnest call of the book agent for prompt collections for the Publishing House. We do not know what measures the General Conference may take in reference to the matter, but money raised and paid will be that much contributed toward the solution of the question. But little comparatively has been raised so far, and not much more than sufficient to pay the interest for a year. More earnest efforts and more liberal contributions are needed. We publish in another column the action of the Alabama Conference in reference to a measure which the Book Committee is requested to take. We presume it expresses the convictions of a large and important constituency.

—The most important matter to come before the approaching General Conference is the Publishing House. Next to this will rank the missionary interests of the church, in reference to which a vigorous and expansive policy should be initiated. We have done better during the past four years than for many years. But we ought to aim at still better things. Some discussion of the presiding elder question may arise, but it is not likely that anything will be done beyond changing the present limitation of the number of appointments in a district. There is a growing demand for this change, and we think it would be well to make it. The work and functions of the District Conference will come up for examination, and its business may be enlarged. The Committee on Revisals will, as usual, have many amendments of the Discipline before it, and some will probably be adopted, but none of a very important or radical character. One Bishop or more will doubtless be elected, but this will occupy not much time. With all the church to choose from, there will be no difficulty. Our publishing interests will be the most perplexing to deal with, and the disposal of them is the really great and overshadowing question. All of our General Conferences are important. This will be of more than average importance, only on account of the embarrassed condition of the Publishing House. The whole church is looking to the General Conference for light and relief, and we fear that it is also waiting.

—We have made no mention of our purpose to publish the proceedings of the General Conference, because we have always published them, as have also the other church papers. Those that can afford it should take the daily, but our subscribers will get the proceedings in the ADVOCATE. This may be an inducement for some who take no church paper to subscribe. We shall be glad if our brethren will make a note of the fact, and use it to extend our circulation. The spring is opening now, and it is a good time to canvass for the ADVOCATE. It belongs to the necessary supplies of every well-regulated religious family. It is as needful to the soul as bread and raiment for the body. Other things being nearly equal, people will make better crops, and be happier every way for taking a religious paper.

—We still adhere to our often-expressed views regarding an early start in church collections and finance. Divide the regular collections so as to take them up through the year, and do not have them all accumulate upon the last quarter. Conferences that met in December should have taken their Bishops or foreign missions collection by this time, and perhaps more. With us there should be such a distribution as this for the four principal collections: February, April, October, December. Collections for delegates, Publishing House and other objects can be attended to between these dates, according to their importance. Waiting for better times is a snare—a wile of the evil one. Times may be worse rather than better, and they will always be hard so far as collections for religious objects are concerned. We have published a great deal on the subject of church finance—some things rather severe on stewards, people and preachers. All well meant, and perhaps some good has been done. But, after all, each charge must work out its own salvation. Have a system and work it, and let the church at large take care of itself. If there are any incorrigible people, send them the ADVOCATE, and the most of them will be cured after awhile.

—The silver bill passed the Senate, with certain amendments, by a vote of 48 to 21. Should the House agree to the amendments the bill will soon go to the President. Some think Mr. Hayes will veto it promptly, and we rather hope he may. But it is possible that, if vetoed, Congress will pass the bill, notwithstanding, by a two-thirds majority.

—This has been an exciting week in Europe and the East. Neither Russia nor England has, however, entered Constantinople. The British iron-clads have passed through the Dardanelles, but they have anchored a good way short of the Sultan's capital; and the Russian army has retired within the lines agreed upon in the armistice. Bismarck and the Emperor William have spoken, and their voice is for moderation and peace. A peace conference of the powers will soon meet, the Turkish question will be settled probably by them, and there will be peace. This is the present aspect of affairs; but all may be changed by the near developments of diplomacy.

—The memorial demonstrations in honor of the deceased Pope on Wednesday were certainly impressive. The attempt, however, of the Roman Catholics to make it a civil affair, to close the public schools, to suspend business, and to obtain special recognition from the functionaries of the city and State, savors of conceit and impertinence. The demonstration was purely a Roman Catholic affair, with which the State and city have nothing to do. Our State and city governments are not Roman Catholic, neither are our public schools. Our people, as private citizens, can participate in any religious ceremonies they please, and they are free to do such honors to the memory of a deceased Romish ecclesiastic as they may desire; but neither State nor city is Roman Catholic. We can see no sufficient reason why a religious ceremonial and procession should be permitted to interfere with the schools, business, legislation, or the regular sitting of the courts.

Recollections of a Great Man.

When we see a majestic river we naturally desire to know its source, and when we see or hear of mighty men we as naturally wish to know the springs of their power. It is evident, from what has been said of our beloved Bishop Marvin, and from the efforts now being made to perpetuate his memory, that he was generally esteemed a man of extraordinary mental and moral force. Although very many interesting things have been said and written of him, it has been suggested to me, by judicious friends, that the statement of some facts in my possession respecting his start in a religious life would be gratifying to many, and encouraging to those who are laboring for the salvation of souls.

In the year 1839 I was appointed to the St. Charles circuit, which then embraced St. Charles and Warren counties, Mo. In this circuit there was an appointment at the residence of Bro. McConnel, in whose neighborhood the Marvin family lived. Although the services were usually held on Friday, the neighborhood attended well, and perhaps none were more punctual than Bro. Marvin's mother and her children. She was a member of the Baptist Church, and a true Christian, who enjoyed the worship of God in any Christian congregation. The year before I went to the circuit Bro. Marvin became a member of the little society at McConnel's. The first time I preached there he was in the congregation. After preaching (as the custom was in those days) we had a class meeting, to which he remained. After speaking to several members of the class I approached Enoch Marvin, who seemed only a few years younger than myself, and asked if he was a member of the church, to which he promptly replied: "I am." For some reason, for which I could not then account, I was strangely and strongly attracted toward him, and felt an intense desire for his conversion. I therefore, by various arguments, urged him to seek God's regenerating grace at once, and requested him, if he was willing to seek pardon then, to kneel at the chair where we then stood, and promised that we would all pray for him. He instantly complied; and while we prayed the Spirit of the holy One descended upon us, and we wept and rejoiced together. As I arose from my knees I thought: Surely the young man is converted. But no, the burden was still on his heart. When I returned there, a month from that time, I again met him in the congregation and in the class, an earnest penitent. Whenever an invitation was given to mourners to come to the altar for prayer he was ever among the first, and several times the only one to accept it, and would remain as long as any one would stay by him. I wondered at his perseverance, and was often discouraged by his case. I could not understand why he should thus seek so long and not find. I even doubted his sincerity. But an incident occurred on Christmas day of that year which banished my doubts. I held a meeting on that day, if I remember rightly, at the house of Mr. Pritchett, which was so numerously attended that when Bro. Marvin got there, with his company of two young ladies and a young man, they could only find seats for the ladies; so the two gentlemen had to stand, which they did patiently until the close of the sermon; after which I proposed to those who desired the prayers of the church to kneel where they were. Young Marvin alone accepted the invitation. After this he continued publicly and privately to seek salvation up to the close of the year, when I parted from him. When I next heard of him his name was offered, in 1840, to the Missouri Conference for admission. If I remember rightly, he was not present at that Conference, so that I did not see him again until we met at Jefferson City, the seat of the Conference that year. When he appeared among his young companions to stand his examination, which he did creditably, I was transferred to the Mississippi Conference, and therefore did not meet him again until 1850, when I visited St. Louis, where the St. Louis Conference met that year. During that visit I heard many good things said of my friend—that he had outpreached, and taken the congregation from that grand pulpit orator, C. C. Parsons, and that he was the triumphant champion of Protestantism against the papacy. I heard his presiding elder say, in open Conference, that E. M. Marvin had made a deeper and broader impression on that community than any other minister who had ever labored there. Several days after Conference had adjourned I was sitting in his office, when, after conversation on various subjects, there was a pause. Looking at me most earnestly, and with such emotion as I shall never forget, he said: "Do you know that you are my spiritual father?" or words to that effect. I replied that I did not. "Well," said he, "you are the man who started me in the way to heaven." He then spoke of the first class meeting, of his awakening at that time, and of a solemn vow made to God, when he knelt at the chair in that class-room, that, come what would, he would continue to seek the Lord until he found him. He spoke also of the Christmas meeting, and said that there he came near breaking his vow. On the way to that meeting the company had indulged excessively in levity, so that when the call came for penitents he did not know what to do. If he knelt in the presence of his young friends he would appear inconsistent, and perhaps be the subject of jest among them; if he refused, his vow would be broken, and he would, perhaps be lost. He trembled under the emotions produced by these thoughts, and bowed before the Lord. Thus his integrity was maintained, and he left feeling that he might yet be saved. It was long after this when he found the pearl of great price. You can well imagine my feelings during this recital. I was humbled, but thankful to God that I had been the humble instrument, in his hands, of doing good. When he was an exile from his State and family he came to my circuit and spent several weeks with me in protracted meetings. Those were to me among the most delightful of my life. During the time many souls were converted, some of whom preceded him to rest. Of his rapid progress in knowledge and grace, of his conversation, godly simplicity and ability as a minister I will not attempt to write, as these have been fully presented by others. Oh, that his mantle may have fallen upon some one worthy to take his place among the leaders of our Israel! Let all our people say: Amen!

J. L. FORSYTH.

City of Mexico.—Missionaries.

ON STEAMER CITY OF MEXICO,
February 6, 1878.

MY DEAR DOCTOR: We are now some 90 miles from Vera Cruz, stretching forward on a lively sea, with many constellations shining over us like diamonds. The voyage, on the whole, has been a rough one; but our little missionaries—Bessie, Anne and Maybelle—are now skipping about decks as if on land. Bro. and Sister Patterson and Bro. Villegas have been stowed away in their state-rooms, taking their first lessons from the all-inspiring sea, but are now writing in the cabin, hopeful and in excellent spirits. We have been, the last two days, quite in sight of a coast range of mountains and hills covered with dim blue haze, some of their tops as regular in outline as the dome of St. Peter's. Orizaba, 107 miles distant, with its white peak clearly discernible beyond. I made but few observations during the norther, which began at the mouth of the river and kept company with the steamer for some 500 miles. We stopped a day off Tampico, and another off Tuxpan, taking in honey and silver.

By to-morrow night we shall probably have started on our way from Vera Cruz to the city of Mexico. To-morrow we shall first of all touch the ground—still, firm, and manifestly made for man. Then we shall take the children to the public square to see cocoanuts actually growing on trees. The hour for starting on the railroad is half-past twelve A. M. As soon as daylight permits, the wonders of that route will set in, and never cease till our journey ends. As I have expatiated largely several times upon the scenery of the Cordilleras, I shall leave the missionaries this time to make the statement, that out of the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

With much thankfulness and prayerfulness to our heavenly Father, I remain yours truly,

J. C. KEENER.

P. S.—February 7.—We are safe in the harbor, and my birthday!

Death of Rev. B. B. Ross.

It is with deep sorrow that we announce the death of Rev. B. B. Ross, of the Alabama Conference. He died at his home in Auburn, of pneumonia, February 11, after an illness of nearly two weeks. Bro. Ross was professor of moral science in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama. He was, when in health, a most zealous and effective preacher, and one of the purest and most devoted men we have ever known. An excellent memoir, furnished by Dr. M. S. Andrews, will appear in our next issue.

An evening of sacred song will be given by the celebrated singer, Phillip Phillips, at the Carondelet Street Methodist Episcopal Church South, in New Orleans, on Tuesday evening, February 26, in behalf of the Bishop Marvin fund. Soul-stirring songs, new and descriptive, will be sung, interspersed with anecdotes and incidents of travel. Mr. Phillips has sung in nearly all parts of the world, and his reputation is not excelled by any of the singing evangelists of the day. It will be a rare privilege to hear him. Besides the pleasure and religious profit of enjoying this evening of sacred song, our people will have an opportunity of expressing their love for the memory of Bishop Marvin. The proceeds are to be given to the fund for a monument, and for the purchase of a home for the deceased Bishop's family. With these objects in view, and with the prospect of a most delightful entertainment, it is needless for us to urge a general attendance. Admission, fifty cents; children, twenty-five cents.

—The Portuguese government, which enjoys a right of veto in the accord with other Catholic powers, to obtain the election of a Pope who will put an end to the conflict between Church and State.

The Main Difficulty.

No one is entitled to a more candid hearing than the editor of the Southern Methodist on our book-publishing business. Bro. Johnson says:

Undoubtedly—if we will think for a moment—the main point of difficulty, the principal and sufficient reason why our Publishing House is financially embarrassed and distressed—is the smallness of its business. Compared with its field of operations and the machinery it employs, to say nothing of its capacity for a large and constant enlargement of business—the business which it is doing, we candidly confess, is so small that as an enemy or a rival it must appear rather ridiculous, while it is certainly humiliating to true friends.

We have nothing to say here upon the circulation of the periodical literature issued from the Publishing House, except that, as unsatisfactory as it is, it is by no means as much so as is the book trade.

We learn from the last annual exhibit of the agent that during the year ending June 7, 1877, the receipts of the Publishing House from sales of merchandise (wholesale and retail, embracing the books of the general catalogue, and all other books, stationery, etc.) amounted to only $260.03; and this, too, while Southern Methodism numbers 700,000 members, to say nothing of the hosts of sides who belong to its congregations and for whom, as well as for its members, it must provide sound religious literature, or be seriously at fault, as well as suffer loss in every way.

Here we say with emphasis, the trouble, the cause of causes, why the Publishing House is obliged to appeal for relief, for donations: The business is so small it does not pay!

The first thing, in the order of time, that needs to be done, is to provide the relief necessary to the existence of the Publishing House. The owners of the property—that is, the Southern Methodist people—must pay out of their pockets restore, at least, its impaired capital. But this shall not be contributions enough to afford relief, then such as are needed should extend loans—that is, become the bonds of the Publishing House. But all this work is only temporary, to meet an emergency. And we say it deliberately: It will do little or no good, unless it shall be followed by something more important, more necessary, than gifts or loans.

The important, the necessary thing in order to the permanence of the Publishing House, its prosperity and success, is an increase of business—much larger sales of books—a much wider and more general circulation of our religious literature.

The principal dependence of the Publishing House, heretofore and from the beginning, has been upon the traveling preachers, buying books to sell again in their charges. A few brethren still do much work of this kind. Many do a little. Many do nothing, or almost nothing. We have not a word to say here on the score of duty, its performance or neglect—we are just dealing with facts. But we venture to suggest that there has been a great change in the times, conditions, etc. Not much, after all, in men.

But we submit, as a main point and not to be ignored, that traveling preachers do not now, and never will again—so we judge—take books to sell in their charges to the extent that the Publishing House may safely rely upon this means as the chief one to meet the necessity for an increase of business.

The traveling preachers, it is to be earnestly hoped, will in every proper way be encouraged to continue to improve as zealous, direct laborers in this field of usefulness. But the adoption of some other method of operations, in connection with and supplementary to the labors of the traveling preachers, is imperative.

What that method should be we do not know; but we have some views to present on the subject at some other time.

The Felicity Street Sunday school of New Orleans, W. H. Foster superintendent, holds its usual annual jubilee exercises on Friday evening, February 22, at seven o'clock. There will be singing and speaking by the children, presentation of prizes, and other things. This will, as heretofore, be an occasion of great interest and the attendance will doubtless be large.

The St. Louis Christian Advocate of February 13 publishes a dispatch stating that Dr. Wills died on Monday at three P. M. We suppose this is Dr. Wills, president of Central College, Missouri, one of the foremost men in our Southern Church. No particulars are given.

A recent note from Rev. J. T. Sawyer, pastor of our church at Baton Rouge, says they have just taken a collection for the Publishing House which more than makes up the deficit. We hope the whole district and Conference will do likewise. The people are apt to do according to the faith of the pastor.

Rev. Job M. Baker, a superannuated member of North Texas Conference, and one of the oldest preachers in Texas, died on Thursday, the fifth instant, at eleven A. M.

Rev. F. A. Kimball, pastor of St. Paul's church, Methodist Episcopal Church South, Atlanta, Ga., died on the morning of February 12.

Do you know a book that you are willing to put under your head for a pillow when you lie dying? Any one well; that is the book you want to study while you are living. There is but one such book in the world.—Joseph Cook.

ouble Anniversary at Bishop Pierce's.

Assistant Editor Burke, of the uthern Christian Advocate, is a veler, and prints notes—"On the ad," "On Monday, February 4, he present at Bishop Pierce's, on occasion of which he writes pleasly:

his was a big day. Bishop Pierce ted us to stay and be present at a of double anniversary. Sunday his birthday. He entered upon sixty-eighth year. Monday was forty-fourth anniversary of his riage; so he blended the two s and had a dining. The comy, with the exception of Bro. n Pierce, Dr. J. R Smith, and self, was composed of the Bishop's ediate family—his father, his his daughters, his sons-in-law, daughters in-law, and his grandldren, of which latter he has nty-four living. We had a splenlime. The dinner was superb, company delightful, and everyg passed off well. The old doctor in fine health, and seemed as us and happy as a young man of nty-one. He remarked that one g was sure: "The Pierce family rich in children." Yes and t is more, all true, healthy, goodng, clever children. We never a happier expression upon any an countenance than when we d in the Bishop's face as he behis little grandchildren romping playing about the house after bait finished their dinner. At t three P. M. we broke up, thing having passed off most antly.

Books and Periodicals.

HTS AND WINGS. By Rev. C. ens, D. D. New York: William B. Mack publisher, 1878.

author, Dr. Deems, the popustor of the Church of the gers, in New York, needs no uction to our readers. He a graceful pen. There is pith ungency and force in his writ- This volume contains 45 brief on practical topics of a moral eligious character. The headf the first article gives title to ook, and very well expresses rift of the whole collection. of the topics discussed are: Rod of God; The Eucharist; ng Christians; Church Dress; h Manners; Punctuality; Con- Prayers; Having Faithful ren; Christian Giving; Mother- rt; At Home in Heaven. article in the book is readable ell worth reading. It is a voto entertain, instruct and to. Cloth binding, 272 pages, $1.50.

, OR THE LITTLE SAVOYARD ois. A translation. By Mrs. Hyde P. New York: William B. Ma klow, publ 1877.

irring and rather extravagant but one that has its useful les- It abounds in illustrations of ential care and deliverances, evidently written in a devout and for the religious good of people.

ces and Masks is a plea for In friendship, by Dr. S. H. Jr. Published by William cklow, New York.

e Sunday School Magazine, r and Little People for March bright and fair as the opening . The Magazine has several ttful and instructive articles, e Notes on the Lessons are all price. None of our schools, ord to do without these publi- The Magazine is especially able to teachers. It will take ration fully to estimate the which Dr. Cunnyngham is for the improvement of Sunnol teaching.

e Lapilon Quarterly Review uary, 1878—republished by guard Scott Publishing Com- New York—has the followin- : The Renaissance in Italy England; Scientific Lec- Their Use and Abuse; Schlie- Mycenæ; March of an Eng- neration Through Life; Sir e Mays Democracy in Europe; ch Critic on Goethe; Railway nts; Lord Melbourne; The of Commons and the Obstruct- rty; The Meeting of Parliae National Repository for has: The Soldiers' Home at , Ohio, Illustrated; The Mu- f the Hohenzollerns, illustra- emories; The Holy George t; The Border Lands, illus- William Cowper; Flora Mac- ; A Mistake, and What Came Among the Thorns; Winter The Eastern Question; Edllaneany.

ppincott's Magazine for March with the Russians in Bulgaond paper, illustrated; The es at Fort Fisher; Glimpses den, concluding paper, illus The Strange Story of Paul ; Europe's New Coal Field; Farce and Comedy, and other .

ith is the title of a new y paper published at Santa al. Our gifted friend and Rev. H. W. Featherstun, is nd proprietor. The first numlled with excellent selections from religious authors. We wish success to Truth. Price, $1 a year.

—The March-April number of the North American Review will contain a discussion of the subject of Eternal Punishment, written by six of the most prominent clergymen in the country, representing as many sects.

—Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine for February is a valuable publication for gardeners, and all interested in the cultivation of flowers. Published by James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

Remember, this is what a dying sinner said to the Savior of sinners. Both were being crucified—the one "indeed justly," but the other had "done nothing amiss." He was blameless and sinless among men—he was spotless before God. He did no sin—he was wounded, crucified, slain for ours. One of the vilest of the great sinner-train of human kind hung in the agonies of death by the side of Jesus. He looked upon our dying Lord. He was the only one in all the world just then who called him Lord. He had been taught by the Holy Ghost—taught to believe, to trust Jesus. And his heart spoke out his faith: Lord, remember me. Oh, if only that dying, sin-atoning Lamb remember me, all will be well. Jesus never disappoints a sinner's faith. Reader, you may be the very worst. Think of that bleeding form. It was all for you. Trust him. Leave yourself in his hands. He will not cast you out. The thief's "Lord, remember me," was met by a blessed answer—an answer which goes down through all the ages to comfort penitent sinners who believe on him: "Thou shalt be with me in paradise."—Rev. J. E. Symonds.

Publisher's Department.

NOTICE TO AGENTS.—The demand for Bishop Marvin's book, Can We Know, &c., has become so great that it is impossible for us to fill orders for agents promptly, and attend to the work of publishing the book. We have therefore made arrangements with Logan H. Thompson, agent of the Advocate Publishing House at Louis, as our general agent for its sale, to whom all orders and applications for agencies must hereafter be made. Those who have heretofore ordered from us will be supplied by Mr. Thompson.

PHAN, Bruns & Co., Publishers.
St. Louis, Feb. 1878.

DRY Goods of every description can be purchased from E. H. Adams & Bro., 594 Magazine Street, at low prices. These gentlemen are well known to many of our readers, and need no recommendation at our hands. We would simply call attention to the fact that a new assortment has been received at their store. For particulars see advertisement.

DELAMAR SAFE AND LOCK COMPANY.—On the eighth page an interesting letter will be found from D. Currie & Co. at Edwards' Depot to the general agent here in reference to a fearful fire which this safe went through. There is the better safe manufactured, and no company stands higher than the above.

THE SOUTHERN BELLE.—Every lady ought to subscribe to the above popular paper. Those who have already subscribed to it are very much pleased, and say they would not be without it. Only fifty cents per month. It is devoted to fashion, instruction and amusement. See the advertisement.

MR. J. H. CAMPMAN'S stove advertisement appears for the first time in this paper to-day. We only repeat what we have had occasion to say before that Mr. Campman is a worthy, reliable man, and one whom we warmly recommend to our friends who may need anything in his line to call on.

W. W. WASHBURN, on Canal street, corner of Exchange Alley, has been in this city long enough to carry on the business of a photographer, and to do not one of the best we know of here. The secret is going to have pictures taken will find his advertisement in this paper, giving fifty stars.

LADIES' HAIR STORE.—C. T. Schilling, 128 Canal street, has the best regulated hair store in the South. His hair goods very popular with the ladies from the fact that they never leave the store without being suited, and the prices are very reasonable. Country orders attended to.

CHARLES O. LANGEBECKER has succeeded to the drug business of H. Stumpf, on First street, and will hereafter conduct the business on his own account. Fresh drugs, perfumery, etc., will be kept constantly on hand, and prescriptions filled at all hours. See card.

THERE are published on this page several certificates from parties who have been cured by Dr. Porter, who is temporarily staying in this city, at 31 St. Charles Street. Dr. Porter makes a specialty of chronic diseases. Those interested should call and see him.

FURNITURE.—For furniture of all kinds, from the most expensive to the cheapest, call at R. M. & B. J. Montgomery's, corner of Chippewa and Poydras streets. You cannot do better. Country orders satisfactorily attended to. See the advertisement.

COMMISSION MERCHANT.—Mr. J. Diamond, on Poydras street, will give attention to all business intrusted to him by planters and country merchants. He should will be found at interest to all who wish to buy or sell any produce on this market.

LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS.—There is no better place to get anything in the above line than at J. Frank & Co.'s, 112 Poydras street. This house stands second to none in this country for reliability and fair dealing. Give them a trial.

CHINA PALACE.—For everything in the crockery line go to M. L. Navra's, 120 Canal street. He is offering bargains.

SWEET ODORS.

Almost every flower that possesses a desirable odor is used in the Culine Perfumes made by Dr. Price. It is from these rich blossoms that Dr. Price's Perfumes obtain their peculiar sweetness and floral character. His Floral Riches, Pet Rose, Hyacinth and Alsia Bouquet are the fashionable odors.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PUZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not contain the skin-scraping blister, or leave black specks in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants with perfect safety. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 37 North Sixth street, St. Louis. (Lindell Hotel.)

BUSINESS NOTICES.

YOUNG LADIES, beware of the injurious effects of face powders. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance use DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC AND LIVER PILLS. For sale by all druggists.

WE WOULD advise our patrons to use DR. HARTER'S ELIXIR OF WILD CHERRY. It is a delicious aromatic cordial. It will prevent disease in the low bottom lands and marshy regions, especially in the South. To our knowledge it will cure Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Headache and general debility. It will neutralize the malaria and impurities in the blood, cleansing the liver and removing the stomach. For sale by all druggists.

NEW YORK, October 2, 1877.

DR. V. W. BLANCHARD—Dear Sir: My attention was called to the Blanchard Tonic Extract of Wheat during the month of January, this year. From that time to the present I have constantly prescribed it to my patients of all ages, from eighteen months to eighty-three years. In every case the result has been exactly that claimed by you. It is by far the most valuable and reliable tonic I have ever met with.

EDWARD SUTTON SMITH, M. D.,
20 Irving Place.

See advertisement of the Blanchard Food Cure Company.

COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.—That pleasant and active agent in the cure of all consumptive symptoms, "Wilbor's Compound of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime," is being universally adopted in medical practice. Sold by the proprietor, A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston.

MR. ED. BROWN, of Toulminville, Ala., says: "My father and Brother died from Cancer, and Dr. Grace removed one from my face, three years ago, without the use of the knife, and with but little pain. I am now perfectly well." Card in this paper.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician, at 161 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. (who has paid much attention to nervous diseases), has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile, combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures headache, either bilious, dyspeptic, nervous, or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are supplying by mail. He prepares it in pills at 50 cents per box. The Doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Baltimore Commercial Herald.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist for one postage free.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wells' Catarrh Remedy or Fever and Ague is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement, that Forbes & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any Quinine, Arsenic, strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by all druggists.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DR. JAMES PORTER.

Well-Attested Virtues of His Magnetic and Scientific Treatment.

PILES.—Mr. H. Waters, 471 Bienville street—Piles of the worst form for fifteen years; cured by Dr. Porter in two weeks. Can be referred to.

Mr. Nesbit, 120 Chartres street—Piles; an extreme case, cured in three weeks; may be referred to.

DEAFNESS.—Mr. Conrad Weckerstman, 503 Canal street—Deafness and Noise in the Head cured by two magnetic treatments.

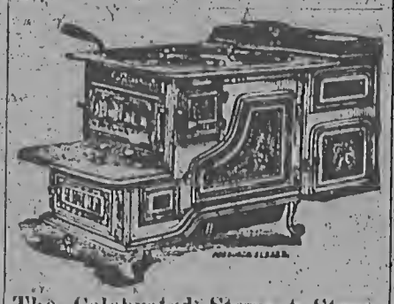
SCIATICA.—Mr. P. Eagan, 19 Girod street.—Sciatic Rheumatism since last March. Had tried the best physicians without benefit. Cured by two treatments.

FITS.—Mr. John Bunbury, Baker, 130 St. Mary street.—Epilepsy for years, never having less than two spasms per week, cured by Dr. Porter three months ago.

RHEUMATISM.—Mr. T. P. Devine, Cotton Broker, 187 Common street.—Chronic Rheumatism cured by Dr. Porter in a few magnetic treatments.

By Dr. Porter's treatment patients are cured of almost every form of chronic Ailments in a few days. Therefore persons living at a distance need not remain in the city but a very few days in order to have a permanent cure effected.

Office hours from 9 A. M. until 7 P. M., at his PARLORS, No. 14 ST. CHARLES STREET, where he may be consulted until about the first of May.



The Celebrated Stewart Stove.

IMPROVED PATTERN OF 1873.

THE best Cook Stove in the world. Will last twenty years and do more work with the same amount of fuel than any other Stove that was ever made. Pleases to repair old Stewart Stoves always on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,
133 Poydras St., Agent for Louisiana.

ROWELL & CHESMAN Advertising Agents, THIRD & CHESTNUT STS., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Publish a Book of Advertisements, and how AND WHERE TO DO IT. Have an Advertiser about to enter business, or one who has decided to advertise, write them. Have a party making contracts, either with the papers or with such Agents. It costs nothing to get prices, circulations, and much other matter of value, which will save time and money to those seeking the cheapest and best, or making contracts for New Spaper Advertising. Send address on postal card, and the book will be forwarded free of charge.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGEBECKER,
Successor to H. Stumpf
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in Rare Chemicals, Fine German and American Drugs, Perfumery and Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day or night.

J. DIAMOND,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
AND DEALER IN SOUTHERN AND WESTERN PRODUCE,
98 Poydras Street 98
Near Magazine street, New Orleans.
Always on hand Flour, Beans, Potatoes, Onions, Fruits, Country Eggs etc. Special attention given to the selection of Seed Potatoes.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,
CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.
LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S
BOOTS AND SHOES
OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.
Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.
MY MOTTO—Quick Sales and Small Profits.
Marks our railroad cars pass in front of the store.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
18 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business in Orange principles and at Orange rates.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO BELLS
Church, School, Fire alarm, Tire-proof, low-priced, warranted. Catalogue with 700 testimonials, prices, etc., sent free.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.
cow

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no two alike, with name, 10 cts. 4, MINKER & CO., Nassau N. Y.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

$200 a month. Agents wanted to represent Child & Pratt, Cin'ti, O. cow

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

68 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

WOULD call special attention to their extensive stock of DRESS GOODS, LINEN AND COTTON GOODS, Embroideries, Laces, Goods for Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Made Underwear, etc.

SAMPLES SENT FREE.

ALSO TO THEIR

Dressmaking Department.

Cloaks, Dresses, etc., made to order promptly, in a superior manner, and in the latest style, at moderate rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement, and samples of materials, with estimate of cost, sent upon application.

All orders amounting to $20 or over will be sent free of freight charges by express; but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of money.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK

No. 592 Magazine Street,

Between Erasmian's and Adams'.

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in Northern markets, with special attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable; made, as they are, expressly for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far-famed MILES, of Philadelphia, and BURT, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. LYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,
5p Manufacturer and Dealer.

Matchless—Unrivaled—FRANZ LISZT.

ALL World's Exhibitions OF RECENT YEARS:

Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; Santiago, 1875; Philadelphia, 1876,

HAVE AWARDED THEIR

HIGHEST HONORS

TO THE

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS

FOR

Demonstrated Superiority.

NEW STYLES at reduced prices, from $51 upward. Over 5 OCTAVE, DOUBLE REED, $100. NEW STOPS, just in. ELEGANT UPRIGHT CASE, NEW STYLE, $125. In JET AND GOLD BRONZE, $155. Sold also for installments, or rented until rent pays. A small Organ of best quality may be obtained by payment of $7.50 per quarter, for ten quarters. ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES and PRICE LISTS free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont St., 25 Union Sq., 250 Wabash Ave.,
BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT.

Edward Lilienthal, Jeweler, 95 Canal street, will sell at cost during the current month his entire stock of Diamonds, American and Imported Watches, fine Jewelry, Silverware, Silver-Plated Ware, Clocks, and any article in his line, being recent selections for the retail trade in this city. Every article will be guaranteed to be as represented. His old customers and the public generally are invited to call.

J. M. BALL,

DEALER IN

Staple and Fancy Groceries,

TEAS, COFFEE, SUGAR, BUTTER, STARCH, Soap, and everything appertaining to a FIRST-CLASS GROCERY.

Corner Philip and Magazine Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Goods delivered free to all parts of the city.

TO HAVE GOOD HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE KEPT IN ORDER.

For Pamphlets address DR. SANFORD, New York.
cow

CORNS, COLDS, ANTHEA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy. Combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores. And by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Fulton Fields street. Middle depot—DeBlanc & Co., 20 Water St.; St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 5p

First-Class Visiting Cards.

30 all different ..... 10c 25 Autumn Leaf ..... 10c.
5 White ..... 10c. 20 Snowflake ..... 10c.
50 Tinted ..... 10c. 25 Repp ..... 10c.
25 Plaid ..... 10c. 25 Damask ..... 10c.
25 Floral ..... 10c. 25 Scroll, with name. 50c.

Send a 3c. Stamp extra for each name when the order amounts to less than $1. When more I pay the postage, and thus you save 3 cents on $1 worth. No cheaper work in the world at any price. Money refunded if they don't suit. W. C. CANNON, 712 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

ORGANS Superb $340 Organs, only $95. Pianos, retail price by other manufacturers $900, only $260. Beautiful $1500 Pianos, $175—best ever warranted 15 days' test trial. Other bargains; want them introduced. Agents wanted. Paper free. Address D. F. BEATTY, PIANOS Washington, New Jersey.

EPILEPSY or FITS CURED!

By Dr. Rose's Epileptic Remedies. TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE. Cures speedy and permanent. Address ROSS BROS., No. 511 Main St., Richmond, Ind.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FRESH FIRST-CLASS

DRY GOODS!

FANCY GOODS, NOTIONS, ETC., ETC.,

AT REASONABLE RATES.

E. H. ADAMS & BROTHER,

NO. 594 MAGAZINE STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES, FROM WHICH THERE IS NO DEVIATION. PROMPT AND CAREFUL ATTENTION TO COUNTRY ORDERS. 5p 6c

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot, and differ from the finer feet coverings, with the origin of properties to heat, and are so prepared as to render them damp-proof, and for Rheumatism and Cold Feet are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods, becoming popular and of more value. Sample pairs sent to any address, by mail, on receipt of 25 cents. In ordering state size, and whether for lady or gentleman.

S. TUTTLE & SONS, 324 Arch St., Philadelphia.

THE WONDERFUL PEN-HOLDER!

NO INK REQUIRED.—We have invented and patented Levy's Pen-Holder which contains Solidified Ink (not gum) and with which to write WATER will write 8 pages! Sample, post-paid, 25 cents. Gold dipping in cents. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment.

☞ The Christian Union of Sept. 5, 1877, says: "We have had a chance to try the pen for this editor, and have found one of these pens and no other to keep us busy with the time."

J. T. HILLYER, 360 Broadway, N. Y.

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1853.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $20.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.

MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a suit.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 set Cape and Muff to $25.

Extra Large FUR CAPES: White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $15.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article in it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE THING LOOKED FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the price. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

FRENCH MILLINERY,

BERLIN ZEPHYR WORSTED,

AND

DRESSMAKING

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

NO. 9 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL,

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style, and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr Slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well-known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any Disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,

ROXBURY, MASS.,

AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 5p

A. A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, TENN., Breeder and Shipper of Pure-bred Land and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications, which are respectfully solicited.

50 Elegant Mixed Cards, with name, 13c. Agent's outfit, 10c. SEAVY BROS., Northford, Ct. cow

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AT

NAVRA'S

CHINA PALACE!

THE LARGEST & BEST ASSORTED

Crockery Store in the South,

YOU CAN PURCHASE

French China, Stone China,

GLASSWARE,

CUTLERY, SILVER-PLATED WARE

AND

GENERAL

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS

Cheaper than in Any Other Store

IN THE CITY.

☞ No trouble to show goods nor to answer letters for prices.

M. L. NAVRA,

120 CANAL STREET (OCTAVO BUILDING),

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent.

THE MOST

DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED!

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Cots, Steamboat Berths and Hospital Cots to the Largest Beds. 12 to feet.

General Agents for Southern States—49 COMMERCIAL PLACE, New Orleans, La.

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

A GREENHOUSE AT YOUR DOOR

FOR $100 EACH.

A hundred other things cheap.

Also an Immense Stock of Fruit & Ornamental Trees Evergreens, Shrubs, etc.

Our Catalogue for 1878 (24th year), 13 Greenhouses, 400 Acres.

STORRS HARRISON & CO.
PAINESVILLE OHIO
cow

Fifty pages, 500 Illustrations, with descriptions of thousands of the best Flowers and Vegetables in the world, and how to grow them, all for 25 Two-CENT postage stamps. Printed in German and English.

Vick's Flower and Vegetable Garden. Solid in paper covers, 25 cents; cloth covers, $1.

Vick's Illustrated Monthly Magazine, 32 pages, fine Illustrations, and Colored Plate in every number. Price, $1.25 a year. Five copies for $5. Address

JAMES VICK, Rochester, N. Y.
jn 21

WHEELER & PIERSON,
Successors to Pierson & Hess,
NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,
Opposite the City Hotel,
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good Goods, sell at low prices, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5 25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with name, 10c. Stamped. J. B. HEATH, Nassau, N. Y.

Farm, Garden and Household.

MILLET.

After taking the position that there is no better hay plant in the world than millet (German millet, we suppose,) the Florida Dispatch, of New Orleans, says:

Sow from the middle of April to the end of June. It will mature in about sixty days from date of sowing. Sown on good land, well plowed and harrowed, it will yield from one to six tons per acre. There is no crop that will pay better, especially if you take into consideration the small amount of labor necessary to bring it to maturity. If you have not enough grass and grain to warrant the purchase of a reaper and mower, then combine with two or three of your neighbors in the purchase of one; then you can cut your grain and make your hay at a small cost. See to it, farmers, that the streams of greenbacks flowing to the North for hay, oats, beef and mutton are stopped. As long as these streams continue to flow, so long will greenbacks be scarce with us. Mild and open as has been the past winter, many car-loads of hay have been brought from the Northern market and sold here from $1.20 to $1.75 per one hundred pounds. Sow millet, then, and make enough to supply this demand. Do not rush your hay all into market in the autumn, when purchasers are both few and independent; put it into good, compact bales on your cotton press, and keep it until it is wanted.

All strong and healthy cattle are fat in the autumn, and hundreds of tons of beef could be supplied from our own herds if they were only kept in the condition that the summer range leaves them, until the beef is wanted. A liberal supply of good hay and a little attention would keep the cattle fat all the winter, and thus avoid the necessity of bringing beef from other States, and of course leave more money among us.

By a judicious use of the manure that accumulates in every cow lot unless the lot is placed on a hillside on purpose to let the manure wash away, large quantities of turnips can be grown at a small cost. Sow from the twentieth of July to the middle or end of September. When late in October begin to sow red oats. Your turnips and oats will make the cheapest and best mutton that we have had in our market for many years.

KEEPING POULTRY IN ORCHARDS. This is a matter that should be practiced when possible. We believe that if farmers and fruit-raisers knew the benefits arising from such management they would at once adopt it. Last fall we visited an orchard in which fowls were kept, the owner of which told us that before the fowls were confined in it the trees made little or no growth, and only a corresponding amount of fruit was obtained. But what a change was evident now. The grass was kept down the weeds killed, and the trees presented an appearance of thrift, which the most enthusiastic horticulturist could not but admire and envy. The growth of the trees was most vigorous, and the foliage remarkably luxuriant. The fruit was abundant, of large size, and free from worm and other imperfections. This excellence was accounted for by the proprietor, who remarked that the "hens ate all the worms and curculio, in their reach, even the canker-worm." He found less trouble with their roosting in trees than he expected, and that a picket fence six feet high kept them within bounds. His orchard was divided into three sections, and the fowls were changed from one to another, as the condition of the fowls or the orchard section seemed to require.—Poultry World.

ANGORA GOAT-RAISING.—The Virginia Enterprise has the following: N. Gilmore, Soda Springs, several miles from Emerald Bay, Lake Tahoe, visited Virginia City lately. He is a very successful breeder of Angora goats, a flock of 270 of which animals he has at his place at the head of Fallen Lake, two miles from his springs. In all he has over 400 of these goats, some 400 being at a ranche below Placerville. At this ranche all the animals are herded in winter. He crosses the Angora with the common goat, and continues to breed in and in until the proper length of the fleece is attained. At the first crossing the wool produced is short and the fleece light but finally the staple becomes long and fine, and the fleece heavy, the weight being five or six pounds to each animal. The short wool sells to manufacturers in the Atlantic States at 65 cents per pound, while the long is worth from 75 cents to $1.10. Mr. Gilmore finds no difficulty in rearing the goats on his mountain ranches. The wonder is that more men owning mountain ranches do not go into the business.

SALAD CREAM.—Take the yolks of three fresh eggs, and whisk them well up with ten grains of cayenne pepper. Then take one ounce of mustard, salt one drachm and a half, salad oil half an ounce; mix well with half a pint of the best vinegar, and then add the two lots together. Shake them well, and you will have an excellent mixture, which will keep for twelve months.

A young lady who recently renounced Romanism, being told that as she was born in a Catholic church she might to die in it, promptly replied: "I was born in sin, but I have made up my mind not to die in it."

The eye is made for sight, yet seeth many things which should be soon forgotten.

HEALTH PROMOTED.

Health is promoted by good and appropriate food. Sufferers only to be made by using in preparing it articles known to be free from poisonous adulterations, such as Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, which eminently exhibits indorsements being perfectly pure and wholesome.

MEDICAL.

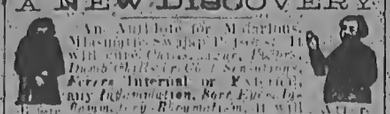
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic and Paludal Poisons. It will cure Chronic, Periodic, Bilious, Remittent, Congestive, Pernicious, Autumnal, Marsh, Country, Fever & Ague, Dumb Chills, or Chill Sickness, Forms Internal or External, any Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism, It will Cure Tetter, and is the favorite Salve in the Family. Take no other Pills but the Dr.'s Pills to be used with his Liquid Substitute for Quinine.

No other Medicine required, if is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will eradicate every ill, poisonous, inflammatory action that may exist in the system.

When you take a tea-spoonful, it is taken up by the absorbents in vessels in the stomach, follows and destroys all poisonous elements in the blood, and blood vessels relieves the causes of Chills and their accompanying diseases.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY has cause to rejoice. This new discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will make glad many an anxious countenance, curing Chills, Shakes, Ague, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, price $1.00; also Powder, to Use Pure It Ourselves, sent by mail all over the world $1.00 per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
311 Chestnut Street. ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat or Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules.—They are Sugar Globules, containing medicine. As rapidly as the Globule dissolves in your mouth, the saliva, acting on the medicine in the Globules generates a healing Gas, which must be inhaled; it permeates every cell in the Lungs and stomach by Diffusion. In the Throat, the decay of the Lungs must cease. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLEAN'S COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES, in Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Colds, and all Sorenes in the Throat or Lungs. Mark their wonderful Magic Influence. Trial boxes by mail all over the world, 25 cts.; per box. Postage Stamps will be received for them.

Address, DR. J. H. McCLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street. ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON. Is the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

Before Tak. This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat, or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, get it on the sore parts in contact with the disease, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Blindness, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Crusting, Fruitions, Sweating Feet, etc. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the poison on every sore and cure it. Trial boxes, 25 cts. by mail.

After Tak.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

firm

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians. Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Biliousness, Fever & Ague, and Mental Colic.

THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, and Indigestion.

THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and Rapid Low Spirits.

THEY ACT on the Blood, and remove all Impurities.

THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Disease.

THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Bilious Colic.

THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the body.

THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.

THEY ARE Invaluable for Female Irregularities.

THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.

THEY ARE harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

DR. J. J. GRACE,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
AT WHISTLER, ALA.,
(Six miles north of Mobile, on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

Refer by Capt. J. Burris, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Cogle, state line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Byrd, Chamberlain, Ala.; Henry C. Richards, Marion, Ala.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!
AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL,
Honey Island Wood & Coal Yard,
NO. 275 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,
Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1080.
Delivered to all parts of the city.
PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord	$6 50
OAK WOOD, per Cord	5 50
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord	5 50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. BADELAT, Agent.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES
NO. 155 CAMP STREET.

THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture which he will dispose of at prices that will DEFY COMPETITION. Give me a call and see for yourselves.

Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at lowest rates. All Furniture and Bedding put in perfect repair and delivered to order. Moving, Packing, etc., in full, done at the lowest possible prices on application to

HENRY UTHOFF,
155 Camp Street.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale cotton.

BUYERS CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IF IN FLAT TIES.

Send for circular, containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS
FLOURING MILLS.
Webster & Dillingham,
NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS,
MANUFACTURERS OF
THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR
by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.
GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh-ground daily.
Flour delivered to all parts of the city.
CHOICE BRAN, suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rate.
Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

H. P. BUCKLEY,
5 CAMP STREET,
AMERICAN and FOREIGN
WATCHES,
DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE,
AT LOWEST PRICES.
Special attention to Watch Repairing.

Dunbar's Wonderful Discovery.
BETHESDA WATER.
Onward from this date I have appointed
L. C. Arny,
Nos. 26, 28 and 30 Bienville Street, N. O., my General Agent for New Orleans and the State of Louisiana for the sale of the celebrated Bethesda Water, of Waukesha, Wis. It is the acknowledged cure of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Liver and all urinary diseases.
Call for certified pamphlets and directions for using the Bethesda Water, at my General Agent's office. RICHARD DUNBAR.
WAUKESHA, WIS., Jan. 25, 1875.
This Water, in packages of 10, 20 and 40 gallons, for sale as above.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,
146 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

GENERAL
COMMISSION MERCHANT
FOR THE SALE OF
COTTON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,
AS WELL AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.
Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Staves, Timber, Lumber, Hoop-Poles, Fire Wood, etc. Liberal advances made on consignments.
A. P. DuHAY,
NO. 11 UNION ST., New Orleans.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Reels, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle-loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1039.

FREDERICK GOOD,
MANUFACTURER OF
LARD OIL AND STEARINE.
Improved Machinery Oils, also Mineral Lard Oil, and extra Refined Cotton Seed Oil constantly on hand. 118 PETERS AND 40 COMMERCE STREET, New Orleans.

A GREAT INVENTION—TOTMAN'S PATENT CORN MILL.—This is the only mill ever invented that will make Grits and Meal at the same time, with one operation, direct from the corn. It will also grind Coffee, Spice, Salt and Meal, direct from the ear. Capacity, 20 bushels per hour. Price, only $40. Call and see it now in operation, or send for illustrated circular, at No. 172, Magazine street, near corner of Julia street, New Orleans. E. TOTMAN,
Patentee and Proprietor.

J. F. BOHRBACHER,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
237 CAMP STREET 237
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best custom makers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's Home-made Congress Boots at $3 50.

HEATH PIPPET & LAKE,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Muslin Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Cornices, Engravings, etc.
Frames made to order—a specialty.
No. 30 Camp Street, New Orleans.

H. H. DUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
No. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Commerce, New Orleans.

$1200 SALARY. Permanent salesmen wanted (or if Specific Goods to dealers. No peddling. Expenses paid. Address S. C. GRANT & Co., 3, 5, 7 & 9 Home St., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARSDEN'S
Pectoral Balm!
THE GREAT REMEDY FOR COUGHS, COLDS,
AND CONSUMPTION.
FINLAY & THOMPSON,
SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

THE
SOUTHERN BELLE,
AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.
DEVOTED TO
Fashion, Instruction and Amusement.
Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 CANAL ST.
Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 50 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal street, New Orleans, General Agent for the old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.
MADAME FRICKE
begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove, on the
FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,
from her present residence, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over the vestibule of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice and in the latest styles. Respectfully, E. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,
GENERAL
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union,
NEW ORLEANS.
LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on Consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.
Sole Agent in the West for Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

MAKE $100 PER MONTH
YOU CAN
Acting as Our Salesman.
We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed, and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,
G. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 283 E. MADISON STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

BREECH-LOADERS.
WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our full Stock of these goods ordered specially, has laid a few weeks has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Shot-guns alone our assortment in Store comprises upward of 60 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before owing to present low cost of good and sterling exchange, while each one of stock has been marked down to the net cash advance of value from old time to gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves whether you wish to buy now or not. POLSOM BROS.,
Decatur (Old L. vee) St., opp. Post-office.
Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

LADIES' HAIR STORE
AND
FANCY GOODS BAZAR.
G. T. SCHILLING,
159 CANAL ST. 159
keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors of all sizes and lengths. Jewelry, Ladies' Combs and Hair Ornaments, etc., made up in all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Fans. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

WHOEVER
Appreciates Honest Dealing!
Will do well to call at
S. EHRLICH'S
CLOTHING HOUSE
218 Charles St., New Orleans.
Country orders promptly attended to.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,
EAGLE HALL,
PRYTANIA STREET, CORNER TRANIA,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
THE Fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address
GEO. C. PERROT, Principal,
P.O. Box 125, New Orleans, La.

D. MERCIER & SONS,
MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'
CLOTHING!
HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.,
Cor. Dauphine and Bienville Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Orders from Country Merchants promptly executed on the most reasonable terms.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.
152 Camp Street 154
Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

SENT FREE—Our fine illustrated Price List of Watches and Jewelry. We are the cheapest house in America. Agents wanted.
Rogers Manuf'g Co.,
240 State St., Chicago, Ill.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,
37 CARONDELET STREET.
EXTRACT FROM THE
ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,
NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877	$367,731 12
Losses paid within the year	229,055 75

Cash Dividends for the Year:

Interest (semi annually)	10 per Cent.
Premiums	20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877	$1,282,008 91

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium. ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. E. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John L. Noble,	T. Lyle Lyon,
John Chalk,	Samuel H. Reed,
Richard Milliken,	Joseph McElroy,
John L. Warren,	Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner,	H. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander,	Wm. C. Black,
A. A. Yales,	Charles Chalk,
John L. Adams,	L. C. Arny,
Isaac Scherck,	Wm. Hartwell,
R. M. Walmsley,	C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May,	A. T. Janin,
S. H. Snowden,	Jos. Bowling,
	A. M. Bickham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,
80 CAMP STREET 91
BRANCH STORE—597 MAGAZINE ST.,
WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.,
NEW ORLEANS,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE!
BUILDERS' HARDWARE,
GRATES, CUTLERY,
STOVES AND RANGES,
HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.
SOLE AGENTS FOR THE
CHARTER OAK STOVE.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.
LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Griswold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET, universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH made by agents selling the Improved Shuttle Sewing Machine. Address Shuttle Machine Co., Boston, Mass.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. Outfit and Sample Cards sent free. Address W. G. CRITTENDEN, 218 Fulton Street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromo Cards. Sample Cards and Chromo, Plain Cards and Chromo, Premium Cards and Chromo, Agents' Outfit, all for 25 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Established 1830.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted, male or female, to introduce Pettibone Patent Skirt Holder. Address PETTIBONE & CO., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery
AND FANCY GOODS!
EMBRACING
All the Latest Novelties and Patterns
OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE, and is unusually extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, guarantees the purchase of all goods from first hands, thus securing to me only a choice, but the very lowest figures, and hence I can offer

BARGAINS
Both in Price and Quality of Goods,

that will suit the purse and captivate the taste.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans,
Second door above Custom-house.

CARPETS!
ELKIN & CO.,
165 CANAL STREET 165
ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF
Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.
Tapestry Brussels from $1 to $1 25 per yard.
Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc.
MATTINGS of all descriptions.
All at extremely LOW PRICES.

CEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HENRY DE VERGES, RICHARD DE VERGES, P. S. LACOSTE.
H. DeVERGES & CO.,
HARDWARE,
17 DECATUR ST. 19
Opposite Postoffice, New Orleans.
Importers and dealers in Iron, Nails, Cutlery, Guns, Agricultural Implements, Oils, Paints, Cordages, Plows, etc.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

JUST PUBLISHED.
The Paragon of Holiday Books for Musical People.
"THE GREAT TONE-POETS"
BEING SHORT MEMOIRS OF THE GREATER COMPOSERS.
By F. Crowest.
A valuable, convenient and beautiful work for musical readers; it is a perfect compendium of information concerning the most eminent composers and their works. The volume contains biographical sketches of the following composers and their works:
Bach, Handel, Gluck, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Weber, Rossini, Schubert, Meyerbeer, Mendelssohn and Schumann.
Nothing could be of greater service to the musical student than this elegant work.
Bound in Cloth, $1.50.
Sent by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.
Published by
JOHN CHURCH & CO.,
CINCINNATI, Ohio,
And 805 Broadway, New York.

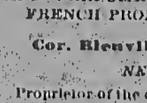
National Sunday School Publications.
The Sunday School World.—A Journal, 16 pages, quarto, containing Text, Notes, Lessons, Papers, Dialogues, Blackboard Exercises, Music, etc., for the Sunday School Lessons, by JOHN HALL, D. D., of New York, and others, for teachers. Only 50 cents a year, 5 copies to one address, $2 25; 13 copies, $5; 26 copies, $10; 100 copies, $35; 1,000 copies, $300; 5,000 copies, $1,500; 10,000 copies, $2,500. Single copies, 5 cents; in clubs, 4½ cents; postage paid.
INTERNATIONAL Lesson Pictures for Scholars.—1. Advanced, 2. Intermediate, with pictures. Each, 100 copies per quarter, in advance, $2.
Quarterly Review Papers on the International Lessons.—1. Large leaf, printed on sheets 33½ by 5 feet, 13 sheets per quarter, to be viewed by the whole School, $1 per year. 2. The Superintendent's Lesson Paper. 3. The Scholar's and Teacher's Lesson Paper. Each, 10 copies, per year, 40 cents; per quarter, 10 cents.
The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by Rev. RICHARD NEWTON, D.D. 100 copies monthly, $12; semi-monthly, $24. By the year, 25 cents monthly, $2.50; semi-monthly, $5. Single subscriptions, 25 cents monthly, 50 cents semi-monthly.
Catalogues and specimen copies of publications furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions received at the Society's Depositories, as follows:
A. KIRKPATRICK, 112 Chestnut St., Cincinnati, O.
G. S. SCOFIELD, 8 and 10 Bible House, New York.
J. A. McCURDY, 7 Beacon Street, Boston.
WM. F. POPE, 78 Randolph, near State St., Chicago.
S. PARSON, 207 N. Sixth Street, St. Louis.
Ten copies and over at the low rates.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS' WAREROOMS,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

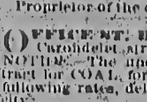
MISCELLANEOUS.

KIRKWOOD

INHALER
Boys and Girls
Do Your Own Printing
Outfits from $3 to $500
GOLDING & CO., Manufacturers, Fort Hill Square, Boston.



Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, $2.



Marder, Luse & Co.
TYPE FOUNDERS,
CHICAGO.

H. J. RIVET,
DEALER IN
Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines,
AND PERFUMERY, AND IMPORTER OF FRENCH PROPRIETARY MEDICINES.
Cor. Bienville and Chartres Sts.,
NEW ORLEANS.
Proprietor of the celebrated Psychaline.

OFFICE OF THE BEHRANO COAL CO.,
Carondelet street, New Orleans.
NOTICE.—The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL, for fall and winter supply, at following rates, delivered in any portion of the city:
Families
Steam
Dealers (hauling themselves)
Country orders solicited.
W. S. CAMPBELL.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvets, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—800 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in variety.
BURLAPS Table and Enamel Oil Cloths.
A. BE

SCIENTIFIC.

ere are few scientific fields ffurd more scope for original teresting observation than the ral. There is hardly a day but ident strikes on a novel feat- nd it will be many years yet we shall have discovered in it is to be known. In an Eng- per recently we have an inter- ccount of the productiveness s. Some yield an immense of offsets, while others re very slowly. In the case of ley of tulip, called the "Gold- Mary," only one new bulb is very year. Many varieths of think nothing of yielding a more. Among the Gladiolus rieties the same was found From one variety, called hleyensis," the observer could ousand young bulbs in a half years; while many will not lf a dozen new bulbs a year. s, of course, a reason—some erning this productiveness, nich, when discovered, will ight on many other prob- ut the reason has not been ear yet.

lish papier-mache articles nufactured by first pressing a very porous but strong pa- nufactured expressly for the upon a metal form greased low. This is then coated od-flour-paste, and a second laid on, and pressed and rubbed it takes the form of the and adheres firmly. The s then placed in a drying heated to about one hund- four degrees; and the opera- laying on and drying are re- until the desired thickness is l, from twenty to forty sheets uired often for the purpose. n is then removed, all the carefully adjusted, and the hardened by immersing it l oil and purified wood-tar, ing it six or eight times with allowing it to dry thor- after each coat. It is finally down with pumice stone, mented with bronze, gold or -pearl. Cheaper articles are ured from a mixture of p with certain proportions lead, rosin, linseed oil and lead, carefully kneaded and the aid of steam. This is ato molds and dried. The mon articles are made of earth colors, with the addi- ne hardening cement.

injustice is more to be avoid- to suffer injustice; and the nd not the appearance of s to be followed above all s well in public as in pri- —Plato.

nce is good, but carefulness aveth the house and goods ruction.

NEW CURE FOR SUMPTION.

times CANNABIS INDICA, or n Hemp, raised in Calcutta, and ir's native soil from the green come as famous in this country for the cure of Consumption, and Asthma.

nform the public that we have importation of this article into the ies our specialty, and that in afflicted can obtain these reme- st-class druggists. As we have, nense and trouble, made perma- ements in India for obtaining ap, ascertaining that the right sort, ng it extracted upon its own green leaf by an old and expe- ent chemist being a na- e that we have the genuine

Its Purity and Perfection, at we are entitled to credence y that Cannabis Indica will do aimed for it, and that one bottle the most skeptical of its per- manently curing Consumption, hitis and Asthma.

devoting a column to the merits ge and wonderful plant, we re- and let it speak for itself through mn alone, believing that those ffered most can better tell the following extracts from letters I show.

PEMBROKE, Mo., Nov. 18, 1877.

CHARLES A. COE, Co.—Dear Sir: I write to ask your invaluable medi- cine that you would place it there the cost of delivery is too high to Previous to using the Cannabis I had used all the medicines scribed in my son's case CON- I had also consulted the ll physicians in the country, and surgeons for past, as soon as he ishing the Hemp Remedies he prove in health until I regarded well.

HENRY W. KIMBERLY, M. D.

ATCHES, ANDERSON CO., Ky., February 10, 1877.

CHARLES A. COE & Co.—Gentlemen: me twelve bottles of Cannabis each of Pills and Ointment, for- mine who is not expecting to your medicines cured me of TION, some three years ago. I to try them. I gained fifteen taking the first three bottles. It is just the thing for him.

Yours, J. V. BULL.

OVILLE, Bullard County, Ky.

ease send me three bottles adies' box of Pills and pot of Ointment has been suffering with IS for twenty years, and tried ds of medicine, and says the edies is the only thing that ef. Respectfully yours,

JANE A. ASHBROOK.

EEP RIVER, Poweshiek, Iowa.

I have just seen your adver- g paper; I know all about the adies. Fifteen years ago a ughter of the ASTHMA; she bed for several years, but was red, and I used to keep the hand to accommodate my ve taken a cold lately, and, as I it settling on my lungs, you nd me a $5 box of your medi- ctually, JACOB TROUT.

S NOT A SINGLE SYMPTOM ion that this remedy will not d it will break a fresh cold in hours. Ask your druggist for CANNABIS INDICA, and, if , send to us direct. One bottle the most skeptical: $2.50 per ee bottles for $6.50. Pills and .25 each. Address

K & CO., 1039 Race Street, Philadelphia.

CLARS FREE. eowmu

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.

WIDOW HY. HABERT,

Successor to P. Delcroix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

E. De LANZAC, DEALER IN DRUGS AND MEDICINES,

Gordon's Glycerine, Thayer's Fluid Extracts, Muriatic, Nitric and Sulphuric Acids, Leeches, French Patent Medicines, etc., etc.,

52 & 54 Customhouse St., New Orleans.

All goods at low market prices.

JEWELRY STORE.

A. Boitel, Watchmaker,

58.....ROYAL STREET.....58

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts. New Orleans.

Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

WATCHES, JEWELRY, DIAMONDS.

A. BONNET. WM. FRANTZ. HENRY OPITZ.

A. BONNET & CO., DIAMOND SETTERS AND JEWELERS, No. 65 ROYAL STREET, Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts., New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO., IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS, TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,

And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers, No. 142 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD, Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

GAMET & VIGNAUD, DEALERS IN SUGARS AND MOLASSES,

Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 31 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG, COMMISSION MERCHANT,

147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 87.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS, BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 20 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morgan, Third District, New Orleans,

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—John Bosio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti Streets, where with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining Rooms up stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thanking for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE,

Office and Sales Room, 27 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, Bet. Roman and Friar, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half-Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Rosin Piles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1849.

J. H. KELLER, MANUFACTURER OF Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office 110 CRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La. All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY. "CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.

R. BLONDEAU, Successor to J. G. Bernel, Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker, NO. 63 ROYAL STREET, Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blandeau. Specialty for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.

JOHN S. McDONALD, Proprietor and Manager. MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED MOSS.

Factory—Nos. 248 to 256 South Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress street.

Office—No. 248 S. Liberty street. P. O. Box 2235, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

R. D. WOOD & BROS., Corner Camp and Common Streets, Opposite the City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRE'S CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better and cheaper; so come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship spar. W. W. CARRE & CO., No. 350 Delord street.

THOMAS BASAM. LUMBER. CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard Corner CEDAR AND JULIA STS., New Basin, New Orleans.

ATTENTION! M. ANDRIEU,

159.....POYDRAS STREET.....159

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILSMANN, DEALER IN WOOD AND COAL,

320.....DELORD STREET.....320

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ, 134 Rampart Street, Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans, MANUFACTURER OF CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Cabriolet built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN, PROPRIETOR OF THE Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally,

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place, NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Hall. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1845.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Rampart Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month; Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1 50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement.

Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.

Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. C. GARDNELL, 507 Magazine Between Sixth and Seventh Sts.

Pianos for rent at $3 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER, ARCHITECT

31.....CARONDELET ST.....31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. J. RICHAM, RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

225 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum, NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS, NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET

Between Julia and St. Joseph, New Orleans, La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. G. W. RACE. W. G. FOSTER.

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER, ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, NEW ORLEANS.

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

For the cure of CHRONIC DISEASES.

THIS is the surest, safest and cheapest curative agent known. It cures by revitalizing the whole body, and hence is effective in a great variety of diseases. Among the many names to which we are permitted to refer, we give the following:

Hon. S. FIELD, Judge of U. S. Supreme Court, and his accomplished wife; Mrs. HALLET KILBURN; Judge SAMUEL SMITH, New York; Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR; Ex-Gov. BOREMAN, West Virginia; Hon. WM. D. KELLEY; T. S. ARTHUR; Gen. FITZ HENRY WARREN.

Our Brochure of 250 pages, which contains the fullest statement of principles, the most brilliant record of cures, and all the information necessary to an intelligent opinion and intelligent action, will be mailed FREE.

STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 CHARLES ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

G. R. Starkey, A. M., M. D., C. E., Paleon., Ph. B., M. D.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 2d Pine street, St. Louis, positive cure (No without knife, feature of pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Kennedy, leading druggists of St. Louis; James Lupp, M. A. Wolff, Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sneckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bontlow, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Billon, Wiggins Ferry Co., Capt. Jerry Wood; steamer Minnespoolis, and others.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated, by Inhalation, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.

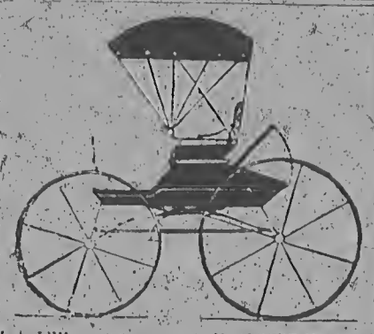
DR. J. H. RAHRENBURG, 910 Wash street, St. Louis, Mo.

ANGELL'S HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT ROOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO., MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC., 163 Gravier and 18 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

FOR BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES GO TO Henry Timken's New Factory,

NOS. 1006, 1008 AND 1010 ST. CHARLES ST., Bet. Tenth and Eleventh Sts., ST. LOUIS, MO.

All work is of first-class material and workmanship. Call and see, or send for catalogue.

CARD'S

NATHAN CARD CARRIAGE MANUFACTURER

N. E. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts., Opposite Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall, ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED FOR $20 AMERICAN WATCHES $10 305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE, Carriage Manufacturers, NOS. 1108 AND 1110 ST. CHARLES STREET, ST. LOUIS.

Manufacturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their work, for durability and elegance, is unsurpassed and guaranteed.

TAKE NOTICE, We have the largest and best Gift Enterprise in the world. Everything in 12 Splendid Paper, 12 Envelopes, Pencil, Penholder, Golden Pen, and a piece of Valuable Jewelry. Complete sample package, with elegant gold-stone Sleeve Buttons, Set Gold-plated Studs, Engraved Gold-plated Ring, and a Ladies' Fashionable Fancy Pin, and Drops, postpaid 25 cents. 6 Packages Paste Assorted Jewelry $1. A Splendid Watch and Chain free, with every $50 worth of Goods you buy. Extraordinary Inducements to Agents. BRIDE & CO. 11 Clinton Place, New York

LUMBER.

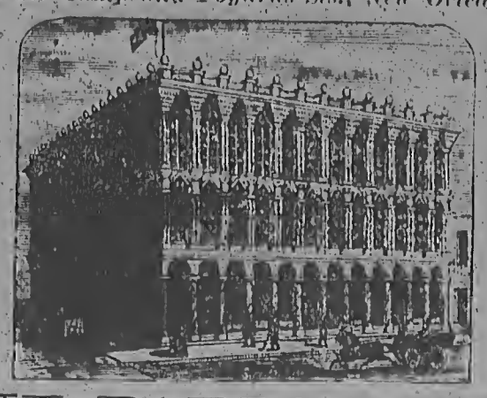
CYPRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assortment of over 2,000,000 feet constantly on hand. Also a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on hand, and made to order. Office—Corner Delord and Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, Calliope, Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 165. JOHN F. POPP.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

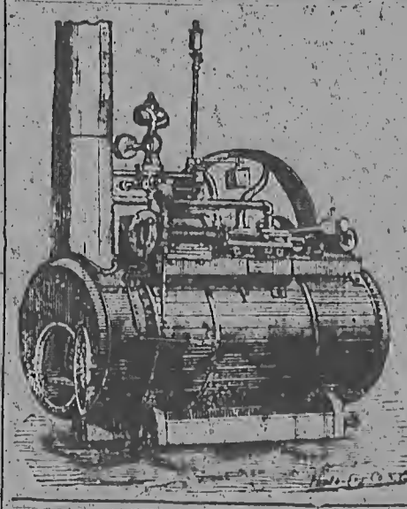
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



FINE PARLOR SUITS, IN SILK, SATIN, COTTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS! IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS, and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining-Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge



PAYNE'S PORTABLE STEAM ENGINES.

5 TO 15 HORSE POWER.

Strong, Simple and Durable.

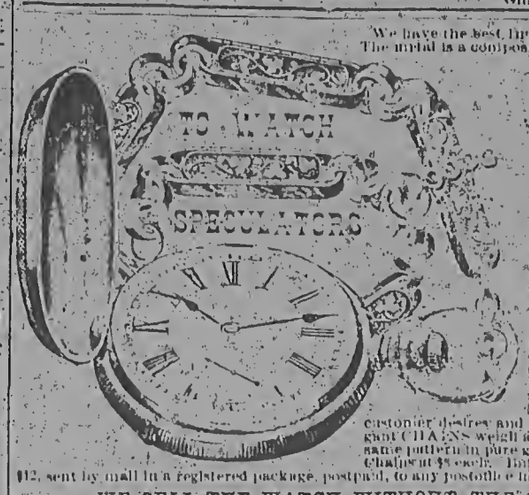
BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.

SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.

B. J. WEST, SOLE AGENT.

115 and 117 Magazine Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses, Pumps, etc.



We have the best Imitation Gold Watch in the market. The metal is a composition of other metals exclusively used in the manufacture of the best GOLD WATCH THAT COSTS from $150 to $200. [illegible] which for years we have successfully imitated, in so perfect a manner as to defy detection even by experts. Owing to our large sales we are enabled to reduce the price of these watches to only $12 each, with no clogs. Chain to match, and by means of our Patent Time Detector, any person can set it correctly. We send them by mail or express on receipt of $12, being part of the money, or if will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires and receives them. These elegant CHAINS weigh about Fifty Pennyweights, and the same pattern in pure gold would cost $150. We sell these Chains at $8 each. But we sell the Watch and Chain, for $12, sent by mail in a registered package, postpaid, to any postoffice in the United States.

WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.

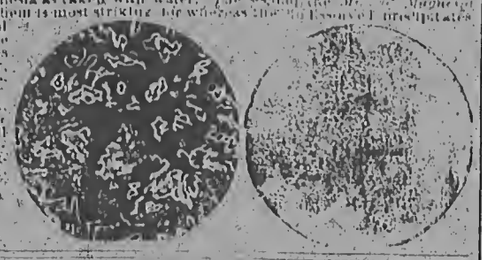
J. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 11 Eighth St., New York.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

IS THE best preparation known for all disturbed conditions of the Stomach. It immediately and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the stomach. The pleasant taste and milk-like smoothness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, reposing no persistent effort upon them to take it. It positively prevents food souring on the stomach, and is light as a lamb's wool when used as directed. It is also peculiarly adapted to females. The superiorness of this preparation and its perfect soluability are made very apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fracture of part of the [illegible] diameters. The first the calcined Magnesia as taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now offered. The difference between them is most striking, for whereas the [illegible] precipitates and particles in the drop of calcined Magnesia are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a cloudy vapor, entirely free from the objectionable precipitates; in fact, perfectly dissolved.



Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it and take none other. It is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. Physicians and others not already acquainted with this preparation can obtain explanatory circular by addressing

C. B. PHILLIPS, Manuf'g Chemist, P. O. Box 457. NEW YORK.

THE RUBBER PAINT IS THE BEST PAINT IN THE WORLD.

There is no Paint manufactured that will resist water equal to it. It is Smooth, Glossy, Durable, Elastic, Beautiful and Economical, and of any shade from PURE WHITE to JET BLACK, and as evidence of its being the BEST PAINT, the necessity of their establishing the following Branch Factories will abundantly testify.

BRANCH FACTORIES:—506 West St., New York. 83 W. Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill. 210 N. Third St., St. Louis, Mo. and a Wholesale Depot at Wm. Hog & Bro's, No. 2 N. Liberty St., Baltimore, Md.

Sample Card and Numerous Testimonials Sent FREE on Application.

If we have no Agent at your nearest town, send to one of our offices for cards, etc. eow

$1,000 IN GOLD.

To All Whom It May Concern.

THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in good faith, offer the above reward for the sworn statement of two respectable citizens of any city or town in which will prove that PHOSPHORIC AIR, THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, has failed to permanently cure any form of CATARRH, Asthma, Epilepsy, or any form of Nervous or Mental diseases. One month's treatment, Inhaler, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.

Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passages and Brain can be reached.

Phosphoric Air cures by its effects upon the circulation, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.

We will be happy to give a TRIAL FREE to any who can call upon us, so that they may experience its immediate beneficial effects.

Consulting Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.

94 Tremont Street, Boston.

Sutter, Berry & Co., GLASS STAINERS.

Particular Attention Paid to Church Work.

Orders from all parts of the country promptly attended to. 918 N. SEVENTH ST., bet. Pine and Olive. ST. LOUIS, MO.

Meneely & Kimberly, BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

OFFICE OF THE American Cotton Tie Co., (LIMITED,) 47 CARONDELET ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Important Special Notice.

The AMERICAN COTTON TIE COMPANY (LIMITED) having fixed the price of the celebrated

ARROW COTTON TIE

at $2.50 per bundle, less 2½ per cent. discount for cash, the General Agents hereby authorize their Sub-Agents in the city dealers in Baling Stuffs) to sell to and contract with Factors and Country Merchants, for future delivery, on the above named price and terms, in quantities from time to time, as may be required, settlements being made on delivery.

The Company having a large stock now on hand, and having contracted for an abundant supply to meet the entire demand for Cotton Ties throughout the Cotton States, the celebrated ARROW TIE will be placed upon the market generally, and sold by their numerous Agents at the price and terms above stated, it being the object and purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community.

R. W. RAYNE & CO., GENERAL AGENTS.

SHAKSPEARE IRON WORKS,

Cor. Girod and Dryades Sts.

MANUFACTURE EVERY VARIETY OF STEAM ENGINES SUGAR MILLS,

VACUUM PANS, SAW MILLS, DRAINING AND CENTRIFUGAL MACHINES, MILL AND GIN GEARING, GRATE BARS, ETC., ETC. STORE FRONTS, CULINES, VENTILATORS, RICE MILLING MACHINERY, PULLEYS AND SHAFTING,

And work of all kinds manufactured to order by SHAKSPEARE, SMITH & CO.

OFFICE—210 GIROD ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Estimates and price lists furnished on application.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL, PORTABLE AND STATIONARY STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS, SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS, MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS Of Improved Designs, A Specialty

Address, POOLE & HUNT, Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

MENEELY & COMPANY, Bell Founders, West Troy, New York.

FIFTY years established. CHURCH BELLS and CHIMES, ACADEMY, FACTORY BELLS, etc. Improved Patent Mountings. Catalogues free. No agencies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. BAKER, SEEDSMAN,

No. 7 Camp St., New Orleans.

A FULL STOCK OF GARDEN, FIELD & FLOWER SEEDS, Fresh, Pure and Reliable.

Seeds sent by mail. Also Fruit, Shade and Ornamental TREES, ROSES, etc.

PIERRE LANNES, Butcher,

Stalls, Nos. 38 and 39 Magazine Market,

Supplies Ships, Families, Hotels, etc., with BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, Sausages, Tripe, Pigs' Feet, Fowls, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker, 183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans. Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

B. T. WALSHE IMPORTER AND DEALER IN MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS BOYS & CHILDREN'S CLOTHING, No. 110 CANAL ST. NEW ORLEANS

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFFY & CO., No. 3 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Stores, Ceilings, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Established in 1837. Superior Bells for Churches, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.

We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.

Silver Watches at $10 and upward.

Gold Watches at $15 and upward.

All fully guaranteed.

A. H. CHISWOLD & CO., Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

WATERS' Orchestrion Chimes ORGANS of the most beautiful style and perfect in tone ever made. Combines the celebrated Concerto stop, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half octaves of bells tuned to perfect harmony with the reeds, & their clear, musical & electrifying WATERS' CHIMES. ORGANS, GUITARS, ORCHESTRAL, CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL, CHIMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE. For Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Instalments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

T. W. ROTHICK, UNDERTAKER, 271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

25 Fashionable Cards, no 2 alike, with name, 10c, post-paid. GEO. I. REED & CO., Nassau, N. Y.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Feb. 19, 1878.

Prices generally for Western produce have suffered a reaction, and holders are much more moderate in their demands. The prospect of peace in Europe is evidently the cause of the present depression. The products of the South—sugar, cotton and rice—are somewhat better than when the last report was made. It is reported that the sugar and tobacco crops of Cuba will fall short one-third of what was expected.

Money is easy, with fair rates of discount at the banks. Gold closed here yesterday at 101¾@102; in New York at 101.

State consols are steady at 84¾@85.

Premium bonds are strong, with a tendency to further advance, and are quoted at 37¾@37¾.

A strong effort is being made in Congress to induce the government to allow a subsidy for a steamship line from New Orleans, Baltimore and New York to Brazil, with every prospect of success at an early day. The benefits to this city of a direct line of steamers to Brazil would be incalculable. It would give employment to a large number of persons now idle or hardly making a support, and largely increase the business of importing and exporting houses.

The Democrat's report of the cotton market is as follows:

To-day's market affords a pleasing contrast with its predecessors of last week. The demand for cotton was active, and holders meeting it with freedom, the business reached 11,800 bales. Advices from abroad were stimulating, and caused an advance here of ¼c.

The closing report of the Cotton Exchange was:

	To-day.	Yesterday
Low Ordinary	7	7
Ordinary	7¼	7¼
Good Ordinary	8¼	8¼
Low Middling	9	9
Middling	10	10
Good Middling	11¼	11¼
Middling Fair	11¾	11¾

Sales to-day, 11,800 bales. Market active and firm.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard Sept. 1	21,356
Gross receipts since yesterday	17,617
Gross receipts previously	1,288,859—1,306,976
Total supply	1,328,332
Exported to-day	3,717
Exported previously	927,687— 931,404
Total stock this day	397,928
Total stock this day last year	318,849

The exports to-day were 3,100 bales to Liverpool and 617 to Vera Cruz

Net receipts since yesterday	14,527
Receipts from other ports	3,090
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	13,448
Net receipts this day last year	8,948
Net receipts since September 1	1,350,508
Net receipts same time last year	968,422

The cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 59,013 bales; Havre, 27,628; Bremen, 9,775; Mediterranean, 3,503; North Sea 17,030; Spain, 931; Mexico, —; coastwise 1,951; total 119,891 bales. This taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 246,037 bales.

The movement at ports for three days, up to noon to-day, is given below:

	Receipts.	Sales.	Stock this day.
New Orleans	17,661	16,500	11,627
Galveston	3,961	4,195	2,902
Mobile	7,251	6,519	2,458
Savannah	3,876	1,800	1,111
Charleston	2,782	2,000	2,067
Wilmington	210	100	583
Norfolk	5,766	2,207	3,771
Baltimore	286	400
New York	2,641	1,000	2,288
Boston	1,000	1,000	2,454
Philadelphia	600	1,000	250
Other ports
Total	44,029	47,000	30,110
Receipts at ports since September 1			1,353,729
Receipts same day last year			3,025,778
Receipts same time week before			3,091,218

The exports from all United States ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for three days, have been as follows:

	G. B. France.	Cont.	Chan. Islands.
This week	12,800	2,429	8,600	6,444	9,244
Last week	12,100	8,971	10,200	2,315	32,586
This week last year	2,200	1,221	7,700	950	12,070

Looking Forward.—Brave soldiers die with their face to the foe. Looking back never conquered a city nor achieved a work of art, nor wrote a book, nor amassed a fortune. The silent inward cry of the world's great men has ever been: On, my soul right on! Contentment with the past is to strike your flag and spike your guns. So with the Christian. The word is: Speak unto the Israelites, that they go forward. Looking backward with complacency is spiritual death. Looking forward with the calm resolve that the future must be and shall be better than the past—that past mistakes and past sins shall be teachers and helps to future wisdom—this gives inspiration, and this means victory. We are saved by hope. It is when we turn our faces resolutely toward the end of our journey that they are touched with celestial light, and we breathe the eternal airs.—Christian Secretary.

CHRISTIAN LOYALTY.—Christian loyalty is not purely the homage of the intellect, still less formal service, and least of all a ceremonial observance, but a devotion of heart so intense and tender that only under an image of the most glowing manifestations of human love could it be adequately represented. The Israelitery is ever to make religion an observance, or else an ethical rule, or at the least an intellectual belief. The whole view given us, in both Testaments, of the Christian relation, whether it be in doctrine, in precept, in poetical imagery, is that it must be rooted in deep, tender, absorbing spiritual affection. We belong to Christ only as we love Christ. His kingdom is "within" us, because it is over hearts that he reigns.—Palmos.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots; and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	$4 50
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	30 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 00
Half do. with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. Watt's corn mill	300 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	80 00	90 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox-wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	55 00	75 00
Iron, ₱ lb.:
Hoop	3½	5
Sheet	3½	5
Horse shoe	3½	4½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₱ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	30 00	35 00
Lime, ₱ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₱ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	16 00
Shingles, ₱ 1,000	2 50	3,50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₱ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₱ lb	10½	12½
Paris Green, ₱ lb	35	40
Pat. Dryer, ₱ lb	10	13
Whiting, ₱ lb	1½	3
Putty, in bladders, ₱ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₱ gall	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights:

Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds per pair.
8x10	$1 25	$1 50	$1 50
10x12	1 75	2 00	2 10
10x16	2 50	2 75	2 70

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 50	$3 70
3 feet x 7 feet 4 inches	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 80
Panel Doors:
Six and 1½ inch thick	— —	$2 20
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —	2 25
2x7 and 1¾ inch 14 lights	— —	2 30
4x7—4 inch and 1¾ inch thick	— —	4 00

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.:
Western	18	19
New York, good to prime	26	31
Coffee, ₱ lb.:
Rio, fair	17	17½
Rio, good	17½	18
Rio, prime	18½	19½
Java, choice O. G.	28	30
Candles, ₱ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.:
Best K D	2 75	2 80
Cheese, ₱ lb.:
Factory	12½	13½
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 40
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₱ bbl.:
superfine	4 00	4 25
XX	— —	5 00
XXX	5 00	5 25
Choice XXX	5 25	5 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₱ lb	3	4
Dried peaches, ₱ lb	11	12
Raisins, ₱ quarter box	5 00	8 00
Raisins, ₱ half box	— —	1 00
Raisins, ₱ whole box	1 60	1 85
Bananas, ₱ stalk	1 00	2 00
Crackers ₱ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	7	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Cone, in cases, net	40	45
Cone, in barrels, net	30	35
Lamp range, in cases	— —	50
Lamp range, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, net	80	85
Molasses, in barrels
Cuba mo	17	20
Fair	24	26
Prime to choice	33	40
Golden and Rogue's syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₱ lb:
No. 2	3½	4
Ordinary	5	5½
Fair	5½	5¾
Prime to choice	6	6½
Soap, in boxes, ₱ lb.
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₱ lb	3	3½
Salt, in sacks
Fine	1 05	1 15
Coarse	55	60
Sugar, in bbls.
Good fair	6	6½
Prime	— —	8¼
Choice	— —	8¾
Yellow clarified	8	8½
White clarified	8½	9¼
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₱ lb
Allspice	15½	— —
Pepper	13½	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₱ lb.
Black Oolong	27½	1 10
Green Imperial	30	80
Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb.
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel:
Yellow	— —	49
White	— —	51
Mixed	— —	48
Oats, ₱ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	31½
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	— —	— —
Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs	— —	80
Hay, ₱ ton:
Prime	— —	14 50
Ordinary	— —	13 00
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	1 10

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.:
Breakfast	8½	9½
Shoulders	5½	6½
Sides, clear rib	— —	8½
Sides, clear	— —	8½
Hams, sugar cured	9	10
Mess Pork, ₱ bbl	12 00	12 25
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders	— —	4½
Lard, ₱ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	7½	8

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl	1 00	2 00
Onions, ₱ bbl	— —	2 25
Apples, ₱ bbl	3 50	5 00
Cabbages, ₱ 100	8 00	10 00

WOOL.

Burry	11	12
Louisiana, best	— —	20½
Lake, clean	22½	23

BAGGING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	— —	— —
Jute	11½	12½
Ties, Arrow brand, per bundle, ₱ dies and buckles	— —	3 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₱ dozen
Old chickens	3 75	4 00
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 00	3 50
Geese	6 00	8 00
Turkeys	12 00	15 00
Eggs, ₱ dozen:
Western	14	17
Louisiana	17	20

SEWING MACHINES.

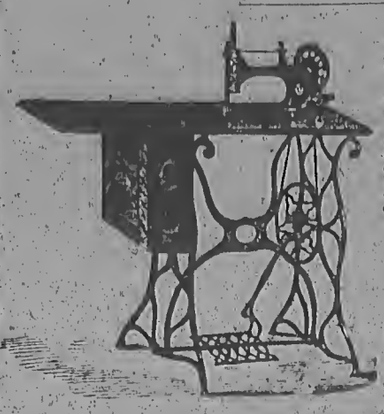
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Bogus Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

WHEELER AND WILSON

NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " "	50.
" 85 " "	45.
" 80 " "	40.
" 75 " "	35.
" 70 " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and in advance of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when it stops.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

VANILLA.

Steele & Price annually consume, in the manufacture of Dr. Price's Extract of Vanilla, more of the finest quality of Mexican Vanilla than any other makers of extracts, and it is by the use of the finest quality that Dr. Price's Extract of Vanilla obtains its rare excellence.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BRANDON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Newton, at Hickory	Mar. 9, 10
Walnut Grove, at Hillsboro	23, 24
Morton and Forest, at Grange Hall	30, 31
Franklin, at Shiloh	Apr. 6, 7
Prairie, at Providence	13, 14
Brandon	20, 21
Lake, at Centerville	27, 28
Carthage, at Liberty	27, 28
Clinton, at Salem	May 4, 5
Raleigh	11, 12
Homewood	18
Trenton	25, 26
Rankin	June 1, 2

The delegates to the District Conference will be elected during this round.

21 WILL. H. LEITH, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

SELMA DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Selma	Feb. 16, 17
Shantmerfield	23, 24
Sugarville	Mar. 2, 3
Grave Hill	9, 10
East Selma	16, 17
Morton	23, 24
Brush Creek	27
Columbiana	30, 31
Independence	Apr. 6, 7
Choctaw Corner	13, 14
Lower Peachtree	20, 21
Orrville	27, 28
Spring Hill	June 1, 2
Rembert Hills	8, 9

14 J. W. HUEY, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Alexandria and Pineville	Jan. 12, 13
Centerville	19, 20
Montgomery	Feb. 23, 24
Rapides	Mar. 2, 3
Harrisonburg, Sicily Island and Trinity, & Harrisonburg	9, 10
Columbia and Castor, at Columbia	16, 17
Bayou Boeuf and Evergreen, at Bayou Clear	Apr. 6, 7
Spring Creek, at camp ground	13, 14

CHRISTIAN KEENER, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LILIENTHAL'S

PHOTOGRAPH

ART GALLERY,

124 CANAL STREET

JOYCE BUILDINGS.

This well-known establishment is the largest and most complete in the city of New Orleans. The style of Pictures made by

Lambert's Permanent Process

surpasses anything that can be made at other galleries.

No one who is fully aware of the superiority of this process will go to the expense and trouble to have a picture taken that in a very short time will fade.

I guarantee the LAMBERT to be the only Picture that WILL NOT FADE.

FRANCIONI & FOLNE, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western Produce. Solicit consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes etc. 93 DECATUR ST. (Box 2088,) New Orleans, La. 8p

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 to will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes.
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes,

Stone China DINNER SETS ..... WRITE
Stone China TEA SETS ..... FOR
Decorated CHAMBER SETS ..... PRICES
Real French China DINNER SETS ..... FOR
Gold Band China TEA SETS ..... PRICES
Table TUMBLERS ..... PRICES
Table GOBLETS ..... PRICES

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

71 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

Choirs, Singing Schools, Societies,

SHOULD USE

THE SALUTATION ($12 per doz.,) or ZION ($12 per doz.,) or THE ENCORE, ($7.50 per doz.,) or PERKINS' SINGING SCHOOL ($6.75 per doz.,) or JOHNSON'S CHORUS CHOIR INSTRUCTION-BOOK ($12 per doz.)

The first two are first class Church Music Books by L. O. Emerson and W. O. Perkins, and have full instructive courses. The last three are fitted especially for Singing Schools by the very best talent. Now for a spirited Winter and Spring Singing Class!

Also give new interest to the year's practice by getting up one of our 30 CANTATAS. (Send for circulars.) Five of them are:

Belshazzar	Butterfield	$1 25
Don Munio	Dudley Buck	1 50
Joseph's Bondage	Chadwick	1 25
Prodigal Son	Sullivan	1 25
Walpurgis Night	Mendelssohn	80

Belshazzar and Joseph's Bondage are Oratorios, and are splendid musical dramas.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,

BOSTON.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

NOTICE.—HAVING MADE CONNECTIONS with our Coal Yard by aid of the Telephone, we are enabled to deliver COAL to families on the shortest possible notice, and at lowest market rates. Our friends are invited to call and examine our new method of transmitting orders.

C. A. MILTENBERGER & CO.,

68 Camp street.

Yard on Levee, between Race and Robin streets.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC STORE

135 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

LEADING MAKERS

OF

PIANOS AND ORGANS

WRITE FOR PRICES.

"We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. It has large facilities, and is conducted on the basis of the utmost liberality.

J. B. WALKER,
J. B. A. AHRENS.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL QUEEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1 20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground ..... 25c. per lb
CHOICE RIO ..... 30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA ..... 30c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA ..... 40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid to any Express or Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Drafts should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Toothenc, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Fleming, Lewis & Co., John L. Cuddihy & Co., Hawthorn, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post paid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE

Or Tonic Extract of Wild

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL POWER.

The only reliable Brain Food.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by express or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCH

(by one of the oldest and most reliable Watch Factories that ever made a Watch) is the most perfect time keeper and handsomest Watch ever offered to the public for the money. Send direct to us for a Watch. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry at the same low rates. Send for Circular. METAL WATCH FACTORY, 335 Broadway, N. Y.

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. MORRIS, Vice President. H. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on the sides and front was very much fused out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first class work can be made. Write for estimates, etc.

New Orleans Branch, Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 27 Canal street.

A ROY, Agent.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place. 8p

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK-BOOK MAKERS,

27 COMMERCIAL PLACE 27

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc., executed with neatness and dispatch, and at Northern prices.

Sole agents for Pictorial Business and Visiting Cards of all kinds. 8p

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos. 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner. 6p

BLACK CASHMERE S

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VEL

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PR

D. H. HOLMES,

135 CANAL AND 45 BOURBON S

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

RICHARD FROTSCHE

SEED MERCHA

I HAVE on hand a large and complete assortment of VEGETABLE, FLOWER & GRASS SEEDS, which I offer at the lowest market price. Genuine Red Rust Proof OATS, to those who buy in quantities. Eastern-grown SEED POTATOES a specialty. Almanac and Guide for the Southern States sent free on application.

RICHARD FROTSCHER,

Nos. 15 and 17 Dumaine St., N

MONARCH CORN

For HAND or POWER

SELF-ACTING FA

HAVING bought the Patent Rights of States of Louisiana and Texas for the Feeding Fan, one of the simplest and most ingenious contrivances of the age, I am prepared to furnish them from 1 to 6,000, at very low figures. Fans are guaranteed to run for one year without repair, and are admirably adapted for use in distilleries, restaurants, saloons and ascending to the roof. No. 17 BARONNE ST., opposite Odd Fellows' Hall.

GEO. STROUD.

FRANK M. NORM

Book-Seller, Stationer and

826 MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Josephine and St. And

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 50 cents. Frames made to order. Scrap pictures. Circulating Library. Catalogues free.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCH

Best in the known world. Send for Agents. Address, A. COULTAS & C

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1878. NO. 9.

BARE TREES.

BY MARIANNE FARNINGHAM.

...erly-stricken and gaunt they stand,
...ed about o'er the hard, brown land;
...pped of their beauty, they moan and sigh
...he pitiless breeze as it rushes by.
...less, forsaken, of song bereft,
...y are like a life with no pleasure left.

...ilful ever, though stripped and bare,
...the trees that are planted everywhere;
...er's best beauty belongs to them,
...eir giant trunk and feathery stem,
...they bravely stand in the silent wood,
...a patient life that is nobly good.

...y seem to be hopeful, these stricken trees,
...to keep in their bosoms glad promises;
...now that the weeks, as they pass, will bring
...bursting buds of the genial spring.
...ey wait for the time of life and song,
...'s patient heart that through hope is strong.

...would it be if our human life,
...ed by trouble and torn by strife,
...en by every passing breeze,
...d be calm and true as the naked trees,
...ding itself to the summer's light,
...aiting in hope through the winter's night.

...whose lessons are everywhere,
...e thy word in the branch's bare:
...we learn to be hopeful when storms are high,
...still and strong 'neath a wintry sky,
...ing that even the winds shall bring
...lentcous leaves of the happy spring.

London Christian World.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

...VESTON, Feb. 19.—A fifty-...and dollar fire occurred at Waco ...orning. Among the sufferers ...e Waco National Bank, S. W. ...llen & Co., S. H. Renick, Flint ...ham, Siegel & Cernebe, Levine ...and Walter Davis.

...W YORK, Feb. 20.—A dispatch ...Rome says: The operations of ...cred conclave culminated, in ...allot taken this morning, be-...ten and eleven o'clock, in the ...on of Cardinal Joachim Pecci, ...assumes the title of Pope Leo ...hirteenth. The conclave has ...in session since Monday even-...

...nly two ballots daily have been ..., Cardinal Pecci was chosen on ...ird ballot. Moderates hesitated ...n Cardinals Franchi and Pecci, ...e conflicting elements became ...nized, and the result was the ...n of the latter. Announce-...to the people was made with ...ibed formalities and ceremonies ...he Vatican, and created intense ...ment, although it had been ...ted as a foregone conclusion ...n Italian cardinal would be the ...e of the conclave.

...SHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The Sen-...mendments to the silver bill ...up for action.

...Stephens, of Georgia, was rec-...d as having charge of the mat-...; he moved to concur in all ...mendments.

...int of order, that the Senate ...dments appropriating money, ...ust be considered in Committee ... Whole, was discussed for two ..., and was finally overruled ...e speaker, when the previous ...on was seconded, and Mr. ...ens had, under the rules, an ...to close the discussion; this ...reserving but three minutes to ...lf, he parceled out among the ...ers, an allowance of from half ...ute to eight minutes, and when ...cussion was over a motion to ...e bill on the table was made by ...ewitt, of New York, and rejected ...as 74, nays 202. Then the Sen-...endments were severally con-...in by about a like vote, and ...e bill finally passed and now ...the President for his approval. ...Senate rejected George Wil-...n as collector of customs at ...rleans by a vote of 37 to 15.

...FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—A Sac...to dispatch says: The levee ...ndros Island, in Delta river, ...yesterday. That island and ...s Island, which is connected ...t by dikes, is flooded. Yester-...afternoon the levee on Grand ..., also, broke and the Island is ...d.

...e three Islands contain about ...thousand acres, mostly in a ...state of cultivation. The high ...and along the river is usually ...d to orchards and vegetable ..., while the interior of the broad ...e is devoted to wheat-raising. ...mage must be immense. It is ...ted by the Sacramento corre-...ent at from $15,000,000 to $20,-...000. This, however, is undoubt-...n exaggeration.

...VESTON, Feb 23.—The News, ..., dated Dallas, Feb. 23, says: ...ight the south-bound train on ...ntral road was boarded at Allen ... by six men, who robbed the ...ss car of $2,500.

...train had hardly drawn up at ...tion when a man jumped into ...gineer's cab, covering the en-...and fireman with a revolver. ...ther men attempted to enter the ...s car, when the messenger, ..., showed fight, firing three ...t the robbers, hitting one—it ...ght killing him.

...robbers fired five or six shots ...messenger, and, rushing in, ...owered him, cut the bell-rope, ...d the train in a swing. Un-...ng the express car from the ..., they ordered the engineer to ...ver on a siding, where the ... was forced to open the safe, ...ich they abstracted $2... what is ..., overlooking a package ... they also ... about $400. The robbers ...ked save the one who co... ...gineer.

...YORK, Feb. 25.—Accounts ...Callao, Peru, of the effects of ...al wave there, on the twenty-...h of January, say there is alarm ...rrible and the damage incal-...e. The oldest inhabitants of ...shire that they have never ... seen anything to compare with the scenes of Sunday and Monday, January 27 and 28. The sea is covered with floating debris. At every moment immense waves, thirty and forty feet high, break over the mole and along the whole coast line, spreading havoc and destruction around.

FOREIGN.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 17.—Much disappointment is felt here because news is not received of the recognition of President Diaz by the United States.

No ministerial changes have yet been made.

The executive and the Supreme Court are in discord, and consequently no federal courts are held in the States of Durango and Chihuahua.

Eight prominent citizens of San Louis Potosi have been arrested for conspiracy. They were implicated by letters from Escobedo found upon their persons.

The Lerdists say that Escobedo is encouraged by the American war party to inaugurate a revolution.

Bishop Merrill and another American missionary visited President Diaz recently and were cordially received. The President expressed the belief that the freedom of worship was essential to true religion, and the opposition of churches was as advantageous to the welfare of the country as opposition in politics—both prevented stagnation.

The members of the American Methodist Church (North) are now in conference in the city of Mexico. Twenty-six preachers are present. Bishop Keener, of the Methodist Church South, attended the first sittings, and has since returned home.

The Catholic Journals accuse the Americans of sending missionaries to Mexico for the purpose of sowing dissension among the people.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The Times, in an editorial article, says: It is stated, on authority which cannot be questioned, that 70,000,000 of human beings are now starving in the famine-stricken provinces of North China. The imagination fails to cope with so gigautic a calamity. We cannot doubt that if the Chinese have found their way to America from comparatively prosperous Eastern provinces in thousands, that they will pour forth in myriads from the famine-stricken districts of the North as soon as a way is opened to them. The Chinese difficulty may speedily become a greater menace to the United States than the negro difficulty was at its worst, for the negro immigration was never voluntary, and ceased with the abolition of the slave trade; while if the Chinese tide once begins to flow in force, it is difficult to see where and when it will stop.

HAVANA, Feb. 19.—The Official Gazette to-day publishes the basis of peace conditions. They are the same as those telegraphed hence on the fourteenth instant. All the insurgent chiefs have given in their adhesion to the conditions.

General satisfaction is expressed all over the island, and peace is no longer doubted. Captain General Jovellar has returned here from the interior.

ROME, Feb. 19.—The smoke of burning ballot papers was visible at 1:45 this afternoon, showing that the conclave had voted, but nobody had obtained the necessary majority. Cardinal Cardoza, Patriarch of Lisbon, arrived at the Vatican and will enter the conclave to-night.

ROME Feb. 20.—Cardinal Joaquim Pecci, Pontifical Camerlengo, was elected Pope. Cardinal Pecci is an Italian. He will take the name of Leo the Thirteenth.

LONDON, Feb. 20—The Rome correspondent of the Times, in a letter to that journal, under date of the fourteenth of the present month, speaks as follows of Cardinal Pecci, to-day elected Pope: Pecci is tall, with a fine head, high forehead, narrowing at the temples, long face and straight features. He has a large mouth, prominent chin, cheerful, open countenance, and large, well-shaped ears. His face reminds one of Consul the Sixth, the renowned minister of Pius the Seventh. He has a fine, sonorous voice, great dignity, and even austerity of manner in public life, but otherwise is affectionate, unassuming, sociable and witty. As Camerlengo, he has been at the head of that party which, without formally renouncing the right of the holy see, acknowledge the wisdom of submitting to the decrees of Providence, accepting what seem to be irrevocably accomplished facts. The general opinion is that for learning, energy, tact, dignity, suitability, real moral worth and sincere piety the Sacred College could not find a more deserving Pope than Cardinal Pecci. At Perugia he followed the same policy recommended by the late Cardinal Maria Sforza at Naples—he advised good Catholics to fulfill their duties as citizens at the municipal and provincial elections, even when the clerical press, professing to interpret much of the Vatican, enjoined the policy of abstentation. Cardinal Pecci spoke with great effect against the proposal for the removal of the conclave from Rome, and other measures advocated by the reactionary party. He enjoys the confidence and support of the Liberals, or at least a reasonable majority of them, of the Sacred College, and plays the same part as was sustained by Cardinal Gizzi in the conclave of 1846.

Cardinal Pecci's private life, at all periods, is above reproach. He has considerable literary talent and has written poetry. He never has had intercourse with the functionaries of the present Italian government, but is esteemed by them; and all with whom necessity or duty brings him in contact are perfectly charmed with him.

MADRID, Feb. 21.—Flags are flying all over the city, and there is a general illumination to-night over the official announcement of the termination of the Cuban insurrection.

HAVANA, Feb. 22.—The English mail steamer from St. Thomas brings dates to February 16, and from San Domingo to the seventeenth. A revolution was raging all over the republic. San Domingo city has been surrounded by revolutionists under Gens. Guillermo and Bellini. President Baez intends to stand a siege, and artillery is being placed in the forts surrounding the city. Baez will be unable to resist much longer on account of the distressed state of the country. The prisons are overcrowded, provisions are very scarce, and prices daily advancing.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 22.—It is officially announced that the Turks commenced the evacuation of Erzeroum on the seventeenth instant.

The Golos states that the Russians, under Gen. Todleben, entered Rutschuck on the twentieth instant.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23.—The Agence Russe says the situation has improved through an understanding between England and Russia, whereby Russia will not occupy Gallipoli, and England will not land her troops on the shores of the Dardanelles. The negotiations for peace are making progress.

The Golos, in its issue to-day, says, regarding the protracted peace negotiations: Either the British squadron should withdraw to Bessika Bay, or the Porte should receive proof that it reckons in vain upon the presence of the British ironclads in the Sea of Marmora. Turkey should be informed that if peace is not signed at the earliest practicable date, hostilities will be resumed.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Post announces in official form that Lord Lyons has been appointed British representative at the conference.

The Standard has the following dispatches from Constantinople:

Bulgaria is to have the ports of Rodost Arokavait. The Russians will hold all their present positions until the indemnity is paid. The protocol of peace will be signed on Monday at St. Stefano, and the ratifications will be exchanged in Constantinople ten days subsequently.

MADRID, Feb. 24.—The government has ordered the expulsion from Spain of a priest for a sermon delivered at Huesca, denouncing the liberal regime of the present King of Spain and that of a recently deceased foreign sovereign.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The Times' second edition has the following dispatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent: Much better feeling prevails here to-day. The modus vivendi with England touching the straits, and the presence of the British fleet in the Sea of Marmora, is regarded as satisfactory in official quarters. I have reason to believe that there is no present intention to occupy Constantinople.

The Silver Bill.

The bill, as amended and passed by the Senate, is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That there shall be coined at the several mints of the United States, silver dollars of the weight of 412½ grains troy, of standard silver, as provided in the act of January 18, 1837, on which shall be the devices and superscriptions provided by said act; which coins, together with all silver dollars heretofore coined by the United States of like weight and fineness, shall be a legal tender at their nominal value for all debts and dues, public and private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract.

And the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to purchase, from time to time, silver bullion at the market price thereof, not less than $2,000,000 worth per month, nor more than $4,000,000 worth per month, and cause the same to be coined monthly, as fast as so purchased into such dollars. And a sum sufficient to carry out the foregoing provision of this act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

And any gain or seigniorage arising from this coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the treasury, as provided under existing laws relative to the subsidiary coinage, provided that the amount of money at any one time invested in such silver bullion, exclusive of such resulting coin, shall not exceed $5,000,000; and provided further, that nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the payment in silver of certificates of deposit issued under the provision of section 254 of the Revised Statutes.

SEC. 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. That immediately after the passage of this act the President shall invite the governments of the countries composing the Latin Union, so called, and of such other European nations as he may deem advisable, to join the United States in a conference to adopt a common ratio between gold and silver, for the purpose of establishing internationally the use of Bi-metallic money, and securing fixity of relative value between those metals, such conference to be held at such place in Europe or in the United States, at such time, within six months, as may be mutually agreed upon by the executives of the governments joining in the same, whenever the governments so invited, or any three of them, shall have signified their willingness to unite in the same.

The President shall, by and with the consent of the Senate, appoint three commissioners, who shall attend such conference on behalf of the United States, and shall report the doings thereof to the President, who shall transmit the same to Congress. Said commissioners shall each receive the sum of $2,500 and their reasonable expenses, to be approved by the Secretary of State, and the amount necessary to pay such compensation and expenses is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SEC. 4. That any holders of the coin authorized by the act may deposit the same with the treasurer or any assistant treasurer of the United States in sums not less than $10, and receive therefor certificates of not less than $10 each, corresponding with the denominations of United States notes. The coin deposited for or representing the certificates shall be retained in the treasury for the payment of the same on demand. Said certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be reissued.

False Teachers.

"They have killed him at last! Seven years, four months and twenty-two days of imprisonment have done their murderous work. On September 16, 1870, Pope Pius the Ninth was a hale and hearty gentleman in his seventy-ninth year. He had led an active, vigorous, manly life; he was accustomed to much exercise; he was fond of long walks; he delighted in little excursions to the suburbs of Rome; one of his chief pleasures was to go among his people, to visit them as a father, to listen to their petitions, to share with them their sorrows and their joys. On Friday, September 16, 1870, he took his last walk through the streets of his own city. * * * Then he entered his prison to begin his martyrdom. It lasted seven years, four months and twenty-eight days. * * * His imprisonment, his enforced change of life, and his isolation from his immediate subjects fatally injured his health. The strength of his constitution was wonderful—it enabled him to bear these cruel torments for more than seven years. But they wore him out at last. It is safe to say that under other conditions—the conditions of freedom and of tranquility—Pius the Ninth would have lived much longer. His jailers and persecutors have thirsted for his death; they have accelerated it as surely as if they had poisoned his food or stuck a dagger through his heart. They have been so eager for his death that they have reported it, at brief intervals, for seven years. At last they are gratified; at last they have killed him. Poor fools! He still lives; and in heaven he may be more powerful than he was on earth."

We clip the above, says the New York Christian Advocate, from the Catholic Review, of this city, one of the ablest organs of the Roman Catholic Church. We print it as a sample of the "information" dealt out weekly by the priesthood and officiary of that hierarchy, for the purpose of exciting a passionate partisan sympathy among the ignorant masses of their adherents. "The poor Pope!" has been the cry of these officials for the last seven years, and yet the dispatches from Rome affirm that he died worth one hundred and twenty millions lire, equal to $23,166,000, deposited, chiefly in the bank of the Rothschilds in Paris. The amount is said to be in cash, and is exclusive of the vast endowments of the Papal See of Rome. As to the Pope's imprisonment, the allegation is a monstrous falsehood, and its repetition from time to time becomes a crime. The authorities who palm off such statements upon the people know well that the Pope has been as free to go when and where he listed as any person in the wide world.

A CORRECTION.—Mr. Editor: I see in the printed minutes of the last session of the Mississippi Conference that Morton and Forrest circuit, Brandon district, is not credited with having paid anything to her preacher for 1877. The circuit is credited with the full assessment of every other claim. The presiding elder was paid in full. The assessment of the preacher is given. Our preacher certainly did report on the Conference floor that "every assessment on the circuit had been paid in full—one hundred cents on the dollar and more—Publishing House and all." As one of the stewards of the circuit I wish to correct any erroneous impression that may go out from the error in the printed minutes. It is an oversight on the part of our worthy statistical secretary.

We paid our preacher as a Christian duty, and are rejoiced to have him as our pastor for this Conference year. Truly yours,

J. S. HALBERT.

FORREST, Miss., Feb. 20, 1878.

Mind your stops. A compositor, in setting up the toast: "Woman—Without her, man would be a savage," got the punctuation in the wrong place, which made it read: "Woman, without her man, would be a savage."

Report of Secretary Board of Missions, Alabama Conference.

The board has paid in full every draft drawn by itself, and is working to pay the debts of preceding boards. This it hopes to do by the end of the ensuing Conference year. The domestic work is gradually improving, and as missions become strong enough to support themselves they are thrown on their own resources. In a few years we hope there will be no necessity for appropriations to any works within our boundaries.

Comparing the sum reported for the foreign work with the number of church members within the Conference, the ratio is seen to be very small—hardly nine cents per capita. And when we remember that the collectors are all esteemed ministers of the gospel, in daily association with the churches as pastors; that the donors are none of them abject paupers, and many of them among the wealthiest of the land, and that the earth, during the year, has yielded most generous harvests, this ratio is so pitifully small as to excite very painful and serious thoughts in the minds of all real lovers of the cause of Christ. They ask: Does this amount adequately express the gratitude of the church to the Savior? Does it measure the sympathy we have for the perishing millions of heathen for whom Jesus died? Why is the sum so little? What can be the cause? A satisfactory reply cannot surely be found in the poverty of the people—the hard times, that stereotyped answer which covetousness and luxury always give to the calls of divine benevolence; for, wherever we go, comforts welcome us in almost every home, abundance greets us at almost every table, and even luxurious elegance delights us in almost every parlor and bed-room. A moment's thought will suffice to show that, although our people are not in the condition of affluence they once enjoyed, they nevertheless spend every year many times this sum for things of "needless self-indulgence."

Nor can we consent that anything is contained in the creed of Methodism, as formulated in the twenty-five articles, or as expounded by the pulpit and press, which by any fair construction can be made to antagonize this form of Christian work, or in any way hinder it in the least; for all her teachings, whether in book, sermon or song, are in perfect accord with the grand thought that the world is to be subjugated to Christ, and held in subjugation. Holding firmly that all men have sinned, and that Jesus died for all, Methodism cannot disobey the command to "go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." And she is forced, when she does preach, to make a full, square, unequivocal offer of salvation to every man. To disobey this command would be not merely an innocent inconsistency, but a most palpable and violent contradiction of those peculiar doctrines that lie in her foundations, and distinguish her from all other religious denominations. Moreover, this grand idea of conquering the world and holding it for Christ is not only the center of her doctrines—it is also the point around which and with reference to which is articulated every joint and part of her vast and complex ecclesiastical system. Every office in our church, from that of the Bishop to that of the class-leader, from that of the missionary across the seas to that of the humblest teacher in the most obscure Sunday school, is designed to express this idea in some way; and the force with which it is expressed is the measure of every man's efficiency in his place. The missionary doctrine is so manifestly contained in our theology, and the missionary spirit is so manifestly embodied in our organization, that to be a Methodist, in any sense at all true, is to be a missionary both in theory and practice.

Nor can the fact be accounted for on the supposition that the churches have not been appealed to in behalf of this interest; for doubtless the "preachers in charge have taken up collections in every congregation," as the Discipline directs, and have pressed the call. We reckon no member of this Conference has views of the divine constitution and nature of the church so false as for one moment to believe that his own support can be damaged by what is given to this cause. No doubt we all agree that the preacher at home is a necessity; but no greater a necessity, indeed than the preacher abroad, that a church without pastors is an absurdity, but no greater an absurdity, indeed, than a church without missionaries; that, in the full conception of the New Testament church, the missionary (who represents her aggressive force) and the pastor (who represents her conservative force) complement and mutually sustain each other, and that so vital is the connection between the two that if one suffer the other must suffer also.

Now if the solution we seek can be found neither in the condition of the country nor in the claims of the ministry at home, nor in our creed, nor in our working system; and if, on the contrary, each and all of these things naturally act as powerful causes to produce and sustain a very intense missionary zeal; and if through the agencies by which our people can be most effectually reached—that is, by the pulpit and the newspaper—appeal after appeal has been made with the shameful result of about nine cents per member, where can the true answer be, unless it be in the decline of spiritual religion among us? By spiritual religion we mean that intimate personal acquaintance with the crucified and risen Savior which renews itself day by day, and by means of which his very mind and nature pass over into our hearts, making us fellows of his sufferings, as well as partakers of his new life and glory. Whoever enjoys this communion will devote what he has to his Master, and his heart will teach his head to think and his hands to work for him. This solution may bring—nay, it ought to bring—pain to us all; yet we believe a moment's review of the state of the church will convince any one of its correctness. But we refrain from such review at present, and conclude by offering the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the missionary spirit is the spirit of Methodism, as it is the spirit of the New Testament church.

Resolved, That Saturday, the eighth day of June next, be and is hereby appointed a day of fasting, confession and prayer; and on Sunday following (the ninth) collections for missions shall be taken in all the churches, and where this is impracticable, the collections shall be taken on the Sundays following.

Resolved, That as pastors we will organize our Sunday schools into missionary societies, and devote a part of the first Sunday of every month to this essential interest of Christ's cause.

J. W. RUSH, Sec.

A LARGE BOOK BUSINESS.—At a recent meeting of the Book Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church the following statements of the business were made and published:

The Eastern and Western book agents rendered full and formal reports. The sales of books and periodicals at New York have been $630,703.37; at the Eastern Depositories, $205,207.95; total, $835,913.32. The net capital above all liabilities is $974,192.01. The Publishing House at New York printed and distributed not less than 47,669,892 copies of weekly, semi-monthly, monthly and quarterly periodical publications for adults and the youth, and issued 25 new books, containing 5,211 pages, and 71 tracts, containing 1,018 pages.

The Western Methodist Book Concern sold at Cincinnati books and periodicals for $391,622.09; at its Depositories for $266,852.31; total, $658,474.40. The net capital above all liabilities of this Concern is $429,474.63. The Publishing House at Cincinnati and its Depositories printed and distributed not less than 31,411,974 weekly, semi-monthly, monthly and quarterly periodical publications for adults and the youth. It issued 15 new books, in the English and German languages, containing 4,339 pages. The total net capital of the two Concerns is $1,403,666.64; the total book and periodical sales were, during the last year, $1,491,387.72; and the total amount of periodical publications were 82,141,866 copies. What an amount of good these latter have done to the hundred thousands of old and young readers only eternity will reveal.

PARSONAGE AT LIND GROVE, LA.—Mr. Editor: I am sorry that the minutes show no report of money collected for the parsonage on Lind Grove circuit last year. Through Bro. Wright I reported that I had collected up to Conference, for this purpose, quite $400. I owe the correction not only to our own people, but also to those friends of ours abroad who aided us in our time of great need, for which we are so thankful. We have now paid nearly the whole debt of $588.68 on the parsonage.

W. P. OWEN, P. C.

LIND GROVE, LA., Feb. 18, 1878.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1878.

THE UNCHANGING.

Friends I love may die or leave me,
Friends I trust may treacherous prove
But thou never will deceive me,
Oh, my Savior in thy love.
Change can never dissolution sever,
Death itself may never part
Yesterday to-day forever,
Thou the same Redeemer art

On the cross love made thee blameless
Of transgressions not thine own
And that love still makes thee sharer
In our sorrows on the throne.
From thy glory thou art bending
Still on earth a pitying eye;
And mid angel songs ascending
Hearest every mourner's cry.

In the days of worldly gladness
Cold and proud our hearts may be,
But to whom in fear or sadness
Can we go but unto thee?
From that depth of gloom and sorrow
Where thy love to man was shown,
Every bleeding heart may borrow
Hope and strength to bear its own.

Though the cup I drink be bitter,
Yet since thou hast made it mine,
This thy love will make it sweeter
Than the world's best mingled wine.
Darker days may yet befall me,
Sharper sorrows I may prove,
But the worst will never divide me,
Oh, my Savior from thy love.

Sunday at Home.

The Two Incidents

The pastor was absent on that Sunday, but had succeeded in getting the Rev. Mr. C. to fill his pulpit. He had quite a reputation as a revivalist, and, as was expected, a large crowd had gathered early on that bright Sabbath morning to listen to the noted preacher. At the usual time a man of medium size, with a pale, sallow complexion, entered the church, and walked leisurely up the aisle, ascended the pulpit steps, and bowed for some little while in silent prayer. We need not describe how we felt as the organ pealed forth its solemn strains, anticipating, as it were, the more solemn moments that were to come, and especially as we looked at the firm lips and serious look of the man of God. After the opening worship he read for his text the words: "Hell and destruction are before the Lord; how much more, then, the hearts of the children of men." I knew that "something was coming." All conspired, everything about me—things seen and heard and felt—seemed to prophesy an unusual time. The speaker, after explaining the terms "hell and destruction," proceeded to show how and why and when they were before the Lord, and brought forth his logic in entering the second division or leading thought in the text to show the truth. It asserted, viz.: that as hell and destruction were before the Lord, the hearts of the children of men were much more so. He then made an application, close and pointed, of what he had said to different characters, as he said, that were present. The excuses of sinners were noticed, and their real reasons for not being Christians shown; the quibbler and the dishonest skeptic were appealed to, and last of all the Pharisaical hypocrite. Power came down from God out of heaven, a gale from the sea of Truth shook mighty sinners as strong as the oaks of Shechem, and they were felled to the right and left. Sighs and sobs were heard, and "fountains of tears, long since rock-bound," were burst open. The services at last were closed, and our preacher was gone—but not the sermon. During the week the pastor, having returned, had a visitor—not to speak of others—on rather unusual business, at least to him. A penitent had come seeking the way of salvation. He was astonished, he was amazed. It was the first inquirer of the kind he had ever known to enter his study. He knew not what to do to undeceive the deluded soul. He was sorry he had invited the evangelist to preach for him. Here was a soul whose animal feelings had been appealed to, and the excitement was so great he knew not what course to pursue. It was wrong, he said, to preach in that way. He never did it. No one could say that his sermons ever made people so unnecessarily anxious as almost to go crazy. He did not believe in religious excitement. If men would not receive the gospel calmly and coolly, they never would, though there were ten times as much fanaticism; and the poor penitent heart was left comfortless and desolate.

This calls to mind an incident of a similar kind, related by an eminent revivalist as occurring in a protracted effort in the town of ——. The first sermon he preached was from the text: "Purifying their hearts by faith." It was addressed to the church, and, being the first night, it was unexpected. It was a shell hurled from the great mortar of God's truth, and it exploded—it took effect. Many were the wounded on that occasion; but the deepest wound was made in the pastor's own heart. As well as I can remember, the points were about these: 1. That after regeneration the heart was still found to be sinful and impure. The proofs were abundant. 2. The necessity for a greater change—for purity—was set forth. 3. The means, the condition of purity—that it was attained by faith alone—was strongly insisted on; and the preacher urged them to seek purity then and there. It was to many "a new gospel." Some were comforted and blessed, some were awakened, some were offended and set their hearts against the doctrine, among whom was the convicted pastor. He was sought out by some who had been aroused to their need of purity, but he comforted them not. He talked and preached against the positions assumed. He believed that we must grow up into "entire sanctification;" that the deeds of the body must be mortified, and hence time was necessary for that work. He admitted that all blessings were received by faith, but that faith was developed by conflict and trial, etc. We have no space to go more into detail. Let it suffice that a number of sermons followed, one after the other, answering objections to and pressing home the doctrine of entire sanctification as an experience to be had now, and not in the future. The pastor was pressed down to the earth; the arrows of truth were drinking up his spirits; his works were all demolished; and after much confession and humiliation before God for his opposition, he "came out into the white light of the blessed experience." A public confession was made, and a mighty flood of revival power was poured down on their labors.

I learned some lessons from these two incidents: 1. An unregenerate man has no business in the pulpit. Better be in the field or shop—not in the steps of Christ as an embassador. 2. We cannot lead a soul further than we have gone ourselves. Our experience will be the standard of those saved under our ministry. 3. The minister who does not enjoy, in a clear experience, "the fullness of the blessings of the gospel of Christ"—the entire deliverance from all sin—may he, often will be, a hinderance to the progress of the cause he has vowed to sustain. In the two instances the unsanctified preacher was no more qualified to deal with convicted, "repenting believers" than was the unconverted preacher to direct aright the convicted, repenting unbeliever or sinner. If the last should have gone out of the pulpit into his closet before God, so should the other. "Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord" are words that should startle every minister of the gospel.

MACHAIRA.

The Hope and Assurance of Immortality.

The love of life is an inherent principle implanted in every man by the Almighty. Even satan, who is the father of lies, told one truth when he said: "All that a man hath will he give for his life;" and it is at least inferable, if God had made no direct revelation of a future state of existence, that man would have entertained a pleasing hope of life beyond the grave. Such is now the case with the most degraded and savage tribes. Why, otherwise, do the votaries and pilgrims of Juggernaut, as a self-inflicted penance, roll their bodies over and over on the ground, or crawl, pulling their bodies forward with their hands, for hundreds of miles, or lie on beds of spikes for years, and then, as a propitiation for their sins, prostrate themselves on the earth to be crushed to atoms by the ponderous wheels of Juggernaut? It is because they look upon these acts as meritorious, hoping thereby to merit a higher degree of happiness in a future state of existence.

The idea of a future state of existence, and something to be done in order to secure the greatest joy and happiness there, seems to be congenial to the human mind. Even the untutored savage looks forward to a country abounding in perennial spring, trees burdened with fruit, and game in superabundance, and flatters himself with the pleasing prospect of being one day transported into that happy region, and anticipates the pleasure which he will there enjoy in the company of his fathers. The philosophers of ancient times, who possessed nothing but the light of nature to direct them, cherished the ennobling idea of an immortal existence, the "pleasing hope, the fond desire, the longing after immortality." Although Nature has given to all men some conceptions of immortality, it must be acknowledged that her information is far from proving satisfactory; hence we find the most eminent philosophers of the heathen world, even while desiring and hoping for such a state, confessing themselves unable to demonstrate its existence. A thick cloud, impenetrable by unassisted reason, intercepted their view.

From this state of uncertainty, doubt and thick clouds of darkness we are happily relieved. To us life and immortality are clearly revealed—more clearly than even to those ancient worthies to whom God graciously revealed himself, and committed his oracles, during the dispensation under which they lived. The prospect of a better world was offered them, but by dark and distant allusions; the city of God was seen from afar—its glory was obscured by intervening shades; but these shades have all been dispelled by him who brought life and immortality to light—by him who said to the penitent thief, when hanging on the cross: "To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise;" by him who had power over the grave, burst its bars, and from Mount Olivet ascended up to heaven, to prepare a place in that mansioned city for all who look for his second appearing.

Thanks be to God, the sun of righteousness has arisen—eternal objects brighten, and heaven opens to our eyes, and by the telescope of faith we can look upward, and in place of mourning for departed friends we can behold them safely housed in glory, adorned with holiness, filled with joy and happiness, robed with all the honors which can be conferred upon their nature, and shining as bright planets as they revolve around the throne of him who loved them and gave himself for them. Yes,

"There is a land of pure delight, Where saints immortal reign;"

and the Christian who still lingers on earth can now look up and feel, from a consciousness of fidelity to God, that ere long he, too, will be a shining orb in that better world, where "a pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeds out of the throne of God and of the Lamb;" and as he thus looks he can joyfully sing:

"O the transporting, rapturous scene,
That rises to my sight!
Sweet fields arrayed in living green,
And rivers of delight."

"He which testifieth these things saith, Surely I come quickly. Amen. Even so, come, Lord Jesus. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."

W. SPILLMAN.

ENTERPRISE, Miss., January, 1878.

Pay Your Preacher.

MR. EDITOR: Having seen and heard so much on this subject, I have decided to write a few lines about it. We are continually hearing of small assessments and smaller collections; and oh, the grumbling at stewards and people! It is enough to make the heart of a Methodist ache to hear it. But let us see where the fault lies. The preacher says it is with the people, and the people say it is with the preacher. So how are we to find where the fault is? Is it the duty of every member of the church to pay something for the support of its ministers; all admit the fact. It is also the duty of every pastor to visit his people. Do they do it? That is the question; and it is a question of great importance. I fear this duty is too much neglected by our pastors. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why the preacher is not paid. Let us examine the figures. Here is a church of say thirty or forty members—more or less, in the same proportion. The preacher comes and visits say five families, which is more than are visited at some churches where there is a very good membership. The result is that the preacher is not paid. As a general rule those who are visited are all that pay the preacher. The steward may go to those who are never visited and try to get money for the preacher, but they meet him with this excuse: "The preacher has not visited my family this year, and if he is too proud to visit and talk to my family I feel under no obligation to pay him anything;" and the steward has to leave him. "But," says the preacher, "they won't come to hear me preach; and how am I to go home with them?" Would it not be a good plan for the preacher to get a list of all the members on his work, and go to see them, talk to them, sing and pray with them, and make them feel that he is interested in their welfare? They will soon become interested in you, and go to hear you preach. The church will be revived, the preacher paid, the church builded up, souls converted to God and brought into the church, and the glorious work go on with ease and freedom. Brethren, let us all pray that some means may be devised by which our beloved pastors may be paid, for "the workman is worthy of his hire."

EX-STEWARD.

East Baton Rouge Parsonage.

MR. EDITOR: It is with a view of putting in operation the erection of a parsonage on every circuit that I send you our notice, and to show what can be done when once the will has been formed, and the course untiringly pursued.

Three years ago Bro. Newton B. Young was instrumental, in our circuit, in buying fifty acres of land and building a neat dwelling on it for a parsonage, but being at a time when money matters were very tight, and he being called to another field of labor, the building was vacated. Last year Bro. Louis Kendall labored with us, but, being here without his family, it was not occupied. This year Bro. Ruffin T. Davis is our pastor, and on his arrival here found all in an unfinished condition—no chimney to the house, no kitchen, no garden, no yard, and the premises being so long vacant and without care that everything represented a lumber-pile. Our good young brother did not get the necessary help he required to complete the work, so he immediately moved into the parsonage, put up a nice double brick chimney, through the center of the house, with his own hands, and got some brethren to assist and move an office from a little distance to the rear for a kitchen. He is now, with some assistance, putting up yard and garden-pickets, and will soon put up a dining-room, which will put all in apple-pie order.

SAMUEL H. BUTLER,
Recording Steward.

The Two Keys.

I have a safe in my office. It is not very large, and never contains any great amount of money. I have a key with which I can open that safe whenever I choose, and take out whatever is in it. This, however, does not enrich me, for I can get out only what I put in, and that is very little. There is another safe down town. It is in a bank on California street. That safe is large. It contains millions of dollars. To it there is a costly combination lock, and also, for the inner cash chamber, an immense brass key. I do not control the key. I could not unless I should become the cashier of that bank. But I went there the other day with a little slip of paper, signed by a well-known depositor. I presented that slip of paper to the cashier. He took the big key, unlocked the large cash-box in the safe, and gave me a handful of gold that was tied up there. If the paper had called for thousands instead of tens of dollars I would have obtained them; for the name on that paper was good there for almost any amount. As I went away with my money I thought how wonderful was that bit of paper! What an "open sesame" it was to one of the largest safes in the city! How much better it was than my little key; for it secured to me the use of the large key in my behalf. But why was that slip of paper so potent? Because there was a good name on it.

And is not every promise of Christ just such a slip of paper? He writes, by his inspired apostle: "Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name that will I do;" and immediately repeats it; "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it."—John xiv, 13, 14. Again, in the next chapter, he says: "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." And yet again, in the sixteenth chapter: "Ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full."

Now with these drafts on God's infinite treasure-house, signed by his eternal Son, are we not as rich as if we had the great golden key of that treasure-house, and could unlock it at will, taking from it whatever we needed? Suppose, with that draft in my hand, I had said: "This is only a bit of paper with a name on it. It is not a key. I can't unlock anything with it." In that case I would have been just as foolish as many Christians are. They do not realize that in those inspired promises they have that which is better than the golden key—they can secure the opening of the safe, and the transfer to them of its treasures of grace, whenever they ask in the name of Christ—whenever they present the draft that he has given them.—Herald and Presbyter.

God's Love.

Suppose a meadow in which a million daisies open their bosoms all at one time to the sun. On one of them, while it is yet a bud, a little stone has fallen. At once crushed and overshadowed, it still struggles bravely against all odds to expand its petals like the rest. For many days this effort is continued without success. The tiny stone (a mighty rock to the tiny flower) squats on its breast, and will not admit a single sunbeam. At length the flower-stalk, having gathered strength by its constant exertion, acquires force enough to overbalance the weight and toss the intruder off. Up springs the daisy with a bound; and in an instant another flowret is added to the vast multitude which in that meadow drink their fill of sunlight. The sun in the heavens is not incommoded by the additional demand. The new-comer receives into its open cup as many sunbeams as it would have received although no other flower had grown in all the meadow—in all the earth. Thus the sun, dutto though it be, helps us to understand the absolute infinitude of its Maker. When an immortal being, long crushed and turned away by a load of sin, at length, through the power of a new spiritual life, throws off the burden, and opens with a bound to receive a heavenly Father's long offered but rejected love, the giver is not impoverished by the new demand upon his kindness. Although a thousand millions should arise and go to the Father, each would receive as much of that Father's love as if he alone of all fallen creatures had come back reconciled to God.—William Arnot.

Daniel Webster was very fond of salmon. One day a pretentious person of small size, sitting opposite to him at table, exclaimed: "Why, Mr. Webster, I didn't know that you great wise men liked good things so much!" "Did you suppose that Providence made all the good things for foolish little men?" significantly asked the gigantic statesman.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

JOHN L. WOLFF was born in Bavaria, May 19, 1810, and died in Baton Rouge on Sunday, February 3, 1878. He married, May 15, 1835, Mary Abigail Lewis, of Baton Rouge, where he resided for the greater part of forty years. Bro. Wolff was in the Mexican war, being a member of the company sent from Baton Rouge. During the last war he fought gallantly in the Confederate army, holding the rank of first lieutenant, though often serving as a captain in the Fourth Louisiana Volunteers. He was a prominent Odd Fellow, having held some of the highest offices in that noble order. He was a fireman, and at one time a member of the City Council of Baton Rouge. Being a superior workman in that line, during the building of the State House he was employed in some of the most difficult and artistic of the cabinet-work that was done in that building.

A strictly honest, high-toned, moral man and useful citizen, the entire community feel that in his death they have sustained a great loss. My first acquaintance with him was during Bro. Goodwyn's meeting last October. One night I noticed that the Spirit was working on him, and, moved to approach him and invite him to the altar, I did so. He came, and there, struggling, praying and pleading for mercy, he found Christ, professed conversion and joined the church. Appointed to Baton Rouge station shortly after my arrival I called upon Bro. Wolff and found him sick. During his illness I often talked with him about his hope of heaven. His testimony was always clear and satisfactory. He was very thankful to God for preserving him through the dangers of two wars and so many years, and at last permitting him to find Jesus. He had religion, and his faith was simple and child-like. Toward the last, as he was laying in bed praying, he was told that his little granddaughter, Ida, was in the room. He loved Ida very much, and during his earlier sickness he often held her in his lap. She was a great comfort to him. He said: "Ida, pray with grandpa;" and she kneeled beside his bed and they repeated together the Lord's Prayer. The aged man, his gray hair tinged with the golden light from the opening gate which he was entering even "as a little child," and the other little child, interlocking and interweaving their common prayer to the one Father, seems a complete illustration of the Savior's words: "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." God has taken the husband and father home; but his promise is sure, and he will care for the widow and the fatherless.

S.

JOSEPH W. HORCH was born in Philadelphia, Pa., January 26, 1796, and died in Whistler, Ala., October 13, 1878, in the eighty-third year of his age. When he was eight years of age he moved with his parents to Charleston, S. C.; thence, in 1821, to Autauga, Ala.; thence, in 1836, to Greensboro, Ala.; thence, in 1870, to Mobile, in and near which he passed the last years of his temporal life.

In the year 1822 he was awakened by the preaching of the gospel and was converted. This work of the Holy Spirit was accompanied by such evidences and followed by such effects that in all his subsequent life he was accustomed to say he had no doubt of its reality. To the faith he then exercised in our Lord Jesus Christ he clung tenaciously, and he used all suitable opportunities to profess the same in the presence of men. In love-feasts, class and experience meetings he was ready to testify to the truth of the gospel and the power of religion. These meetings he valued highly and participated in freely. The preaching of the word was attended to with great interest and profit, and his manner on all such occasions was so devout that the writer of this sketch has very many times felt that he was helped in this difficult work by him as a prayerful hearer. He was for many years, and down to his last illness, a diligent teacher in the Sunday school, and was ever ready to take his part in conducting social meetings, in visiting the sick, instructing inquirers, and in building up believers in the faith of the gospel.

In every community where he was known, after his conversion, he was recognized as a devout man and an earnest Christian. His zeal for God made him fearless in denouncing sin, and industrious in encouraging righteousness. On his death-bed he was sustained by faith in God to a degree that was entirely satisfactory to him and his friends. He felt that God was the strength of his heart and his portion forever. His comfort was great and his hope exhilarating.

His funeral at the church in Whistler was made very impressive by the presence of the children of the Sunday school, who sang some of his favorite hymns.

A good man has been removed from the church militant, and we trust he has been admitted into the church triumphant.

E. WADSWORTH.

DIED, in the city of New Orleans, January 20, and buried on her twenty-third birthday, January 21, 1878, Miss MINNIE E. ANDERSON, eldest daughter of Mrs. E. F. and the late H. O. Anderson.

We write of this death with sadness and with tears, for she was very dear to us. Our darling Minnie was one of those of whom it is written: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Although a noble, conscientious woman, a devoted daughter, ever faithful in the discharge of her duties as a member of the church and Sabbath school, was not satisfied, but wished to realize in her own heart that full assurance of forgiveness which was taught by her church and at her mother's knee; and before taking to her bed, while yet going in and out, before friends, came that deep melancholy, which increased as she descended into the depths of her own heart for the first time, probably, in answer to her own prayers, viewing sinfulness and helplessness; but on the day previous to her death the clouds melted away before the Sun of Righteousness, until, as she expressed it herself, brought her from the "darkness into marvelous light;" and from this time through most intense suffering, the light remained, but to grow brighter, until passed into the heavenly Jerusalem, of city "the Lamb is the light thereof." A matter of regret that she had not manifested to Jesus, as manifested in her "Oh! if I am ever raised up again from bed I will love and work for Jesus as I never done before." She comforted her mother with these sweet words: "Jesus the same dear Savior who makes me happy, and is going to take me to live will come to you, and be more than I possibly be." To her Sabbath school the sweet message was sent: "Love and meet me in heaven." And so with of Zion, and expressions of love for the Savior, who had done so much for laid her down to sleep.

MRS. MARY J. HARTIS, daughter of Thomas and Jane Deloach, died in see, Elmore county, Ala., at twelve on Saturday, February 2, 1878. She was of Baptist parents, in Macon county, August 12, 1849. After the death of father she moved with her mother to place, where she died. Some time the year 1873, at a protracted meeting ducted by Rev. M. C. Turrentine, of the huma Conference, she united herself the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which time to her death she lived a ent Christian life. She died of consumption, and, as a matter of course, had a sickness of long continuance, and for several before she breathed her last her suffering very great. But no murmuring or complaining word escaped her lips. The writer knew her until two or three days before died. At ten o'clock on Wednesday previous to her death on Saturday, she for me to come and see her and pray her. A few minutes later I entered room; and after having been informed my arrival, and told who I was, she to be greatly pleased that I had come said to me that she did not think she live through the night, and expressed that I remain with her. She said: I will be with my Savior before morning. I replied by asking: "Is your Savior now with you? Are you not now with him?" "O yes," said she, "but I will be at him. I desire to be released from suffering. I have nothing to fear, nothing for." I prayed with her, and remained her until morning. We knew that she not live long, for she ate nothing. I saw her again the next evening, and stood by her bedside, and took her little in mine, she said: "O I do wish you help me off home before night." She lived on until Saturday, during which visited her often, and I never heard her express a doubt about the future. She to think of nothing but going home and ing with Jesus when she thought of future at all. A short time before she she said: "I am all right." These were last words. She leaned her head back on Jesus' breast and sweetly breathed life away.

JOHN R. [illegible]

DEPARTED this life, in the [illegible] Pearlington, Miss., February 9, 1878, E. AMMISTEAD, wife of Jasper L. Ross. Ross was born in St. Bernard parish. She came to this town with her father when quite young, and while in her [illegible] joined the Methodist Episcopal Church and afterward became the wife of Bro. Ross, in the year 1873.

Sister Ross was a very consistent [illegible] than all her life; but the brightness of [illegible] religious joy was hers only on her dying All her life she dreaded death, but when trial came she found herself resigned without fear spoke of it to her friends made all the necessary preparation could be made by a dying Christian, her last adieus to her loved ones. To was to her husband: "Jasper, meet heaven. Raise my children up right, not request you to separate the [illegible] Take good care of my mother." She gave a sign for him to bend down, that might kiss him; then, with a beautiful she said, "Now, good-by," and closed eyes.

The day before her death she requested Charles Wesley's hymn on justification for a thousand tongues to sing my dear deemer's praise!" The last request made was to sing at her funeral: "O [illegible] of a home over there?" At half-past o'clock on Saturday evening she left her last. She was beautiful in death. Sunday evening, at half past three, her remains were taken to the church, funeral service of the church was performed and closed at the grave with [illegible] service and singing the song of her request.

So ends the life of one of the members Pearlington church, one of the finest specimens of womanhood. Honored loved by all, her memory is like fragrant ointment poured forth. Blessed are they who die in the Lord. She leaves to the care of her sorrowing husband two little children with the dying request to raise them right.

A. B. NICHOLS.

BRO. JOHN CHANCE was born [illegible] tember 21, 1816. At the age of two he united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, and continued an earnest and faithful member until God called him from it. He was for many years afflicted with [illegible] and near the close of life his sufferings were great, yet his faith in the Savior was unwavering. When asked by friends about his prospects after death, his uniform reply was: "There is not a doubt to disturb. I have everything I wish, except to be released from this suffering and be with Christ." On the evening of January 22, 1878, his wish was granted, and he gently passed from suffering to the inheritance of God's children. [illegible] saw. We laid his body away in the [illegible] wald cemetery—chosen, with the assurance of a glorious resurrection by those who shall be raised to eternal life.

F. F. MYERS.

Knowledge is proud that he has learned so much. Wisdom is humble that he knows no more.—Cowper.

The Christian Advocate.

URSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1878.

THE LOOM OF LIFE.

day, all night I can hear the jar the loom of life, and near and far hills with its deep and muffled sound, the tireless wheels go always round.

ily, ceaselessly goes the loom,
the light of day and the midnight's gloom, wheels are turning early and late,
the woof is wound in the warp of fate.

k! clack! there's a thread of love wove in;
k! clack! another of wrong and sin;
at a checkered thing will this life be en we see it unrolled in eternity!

e, with a face like mystery, hands as busy as hands can be,
at the loom with its arm outspread, atch in its meshes each glancing thread.

en shall this wonderful web be done?
thousand years perhaps, or one;
o morrow. Who knoweth? Not you nor I;
the wheels turn on and the shuttles fly.

we spinners of wool for this life-web—say?
we furnish the weaver a thread each day?
ere better then, O my friend, to spin eautiful thread than a thread of sin.

sad-eyed weaver, the years are slow,
each one is nearer the end, I know;
some day the last thread shall be woven in, grant it be love, instead of sin.

The Brim of the Cup.

a short-hand report can reproe a sermon so full of thought and gery, and so felicitously expressa that which Rev. Dr. Storrs rely delivered at the Fifth Avenue rch; but the following sketch the Tribune will give a general of the line of thought and some illustrations. The text was from nd Chronicles iv, 5: "And the of it like the work of the brim cup with flowers of lilies."

here is something very wonder- a thoughtful man, he said in ing his sermon, in the universal ity of the word of God. Take text and it involves a great gen- law. In a sense, this is true of highest works of human genius. intelligent sculptor will take a ment of an ancient statue and lop the form of the original. A le stanza of a song may show us mind of the poet from whom it e. The rim of the 'molten sea of cubits' which stood in the tem- was fashioned so delicately that as evident the thought of the l architect had dwelt upon it. ras taken to illustrate the archi- hral genius of Solomon. It em- sized the beauty and dignity of entire temple. The chronicler so impressed by it and so record- it. It represents a general law, erent in any work done with a enthusiasm. Look at a cathe- The entrance is not an open- in the wall. The doorway is ded with graceful figures and ning tracery. It is the same in ature. In Milton one recognizes reat outreach of plan, not more ceable to the reader than the ex- ite modulation and dignity of verse. Take the laureate of gland. One does not know what st to admire, his wealth of scien- knowledge, his philosophic in- ht, or the minute perfection and sic of his lines. In obedience to same general law the mother ks to have the robe of her first- n delicately embroidered. And husband, in the construction and oration of his home, seeks to ke it the expression of the love he rs his children and his wife. So God's work, how everywhere it is the work of the brim of a cup h flowers of lilies. We see it in natural landscape, making the ulte cliff to hide itself with the ss, strewing the ocean shore with ished pebbles, and making the y spray of the surf iridescent with nbow hues.

Nothing is more important to an elligent and moral man than the th. Physiologists tell us that the in grows in substance and thes in proportion to the thought t courses through it. The truths the gospel are the source of the urch's life. How the Old Testa- nt prophesies the New, and how New Testament illuminates and nobles the Old. Careful and minute dy of the gospel is necessary to large and complete out religious owledge. The same law also ap- es to the formation of character. derick, the Great once said to courtier, at the palace in Pots- m: "The strength of the King like the strength of that support- column, which is in its upright- ss." This seems a strange thing came from so selfish a monarch, t it is worthy of a mind as intelli- nt as his. A man should have mpathy with the public welfare, d tender and solicitous sympathy a friend. Power to invigorate ers when they are weary is an ential element of Christian char- er. The man of a simple, strong hteousness, who uses a churlish rd when he helps the poor, we y make a trustee at our death, but do not care to meet him in our e. There is the beaten shield of hteousness, and there is the orna- ental rim. Phidias, when taken to k for expending so much care and ish on the back of a statue which s to stand against a wall, said: The gods will see it." So in benev- ent action. Politeness has been ll described as benevolence in lles. The tendency of public char- y is to become impersonal. Those ho receive charity are treated like pers, and the money given like tax. This has a demoralizing in- ence. No man should think his volence complete till he can go d give a kind look and an encour- ing word, as well as money. Men not content that a church edifice ould merely conform to what is essary in a church. They also k to make it beautiful, and raise a e, that it may be the finger of the regation ever pointing heaven- d. The church must also seek to plete itself by the expression of ual sympathies and the inter- nge of thoughts.

nties are ours, events are God's.— elt

How to be a Christian.

It was during a revival. I was waiting by a man, to help him if I might. Said he: "I know I am a sinner. I feel the burden of my sin. I want to be a Christian, but I don't know how to be. I am like a man feeling around in the dark. I don't know where to step."

Said I: "Do you believe that the Lord Jesus tells you the truth, and will never deceive you?"

"Certainly I do," he answered; "I haven't the slightest doubt about that."

"You are absolutely sure," I asked, "that the Lord Jesus cannot lie?"

"Absolutely sure," he said.

"Well, now," I replied, "since you are so certain that Christ never can deceive you, why won't you take him exactly at his word? He tells you this word: 'Him that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out.' Now, coming is the yielding up of your sin, forsaking it, consecrating your soul to him. Don't you suppose that if you do your part of it it is perfectly certain that Christ will do his part—receive you—never cast you out?"

"I think it must be so," he answered.

"Well, now," I asked again, "as far as you know yourself, do you thus come?"

He waited a minute, and then said solemnly: "As far as I know myself, I do."

"Can you not, then," I answered, "just believe that promise—let your faith fasten on that word as a word for you: 'I will in no wise cast out?'"

There was absolute stillness for a moment; then the man looked up suddenly and exclaimed: "Why, is that all?"

"That is all," I answered.

"Why," said he slowly, as if speaking to himself, "then—I think—I must be a Christian."

"My brother, you are a Christian," I answered joyfully.

Thus did this man become, then and there, a Christian.

Can we not all do this and be saved?

Said James Durham, a minister in Glasgow, on his death-bed, to a friend: "Brother, for all that I have preached and written, there is but one scripture I can remember or dare grip to. Tell me if I dare lay the weight of my salvation upon it: 'Him that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out.'" Now, coming is the yielding up of your sin, forsaking it, consecrating your soul to him. Don't you suppose that if you do your part of it it is perfectly certain that Christ will do his part—receive you—never cast you out?"

"I think it must be so," he answered.

"Well, now," I asked again, "as far as you know yourself, do you thus come?"

He waited a minute, and then said solemnly: "As far as I know myself, I do."

"Can you not, then," I answered, "just believe that promise—let your faith fasten on that word as a word for you: 'I will in no wise cast out?'"

There was absolute stillness for a moment; then the man looked up suddenly and exclaimed: "Why, is that all?"

"That is all," I answered.

"Why," said he slowly, as if speaking to himself, "then—I think—I must be a Christian."

"My brother, you are a Christian," I answered joyfully.

Thus did this man become, then and there, a Christian.

Can we not all do this and be saved?

Said James Durham, a minister in Glasgow, on his death-bed, to a friend: "Brother, for all that I have preached and written, there is but one scripture I can remember or dare grip to. Tell me if I dare lay the weight of my salvation upon it: 'Him that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out.'

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HALL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Without God in the World.

If this was designed to describe the condition of the heathen, it also expresses what is practically the state of multitudes in Christian countries. God is not in all their thoughts. There is no reference to him in the business undertaken, nor in the plans and enterprises of life. Providence is little more than a shadowy myth—a name for nature and the processes which are going forward in the material world. If there be a God he is far removed from the events of the present state, and comes not in immediate contact with the visible universe. Wherever he may be, he is not in the world. If created by a divine hand, the great machine has been set in motion, and he who made it has withdrawn himself from it. However upheld, the worlds are not upheld by the word of his power. And as there is no immediate impact of a divine person in the material, so there is none in the spiritual domain. The supernatural in religion is scouted as a superstition, and as the offspring of an unreasoning and imaginative credulity. No unseen spirit operates in the heart, awakens convictions of sin and danger, or bears witness to the soul that guilt has been forgiven. Both in the realm of matter and of spirit God is banished from the world. And it follows legitimately that there is to us no inspired revelation. If God does not touch the material nor the spiritual world, neither has he spoken. There is no law of divine authority, and there is no gospel but such as has its origin in man himself. The material world is left to itself, to drift whither it may, and men, abandoned to their own guidance, have nothing better than their reason and moral intuitions by which to shape their course and to govern their conduct.

With some this is a theory and a philosophy; with many it is a practical realization. They are actually without God in the world. For them there is no prayer, no resting in the felt presence of an almighty and loving heavenly Father, no assured and blessed immortality through the manifestation of the beloved Son, and no inward comfort of the Holy Spirit. This is to them a hard and fortuitous world—a world of suffering and disappointment, unrelieved by the hope of a better life. If the sun of prosperity shine upon them here, there is little satisfaction. Old age, with its infirmities, comes at length, and the dread hour that ends our being here is indeed "a leap in the dark."

The moral tendencies of a godless life are everywhere manifest. What can we expect of those who are without God in business? The governing principle is selfishness. Honesty and integrity are matters of expediency only, and to be observed only when our own interests seem to demand it. When men get rid of God in the world the way to every kind of corruption is open. Godliness is the only thing that can secure confidence between man and man, and arrest the flood of iniquity in business affairs. Corrupt legislation has the same root. Our law-makers are without God in the world, and hence there is no moral restraint. Sectional interests are opposed to the general welfare, and measures, however righteous and just, must be bought with a price. There is a readiness to pander to vice and covetousness, provided the advocacy of evil projects be well paid for, or provided it secures the support of strong moneyed monopolies. God is as little in politics as he is in the lives and business of the people. In the circles of pleasure and dissipation God is ignored. There are none so utterly without God in the world as those who are given up to the pursuit of worldly pleasure. The money spent, the time wasted, the health destroyed, are light evils in comparison with the moral contamination and the spiritual shipwreck. Surely "the God of this world hath blinded the minds of them that believe not." Think of the theaters, the masquerades, the promiscuous assemblies of dancers, the revelry, and intemperance of every sort, and excesses of fashionable life in a large city! These gay and crazy throngs are drunken with the wine of unadulterated worldliness. The thought of God would be a rude and alarming intrusion in these circles, and those who move in them are most intent to banish Christ from their minds.

The Christian life is the opposite of these aspects of godlessness. Without God in the world describes the unregenerate soul. With God in the world indicates a living faith and a renewed nature. Walking with God exhibits the habitual feeling. God is seen in his works, in his providence, in his word, and his abiding presence is in the heart. In business, in society, in recreation, in labor and in rest, the believer is with God. How sweet and beautiful are the words of David: "When I awake I am still with thee." His last thought was of God, and at dawn he opens his eyes with the comfortable feeling that God is about his bed. Christ is Immanuel—God with us—and through him it is our privilege to be constantly with God. Where God cannot accompany, the Christian does not go. Walking with God, he cannot defile himself with dishonest gain, he cannot mingle in worldly revelries, he cannot dwell in the tents of wickedness. And God is with him in trouble, Christ walks with him in the fiery furnace, and in death the mighty God of Jacob is his refuge. For all practical purposes the line is drawn by this: Without God in the world, with God in the world. On which side do we fall? It is a question which determines not only what we are now, but also what we shall be. Shall we die without God, or shall we have his presence to sustain us? Shall we be with God evermore, or shall we be forever without God?

Here and There.

—To inquiring friends we must say that the topics mentioned have been noticed more than once within our editorial term. But we have new readers, and the old ones do not read everything in every number, and those who read, do not always remember. The preacher in a long pastorate must preach many times on the same subjects, or his hearers will not be well instructed, and the journalist must frequently return to questions that have already occupied his pen, and for the same reasons.

—Mardi Gras literally means fat Tuesday. It is the same as Shrove Tuesday, the day which precedes the beginning of Lent. The festival of the Carnival has probably come down from the saturnalia of pagan Rome, and is thought to have been instituted by Telesphorus, Bishop of Rome, about the middle of the second century. Its name is derived from the Latin, carni vale—farewell to meat. In Rome the Carnival extends over the eleven days which immediately precede Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. Mardi Gras is the last day of the Carnival—a fat day, as the culmination of the festivities and good cheer before the forty days' fast. Lent is observed by the Anglican Church, but the Carnival has been observed and kept up by the Roman Catholic Church, and by the people under its influence and training. First of all it is pagan, and then Roman Catholic. Mardi Gras has this derivation and history: It is of pagan origin, nourished by Romish usage, and is an ally of the world, the flesh and the devil in ministering to the passions, appetites and avarice of men. We regard it as an unmixed evil, a nuisance that should be condemned and discountenanced by Christian people.

—Concerning the future punishment of the wicked, we regard the teachings of Scripture clear and explicit. For those who reject Christ and die impenitent we can see no escape: "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" We cannot see how, any more than Paul could. As for the heathen, the principles of their judgment are equitable. They will be dealt with accordingly as they have improved or abused the light given. The gospel to them would be a boon of inestimable value, but they are not necessarily lost. Abundantly more will be saved with the gospel than without it, but we are bound to believe that every man who comes into the world enters upon a probation, the conditions of which make his salvation possible. Every one has a chance for life eternal. Our conception of a soul lost is that of a moral and accountable being who has deliberately rejected good, and who persistently clings to evil. It is a state in which there is no desire to be holy, and in which the bent is only to sin. In hell the desire to get out of torment may exist, but there is no desire to be good. There is no place for repentance there, however much the wicked may writhe under the torturing sense of happiness forever forfeited. Without noting particular texts, it seems to us that the entire drift of revelation assumes that sinners are in danger of eternal misery. The earnest appeals and expostulations of the gospel have this meaning. If this suits better, the word of God affirms that if sinners do not repent and reform in this world they never will. If the grace of God does not arrest them here it cannot do it hereafter. God has not said that he would save the sinner after death if he could, but it does seem to us that he has made it plain that repentance after death is not to be expected. It is among the things morally impossible. Much error and doubt spring from an entire misconception of what salvation is, and of what the lost soul is. If the one is a spiritual change and a holy heart, and if the other is a nature utterly averse to holiness, and entirely alienated from everything that is good, there is no difficulty in conceiving that the perdition of the ungodly is perpetual. We know not how long ago the devils fell, but there is no intimation that any of them have been or ever will be restored. Probably none of them have ever wished it, and this is the horrible fate of those who die in their sins. They have chosen evil, and they will cling to evil forever.

—"Suppers gotten up and properly conducted, decently and in order, and the proceeds devoted exclusively to the benefit of the church." One objection is that the people who ought to give directly to this object are apt to be demoralized by this indirect method. The elements of conscience, genuine liberality and purely religious motives are more or less eliminated by it, and those who are able to give make these expedients an occasion of covetousness and of doing less than they are able. So far as these expedients interfere with the sounder training of the people in giving directly, statedly, conscientiously, and as the Lord prospers them, they must be objectionable. And we think that they often do so interfere. When a church begins to look to suppers and entertainments there will be a relaxation in the more legitimate system of self-denying effort and generous giving. Another objection is in the difficulty of keeping these suppers and entertainments within proper bounds. The object, in great part, is to obtain assistance from the world, and the world is apt to be there in full force. It becomes, to all intents and purposes, a worldly assemblage, an occasion for frivolity, fashionable display, and the blessed and beautiful charity which "doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, and thinketh no evil," often becomes straitened and pushed to the wall. It ought not so to be, and perhaps it need not, but there is this danger. It is the conviction of many experienced pastors that these entertainments are nearly always injurious to the spirituality of the church, and that in the long run they are scarcely helpful to its finances. Raffles, grab-bags, voting and liquors are, of course, out of the question, and dancing likewise; but can these things always be prevented? And if they are excluded, can worldliness be kept out? As far as we are concerned, we rest the case on the presentation of these two objections. Something can doubtless be said on the other side. These suppers are sometimes very pleasant reunions of Christian people, and have a social value in connection with church work. They afford entertainment to our young people, and meet a want which, if supplied by the world, is usually detrimental in their piety. And then, in emergencies, how else are the needed funds to be obtained? We have profound sympathy for these struggling church enterprises, and are loth to condemn unqualifiedly. The more excellent way is to collect the money by subscription, or by small and stated contributions; but if suppers are resorted to let them be such as the Master himself might be present at, and let them be so conducted that the tenderest conscience shall not be defiled, and that the Holy Spirit shall not be grieved.

THE NEW POPE.—On Wednesday, February 20, Cardinal Joaquim Pecci was elected Pope, and he has assumed the title of Leo the Thirteenth. He was born in 1810, and is consequently sixty-eight years of age. He is an Italian by birth, and was for many years Archbishop of Perugia. He was made a cardinal in 1853. We believe he has been regarded as an Ultramontane, and in accord with the general convictions and policy of the late Pope, but a brief sketch of him by the Rome correspondent of the London Times, which we publish in our news columns, speaks of him as enjoying the confidence of the majority of the Liberals of the conclave. He is represented as a man of ability, and of pure and exemplary life. It remains to be seen whether he will surrender himself to the control of the Jesuits, and to the sullen and uncompromising opposition to the civil authority of the Italian government in Rome. We presume his policy will be identical with that of his predecessor, though he may pursue it by more politic and sagacious methods. As to the loss of the temporal power, while he may seem to accept the situation and affect resignation to accomplished events, he will work for the restoration, and expectantly wait for the opportunity.

—As might have been expected, the addresses on the occasion of the memorial celebration, in New Orleans, of the deceased Pope, were in the extreme vein of Ultramontanism. The temporal power was the staple of the most lengthy and elaborate oration by a layman, in which the Italian people and Victor Emanuel were roundly abused and condemned, and in which it was insisted that the Pope's temporal sovereignty was necessary to Catholic unity. If the Roman people, tired of the misgovernment and tyranny of the popes, preferred to be under the crown of united Italy, what have we, as republicans, to say against it? Christ declared that his kingdom was not of this world, and the apostles were commanded not to exercise lordship; and if Peter ever was in Rome, it is certain that he wore no crown, and sat upon no temporal throne. His office and functions were only spiritual, and his successor ought to be satisfied with these limitations. Father Neltharts, in his address, took a text and said: "It is my duty and privilege to speak to you of the great and glorious Pope Pius the Ninth, the vice regent of Christ upon the earth, who departed this life, to return to his Master, but a short time ago." Again he says: "Who was Pius the Ninth? He was the true and lawful representative of Jesus Christ, the successor of St. Peter, and the infallible head of the church upon earth, commissioned as such by Christ himself, in the person of St. Peter, and acknowledged as such by over two hundred million Catholics during upward of thirty-two years." He further described him "as the visible, infallible head of the only true church upon earth." We all knew before that the Pope is thus regarded by Roman Catholics, but did our military, firemen and city officials, as composed in part at least of Protestants, expect to hear or seem to countenance these absurd if not blasphemous assumptions? Perhaps it was scarcely delicate or courteous to them to be treated to such a discourse as this, but the Pope could not well be considered apart from what he represented, and both must be honored together.

The Moffat Register.

This late and rather curious little invention is just now attracting general attention. Legislators especially are giving it careful study. A bill is now before the Legislature of Mississippi providing for its introduction and use in this State. Virginia has already adopted it to the satisfaction of those who have the collection and disbursing of the public revenue. Its design is to keep a register of all the "drinks" sold at different retail liquor saloons. Upon the figures of this register the State bases its taxlevy. Instead of imposing so much license upon each dealer, as now, the privilege tax will be proportionate to business success—the number of drinks sold. Thus the payment of the privilege for plying the degrading trade is removed from vender to buyer—from seller to drinker. So he who purchases a "drink" at a retail groggery not only pays for the "raw material," but a tax (of say one cent) to the State for the privilege and opportunity. As to the wisdom of its introduction whisky dealers hereabouts are divided in opinion, with a possible majority in opposition. Having an eye on the main chance, they fear any innovation upon present methods, which have succeeded so admirably in filling their pockets with ill-gotten gain, and society with untold sorrow and moral ruin. The friends of the Moffat register claim that by its use the State can exercise a more rigid espionage over the nefarious traffic, and increase largely the public revenues. If honestly administered, the State would doubtless secure a monetary gain; but, alas! for the morals. We could hope for nothing better, may be worse. If carefully registered, the statistics, already so appalling as to make the most credulous skeptical, could be accurately compiled. Its use so far has furnished an example worthy of study. Whisky to-day is the gospel's most formidable enemy. In the city of Richmond it is said the bell-punches registered two hundred and fifty-five thousand in seventeen days. At fifteen cents a drink (the usual price, I am told) it would aggregate $38,250, or $2 250 per day. If so much was thus consumed in Richmond, what must be the consumption of New York and Philadelphia!

But, aside from this enormous statistical array of crime, there is a sermon in the "register." It serves as a reminder of another register, kept by a more faithful hand and watched by a sleepless eye. The Moffat design is only a record of sin. It chronicles man's infirmities; sounds the bell at every step in the downward way to ruin; measures the prodigality of carnal desire. No generous deeds or kind offices are seen to relieve the picture. They have no page in this book of chronicles. What an enormity of reckless, wicked expenditure could this register show in ten years of some men's lives. Registering four drinks a day, it would reveal a loss of over two thousand dollars. But the register which God keeps is a perfect history of life. All "the deeds done in the body" are preserved with infinite accuracy. Infirmities and virtues are alike recorded.

Again, the Moffat instrument may be imperfectly kept. Dealers may extend favors to customers to purchase continued patronage. "Drinks" may be had and no record made. Not so the register above. It knows no favorites; has no respect of persons; cannot be tempted to negligence or abatement. The man of fortune and position can purchase exemption or exception no sooner than the incarnate brute in the slums of iniquity and squalid poverty. Sin can neither escape nor erase its record. Every poisonous drink is seen and registered.

Again, by failure to keep the Moffat invention the State may be defrauded of its revenues. Many drinks may be sold for which there is no taxable return. The shrewdness and cunning of rum can only be equaled by its dishonesty. It requires but little ingenuity for grog-men to "circumvent" the State. But there will be no inaccuracies in God's register. Eternity cannot be defrauded. Omniscience will not be imposed upon by human chicanery. The returns will be faithfully made. Not a single offense will escape the register. Every drink will be recorded, on which eternity will reap its equitable revenue.

Again, the figures of the Moffat register may only be seen by a few. The tax-assessor and gatherer will know the result—possibly no others. But the record of Heaven will be seen and heard by all the worlds. The judgment will be a time of books. Every page will be turned, and each name will be heard. The whisky register cannot record the names. The drinks will be sold, but the public can never know by whom purchased and drank. But in the books of God the names are written. Their deeds may have escaped observation and detection here, but not recording there. What a day of surprises! Many secret sins will then come to light. Many sly sinners and hypocritical professors will be unmasked.

Happy for us if we so live that the recording angel will write good continually, and the Judge eternal shall say: "Well done." "Come up higher."

C. B. G.

City of Mexico Mission.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 9, 1878.

MY DEAR DOCTOR: We got ashore at Vera Cruz from the steamer on smooth water. No harbor at any point of the gulf is more exposed than that. At this season of the year a norther may come up in one hour and cut off all communication between the quay and the shipping. The little folks were glad enough to find themselves abroad, once more, on the solid, good-natured ground. We started from Vera Cruz at midnight, and had the Southern Cross over against us in surpassing splendor. By day we had passed over the most beautiful part of the scenery of the route, though not the sublimest. When the morning broke, as we went up, the party began to credit the trip, until some time before we had gotten fairly on the great plain of Mexico the account was balanced. It was like climbing Nebo—by sight. The sky was never clearer; every mountain stood forth, and the hoary peak of Orizaba seemed but a little way off for full a hundred miles. I shall never forget the first impression of this mountain gloom and glory upon me in 1873. Since then I have seen it some three times, and still feel its inspiration. The plain on this Cordillera range, at an elevation of eight thousand feet, must be in summer-time a marvel of beauty. Every foot of it is used for pasturage or tillage. The surface for one hundred and fifty miles was prepared as neatly as a vegetable garden, the rows and furrows were as straight as an iron rail as far as the eye could follow them. The hay-ricks were frequently shaped into houses; all were admirably built, and as smooth shorn as if cut with shears. The orchids had not yet bloomed, but the scarlet thistle abounded, and stood out in unusual depth of color. The train passed on by them, to my regret. When we were within fifty miles of the city we had the topes of the three snow mountains—Popocatepetl, Iztaccihuatl and Orizaba—all in view at once, under full sunlight. The century plant is all over the plain as far as the eye can see, in straight rows, growing to a great size and yielding millions of gallons of pulque annually. Trains of cars filled with this intoxicating beverage made drink passed us on the way. It contains some nutriment—about enough to make a very poor apology for getting drunk. Two ounces of starch in a bottle of Newark cider might give one an idea of its appearance and taste.

We arrived in the city a little after dark, the baby and all of us fairly worn out with the dust and travel of the last part of the route. The brethren met us at the train, and in the morning again called on us in true old-time spirit of those at Antioch Forum. Bro. Juarez has just got up out of a sick-bed, and Mota is slowly recovering from pleura-pneumonia. I shall see him in the course of the day. We found the furniture and school-house and church all as we left them two years ago—well preserved and kept. The house that Bro. Daves lived in happens to be vacant, and it is likely that Bro. Patterson will occupy it again. The Mexican preachers have maintained a good character, and have held to our interests admirably—no more evidence of the genuineness of their faith. Now Bro. Patterson has the additional help of Villegas. They are all in good spirits, and I do not will soon have seals to their ministry. What we need now is above and beyond all else, is an outpouring of the Holy Spirit—a time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. All the missionaries are praying for it. One told me that he knew that it was coming, and saw many signs of its approach. Let the church at home pray for it, as a man would for the life of his child!

I find the cold mornings of the plain but poorly agree with rheumatism, and warn me away. To-day I have seen many of our friends—the American consul's and American minister's families, and introduced them Bro. Patterson. Quite a delegation from the Methodist Episcopal Church is in the city. They express themselves to be profoundly impressed with the open door of this missionary field. Only steady purpose and fervent prayer are needed to make effectual this inviting opportunity for the church of Christ.

Yours truly,

J. C. KEENER.

In the Richmond Christian Advocate of February 21 Rev. Dr. Bennett announces his retirement as joint editor and publisher of the paper. As president of Randolph Macon College he finds that his energies are fully taxed and his time all occupied. We are sorry to lose Dr. Bennett from our church journalism. We sincerely pray that the success which marked his editorial career may crown his labors in the college. Rev. J. J. Lafferty is now sole editor of the Richmond, and we have no doubt it will continue to be among the best of our Southern Methodist papers.

Bishop Keener reached home, on his return from Mexico, on Monday night, February 18. His departure from Mexico was hastened by ill-health. He has suffered somewhat this winter from rheumatism or neuralgia, and the atmosphere of the city of Mexico seemed to aggravate his sufferings. The Bishop has not been well enough to be out much since his return, but his condition is improving. His letter in this week's paper gives some account of the mission, and its condition and prospects.

St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, Newark, N. J., has recently celebrated its silver wedding. (Bishop Pierce was present and preached on the occasion of the dedication twenty-five years ago. He was also present at the anniversary exercises by special invitation, and preached on Sunday night, February 10, Bishop Simpson preaching in the morning. It is mentioned that Mr. Cornelius Walker has given to St. Paul's nearly $100,000 since its inception.

The company in which you will improve most will be the least expensive to you.—Washington.

Newspapers in the South.

Dr. Haygood is treating this subject the Southern Christian Advocate lth pungency and with light. He ys:

At the beginning of this year there ere in the United States, of all sorts,
230 periodicals. Of this number 651 are in the Southern States. mpare two States—Georgia and ichigan—put down in the census of 70 as equal in population. There e 140 publications in Georgia; 312 in ichigan. Kentucky had, in 1870, 321 000 in population; Massachu-tts, 1,457 000 Kentucky has 145 pub-ations; Massachusetts, 342. Lou-ana had 727 000 in population:
lifornia, 560,000. Louisiana has 84 blications; California, 276. There 500 publications in the United tes whose regular issues are over
; of these, 40 only are in the uth. There are 165 such publicans in New York alone! Of 123
ily secular papers in the South, ly seven have circulations over 10,- ; but two over 20,000. There are o New York dailies whose circula-n, it is asserted, surpasses the comed circulation of all the dailies in South.

et us compare the circulation of r of the leading Advocates of our n church with four of the Church ith. We leave off the names, but y are leading papers, published in midst of strong Methodist comnities, and two of the four have large circulation as have any thern Methodist papers. The four e a circulation of 28,000—aver-ng 7,000 each. Take the four ngest of the Northern Methodist ocates. What circulation have ? The four reach 111 000—aver-ng 27 750—only 250 less than the bined circulation of our four ngest!

he four strongest Baptist papers he South count up only 24 500 le one Baptist paper in New York hes 21,000. The Apologist, pub-ed in Cincinnati for the German hodists of the Methodist Episco-Church, counts 15,000 subscribers arly twice as many as our strong-Advocate can show.

me of our defenders are wont to g forward the colored population set-off when we begin these com-sons. But this won't answer in issue. The New York Christian ocate has reached recently a cir-ation of 60 000. These are taken umably by white people. Our strongest count 28,000—limited hite people. As saddening com-sons might be given for a full col more. No wonder we have in church but one endowed institu-of learning—and that endowed Northern money. No wonder we only beginning to try to take our per place in the great missionary rements of our times. No wonder pastors are poorly supported.
ut the figures given above tell but of the sad tale. There is incon-vertible evidence for saying that e sale of books we are as far bed as we are in the circulation of ious papers. Witness: the an-l exhibits during the last ten s by our house in Nashville, and e Concern in New York, Cinati, Chicago, San Francisco and
nta. Their book sales are enor-
s. We cannot escape by point-to the books sold by friendly or ited book merchants in St.
is, New Orleans, Atlanta or Rich-
d. We know something of the ness done by these establish-ts. Their sales do not help us to dication. Moreover, our North brethren have twenty times as y such stores as we have. Can ntradict these figures? We can affirm, of our own knowledge, t the circulation of these North-Advocates is, but we have no on whatever to doubt what their lishers affirm. We have every n to believe them. We do know small is the circulation of some r strongest; we know how small ok trade is carried on in our
ch. Can we explain these fig-
? Where is the fault? In pub-rs, editors, preachers, people?
all? The investigation should and to the bottom. It is of unssable importance. It concerns whole church, and not for this ration only. It is not a question personalities;" it is a question ts and conclusions, of admitted and remedies. No publisher, r, agent or other person, or offi-has any right to be "sensitive."
re is the trouble? We must find Then we must ascertain the
dy. Then we must take mea-

No class has so great interest in matter as Methodist itinerant chers. We belong to that hon-le company, and feel distressed, saddening facts that can no longer concealed—facts that are portent-n view of, future tests and com-tions in this country. Alas! for hurch that does not read. We do better—no matter whose (or how many heads) "goes the basket." We close by askwhat each one should ask:
at can I do?"

American Bible Society.

e stated meeting of the board of gers was held at the Bible e, Astor Place, New York, on sday, February 7, at half-past o'clock P. M., William H. Ai-
LL. D., president, in the chair.
shop W. L. Harris, of the Meth-Episcopal Church, read the y-seventh psalm and offered r.

re were presented for the fi-the Gospel of John in the Nez language, issued by the Pres-an Board of Publication; variamphlets about the "Term" versy in China, and copies of w Testament in the Ancient lan.

ligence was received from Dr.
Constantinople, January 11, s return from Beyroot; from ackford, at Parana, December from Dr. Gulick, at Shaggury 4. Letters were also ed from Dr. S. R. Brown, at , in respect to the rapid ment of Christianity in Ja-the desire of native Christians to co-operate with the Bible Society in giving the Scriptures to their countrymen; from Mr. Bushnell, of the Gaboon mission, expressing the hope that he may during this year supervise the printing of portions of the Old Testament, and a new edition of the New Testament, in the Mpongwe language; from Mr. Clark, of Austria, announcing the consent of the imperial government to the opening of a store at Graiz for the sale of Bibles and Christian books; from Mr. Pixley, of the Zulu mission, asking for aid in printing the third edition of the Zulu New Testament, and reporting progress in the translation of the Old Testament; and from various foreign correspondents, returning thanks for grants of books and money.

An appropriation was made to the American Board for work in South Africa, and numerous grants of books were made for distribution at home and abroad, of the aggregate value of more than $6 000.

It was decided to suspend the New England agency at the close of the present fiscal year, when the commission of the present district superintendent expires.

The receipts for January were $45,- 226; copies of Scriptures issued, 56,- 104.

Books and Periodicals.

THE SCIENTIFIC AND RELIGIOUS DISCOVERIES IN THE GREAT PYRAMID, RECENTLY MADE BY PROF. PIAZZI SMYTH AND OTHER NOTED SCHOLARS. Compiled by William H. Wilson. Chicago: F. H. Rowell, publisher, 1878.

A square 18mo, 64 pages, paper cover. The little volume contains much curious information concerning the great Pyramid. The author ascribes a Messianic and prophetical character to the great Egyptian wonder. His conclusions are, we think, fanciful and far-fetched.

—The Westminster Review, January, 1878—republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York—has the following articles: Democracy in Europe; Charlotte Bronte; The Education of Girls—Their Admissibility to Universities; Lessing—His Life and Writings; The Indian Famine—How Dealt with in Western India; Charles Sumner; The Telephone; India and Our Colonial Empire; Cotemporary Literature—theology, philosophy, politics, sociology, voyages and travels, science, history and biography, belles-lettres, miscellany.

—We have received the International Sunday School Wall Map, by A. H. Eller, publisher, St. Louis, Mo. The map is on muslin, colored, and exhibits the Holy Land and regions referred to in the Old Testament. It is very large, being 40x60 inches in size. Price, $3.

—The Farm Journal, a monthly magazine for the field and fireside, is an excellent agricultural journal, edited by W. H. Chambers, and published at Montgomery, Ala. Price, $2 a year.

—Golden Hours for March is, as usual, beautifully illustrated, and filled with instructive and entertaining articles for the young.

—Gone with the Angels is a song and music published by D. P. Faude, Louisville, Ky.

A recent number of the Two Republics, published in the city of Mexico, referring to Bishop John C. Keener and of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, says that this worthy prelate is now in that city, and that he laid the foundations of his churches in the republic several years ago; and, not having built upon sand, he will find that his temples are firmly seated on rock, and promise to be as permanent as the chronicles of his faith.

Bishop Merrill, of Chicago; Rev. Dr. Dashiel, missionary secretary, from New York, and Mr. Price, a leading merchant of Philadelphia, are visiting the missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the republic of Mexico.

Tom Baird, the carter, the beadle of my workingman's church, was as noble a fellow as ever lived—God-fearing, true, unselfish. I shall never forget what he said when I asked him to stand at the door of the workingman's congregation, and when I thought he was unwilling to do so in his working clothes. "If," said I, "you don't like to do it, Tom; if you are ashamed"—"Ashamed!" he exclaimed as he turned round upon me; "I'm mair ashamed o' yersel', sir. Div ye think that I believe, as ye ken I do, that Jesus Christ, who died for me, was stripped o' his raiment on the cross, and that I—Na, na, I'm proud to stand at the door." Dear, good fellow! There he stood for seven winters, without a sixpence of pay; all from love, though at my request the working congregation gave him a silver watch. When he was dying from smallpox, the same unselfish nature appeared. When asked if they would let me know, he replied: "There's nae man leevin' I like as I do him. I know he would come. But he shouldna' come on account of his wife and bairns, and so ye mauna' tell him!" I never saw him in his illness, never hearing of his danger till it was too late.—Life of Dr. Norman McLeod.

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.—Call at 502 Magazine street if you want a nice-fitting shoe. This house is determined to please everybody who may favor them with their orders.

THE Crescent City Cigar Store, 107 Canal street, is the best place in New Orleans to get a good cigar. Read the advertisement on the seventh page.

Publisher's Department.

SINGER SEWING MACHINE.—First and foremost in modern improvements in sewing machines is the Singer. Many bogus makes have this well-known name applied to them, which shows the estimation the public place upon the genuine. Go to 85 Canal street, the headquarters, and you will procure the real article itself. The prices of the Singer are now within the reach of all. Ladies will also find a full assortment of Butterick's patterns, so universally known and adopted.

NORTH GERMAN LLOYD STEAMSHIPS.—E. F. Stockmeyer & Co., 42 Union street, are the agents for this old and reliable line, whose steamers run between this port and Bremen touching at Havre and Havana on their way out, and at Southampton and Havana on their way back. All ships careful and efficient officers and extra passenger accommodations make this a desirable line for European tourists. See advertisement for excursion rates to the Paris Exposition.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS.—The card of H. C. Porter & Co. will be seen on this page. Messrs. Porter & Co. deal in all kinds of produce, and by careful attention to the wants of their customers are winning an enviable reputation among shippers. Those planters who have not already a merchant, or those desiring to change, should correspond with the above firm NOVELTIES.—The many visitors now in the city who may wish to carry home to relatives or friends curious articles of Chinese, Japanese or Turkish manufacture should call in at 180 Canal street, where they will find one of the finest collections of articles of this kind ever exhibited in this city. Mr. J. A. Brown is proprietor of the establishment.

MACHINERY.—Our readers in need of machinery or plantation implements of any kind are referred to the advertisement of B. J. West, on this page. Mr. West is a clever gentleman and well posted in regard to machinery of every description. We can heartily recommend him to our friends.

FURNITURE.—E. M. Byers, dealer in furniture, at 55 Royal street, advertises to sell at low prices. Mr. Byers will be remembered by many of our friends as connected with the house of Mitchell & Rammelsberg, of this city. He has a fine assortment of furniture, and is deserving of patronage.

LUMBER.—For everything in the above line go to that reliable and popular gentleman, George Purves, corner of St. Charles and Clio streets. This gentleman is too judicious a business man to fail in giving his customers every satisfaction. See advertisement and give him a call.

CROCKERY STORE.—The store of M. L. Navra, 129 Canal street, is one of the attractions on that thoroughfare. His prices are reasonable. Orders from the country promptly attended to.

DRY GOODS.—Read the advertisement of E. H. Adams & Bro., on this page. Special attention paid to country orders.

ANY ONE in need of a teacher will do well to note the card of "Meta" in the paper to-day.

YLANG-YLANG.

The Ylang-Ylang flower is produced by a large tree, and its odor scents the air for miles around. Dr. Price prepares his Ylang-Ylang Extract from the otto of these flowers, and it is a charming perfume, having a fragrance unlike any other handkerchief extract.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime has now been before the public for two years, and has steadily grown into favor and appreciation. This could not be the case unless the preparation was of undoubted and high intrinsic value. The combination of the Phosphate of Lime with pure Cod Liver Oil, as prepared by Dr. Wilbor, has produced a new phase in the treatment of consumption and all diseases of the Lungs. This article can be taken by the most delicate infant without creating the disgusting nausea which is such a prominent objection to the Cod Liver Oil when taken without Lime. This preparation is prescribed by the regular faculty and sold by the proprietor, A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston, and by druggists generally.

CAPT. HENRY C. RICHARDS, of Maryville, Ala., says: "My mother died with Cancer, and I had a cancer on the face removed by Dr. Grace without the use of the knife, and with but little pain." Card in this paper.

YOUNG LADIES, beware of the injurious effects of face powders. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh healthy and youthful appearance use Dr. HARRIS'S IRON TONIC AND LIVER PILLS. For sale by all druggists.

WE WOULD advise our patrons to use Dr. HARTER'S ELIXIR OF WILD CHERRY. It is a delicious aromatic cordial. It will prevent disease in the low-bottom lands and marshy regions, especially in the South. To our knowledge it will cure Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Headache and general debility. It will neutralize the malaria and impurities in the blood, cleansing the liver and renovating the stomach. For sale by all druggists.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.—Dr. C. W. Benson, a practicing physician at 106 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., who has paid much attention to nervous diseases, has discovered that extract of celery and chamomile combined in a certain proportion, invariably cures the darkest bilious dyspeptics, the worst of sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. It is a triumph in medical chemistry, and orders from all over the country are coming in by mail. He prescribes it in pills at 25 cents per box. The remedy is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore.—Episcopal Methodist.

☞ These Pills can be ordered through any Druggist, or sent postage free.

THE BEST PROOF for the fact that Dr. F. Wilbor's Anti-Dyspeptic is Pure and Acts Well, is the most reliable Chill Tonic in the world, we find in the statement that Finlay & Thompson, the large wholesale druggists in New Orleans, guarantee that it cures Chills and Fever in every instance, and that it does not contain any Quinine, Arsenic, Strychnine or any other poisonous drug. For sale by druggists.

CHARMING PICTURES.—To introduce their goods J. L. Patten & Co., 162 William street, New York, will send a package of Decalcomanie Pictures, with illustrated catalogue, to every reader of this paper who will send eight cents (stamps taken) for mailing expenses. These pictures are highly colored, beautiful, and are easily transferred to any object, so as to imitate the most beautiful painting. 10sw

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, cause blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FURNITURE.

AN ENTIRE NEW STOCK OF

BED-ROOM, DINING-ROOM,

Hall and Kitchen Furniture,

AT PRICES TO SUIT THE TIMES. A full line of goods suitable for the country. Goods packed and shipped free of charge.

E. M. BYERS,
NO 55 ROYAL ST., New Orleans.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CAUTION!

THE PUBLIC are cautioned against buying Machines offered by Second-Hand dealers as SINGER'S at less than our established prices. They are either BOGUS—therefore, like counterfeit money, worthless—or they are old Machines, painted over to deceive. The backed by a Company of well-known repute, is now offered at too low a figure to admit of trying experiments with unknown parties. Deal only with the Company or its authorized Agents.

GENUINE SINGER MACHINE,

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
53 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

IMPORTANT to THE LADIES!

BUTTERICK & CO.'S CATALOGUE
OF SPRING FASHIONS!

JUST RECEIVED.

Mailed to any address upon application.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.
53 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

NORTH GERMAN LLOYD

Steam Between Bremen and New Orleans, via Havre, Southampton and Havana.

The steamships of the North German Lloyd will run as follows:

	From Bremen.	From New Orleans.
HANNOVER	Jan. 24.	About Mar. 8.
FRANKFURT	Feb. 10.	About Mar. 27.
NURNBERG	Mar. 20.	About Apr. 24.
HANNOVER	Apr. 17.	About May 22.

These steamers touch outward at Havre and Havana, and on their home trip at Havana and Southampton.

Price of Passage:

From Bremen, Southampton or Havre to Havana or New Orleans.

Cabin, $150—gold. Steerage, $36—gold.

From New Orleans to Southampton, Havre or Bremen.

Cabin, $150—gold. Steerage, $45—gold.

From New Orleans to Havana.

Cabin, $35—gold. Steerage, $15—gold.

Children under ten years half price.
Children under one year free.

Excursion to the Paris Exposition.

REDUCED RATES FOR FIRST CABIN ONLY.

From New Orleans to Paris and back to New Orleans, by a steamer of this line.....$250 Gold.
From New Orleans to Paris and back to New York, by a steamer of this line.....$230 Gold.
From New Orleans to Paris and back to Baltimore, by a steamer of this line.....$210 Gold.

Tickets of the last-named class (Baltimore) are good only to October 31, 1878.

The company reserves the right to change the route of the steamers, their advertised days of departure, and the prices of passage.

Passage tickets from Bremen, Southampton or Havre to New Orleans issued by the undersigned.

For further particulars apply to

ED. F. STOCKMEYER & CO.,
No. 42 Union street.

THOUSANDS OF TEACHERS

have testified to the excellence of Mr. Palmer's latest work for singing classes & country choirs. It is far ahead of his earlier works, and the elements of success are stamped on every page in all its bright departments. No wide-awake teacher can afford to miss it. Price, 75 cents, $7.50 a dozen.

SONG HERALD!

AND FOR MUSICAL KNOWLEDGE

PALMER'S THEORY OF MUSIC!

there is no work comparable with Palmer's Theory of Music, which has opened a new road to musical science. It makes all plain simple and clear to teachers and pupils. It makes the study of music a pleasure. Instead of an irksome task. Price, $1.

EVERY SINGER AND PIANO-PLAYER
Should subscribe for

CHURCH'S MUSICAL VISITOR.

Every number contains two dollars' worth of Music and a large quantity of musical news, sketches, stories, etc., by the best writers. Elegant volume of beautiful music free to every subscriber. $1.50 a year. Full particulars on receipt of stamp.

JOHN CHURCH & CO.,
CINCINNATI, OHIO,
And 805 Broadway, New York.

FRENCH MILLINERY,

BERLIN ZEPHYR WORSTED,

AND

DRESSMAKING.

MME. ROSA REYNOIR,

No. 8 CHARTRES ST., NEAR CANAL,

begs to inform her patrons and the Ladies in general that the beautiful stock of Millinery selected by her in the North, and received direct from prominent Parisian houses, is now in store, and comprises all the newest shapes in FELTS, CHIPS, STRAWS AND VELVETS, trimmed in the leading style; and at lower prices than any other house in this city. Her stock of Berlin Zephyr slipper Patterns, Java Canvas Mottoes, etc., is varied and complete.

The Dressmaking department is in charge of Mrs. M. Marsh, well-known in this community as one of the most competent and stylish Dressmakers in the city.

Orders filled at short notice. Perfect fit and entire satisfaction guaranteed. 5p

H. C. PORTER & CO.,

Commission Merchants,

AND DEALERS IN

Northern, Western & Southern Produce

GRAIN, HAY, HIDES, WOOL, ETC.,

NOS. 83 AND 85 MAGAZINE STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

AGENTS! AGENTS!

POPULAR LECTURES on the ERRORS of the ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH, by the most Eminent Divines of the present day, including the choicest selections from the lectures of the late BISHOP E. M. MARVIN, with Full-Face Portrait and Biographical Sketch of the Bishop. Illustrated with Portraits of all the Contributors. Preachers are especially solicited to aid in the circulation of this valuable work. Send for circulars and terms to

J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

AN ENGLISH LADY, AN EXPERIenced Teacher, desires a situation, where she could have a PRIVATE SCHOOL, or as Governess in a family. Through English, Music, and all kinds of plain and ornamental needle-work. First-class references. Address META, care New Orleans Christian Advocate, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

25 Elegant Cards, no two alike, with name, 10c. postpaid. J. B. Hussey, Nassau, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FRESH FIRST-CLASS

DRY GOODS!

FANCY GOODS, NOTIONS, ETC., ETC.,

AT

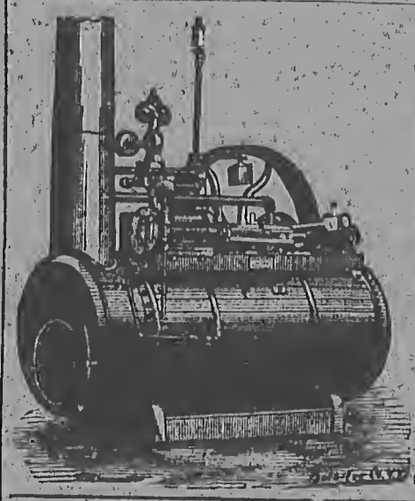
REASONABLE RATES.

E. H. ADAMS & BROTHER,

NO. 594 MAGAZINE STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES, FROM WHICH THERE IS NO DEVIATION. PROMPT AND CAREFUL ATTENTION TO COUNTRY ORDERS. 5p 1c



PAYNE'S PORTABLE STEAM ENGINES.

5 TO 15 HORSE POWER.

Strong, Simple and Durable.

BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.

SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.

B. J. WEST,

SOLE AGENT,

115 and 117 Magazine Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Gins Presses, Pumps etc.

DANIELS MEDICATED SILK FOOT PROTECTOR.

PATENTED APRIL 25, 1876.

MANUFACTURED BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA. & HARTFORD.

THE FOOT PROTECTORS are composed of Wool and Silk felted together, the Silk next to the foot, and comes from the imperfect cocoon, with the original properties intact, and are so prepared as to render them damp-proof; and for Chronic Sweating and Cold Feet are a Sure Relief. We call the attention of Shoe and Hosiery dealers to these goods as being popular and of much value. Sample pairs sent to any address, by mail, on receipt of 25 cents. In ordering state size, and whether for lady or gentleman. S. TUTTLE & SONS, 324 Arch St., Philadelphia.

THE WONDERFUL PEN-HOLDER!

NO INK REQUIRED.—We have invented, and patented (July 17, 1877) a Pen-Holder which contains Solidified Ink to last years; and with which one pen can be used 3 days dipping in WATER will write a page. Sample, post-paid, 25 cents, or Pen-Holder and box, of six extra inks, 50 cents. Extraordinary inducements to parties out of employment.

J. T. HILLYER, 306 Broadway, N. Y.

☞ The Christian Union of Sept. 5, 1877, says: "How well it claims to be. We speak from a practical experience, for this notice is written with one of these pens, and we propose to carry it all the time." 5p

PALAIS ROYAL!

GRAND BAZAR!

137 CANAL STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Formerly Levy's Dollar Store.

ESTABLISHED 1868.

THE CHEAPEST

AND

MOST POPULAR HOUSE

IN THE WHOLE SOUTH.

The attractions for this season are

LADIES' CLOAKS, from $2.50 to $20.

MISSES' CLOAKS, for Misses from 4 to 16 years of age.

MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS, for Misses and Children from 2 to 16 years of age, from $1.50 to $15 a suit.

FURS, for Ladies, Misses and Children, from $1 a set (Cape and Muff) to $20.

Extra large FUR CAPES, White, Brown and Black, from 12 to 24 inches deep, from $1.50 to $10.

The Palais Royal Catalogue

is now ready, and contains the prices of every article in it. To be had free on application.

TOYS! THE LONG LOOKED FOR TOYS!

The Christmas Catalogue,

which will assist you in making selections for the Holidays, is also ready, and will be mailed free on application.

The ages of boys and girls, young men and young ladies, parents, etc., is systematically arranged with the articles suitable for each, and correspondingly placed with the price. Call or send your order for each article to

E. LEVY,

PALAIS ROYAL, 137 CANAL STREET.

All orders receive prompt and careful attention, and goods may be returned if not satisfactory. 5p

HAIR-GROWER.

WARRANTED to cure Dandruff, or any Disease of the Scalp, and in nine cases out of ten make the Hair grow. Price, $1 per bottle. Made by

DONALD KENNEDY,
ROXBURY, MASS.,
AND SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS. 6p

J. A. BROWN, from the Centennial, Philadelphia, and the Grand Union, Saratoga, N. Y., I have opened a store at 180 CANAL ST., with a large variety of Chinese, Japanese, Turkish and Jerusalem, and a rare collection of carved and ornamental goods. You will find the largest variety of these goods that ever were on exhibition in this city. Prices suitable for the times. Don't forget the number, 180 Canal street.

502 AT 502

NAVRA'S

CHINA PALACE!

THE LARGEST & BEST ASSORTED

Crockery Store in the South,

YOU CAN PURCHASE

French China, Stone China,

GLASSWARE,

CUTLERY, SILVER PLATED WARE

AND

GENERAL

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS

Cheaper than in Any Other Store

IN THE CITY.

☞ No trouble to show goods nor to answer inquiries as to prices.

M. L. NAVRA,

129 CANAL STREET (TOURO BUILDING,)

NEW ORLEANS, LA. 5p

CINDERELLA SHOE STORE.

TRADE MARK.

Nos. 502 Magazine Street,

Between Braselman's and Adams',

MY Fall and Winter stock of BOOTS, SHOES and SLIPPERS has been personally selected in New York markets, with careful attention suiting Southern demand, for elegance, comfort and economy.

Goods, constantly arriving, will always be of the latest styles, fresh and durable; made, as they are, especially for me, by the best manufacturers of this country, including the far famed Miles, of Philadelphia, and Bear, of New York.

☞ Orders from the country receive the utmost care. Schools most liberally dealt with. Correspondence solicited.

CUSTOM WORK TO MEASURE a specialty, which for fine material, exquisite workmanship, beautiful shape and perfection of fit can nowhere be surpassed.

The well-known, accomplished salesman, Mr. P. J. GLYNN, will be happy to see old friends, and sure to make new ones among visitors.

Polite attention to all, fair dealing and ONE PRICE shall mark the conduct of this establishment. A FAMILY RESORT.

Respectfully, W. N. TOLER,
5p Manufacturer and Dealer.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Lapierre's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the sole remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street. Mobile depot.—DuBose & Co., 32 Water St., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 5p

WHEELER & PIERSON,
Successors to Pierson & Hess,
NOS. 13 AND 15 CAMP STREET,
Opposite the City Hotel,

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. 5

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

Farm, Garden and Household.

THE PERFECT SADDLE-HORSE.

It is not easy to describe the perfect high-bred saddle-horse so that he will be recognized at sight by the uninitiated, and the initiated need no such description. His characteristics may be thus sketched: He should have, first of all, large, sound, open-heeled feet, with the frog well defined, the pasterns neither so long as to be weak, nor so steep as to give an unyielding action—rather of medium length and sloping backward a little more than the front line of the hoof; the legs, between the pastern joints and the knees and hocks, cannot be too short, and the back tendons should be so large and full as to give them the appearance of width and flatness. The knees cannot be too large and full, nor can the hocks be too large and bony. The forearm, from the knee to the point of the shoulder, and the hind leg from the hock to the stifle joint, should be very long and muscular, and quite free from fat or flabbiness. The shoulder must be very sloping—the more so the better—and overlaid with tense and prominent muscles. The hips and thighs should be well loaded with muscle, and if there is to be a fleshy condition at any point let it be there. Owing to the slope of the shoulder, and the height of the withers, and to the prominence of the muscles over the hips, the back should have the appearance of extreme shortness, with a slight—but only slight—downward curve; "hardly room to carry a saddle" is the form in which the horseman expresses his highest praise. This is the preferable form of back, but very thoroughbreds are deficient in this respect. Largely as a matter of beauty the spine should run back nearly level with the hips, and the tail should be carried high (the Kentucky blood horse is often very defective here); the neck should be long and lean, well arched, but not heefy, at the crest, and furnished with a large, loose-hanging windpipe below, well defined even when the horse is at rest. The ears must be quick, small at their getting on and thin—there is no objection to their having a good length; the head may be, but is not necessarily, small, but it should be well shaped, and it must be as bony and as free as possible from flesh; it should be so wide and clean between the jaws as to give ample space for the windpipe; the nostrils must be capable of great distension, to allow free breathing during exertion; the skin should be soft, the coat fine and silky, and the hair of the mane and tail; although it may be somewhat wavy, should be free from anything like curliness, and rather scanty than superabundant. After severe exertion, full veins should show over the whole body. The distension of these veins, which are generally invisible in the cold-blooded horse, gives the thoroughbreds one of his greatest advantages by affording relief to the pulsation during the strong action of the heart.

The horse above described is quite sure to have the deep chest and heart-place which are so important to strenuous exertion; but many of the best thoroughbreds are deficient in the round, barrel-hooped form of the rib which is necessary to the roomiest accommodation of the lungs and the abdominal viscera. A sound horse having these qualities, and whose sides, back of the girth, project beyond the line of the shoulders and hips, may be relied upon for the most arduous work.—Scribner's.

BAKED CABBAGE.—Boil a firm, white cabbage for fifteen minutes in salted water, then change the water for more that is boiling, and boil until tender. Drain and set aside until cool, then chop fine. Butter a baking dish and lay in the chopped cabbage. Make a sauce in this way: Put a tablespoonful of butter in a pan; when it bubbles up well stir in one tablespoonful of flour, add one half pint of stock and one half pint of water, both boiling. Stir until smooth, season to taste with pepper and salt, and mix well with four tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Pour this over the cabbage, sprinkle rolled cracker over it, put it with lumps of butter, and place it in a quick oven for ten minutes. This is almost as good as the more aristocratic cauliflower when cooked in the same manner.

PARSNIP FRITTERS.—Many consider this the best way of cooking parsnips. Boil tender and mash very smooth, removing carefully the strings or woody portions. For three or four parsnips allow two beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of cream, one tablespoonful of melted butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in a very little flour, and fry either as fritters or griddle cakes. For mashed parsnips, which is a favorite dish with lovers of the vegetable, proceed as you would for potatoes, the secret of success being in mashing very smooth, removing the fibers, and season plentifully with butter, cream and peppers. Be less lavish with the salt.

APPLE SHORT CAKE.—To one quart of sifted flour add two teaspoons cream tartar and one of soda, half a teaspoonful of salt, quarter of a pound of butter, sweet milk to mix it. Have a dough rather stiff; roll and bake in a sheet. As soon as baked split open the whole cake, spread one piece quickly with butter, cover with well-sweetened apple-sauce, pour over some thick sweet cream, grate on nutmeg, place the other half on this, crust side down, spread with butter, and cover with apple-sauce, cream and nutmeg.

He who is puffed up with the first gale of prosperity will fall beneath the first blast of adversity.

REWARDED.

Steele & Price, the manufacturers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, are rewarded by the reputation of manufacturing good articles. It is a shameful confession to make that many people are willing to use adulterated articles because of a small reduction in price.

MEDICAL.

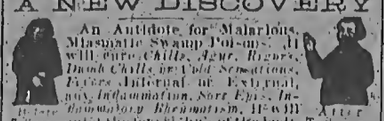
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Swamp Poisons. It will cure Chills, Ague, Bigors, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fevers Internal or External, Pain, Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Headache, Bilious Fever, Jaundice, Dropsy, Liver Complaint, Piles, Female Irregularities, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Blood Diseases, Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Quinsy, Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, Measles, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Gout, Erysipelas, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Flatulency, Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, Prolapsus Uteri, Ulceration of the Uterus, Falling of the Womb, Abortion, Barrenness, Sterility, Impotency, Nocturnal Emissions, Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Discharges, Spermatorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis, Mercurial Affections, Scurvy, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chafing, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, &c. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will stop the foul odor of every sore and cancer. Trial boxes 25 cts. by mail.

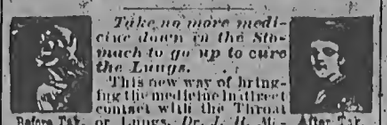
Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

To cure THROAT and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.



Take no more medicine down to the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This new way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat and Lungs, Dr. J. H. McLean's Cough and Lung-healing Globules. They are Sugar Globules, containing medicine. As rapidly as the Globule dissolves in your mouth, the saliva acting on the medicine in the Globule generates a healing Gas, which must be inhaled, permeates every air cell in the Lungs and absorbed by the Glands in the Throat, the decay of the Lungs must cease. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by DR. J. H. McLEAN'S COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES. Consumption, Coughing, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Colds, and any Soreness in the Throat or Lungs yields to their wonderful Magic influence. Trial boxes, by mail all over the world, 25 cts. per box. Postage Stamps will be received for them.

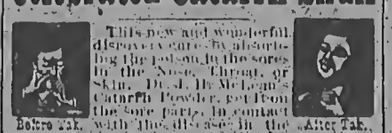
Address, DR. J. H. McCLEAN,
314 Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

Is the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff



This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the sores in the Nose, Throat, or Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, got from the Sore parts, in contact Before Tak. with the disease in the After Tak. Nose, Throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Blotches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Chafing, Eruptions, Sweating Feet, &c. You must get Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in contact with the disease. It will absorb the foul odor of every sore and cancer. Trial boxes 25 cts. by mail.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
314 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

nrm

TUTT'S PILLS

The Greatest Medical Triumph of Modern Times.

Recommended by Physicians. Indorsed by Clergymen.

These Pills have gained a popularity unparalleled. Druggists everywhere say their sale is unprecedented.

The Reason is Obvious.

They are no worthless nostrum, puffed up to deceive the credulous, but are the result of long research, by a chemist and physician of thirty years' experience, who values his reputation more than gold.

What Tutt's Pills will do.

THEY CURE Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, Office, Fever & Ague, and Wind Colic.
THEY CURE Sick Headache, Foul Breath, Jaundice, Flatulence, and Indigestion.
THEY GIVE Appetite, Flesh to the Body, and dispel Low Spirits.
THEY ACT on the Blood, and remove all Impurities.
THEY CURE Gout, Rheumatism, and Kidney Disease.
THEY CURE Dizziness, Heartburn, and Biliousness.
THEY CAUSE the food to assimilate, and nourish the body.
THEY CURE Nervousness, and give refreshing Sleep.
THEY ARE Invaluable for Female Irregularities.
THEY ARE the best Family Medicine ever discovered.
THEY ARE harmless, and always reliable.

Sold everywhere. 25 Cents a Box. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Coughs and Colds.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will allay irritation which induces coughing, and gives immediate relief in Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and Consumptive and Asthmatic Complaints. The Bronchial Troches have been steadily winning their way into public favor, until they are known and used nearly all over the world.

DR. J. J. GRACE,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

AT WHISTLER, ALA.

(Six miles north of Mobile on Mobile and Ohio Railroad.)

Treatment of SCROFULOUS ULCERS AND CANCERS a specialty.

Refer to Capt. J. Burns, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Cecil, State Line, Miss.; Mrs. Caroline Reed, Chamberlain, Ala.; Henry L. Richards, Manvilla, Ala.

WOOD! WOOD! WOOD!

AT WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

Henry Island Wood & Coal Yard,

No. 275 JULIA ST., NEW BASIN,

Near Magnolia Bridge. Postoffice address, Lock Box 1030.

Delivered to all parts of the city.

PRICES FOR THIS WEEK:

ASH WOOD, per Cord $6 00
OAK WOOD, per Cord 5 00
OAK and ASH, mixed, per Cord 5 50

Liberal discount made to dealers. Satisfaction guaranteed. P. RAHILAT, Agent.

FURNITURE AND MATTRESSES

NO. 185 CAMP STREET.

THE undersigned has a large stock of Furniture, which he will dispose of at prices that will defy competition. Give me a call and see for yourselves.

Furniture taken on storage. Repairs made at lowest rates. All Furnitors and Bedding put in perfect repair and delivered to order. Moving, Packing, etc., in full, done at the lowest possible prices on application to

HENRY PTHOFF,
185 Camp street.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

STRAUB MILL COMPANY, CINCINNATI

MACHINERY FOR WHEAT, CORN OR FEED MILL

BUY THE

COST, including freight, but 32 to 34 cents per bale cotton.

THE VERY CONSIDER COTTON IN THESE TIES WORTH 50 TO 75 CENTS PER BALE MORE THAN IN FLAT TIES.

Send for circular containing names, etc. Canvassers wanted to sell on commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 82 AND 84 PETERS ST., AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS.

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh-ground daily.

Flour delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN, suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rate.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 CAMP STREET,

AMERICAN and FOREIGN

WATCHES,

DIAMONDS, JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE,

AT LOWEST PRICES.

Special attention to Watch-Repairing.

Dunbar's Wonderful Discovery.

BETHESDA WATER.

On and from this date I have appointed

L. C. Arny,

Nos. 26, 28 and 30 Bienville Street, N. O., my General Agent for New Orleans and the State of Louisiana for the sale of the celebrated Bethesda Water of Waukesha, Wis. It is the acknowledged Cure of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Liver and all urinary diseases.

Call for certified pamphlets and directions for using the Bethesda Water at my General Agent's office. RICHARD DUNBAR.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Jan. 25, 1878.

This Water, in packages of 5, 10, 20 and 40 gallons for sale as above.

M. H. APPLEGATE,

PLUMBER,

AND DEALER IN

COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,

Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,

146 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.

Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT

FOR THE SALE OF

COTTON, SUGAR AND MOLASSES,

AS WELL AS ALL KINDS OF WESTERN PRODUCE.

Special attention given to the sale and purchase of Staves, Timber, Lumber, Hoop-Poles, Cord Wood, etc. Liberal advances made on consignments.

A. P. DeMAY,
NO. 8 UNION ST., New Orleans.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55

NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN OF ALL KINDS.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Goods imported to order. J. H. Cogel's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1580.

FREDERICK GOOD,

MANUFACTURER OF

LARD OIL AND STEARINE.

Improved Machinery Oils, also Mineral Lard Oil and extra Distilled Cotton Seed Oil constantly on hand. 116 PETERS AND 19 COMMERCE STREET, New Orleans.

A GREAT INVENTION—DIEMAN'S PATENT CORN MILL. This is the only mill ever invented that will make Grits and Meal at the same time, with one operation, direct from the corn. It will also grind Cotton Seed, with the Lint on, direct from the Gin. Capacity, 20 bushels per hour. Price only $25. Call and see it now in operation, or send for an illustrated circular, at No. 132 Magazine street, near corner of John street, New Orleans. F. TOPMAN, Patentee and Proprietor.

J. F. ROHRBACHER,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

237 ..... CAMP STREET 237

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Keeps constantly on hand, from the very best manufacturers, a large assortment of Ladies', Gentlemen's, Misses', Children's, Boys' and Youths' Boots and Shoes at the lowest cash prices. Gentlemen's home-made Congress Boots at $4 50.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Mouldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.

Frames made to order—a specialty.

No. 92 Camp Street, New Orleans.

H. H. HUSSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,

NO. 168 CARLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

$1200 SALARY. Permanent salesmen wanted to sell Staple Goods to dealers. No peddling. Expenses paid. Address S. A. GRANT & CO., 2, 4, 6 & 8 Home St., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MARSDEN'S

Pectoral Balm!

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR

COUGHS, COLDS,

AND

CONSUMPTION.

FINLAY & THOMPSON,
SOLE AGENTS, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

THE

SOUTHERN BELLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

DEVOTED TO

Fashion, Instruction and Amusement.

Published by D. P. PERRY, 183 CANAL ST.

Every lady in the South should send for this valuable paper. Sent, postpaid, for 50 cents per annum. Address D. P. PERRY, 183 Canal street, New Orleans, General Agent for the old reliable HOWE MACHINE.

ROBES, MODES.

MADAME FRICKE

begs leave to inform her friends and customers that she will remove, on the

FIFTEENTH OF JANUARY,

from her present residence, corner of Magazine and St. Andrew streets, to Canal street, over the vestibule of the Varieties Theater, where she will be prepared to fill all orders on the shortest notice and to the latest styles. Respectfully,

K. FRICKE.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union, NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made to this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

MAKE $100 PER MONTH YOU CAN

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed; and, when you receive our circular, read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. Breech-Loading Shot-guns (double and assortment in store comprises upward of 20 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

9 Decatur (Old No. 1) and 52 Conti Sts., opp. Postoffice.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

LADIES' HAIR STORE

AND

FANCY GOODS BAZAR.

G. T. SCHILLING,

150 ..... CANAL ST. 150

keeps a large assortment of Fancy Goods of all descriptions. Human Hair in all shades and colors, all sizes and lengths. Jewelry. Ladies' Cosmetic and Hair Dressings, etc., made to all qualities of goods and of the newest styles. A choice assortment of Furs. Country orders promptly attended to. If goods are not as represented he will refund the money immediately.

WHOEVER IS

Appreciates Honest Dealing!

Will do well to call at

S. EHRLICH'S

CLOTHING HOUSE

215 St. Charles St., New Orleans.

Country orders promptly attended to.

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL,

EAGLE HALL,

BRITANIA STREET, CORNER CRANIA,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE fourth session of this School for Boys opened on MONDAY, October 1, 1877. The Principal has engaged a full corps of competent assistants, and refers, by permission, to the Faculty of the University of Virginia, and to his patrons of the past session, whose names may be found in the circular of the school. Circulars to be had at the book stores, Canal street. For further information address

GEO. C. PRIDDY, Principal,
P. O. Box 15, New Orleans, La.

D. MERCIER & SONS,

MEN'S, YOUTHS' AND BOYS'

CLOTHING!

HATS, BOOTS AND SHOES, FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

Cor. Dauphine and Bienville Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Orders from Country Merchants promptly executed on the most reasonable terms.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

152 ..... Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

SENT FREE—One fine Illustrated Price List of Watches and Jewelry. We are the cheapest house in America. Agents wanted.

Rogers Manuf'g Co.,
241 STATE ST., Chicago, Ill.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

INSURANCE.

Factors' & Traders' Insurance Co.,

37 CARONDELET STREET.

EXTRACT FROM THE

ELEVENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT,

NEW ORLEANS, MAY 17, 1877.

Premiums for year ending April 30, 1877.. $567,767 19
Losses paid within the year..... 239,575 78

Cash Dividends for the Year!

Interest (semi annually)..... 10 per Cent.
Premiums..... 20 per Cent.
Assets, April 30, 1877..... $1,252,908 66

This Company continues to issue Policies on Fire, River and Marine Risks at current rates of premium. ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN CHAFFE, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

TRUSTEES.

John I. Noble,	T. Lytt, Lyon,
John Chaffe,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Richard Milliken,	Joseph McKamy,
John I. Warren,	Wm. J. Behan,
R. T. Buckner,	B. F. Eschleman,
Samuel Friedlander,	Wm. C. Black,
A. A. Yates,	Charles Chaffe,
John L. Adams,	L. C. Jurey,
Isaac Scherck,	Wm. Harwell,
R. M. Walmsley,	C. J. Leeds,
A. H. May,	A. T. Janin,
S. H. Snowden,	Jos. Bowling,
	A. M. Blokham.

HARDWARE, STOVES, ETC.

RICE, BORN & CO.,

89 ..... CAMP STREET 91

BRANCH STORE—597 MAGAZINE ST.,

WAREHOUSE—143, 145 & 147 MAGAZINE ST.,

NEW ORLEANS,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE!

BUILDERS' HARDWARE,

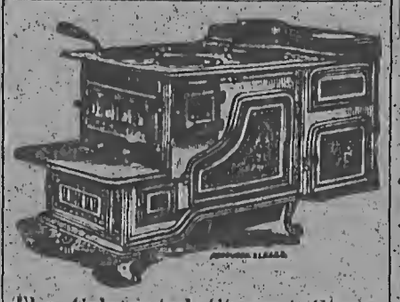
GRATES, CUTLERY,

STOVES AND RANGES,

HOUSE-FURNISHING GOODS, ETC.

SOLE AGENTS FOR THE

CHARTER OAK STOVE.



The Celebrated Stewart Stove.

IMPROVED PATTERN OF 1878.

THE best Cook Stove in the world. Will last twenty years, and do more work with the same amount of fuel than any other Stove that was ever made. Access to repair old Stewart Stoves always on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,
143 Poydras St., Agent for Louisiana.

HENRY DE VERGES, RICHARD DE VERGES, P. N. LAURENT.

H. DeVERGES & CO.,

HARDWARE,

67 ..... DECATUR ST. 71

Opposite Postoffice, New Orleans.

Importers and dealers in Iron, Nails, Cutlery, Guns, Ferricultural Implements, Oils, Paints, Cordages, Plows, etc.

AGENTS WANTED.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Griswold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET, universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRISWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

$190 PER MONTH made by agents selling the Buckeye Stationery Package. Buckeye Casket, 9x11 Chromos, Magic Pen (no ink required), Floyd Combination Pen-Holder Money Tubes, Magical Patching Plate, Felt Lamp-Wick, Machine Needles, Attachments, Notions, Cheap Jewelry, etc. Catalogues free. BUCKEYE NOVELTY CO., Cincinnati, O.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles, just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 12x samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

$2500 A YEAR. Agents wanted, business legitimate. Particulars free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND

FANCY GOODS!

EMBRACING

All the Latest Novelties and Patterns

OF

Spring and Summer Fashions.

My selection embraces everything NEW AND UNIQUE and is sufficiently extensive to please all tastes. My familiarity with the business, obtained by an experience of over twenty years, enables me to purchase all goods from first hands, thus securing not only a choice, but the very lowest figures; and hence I can offer

BARGAINS

both in Price and Quality of Goods,

that will suit the purse and captivate the taste. Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

W. H. HARDON,
Dealer to Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres st., New Orleans.
Second door above Customhouse.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no two alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

National Sunday School Papers.

The Sunday School World.—A Monthly Journal, 16 pages, quarto, contains THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONS, by the Rev. JOHN HALL, D. D., of New York; and other helps for teachers. Only 50 cents a year. By mail, 6 cents, in clubs, 55 cents, postage paid.*

INTERNATIONAL Lesson Papers for Scholars.—1. Advanced. 2. Intermediate. 3. Primary, with pictures. Each, 100 copies per year, in advance, $9.*

Quarterly Review Papers on the International Lessons.—1. Large Review Cards, printed on sheets 2½ by 5 feet, in large, bold type, to be viewed by the whole school, 25 cents per year. 2. The Superintendents' Review Paper. 3. The Scholars' and Teachers' Review Paper. Each, 10 copies, per year, 40 cents per quarter, 10 cents.

The Child's World.—An Illustrated Paper for Children and Youth. Edited by the Rev. RICHARD NEWTON, D. D. 100 copies per year, monthly, $12; semi-monthly, $24. By mail, monthly, $13; semi-monthly, $26. Single subscriptions, 25 cents monthly, 50 cents semi-monthly.*

Catalogues and specimen copies of periodicals furnished gratuitously, and subscriptions received at the Society's Depositories, as follows:

A. KIRKPATRICK, 1122 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
G. S. SCOFIELD, 8 and 10 Bible House, New York.
J. A. CROWLEY, 7 Beacon Street, Boston.
W. R. PORT, 73 Randolph, near State St., Chicago.
S. PAXSON, 207 N. Sixth Street, St. Louis.

* Ten copies and over at the 100 rates.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREROOMS,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KIRKWOOD'S

The best, quite complete and reliable instrument for the treatment of Asthma, Catarrh, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and diseases of the lungs and air passages generally.

Price, $2.50 and $3.50. For pamphlets, etc., address,

E. FOUGERA & CO.,
30 NORTH WILLIAM ST.,
NEW YORK.

INHALER

Boys and Girls

ALL MAKING MONEY EASILY printing Cards, Labels, etc., on the FAMILY PRINTER and complete outfit, by mail, for $1, printing from type, etc. Send 2 stamps for Catalogue of Presses, Type, Cards, Paper, Envelopes, etc., to the factory. GOLDING & CO., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Do Your Own Printing

NO EXPERIENCE needed to print handsome PROFESSIONAL CARDS, Circulars, Tags, Labels, etc. Every business man should have one. Type, Inks, Cards, Paper, etc., by the pound. Send 2 stamps for Illustrated Catalogue of Outfits from $1 to $500. GOLDING & CO., Manufr's, Fort Wayne, Ind.

LADIES ELEGANT JET SET, BROACH and DROPS, sent to any address in this paper for 25 cents. Also ASSORTED PATTERNS for 50 cents. The retail price is double the price of the set. POSTAGE STAMPS TAKEN AS CASH.

F. STOCKMAN,
27 Park Street, New York.

Ladies' Jet Chains, with Charms, reduced to $1.

HENDERSON'S

COMBINED CATALOGUE OF EVERYTHING FOR THE GARDEN

Numbering 128 pages, with Colored Plate, sent free to those who buy of us last years, and to all others on receipt of 25 cts., which prepaid, to guests. Last edition sent out 65,000. Plain Plant or Seed Catalogues, without Plate, free to all.

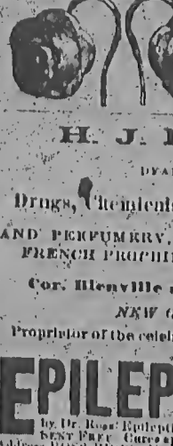
PETER HENDERSON & CO.,
Seedsmen, Market Gardeners, and Florists,
35 Cortlandt Street, New York.

Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO.

Have the largest and most complete Foundry in the West. All type of best quality of metal. Patronize home enterprise. Goods shipped promptly. Complete outfits supplied on short notice.



H. J. RIVET,

DEALER IN

Drugs, Chemicals, Patent Medicines

AND PERFUMERY, AND IMPORTER OF FRENCH PROPRIETARY MEDICINES,

Cor. Bienville and Chartres Sts.,

NEW ORLEANS,

Proprietor of the celebrated Peychaud Bitters.

EPILEPSY OR FITS CURED

by Dr. Ross' Epileptic Remedies. TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE. Cures speedy, absolute and permanent. Address ROSS BROS., No. 102 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

OFFICE ST. BERNARD COAL CO.,

Carondelet street, New Orleans.—SPECIAL NOTICE.—The undersigned is prepared to contract for COAL for fall and winter supply, at the following rates; delivered in any portion of the city:

Families.....
Steam.....
Dealers (hauling themselves).....
Country orders solicited.

W. S. CAMPBELL.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 37 CANAL STREET.

CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTHS—English and American.
MATTINGS—300 rolls White, Checked and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BURLAPS, Table and Enamel Oil Cloths.

25 Fashionable Cards, no 2 alike, 10c. postpaid. Geo. I. Reed & Co.

SCIENTIFIC.

—At the late meeting of the German Association of Naturalists and Physicians, held at Munich, in September, the evolution theory was discussed by Virchow and Hreckel from the different standpoints. The practical, matter-of-fact and cautious mind of Virchow dwells on the value of sticking to facts, or, as he says, of objective knowledge. He concludes his address with these words:

"In natural science belief and knowledge—i. e., subjective and objective knowledge—are united. The domain of dogmatic belief is lessened year after year in favor of objective knowledge, which is based upon facts. But, apart from the latter, subjective knowledge makes itself very prominent sometimes, and hallucinations and fancies are now and then laid beneath its cover. Anthropological investigations contradict directly the doctrine of evolution. The skulls found in the tombs of the oldest times show a far more human and a far less apish type than do a great many living heads, and we cannot suppose that only the highest-developed skulls of those periods have escaped destruction. Therefore, pre-evolution, moderation, no overrating of our scientific power, for Bacon's 'scientia est potentia' is only meant for true objective knowledge."

The same number of Nature contains Hreckel's address before the same association. Hæckel thinks that the doctrine of evolution will lead to a new doctrine of morals and of religion:

"Independently of all church creeds, the germ of a true religion of nature lives in the breast of every man. It is connected inseparably with the noblest features of human existence itself. Its highest command is love, the restriction of our natural egotism in favor of our fellow-men, for the benefit of human society, of which we are the members. This natural moral law is far older than all church religion. It has developed from the social instincts of animals. * * * Therefore, far from fearing a shaking of all valid moral laws and an obnoxious emancipation of egotism by the influence of the evolution doctrine upon our religious convictions, we, on the contrary, expect from it a reasonable confirmation of the moral doctrine on the unshakable basis of our natural laws."

Hæckel, therefore, greets "the evolution doctrine of to day, as recently founded by Darwin, as the most important impulse of the whole of our pure and applied sciences."—Independent.

An Edinburg bailie had been on a visit to London, and on his return communicated to a friend on the courtesy and attention which he had experienced from one of the city members. Describing how the M. P. had secured free access for him to many of the public institutions, he reached the climax of eulogy by saying: "Why, sir, he got me a blank cartridge for every place in London." The magistrate meant a carte blanche.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Md.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

reign and Domestic Dry Goods,

OULD call special attention to their extensive stock of DRESS GOODS, LINEN AND TON GOODS, Embroideries, Laces, Goods Men's and Boys' Wear, Corsets, Ladies' Ready-Underwear, etc.

SAMPLES SENT FREE.

ALSO TO THEIR

ressmaking Department.

Dresses, etc., made to order promptly, in perior manner, and to the latest style, at mod-rates. Orders solicited. Rules for self-measurement, and samples of materials, with estimate sent upon application.

All orders amounting to $20 or over will be sent of freight charges by express; but parties orders are not accompanied by the money, having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for urn of money.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENT.

Edward Lilienthal, Jeweler, 95 street, will sell at cost during the ent month his entire stock of Diands, American and Imported Watches, Jewelry, Silverware, Silver-Plated re, Clocks, and any article in his line, recent selections for the retail de in this city. Every article will be aranteed to be as represented. His old-tomers and the public generally are ited to call.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

NER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

DIES, GENTS, MISSES AND CHILDRENS

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

ays on hand a full assortment of first-class at prices which defy competition. Call and mine my stock before purchasing elsewhere. MOTTO—"Quick Sales and Small Profits." ar railroad cars pass in front of the store.

J. M. BALL,

DEALER IN

ple and Fancy Groceries,

FFEE, SUGAR, BITTER, STARCH, and everything appertaining to a FIRST-CLASS GROCERY, Philip and Magazine Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

ered free to all parts of the city.

Class Visiting Cards.

.....	10c.	25 Autumn Leaf.....	10c.
.....	10c.	20 Snowflake.....	10c.
.....	10c.	24 Happ.....	10c.
.....	10c.	25 Damask.....	10c.
.....	10c.	26 Scroll, with name,	10c.

stamp extra for each name when the ers is less than $1. When more I pay and thus you save 30 cents on $1 worth. k in the world at any price. Money they don't suit. W. G. GANNON, 713 street, Boston, Mass.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CHEAP WALL PAPER.

WIDOW HY. HABERT,

Successor to P. Delcroix, Importer of French, English and American PAPER HANGINGS of all sorts and qualities, No. 100 CHARTRES ST., between St. Louis and Conti, New Orleans, La.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.

CHAS. O. LANGEBECKER,

Successor to H. Stumpf,

PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,

Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.

Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

E. De LANZAC,

DEALER IN

DRUGS AND MEDICINES,

Gordon's Glycerine, Thayer's Fluid Extracts, Muriatic, Nitric and Sulphuric Acids, Leeches, French Patent Medicines, etc., etc.,

52 & 54 Customhouse St., New Orleans.

All goods at lowest market prices.

JEWELRY STORE.

A. Boitel, Watchmaker,

58.....ROYAL STREET.....58

Bet. Bienville and Conti Sts. New Orleans.

Watches and Jewelry neatly repaired.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,

IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN

LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,

TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,

And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,

No. 142 Poydras St., New Orleans.

EMILE GAMET. JAS. A. VIGNAUD. Formerly Shumway & Bernard.

GAMET & VIGNAUD,

DEALERS IN

SUGARS AND MOLASSES,

Cut Loaf, Crushed, Powdered and Coffee A always on hand.

No. 34 North Front St., bet. Bienville and Conti, opposite Sugar Sheds, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 877.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRANSONS,

BOOT AND SHOE STORE,

NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.

A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

FOUR SEASONS RESTAURANT.—JOHN Bosio, proprietor of this old and favorite house, announces to his friends that he has removed to No. 111 Chartres street, between St. Louis and Conti streets, where, with enlarged premises and increased facilities, he will give them the best the market affords, at the same low prices as heretofore. Private Dining Rooms up stairs. Also comfortably furnished rooms at reasonable rates. Thankful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, he asks for a continuance of the same favors. Open till twelve o'clock.

T. A. BECK, COOPERAGE.

Office and Sales-Room, 27 NORTH PETERS ST. Manufactory, Carondelet Walk, bet. Bonnal and Prieur, New Orleans.

Have constantly on hand Sugar Hogsheads, Molasses Barrels, Half Barrels, Kegs, etc.; also a large assortment of Hoop Poles. Orders promptly attended to. Particular attention paid to Trimming.

ESTABLISHED 1819.

J. H. KELLER,

MANUFACTURER OF

Palm, Olive, Germain, Magnolia and Castile Soap.

Office—111 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.

All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HAIR MANUFACTORY.

"CHEAP" IS MY MOTTO.

R. BLONDEAU,

Successor to J. G. Heriard,

Ladies' Hair Dresser and Wig-Maker,

NO. 62 ROYAL STREET,

Bet. Bienville and Conti, New Orleans.

Hair Dressing Lessons by Mrs. Blondeau. Specially for Theatrical Wigs, to be rented for parties or performances.

NEW HOPE STEAM MOSS FACTORY.

JOHN S. McDONALD,

Proprietor and Manager.

MANUFACTURER OF MACHINE-CLEANED

MOSS.

Factory—Nos. 28 to 29 South Liberty, and Nos. 1 to 11 Cypress street.

Office—No. 28 S. Liberty street. P. O. Box 258, New Orleans, La.

Samples and prices mailed on application. Orders promptly attended to.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.

B. D. WOOD & BROS.,

Corner Camp and Common Streets,

Opposite the City Hotel,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

CARRE'S CABINS, LUMBER, ETC.—To meet the demand for our Cabins we have added such machinery as enables us to turn them out not only faster, but better and cheaper; so come on with your orders. Not forgetting that as Lumber Merchants we date back a quarter of a century, and with recently established telegraph communication with our Pearl River Mills, we can furnish at short notice anything from a plaster lath to a ship spar. W. W. CARRE & CO., No. 350 Delord street.

THOMAS HASAM.

LUMBER,

CABINS MADE TO ORDER.

Every description of LUMBER always on hand. Also Sash, Blinds, etc.

Mills and Yard: Corner CEDAR AND JULIA STS. (New Basin,) New Orleans.

ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU,

150.....POYDRAS STREET.....150

Home-Made Shoes at $3.50 a Pair.

City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and work manship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent.'s, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear.

JOHN HILSMANN,

DEALER IN

WOOD AND COAL,

320.....DELORD STREET.....320

NEW BASIN, NEW ORLEANS.

W. F. CLARK, SUCCESSOR TO A. LOEZ,

434 Rampart Street,

Between Toulouse and St. Peter Sts., New Orleans,

MANUFACTURER OF

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.

Also Carriages repaired and put in as good order as in any part of the country. First premiums awarded at the last Fair for best Victoria and Coupe built anywhere.

LOUIS TIEMANN,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Crescent City Cigar Store,

Dealer in all first-class brands of Havana and Domestic Cigars, and Smokers' Articles generally,

No. 107 Canal St., Cor. Exchange Place,

NEW ORLEANS.

Branch Store under Crescent Halls. Country orders promptly attended to.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Rampart Sts.

PIANO TUNING.—PIANOS TUNED AND kept in repair, $1 each month; Pianos tuned and kept in repair, $1 50 every alternate month, on yearly engagement.

Regular tuning to order, $2. Strings free.

Pipe and Reed Organs set up, repaired and tuned to order. A. G. GARDNER, 307 Magazine, Between Sixth and Seventh Sts.

Pianos for rent at $3 a month.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

C. L. HILLGER,

ARCHITECT

31.....CARONDELET ST.....31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

320 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET

Between Anita and St. Joseph.

New Orleans, La.

E. T. MERRICK, formerly Chief Justice Louisiana. G. W. RACE. W. H. FOSTER.

MERRICK, RACE & FOSTER,

ATTORNEYS, COUNSELORS AND SOLICITORS,

Corner of Camp Street and Commercial Place, NEW ORLEANS

MEDICAL.

The Compound Oxygen Treatment.

For the cure of CHRONIC DISEASES.

THIS is the surest, safest and cheapest curative agent known. It cures by revitalizing the whole body, and hence is effective in a great variety of diseases. Among the many names to which we are permitted to refer, we give the following:

Hon. S. Field, Judge of U. S. Supreme Court, and his accomplished wife; Mrs. Hallit Kilpatrick; Judge Samuel Shiff, New York; Hon. Montgomery Blair; Ex-Gov. Boreman, West Virginia; Hon. Wm. D. Kelley; T. S. Arthur; Gen. Fitz Henry Warren.

Our Brochure of 200 pages, which contains the clearest statement of principles, the most brilliant record of cures, and all the information necessary to an intelligent opinion and intelligent action, will be mailed FREE.

STARKEY & PALEN,

1112 GIRARD ST., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

G. R. Starkey, A. M., M. D. G. E. Palen, Ph. B., M. D.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 9 6 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKnight and Eames, leading druggists of St. Louis; James Lopez, M. A. Wolff, Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson (Ex-United States Senator); J. H. Shockle, A. G. & W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Adjutant H. R.; Edwards Mead, Jr., druggist, Fourth street; L. Bolton, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

ASTHMA.

FOR YEARS I have treated, by Inhalation Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay-fever, Consumption and Nasal Catarrh with good results.

DR. J. H. HAGENBERG,

910 Washington street, St. Louis, Mo.

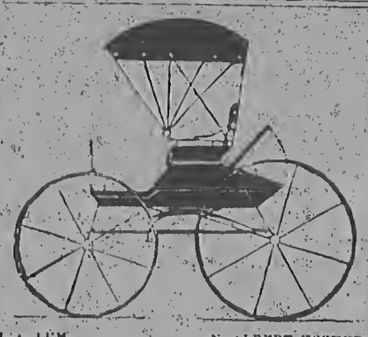
ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

103 Gravier and 12 Tulou Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

FOR BARGAINS IN CARRIAGES

go to

Henry Timken's New Factory,

NOS. 1010, 1012 AND 1014 ST. VALENTINE ST. Bet. Tenth and Eleventh Sts., ST. LOUIS, MO.

All work is of first-class material and workmanship. Call and see or send for catalogue.

CARD'S

NATHAN CARD

CARRIAGE MANUFACTURER

N. E. Cor. Seventh & Chestnut Sts.,

Opposite Polytechnic Institute and Masonic Hall,

ST. LOUIS, MO.

AGENTS WANTED FOR AMERICAN WATCHES $20 $10 305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

McCALL & HAASE,

Carriage Manufacturers,

NOS. 1008 AND 1010 ST. CHARLES STREET, ST. LOUIS.

Manufacturers of all classes of Vehicles. Their work for durability and elegance, is unsurpassed and guaranteed.

TAKE NOTICE We have no AGENTS and test every article in Chester Park. Send 25 cents for sample of 12 Envelopes, Pencil, Penholder, Gelatine Pen, and a piece of valuable Jewelry. Call and examine our large, well-assorted Gold-stone Sleeve Buttons. Set Gold-plated Studs, Engraved Gold-plated Ring, Gilt Locket, Pair Lever Cuff Pin and Drops, Pencil and Pen, all for 25 cents. 5 Packages, Assorted Jewelry, $1. A Splendid Watch and Chain free with every $50 worth of Goods you buy. Extraordinary inducements to Agents. BRIDE & CO., 11 Clinton Place, New York.

LUMBER.

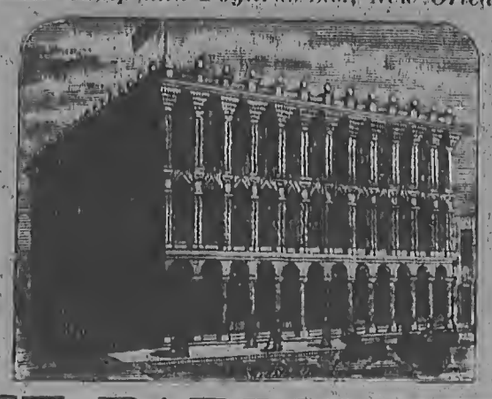
CYPRESS AND YELLOW PINE.—An assortment of over 2,000,000 feet constantly on hand. Also a large stock of Doors, Sash and Blinds on hand and made to order. Office—Corner Delord and Howard. Depot in square bounded by Delord, Calliope, Howard and Freret. P. O. Box 1915. JOHN F. POPE.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY.

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

We have the best imitation Gold Watch in the market. The metal is a composition of other metals, so closely resembling gold that the best judges find it difficult to detect the difference, except by a chemical test, and it has the virtues required to make it the best substitute for gold known. Genuine American Movement, Expansion Balance, Beautifully Engraved or Jeweled Hunting Cases and equal in appearance to a GOLD WATCH THAT COSTS from $150 to $200. If you wish a watch for your own use, or to make money on, try this. Owing to our large sales we are enabled to reduce the price of them to $12 each, with an elegant Chain attached. They are used on railroads, steamers and in manufactories, and other places where accurate time is required, and give general satisfaction. We send them by mail or express, on receipt of $12, to any part of the country, or if will be sent C. O. D. when the customer desires and remits $3 on account. These elegant CHAINS weigh about Fifty Penn'weights, and the same pattern in price goud would cost $60. We sell these Chains at $3 each. But we sell the Watch and Chain for $12, sent by mail in a registered package; postpaid, to any postoffice in the United States.

WE SELL THE WATCH WITHOUT THE CHAIN FOR $10.

J. BRIDE & CO., Clinton Place & No. 11 Eighth St., New York.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

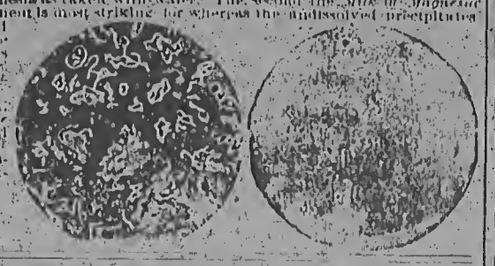
IS THE best preparation known for all disturbed conditions of the stomach. It immediately and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the stomach. The pleasant taste and milk-like smoothness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It positively prevents food sours in the stomach, and will act as an antidote when used as directed. It is also peculiarly adapted to females. The superiority of this preparation and its perfect solubility are made fully apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fract ional part of a single drop magnified 250 diameters. The first the calcined Magnesia as taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now offered. The difference between them is most striking, for whereas the undissolved precipitates and particles in the drop of calcined Magnesia are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a cloudy vapor, entirely free from the objectionable precipitates; in fact perfect solution.

Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it, and take none other. It is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. Physicians and others not already acquainted with this preparation can obtain explanatory circular by addressing

C. H. PHILLIPS,

Manuf'g Chemist,

P. O. Box 4317. NEW YORK



MUNSON & CO.'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

411 LOCUST ST., ST. LOUIS, MO.

LARGEST STOCK of Medicines, Books, Cases and other Homeopathic goods in the West. Orders can be sent by Express, C. O. D., to other cities. Books and all kinds of other articles can be sent by mail.

Complete Price Lists and Circulars will be sent on application.

We respectfully call the attention of the public to the following list of valuable Remedies, which have been used with the greatest success for a number of years, and should be in the hands of every family.

Munson & Co.'s Croup & Cough Syrup has no equal in the treatment of Croup and general Coughs. It gives immediate relief and cures permanently. Price, per bottle, 35 cents.

Munson & Co.'s Cough Lozenges, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, etc. (Farmington to Brown's Troches.) Box, 25 cents.

Munson & Co.'s Whooping Cough Syrup—This remedy is very soothing in the distressing complaint, and will shorten the attacks and disease. Bottle, 50 cents.

Anodyne Camphor, or Vienna Cholera Drops.—This preparation has been extensively used in attacks of Cholera and Diarrhœa, Colic, etc. It is a Sure cure. Bottle, 25 cents.

Munson & Co.'s Fever and Ague Pills. A sure cure for Intermittent Fevers, Dumb Ague, etc. Bottle, 25 cents.

Thuya Occidentalis, the Specific for Warts, Corns and all Excrescences of the Flesh. Bottle, 25 cents.

Gelsemium Nervine Remedy.—The only remedy that will cure this disease. Price, 50 cents.

Hydrastis Canadensis Specific Medicine, Extract Blood Root for Coughs and Children. In drops and syrups.

Milk Punch—Homœopathic Chocolate. Per lb., 60 cents. Dr. Hagenberg's Fever Cure—Per box, 25 cents.

$1,000 IN GOLD.

To All Whom It May Concern.

THE directors of the Phosphoric Air Co., in good faith, offer the above reward for the sworn statement of two respectable citizens of any city or town which will prove that PHOSPHORIC AIR, THE GREAT FRENCH REMEDY, has failed to permanently cure any form of CATARRH, Asthma, Epilepsy, or any form of Nervous or Mental diseases. One month's treatment, Inhaler, and instructions sent to any part of the country on receipt of $5.

Inhalation is the only way in which the Air passes and Balm can be reached.

Phosphoric Air cures by its effects upon the circulation, which is the only way disease can be eradicated from the system.

Wear the Inhaler 10 days on TRIAL FREE to any who can call upon us so that they may experience its immediate beneficial effects.

Exhibiting Rooms of Phosphoric Air Co.,

94 Tremont Street, Boston.

Sutter, Berry & Co.,

GLASS STAINERS.

Particular Attention Paid to Church Work.

Orders from all parts of the country promptly attended to.

413 N. SEVENTH ST., bet. Pine and Olive ST. LOUIS, MO.

Meneely & Kimberly,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

J. DIAMOND,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

AND DEALER IN NORTHERN AND WESTERN PRODUCE,

98.....Poydras Street.....98

Near Magazine street, New Orleans.

Always on hand Flour, Bgns, Potatoes, Onions, Fruits, Poultry, Eggs, etc. Special attention given to the selection of Seed Potatoes.

SAM. HENDERSON,

Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,

46 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Consignments on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

T. W. BOTHICK,

UNDERTAKER,

271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Matchless—Unrivaled—FRANZ LISZT.

ALL World's Exhibitions OF RECENT YEARS:

Paris, 1867; Vienna, 1873; Santiago, 1875; Philadelphia, 1876,

HAVE AWARDED THEIR

HIGHEST HONORS

TO THE

MASON & HAMLIN

CABINET ORGANS

FOR

Demonstrated Superiority.

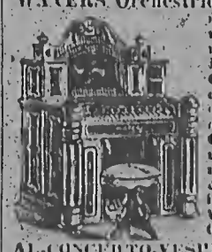
NEW STYLES at reduced prices, from $51 upward. CASH OR EASY PAYMENTS. Delivered Free. NEW STYLES, 7 to 11 Octaves, 3 to 20 Stops, in ELEGANT WALNUT CASES. NEW STYLE, 1878, in BLACK AND GOLD BRONZE, $125. Send also for illustrated circulars, containing full particulars. A small Organ of best quality may be obtained by payment of $7.50 per quarter, for ten quarters. ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE AND PRICE LISTS free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,

154 Tremont St., 25 Union Sq., 250 Wabash Ave.,

BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA



The most beautiful parlor and perfect Organ ever made. It has the celebrated Concerto stop, which is the imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned to perfect harmony with the reeds; & Xylophone effect (magical & electrifying). WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRAL, CONCERTO-VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE. The Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments Received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

CARPETS!

ELKIN & CO.,

168.....CANAL STREET.....168

ARE RECEIVING NEW STYLES OF

Axminster, Velvet & Brussels Carpets.

Tapestry Brussels from $1 to $1.25 per yard. Oil Cloths, Window Shades, Lace Curtains, etc. MATTINGS of all descriptions. All at extremely low prices.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SULLIVAN & HILGER,

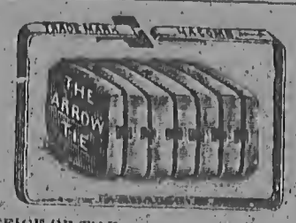
NO. 97 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS,

DEALERS IN

Gas Fitters' and Plumbers' Materials,

Gas Fixtures, Pumps, Bath Tubs, Ranges, Iron, Lead and Tin-Lined Pipes, Sheet Lead, Fittings of all descriptions, Brass, Steam, Water and Gas Cocks, Valves, Plugs, etc. Thirty per cent. discount on Iron Pipe; all other goods in proportion. eow

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.



OFFICE OF THE

American Cotton Tie Co.,

(LIMITED)

67 CARONDELET ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Important Special Notice.

The AMERICAN COTTON TIE COMPANY (LIMITED) having fixed the price of the celebrated

ARROW COTTON TIE

at $2.50 per bundle, less 2½ per cent. discount for cash, the General Agents hereby authorize their Sub-Agents in this city (dealers in Baling Stuffs) to sell to and contract with Factors and Country Merchants, for future delivery, on the above-named price and terms, in quantities, from time to time, as may be required, settlements being made on delivery.

The Company having a large stock now on hand, and having contracted for an abundant supply to meet the entire demand for Cotton Ties throughout the Cotton States, the celebrated ARROW TIE will be placed upon the market generally, and sold by their numerous Agents at the price and terms above stated, it being the object and purpose of the Company to merit the continued patronage of the planting community.

R. W. RAYNE & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS.

SHAKSPEARE IRON WORKS,

Car. Girod and Dryades Sts.

MANUFACTURE EVERY VARIETY OF

STEAM ENGINES

SUGAR MILLS,

VACUUM PANS, SAW MILLS, DRAINING AND CENTRIFUGAL MACHINES, MILL AND GIN GEARING, GRATE-BARS, ETC., ETC., STORE FRONTS, COLUMNS, VENTILATORS, RICE MILLING MACHINERY, PULLEYS AND SHAFTING,

And work of all kinds manufactured to order by

SHAKSPEARE, SMITH & CO.

Office—210 GIROD ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Estimates and price lists furnished on application.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL, PORTABLE AND STATIONARY STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS, MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING, SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS Of Improved Designs, A Specialty

Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD.

MENEELY & COMPANY,

Bell Founders, West Troy, New York.

FIFTY years established. CHURCH BELLS and CHIMES; ACADEMY, FACTORY BELLS, etc. Improved Patent Mountings. Catalogues free. No agencies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

E. BAKER,

SEEDSMAN,

No. 7 Camp St., New Orleans.

A FULL STOCK OF

GARDEN, FIELD & FLOWER SEEDS,

Fresh, Pure and Reliable.

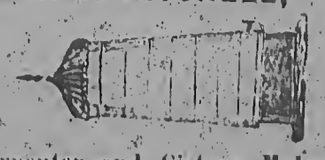
Seeds sent by mail. Also Fruit, Shade and Ornamental TREES, ROSES, etc.

PIERRE LANNES, Butcher,

Stalls Nos. 38 and 39 Magazine Market,

Supplies Ships, Families, Hotels, etc., with BEEF, MUTTON, PORK, Sausages, Tripe, Pigs, Fowls, Vegetables, etc., and everything the market affords.

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

B. T. WALSHE

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

MEN'S FURNISHING GOODS

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

CLOTHING,

No. 110 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS

WIRE RAILING

AND

Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFUR & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Sleeves, Feeders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Wovne Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Plantations, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 & 104 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.

We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.

Silver Watches at $10 and upward.

Gold Watches at $38 and upward.

All fully guaranteed.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Tuesday, Feb. 26, 1878.

There is comparatively only a light business doing. Holders are waiting for better prices, and buyers, as a general thing, are not disposed to buy more than is absolutely required for present needs. The hard times experienced by the commercial community of this city in the past few years has had the effect of making the dealers very cautious. This augurs well for the future, but the extreme caution frequently manifested serves to retard the rapid increase of business here, such as has characterized commerce in some of the Western cities.

The silver bill has at last passed both houses of Congress, and is now awaiting the action of the President. It was currently reported in Washington yesterday that he would veto it; but in case he should there is a strong probability of its being passed over the veto.

Gold opened in New York yesterday at 102¼ and closed at 102; here it opened at 102¼ and dropped at the close to 102⅛. The demand for money on the street and in bank is small and the rates easy. Exceptional paper is quoted at 8 per cent.; A1 paper, 9@11; loans on collaterals, 8 per cent; and A1 mortgages, 9@10. State consols are lower, having closed yesterday at 83½@83¾. Premium bonds, 37½@37¾. Carrollton railroad stock sold yesterday at 119, and Factors' and Traders' Insurance stock at 103. There is not much demand for stocks, but the prices are, nevertheless, strong.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the Democrat:

The tone of the cotton market today was less decided than at our last report. Advices from other points, although not positively unfavorable, were not calculated to give tone to the market or encourage buyers to operate heavily. This feeling grew stronger and stronger as the day advanced, and checked the demand, holders in the meantime being free sellers at going rates, but refusing to concede a break in prices, however small.

Sales, 4,100 bales.

The following is the closing report of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange:

	To-Day.	Yesterday
Low Ordinary
Ordinary	7⅞	7⅞
Good Ordinary	8⅞	8⅞
Low Middling	9⅛	9⅛
Middling	10⅜	10⅜
Good Middling	11⅛	11⅛
Middling Fair	11⅝	11⅝

Sales to-day, 4,100 bales. Market quiet and easy.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1877	21,356
Gross receipts since yesterday	9,281
Gross receipts previously	1,316,600—1,325,881
Total supply	1,347,237
Exported to-day	15,663
Exported previously	991,383—1,007,046
Total stock this day	340,191
Total stock this day last year	315,431

The exports to-day were 5,961 bales to Liverpool, 8,037 to Havre, and 1,665 to Norrkoping, Sweden.

Net receipts since yesterday	10,488
Receipts from other ports	1,931
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	16,696
Net receipts this day last year	8,924
Net receipts since Friday	16,755
Net receipts same time last week	37,661
Net receipts same time last year	11,751
Net receipts since September 1	1,180,877
Net receipts same time last year	1,008,115

The cotton on shipboard, not per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows: Liverpool, 42,836 bales; Havre, 13,068; Bremen, 16,078; Mediterranean, 7,956; North Sea, 28,592; Spain, 5,024; Mexico, ——; coastwise, 4,130; total, 117,684 bales. This taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 221,967 bales.

The receipts at ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals from noon Saturday to noon to-day of 23,306 bales, against 7,280 bales last Sunday and Monday, 16,696 bales last year, and 25,586 bales year before last.

The movement at ports, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, for three days up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

	Net Receipts this week.	Same week last year.	Same week year before last.
New Orleans	16,755	11,751	10,754
Galveston	9,830	3,981	8,141
Mobile	4,829	2,220	2,965
Savannah	2,705	1,171	1,117
Charleston	1,942	1,782	1,381
Wilmington	1,475	216	462
Norfolk	2,105	3,304	1,810
Baltimore	1,200	200	1,000
New York	2,900	2,500	2,142
Boston	952	1,700	1,114
Philadelphia	214	659	341
Other ports	...	...	...
Total	87,525	41,529	25,399
Receipts at ports since September 1			3,503,407
Receipts same time last year			3,307,962
Receipts same time year before			3,402,278

The consolidated report for three days gives exports to

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	Coast.	Stocks.
This week	25,978	9,172	4,795		883,225
Last week	24,859	2,625	6,499	6,411	926,692
This week last year	27,967	2,187	1,836		872,709

MINNESOTA FROGS. A new industry has recently sprung up in parts of Minnesota that has already arrived at the dignity of statistics. Frog culture is the new thing. It is a simple matter, consisting chiefly in the protection of eggs and tadpoles from birds and other enemies, by means of wire screens. The product thus far reported amounts to 3,000 dozen of frog legs, of which about two-thirds have been shipped to St. Louis. The average quotation of prices is twenty cents per dozen.

The mean height of the American Indian is 67.934 inches; of the American white man, 67.072; Scotch, 67.496; English, 66.575; Russian, 66.393; French, 66.277, Mexican, 66.110.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 60
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do. with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	300 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	80 00	90 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Hoop	3½	5
Sheet	3½	5
Horse Shoe	3½	4½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	30 00	37 00
Lime, ₩ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	18 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 30	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	10½	12½
Paris Green, ₩ lb	30	40
Pat. Dryer, ₩ lb	10	13
Whiting, ₩ lb	1½	3
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₩ gall	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights: Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	35	$1 80	$1 50
10x12	55	1 70	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	2 70

Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 50	$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —	3 80
Panel Doors:
3x8 and 1¾ inch thick	— —	$2 20
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —	2 25
3x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —	2 30
4x7—6 inch and 1¾ inch thick	— —	4 00

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western	18	19
New York, good to creamy	28	31
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	17	17¼
Rio, good	17¾	18
Rio, prime	18¾	18¾
Java, choice O. G	28	30
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meat, ₩ bbl.:
Meat, K. D	— —	2 85
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	12¾	13¾
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	14 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 40
Sardines, quarter boxes	— —	— —
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	4 50	4 75
XX	5 00	5 50
XXX	5 50	6 25
Choice XXX	6 25	6 50
Choice family	6 75	7 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	3	4
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	11	12
Raisins, ¼ quarter box	50	55
Raisins, ½ half box	—	1 00
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 80	1 85
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	8	9½
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, 11 cases, best	40	48
Coal, in barrels, best	30	35
Lubricating, in cases	— —	50
Lubricating, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, best	80	85
Molasses, in barrels.
Common	17	20
Fair	22	28
Prime to choice	30	41
Golden and Roquet syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	—	4
Ordinary	5	5½
Fair	5½	5¾
Prime to choice	6¼	6¾
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb.:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₩ lb	3½	4
Salt, in sacks
Fine	1 05	1 10
Coarse	85	90
Sugar, in hhds.:
Good fair	6	6½
Prime	— —	7
Choice	— —	8½
Yellow clarified	8	8½
White clarified	8½	9
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	15½	— —
Pepper	14½	14
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₩ lb.:
Black Oolong	27½	1 10
Green Imperial	50	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow	— —	48
White	— —	53
Mixed	— —	47
Oats: Whistled	— —	— —
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	— —	37
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	90
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	— —	17 00
Ordinary	— —	— —
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Clay	— —	1 40

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.:
Breakfast	10½	11
Shoulders	4½	5
Sides, clear rib	— —	5½
Sides, clear	— —	6¼
Hams, sugar cured	8½	9½
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl.	12 00	12 25
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	—	4½
Lard, ₩ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	— —	— —
Choice, in tierces and barrels	7½	7½

EDIBLES.

Potatoes, ₩ bbl	1 00	2 00
Onions, ₩ bbl	— —	2 25
Apples, ₩ bbl	1 50	3 00
Cabbages, ₩ 100	8 00	10 00

WOOL.

Burry	11	12
Louisiana, clean	— —	28½
Texas, clean	27½	29

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
Dodia	— —	— —
Jute	11½	12½
Ties, Arrow, best, per bundle, 20 lbs and buckles	— —	2 60
Twine, hemp	13½	14

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, per doz:
Old chickens	3 50	4 00
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	3 00	3 50
Geese	5 00	6 00
Turkeys	14 00	15 00
Eggs, ₩ dozen
western	11	14
Louisiana	11	14

SEWING MACHINES.

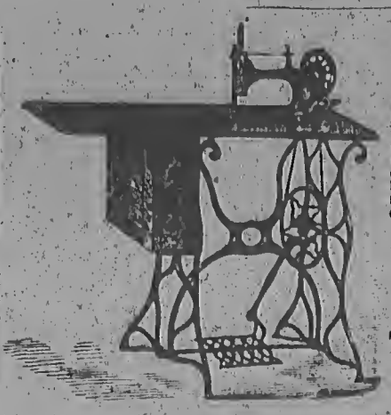
THE SINGER AGAIN TO THE FRONT!!

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

FOR CASH!!



The Singer Manufacturing Company, ever awake to the interest of the public, have determined to put the price of their Machines within the reach of every man, woman and child in the land.

The Genuine Singer Sewing Machine is now Offered at Prices Below the Rogus Ones, or Any Other.

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have ever attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but their cheapness.

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines.

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime.

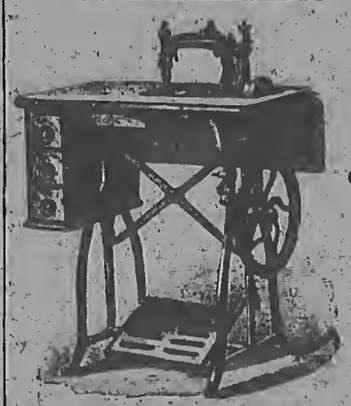
Send for Circular and Cash Prices.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " "	50.
" 85 " "	45.
" 80 " "	40.
" 75 " "	35.
" 70 " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle.
It never oils the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.
☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 4p

LEMON.

It is from the rind of the Messina lemon that Dr. Price prepares his Special Flavoring Extract of Lemon. While other Lemon Extracts in a little time have the taste and odor of turpentine, Dr. Price's for any length of time retains its intense lemony taste.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BRANDON DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Newton, at Hickory	Mar. 9, 10
Walnut Grove, at Ellisburg	23, 24
Morton and Forest, at Orange House	30, 31
Fannin, at Shiloh	Apr. 6, 7
Prairie, at Providence	13, 14
Brandon	13, 14
Lake, at Centerville	20, 21
Carthage, at Liberty	27, 28
Union, at Salem	May 4, 5
Raleigh	11, 12
Rainewood	13
Trenton	25, 26
Beulah	June 1, 2

The delegates to the District Conference will be elected during this round.

21 WILL H. LEITH, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

SELMA DIST.—SECOND ROUND.

Selma	Feb. 16, 17
Summerfield	23, 24
Suggsville	Mar. 2, 3
Grove Hill	9, 10
East Selma	16, 17
Marion	23, 24
Brush Creek	30, 31
Uniontown	30, 31
Independence	Apr. 6, 7
Chickenw Corner	13, 14
Lower Peachtree	20, 21
Orrville	27, 28
Spring Hill	June 1, 2
Belmont Hills	8, 9

14 J. W. HOSEA, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

School Music-Books!

High School Choir. EMERSON & TILDEN, $9 per dozen. A standard, useful and favorite book.

School Song-Book. C. EVERETT, $6 per dozen. Fine book for Girls' High and Normal Schools.

Choice Trios. W. S. TILDEN, $9 per dozen. Three-part Songs for Female Colleges, Seminaries, etc.

Grammar School Choir. W. S. TILDEN, $6 per dozen. Excellent collection for High or Grammar Schools.

American School Music Readers. In Charts, each, 35 cents, 50 cents and $1 each. Carefully prepared for graded schools.

The following are favorite general collections of vocal Songs for Common Schools:

SONG ECHO	H. S. PERKINS, $5
MOCKING BIRD	W. O. PERKINS, $6
MUSIC TEACHER	C. EVERETT, $6
OUR FAVORITE	H. P. DANKS, $6

MUSIC CHARTS. By Dr. LOWELL MASON.

Large Charts, containing 120 Blackboard Lessons, plainly visible to all, setting forth principles easily set up and used, and furnishing a complete course of practice. Sent by express. In two rolls of nos. each $8.

OLIVER DITSON & CO.,
BOSTON.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

125 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

FRANCIONI & FOLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANTS, and dealers in Western Produce. Solicit consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Molasses, etc. 95 DECATUR ST. (Box 2385.) New Orleans, La. 8p

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15.00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS	WHITE
Stone China TEA SETS
Decorated CHAMBER SETS	FOR
Real French China DINNER SETS
Gold Band China TEA SETS	PRICES
Table TUMBLERS
Table GOBLETS

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

DR. JAMES PORTER.

Well-Attested Virtues of His Magnetic and Scientific Treatment.

PILES.—Mr. D. Waters, 479 Bienville street. Piles in the worst form for fifteen years; cured by Dr. Porter in two weeks; may be referred to.

Mr. Nicholas Birl, 120 Chartres street.—Piles, an extreme case; cured in three weeks; may be referred to.

DEAFNESS.—Mr. Conrad Wengertman, 46 Conti street.—Deafness and Noise in the Head cured by two magnetic treatments.

SCIATICA. Mr. P. Kagan, 118 Bienville street.—Sciatic Rheumatism since last March. Had tried the best physicians without benefit. Cured by two treatments.

FITS. Mr. John Rowbury, Baker, 189 St. Mary street.—Epilepsy for years; never having less than two spasms per week; cured by Dr. Porter three months ago.

RHEUMATISM.—Mr. T. P. Devoe, Cotton Broker, 136 Carondelet street.—Chronic Rheumatism cured by Dr. Porter by a new Magnetic Treatment.

By Dr. Porter's treatment patients are cured of almost every form of chronic ailments in a few days. Therefore persons living at a distance need not remain in the city but a very few days in order to have a permanent cure effected.

Office hours from 9 A. M. until 7 P. M., at his PARLORS, No. 10 ST. CHARLES STREET, where he may be consulted until about the first of May.

ORGANS Superb $240 Organs, only $95. Pianos, retail price by other manufacturers $800, only $260. Beautiful $1,000 Pianos, $375. Introduced in 10 days test trial. Other bargains; want them introduced. Agents wanted. Paper free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, PIANOS Washington, New Jersey.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND MUSIC STORE

135 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS.

LEADING MAKERS

OF

PIANOS AND ORGANS

WRITE FOR PRICES.

"We cannot speak too highly of this establishment. It possesses large facilities, and is conducted on the basis of the utmost fairness and liberality.

J. B. WALKER.
J. B. A. AHRENS."

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice, $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Japan, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO	30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA	30c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 8 cts. extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Uniquo Perfumes are the Gems of all Odors. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LURULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Eliash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Co., Berg, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent post-paid to any address.

This is not a quack advertisement.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat,

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express. At your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES are the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made with the latest improvements at the above prices. They are a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Chain. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS METAL WATCH FACTORY 225 Broadway N.Y. P.O. Box

How a "Diebold" Safe Stood the Test in the Recent Fire at Edwards' Depot, Mississippi.

W. W. CLARK, President. JOHN W. NORRIS, Vice President.
H. TYLER, Secretary and Treasurer.

Another Southern Testimonial FOR THE

DIEBOLD SAFE AND LOCK CO.

A. ROY, Agent.

ONE MORE VICTORY SCORED.

READ! READ!

EDWARDS' DEPOT, Oct. 18, 1877.

DEAR SIR: The No. 7 Diebold Safe purchased some time since went through the large conflagration, and remained forty-eight hours in the burning ruins. The iron on outsides and front was very much bulged out. Considering the extreme heat to which it had been subjected, we feared greatly for its contents; but judge of our joy and surprise when, on opening it, we found all our books and papers in good condition.

S. D. CURRIE & CO.

The above is a sample of the testimonials being daily received from all parts of the country.

A large assortment of these celebrated Safes always on hand, at prices as low as first-class work can be made. Write for estimates etc.

New Orleans Branch Diebold Safe and Lock Company, 82 Canal Street.

8p A. ROY, Agent.

REMOVAL.

W. W. WASHBURN,

ARTIST-PHOTOGRAPHER,

AT HIS NEW GALLERY,

Cor. of Canal St. and Exchange Place.

The Best Photographic Pictures

IN THE SOUTH, in Every Style of the Art.

COPYING AND ENLARGING of Old Pictures a SPECIALTY. Attention invited to the Celebrated ENAMEL PHOTOGRAPHS. Only first-class work. Prices moderate.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY, Cor. Canal St. and Exchange Place. 8p

SAUVÉ & WAGGAMAN,

STATIONERS, PRINTERS,

LITHOGRAPHERS AND BLANK BOOK MAKERS,

87 COMMERCIAL PLACE 27

NEW ORLEANS.

Ruling, Binding, Engraving, etc. executed with neatness and dispatch, and at Northern prices.

Sole agents for Pictorial Business and Visiting Cards of all kinds. 8p

GEORGE STROUD,

Marble and Granite Works,

Nos. 158, 160, 162 and 164 St. Charles Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

Every description of Cemetery and Building work executed in the best manner. 8p

FRANK H. WILSON, Agent

THE MOST

DURABLE AND ELASTIC

WOVEN WIRE BED

IN THE WORLD.

Each Bed warranted in every respect. All sizes made, from Cribs, Steamboat Berths and Bunks to full size Beds, 4 by 6 feet.

General Agency for Southern States. 19 COMMERCIAL PLACE New Orleans, La.

MONARCH CORN MILL

For HAND or POWER use.

SELF-ACTING FAN.

HAVING bought the Patent Right for the States of Louisiana and Texas, for a Self-acting Fan, one of the simplest and most ingenious contrivances of the age, I am prepared to fill orders for from 1 to 6,000, at very low figures. These Fans are guaranteed to run for one hour each quarter, and are admirably adapted for private families, restaurants, saloons and steamers. Call and examine at No. 17 BARONNE St., opposite Odd Fellows' Hall. 4TEND SCHWANER.

FRANK M. NORMAN,

Book-Seller, Stationer and Printer,

398 MAGAZINE STREET,

Between Josephine and St. Andrew.

Your name on 50 Visiting Cards for 50 cts. Frames made to order. Scrap pictures. Upper Ten Circulating Library. Catalogues free.

A. LIPSCOMB, COLUMBIA, Tate Co., Miss., Breeder and Shipper of Pure-bred Light Brahma and Water FOWLS. Eggs for hatching in season. Fowls for sale at all times. Prompt attention given to all orders and communications. Prices are respectfully solicited.

$3 GOLD PLATED WATCHES. The best in the known world. Sample Watch Agents. Address, A. COULTER & Co.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1878. NO. 10.

THE CASTLE-BUILDER.

BY H. W. LONGFELLOW.

A gentle boy, with soft and silken locks,
A dreamy boy, with brown and tender eyes,
A castle-builder, with his wooden blocks,
And towers that touch imaginary skies;

A fearless rider on his father's knee,
An eager listener unto stories told
At the Round Table of the nursery,
Of heroes and adventures manifold.

There will be other towers for thee to build;
There will be other steeds for thee to ride;
There will be other legends, and all filled
With greater marvels and more glorified.

Build on, and make thy castles high and fair,
Rising and reaching upward to the skies;
Listen to voices in the upper air,
Nor lose thy simple faith in mysteries.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—It is reported that the village of Isleton, on Andrews Island, in the delta of the Sacramento river, was swept away last night in consequence of the pressure of water brought upon the levees by the cutting of the dikes on Grand Island, just across the river.

Reports are continually coming in of disaster by the flood in Sacramento valley.

The water covers the whole face of the country, and the destruction of property from Colusia to the mouth of the river already aggregates $1,-00,000.

Fortunately, with but two or three exceptions, as far as learned, no loss of life has occurred. Steamers and barges are busily employed conveying live stock and other property to places of safety. The Legislature appropriated $25,000 for the relief of the sufferers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Committee of Banking and Currency of the House decided to insist upon an additional provision to the bill substituting treasury for national bank notes; providing that treasury notes will be received for one-third of any due payment of customs, the remaining two thirds payable in gold or silver dollars. These treasury notes to be also interchangeable for four per cent. bonds.

The Senate Committee on Claims, by one majority, decided to report $50 000 in favor of the Methodist Episcopal book agency, for the use of the building at Nashville. The claim was filed for $450 000).

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The Senate—The silver bill passed, the President's veto notwithstanding, by 48 to 19, Mr. Hill, of Georgia, voting with the majority.

A bill for a special session of the United States Circuit Court at Scranton, Miss., to consider the log cases, passed in the face of the adverse report of the Judiciary Committee—30 to 15.

The House—The President's message vetoing the silver bill was laid before the House by the speaker. In the President says it has been his earnest desire to concur with Congress in the adoption of a measure to increase the silver coinage of the country, but so as not to impair the obligation of contracts, either public or private, or injuriously affect the public credit. It was only on the conviction that this bill did not meet that essential requirement that he felt his duty to withhold from it his approval.

The message further states that the capital defect of the bill is that it contains no provision protecting from its operation pre-existing debts, in case the coinage which it creates shall continue of less value than that which was the sole legal tender when they were created. In the judgment of mankind it would be an act of bad faith. The standard of value should not be changed without the consent of both parties to the contract. The national promises should be kept with unflinching fidelity. He could not sign the bill, which would authorize the violation of sacred obligations. The obligation of the public faith transcended all questions of profit or public advantage. Its unquestionable maintenance was dictated as well of honesty as of expediency, and should ever be carefully guarded by the executive, by Congress and by the people. Before proceeding to vote on the question: Will the House on reconsideration pass the bill? Mr. Cox, of New York, made the remark that the message was "a charge of fraud by a fraud," which his colleague, McCook, made a point of order. The speaker decided that the remark was made out of order, and that it should not be printed in the records. The House then proceeded to vote, and the result was: Yeas 196, nays 73.

The speaker declared the bill as passed, and the announcement was greeted with general applause.

The House then took up the bill to pension the soldiers of the Mexican and Indian wars without action. The House then adjourned.

NEW YORK, Feb 28.—A Havana letter of February 23 says: The insurgent chiefs having submitted to the terms offered by the Spanish government, of which fact there is no longer any doubt, the restoration of peace on this island may be regarded as an accomplished fact.

The twenty-fifth of the present month has been designated as the day on which the insurgents shall lay down their arms, and on the twenty-seventh peace shall be proclaimed by the government.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Committee on Pacific Railroads today, by a majority vote, decided to recommend the passage of the Texas Pacific bill in the precise terms reported by the sub-committee last week.

Mr. House, of Tennessee, will report the measure at the first call of the committee. The members who voted aye on the question of reporting the bill for passage are Throckmorton, of Texas, House, of Tennessee, Chalmers, of Mississippi, Elam, of Louisiana, O'Neil, of Pennsylvania, Caswell, of Wisconsin, and Cole, of Maine. Two of the thirteen members of the committee—namely: Hewitt and Morrison—were absent from the meeting to-day, but are known to be opposed to the bill.

Ex Senator Ben. Wake died this morning, at Jefferson, Ohio.

NEW YORK March 3.—The senior counsel for William H. Vanderbilt positively denies a report that negotiations are in progress for a settlement of the contested will case, adding that a settlement is impossible.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Elswick Ordnance Works, at Newcastle on-Tyne, recently received an order to manufacture one hundred torpedoes for the government with all possible speed. The order has now been increased to eight hundred.

The Vienna correspondent of the Times says: The extension of the principality of Bulgaria to the Archipelago would be of the utmost consequence to Europe, for it would practically mean the securing of a naval station for Russia, just as the grant of a port to Montenegro would mean a Russian naval station in the Adriatic.

The Pera correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: The pretended struggle over the peace conditions is a mere cloak for the Russo-Turkish alliance. The rulers of Turkey have thrown themselves into the arms of the Russians.

Russia will make great pretense of eagerly defending the conditions before the powers, but will finally yield enough to satisfy them, and then arrange a programme for a Russian protectorate over Turkey in Europe and Asia, according to the terms of the secret agreement.

ROME, Feb. 28.—It is fully confirmed that France will recall Baron Bande, her embassador at the Vatican, who is a partisan of the Jesuits.

HAVANA, March 1.—Yesterday afternoon the insurgents in the central department defiled before Gen. Martinez Campos, at Puerto Principe, surrendering their arms. The insurgents in the neighborhood of Trocha also surrendered their arms at the same hour.

LONDON, March 2.—A Reuter from Constantinople says: It is probable that the British fleet will be withdrawn from Tenza to Ismid.

Earl Russell's condition has greatly improved.

The Standard's Berlin special says: Austria, in consequence of Germany's confidential representations, has abandoned the idea of war, but would occupy Bosnia and Herzegovina if Russia persist in her pretensions.

The Vienna dispatch of the Standard says: Count Andrassy has informed the spokesmen of delegations that a vote of credit is absolutely necessary. He added that the government would be satisfied if it was passed by a small majority.

ROME, March 2.—The Duke of Abercarn invested King Humbert with the order of the garter, and presented a letter from Queen Victoria. Remarkably warm cordialities were exchanged.

The Italian government categorically deem the reason why the Vatican countermanded a public coronation of the Pope was the government's inability to prevent disrespect and hostile manifestations.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 2.—The Czar has called out four divisions of the reserve, with artillery.

ROME, March 3.—Pope Leo the Thirteenth was crowned in the Sextine chapel to-day. The ceremony commenced at 9:30 in the morning and ended at 1:30 P. M. The cardinals, prelates and diplomatists accredited to the Vatican, and a few other persons, were present. The Pope was afterward carried to his apartments, blessing spectators on the way. A few houses were illuminated to-night.

The Opinione reports that the Council of State, in response to a question of Signor Crispi, president of the Chamber of Deputies, as to whether the Italian government had a right to modify the papal guarantees, rendered a decision that the law of papal guarantees possesses a constitutional organic character. When Cardinal Simeoni was about to resume his office as pontifical secretary of State the Catholic powers and some cardinals protested against his restoration because of his reactionary tendencies. Cardinal Simeoni thereupon resigned, and Cardinal Franchi was appointed in his place.

LONDON, March 3.—The following announcement of the conclusion of peace between Russia and Turkey was received to-night by Reuter's Telegram Company:

CONSTANTINOPLE Sunday night, March 3.—The treaty of peace has been signed. The Grand Duke Nicholas announced the fact to the soldiers at a review at St. Stefano to-day. Russia has abandoned her claim on Egyptian and Bulgarian tribute.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—I am expected to report to the General Conference all the amounts due the Southern Methodist Publishing House, and from whom.

We therefore earnestly request all persons indebted to the House to make payment before the first day of April, at which time we date our report to the General Conference.

A. H. REDFORD, Agent.

Rev. B. B. Ross.

Rev. Bennet Battle Ross, of the Alabama Conference, and professor of moral science in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama, died at his home in Auburn, at four P. M., February 14. On Sunday, the third of February, while preparing for church, he was seized with a chill, which lasted four hours, and in a day or two symptoms of pneumonia appeared, which soon assumed a typhoid form.

I saw him for the first time on Tuesday after his attack, and my apprehensions were at once aroused as to the seriousness of his sickness. He had a distressed look, and appeared depressed, and listless as to things about him. I thought of Dr. Hamilton and his appearance not a great while after he left the Conference-room at Opelika, to come back no more. But his family and physician did not seem greatly alarmed till later in the week. His wife, having seen him rally from so many violent spells, very naturally hoped he would recover from this one also.

By the succeeding Sabbath his symptoms became alarming and his mind began to wander; indeed from that day till Thursday, when he died, he was conscious of but little that passed around him. His pulse was, however, unusually good all the time, and he seemed exceedingly sensitive to pain, crying out when moved. These symptoms exalted a feeble hope almost to the last that he might rally once more. But Providence ordered it otherwise; he had finished his course, his mansion was ready and his crown in view.

During nearly all his manhood he was a victim of complicated and severe diseases, and it is likely his death was not altogether the result of pneumonia. In his death the Alabama Conference has lost one of its purest men and brightest ornaments. For twenty-three years he had been one of us, esteemed and beloved by all, and distrusted by none. Though a man of positive character and convictions, and never shrinking from the avowal of his opinions, somehow he managed to excite but few if any violent antagonisms. The general confidence in his sincerity and goodness excited respect for him in whatever he said and did. Among those who knew him intimately, when the useful and devotedly pious men of the Conference were mentioned, B. B. Ross was sure to head the list. Noble in his nature and instincts, he loathed a mean suspicion and an undue advantage; generous in feeling and action, he loved the brethren, and his hand was ever open to the calls of mercy and the demands of the church.

Considering his feeble physical condition, and his almost constant liability to complete prostration, it is astonishing that he was able to work so constantly and accomplish so much. He is an example of what a strong will, a consecrated heart and a noble purpose can accomplish in the face of difficulties of the severest character. Well may many of us, who have been stronger, blush for our labors when we consider what he did in almost constant sickness. Filling many responsible charges, he somehow was always able so to do his work as to show most gratifying results when he left them. It is likely no member of the Conference has been more uniformly successful in all the departments of ministerial work than he was.

It was my privilege to be associated with him for many years in the most intimate relationships of ministerial and private life, and I frankly say I never knew a better man, a more devoted Christian and consecrated minister. When compelled by disease to leave the pulpit and the pastorate, and seek employment in the school-room, his soul was troubled with restless longings for the old paths and the former employments. He was never satisfied when he could not preach; he moaned that he appeared to be laid on the shelf. When he took charge of his chair in the college in Auburn he write to me: "If it did not seem like murmuring I would say I covet your privilege of preaching. Oh, how I long to enter the deepest of the fight and sound the bugle to the charge; but restraint is laid on me by One who knows best, and orders all things well." This was his spirit in all his ministry of twenty-seven years. Verily, we in Alabama are sadly afflicted.

As an evidence of his exalted worth and faultless character, those who knew him longest and most intimately appreciated him most highly and loved him most devotedly. He was hardly cold in his grave before letters came from afflicted ones at a distance to his family and friends here, giving assurances of the deepest sympathy and of their own personal bereavement, and testifying to the public loss in his death.

Dr. Carlos G. Smith, president of the Alabama University, writes from Tuscaloosa to Prof. J. T. Dunklin: "As you know, I met our honored friend when a mere youth—perhaps of fifteen years—first at Lagrange College. He was then a model of the highest moral worth. A more estimable youth I never knew, a better student I never taught. I respected him as a boy—I have loved and honored him as a man. I say what I believe to be strictly true: I have never in all my long life known a nobler, purer man than Prof. Ross; and the loss of such a man is not merely irreparable to your college and to the community of Auburn, but to the whole commonwealth of Alabama, and to the whole Methodist Church, in which, from early manhood, he has been an able and useful minister."

Rev. Dr. G. W. F. Price, president of Huntsville Female College, writes: "In all that was manly, all that was honorable, all that was upright, all that was pure, he stood before me as a model, whom I should have felt delighted to imitate. A piety simple, earnest, ardent; a faith strong, vigorous and commanding; a singleness of purpose never diverted from its exalted aim; a disinterested sympathy with everything true and good; a zeal according to knowledge—these were the foremost traits of his religious life. He came as near being wholly a devoted man as any one I ever knew. I feel my life enriched and my experience ennobled by my intimate fellowship with him. I shall always hold it as one of the rarest privileges of my past course that I knew him so tenderly and so fully. In his company there was never any lack of congenial themes. He was alive to the beauties of nature and to the excellencies of literature. He kept up with events and, with current thought, so that it was a refreshment of spirit to converse with him."

A recent graduate of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, now teaching in a distant State, who boarded with Prof. Ross, touchingly writes to his weeping wife that he is indebted to the influence and teachings of her husband, while a member of his family, for the correction of certain errors of opinion that clouded and troubled his early youth, and for the establishment of his faith in the great truths of the gospel.

Thus it always was. Whoever associated with B. B. Ross, whether old or young, cultured or unlearned, he was sure to bow in reverence before his worth and to be benefited by the contact.

He was a graceful, fluent and spicy writer, and for years past our connectional papers have been enriched by contributions from his pen. He was one of the men who ought to have written more.

He was born in Wake county, N. C., June 28, 1828, and was consequently in the fiftieth year of his age. When he was three or four years old his father moved to Mississippi. Losing his father when six years old, he was dependent on his mother for religious and moral influence and training. She seems to have been admirably fitted for her responsible position. Her son is said to have resembled her very much both in feature and character. His soft brown eyes, and mild, benignant expression of countenance were an inheritance from his mother whom he loved most tenderly and delighted to obey. One who knew her well says there was that softness of manner, dignity of carriage, firmness of purpose and benevolence of look and action in her whole life which could not fail to leave its impress on her children. There is no doubt but that our brother was largely indebted to his mother's influence, while a child, for the manliness and many virtues which characterized his active life. What an incentive to mothers to consecrate life and its energies to that which will ennoble and make useful their offspring.

When ten years old he was sent to an academy of some note at Russellville, in north Alabama. While attending this school, in September, 1842—being fourteen years old—he was converted, and he seems never to have questioned the genuineness of the work. The recollection and light of that holy occasion followed him through life and influenced his course. He graduated at Lagrange College in 1847, and carried with him to the grave the profoundest regard for Bishop Paine, who was president most of the time he was there. In 1848 he taught in north Alabama. In 1850, having prepared himself by due course of study, he was admitted to the bar in Mississippi; but a conviction that another and very different calling was to be his life-work caused him to abandon his law books after a few months' practice. In this he was opposed by his stepfather; but his mother, Hannah-like, was willing to lend him to the Lord, and she urged him to follow his convictions. He was licensed to preach in October, 1850; and November 12 of that year was admitted on trial into the Memphis Conference. While in that Conference he had charge of Pontotoc circuit, and Ripley and Carrollville. During 1853 and 1854 he was professor in Lagrange College. In 1855 and 1856 he was president of Talladega Female College, then under the patronage of the Alabama Conference. While here—July 29, 1855—he married Charlotte Augusta Walker, who in all his sufferings and itinerating was a help meet for him, devoted alike to his welfare and to the interests of the church. She still survives, with a daughter and two sons, the youngest about eleven years old. Having been dyspeptic for years, his health gave way while teaching in Talladega, and he was forced to rest during 1857; in fact he was sick during most of that year. Rallying a little about Conference-time, he was appointed to Talladega station for 1858; but the regular station work was too heavy for him. Consequently, in 1859 and 1860, he was given the State Street colored charge in Mobile. It was thought the help he could get here—as the work among the colored people did not involve much pastoral labor—would allow him such rest as he needed. At that time I was serving the Franklin Street church, and his church was in charge of my Quarterly Conference. Consequently we were much together, and it was then that I first became impressed with his sweet spirit and deep devotion to the cause of the salvation of souls. I usually assisted him in his communion-service at three P. M. on the first Sabbath of each month when there were often from six hundred to one thousand communicants. If a Bishop or minister of distinction was in the city he was sure to have him to preach to his flock at three P. M.—the popular hour. Ah! the shouts we used to have, and the singing! But those were the old times, and we shall see them no more. His pride in his church and devotion to the spiritual interests of his humble but numerous membership seemed to know no bounds. During the next three years he served with great ability and success the Mobile district, showing specially fitted for the duties of the presiding eldership. His health greatly improved while traveling on the district. In 1861 1862 and 1863 he was stationed in Tuskegee. A glorious revival was the result of his ministry here, which brought scores into the church. In April, 1866, he represented the Montgomery Conference in the General Conference at New Orleans. But the pulpit and pastoral labors of the station work were too severe a tax on his strength. His health utterly failed again. When he went to the Conference in Jacksonville, December, 1866, his nervous system seemed completely shattered. He had been the secretary of the Montgomery Conference from its organization, and he was re-elected at Jacksonville. He stated at the time that he feared he would not be able to discharge the duties of the office; but, with the devotion to duty that always characterized him, he made the attempt. On the second morning of the session, while attempting to write, his hand became tremulous, and, bursting into tears, he arose and announced his inability to keep the minutes. He wept to think he could not perform a work to which his brethren called him. Thinking that horseback and out-door exercise might possibly benefit him, he was given, by Bishop Wightman, the Tuskegee circuit. The appointment was fortunate in every particular. Very rapidly his health improved, and the people were delighted with his presence and ministry among them. Never was a pastor more respected or beloved. His hold on the people was such that they seemed delighted to do whatever he asked to be done. He was most liberally supported, and several times carried to the Conference for the various collections nearly one thousand dollars. Being on the district during the four years he was on this circuit, I had ample opportunity to observe his management of his charge and its results. Gratefully I acknowledge my obligations to him for many important lessons and useful suggestions. He was an indefatigable worker, and evinced great tact and business qualities. Indeed he was a man of high order of business talent. His work was in the track of Wilson's army, which but recently had devastated the country. Hence the pecuniary results were astonishing. He added greatly to the membership, and left the charge in a most prosperous condition.

About this time his wife's health required his constant care. He therefore—that he might be much at home—in 1871 accepted a place in Tuskegee Female College, with President G. W. F. Price. In 1872 he was professor in East Alabama Male College, then a Conference college. But feeling strong enough to preach, and Mrs. Ross' health having improved, he determined to re-enter the regular work. Thinking a higher latitude might be best for both of them, he transferred to the North Alabama Conference, and was given as his first work the Huntsville station. This was in 1873. But he undertook too much. Before the year was out he broke down completely, and has been able to preach but little since.

The directors of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, appreciating his character and great worth, offered him the chair of moral science in that school. A happier selection could not have been made. He accepted the place, and since the beginning of 1874 has been in Auburn, faithfully and efficiently discharging the duties of his professorship, and exerting a wholesome moral and religious influence on the young men, and greatly aiding our church by precept and example, and by liberally contributing to the support of the ministry.

He said but little of his spiritual condition while sick. His mind began to wander before his family and those nursing him supposed his case would be fatal, and but little was said to him on the subject. On Monday night before his death I succeeded in arousing him for a few minutes, and in answer to direct inquiries he said he was "fully aware of his condition; that his way was clear, and had been all the time." I asked if he had any message for the Conference. Feebly he responded he would like to have said something, but could not then. He was rarely aroused from his stupor after that. He died without a struggle. We all know he is safe. Yes, as sure as the gospel is true, our beloved brother is as one of the angels of God.

His funeral was largely attended. Besides the cadets of the college—over two hundred in number—most of the citizens of the town and surrounding country were present, and a large concourse of colored people filled the galleries of the spacious church. The slow, measured tread, the deep silence and the silent tears showed that the whole community was sitting in the shadow of a great grief. Bros. Crawford, Foust and Popehart, of the Alabama Conference; Rev. B. F. Larabee, of the North Alabama Conference, and Rev. Dr. G. T. Tichnor, president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, and Rev. W. E. Lloyd, pastor of the Baptist church in Auburn, assisted in the funeral services.

We committed him to the ground in the hope of the resurrection.

M. S. ANDREWS.

AUBURN, ALA., February 18, 1878.

NOTICE.—To the Preachers of the Alexandria District, Louisiana Conference: You are earnestly requested to attend the Alexandria district revival meeting, to begin on Friday, March 29, 1878, at eleven A. M., in the Methodist church in Alexandria. Bishop J. C. Keener will be present and conduct the meeting. We hope that all the preachers in the Alexandria district, and those from adjacent districts, will come and spend this fifth Sunday of March with us in our district revival. Homes will be provided for all.

CHRISTIAN KEENER, P. E.

A two-foot rule—"Boots and shoes for cash only."

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1878.

THE PRECIOUS BLOOD OF CHRIST.

BY S. F. CHARLES, D. D.

The cross! the cross! bound to the cross,
My soul the Savior sees!
Behold! his agony and blood—
The price that ransoms thee!

CHORUS.

O the blood! the precious blood
That Jesus shed for me,
Upon the cross in crimson flood,
Just now by faith I see.

The shame! the shame! the scorn and shame!
The crowd of mockers, see!
For me the Sufferer bore it all,
He gave himself for me.

The wounds! the wounds! those painful wounds!
Oh! they were made for me!
His hands, his feet, his holy head,
All pierced and torn I see.

The death! the death! the awful death
That Jesus died for me!
I hear his groans, his prayer, "Forgive,"
His bleeding side I see.

The love! the love! the matchless love
That bled upon the tree!
It melts my heart, it wins my love,
It brings me, Lord, to thee.

Christian Secretary.

"Fools Rush In Where Angels Fear to Tread."

In some respects the United States is certainly the paradise of fools and humbugs. Men spring, suddenly and unannounced, into a blaze of notoriety—are puffed, advertised and placarded with boundless prodigality of fulsome adulation, and madly followed and run after by the idle, the impressionable and the sensational. Humbugs flourish amazingly in the United States. The people love humbugs, and delight in being humbugged out of their votes and their money. A calf with two heads never fails to draw eager crowds; a hog that can tell the time of day is more of a magnet than the most eloquent divine; a "penitent thief!" dustles honest men off the track, and is considered a paragon. Akin to the effectiveness and magnetism of a calf with two heads and a hog that can tell the time of day is the man who can talk glibly and dogmatically, as if all human knowledge had been compressed into his cranium. Col. Bob Ingersoll is now the highest trump in the pack of humbuggery. He has realized $20,000 from his lectures—a circumstance that proves that the fool-killer is not at all doing his duty in the region traversed by Bob Ingersoll.

This man Bob Ingersoll is an impious wretch, whose utterances are full of blasphemy and ribaldry, and whose aim is to unsettle the religious belief of men, and plunge them into skepticism and atheism. His ambition is worthy only of a fiend. His assaults on the Christian religion have already given him notoriety, and doubtless that fills the measure of his diabolical ambition.

Even with the restraints which the Christian religion imposes upon appetite, lust and immorality, men are bad enough; but were these restraints removed and blotted out, vice and immorality would speedily transform the earth into a pandemonium in comparison with which hell itself would be a paradise. The French revolution of 1793 witnessed the formal abrogation of the Christian religion in France, and the establishment on its ruins of the religion of Reason. Tom Paine, the hero of Bob Ingersoll, bore a part in these bloody and infamous scenes, which were the ripened fruits of his teachings and doctrines. A vile prostitute, worn out with debauchery, reeking with vice and begrimed with filth, was picked out of the offal of the street, and enthroned in a half-nude state as the Goddess of Reason with all the proud pomp of ceremony and all the fascinations of the melodrama. Men and women showed themselves to be utterly brutalized and debased. Women were unsexed. They went to the guillotine to witness bloody executions, as they went to the theater and the opera; they rushed to the bar of the convention, not to intercede for mercy, but to clamor for victims and blood. Fathers betrayed their children, and children betrayed their parents, to the bloody executioners. Kindness, truth, honor, gratitude, friendship, piety and mercy disappeared. The tie of marriage lost all its sacredness and was exploded as a remnant of cozening priestcraft. Men and women lived together only so long as it suited them—thus overthrowing marriage only to establish prostitution in its stead.

It is well for mankind that the religion of Tom Paine and Bob Ingersoll thus enjoyed an opportunity of displaying, in sight of the world, in full-orbed splendor, its ripened beauties and finished charms. The triumph of Reason in France shines through the mists that hang over the track of Time, like a beacon light on the surf-beaten coast, to warn off storm-tossed vessels. It is a blessed thing for humanity that the religion of Tom Paine and Bob Ingersoll has been put to the test by being crowned with triumph in Paris. Its fruits are worse than Dead Sea apples—its results worse than Mormonism.

The Christian religion inculcates every virtue that the most rigid moralist ever recommended, and sternly forbids every color and shade of crime and vice. It is the only system of religion that does not derive support from pandering to the appetites and passions of men; and this crowning trait and distinguishing characteristic is a proof that it is not the work of man's brain. The gods and goddesses of ancient polytheism were painted as rakes and prostitutes, vindictive, unjust, dukic, prone to causeless anger, addicted to unseemly quarrels, and divided into factions. The religion of the philosophers was a cold and cheerless abstraction—a vague speculative belief, confined to no particular channel, and unproductive of any influence on the daily conduct of men. The ancient Spartans held theft to be no crime; the Romans regarded it as highly proper to butcher the prisoners taken in war, and to set gladiators to cut each other to pieces for their amusement.

Mohammedanism is Unitarianism supplemented by the Koran and Mohammed, yet it sanctions polygamy, and paints paradise as the triumph of sensuousness. Whatsoever is not sensuous in Mohammedanism was purloined from the Christian religion, and miscred in the stealing. The Christian religion is as superior to all past and present systems of religion as the pyramid of Cheops is to the ant hill at our feet.

Hospitals and charitable houses are offshoots of the Christian religion. Charity, as an animating principle and a duty always obligatory, was unknown even to the philosophers of antiquity, and was first inculcated in the Bible. This principle of charity—of tender sympathy for suffering, and of an active interposition for its relief—is an emanation from the Godhead.

Look at what Christianity has wrought for the human race! Contrast the Christianized nations with the nations where Mohammedanism prevails! The advantages are all on the side of the religion of Christ. It would be an insult to the intelligence of the age for us to institute any comparison between the modern pagan systems and Christianity in their tendencies to elevate and improve mankind, morally, mentally and physically. History and experience prove the admirable adaptation of the Christian religion to the happiness and welfare of man, as well as to the development of the best elements of his nature.

The existence of the Christian religion is itself a miracle. Its very cradle was surrounded by inveterate enemies. Its votaries were poor and humble men. From the outset it was called to face persecution. Silently it took root in the hearts and minds of men, and grew into a stately tree, with wide-reaching branches, under which millions sought shelter and repose. Without appealing to the sword, it subdued and displaced the worship of Jupiter and Minerva, of Isis and Osiris; and when the barbarians overran and conquered the Roman empire the Christian religion mitigated their ferocity, softened their savage manners, and finally conquered them in the intoxication of victory. History, amid all its shifting scenes, furnishes no parallel to this silent, steady progress, ending in brilliant triumph. To thoughtful men this peaceful victory is pregnant with instruction, as well as suggestive and significant of the protecting hand of God having been extended to the church in its weakness and peril. Men of the Tom Paine and Bob Ingersoll type perversely close their eyes to these historical evidences.

Mohammedanism, but for the sword, would have perished, as an infant in its cradle, in the deserts of Arabia. It has cut its way only by the sword, and receded the moment the sword dropped from its hand.

The prediction in Deuteronomy respecting the fate of the Jews is being fulfilled before our very eyes. We cannot doubt that which we see. The Jews are scattered all over the world, yet are they a distinct, separate people in every nation. Twenty centuries of wandering and of persecution have not availed to melt them down in a homogeneous mass with the people by whom they are surrounded. A Jew in Russia is as fully a Jew as is one in America. Without a country, they preserve their nationality as a separate people. This separation from the nations in which they live is singular and unique. It is contrary to nature. Every other race has blended with the races around it, and been lost in the interfusion. The Jew is found in all corners and angles of the world, yet he is still a Jew—neither Celt, nor Teuton, nor Scythian; neither an Englishman nor a German. This separation is a fact patent to all, and was foretold in the Bible thousands of years ago. And it proves that the Bible was not the offspring of man's puny brain.

We turn to other utterances of Bob Ingersoll that need to be denounced. He classes Benjamin Franklin as an infidel, and, by so doing, defames his name and memory. As Ingersoll has thrown off the restraints and discredited the teachings of the Bible, it is perhaps requiring too much of him to expect him to be a stickler for truth.

He gushes over with laudations of Tom Paine that are too extravagant to fit the character. It is true, Paine wrote admirable and stirring articles under the signature of "Common Sense" during the war for American independence; but Bob Ingersoll, following in the wake of other superficial men who dogmatize on subjects of which they are profoundly ignorant, grossly exaggerates the effect these articles produced. The mail facilities enjoyed in 1780 were extremely meager, and were interrupted by the operations of the armies. Not a dozen newspapers were published uninterruptedly, during the war, in the length and breadth of the thirteen colonies, and these enjoyed but a slight circulation outside of the towns in which they were published. Half of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia were unsettled. The settled portions could boast of a sparse population at best. Under these unpropitious circumstances Paine's articles, pointed and stirring as they are conceded to be, could have been read by but a few men, and could not have reached the masses in an extensive and sparsely-settled country well-nigh destitute of mails, and plunged into the disorder and confusion of armies marching, countermarching, advancing and retreating over its territory. Paine's articles, being printed in a Philadelphia paper, were not at all likely to travel more than twenty miles from it. We give him full credit for the aid afforded our cause; but it would have indicated more real devotion had he shouldered a musket and joined the army at Valley Forge. Lafayette crossed the Atlantic to fight for our country, and right gallantly did he fight for it; but Bob Ingersoll regards Paine's "Common Sense" articles as deserving of special praise, while he has not one word of praise to dole out to Lafayette. Now the espousal of our cause by Lafayette was the germ of several events deeply important to our forefathers. He was rich and in the front rank of the French nobility; his chivalrous espousal of the American cause excited wonder and admiration; it wore an air of heroism; it inflamed the war-like ardor of the French, and attracted attention to the desperate struggle we were making. It paved the way and led to the espousal of our cause by France, without which Great Britain would have triumphed.

Bob Ingersoll glorifies Tom Paine's services merely because he was, like himself, a bitter enemy to the Christian religion. By pursuing this artful course he hopes to be able to popularize Tom Paine and infidelity, and in the end to delude unreflecting people into the belief that infidelity is the mother of patriotism and humanity. The private life and character of Tom Paine reflect small credit upon him. His vices demonstrated that reason was a sorry substitute for the restraints of religion. Paine was a sot even when he was in America; he consumed almost a quart of brandy while he was composing each article. In Paris his habits grew worse. Governeur Morris, American minister to France, states, in one of his letters from Paris, that he went to see Tom Paine at his request; that he found him exhausted by dissipation and debauchery, emaciated, and in squalid poverty. It has always been asserted that he died drunk.

Then he forsook his wife and left her to her own resources. If infidelity produces such results, every right-feeling man must exclaim:

"Throw infidelity to the dogs. I'll none of it."

Tom Paine was by nature an anarchist rather than a lover of liberty. He sought to level down, not to level up—to pull down, not to cement. He was a destructionist—the enemy of all existing institutions and creeds, a shallow sophister, an insolent dogmatist, who carried coarseness and ribaldry as far as they ever have been carried. Liberty, reared upon order, and cemented and clamped by law, had no charms for him. Topsy-turvy was his notion, idealized, of liberty. He wanted to see the rich abased and plundered simply because they were rich; he wanted to see men torn from the moorings of principle and habit, and inflamed with furious love of license; he wanted to see the very foundations of law and order loosened and destroyed. Hence he quitted the United States, notwithstanding he might have enjoyed orderly and regulated liberty to the full.

The excesses and orgies of Danton, Marat, Robespierre, Barres, Anacharsis Cloots, and their colleagues, high priests of anarchy and cruelty, attracted Tom Paine to Paris. He was made a citizen of France, and not without reason, since he was thoroughly Jacobinized ere he landed in France.

The patriotism that has not its taproot in love of the spot where one was born is not the genuine current coin, but is a base counterfeit. Patriotism, like charity, "begins at home." I set no value on a patriotism that does not spring from attachment to one's village and neighborhood. "Do you think I can carry off my country on the soles of my shoes," indignantly asked Danton of a person who advised him to save his life by flying from seething, bloody France. Tom Paine had no patriotism. A patriot may be a reformer and a renovator, but he cannot prefer the work of destruction to the nobler task of reparation.

As we have seen, Paine was a sot, a wife-deserter, an anarchist, a patriot without love of country, and an advocate of liberty, with an unconquerable repugnance to law and order. What deeds of charity apologize for his vices? What acts of philanthropy shed luster on his name? History records none. What proofs did he give of active humanity? None at all. His life was not sanctified by any grand ambition or generous aspiration. He was a vulgar leveler and wholesale destructionist. Brandy alone set his mind in motion.

Such is the man Bob Ingersoll holds up as a pattern to the American people! If infidelity debases its converts, as it did Tom Paine, self-respecting men, even should they regard the Scriptures as "old wives' fables" and human inventions, will, out of prudential motives, and from love of decorum and virtue, prefer to uphold them. No sane man will deliberately aid in propagating the deadly contagion of immorality.

Bob Ingersoll, with a grand flourish of trumpets and beating of the rhetorical gong, challenges proof that Tom Paine recanted his creed of infidelity. He even offers a reward of $1,000 for this proof. What does he expect to make by this proposition? The recantation of Tom Paine would not add the least strength to the foundations of religion. At the treaty of Campo Formio the Austrian representative inserted a clause to the effect that Austria recognized the French republic; but when Napoleon heard it read he ordered it to be struck out, declaring that the French republic, like the sun, stood in need of no recognition. The truth of the Bible needs no recognition from man, and suffers no disparagement when man impeaches it. I presume Bob Ingersoll looks on the failure of Tom Paine to recant as an infallible proof of the spuriousness of the Bible. The impenitent thief on the cross was none the less a thief for dying without confessing his evil deeds. Murderers often die either protesting their innocence or preserving stolid reticence as to their guilt. Bob Ingersoll, I presume, would claim such murderers to be innocent, because they "died and made no sign." This is a novel method of argumentation, and lies within the reach of the most ignorant and senseless.

There is authentic evidence that Hume and Gibbon died, as they had lived, disbelieving the Christian religion; but does that circumstance falsify the Bible and discredit the Christian system? By no means. We might cite the hosts of martyrs, whose faith in Christianity remained immovable amid the flames, and in the agonies of death by slow tortures, as an offset and counterpoise to the firmness of one or two infidels. We might point to the unshaken faith of Newton, Locke, Latimer, Cranmer, Luther, Boyle, Paley, and a "cloud of witnesses"—all of them the equals in intellect, learning, science, integrity of purpose, love of truth, and purity of life, of the proudest infidel. There must needs be something divine in a system that abases the proud in the midst of the intoxication of power; that supports the humble and poor in seasons of the sharpest suffering and affliction; that compels men to abandon their vices and lead virtuous lives; that softens ferocity, disarms revenge, and emboldens timidity. "By their fruits ye shall know them." We know that timid and delicate woman have died at the stake rather than retract their professed faith in the Christian religion. What imparted courage to them and sustained them in the agonies of cruel tortures? What impels the missionary to forsake home, comfort, friends—all that worldly men love—and to devote his life to the conversion of unknown savages? What is it that renders him careless of his life, and insensible of toil, discomfort and poverty? What impels the Sisters of Charity—those angels in disguise—to consecrate their energies to the relief of human suffering, and to brave the deadly pestilence that "walketh at noonday," and the infectious breath of the pest-house? Man loves his life—"even the skin will he give for his life"—yet we daily see Christians of humble station braving contagion and pestilence in order to carry relief to persons whom they never beheld.

The Christian religion has borne, and is now bearing, god-like fruits—fruits full of the flavor of heaven—and a tree bearing such fruits must have been planted by God himself.

Infidelity can boast of no such triumphs, nor show such god-like fruits. It is at best a cold negation. It has never voluntarily chosen poverty over wealth, that it might relieve suffering humanity. It has neither missionaries nor martyrs, neither alms-boxes nor hospitals.

Can such a religion of skepticism and indifference hope to overcome the Christian system, which dignifies, ennobles and spiritualizes man's nature? This contest is being forced on the Christian portion of the community.

It is a matter of poignant sorrow and regret that many secular newspapers should have thoughtlessly aided in giving notoriety to such men as Bob Ingersoll by publishing their impious ravings. The press is not a "chartered libertine," placed above the laws of morality. The man who attempts to bring religion into disrepute and contempt, without offering a better system, is an enemy to the human race, even in a worldly point of view. Man, in the language of Edmund Burke, is a religious animal—the only religious animal—and must have a religion of some sort. Even in a worldly point of view, the Christian religion is admirably adapted to the making of men happy, since it inculcates honesty, truthfulness, temperance, chastity and frugality—qualities useful to men in this world. Those who profess the Christian faith are the most virtuous and useful portion in every nation, as well as the firmest props of law and order. We do not expect one that believes in Christianity to murder or rob us, to burn our houses over our heads while we are asleep, to bear false witness against us, to backbite or oppress us; and when one does any of these things we are not only surprised, but we make a great outcry. Of course there are hypocrites, but, after deducting them, Christianity remains the "salt of the earth."

The secular press should close its columns against attacks upon the fundamental principles of the Christian religion, as well as abstain from everything likely to popularize such men as Ingersoll. "Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners."

A. W. DILLARD.

DEMOPOLIS, Alabama.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

SISTER MARTHA FIELD DOWNMAN MASON, relict of the late Charles B. Mason, and daughter of Thomas and Agnes Archy Blunt, was born in Sussex county, Va., July 1, A. D. 1811, and died at Spring Hill, Marengo county, Ala., on the twenty-eighth of January, A. D. 1878, in the sixty-seventh year of her age.

She united with the Methodist Episcopal Church South in Surrey county, Va., at the age of sixteen years. At that time and place the least pretensions to religion met with such scorn and ridicule that joining the church then and there may be regarded as an excellent test of a genuine conversion. In the language of our deceased sister: "It was something to join the church then." Associated, as she was, with the proud and aristocratic families of Virginia, and surrounded by the gay and fashionable, she displayed remarkable decision, firmness and strength of character in her persevering consistency and as a member of the church. She adorned her profession in all things—in resignation and hope under severe bereavement; in patience, meekness and fortitude under intense bodily pain. She was quick to hear, slow to speak, prompt to act. She exemplified most prominently the doctrine of self-denial. Like her mother before her, she was ever ready to sacrifice her own ease and comfort to minister to the wants of others; and, like all others imbued with the spirit of Christ, her ministrations were attended with a charm that imparted both relief and comfort to the afflicted. Her love for the services of the sanctuary, and for her little and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, evinced that she hungered and thirsted after righteousness.

She was devotedly attached to her church and its doctrines. Her husband, who preceded her many years to the grave, though a good man and a member of the Methodist Church, did not approve of children joining the church; but when little Jimmie, a model Sabbath school scholar, was converted at nine years of age, and desired to join the church, the mother favoring it, the father readily acquiesced, and Jimmie joined. He is now the Rev. J. M. Mason, a prominent member of the Alabama Conference. It was with great pride and joy that she witnessed her children joining the church of her choice, and her sons faithfully serving in its highest offices. Four of her noble boys [illegible] family served in the late war under [illegible] Bragg and Forrest. Though they were many severe conflicts, and made many narrow escapes, they all came through unscathed, except the oldest, J. T. Mason, who received a slight wound. Doubtless they are greatly indebted to a pious mother's tears and prayers for so signal a deliverance. Near the close of the war, fearing that Jimmie, who was only sixteen years old, who had joined the army, had suffered from the demoralizing circumstances of the camp, she gently reminded him of his covenant vows. He soon gave evidence of a renewal of that covenant. Of her seven children living, only two—J. T. and C. B. Mason, living in Camanchee, Texas—were denied the privilege of witnessing her triumphant death. To her, death had no sting. Nor did it disturbed her but the weeping of her broken-hearted children. She begged them to be resigned. She asked them, and them her absent sons, to be faithful and meet her in heaven. Ever and anon awaking from sleep, she would assure her friends that all was well; and, calling each by name as they stood around her, exhorted them to meet her in heaven. A more devoted wife, mother and grandmother never lived. Her death has cast a lingering gloom over the hearts of her children with whom she lived, and whose children she almost idolized.

H. B. CORTNER.

J. R. BAIN was born in Virginia in 1791; was brought up in the State of South Carolina, and moved from thence to Alabama, where he remained until his death, which took place December 24, 1877, at the residence of Prof. W. M. Tilley, in Chambers county, Ala.

When a young man he volunteered as a regular soldier in the United States army in the service of his country, then in war against the hostile Indians. After serving his term of five years, for which he enlisted, he received an honorable discharge. Shortly after returning home he became deeply concerned about his soul, and sought the untainted religion, joined the Methodist Church, became a faithful soldier of the cross, and held up, with unwavering trust, the banner of Jesus until he called him from the field of strife to take the palm of victory.

Our hearts are sad. We mourn as those who have no hope; but a kind husband, an affectionate father, a useful citizen, a brave veteran of the cross is taken from us. We miss him at the church, in the social meeting and love-feasts, which he said were the happiest places on earth to him. He served as class-leader for a number of years, and was familiar with the Scriptures and doctrines of the Methodist Church. He loved the preachers, and was ever ready to help them up and assist them, and they always received a hearty welcome to his house and home. He was one of the holiest men it ever been the writer's lot to know. During the last few years of his life he talked little except on the subject of religion, professed some time before his death, and one of the sanctified. He often said, during his death: "I am just waiting for the Master to say: 'Come up higher.'" He has heard that call, and has gone to his happy rest. He has left a poor and almost helpless wife to battle alone with the conflicts of life. May God comfort and sustain her.

P. J. WALKER.

WILLIARD F. CORNETT was born in South Carolina in 1818, and died in Chilton county, Ala., February 6, 1878, leaving an afflicted widow and several sons and daughters to mourn his loss. He was a kind and an affectionate husband, and an indulgent father. The bereaved and afflicted wife has lost a dear friend and a faithful nurse in her afflictions. At the time of his death he had been a member of the Methodist Church twenty-five years. He was converted and joined the church under the ministry of Rev. Dowling, of the Alabama Conference, and was, for a number of years prior to his death, the steward of the church to which he belonged. He was a friend to his church and his preacher. He was scrupulously honest and a faithful Christian. He was respected and loved by all who knew him best. His faith was strong in death. Before his departure he summoned his family to his bedside to counsel with them for the last time, calling them by name, and delivering them his dying charge to meet him in heaven. He requested his dear wife not to grieve—that he was going home. He then began to sing "Sweet Home," exclaiming "Oh, I am going home." He was not permitted to finish his song here, but passed over the other shore, where the Arico will be hushed in death.

WILLIAM D. OWENS.

DEPARTED this life, on the third of September, 1877, in Polk county, Ga., four miles south of Cedar, in the sure hope of a blessed resurrection, Brother JAMES McCRORY, aged seventy years. For [illegible] years he was a firm and worthy member of the Methodist Church, and by his Christian character and consistent deportment was once an ornament and support of Christ's kingdom on earth. We miss his presence, and we mourn his departure, but not as those without hope in a blessed reunion in the New Jerusalem, where we shall sing together the glorious music of the Redeemer.

R. W. KYLE.

HOWARD CLAUDIUS, child of J. H. and Nancy J. Roy, near Burnsville, Tallapoosa county, Ala., being left a few minutes in the house with his little brother, about three years old, but older than himself, and playing with the fire, as is supposed, was badly burned, October 13, 1877, and died October 18. His sufferings were very great for a few hours, but he was by kind treatment soon relieved to a great extent, and died without any apparent pain.

W. A. McCARTY.

LITTLE JIMMY BUTTS, son of James A. and Ruth A. Butts, was born in Columbus, Ga., September 20, 1871, and departed this life in Piedmont, Greenville county, S. C., January 27, 1878. Little Jimmy was a bright, beautiful child, and loved by all who knew him.

THEODORE E. KRUSE.

Alexander Duff, D. D., LL. D., the Scottish missionary, is dead.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1878.

AN EVENING HYMN.

Now the solemn shadows darken,
And the daylight slowly dies,
Hear Savior, How I will hearken
When thy children's prayers arise.
Blessed Jesus!
Look on us with loving eyes.

Some are tried with doubts and dangers,
Some have found their hearts grow cold,
Some are aliens now, and strangers
To the faith they loved of old.
Blessed Jesus!
Bring them back into thy fold.

Some in conflict sore have striven:
With temptation fierce and strong;
Lord, to them let strength be given
Ere the battle should be long!
Blessed Jesus!
Change their mourning into song.

By thy passion in the garden,
By thine anguish on the tree,
By that precious gift of pardon,
Won for us alone by thee,
Blessed Jesus!
Let the sin-bound captives free.

When our earthly day is closing,
And the night grows still and deep,
Let us, in thine arms reposing,
Feel thy power to save and keep.
Blessed Jesus!
Give thine own beloved sleep.

The Quiver.

Joseph Cook on Eternal Punishment.

The pulpit of the Tremont Temple, Boston, February 10, was occupied by the Rev. Joseph Cook; and, in spite of stormy weather, a large congregation gathered to hear the distinguished lecturer's judgment upon Canon Farrar's Views of Endless Punishment." After the opening remarks Mr Cook indulged in a little preliminary talk, reading from the seventh chapter of Luke and the third chapter of John, occasionally, by way of illustration. Amid the scattering on the topic of the future, it is well to go back to the word of God and find there truth which, after twenty centuries of controversy, still stands, and which shall outlive the chatterers of luxurious times. No man can serve two masters—ye cannot serve God and mammon." The parable says: "And the rich man in hell, being in torments, seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom." In response to his appeal Abraham says: "Between us and you there is a great gulf fixed." Now Canon Farrar says that Hades should be used here, instead of hell. But it does not affect the question. The rich man was in torment in Hades or hell; and between heaven and Hades was—Hades. Gehenna, it makes no odds what you call it—there is a great gulf fixed. It is utterly futile to attempt to change the religious doctrine or the substance of Scripture by altering twenty nouns a thousand adjectives. In the 9th chapter of Mark is emphasized the law of self-contradiction—the law that a thing can be and not be at the same time; and further is mentioned the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost which brings eternal damnation. Canon Farrar would make damnation annihilation; but what difference can that make in the sense? We read also that the sin against the Holy Ghost "hath never forgiveness in this world or in the world to come."

Canon Farrar had been wholly right, he would have shown the meaning, in the twenty-ninth verse, that the danger of falling "into eternal sin," as Dean Alford and other commentators say, is the danger of falling into eternal sin, there must be danger of eternal punishment; for punishment is sin. The sin against the Holy Ghost," it is written, "hath not any that he shall pray for it." "Where the worm that never dies, the fire that is never quenched—these are not simply figurative phrases. Men may try to make vague expressions take the place of "everlasting" and "eternal" in this book. But the word "aionios," which occurs so often, has a definite signification; you can't erase it. Robert Hall affirmed, regarding the doctrine of the future life, that if every other word was left out, the negative particles would be sufficient to establish the truth. It is, however, a marvelous circumstance that the first text used in the religious discipline of the world was so distorted from its just meaning as to induce one half of the hearers of the first twister. "Ye shall not surely die," said the tempter. "The soul that sinneth, it shall not surely die." The first twist stands to the latest day as a warning; and yet I think who twisted it then is twisting it now. Side by side with this corrupt text you have the true text: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." That first reading is before this house for prayerful consideration."

In opening the sermon Mr. Cook, taking as his text Luke xvi. 26—"Between us and you there is a great gulf fixed"—said: It is as impossible for God to do a little wrong as a great one. Concerning this proposition all are all agreed. Demosthenes was accustomed to say that every public address should commence with an irrefragable proposition; and this is one. But take mere sentiment as a guide to a correct conception of religious service, and you are thrown into distress; for you are brought face to face with what seems little less than wrongs committed by God. For example: He has permitted to exist a Hottentot, born lame, who has done no ill in the world, or an idiot, born without the faculty of distinguishing right from wrong, and who has passed his whole life in a state of utter irresponsibility. You may say that all this suffering tends to produce the fruits of the evil which lies at the bottom of the pain?" But this idiot has lived sixty years as such, and he is no wiser than when he was born. If the universe were to be made over, and I were to be called into the consultation regarding the formation of this world, and it should be asked whether Infinite God would create a responsible or an idiot who should have the same nature through his whole life, I should say, following sentiment entirely: "God would do nothing of the sort." Again, you may say "the worth of these creatures tends to make God cautious. They pause when they see the laws of hereditary descent emphasized by such a visible proclamation of the result of the sins of ancestry." That is a good effect for man as a race, but this particular idiot is not benefited. All his life he is deprived of any knowledge of the noble and exalted faculties of the mind. I do not say that this is wrong, but that the laws of physical nature do not help the individual idiot or cripple there is not a scintilla of doubt. Does the pulpit know anything on this topic? It knows that God can do no little wrong, and yet this thing occurs: that if we follow mere sentiment we must accuse God of wrong in bringing into the world an idiot or a cripple. Mere sentiment declares also that God cannot condemn forever man, though incorrigible in sin, since no father would condemn forever his own son. Sentiment of the "advanced" and "liberal" order stands aghast at the idea that a father would not go after his son in the land of husks. It is not content that the father should go out to meet the returning prodigal, but he must go to him, sleep with the swine, eat the husks, and bring the swine home with his son. This sentiment asserts that the distinction between good and bad is not such that we can afford to turn the swine out of a place at the feast. Is not everything divine? It asks; and its reading of the Scripture is: "The wicked shall be turned into heaven, and all the people that forget God."

Thus far, said Mr. Cook, I have endeavored to shock you by showing what a false guide mere sentiment is. So is reason a false guide, alone. Both must be used if we would avoid falling into error. Much is said now about the spirit of the time; let us consider rather the spirit of eternity. It is the Zeitgeist which Matthew Arnold and his followers praise. But why listen to it? The spirit of the time has, in the past, persecuted Christians, burned witches, or hung them. What is the spirit of our time, that is so much believed in? It is a luxurious, a haughty, a lax spirit, learned in a time when men, especially those in circles of culture and wealth, and who live in luxurious ease, are led to think that there is no evil in the other world, and to doubt if there is really evil in this. A luxurious hammock-swung church is affected by the spirit of luxurious hammock-swung ease and. It is Canon Farrar who asserts that a man may safely trust to the chances of repentance after death. He is one of those who listen to the Zeitgeist. The spirit of eternity, the spirit of the nature of things, proclaims a different law—that law which declares that there may be such a thing as permanent, voluntary, moral remoteness from God, a dissonance between him and the soul, which may be eternal. That is hell; and perhaps a man may fall into this state even in the present life. The story of a recent terrible murder and suicide in New York was told, and the hellfry murder referred to, and then there was narrated the seduction and ruin of a young girl by a half-devilish young man of the world in New York. When she brought her seducer to the trial, such statements were made by the lawyer who had charge of his case that it was made to appear that the injured girl was subject to the danger of imprisonment, while he was allowed to go free. He came into court, this dapper, sleek little villain, and said to the judge, when the time came: "Send her up, judge! Send her up!" "Great heavens!" said the judge, "how I wish I could send you up or down to the pit." It was the judgment which conscience would pronounce upon this fragment of a man whose soul seemed seared by a hot iron. There are men, not in New York only, but under the shadow of your Statehouse, your Faneuil Hall, whose lives are passing every day into rebellion outright, into defiance of God or who have so seared their consciences that they do not know that there is a God. Atheism and materialism have plunked out conscience almost by the roots; but there is something yet left which some day shall grow into a tree which shall shake curses upon the head of the transgressor. Neither in this life, nor anywhere in God's universe, can there be drawn from the same fountain sweet water and bitter. "No man can serve two masters" is the law of the nature of things, which is the same thing as the law of the divine perfections. The penalties of dissonance from God are as certain as the results of multiplication. Until you can repeal the laws which govern mathematics you cannot hope to alter the moral law. This miserable wretch, having only the dry bones of humanity, who now seems incapable of good—if that man should reform, can he ever be what he might have been had he chosen good rather than evil? Must he not suffer permanent loss for his waste of opportunity and his sin? If he dies in sin, must he not plunge forward forever dissonant from God? At any rate, his record thus far is irrevocable. It can never be changed

"Till the sun is old and the stars are cold,

